Other men already doing conditioning work in preparation for the season include Kay, Houdshel, Lambert, Seymour, and Robarts.

As yet, although seven letter men of last year's squad—Gillette, Kay, Lambert, Robarts, Ammons, Fisher, and Proffitt—are expected back, most places in dashes, distance runs, and field events are wide open for all aspirants.

Spring Football Begins March 15

Spring football practice will begin on Monday, March 15, and will continue through April 15, according to an athletic office announcement made this week. During the entire spring training, the team will use the "T" formation only, to give the players experience with it, on both offense and defense.

The first week will be spent on the fundamentals of the game. The second week the men will begin running through the plays and learning them. The remaining three weeks the team will scrimmage.

Seniors Frank Still, "Cotton" Easter, and Ken Talbott will assist Coach "J.D." Davis with the coaching.

Point System Teams Tied In Tournament; Play-Off Tuesday

Tuesday's game will be the deciding factor in the Chillie-Howee basketball tournament. This week's games again put both teams on equal basis.

The Howees won the game played Tuesday, March 2, by defeating the Chillies with a score of 37 to 14. Players' scores for the Howees are: Heaps, 2; Lindsay, 19; Siebold, 11; Gilreath, 4; and Davenport, 1; Chillie scorers are: Caldwell, 8; and Kemp, 6.

The Chillies evened up the scores Thursday by winning over the Howees 29 to 21.

Wrestlers Tear Up Catamounts, 24-5, Last Saturday

Western North Carolina State Teachers College ended up downed, 24-5, when the Scots visited the Catamount lair last Saturday for a return match. The first time the two teams met this season, the Scotties also won, 29-5, on the M. C. mat.

Carolina was considerably improved in comparison to their earlier appearance, putting up a close, game battle. The Catamounts demonstrated slippery manuevering which netted them a flock of reverses and escapes.

Black, Cameron Earn Five Points

Earl Black, back on the mat at 121 after several injuries, pinned Blayton in 2 minutes 20 seconds of the second period to set a fast pace for the others to match. J. A. Cameron, 128 pound class, also earned five points for the Highlanders when he injured Bird's shoulder and was awarded a default in 11 seconds of the second period.

Ross, Callaway, Major Win

Ken Ross, captain of the visitors and regular 136 pounder, pushed back into the victory column by decisioning Atkinson, 8-5. Ross earned a take-down, two reverses, and two points for time advantage to Atkinson's two reverses and one escape.

Tubby Callaway decisioned Thomas in the 145 class, 8-2. Callaway earned a take-down, two reverses, and two points time advantage to Thomas' single reverse.

L. Major reversed in the last 10 seconds of the third period to decision McCorken, 2-1. McCorken was leading in points, 1-0, earned in a second period escape, when Major reversed.

Henry Loses Decision, 6-7

Harold Henry lost a decision to Garland, 6-7, in his first bout of the season in the 165 class. Henry's two escapes and two reverses were too few to beat Garland's two reverses, one escape, and one take-down

Palmer Wins Over Burleson, 14-8

Herb Palmer outraced Burleson for a 14-8 decision in the 175 pound class. In the mass of points were four reverses, two take-downs, and two points time advantage for Palmer as compared with Burleson's two escapes, one take-down, and two reverses.

Briggs, Goodson Draw, 0-0

John Briggs and Goodson battled to a draw, 0-0, in the unlimited class, in the night's most even bout. As the whistle blew Briggs had Goodson in a pin

Grappling Season Ends At Georgia Tech Tuesday Nite

KEN ROSS WILL WRESTLE LAST BOUT, 4 WINS SO FAR

Coach "J.D." Davis' Highlander clan will journey southward Tuesday to wind up the '48 season on the Georgia Tech mat. Tech was one of the first strong teams to challenge the Scots at the opening of the season. The result of the clash was a 17-17 draw.

After the big week-end at the wrestling tournament in Chattanooga, the Scots will be pretty well worn before their Tuesday ride and the battle. Incidentally, Georgia Tech declined an invitation to the tournament; perhaps they aim to avenge that draw.

Last Match For Ken

Collegiate wrestling is at an end for captain Ken Ross after Tuesday night. A real old timer at the sport, Ross started back in 1940 under Coach Davis and then took a leave from the game during the war. Since then he has returned to captain the team to a successful season. He has made the light weight classes offer a proof that even the small fellows have a chance in collegiate athletics.

Despite a bad knee and a pulled shoulder this season, Ken has amassed 16 points for the squad by pinning two opponents, decisioning two and losing only two falls to Auburn and Appalachian.

MARCH 10 DEADLINE SET FOR SOFTBALL ELIGIBILITY LISTS

March 10 is the deadline for all intramural softball team eligibility lists to be turned into the intramural office. Play begins on March 15.

The teams will consist of twelve players. The actual playing team will have ten men, nine in the regular positions plus a short center fielder.

Coach Johnson announced that no practice will be allowed on the golf course diamond. Schedules will be posted later.

future will require our wholehearted support. To gain the freedom we so desire, we must prove ourselves worthy of such measures. We need the co-operation of every girl for the bringing of a new day here at Maryville. So let us strive." Thank you, Miss Jackson.

"I think it was cleverly written," Peggy Hughes, freshman averred, "but I do hope the faculty won't misunderstand it. After all, we are getting more privileges—slowly, but surely."

The girls seem to realize that tihngs aren't ideal for them, but they also realize the differences that arise when a revolution or civil war (to keep the spirit of the original essay) is considered. A junior class representative on the Student Council, Vera Lusk, reprimands the Proclamation thus:

"It is rather poor policy to tear to pieces that which doesn't please you, until you are thoroughly prepared to offer some constructive plan to take its place."

MSO CONSTITUTION VOTED IN FIVE TO ONE

Two Day Poll Ends With Three Hundred-Forty-Eight Men Voting

The Men's Student Organization constitution passed with a vote of five to one in the campus-wide poll vote held Thursday and Friday of this week. Only about three-fifths of the men enrolled in school voted, the count being 348 votes for approximately 500 men. Those voting for the constitution numbered 291, while those opposed numbered 57.

The results of the two day vote have officially put into effect the MSO constitution as was printed in full in the HIGHLAND ECHO last Saturday. The constitution itself had previously been drafted by nine men elected by those attending the first men's student body meeting concerning the organization.

Listed as Council Project

The idea of MSO has been in students' minds for years, but never before has there been such concentration on its organization. Early this semester the Student Council listed it as one of the several semester projects, and Scott McClure and Carl Murray made plans for presenting the idea to the men. Later Murray was appointed chairman of the constitution committee, which drafted and presented the constitution to the men's student body.

The organization, which must be approved by the men at the beginning of each school year in order that it may continue, has been designed to reach each of the three groups of men students attending Maryville, those on campus, off-campus transient students, and off-campus permanent students. The co-ordinating council will consist of nine members, which will be apportioned among each of the three groups according to their respective numbers in the men's student body.

1948 MAY QUEEN NOMINATION HELD IN CHAPEL THURS.

The 1948 May Queen will be nominated at a meeting of the student body Thursday, March 18. Following the student body meeting the individual classes will meet to nominate the class attendants. In the final elections one girl and one boy are elected from each class and they choose whom they will walk with in the procession. The election will be held the week following the meetings.

Sweetheart of Alpha Sig Chosen

"The Sweetheart of Alpha Sigma" was chosen Monday afternoon, March 8, from a group of five finalists who were chosen Saturday night at the Alpha Sigma meeting. The name of the winner, however, will be withheld until the first night of the play, Our Hearts Were Young and Gay.

The five finalists, in the order of their appearance before the judges, were Pat Dennis, sophomore dramatics art major from Connersville, Indiana; Elsie Jean Cotton, senior English major from Pittsburgh; Alice Davenport, sophomore sociology major from Marietta, Georgia; Pat Love, freshman from Kinzel Springs, Tennessee; and Judy Breen, freshman from West Palm Beach, Florida.

The judges were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pieper, Dr. D. H. Briggs, and Miss Frances Massey.

John Poland, chairman of the WSSF drive, has announced that tentative plans have been completed. The drive is scheduled for the first week in April.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY REC. HALL OPENING CELEBRATED TONITE

An all campus program to celebrate both the opening of the Recreation Center and St. Patrick's day is planned for tonight.

The program is under the direction of Judy Breen. A skit will be presented, the subject of which has not yet been announced. It will be the first opening of the Recreation Hall which has not been open thus far this semester, but has been undergoing a rejuvenation.

Dr. Harry Hager, Chicago Pastor, Speaks at Chapel

Dr. Harry Hager, pastor of the Bethany Reform Church in Chicago, Ill., addressed the chapel Thursday morning, March 11.

Dr. Hager was introduced by Rev. W. C Bennett of the Memorial Baptist Church in Knoxville. Using the subject "The Face of Jesus Christ," Dr. Hager said that it is possible to imagine what Christ may have looked like by examining references in the Bible describing his character and actions. Christ probably had an open and candid expression, such as invites the confidence of children, who were to "come unto Me, and forbid them not." His countenance, he said, was doubtless strong and noble, as would attract fishermen, such as Peter, and forthright villagers, such as the "Sons of Thunder." Certainly his face was patient and earnest, for He was a man "of sorrows, and acquainted with grief." Knowing these things, said Dr. Hager, we can see what sort of person it was that so courageously "set his face . . . steadfastly toward Jerusalem."

Dr. Hager is chairman of the Uniting Committee which is studying the proposed union of the Reform Church groups and the United Presbyterian Church.

$1517.85 FRED HOPE PLEDGE NOT PAID

DR. GRAHAM SPEAKS AT YW SUNDAY

Dr. Thomas A. Graham will speak on Courtship at the Sunday YWCA meeting, the second in the series on friendship, courtship and marriage. Dr. Graham will base his talk on questions asked by the girls. Boxes have been placed in the dormitories for the purpose of collecting these questions.

The special music will be provided by Maureen Owen.

Last Saturday several students helped clean-up the YW rooms. The new drapes which are of heavy floral print material were put up. YW bought the material and some girls with the help of friends of YWCA made them.

Babelay, Bird, Johnson Present Sophomore Recital

Ruth Helen Bird, pianist, Linnea Johnson, soprano, and Raymond Babelay, pianist, will be presented in a sophomore recital Tuesday, March 16, at 4:30 p. m. in the YWCA Rooms. Miss Bird is from Greeneville, Miss Johnson, from Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. Babelay is from Knoxville.

The program for the recital includes "Sonata in B Flat Major, Allegro," Mozart, Mr. Babelay; "Sonata Op. 14, No. 1, Allegro," Beethoven, Miss Bird; "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" (Semele), Handel, "Gia il sole dal Gange," Scarlotti, "C'est non ami," Antoinette, "Jeune Fillette," Dalayrac, Miss Johnson; "Waltz in c sharpe minor," Chopin, "Novellette," and "March Wind," MacDowell, Miss Bird; "May the Maiden," Carpenter, "Snow Towards Evening," Warren, "Retreat," La Forge, "Rain," Op. 48, No. 1, "Etude" Op. 25, Curran, Miss Johnson; "Nocturne" Op. 48, No. 1, "Etude" Op. 25, No. 9, and "Polonaise in A Flat" Op. 53, Chopin, Mr. Babelay. Miss Linnea Johnson will be accompanied by Juanita Jeane Johnson.

MISS JEWELL, FORMER M. C. TEACHER, DIES

Miss Almira E. Jewell, former assistant professor of history at Maryville College, died Sunday morning, March 7, at the home of her sister, after a long illness. She was 67 years old.

Miss Jewell graduated from Maryville and then received her masters degree at the University of Virginia. She taught in the preparatory department at the college from 1911 to 1923 and in the college itself from 1923 to 1944. Due to ill health, she retired in 1944.

Phys Ed Dropped From Junior, Senior Schedules

124 Academic Hours Required, Originally 126

Changes in physical education and graduation requirements were announced yesterday by Dr. E. R. Hunter, dean of the curriculum. In future years only freshmen and sophomores will be required to take physical education, instead of students having to take physical education during each semester for all four years. The second change, dealing with academic hours, reduces requirements to 124 academic hours instead of the original 126 academic hours as was decided when the new curriculum went into effect last semester.

Freshmen Schedule the Same

Under the new system freshmen physical education requirements will be the same as they are this year, which includes calisthenics, conditioning exercises, hygiene, and sports skill. Sophomore requirements also will be similar to the present setup where they must participate in organized supervised intramural programs. There will be no requirements for juniors and seniors, but they will be offered the privilege of participating in the intramural program.

The change in graduation requirements distinguishes between academic hours and physical education hours. The four hours in physical education are to be added to the 124 required academic hours, making a total of 128 hours necessary for graduation.

Two Debate Teams Enter Tournament

Two Maryville Debate teams are in Georgetown, Kentucky, this week-end debating in the Bluegrass Tournament. An affirmative team composed of Stuart Saul and Tom Stovall, and a negative team of Carroll Stegall and Carl Lindsay, are debating the question of World Federation.

Last week two other teams met heavy competition at the South Atlantic and Southeastern Forensic Tournament. Over 150 contestants, from 22 colleges, attended the tourney. Maryville was represented by John Poland and Scott McClure who took four out of seven rounds, and Stuart Saul and Jim Torrey, who won three of seven. Several special events were entered, but Maryville contestants failed to place.

"Russian Easter" by Rimsky-Korsakov will be featured at Disc Club Thursday, March 18 at 6:45 p. m. in Thaw 214. Lee Orr will be the commentator.

CONSTRUCTION ON REC HALL DELAYED

The construction of the government buildings, one being a Rec Hall, for Maryville College has been delayed because of lack of material. The material used for these buildings is being taken from government salvage stock at Camp Forest and Fort Oglethorpe, and, at present, the demolition job at these camps has been at a standstill. Rather than begin without all the necessary materials the Johnson and Willard Construction Company of Knoxville has postponed the beginning of construction for several weeks, at which time, it is hoped, the material will be available.

Naundorf May Return To Classes Inside Two Weeks

"Satisfactory" spells the word used by Dr. Brickey LeQuire in describing Charlie Naundorf's condition last night. Following a "brief flare up" of temperature Thursday, he was "more comfortable" yesterday afternoon. Barring complications he should be out in a week or so.

Major surgery to begin with, what would have been an ordinary nephrectomy turned out to be an especially interesting and difficult operation due to the phenominal size of the badly infected kidney removed.

Nearly $550.00 have been raised by students, faculty and other friends to alleviate the costs of his illness. His $650 dollar bill will be raised considerably during the coming week, but a substantial reduction of surgeon's fees by Dr. "Brickey" makes this figure lower than it might have been. There is a possibility of more contributions from churches in town. Students who have not given will find a box in the book store, or can contact Don Taylor, Carnegie 1, who has sparked the drive.

Several students have been taking turns sitting with Charlie during the night.

Dr. Lloyd Takes Business Trip

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd left Wednesday on a business trip to Philadelphia, Penn., and Washington, D. C. In Philadelphia, he attended the semi-annual conference of the Presbyterian Department of Church Cooperation and Union of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A., of which he is chairman

In Washington, he attended a meeting of the Department of International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. Remaining there over the week-end, Dr. Lloyd is meeting with the Commission on Christian Higher Education, which is connected with the Association of American Colleges. He will return to Maryville next Monday night.

Remember! Income Tax Returns Due

Income tax reports are due on or before March 15 for all persons making a total of $500 or more in 1947. Anybody with a salary less than $500 should file a return to get a refund if tax was withheld.

The Employee's Optional Income Tax Return and Form 1040, may be obtained from the Collector of Internal Revenue, banks, and post office.

SOCIETY MEMBERSHIP REQUIRES 6.5 AVERAGE

Eleven senior students have been elected as '48 members of Alpha Gamma Sigma, Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, secretary of the society, announced yesterday. The nine, Esther Cornelius, Tom Horst, Peggy Howell, Scott McClure, Carl Murray, Loretta Nunn, Mildred Orr, Harold Russell, Anna Sakaizawa, Dorothy Vawter, and Tom Wheeler, were chosen by the resident membership of the society, approximately twenty people, of which Edwin Best, '36, is president.

Four of the students, McClure, Murray, Miss Sakaizawa, and Wheeler were elected at a March 2 meeting, and they participated in a March 8 meeting when the other students, with the exception of Horst and Russell, were elected. Horst and Russell were December graduates and were elected to membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma at that time.

Requires 6.5 Average

For nomination to the society a 6.5 grade point average, between a B and a B-plus, is necessary. All persons who have the required average are considered and a limited number of them are elected for membership.

The date of the induction service has not been definitely set, but it will be held either on April 1 or on April 8. Neither has the speaker been decided upon.

Esther Cornelius, philosophy major from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and one of the eleven recently elected, has consistently been on the honor roll. She is Dr. Orr's assistant, and secretary of the senior class. She is also vice-chairman of the WSGA.

Tom Horst, one of the two who were elected last December, is now attending McCormick Seminary in Chicago. He was a philosophy major while attending Maryville, and hailed from Trenton, New Jersey.

Peggy Howell, for three years a Messiah soloist, is a music and education major from Maryville. She has been in the Vesper Choir for four years, and is at present a Student Council representative.

Scott McClure, philosophy major from Lebanon, Ohio, plans to attend Princeton Theological Seminary next year. He is now serving as vice-president of the Student Council.

Carl Murray, pre-med major from Maryville, has made high grades in all three of the schools he has attended. While in the army he went to Texas A. & M., and later he attended the University of Tennessee during the summer months. He is an energetic worker in both the Student Council and the Student-Faculty Senate.

Loretta Nunn is a mathematics major from Mount Vernon, Missouri. She has previously served as an officer of her class, and is at present one of the Chatterbox workers.

Mildred Orr, a history major from Maryville, is president of the YWCA. She was also editor of the 1946-47 M Book.

Harold Russell, who like Horst was elected to Alpha Gamma Sigma last December, was an English major. He lives in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Anna Sakaizawa, psychology and philosophy major from Chicago, Illinois, has found time to be the efficient WSGA president as well as make high grades.

Dorothy Vawter, managing editor of the HIGHLAND ECHO, is a music major from Maryville. She is also president of Tau Kappa Chi.

Tom Wheeler, English major from Peekskill, New York, is vice-president of the YMCA. He was a Messiah soloist this year, and won the T. T. Alexander contest in 1945-46.

THIRTEEN M.C. MEN TRY FOR MARINE CORPS COMMISSION

Captain E. Kirby-Smith, U. S. M. C., of the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia will return about April 12 to Maryville College with a medical unit to examine thirteen prospective Marine Corps officers. Last Tuesday, March 9, several men made preliminary applications for admission to the platoon leaders classes which will be held during the summer months. Upon passing the medical examination, completing the prescribed summer courses and graduating, the men will be eligible for a commission in the U.S.M.C. Reserves.

Two MC Students Faculty Member In Alcoa Production

Mr. Stanley Phillips, Dolores Young, and Mary Nelle Hord have parts in the Alcoa Little Theater play, "January Thaw," which will be held for the second time tonight at 8:00 p. m. The first showing was last night Mr. Phillips is assistant professor of economics at Maryville and Miss Young and Miss Hord are freshmen from Maryville and Alcoa respectively.

Story of Writer

The play deals with the sophisticated New York family of a writer of best seller fiction. The writer's wife buys a Connecticut farm house and fixes it up as a dream house full of antiques. Just when they have finished fixing the house, the former owners, staunch Connecticut Yankees, come back to claim the house. Because of the housing shortage, both families have to settle in the same house. From then on the play is a farce about the troubles both families encounter from living together and using the same living room to entertain their guests.

The Connecticut Yankee (played by Mr. Phillips) and his wife volunteer the house for a neighbor's funeral which causes quite a bit of confusion. But it all ends happily with the Connecticut Yankee subtlely getting the New York woman to agree to refurnish the barn into another antique-laden house.

DR. CALLAWAY, MR. GAMBLE DISCUSS ALCOHOL AT YMCA

Two prominent Maryville citizens, Dr. Lea Callaway and Mr. Joe Gamble, will speak to the YMCA Sunday at 1:30 in Bartlett Hall.

Both of these men are well known locally in their respective professions. They will present a discussion on alcoholic drinks Dr. Callaway will discuss the subject from the standpoint of a practicing physician and surgeon, and Mr. Gamble will consider the legal aspects of liquor-drinking.

BALDWIN THIEF AT WORK—LOCK DOORS!

Baldwin's thief has struck again. A watch and two dollars were reported missing last Sunday, March 7. Both items disappeared from second floor where the first thefts occurred.

Theta Invites Bainonian To Joint Meeting Tonight

Theta Epsilon has invited Bainonian to a joint meeting in the Y rooms Saturday at 6:15. Mrs. Archibald Pieper, instructor in Sociology, will speak on marriage.

THETA EPSILON-ALPHA SIGMA PRESENT "OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY" NEXT WEEK

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," the Theta Epsilon-Alpha Sigma play, will be presented next Friday and Saturday nights, March 19 nd 20, at 8:00 p. m. The production will be held in the Maryville High School auditorium. The leads will be taken by Elsie Jean Cotton who portrays Cornelia Otis Skinner and Carrol Kennette as Emily Kimbrough.

Miss Cotton, a senior English major from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and president of the Student Council, has had parts in four previous college plays, "Hour Glass," "Angel Street," "Man Who Came to Dinner," and "The Enchanted Cottage."

Miss Kennette is a sophomore dramatics art major from Plainfield, New Jersey. She took dramatics in high school and was in the greater part of her high school plays. She played the part of Jane Clay in "Common Clay," the last Experimental Theatre production.

Other members of the cast and the characters they portray in order of their appearance are steward, Bob Holly; Mrs. Skinner, Dorothy Vawter; Cornelia Otis Skinner, E J. Cotton; Otis Skinner, Bob Thompson; Emily Kimbrough, Carrol Kennette; purser, Glen Knecht; stewardess, Lois Miller; Dick Winters, Ben Gearhart; admiral, Bud Engel; Harriet St. John, Ruth Spears; Winifred Blaugh, Martha Kincaid; Leo McEvoy, Don Weber; inspector, Bobbie Burris; Therese, Pat Dennis; Madame Elise, Dot Stater; Monsieur de la Croix, Ed Pancoast.

GOSPEL FELLOWSHIP TO HEAR JOHN SHEW

John Shew, freshman, will be the speaker and special vocal music will be rendered by the male quartet, at the Gospel Fellowship meeting Tuesday night, 7:00, in the YW rooms.

At their meeting last Tuesday, the group was host to thirteen colored children who sang a number of hymns and spirituals under the direction of Paul Woodbury. These children are from the St. Paul African Methodist Episcopal Church, where the YM-YW inter-racial committee sponsors a Christian work project. Woodbury is assisted by Miss Mildred Leake and Miss Doris Vinton in his work with the Negroes.

OUR POLICY——

The time has come for the HIGHLAND ECHO to put into print its 1947-48 policy. We have published it in part before, but evidently some have forgotten. If they have not forgotten then they failed to read it, and for both groups we hereby print the following statements:

The ECHO is published entirely by the editorial staff, now numbering nineteen, censored only by those nineteen, and for the students of Maryville College.

We endeavor to print the news as we perceive the students see it.

We endorse those projects which we consider for the good of the student body.

We yield to no pressure groups, student or departmental, unless that pressure is proven to be the representative opinion of the majority of the student body.

We do the best we can, working under the handicap of never having had any journalistic instruction. What you want is usually in the paper, thought it may not be cataloged under a particular column.

We are open to any thoughtful, representative criticism presented in a thoughtful, representative manner.

We have stated time and time again that Thursday night at 8:00 is our deadline for promising that news be included to the ECHO.

The HIGHLAND ECHO is a weekly newspaper, and not once have we missed an issue or a deadline. Our sports page is one of the largest weekly collegiate pages among the small colleges. It is written by three boys whose only remuneration for hours of work is the pleasure they receive from them. We could enlarge upon this point, telling why some things are printed in certain spaces and why some are not, but the majority of the readers are not interested. For those who are, we will gladly receive them in the ECHO office any Wednesday or Thursday night after 8:00.

Treaty Sprouts In Brussels

In Brussels last week a Western Union came closer to reality. Delegates from the Benelux customs Union nations, Belgium, the Netherlands, and little Luxembourg, had met with the British and French for the first sessions the week before. After Belgian Prime Minister Paul-Henri Spaak had keynoted for a couple of hours, they settled down to cooperating nicely on a mutual protection from Communism treaty. Hopes were high for completion of the work by the Ides of the month with a possible military agreement thrown in to back up economic collaboration. A big boost would be U. S. aid under the Marshall plan, it was pointed out, so that "Spaakistan" could withstand another sweep of the Iron curtain.

Uproar in Dixie

Harry Truman had troubles, too. Back from Puerto Rican visit and vacation, he found his party still in an uproar over the Dixie Revolt. Chief flunky in charge of quieting Democratic intramural tussels, J. Howard McGrath, had little luck smoothing Southern filibuster feathers. In desperation the Rhode Island Senator called a gathering of party leaders to discuss mutual woes.

Much Echo About Nothing

BY CRAIG FISHER

KERRWHAMBO— another dagelbomb rends the deathly silence of Carnegie Hall. Sixty spines stiffen; two hundred twenty lips move eloquently: another victim of arrested mental development is taking his frustrated aggression patterns out on a fire cracker. Veterans of Iwo and Anzio mentally beat their teeth in; an inmate hovering between sleep and consciousness starts up wildly awake, groping feverishly for his forty-four. Mr. Mac shrugs despondently. Uneasy silence settles again.

The preceding slab of local color now gives way to another on nightmares (a thrill a minute in this column). Bob Watkins is roused from sleep by roommate Glenn Knecht flaling the air with his tennis racquet. By the time Bob (careless of life and limb) gets control of the situation, Glenn is in the closet valiantly fighting off the animals. Glenn is quieted and led to bed.

The scene shifts. Andy Clarke is sleeping like a child. He also finds himself rudely aroused by roommate Russ Morgan, who had been down to Dubby's for two cups of coffee the night before, clawing his face and weeping profusely. Gently he sooths him back to sleep, and reverts to that state himself.

REVEILLE: Noble and the Yeaworth brothers, pitting the combined power of their puny shoulders against their unyielding door, finally got it open to the tune of falling bed springs which some joker had propped against it during the night.

When Sandy Smith and Blacky Watts clean their room—and mop it, that is news. It has been wisely said that a lot of stuff can accumulate in the course of seven months.

FACULTY FRAGMENTS: The announcement of a pop quizz in Mrs. Cumming's B period class brought about an unrehearsed rush for the exit. When the dust had cleared, five of the thirty-three members in the class were still in the room.

POME dedicated to Miss Archibald:

Epitaph on a Mass Grave
"Here they lie, all mashed and gory, Archie's children gone to glory."

To derive full significance of above immortal lines, take a breezy little music course under said teacher. It will quite mature you.

FRESHMEN FROLICS: Betty Marie Davis momentarily stunned her chemistry teacher last week by a sober request for hydraulic acid. Jean Hunt and previously outdone her by brightly requesting a burning splint.

Baldwin Hall is palpitating as one heart for curly & cute George Stanfill. Give 'em a break, George. They deserve it. We gravely warn you that this is leap year, and if you don't take the initiative, tra-la! don't say we didn't nudge you!

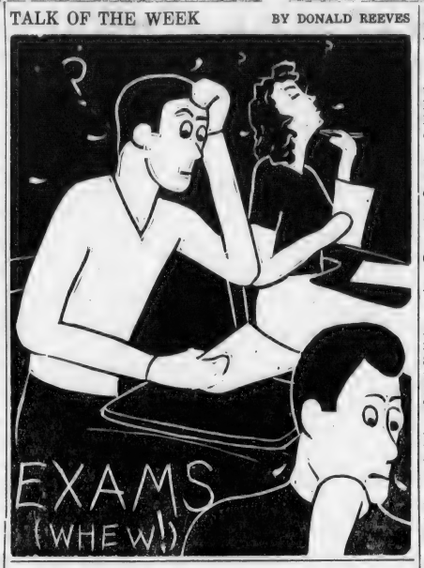
RECONVERSION: Yambert, freshly off his wrestling diet, has reverted to his former habits of prowling among the tables hunting wherewith to cram his craw with. The people in his neighborhood feel decidedly more at home, and Yambert's attitude toward life seems to have mellowed.

Thirsting for attention Laurie Dale four times went into the Chatterbox to draw attention to the letter sweater which belongs to Rock who sits at her table who she sewed a letter onto for him which she was wearing which she wanted people to gaze upon. Are we clear? Her last visit she skillfully became the center of attention by shattering a coke bottle.

TAKEN: If you glimpse Ouida Newman gripping her left wrist, you will know that she is tiring under the weight of the biggest boulder on campus (we suppose), a scintillating diamond of gigantic proportions with two lesser satellites. It protrudes noticably from the correct finger. Miss Butcher, entering her room to reprimand her for using too many kilowatts, was routed by the dazzle. No fiction!

Delmis Watson, given to laughing at jokes on himself, laughed twice this week. Once was when he narrowly missed amputating his fingers cutting a cabbage with the knife upsidedown. The second time was when his name appeared on the list of volunteers for softball umpiring.

WORKHORSES: The lowndown on the "special to the HIGHLAND ECHO" wrestling story on the sports page last week, is that Ken Olsen, its editor, took his own class cuts, paid his own way to Chattanooga, slept on the hotel floor with a party going on in the room below. McCallum Friday night jotted down by telephone the results of the first round matches. then stayed up till 2 to hammer them into a story. Mr. Mac kibitzed for a while, soon left for bed. The copy was rushed to the printer's the next morning before chapel, and you read it that afternoon. Such is the consecration, such the devotion, sweet readers, that goes into the weakly production of your blessed rag.



Elsie Onifer carefully hung a sign on her door, "SORRY. TEST TOMORROW." Her roommate, back from a late date, tiptoed at a slow gait through the doorway, the better not to disturb her concentration. There lay Elsie, sound asleep on her bed. Such is the consecration, such the devotion, sweet readers, that goes into the academic side of life.

WHO? WE WISH WE KNEW? DO YOU? WHO IS THE ALPHA SIGMA SWEETHEART? WE'LL KNOW FRIDAY NIGHT AT THE PLAY.

TALK OF THE WEEK

BY DONALD REEVES

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

It is impossible for us to express our gratitude to the students and faculty for their genuine concern during Charlie's present illness. Their friendliness has gained all proportions beyond our wildest imaginings.

It certainly has been comforting to know that everyone's thoughts have been with Charlie and that their prayers have helped to carry him along. There is no manner in which to describe our feelings at having had our financial burden lightened so readily and willingly by our friends on and off campus, and we surely do appreciate the great amount of time and effort that many have given.

To simply say, "Thank you," somehow would leave something lacking; yet, it is the best way in which we can put into writing our gratitude for the greatest lesson in neighborliness that we probably shall ever learn.

Sincerely,
Charles and Doris Naundorf.

AN EDITORIAL—

YOUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Whether most students know it or not, they are all members of the Maryville College Athletic Association. Your student activities card is your membership card in this organization composed of the entire student body and the faculty.

The purpose of the Association, as stated in its By-Laws, is "to cooperate in all practical ways in promoting athletics in Maryville College and in maintaining high standards of sportsmanship and awards."

Its Business

The business of the Athletic Association is carried on by a committee of nine—the Athletic Board of Control, the ABC, which is elected in the spring to serve for one year. The duties of the ABC are, simply stated: (1) to elect managers for the various athletic teams, (2) to award, with the recommendation of the Director of Athletics, letters and awards, (3) to perform such other duties as may properly come before it, and (4) to cooperate with the Faculty Committee on Athletics in promoting athletics in Maryville College.

As a member of the Athletic Association, you are entitled to know what your association—through the board of control—is doing or failing to do to carry out the provisions of its By-Laws.

Members of The Board

First, let's find out who's on the board of control this year. The officers you elected last spring are: MARVIN MITCHELL, president; BILL PROFFITT, vice-president; and BARBARA EGGLESTON, secretary. Student representatives elected by you are: BOB BORING, BRICK BRAHAMS, EDITH LARGEN, and JANICE LINDSAY. Faculty representatives, as provided in the By-Laws and elected by you, are Mr. A. F. Pieper and Miss Jessie Heron.

Since Mitchell graduated in December, the duties of the presidency are now in the hands of Bill Proffitt, who is gradually beginning to find out what the ABC is all about. His is the tough job.

A Progress Report Is In Order

For a progress report, we might say that the Board of Control met on December 3, 1947, in its last meeting. They duly awarded letters to 25 of the 1947 football squad, elected basketball, football, and wrestling managers for the coming season, and heard a report from Coach Honaker that letter-sweaters for the 25 football lettermen were on order. So far so good.

This is a basic fulfillment of the activities designated for the board of control in the By-Laws.

Influence of The Board Lacking

But, in the greater scope of its influence the board of control is virtually non-active. As suggested by the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Athletics, Dean F. D. McClelland, in the first meeting of the board of control in 1946, the ABC should be a sounding board for athletics in the college. The ABC, therefore, is the place and the means of making progress in getting things that the student-varsity players want and need, if practical, and also the medium for the Faculty Committee on Athletics to make known their policy regarding the various phases of the athletic program of the College.

A Three Hour Concern

This "sounding board" idea is, it seems, good—if carried out. However, it apparently doesn't exist. For the board of control—hence the Association—drifts along as a three hour organization. One hour for spring elections, one hour for fall meeting, and one hour for the additional spring meeting. But it shouldn't be a three hour concern! Through cooperation with the Faculty Committee on Athletics it should know what the individual students, particularly members of varsity athletic squads, think about the athletic program of the College. Only constant work with "pulse-taking" can give the board an insight into the swim of things—in order that difficulties can be ironed out and it can truly promote athletics in the College.

Necessary Board Action Outlined

Necessary steps for the board that should be on its immediate agenda are (1) awarding of letter-sweaters (only upon the recommendation of the director of athletics, of course, as provided in the By-Laws) to 1948 wrestling and basketball squads, (2) election of managers for baseball and track squads (which, according to the By-Laws, were to have been elected not later than March 1), (3) continuance of the process of changing the requirements for a wrestling letter as begun by a committee appointed by the board last spring, and (4) completion of the partial revision of its By-Laws which was begun last spring by ABC action.

Projected Activities

Among the things that the ABC might do to promote athletics, a high standard of sportsmanship. . . . etc., are: (1) creating an interest for varsity swimming, (2) improving conditions for track, (3) considering a plan to change the status of wrestling to a major sport, (3) investigating the cause of inequity in the distribution of letter-sweaters, and (4) building up the morale of the athletic teams—by such a project, perhaps, as a wrestler-basketball banquet similar to the one the College gives the football squad.

Furthermore, the ABC can promote athletics by acting on other suggestions that varsity players and students might have to offer. For what is your athletic association if it is not organized interest? Or your athletic board of control if it is not organized interest in action?

We feel that you, as a member of the Athletic association, would like to see your board of control active. Certainly some movement to indicate that the governing board is functioning and not defunct!

TECHMEN CLIP SCOTS, 17-10

Weary Scots Drop Final As Palmer Fails; Marvin, Merriman, Callaway Win

The end of the season came for the Maryville rassling squad on the Georgia Tech mat Tuesday night with a 17-10 loss to the Techmen On the home mat January 30, the Scot grapplers fought to a 17-17 draw with the "Gaw-guh" Boys.

Sluggishness was in the movement of the Maryville wrestlers, having just finished a two-day tournament just two days previous to the match with Georgia Tech. Although none of the M.C. men were pinned, Tech's squad won with 5 decisions and a draw while the Scots scored on a pin, a draw, and a decision.

Merriman Pins Franklin

Hershell Merriman attained his second pin of the season on a Georgia Tech wrestler by pinning Franklin in 2 min. 54 sec. of the second period.

SUMMARY:

121 class draw between Marvin (M) and James GT), 3-3

128 class—Giesler (GT) decisioned Cameron (M), 7-0

165 class—Merriman (M) pinned Franklin in 2 min. 54 sec. of 2nd. period.

174 class—Rhodes (GT) decisioned Palmer (M), 5-3

FINAL SCORE—Georgia Tech 17, Maryville 10.

29 REPORT FOR TRACK MONDAY

Twenty-nine track aspirants reported to the first practice Monday, March 8 on the athletic field. Many of last year's men have reported back this year along with the new crop of hopefuls, and although the track is not in good condition, workouts are going on full force.

The men are as follows: Preston Mulford, Bill Proffitt, Alan Kiger, and Dick Hamilton running the mile. Wilbert Seymour, James Thurston, Robert Snell, and John Baird running the half mile. George Robarts and Sidney Lambert running the quarter mile. Marvin McKenzie and Neal Burchfield running the hundred and 220 yard dash, Jose Badillo hurling the javelin. Robert Kay is out for the hurdles, Craig Fisher in the high jump, and Ben Hargis in the broad jump.

Other men reporting to the first work-out were Bill Swenson, Brick Brahams, Gene Carden, Hap Brahms, Walter English, Charles Trotter, Thomas Kees, Gregory Howard, Bob Frost, Bob Chadwick, Jessie Haynes, Paul Kidder, and Clyde Jack.

SPRING PIGSKIN PRACTICE BEGINS

Equipment will be issued for the start of spring football practice Monday at 3:30 o'clock, according to announcement from the Athletic Office this week.

Five weeks of training will constitute the spring practice: the first week with fundamentals, the second week with "T" formation, and the remaining three weeks with intra-squad scrimmage.

Scot Matmen Second; Palmer Wins 175 Class At Tourney

AUBURN PLAINSMEN TOPS; CAMERON, CALLAWAY, MERRIMAN TAKE SECONDS

Auburn 52, Maryville 27, Chattanooga 26; Palmer wins first place, and Callaway, Cameron, and Merriman win seconds—that's the top of the news from last week-end's Southeastern Invitational Tournament at Chattanooga. It was a lost weekend for everyone except Auburn's experts who sent eight men to the finals in eight classes and won six first places.

Four Scots Wrestle in Finals

Four of "J.D." Davis' boys, J. A. Cameron, "Tubby" Callaway, Hersh Merriman, and Herb Palmer, moved from the semi-final bouts into the finals.

J. A. Cameron, 128 pound freshman, met Tom Keys of Auburn for the 128 pound title. Keys, later voted the most outstanding wrestler of the tourney, pinned J. A. in 55 seconds of the second period after leading in points with a take-down.

Tubby Callaway, after a fast battle on Saturday afternoon with Williams, U. C., lost a 10-2 decision to "Killer" Keller of Auburn for the 145 class title. Tubby escaped twice but Keller effected three take-downs and a reverse and time advantage for the decision.

Hersh Merriman lost the 165 pound title to evasive Smith of Auburn by a fall in 1 minute 12.5 seconds of the third period. Smith was ahead at the fall in points, 6-3.

Herb Palmer, stocky Maryville freshman, won the only Scot first place when he decisioned "Mouse" Mantrone of Auburn in the 175 class. The decision, too close for comfort, was awarded to Palmer after the two wrestled to a 4-4 draw by the referee for "more aggressiveness." (This rule is provided in the 1948 rule book for deciding a draw in a tournament) Palmer had escaped twice and Mantrone had earned a take-down when, in the third period, Mantrone escaped and began backing off the mat and stalling to keep his point lead for the last minute. The referee awarded Palmer a take-down for "stalling" which gave a one

Baseball Prospects Get First Practice Wed. On Diamond

Wednesday afternoon found Ol Sol smiling down on the Highlanders' 1948 diamond squad in its first regular practice out-of-doors.

In mood with the sunny weather, Coach Lombe Honaker smiled as his twenty-eight baseball men began practice drills in fielding and ball handling. The Highland Chieftan had reason to smile—his returning men began taking form and fresh material in the squad looked encouragingly good.

The twenty-eight candidates line up like this:

PITCHERS—Leon Berrong, L. A. Campbell, Erasmus Fowler, Ross Honaker, Joe Jernigan, Ray Lillard, Richard Rowley, and Tom Yeaworth.

CATCHERS—Jim Baird, Gene Reynolds, and Bill Shields.

FIRST BASEMEN—Gene Hamil, John Herring, Art Lucas, D. M. Miller, and Woody Thomas.

SECOND BASEMEN—Bob Neff and King Berrong.

THIRD BASEMEN—Jack Buckley, and Bill Largen.

SHORTSTOPS— Charles Blalock, and Bob Boring.

SOFTBALL BEGINS MONDAY AT 3:30

Intramural softball will begin next Monday on the diamond in the outfield of the varsity diamond at 3:30. Games will be scheduled on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, two games on each day. The first games will begin at 3:30 or be forfeited at 3:40 and will last one hour The league will continue for the rest of the semester until the final play-off between the top four teams. Games will not be played during varsity baseball or tennis matches.

YMCA Makes Clean Sweep In Volleyball Tournament

YMCA cleaned up the volleyball competition a week ago, beating the Faculty 15-11 and 15-9, in the finals of the tournament, after topping the league standings. The Scorpions won the consolation title in the tourney.

The tourney started March 3 and ended March 5. Choir, Faculty, Rockets, and YMCA were left to battle in the semi-finals. Faculty beat choir 15-5, 7-15, 7-6, and YMCA dispatched the Rockets 15-6, and 15-6, to enter the finals against Faculty.

The Consolation Winners, Scorpians, beat Athenians 15-12 and 15-12 in the finals after lambasting the Brewers. The Athenians had defeated the Odds and Ends.

PO' LIL' YAMBERT . . .

"Why Didn't Ya Pin Him, Ya Bum?"

(NOTE: Herewith follows a true revelation of the gruelling cruelties suffered by a fledging heavyweight grappler. ECHO prints the story as it came from the pen of "heavyweight" Paul Yambert, who, now at 165 pounds, is just a mere shadow of his former self and, who says, "I have to stand up twice now to see my shadow.")

Soon after entering the hallowed halls of that divine institution called Maryville College, I heard that here the ancient and honourable sport of rassling was held in high esteem. Having some excess steam myself, I decided to try my hand and the coach's patience at the sport.

First Season Uneventful

Except for a few minor bruises, various and sundry mat burns, a sprained ankle and thumb, a few loose teeth, a wrenched back, a set of pulled ribs, and a deflated ego, my first season was more or less uneventful and uninjurious.

The monotomy of warming the bench was relieved by my duties as the understudy to the assistant timekeeper. I suppose this honour was allowed me since J. D. (that's our coach) thought I was more of a mental than a phycal giant.

After the final practice of the season as I was tugging off my tights for the last time J.D. came in and said, "Yambert, youse is a good boy. Here I thought youse was an intellectual, and now I think youse might be a good rassler in three or four years. In fact if I get hard up next year, I may have to let you rassle a few times."

At It Again

The following fall we were at it again—wallowing in the blood, grime and sweat of our friends. Just before the Christmas vacation, we had a double match with Baylor and the University of Chattanooga. Since there were two matches (although neither was striking) J.D. had to take nearly all his "men." Because of this and the fact that no one else had the bravery or, as J.D. put it, the stupidity, to get in the ring with one Dutch Magrath, I was allowed to make the trip.

When we reached the gym and began weighing in, I placed my 174.2 pounds on the scales, the U. C. coach stared unbelievingly, drew up his nose, and said, "That! That a THING, rassling Muscles Magrath!" J.D., said that he was sorry, but he didn't have any other sacrifice to make.

"He's A BIG Boy"

In hope of gazing on my worthy opponent, I walked over to the largest boy in the room and politely asked if he were Magrath. "Oh no! He's a BIG boy!" "Oh," I said, and tried to control my imagination. After a similar attempt, with similar results on an even larger boy who entered; I gave up in despair.

After we had gone up to watch the Baylor match, Magrath turned sideways, stooped considerably, and gracefully entered the arena. He must have weighed about what I did, except that someone had maliciously moved the decimal point to the right. Right then and there I sweated off two more of my precious pounds.

"One of Us Bounced. . ."

Soon it was time for our encounter, and we met in the center of the mat to match fingernails. Then the bell and we charged like enraged elephants, one of us bouncing back—me.

The next time we charged, I was running—the same direction he was; it's much safer that way. Gradually he became quite peeved because his momentum would carry both of us off the mat each time he caught up with me.

Finally, after an especially terrific plunge during which he carried me tenderly in his gigantic arms while crashing through several rows of chairs, he decided to change his tactics.

Circumspectly he retreated to the fartherest extremity of the mat and waited for me to follow. As I drew near, he snorted like a wounded beast and madly dashed toward a dumfounded me. Instinctively, rather than intelligently, I side-stepped and watched him pile head-long into the defenseless chairs again.

One Crash Helmet

Now, I believe, he was more than peeved. With the full force of a hurricane, he snatched me and tossed me thru the zone into the laps of four astonished spectators. Somewhat stunned from my recent flight, I asked J.D. for a crash helmet before returning to the scene of the massacre.

By reckoning time from the stars I had just seen, I found it was time for the first round to end. Bong! I reckon pretty good, I reckon. I won the toss, although I felt that I had lost on the last toss I could remember, and followed J.D.'s instructions by choosing the down position. While lying there with 230 pounds of hairy creature trying to make a contortionist out of me, I thought of many queer and wondrous things. Even the old one going "If it's true that we all sprang from the ape, why don't you spring again and make it a safe distance?" seemed funny once more.

At last the final bell sounded, and the hugh mass of protoplasm removed itself from my prostrate form. I staggered toward J. D., wondering just how he would compliment me for not getting pinned. "Youse wasn't aggressive enough!" he said, "Heck, He only outweighs you fifty some pounds."

Nooga Ride—My Bosom Buddy

Several more wrestling matches dragged by; and several more times I was dragged out. Finally after I made a particularly poor showing against a long, lanky, and lethal lad from Knoxville "Y," J.D. gently informed me, "Yambert, youse stank; I didn't know whether I was watching a rassling match or a badger hunt. Just for that youse rassle Magurk aaginst Thursday." (Magurk is J.D.'s pet name for my bosom buddy Muscles Magrath.)

Unfortunately Magrath, Thursday, and wrestling time arrived. With the team score 14-11 our favor, J.D. led me to the corner of the mat, removed my chains, and consoled me in his tender manner. "Go out there and fight now; remember that bum is just as dumb as you are."

"We Hit With a Thud. . ."

Again we matched fingernails in the center of the mat—this was an absurd formality, since mine were bitten down to the second phalange. Then the bell—we hit with a thud; soon (I suppose it was soon) I awoke and became aware of a seething mass perched upon my newly-concave stomach. According to the watch, it took him exactly 2.49 seconds to effect that take-down. It took considerably longer for me to overcome the effect.

Entire Heart and Soles

For the remainder of the first, and the entire second period, he amused himself by attempting to use my ribs as toothpicks and my chest as a trampoline. When the ref slapped the mat for the beginning of the third period, I put my entire heart and soles (one intangible; two tennis shoes) into a furious, but futile effort to turn the snorting monster on the mat.

I had him flat with his pillar-like arm barred behind his well-furred back. Clenching his wrist tightly with both hands, I watched, amazed and horrified, as he broke loose with ease resembling that of a prolonged yawn.

Finally I got him flat again, and threw my best half nelson. Concentrating all my skill and power on the hold, I gradually applied pressure in an attempt to roll him over. Then it didn't happen. He not only would not roll over and be pinned, he would not budge a millimeter. After a running start I finally managed to jump upon his bristled back once more.

Just before the final bell, he escaped and finished the period trying to scare me by growling and looking even uglier than usual. This, of course, was futile—I was already scared. At last the bell.

A Rhetorical Question

Breathing words of thanks to counteract some of the phrases Dutch had coined during the match, I stumbled from the mat and collapsed in the arms of my teammates. The first words which passed my sagging cauliflower ears were, "Why didn't ya pin him, ya bum?" Figuring the question rhetorical, I again bit my bleeding lips and crawled to the dressing room.

They say that wrestling is a great sport.

Bouts Held at Frye, U.C. Gyms

The first round of bouts was held at Frye Institute Gym on Friday evening. Saturday afternoon, the semi-finals were held in the University of Chattanooga Gym and Saturday night the finals were held there. The attendance was poor, the wrestlers almost outnumbering the spectators. Fourteen Maryville wrestlers, Coach Davis, and trainer Bud Engel made the trip.

Referee—"Whitey" Erban

Auburn was awarded the trophy for the first place team. Team scoring for the tourney was scored in this manner: 6 points for a first place; 4 for a second place; 2 for a third place; 1 for a fourth place; and 1 point for each pin, regardless of what stage of the tournament the pin was secured.

Tom Keyes of Auburn received the most outstanding wrestler trophy.

The tournament was sponsored by the University of Chattanooga under the auspices of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

NEWLY ORGANIZED ROVER CREW FURTHERS IDEAL OF SCOUTING

BY JEAN HUNT

One of the newest organized groups on campus is the Rover Crew, which is sponsored by the YMCA of the college. The group, which was organized last semester, is under the leadership of Sam Broyles. The group is composed of college men who are interested in furthering the ideals of scouting.

Maryville's crew has been hindered some what in their work this semester by inclement weather, but they have managed to have a rabbit fry and have done some work on their main project of improving the college picnic grounds. One grill has been built and a great deal of work has been done on a shelter to be used in bad weather. The shelter is of rustic design and should be completed this year if enough men are interested in the work.

Another project which the Crew hopes to work out this semester, is that of furnishing the leadership for some scout troops and cub packs in and around Maryville. Plans are being made to place leaders at Greenback and Peck's Memorial Chapel, and help get these organizations under way before undertaking more troops.

The Crew has approximately fifteen active members, and is still open for membership. Anyone interested in this type of work, whether they have been a scout or not, would be welcomed in the group. No emphasis is placed on former scouting. There are no regular meetings held and no dues are collected except regular scout dues.

The Rovers are planning to do service work which will benefit those who are planning to do professional work with boys, and at the same time benefit the college. With these views in mind, we are sure that the Rover Crew will go forward with its work and become a vital part of the YMCA program.

IRC Representatives Speak To Club Monday

Maryville representatives at the IRC Conference in North Carolina will give a report to the club next Monday night, March 15. A business meeting will be held and refreshments will be served.

WRITERS' WORKSHOP

Dr. E. R. Hunter read a dramatic monolog, "Judas Remembers," in blank verse and was criticized by Juanita Johnson at the Writers' Workshop, Wednesday, March 10.

Chester Phillips read three short poems, "An Evening Thought," "Accomplishment," and "Redemption." Dave Campbell criticised them.

FRENCH CLUB

Don Lehman reported on "What's Going on in France Today" at the French Club meeting Thursday night. Bob Watkins introduced the game, rhythm, using French numbers. Walter Pentz led in charades, and decorations carried through the patriotic theme. Refreshments were served.

Chillies Win Cage Tourney Tuesday

The Chillies are winners of the Chillie-Howee basketball tournament with a narrow margin of one point over the Howees. The final game was played Tuesday, March 9 and the final score was 33 to 32. Chillie scores for the game are Kemp—8, Caldwell—6, Clemens—9, Marion Henderson—8, and Rock 2; Howee scores are Lindsay—12, Gilreath—4, Heaps—8, Siebold—8.

Total points for the seven games for the Chillies are 180 and for the Howees are 208. Individual scores for the tournament are Lindsay—78, Siebold—69, Kemp—50, Marion Henderson—42, Caldwell—36, Heaps—34, Gilreath—22, Clemens—20, and Rock—18, Sangster—7, Merle Henderson—5, Wilma Robinson—2, Bertholf—2, Davenport—2, and Faye Robinson—1.

Thursday, March 11, the Chillie and Howee squads played the last basketball game of the season. The Chillies again won with a 26 to 24 win over the Howees. Individual scores for the Chillies are Lusk—2, McBride—2, Sangster—9, Cotton—7, Gates—3, Bertholf—2, Vinton—1; scores for the Howees are Gilreath—17, Greenlee—4, Rogers—2, and Faye Robinson—1.

News Capsules—

BY DON WHELAN

Fever Pitch and Noise

The fever pitch to which scare headlines had aroused the nation was somewhat calmed by the end of the week. Cause for the panicky Let's-Start-Shootin' hysteria was a sudden Presidential address to a joint session of Congress. What HST had to say was a repeat of previous pleas: (1) ERP, (2) selectiv service again, () Universal Military Training. He called for "military, economic, and moral aid" to still-free nations of Europe. What he got was immediate passage of ERP in the Senate, a House committee okeh for it, and a lot of noise over what Congress would do about the other two. Most likely he would get one of the military laws but hardly both. Meanwhile, Russia reduced her armed forces for the sixth time since the end of the war. Down to "basic" strength, Moscow did not say how big that was.

Double Troubles

Chances were good—or rather bad—that the country would be in for another round of strikes. By the middle of the week, three-fourths, 300,000, of John L's soft coal miners were out. They were not really on strike because there had ben neo union call for a walk-out. Oprators and the union boss, however, were at odds again and this was the miners' way of showing what they thought.

Old Bogey HCL was blamed for the Chicago strike of 200,000 meat-packers. Big companies like Swift and Armour agreed that workers needed more money but couldn't see granting what the employees wanted to meet increased living costs. As shortages developed in butcher shops through the country, meat prices started their traditional climb once more.

U. S. Policy Flip-Flop

In a complete reversal of previous U. S. Policy, our UN delegate Warren Austin announced yesterday that this country will oppose partition of the Holy Land. His proposal to the Security Council was that Palestine be put under United Nations Trusteeship. In the United States loud opposition had already started coming from congressional and Jewish sources.

An Heir, Apparently

Buckingham Winchells were still insisting last week that Princess Elizabeth expects an heir by October. No announcement was forthcoming from the palace, nor was any expected until about June. If the child is a boy, he will be heir apparent when his mother takes the throne; if a girl, she would be heir presumptive unless a male child were born by the time of her mother's accession.

Aw, Forget It

The President's Civil Rights program was still sidetracked. With pressing foreign matters to take up, Congress took no action on administration plans to establish a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission and other social legislation. Southern opposition, however, was just as strong as ever, though one source said the South will probably still be in the Truman-Democrat fold come next November.

Here in Tennessee politicians had fallen into line after Memphis Demautocrat Ed Crump denounced the President.

Landlords' Laps?

Amid cries of "Unconstitutional!" and "Reckless!" the House GOP machine tossed rent control into local laps. Called "home rule," the bill would permit local boards to raise or hold rents until April of next year when the law expires. Before the House passed the measure one congressman pointed out that charging local authorities with administering a federal law was unconstitutional; another said passage would be virtual scrapping of ceilings due to the number of landlords and real estate men on local boards. Now the bill goes to a joint committee to iron out differences with the Senate, which had passed continued federal control in earlier legislation.

REV. S. CARTLEDGE SPEAKS AT VESPERS

The Reverend Mr. Samuel A. Cartledge, D.D., will speak at the vesper service tomorrow night. Mr. Cartledge is professor of New Testament at the Columbia Seminary in Decatur, Georgia. He will be a guest of the college on Monday at which time those desiring interviews with him may arrange for them.

The All-Girls Choir and the Men's Glee Club will sing "The Lord is My Shepherd" by Cain at the vesper service. Miss Maurine Owen, soprano and a junior English major from Clinton, Tennessee will sing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills" by Hageman.

Ground Broken For Buildings

Actual construction has begun on the Recreation Center and an annex to the Practice House.

Ground has been broken for these two buildings, and it is reported by the Administration that work is proceeding according to plan. It was at first feared that delays in getting materials would hold up the work; but it is believed that both will be finished by the beginning of the fall semester. Both buildings will be of Federal Works Administration surplus materials, as are the present Practice House and Gymnasium.

The Rec Center will house campus recreational facilities. Music practice space will be increased by sixteen rooms when the annex is completed. It will join the present building by a passage-way and will extend toward the road. Slightly larger than the Rec Hall, it will contain 1260 square feet.

Nelson Eddy Gives U.T. "Extra" Sat.

Nelson Eddy, tenor, will appear in concert in the U. T. Alumni Memorial Auditorium Saturday, March 27 at 8:15 p. m. This is one of the "extra" concerts scheduled in connection with the U. T. Artists series.

Music Major Gives Chilhowee Recital

Dan Winter, a sophomore music major from Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, presented a program of piano music at a tea given by Mrs. William Patterson and Mrs. Ralph Colbert in the Chilhowee Club House, this afternoon. His program included the "Allegro" from Beethoven's "Concerto," Op. 73 in E Flat. The orchestral accompaniment arranged for a second piano was played by Miss Katherine Davies, professor of music. In the second group he played "Feux Follets," Phillip; 'Le Circque Jongleurs," Turing; and "Jeux d'Eau," Ravel. The "Etudes," Op. 10, Nos. 3 and 4, by Chopin and "Rhapsodie Hongraise" No. 14 by Liszt composed the last group.

1948 DAISY CHAIN SELECTIONS ANNOUNCED

Davenport Chosen Alpha Sig Sweetheart

Three Faculty Members Make Final Choice

Miss Alice Davenport, the first "Sweetheart of Alpha Sig," reigned as sponsor for "Our Hearts were Young and Gay" last night.

The Alpha Sig Sweetheart—seventeen, dark hair, green eyes—was presented by Joe Claud, contest chairman, and received gifts of flowers and jewelry from Tom Stovall, Alpha Sigma representative, while a chorus from the society sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

ALICE DAVENPORT

Miss Davenport, sophomore sociology major from Marietta, Georgia, is a Theta in good standing and was program chairman last year. Her other activities on campus include being a Nu Gamma leader, playing on the Howie basketball team, and acting as chairman of third floor Baldwin. She is also an active church worker and president of the young people's synod of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.

Dr. D. H. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pieper, and Miss Frances Massey, alumni of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma, made the final selection of Miss Davenport, March 9 from the five candidates nominated by the Alpha Sigs March 7 The other finalists were Judy Breen, Pat Love, Pat Dennis, and E. J. Cotton.

Alpha Sigma announced their intention to make the election of "the Alpha Sigma Sweetheart" an annual event.

Fourteen Juniors Appointed By Bette Alverson, Vice-President

The girls who will make up the 1948 Commencement Daisy Chain were appointed this week by Betty Belle Alverson. Miss Alverson is vice-president of the junior class and chairman of the Daisy Chain committee.

Grace Hildebrand and Carolyn Scrugss will lead the chain. Miss Hildebrand is a home economics major from Chicago, Ill., and Miss Scruggs is from Floyd, Virginia. She is also a home economics major.

The second couple are Ann Cook, a psychology major from Morganton, North Carolina, and Marianna Hayes, a sociology major from Lock Haven, Pennsylvania. Following them will be Gwen Williams, a home economics major from Tully, New Jersey, and Grace Ellen Cross, a philosophy major from Birmingham, Alabama.

Next in line will be Sara Jo Kiger and Marian Pope. Miss Kiger is from Maryville and a pre-med major and Miss Pope is from Etowah, Tenenssee and a dramatics arts major. The next couple will be Margaret Rock and Hedy Nabholz. Miss Rock is from Ontario, Oregon, and Miss Nabholz is from Riverdale, Maryland. Both girls are English majors.

Following them will be Becky Walton, an English major from Bowling Gap, Illinois, and Lynn Willis, a psychology major from Detroit, Michigan. The last couple will be Anna Jane Brunson who is a biology major from Elmira, New York, and Ruth Ellen Crews who is a dramatic arts major from Morristown, Tennessee.

This year in accordance with annual tradition, the girls will lead the commencement procession of seniors to the gym and will follow the recessional when the exercises are over. They will carry the traditional chain of yellow and white field daisies on their shoulders. The girls will be responsible for getting the daisies themselves, and they will also make the chain.

Each girl will wear a cotton pastel summer formal dress.

Resurrection Play Closes Holy Week

Several Organizations Participated In Programs

A YMCA dramatization of the Resurrection will culminate the active Holy Week program to begin this Monday. The YM, pre-Ministerials, choir and members of the faculty are cooperating in the various activities scheduled.

The morning chapel services will be made into something special with a hymn sung by the choir and appropriate meditations by the faculty leader. Dr. Case will lead Tuesday's service, Mr. Englehardt. Thursday's, and Dr. Buchanan Saturday's.

Dr. Orr Leads Good Friday

The Good Friday service will be longer. Dr. Orr will lead the service and Dr. Briggs, Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Pieper will give meditations on the Seven Last Words. The choir will sing "Go To Dark Gethsemane," by Noble.

Each noon, Monday through Friday, the Ministerial Association is sponsoring a prayer meeting at 1:00 p. m. in the Y. rooms. John Shew will lead the singing.

Bill Vogel will lead the Monday meeting with the meditation, "We Need Christ." Tuesday Bill Starr will speak on "God Needs Us," Robert Eastmen on "Do Others See Jesus in Us?" Wednesday, Henry Heaps on "Christ Lives in Us" Thursday, and on Friday Herb Parsons on "Victory Through Christ."

United Services Held

United services will be held by the churches in town Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday night the Ministerial Association will meet for a brief meeting before going in a band to the communion service to be celebrated in New Providence Presbyterian Church.

The last of the programs leading up to Easter will be a dramatization of the Resurrection, "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," at 8:00 p. m. in Bartlett Hall. Sponsored by the YMCA, written by Tom Wheeler, and directed by Miss Wilde, it will be given in Bartlett Hall.

The next morning at 6:29 Easter Day will dawn with the Sunrise Service to be held in the ampitheater.

Writer's Workshop Hears Essay, Story

A short story and a descriptive essay were presented at Writer's Workshop Wednesday, March 17. E. J. Cotton read an untitled story of a young girl's self-sacrifice for her family and it was criticized by Martha Cecil Hull.

Eleanor Struble read a descriptive essay, "On Taking a Walk in a Florida Park," which was criticized by Barbara Eggleston.

"NIGHT WATCH" IS PRE-EASTER PLAY

"Night Watch" is the title of this Sunday's radio play. It is a story based upon Mary, the Mother of Jesus, and is in keeping with the Easter theme of the present series. It is written by Tom Wheeler, and will be on the air at 2:30 over WGAP.

Choir Gives First Concert of Series

The Vesper Choir will give the first presentation of their spring concert tomorrow afternoon in the Oak Ridge High School. It will be repeated in the high school auditorium in Loudon, Tennessee, on the evening of March 26.

The concert program is divided into four groups representing four centuries of sacred choral music. Eight nationalities are represented by the composer whose music is being used and six of these composers are living today.

Among the optional numbers on the program are original anthems by Charles Huffman and William Deihl, members of the choir, and by Mr. Harry H. Harter, director.

The choir will present a home concert April 18.

Miss Henry Speaks To Texas D.A.R. Convention

Miss Clemmie J. Henry, director of the self-help program, recently returned from a trip to Texas, where she attended the D. A. R. conference in Fort Worth. Miss Henry left March 9 to attend the State D.A.R. conference in Nashville, Tenn., going directly from Nashville to Fort Worth to be present at both conferences.

She also visited her brother, Mr. J. M. Henry, in Palestine, Texas.

Extension Courses Offered in Night Schoo! By UT-MC

An evening college course will be given as an extension of the University of Tennessee at Maryville College, Dr. Hunter, Dean of Curriculum, has announced.

Registration time for these classes will be between 6:00 and 9:00 p. m. Monday night, March 29, in Anderson Hall. Courses offered are to include shorthand, English composition, public speaking, American History, accounting, business law, mathematics (a refresher course), typing, mechanical drawing and interior decorating. Classes will begin March 30 and will last from 7:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m. There will be two periods each night, and classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The course will run 11 weeks.

U. T. and Maryville College faculty members will be instructors. Courses are of college level and will carry credit equivalent to two college hours. Maryville College students will have to qualify for these courses exactly as with any other extra course; that is, have a B average and be taking not more than four courses already.

The program is offered in answer to requests that have been made from adults in the Maryville-Alcoa area. Special courses may also be added, not carrying credit, to fill any need that arises. Classes will be held in Anderson Hall, and in Alcoa High School.

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma will not meet tonight, because of the scheduled performance of the society play.

All those who missed last night's performance are cordially invited to attend tonight's production, of "Our Heart's Were Young and Gay."

Maintenance Dept. Sods Worn Campus

The Maintenance Department is repairing several campus lawn eye-sores by sodding over badly worn and eroded areas which have long marred the appearance of the campus. Using sod taken from the area now being broken for the new rec hall and practice rooms buildings, three places are being sodded. These are in front of the Alumni Gymnasium, to the Chatterbox-side of Pearsons Hall, and in front of Memorial Hall.

Until the new grass has had time to take root, students are asked to please avoid walking on the sod.

First Of Camera Club Series Begun

The first of a new series of programs of the Camera Club, with the cooperation of the Eastman Kodak Company, was held Thursday night, March 18.

The series has been announced by Carrol Stegall, Camera Club president. and is under the direction of William McIlvaine, program chairman. Full color and black-and-white slides are projected in a planned sequence, with a concursive discussion by the lecturer. Lectures and slides are prepared by the Eastman Kodak Company.

Thursday's program was on the "Making of Pictures People Like" and explained how an amateur with simple equipment can make memorable pictures. The next program, which is due April 1st, will be on the uses of Kodachrome and Kodacolor. The discussion will be led then by Walter English.

The Camera Club has planned these programs to present the fundamental knowledge that is neessary for making good pictures. All visitors will be welcome to attend.

GIRLS CELEBRATE ST. PATRICK'S DAY

The All-Girl Choir party Monday night took the form of a St. Patrick's Day celebration.

The girls wore green all through the day, carrying out the motif that was kept in decorations at the party. Contests were held in which Ruth Davis and Coe Burwald won prizes. On the committees were Betty Jo Smith and Jean Burke. Pat Downey and Lois Lehr were in charge of refreshments.

MSO Election Will Be Held In April

The MSO constitution, having been passed, is now in effect and soon the first of its provisions, the election of the Coordinating Council, will take place.

In the second week of April representatives of the Council will be elected according to the plan of the Constiution. Representatives will be elected from the campus men, those who are temporarily living off campus, and those who are permanent residents off campus. A total of nine will be chosen in a poll vote, and these will be the first Coordinating Council of the new Men's Student Organization.

THETA EPSILON

There will be no meeting of Theta Epsilon society this week, because of the play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

ART CLUB TO SHOW WORKS OF OROZCO

The paintings of Jose Clemente Orozco will be shown at the meeting of the Art Club Monday evening at 6:45 in room 23 of Anderson. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Last week twelve members of the Art Club went to U. T. to see an exhibit of etchings and engravings by Andre Racz.

JUNIORS BEGIN ECHO EDITING

Beginning with this week's issue, which is edited by Carroll Stegall, the ECHO will be published by the junior try-outs for editor, under the supervision of the present editor, Lorrie Swift. Following the tryouts the staff will elect the 1948-49 editor.

The ECHO schedule is as follows:

March 20, Carroll Stegall; March 27, Ilda Mosby; April 10, Leslie Webb; April 17, Ruth Ramsey; April 24, Dick Sprague.

Societies Use Shakespearean Stage For Play

A new departure in Maryville theatre is to be offered by the Athenian-Bainonian societies in their Commencement play, The Merchant of Venice. The play is be produced on a Shakespearean stage.

The original plan was to produce the play with period sets, which were to be obtained from a Knoxville theatre. However, complications arose when it developed that the Maryville High School stage would not be available until the same day of the play. It seemed impossible to stage a play in such a length of time, or produce it without a set rehearsal. However, it was decided that since the play was Shakespeare, that the societies would produce the play as it would have been done in the day of Shakespeare. This means that the success of the play rests upon the talents of the actors, who must create the illusion of an elaborate set, as in the Shakespearean theatre.

The play will be presented as planned, in the Maryville High School auditorium May 15 and 17. The cast for the play has been selected and includes Betty Seagraves as Portia, Jim Black as Shylock, Max House as Antonio, and Bill Starr as Bassanio. Rehearsals have not yet begun, but the cast has met with Dr. Hunter of the English Department and an authority on Shakespeare, for instruction in the interpretation of the works of the English poet.

STUDENTS GIVE OPINIONS; NEW LOOK APPROVED AT MARYVILLE

By Hazel Holm

The "new look" is now old eough to have found its place in the dress ideas of the girls. While it doesn't seem to have gained enough proponents to merit the name "accepted fashion," still it does make frequent appearances, especially in the evening hours. Your reporter, to see if the controversy has reached a static point, made the following investigation. Results: some like 'em, some don't still. Read for yourself!

Milly Simmons: My opinion hasn't changed—it depends on whether you've got a man or are trying to get one.

Jackie Lenderman: They look good on everybody but me.

Richard Rhey: You have to help a girl get in a car—she can't even step on the running board.

Billy Chalker: I like 'em.

Sarah Durant: I guess I like them.

Dick Lane: I like them; I think they are very good.

Wally Moore: I like it. Especially good for girls who have something to hide.

Kennedy Garrison: I think it's horrible!

Lowell Duffey: I think it's o.k. It does have its disadvantages though!

Dot Holverson: The black skirts and white blouses look like uniforms.

Phyllis Jackson: I'm not too worried. After all, what went up had to go down.

Bob Holly: All for it. Every girl should have it or be exiled to Siberia.

Jeanne Pelton: You have to have just the right kind of shape to wear it.

Bobby Phillips: You better not

DIG DEEP—GIVE

The students of Maryville College will be called upon very soon to contribute to the World Student Service Fund.

MC students have always been generous and open to any worth-while charity. The Fred Hope fund, the Student Volunteers project, and more recently a spontaneous gesture to a sick friend, Charles Naundorf, all received honest and solid support. Now the students are called upon to give once more, and this time to a fund that is perhaps the most significant of all.

Why is the WSSF so worthy of all the support that Maryville students and faculty members can give? There are two principle reasons. Both are sufficient in themselves to merit our whole-hearted support for the drive; taken together, the reasons emphasize the graveness and importance of a situation which we are able to help our country meet.

The first reason is of course the humanitarian and Christian one: that while there is suffering and misery in the world, it is the responsibility of those who are aware of it to alleviate it. At the present time, students and those who would like to be students in Europe and China suffer not only the lack of books, materials and clothing, but actually the basic needs of the human body, food and nourishment. The report has come from the Presbyterian Seminary in France that newly ordained ministers are not capable of lasting longer than two years at their work, simply because they collapse under the effort, for lack of sustenance! It is a known fact that students in other schools who room together alternate the wearing of one suit of clothing they have between them—one going to class and taking notes one day, and the other attending lectures the next day. Instances are told where an entire class has had to copy, word for word, the single text book they had in order to make it perform the work of 30. When conditions such as this exist it should bring a blush to the face of each of us who ignore them, while buying a new Easter dress or a fresh bottle of after-shave lotion or a cone from the Chatterbox.

The second reason is perhaps less pure than the first, but is certainly no less vital. Support of the WSSF is a direct aid to the purposes of our country's stated foreign policy: the Marshall Plan. The Marshall Plan is designed to combat Communism by re-establishing the democratic feelings of personal worth and individuality through reconstruction of industry and restoration of prosperity among the peoples of war-devastated lands. The WSSF is designed to reach the young people, college and school students, in those same lands. It thus supports the Marshall Plan where it is most vital: among young people still in the formative stage—the leaders of tomorrow in Europe and Asia.

President Truman's three recommendations alled for European Recovery, Universal Training and Selective Service. If the first is successful, the latter two may be unnecessary. If we contribute our money to the WSSF drive, we may not have to contribute our sweat, our time, or our loved ones to military duty and war.

The latter reason is as has been stated before, more selfish than the first. But both reasons are valid and should serve to emphasize the point at hand: that WSSF is our duty and responsibility. First, because it helps others; secondly because it helps ourselves. When the representative of the WSSF appears at your door, MC students, don't hestitate. Dig deep—GIVE.

Much Echo About Nothing

By ILDA MOSBY

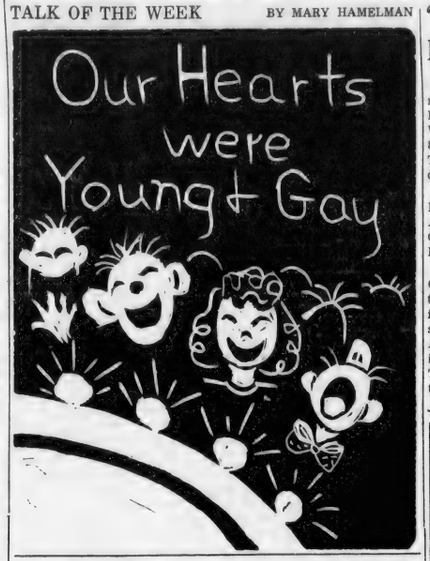
Hup, two, three, four——and Maryville returns to its wartime status with ten women to every man. . . .when a fellow meets a fellow, it's no longer "Hi" but a half salute and a sickly grin. . . .nearly every table in the dining hall had a radio Wednesday noon to hear President Truman's speech. . . . as has been said, most of the fellows hadn't found summer jobs yet. . . .

IT'S A GREEN WORLD: Wednesday, the seventeenth, may have been St. Pat's day and every one wore green, but Thursday must have been Dr. Queener's and he wore a bright red plaid shirt. . . .. . Ken Ross carefully prepared a little speech to give his pupils when they should mention the day of the gentleman from Ireland, and then went to class clad in green. But no one said anything about it, so unable to stand it any longer, he said, "I wore this green suit for two reasons. One is that it's the only suit I have. Now what do you suppose the other is?" No response. One more future teacher lost. . . . We looked at green, we age green, we turned green. . . . but we must admit that the dining hall looked "mighty purty" with its streamers. . . . Mr. Harter cued the sopranos for a soft opening, and the whole choir burst forth with "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling". . . . . Baldwin's celebration ended with all the accumulated clothes in the laundry publicly returned to the owners. . . .

DORMODDITIES! It does rain an awful lot around here but that still doesn't explain Lorrie Nunn's trek down the hall at 10:30 p. m. clad in pj's and carrying an umbrella. . . . Stewart Saul's room has a peculiar resemblance to a lilac bush in spring. . . . Wheeler's English-major sense must have had a rude shock the morning Woody awoke and demanded his book on Kelley and Sheats. . . what will Baldwinites use next to curl their hair? If the effects really were so exceptional, would something a little stronger give a permanent wave?. . . . Mr. Mac wasn't disturbed by Sieber tiptoeing in the other night because he (Mr. M.) was right behind him. . . .

CLASSICALITIES: Mel Gaughan didn't realize that embryology class was the best place for sudden showers till the water jar broke and the rains descended. . . . Elsie was overheard asking plaintively, "Hasn't anyone else got a yo-yo?". . . how could any one get in Miss Jackson's room when she keeps a chair against the door?. . . . although some folks arrive so, well, as 'twas put, "you can't really tell whether Vogel's coming yet" for it was only a few minutes after the bell. . . . Mr. Bushing made a rather neat comparison between MC'ers and Keats' "Lamia". . . .

PEOPLE: Santmier didn't think any of the hill folk saw him stretched out on Byrne's floor. . . . . Bob Argie gave the station wagon horn a blast to recall the parish teachers and so startled the clock (which hasn't run for 3 semesters) that it ran for seven minutes and the milage indicator jumped nine miles. . . . Roger got a dose of his own type of poetic introduction last Sunday at Vols. . . . Ben Sheldon went down to New Providence Monday evening to her the explanation of the new church curriculum. During the question period, someone out of his range of view asked a question and was referred to by Dr. Graham as "Frank". Ben then made casual and thoughtless reference to "Frank's" question himself. Was his face red or does he believe in calling the deans by their names? . . . . Don Weber didn't think Nancy would deposit his cap in the pool, but neither did she think he'd deposit her the same place. . . .



MORE PEOPLE: The faculty must appreciate two shakers of pepper and no salt. Humes gallantly filled Oshana's shakers on Monday morning and put salt in neither. . . . Dr. Graham wasn't going to make any mistakes at YW and addressed the ladies present as between 18 and 45. His little discourse on trial and error was rather amusingly put. . . . Irma Jean Benedict carefully dumped her dishpan and then just as carefully went over to the waste basket—to wring out her dishcloth. . . . . Bill Houdeshel isn't very observant when it comes to women's hair. Just ask Marianna. . . . Morgan, Forrester, three women, two library lamps, and a lot of noise. . . .

LET'S GOSEE: That little parade for the play was a lot of fun for the participants if nothing else. . . . Oh, yes, it won't be long till the Easter parade. . . . It'll be interesting to see just what the majority of females do in regards to hem lengths. . .. . Well, it's been almost a year, and we're used to having chapel in the gym, but every once in awhile, we forget, and start to turn down the walk to where the chapel stood. Call it nostalgia, spring or ——— ———

TALK OF THE WEEK BY MARY HAMELMAN

Mr. Bushing, Mrs. Newberry Attended MC, Settled Down To Teach English

BY MARY LYERLY

Two of the newest members in the English department on our campus are Mrs. Elizabeth Newberry and Mr. Arthur S. Bushing. Mrs. Newberry taught French and English courses last year, and Mr. Bushing joined the staff for the first time this year. In beginning a series of features on the English department, Mrs. Newberry and Mr. Bushing were interviewed.

Mr. Bushing

Mr. Arthur S. Bushing, assistant professor of English, is a native of Washington. His home was just 6 miles from the Canadian border, and the first trip that he made was to Canada. He came to Middle Tennessee, and did most of his "growing up" in this state. He attended Maryville, where he met his wife.

He has been married for four years and has a son who was one year old Thursday. When asked about a party he looked ruefully at a stack of freshman research themes and replied, "I'm afraid not, this year. I'm rather tied down now."

Mr. Bushing was in the Army for three years, undergoing a language study for use in the Southwest Pacific, and then was was sent to Europe, where he saw action on the Battle of the Rhine. While in Europe, he attended a school in Paris for two months under the Educational Program.

Mr. Bushing has personal proof that Maryville alumni are scattered all over the world. When he was married in California, a former M.C. schoolmate performed the ceremony while attendants for both Mr. and Mrs. Bushing were former classmates. Also, while in the Army, Mr. Bushing was with several of his class mate, separated from them, and rejoined five times during the course of three years.

Mrs. Newberry

Mrs. Elizabeth Newberry, instructor in English is a real "yankee". Born in Michigan, raised in New England and Ohio, she came to Maryville to attend college. Here she "met a man," married, and settled down to be a homebody.

Mrs. Newberry likes to teach, English especially, though she also has a master's in French. Her particular love is literature.

She has a daughter, Nana, 11, and her husband, a graduate of Georgia Tech., is connected with the Alcoa Aluminum Co.

Her hobby is dramatics, and she has appeared in plays presented by the Alcoa Little Theater, the most recent one being "You Can't Take It With You."

Mrs. Newberry is interested in all sports. She likes to swim, and enjoys football and basketball games and wrestling matches. She is learning a great deal about the latter sport from Paul Yamber, who is in her literature class and suggests that the Echo obtain and publish a sonnet he has written on wrestling.

When asked her opinion on a certain controversial subject, Mrs. Newberry replied with mixed feelings, "What does it matter, nobody cares what I think anyway."

COLLEGE STUDENTS ARE CENSUS TAKERS

The members of the child psychology class have been taking the Maryville Public School census this past week. A survey of each home within the city limits to get needed information of the families is required once every two years by the State Department of Education.

The class had two purposes in undertaking this task. They were rendering a service to the community and were receiving experience through their contacts in the homes.

Maryville was divided into sixteen divisions for the school census. The students went out in groups of twos and threes. They did not meet their psychology class this week in order to do this work.

"Young And Gay" Has Final Show

Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma will present the second and last performance of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" tonight at 8:00 at Maryville High School. The first presentation was Friday night.

Elsie Jean Cotton and Carroll Kennette are starred as the two Americans traveling to France, Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough.

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" is a play in three acts with two different stage settings. The first two acts take place on board ship during the crossing from America to France. The third act is set in a room in a Paris hotel. The costuming is in the style of the "new look".

Dr. A. E. Dallas Addresses YM

Dr. A. E. Dallas, pastor of the 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, will address the Y MCA Sunday at 1:30, in Bartlett Hall. His subject is to be, "The Importance of the Resurrection to Our Christian Faith."

This address is an appropriate forerunner of the YM-YW Easter Play which is to be given Friday. The radio plays which the two groups are producing at this time are also upon the Easter subject.

STUDENT VOLS

Student Vols will have a movie on Guatemala Sunday evening after Vespers. They film is sponsored by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

HERB'S— Half-acre

●U-NAME IT: Currently Maryville College students are engaged in a wide variety of sports. We've observed in one week eleven classes of athletic activity—baseball, tennis ,track, football, softball, swimming, gymnastics, badminton, golf, handball, and scattered remnants of basketball and wrestling. You name it, Maryville's got it.

●OVERLOADED—with the numbers now out, the practice fields are quite crowded, as anyone can tell. It's near impossible to move any group completely out of the other's way. The logical policy to follow, in democratic fashion, is the rule of the majority.

●BASEBALL OBSERVATIONS — the emphasis has been to a great extent on batting practice this week as Coach Honaker put the squad through their first full week of practice on the diamond. The most heated competition, as far as batting ability goes, centers around first base, catchers' position, and the outfield. With four potential firstbasemen—Gene Hamil, Abie Lucas, Woody Thomas, and D. M. Miller—striving to make the starting line-up, it's a pretty close race.

●THE MOUND has plenty of capable candidates this year. With ace speedballer Leon Berrong and lefty Joe Jernigan back, there are also six other pitchers aiming for the Highland mound. This six—L. A. Campbell, "Red" Fowler, Ross Honaker, Ray Lillard, Richard Rowley, and Tom Yeaworth—put the situation for pitchers in very good shape.

●FIVE SCOT DIAMONDMEN of last season didn't return this year. Two southpaw pitchers, Mel Malone and Ray McJunkin both have graduated since last spring. Mack Casey, a reserve hurler, didn't return and Winton Enloe, starting first baseman of last year, dropped out last semester. Ken Stinnett, who capably handled the duties of the home plate last season, is now coaching at Walland.

●A FEW DAUNTLESS trackmen have braved the elements to stir up the cinders around the oval while blandly disregarding the possibility of being abruptly hit by a loose soft-baseball. These cinder-burners are learning to have endurance in more things than just the matter of wind for track.

●PIGSKIN PEP—Calisthenics were the bill of fare for the football forces on Wilson Field until Thursday afternoon when Coach Davis mixed in a little rough stuff in the way of an initial scrimmage. A good crop out, quite a number being new material, and coach looks for replacements to fill the gaps in the line—as two guards, two tackles, a center, and two ends of '47 are gone.

●TENNIS TIME is near at hand. The net squad is coming along smoothly with competitive matches on a ladder system to determine the top men. With frosh talent—Ches Anderson, Bill Uthlaut, Bill Lawerence, Fred Waggoner, and Wes Miles—and upperclass experience—Bob Wilson, Carl Murray, Craig Fisher, and Glen Knecht—the tennis team doesn't (to use an old phrase) look so bad.

BULLETIN—

By vote of the wrestling squad yesterday, Henry "Tubby" Callaway was elected wrestling captain for the 1949 wrestling season. Callaway, a sophomore, had an undefeated season in the 145-lb. class in his first season, and wrestled in the 145 and 155 classes during the past season.

RACKETMEN, MARYVILLE HIGH MEET FOR PRACTICE NEXT WEEK

Weather permitting, the tennis team will meet Maryville High School in a preliminary match March 26, on the Memorial varsity courts. No doubles teams have been set up so far for the Scots, but several teams will be chosen from the top ten men on the ladder. On April 7, the racketers will play Tennessee Wesleyan at Athens.

Kenneth P. Johnson Will Coach

Coach Kenneth P. Johnson, a veteran of the racket, is handling the training and coaching of the team this year; Johnson, new at Maryville, played for Courtland State Teachers College, Courtland, New York, and was captain of the varsity his senior year. He won the Men's Singles Championship at Jamestown, New York, in 1939, and in 1942 won the singles event at St. Lawrence University, N. Y.

Four Varsity Players Back

Bill Dinges, Bob Wilson, Craig Fisher, and Glen Knecht, all of whom were in the top ten last year on the varsity, are returning this season. These men did not receive letters last year because of the short schedule, but met the majority of the competition.

Freshmen Vie For Position

Under Coach Johnson's plan of a varsity tennis ladder to choose a first string, the way for incoming freshmen is opened. Anderson, Uthlaut, and Lawrence head the ladder for the Frosh.

Tops On The Ladder

The following ten are the top men on the varsity ladder: Dinges, Anderson, Wilson, Uthlaut, Lawrence, Waggoner, Murray, Miles, Fisher, and Knecht.

T.W.C. Added to Schedule

Tennessee Wesleyan has been added to the schedule of varsity matches. The Athens men will meet the Scots at Athens on April 7 and at Maryville on May 8.

Softball Begins Despite Rain, Slow Competition

Intramural softball got off to a good start on Monday and at this writing only two games had to be postponed due to rain.

Some of the games appear to have been one-sided for the opening week, but it is hoped that with practice the competition should be more even.

Creamers Top Wizzards, 11-3

Monday afternoon the Creamers whizzed through the Wizzards, 11-3, in the first game. Mathis, Creamers, lead the hitting with 3 for 4 trips. Forrestor hurled a one hit game for the Creamers.

B. & B Bombs B.O.B., 16-8

Scoring 10 of their runs in the second, fifth, and sixth innings, the B&Bs had little trouble flattening the B.O.B.s, 16-8, in the second game Monday.

Crescents Smoke Smokers, 25-3

In the only game played on Wednesday, the Crescents capitalized on 25 hits to score their 26 runs and bowl over the Smokers, 26-3. Ebalocker hit two four baggers and Sykes hit one homer, both for the Crescents.

Wizzards Trim BB, 13-4

The Wizzards batted the Bats & Balls, 13-4, chalking up 12 hits against B. & B.'s hits. Martin, Heer-shap, Rahn, Bender, Eastman, Williams, and Mulholland all helped score the 13 Wizzard runs. The de Nagy twins, Ewing, and Black made the BB scores.

Highland Diamond Men Have Batting, Running Practice

Hitting practice is now the fad for Honaker's erstwhile hardwood men, readying for the diamond. Using the movable backstop, the rookie and veterans have been cutting at the ball since Monday—except for the rainy days.

With the weather favorable for out-door work, Coach Honaker has been keeping a watchful eye on batsmen and has also paid particular attention to base-running.

The pitcher-prospects are being given the once over by the Scot Diamond Tutor. Although they have been given a rest from batting practice duties, the moundmen are slowly beginning to settle down to baseball.

While limbering up the batting swing of veterans Rock, Boring, Hamll, and others, Coach Honaker is also putting new batsmen through their paces to determine their batting capacity.

First game date, as of now, for the Honakermen is with Maryville All-Stars on April 3.

The diamond is now receiving the attention of the maintenance crew, who are busy at work filling in the canyons and leveling off the molehills in the outfield after trimming and filling in along the baselines.

When they begin setting up the stands the season will be here.

EXECUTIVE BOARD APPOINTS MANAGER, DISCUSSES STUDENT-HELP PLAN

The Executive Board of Control, governing body of the Maryville College Athletic Association, met Wednesday after chapel and

(1) elected eight players as lettermen of the 1947-'48 basketball season;

(2) elected ten wrestlers as lettermen of the 1948 wrestling season;

(3) voted George McMahon as baseball manager for the coming season;

(4) discussed the possibility of placing varsity team managerships under the student-help program.

FIFTY-ONE FOOTBALL MEN START PRACTICE

Spring practice for potential players and regular candidates started Monday on Wilson Field with light workouts.

Fifty-one men, including some 27 new prospects, reported to Coach "J.D." Davis for the opening week of the five-weeks of spring drills.

While the majority of the squad of last season are back in football gear, some are training up in baseball outfits.

The squad got their first contact work on Thursday after having been rained out of outdoor practice Tuesday. Light workouts were held in Bartlett on Tuesday, however.

This week's training, in the main, took up fundamentals, with especial emphasis on blocking in the line and stance, for backfield men.

The coming week will see the football men in heavier drills in fundamentals.

Basketball Letters

The eight basketball lettermen, as elected by the Executive Board of Control, are: Leon Berrong, Bob Boring, Brick Brahams, Bob Garner, Hugh Hamil, Ray Lillard (captain), Gene Reynolds, and Charlie Roberts.

Dick Hamilton, acting manager of the season, was also voted a letter by the board.

The basis for awarding of letters was on the condition that a player must have played in half of the regularly scheduled games of the season.

Two seniors—Capt. Ray Lillard and Center Bob Garner received letters—it was Lillard's fourth year as letterman and the second year for Garner.

With the exception of Brick Brahms, a junior, the other basketball lettermen are sophomores.

Wrestlers Named

Ten wrestlers and a manager will receive letters for the 1948 season by vote of the Executive Board of Control of the Athletic Association.

Team members who made ten or more points in the season were voted letters. Following are

EFFORTS EXHUMED . . .

Postmortem Reviews '48 Wrestling Season

Ten lettermen, twenty-one varsity grapplers, four team victories, three defeats out of ten matches against the best in southern mat competition—that's the '48 varsity rassling season. Add to that the second place the Scots won in the Southern Invitational Wrestling Tournament and the year is complete.

The ten lettermen were chosen from the squad on the basis of ten points earned in any bout, including the tournament and exhibition bouts. The point totals given, in the following paragraphs are points earned in regular varsity meets, excluding exhibition and tourney bouts.

Black, Marvin Letter in 121

Earl Black and Jim Marvin, both undefeated in regular varsity matches, earned letters for their 33 amassed points—13 for Black and 20 for Marvin. Black started the season in the regular berth, but was injured in Georgia Tech match and out for most of the season. He earned two decisions, one draw, and one fall. Marvin wrestled the rest of the season after coming down from 128, winning two decisions, two draws, and two falls.

J. A. Cameron, Lone 128 Letterman

J. A. Cameron, freshman, met all the onslaught of the opposing teams 128 pound matmen, wrestling all ten varsity matches—and winning three falls, four decisions and losing two falls (against App. State and Auburn). J. A.'s methodical blocking on defense and fairly efficient aggressive tactics were not quite enough to earn him a first place in his class at the tourney, but did earn him a letter with 27 points.

Ross, Anderson Letter in 136

Captain Ken Ross and freshman Chesly Anderson earned letters in the 136 class—Ross with 16 team points and Anderson with 6 points. Ross started the season, but a knee injury slowed him down to two falls and two decisions won and two falls and one decision lost. Anderson filled very satisfactorily for a neophite, earning two decisions and losing one. Ross missed the tournament and Anderson took third place in his class. Anderson earned his letters in an exhibition fall at Auburn.

"Tubby" Callaway Letters In 145

Henry "Tubby" Callaway won his letter in the 145 class with 19 regular team points. Tubby started the season in the 155 class, but changed back to the lighter 145 class, more suitable to his weight. In the entire season, Tubby won three decisions, and two falls, losing three decisions and one fall. He also won second place in 145 at the tournament.

L. Major—155 Class Letterman

Lawrence Major, sophomore, won his letter in the 155 and 145 classes, winning two falls, and two decisions, and losing three decisions. Major started in the 145 class but moved up to the heavy class when Callaway moved down. He injured his ankle in the middle of the season and missed out on a good part of the season, which two freshmen, Proffitt and Wintermute, filled in.

Merriman Earns Letter in 165

Hersh Merriman earned another letter for his efforts in the 165 pound class. In ten bouts, he pinned five opponents and decisioned one, losing three decisions. Hersh's fast work and aggressive mat work also moved him into the finals of the tournament for a second place.

Herb Palmer—Almost Undefeated

Herb Palmer, 175 class freshman, almost finished an undefeated season, marred only in the last bout with Tech—after a tiring week-end at the tournament where he earned the title in the 175 class. Herb, a block-and-reverse expert, decisioned 6 men and tied 2, losing only that last decision, a season total of 22 points.

Heavyweight Briggs Earns Letter

Heavyweight John Briggs won his letter in the unlimited class with a fall and a tie plus two exhibition falls and one exhibition decision—a total of 7 regular points. Briggs won fourth place in the 175 class at the tournament.

The Un-sung Heroes

Although they received no letters, the silent second string and "fall guys" deserve lots of credit for their unsung efforts. Yambert, the brave soul you saw wrestle Magrath, the 220 pound heavyweight from U. C., on the home mat, is an excellent example. Others are Roy Kramer (HW), Chuck Mabry (145), Bob Proffitt (155), and Orval Wintermute (155) who filled in the vacancies left by the injury list. Maybe next year, fellows. . . .

Screwballs pushed over 6 runs to trim the Tenn Penns, 6-4. Brick Brahams, Fitzgerald, Poland, Clark and Welch tallied the Screwballs' runs and Burchfield and Smith made the Tenn Penn runs.

Nine Balls Turn YMCA, 15-10

The Nine Balls trimmed the Y, 15-10, in a close, fast game yesterday. The Y almost caught up in a fourth period 8 run rally, but the Nine Balls had too much lead on them. Price, Atchley, Gregory, Trundel, Holloway, Lenoir, Jenkins, and Banks scored for the Nine Balls. Frost, Haaf, Morrison, Black, Hoffman, Shew, Anderson, Campbell, Shimomura, and Heaps made the Y points.

Postponed Games

Postponed games will be scheduled on the golf course diamond starting next week. The Creamers-B & B game, called off for overtime, will be played on this diamond next Wednesday.

Bill Horne: On some of them it looks good. The plaid petticoats are sharp.

Winnie Shaumberg: I wish the skirts were either long or short. They should go all the way to the ground.

Paul Yambert: The main reason I'm against them is the way the designers throw the women around. The women have no say about it.

"Tex" McKenzie: I don't like them..... You can't see enough. Although I did see a petticoat this morning.

Irene Tedford: They're o.k. on tall girls, but what if you're short?

Lost, Found Clothes Are Resurrected

Lost sheep have been returned in Baldwin Hall. In a Lost and Found-Clean Out the Basement-Claim It If You Dare Party Last Wednesday, March 17, Bea Siebold handed back unclaimed items of clothing which had collected in the dormitory basement. Mr. Henning, director of development, and his wife were present at the ceremonies.

Afterwards, Jackie Morton and committee served refreshments in the basement Rec Room decorated by Rosie Law's committee. Margie Newland was in charge of the program.

HARTPENCE, KELL NOMINATED FOR MAY DAY QUEEN

Marilyn Hartpence and Gelolo Kell were nominated for May Day Queen Thursday by the student body. Miss Hartpence is a Home Economics major from Xenia, Ohio, and Miss Kell is a sociology major from Tryon, North Carolina.

Nominations from the sophomore class were Alice Davenport, sociology major from Marietta, Georgia; Margaret McNeill, English major from Rochester, New York; Henry Callaway, Jr., premed major from Maryville, and Bob Boring, physical education major from Friendsville.

Freshman attendants will be chosen from Alice Huddleston of Maryville, Jane Macmillan from Marietta, Georgia, George Ogle from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Jim Lester of Birmingham, Alabama.

Final elections will be by secret ballot. The queen chosen will choose her senior attendants. The King is president of the senior class, who this year is Charles Hoglan.

CHAS. NAUNDORF ON RECOVERY ROAD

Charles Naundorf is favorably recovering from his operation. He himself feels well enough to leave the hospital, but expects it to be a week or so before he will be dismissed.

He has lost around thirty pounds during his ordeal but is reported to have "looked quite healthy" Thursday evening.

Twenty-four Try For Varsity Track

Twenty-four track aspirants are in training for the competitive try-outs which will be held sometime in the next two weeks for the regular berths on the first string. A tentative schedule includes meets with the University of Tennessee, Tennessee Poly Tech, and Milligan Relays and the State Meet

Those men out for track are: Badillo, Baird, Burchfield, Cardin, English, Fisher, Frost, Gillette, Hamilton, Haynes, Howard, Kay, Kees, Kidder, Kiger, Jack, Lambert, Mulford, Robarts, Seymour, Snell, Swenson, Thurston, and Trotter. McKenzie and Proffitt, out for football, will return before the end of the track season.

SOFTBALL, SWIM IN P.S. SPOTLIGHT

Point system girls are practicing softball and teams will be chosen later. A point system swimming test was given Wednesday night. The results will be posted later.

Swimming Schedule

Schedules for the swimming courses being given now are as follows:

Beginners—Girls on Mondays from 3:30 to 4:30.

Beginners—Boys on Thursdays from 3:30 to 4:30.

Senior Life Saving Course on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 3:30 to 5:30.

The Senior Life Saving Course is being taught by Ruth Thompson Spears and Shirley Lewis.

GERMAN CLUB

German Club will meet Monday evening at 6:45. A skit will be presented by the program committee.

TUMBLERS EXHIBIT FEATS AT REC HALL

The men's tumbling team performed for a thirty-minute period before a Rec Hall crowd of 100 Wednesday night.

The troupe, under the general directorship of Jack Reid, went through a repertoire of approximately 30 acrobatic feats.

Five members of the team—J. A. Cameron, Andy Clark, Reuben Monroe, Joe Poland, and Jack Reid—grandstanded with handstands in a program of gymnastics sponsored by the Rec Hall committee headed by Winnie Schaumburg.

As indicated by the gasps and applause of the audience, the show was a success.

MRS. McARTHUR TO SPEAK ON MARRIAGE

Mrs. David McArthur, a member of the YWCA advisory board, will speak on "Marriage" tomorrow afternoon at YW. Following her talk, a related movie will be shown and Marion Weiler, pianist, will play. This is the final meeting of the series on friendship, courtship, and marriage. The meeting will be in Bartlett.

HAMELMAN AND NICHOLAS WIN POSTER CONTEST

Mary Hamelman's poster was awarded first prize of $3.00 in the Alpha Sigma all campus poster contest which ended this week. Her poster, "Sailing Straight Into Your Heart" also won honorable mention. She also took first prizes for the first three weeks of the contest.

Ruth Nicholas took second prize of $2.00, in the final contest with her "Sweethearts" poster.

Others whose posters were entered in the finals were Hedy Nabholz, Carl Lazenby, Ed Pancoast and Benson Gearhart.

DO YOU KNOW?—

In 1922 the term "moonshine" had an entirely different meaning from what it does now. Moonshine meant date.

Dr. Lloyd was born in Friendsville, Tennessee, and was the oldest of five children.

While a student at M. C., Dr. Lloyd was on the debate team, president of his class, business manager of The Chilhowean, manager of several athletic teams, an officer of Y.M.C.A., and he held presidency and secretary of his literary society.

He also had both jaws broken while playing football.

Dr. Lloyd's father served for over twenty years as a government-surgeon on an Indian Reservation in Utah.

Dr. Isaac Anderson was inaugurated as the first president of Maryville College, and for years was also the only professor of the institution.

Excerpt from 1933 "M" Book. . . . "Maryville weather is not extreme. The summer season is somewhat longer than it is in the northern states, and during the fall and winter there is plenty of rain with no extremely cold weather to worry about."

Breakfasts were served around 6:30 in the 20's.

Best all round athlete of 1930 was Dr. Lea Callaway.

That concert trips to Knoxville are not new? For instance, a dozen (well-chaperoned) went to hear Rosenthal, the famous pianist, in 1899.

Do you know why the moron put lipstick on the inside of his hand? So he could have his palm read.

VOLUME 33 MARYVILLE TENNESSEE MARCH 27, 1948 NUMBER 26

MC SENIOR CLASS ELECTS HARTPENCE MAY QUEEN

CLASSES CHOOSE TORREY, MOSER, CALLAWAY, McNEIL, OGLE, McMILLAN

Marilyn Hartpence was elected by the senior class to reign as Queen at the Annual May Day program. Charles Hoglan, president of the senior class, will crown her as queen and reign with her. Miss Hartpence is a home economics major from Xenia, Ohio. Mr. Hoglan is an English major from Birmingham, Alabama.

Junior-Senior Attendants

The queen's senior attendants will be Gelolo Kell, sociology major from Tryon, North Carolina, and Mary Jane Long, home economics major from New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Junior attendants elected are Jim Torrey, economics major from Hallowell, Pennsylvania, who will escort Edith Wilson, English major from Maryville; and Betty Jane Moser, English major from Vonore, Tennessee, who will be escorted by Earl Black, political science major who is also from Vonore.

Sophomore attendants are Henry Callaway, pre-med major from Maryville, who has chosen Sarah Durant, education major from Birmingham, Alabama; and Margaret McNeill, English major from Rochester, New York, who will be escorted by Bob Watkins, dramatic and speech major from Webster Grove, Mississippi.

George Ogle and Jane McMillan were chosen as freshmen attendants. Mr. Ogle is from Pittcairn, Pennsylvania, and Miss McMillan is from Acworth, Georgia. Alice Huddleston, from Maryville, will be escorted by Mr. Ogle, and Jim Lester from Birmingham, Alabama, will escort Miss McMillan.

The May Day program will consist of two parts, the coronation and a pageant. The theme of the pageant is Princess Ozma's birthday party in the land of Oz.

Jimmy Dance and Anna Sakaizawa with assistance from Miss Elizabeth Jackson are script writers for the program. Mrs. Verton Queener is in charge of the dances. Mr. David Bernard will design the sets and Mr. Curtis Hughes will direct the chorus.

Hening Completes Development Plans At MC Tuesday

Mr. S. E Hening, director of development, closed his present service with the college this week.

Since November Mr. Hening has been asisting in formulating plans for the financial campaign for a new chapel and other buildings. He organized the choir tour and traveled extensively through the South for the campaign. He expected to be able to remain only until the end of February, but, upon request of the college, continued three weeks longer.

While here Mr. and Mrs. Hening have occupied the guest room at Baldwin Hall and taken their meals at Pearsons. They are going from Maryville to their home in Sperryville, Virginia, from which Mr. Hening will give attention to various personal business interests and will give some time to the Maryville College campaign in the East. It is expected that at a later stage in the campaign they will return to the college.

REV. R. E. STEPHENS SPEAKS AT VOLS

Rev. R. E. Stephens, minister of the St Paul's A.M.E. Zion Church, will speak to Student Vols Sunday evening at 8:00 p.m. His topic is "What the Negro Wants". Special music will be given by Rella Anderson who will sing the "Holy City."

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma will meet this evening at 6:45 in the Y rooms. An Easter program is scheduled.

WSSF Drive Opens Wednesday Morn At Chapel Service

Leaders Plan Varied Program During Drive

The World Student Service Fund Drive will open next Wednesday morning, March 31, with a chapel program which is to be presented by the WSSF committee on this campus.

WSSF is an organization dedicated to the task of restoring the eduational facilities in the warravaged countries of the world. Since human suffering has been attendant with destruction in this war, the WSSF uses considerable of its resources for the physical relief of students. Because there is no program in most countries for feeding students who are in a non-industrial class and therefore get far less in rations than the others, there is particularly severe privation among this group. The WSSF believes that in the students of the countries lies the future for those countries, and therefore makes its appeal for funds to those who should be most sympathetic for the need—students in American colleges.

The chapel program will open the drive at Maryville. Jim Black and Chet Phillips will describe the work and purpose of the drive. Following this there will be a motion picture, a Minstrel show, a radio show, a "Foreign Letter" club night, and a mock radio program. With the exception of the Minstrel show, which is sponsored by YM-YW, none of these are for the purpose of raising funds. Admission will be free, and the programs are designed to entertain and inform.

The schedule of the activities is as follows:

Chapel Program, Wednesday, March 31;

16mm sound motion picture, "The Seds of Destiny"; in Bartlett Hall at 6:45, Thursday, April 1;

Guest night at radio station "WSSF," on the program introducing the new wonder soap, DID, Bartlett Hall, 6:45 p. m., Friday, April 2. Featured on this program will be the Tom Wheeler-

EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE HELD AT 6:29 A. M.

Maryville's traditional Easter sunrise service will begin at 6:29 a. m. tomorrow morning in the amphitheater in the college woods and the Easter vespers will be held in Thaw at 7 p. m. President Ralph W. Lloyd will lead the services and the Vesper choir, directed by Mr. Harry H. Harter, will provide special background music at both programs.

Students will be awakened by instrumental music by a group of band members shortly before sunrise. The musicians will then lead the procession to the college woods.

Choir Selections

Programs outlining the entire service will be distributed. The choir will sing "Christ Is Arisen" by Hirsch; "Alleluia! Christ Is Risen?" Kopolyoff, "Alleluia" Strife Is O'er," Palestrina; "How Brightly Shines Our Morning Star," George Schumann; "God's Son Hath Set Me Free," Grieg; "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," Williams; and "God Goes Upon High," Gallus. Choir members will follow the pattern established last year in dress, the girls wearing dark coats and the men, dark suits.

Preceding the service the choir, band members, and faculty will be guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd for breakfast. The schedule is as follows: 5:00 a. m., band; 5:20, choir; 5:40, faculty.

Evening Service

The Vesper program will consist mainly of Easter music and a short "sermonette" by Dr. Lloyd. Music by the choir will include: "Gloria Patria," by Palestrina; "Come Soothing Death," by Bach; "Alleleuia," by Thompson; "O Praise Ye God," by Tschaikowsky: and a spiritual, "Is There Balm in Gilead?"

Miss Massey Attends Chicago Convention

Miss Frances Massey, Dean of Women, will leave late Sunday, March 28, to attend the National Meeting of the Dean of Women in Chicago, Illinois.

At the same time Miss Massey is attending the meeting, March 29 through April 1, the National Vocational Guidance Group and the American College Personnel Association will be in session in Chicago.

On her return trip Miss Massey plans to visit Lake Forest College which is near Chicago, colleges in Hanover, Indiana, and Louisville, Kentucky, and Centre College at Danville, Kentucky. She will return to Maryville on April 7.

Y's PRESENT EASTER PLAY IN BARTLETT

"In Joseph's Lovely Garden" Given Tonight

In Joseph's Lovely Garden, an Easter play written by Tom Wheeler, will be presented tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Bartlett Hall.

This one-act play shows Samuel, the father of one of the thieves crucified on Calvary, in his serach for Christ, whom he finds early Easter morning.

The play cast is: Narrator, Ben Paxton; Samuel, a poor Jew, Andy Clark; Rabbi, George Goodson; Martha, Margaret Hughes; Stranger, Glenn Knecht; Mary Magdelene, Dot Holverson; servants, Bob Brown and William McElvaine; Roman Soldier, Donald Taylor. Miss Jessie Wild is directing the play, and Pat Dennis is student director; Ruth Heaps is stage manager, and Bob Holley is house manager.

THETA-ALPHA SIG HOLD TEA SUNDAY

Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon will give an all-campus tea Sunday afternoon from 2:30-4:30 p. m. on the lawn east of Thaw. Appropriate background music will be provided by recordings over the public address system. Hostesses for the afternoon are Alice Davenport, Elsie Cotton, Pat Love, and Judy Breen.

In case of rain, the tea will be given in the Federal Gym.

MAN HAS NOT LEARNED

EASTER, 1948, CHARACTERIZED BY BLOODSHED, FEAR, AND HATE

BY LESLIE WEBB

Very shortly now another Easter sunrise will level its rays on the bowed heads of worshipping Christians. We who have observed, at least spiritually, the season of Lent, and have traced the pattern of our Lord's life through Passion Week, will have our hearts lifted and inspired in this crowning service of commemoration to the risen Christ as the sun burns a red path through the eastern horizon.

Palestine Struggle

But a more somber shade of red is coloring the hills of the Holy Land this Easter. The Garden of Gethsemane and other spots sacred to the Christian faith are being stained with the hot blood of countless Jews and Arabs in the opening stages of an all-out struggle for possession of Palestine. Our country has reversed its original position of favoring partition of this land after recognizing the dangers of the plan, but no satisfactory solution of the problem has been reached or is in prospect. The British continue plans to remove their military forces on May 15.

Another warm spot in the current "cold war" is the city of Trieste. The United States has recently proposed returning this city to Italy, thereby hoping to influence the April 18 Italian elections in our favor and against the Communists. Results so far have been more broken heads and spilled blood.

Trieste and Communism

In China, the open conflict rages furiously. The Red hordes have already overrun large sections of Nationalist territory and inflicted further misery on the long-suffering Chinese. Our government plans to help Chiang Kai Shek eventually but appears to be too much preoccupied at present.

Russian Rumble

So it goes around the world. Some of us are still too busy living in the last war to see the specter of this new and ghastly threat rising up before our eyes. The picture is etched darkly against a darker background. But the rumble is unmistakable if we listen. Russia is already attempting to dislodge us from vital air bases from which we could launch A-bomb strikes while we are trying to hold the line and hoping against hope that she is bluffing and will back down.

But why am I writing about all this? One reason is that you and I will be immediately and directly affected if and when the powder keg explodes. We shall have urgent need of the power of the risen Christ for ourselves and for our country. Maybe it won't explode. God grant that it may not.

Student Body Meeting Scheduled For Thursday

Council, Athletic Officer Nominations Slated

Student Council and Athletic Board of Control oficers for next year will be nominated, and the proposed Student Body Constitution revisions will be voted on at a meeting of the entire Student body following chapel Thursday, April 1. The nominations for Council president, vice president, and social chairman will be made from the floor. Those for the president, vice president, and secretary of the Athletic Board will be presented by a nominating committee.

More Complete Representation

One of the major goals of the Student Council this semester has been to form a more representative body of students in order to serve better the student body and to coordinate all student activities by means of this organization. The amendments printed below are the result of the intensive effort of the Council to bring this about.

Governing Board

Most of the items of representation are self-explanatory with the exception of the Governing Board. This board will be composed of representatives of all clubs and organizations not otherwise represented on Council. The chairman will be elected from the presidents of these groups and will have voting power in Council. The duties of this board shall be to coordinate group social activities and to work out specific problems including methods of initiation.

The revised Constitution as it will be presented follows:

ARTICLE II—The Student Council

Section 1. The general administrative functions of the Student Body shall be centered in the Student Council whose officers, selected in the manner hereinafter designated, shall also serve as the officers of the Student Body.

Section 2.—Objects

a. To cooperate with faculty and students in maintaining Maryville's distinctive major policies, such as those of (1) high scholarship, (2) low expense rates, (3) positive Christian emphasis and program.

b. To represent accurately the points of view of the Student Body with respect to the following four phases of campus life: Spiritual, Academic, Social, and Living.

c. To consider, develop, and seek to promote matters of student interest in cooperation with the faculty.

d. To supervise and coordinate certain student activities as provided for elsewhere in this Constitution.

e. To promote better relationships with other colleges.

Section 3—Organization

a. The membership shall consist of the following 28 students:

1) The Student Body President and Vice-President.

2) The following class representatives:

a) Two freshmen (1 woman, 1 man)

b) Three sophomores (1 woman, 2 men), one of whom shall be a carry-over from the freshman class.

c) Four juniors, (2 women, 2 men) two of whom shall be carry-overs from the sophomore class.

d) Five seniors (3 women, 2 men), three of whom shall be carry-overs from the junior class.

3) The four class presidents.

4) The following all-campus leaders:

a) YMCA President
b) YWCA President
c) MSO Chairman
d) WSGA President
e) Social Chairman
e)' Social Chairman

MC CHOIR PLANS THREE-STATE TOUR

Busses will leave Maryville campus April 20 at 1:30 p. m., beginning the Vesper Choir Concert Tour to Chattanooga, Birmingham, Montgomery, and Atlanta.

The trip is well organized with the days full including radio broadcasts in the afternoons, evening concerts, planned church suppers, a reception after one concert, several performances at a high school in Montgomery, and lunches in down-town cafeterias.

A conducted tour through Atlanta completes the performances of the choir, and they will return to Maryville late Saturday afternoon, April 24.

AAUW Holds Reception For Senior Women

The local chapter of the American Association of University Women will entertain senior women of the college at a formal reception on Monday evening. The reception will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd and calling hours will be from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m.

The receiving line will be composed of Mrs. S. E. Crawford, president, Mrs. George D. Howell, vice president, Miss Elizabeth Cowdrick, secretary, Mrs. John DeLozier, treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd. Local members of the AAUW will assist in the dining room.

AAUW For Higher Standards

The AAUW was founded in 1882, and has as its membership policy the attaining of higher standards in women's education. The Association accepts for membership women who hold approved degrees from colleges and universities that have first-rate academic standing, those who make adequate provision for women students, and recognize women on their faculties.

Membership in the AAUW automatically confers membership in the International Federation of University Women, which links university women of many countries in international understanding.

The four-fold plan of the Association is education, better international relations, study of social and economic problems, and growth through the arts.

Choir Presents Easter Anthems; President Lloyd Leads Vespers

Annual French Banquet Planned For April 26

The date of the annual French Club banquet was set tentatively as April 26 at the meeting Thursday night. The club also discussed plans for French Club night at the Rec Center. Several amendments to the constitution were considered and discussed. According to parliamentary procedure, these were tabled and will be voted upon at the next regular meeting.

SOPHS PRESENT RECITAL MARCH 30

Carol Mitchell, pianist, Mary Holly Webb, mezzo-soprano, and Patty Regan, pianist, will present their sophomore recital, Tuesday, March 30, at 4:30 p. m. in the YW rooms. Miss Mitchell is from Circleville, Ohio, and Miss Webb from Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Miss Regan, a special student, lives in Fountain City, Tennessee.

The recital program will include "Prelude and Fugue in E major," Bach; "Largo and Allegro" from "Sonata" Op. 31, No. 2, Beethoven: Miss Regan; "Bergerettes" arranged by J. B. Weckerlin including "Bergere Legere," "Minuet d'Exaudet," "L'amour s'envole," and "Chantons les amours": Miss Webb; "Adagio sostenuto, Allegretto and Presto Agitato" from "Sonata" Op. 27, No. 2, Beethoven, Miss Mitchell; Opera: "Bastien and Bastienne" arias: "Bastien was e'er true and constant" and "Ah, now to town will I betake me," Miss Webb; "Sea Pieces," A.D. 1620, MacDowell, "Pavane" (Pour une infante defunte), Ravel, Miss Mitchell; "Nocture," Curran, "The White Swan," Charles, "Hippety-Hop," Kingsford, Miss Webb; and "Prelude" Op. 28, No. 18, "Nocture" Op. 9, No. 2, Chopin, and "Gnomenreigen" by Liszt, Miss Regan.

WHAT WAS WILL BE—

Chapel Eulogized On Anniversary; History And Destruction Retold

BY WALLIN AND DAVIS

Yesterday was an anniversary at Maryville College but it was not a happy one: One year ago, on March 26, 1947, the Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel was standing as proud as it had been for almost a half century. That night it was destroyed by a fierce and sudden fire. Since then, Maryville students and faculty have carried on their work admirably without it, but it hasn't been easy and it hasn't been fun. We need a new chapel and plans are now going forth, not only for a new chapel but for general expansion.

For the benefit of the new students who weren't here on that night a year ago, let us look back.

The fire was on Wednesday night. The day before there had been a high wind, but that night it was relatively calm. It was after 11:00 p. m. and most students were in bed. Suddenly in all the dorms people could be heard moving about, running down the halls. Soon the word had spread—the chapel was on fire again!

Previous Fires

There had been two previous fires in the chapel (on December 3, 1943 and November 27, 1947) and some thought this was just another fire caused by defective wiring and that it wouldn't last long. However, they soon lost that idea. The fire spread quickly. There was no possibility for the firemen and student fire-fighters to get the blaze under control long enough to save either the building or any of the valuable equipment. Nothing at all was saved.

Baldwin In Danger

Across the street from the chapel, the sparks falling on the trees also threatened Baldwin Hall. Anxious Baldwin girls, with noses pressed against hot window panes, fearfully awaited the call which might come for them to evacuate the building. By 3:00 a. m. the word was given that the worst was over—Baldwin was safe.

Next morning the center of Maryville College student activities was gone. Only the desolate shell of its crumbling walls stood guarding the smoking ruins and twisted wreckage.

College Program Curtailed

After the fire there followed a great curtailment of the Maryville program. A great loss was sustained including the Wicks pipe organ, the concert Steinway, all properties and costumes, radio equipment, many pianos, large orchestra instruments, a large music library, all choir robes, and a large personal loss to the Fine Arts Department faculty and students. The two chapel

YM Elections Scheduled For Monday, April 12

YMCA elections will be held Monday, April 12, Jim Black, president of the Y, has announced.

Nominations will be made by a nominating committee as in years past. To assure that the elections be democratic, the nominating committee is now in the process of considering the name of each man in the college by turn. Any man who wishes to submit the name of someone whom he considers eligible may do so, and the committee will welcome all such nominations.

From the possible nominees, the committee will narrow the selection to two candidates for each office of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. Candidates for representative on the Advisory Board will also be named. These names will be announced and the elections held by poll vote on April 12.

Members of the nominating committee number seven: three from the present cabinet and four from the active members of the YMCA. They are, from the cabinet, Scott McClure, chairman, Max House and Bill Vogel; from the members, Bill Proffitt, Ken Newell, Lee Orr, and John Keeley.

Betty Emory Represents Y In Atlanta Conference

Betty Emory, junior education major from Portsmouth, Virginia, represented Maryville's YW organization in the Southeastern Regional Conference in Atlanta, Georgia, March 15-18.

The theme of the conference was "Horizons Unlimited," which dealt with many of the current problems of the South. Dr. Ira Reid, prominent colored minister, spoke on Southern racial problems. An additional subject of discussion was the part that youth plays in establishing world peace.

Over 420 representatives from eighteen states, including several former MC students, were present.

Much Echo About Nothing

BY CRAIG FISHER

"COLLEGES CONVULSED BY NATIONAL MADNESS." So scream the nation's headlines as the horrible details of the nervous disorder which periodically reduces your youth to jerking idiots. A man is suspect if at every opportunity his hand isn't fitfully bobbing over a yo-yo, the variety of whose movements determine the genius of its operator. Virtuosi are blossoming, talk of an intramural yo-yo team is in the air, and some wild-eyed devotees are even speaking of the yo-yo olympics. Psychologists who have written tomes on the herd instinct believe it to be an escape mechanism from the reality of the coming draft, but other unkind people have said that the Association of Yo-Yo Manufacturers planted agents at strategic points to infect the populace. Whatever the cause, you are not normally abnormal unless you too belong to the ancient cult of yo-yo.

Amidst the insanity there was, however, a note of cold reason. Sober sanity in the strictest sense was exhibited Wednesday night when a properly chaperoned group of Baldwinites desiring to go to a show was informed that this was not in keeping with holy week. They spent an uplifting evening grimly staring down the walls of their rooms.

HAIR RAISING: Wanda Onifer's curling establishment is so rushed with business that treatments are only by appointments now. Hair cut and curled, dyed and singed. Insurance included in fee. Lice killed, extra. Wigs sold. Get that summer look. If you have falling hair we will give you a certificate of excuse embossed "Wanda did it." Hurry and avoid the brush.

Will you help us figure this one out? Lois Doebler on her way to the washroom left a streak of toothpaste on the door of Baldwin 315.

Woodburry's appointment to a unit as a reserve caused a minor panic in Carnegie last week. Sid Lambert almost had it that the shooting had started.

Midnight proves to be the best time to glean immortal philosophy from the lips of Bob Kribbs. He tossed in his sleep the other night, moaned, and muttered darkly: "The longer you don't live the better off you are."

ADVERTISEMENT: Paul Yambert's top right incisor is still missing. Not only does it leave a gap in his grin, but renders a wrestling match with a Pearsons roll difficult. One must be intact to win that game. His disposition is getting irritable, so we urgently request that everyone walk with their eyes on the ground for some days to come.

CARTOON on the door of the third floor Carnegie washroom: Lobster colored male leaping frenziedly from under shower as his wife turns on cold water in sink, him howling: "Turn that cold water off!" We all felt tender bonds of sympathy with said male.

SURPRISE: Scene—the Pearsons House Committee communing in Theta Hall Monday night solemnly robed in pajamas and hair tangled with socks, the apotheosis (erg!) of feminine appeal. Enter Bob Kay with card table, eyes averted, face doing good competition wtih Bolshevik flag. Curtain drops on girls rolling in hysteria over rapidly receding figure of much confused Kay.

Ann Ewell is only one step ahead of the long claw of the law. J. Edgar Hoover has turned over a whole division of the FBI to crack the Ewell case (they caught Capone on the same count), and he thinks he's got the goods on her. The income tax revenooers have sworn out a warrant for her arrest. All types of people have promised to visit her at Leavenworth, as her father is in an insane asylum. (He's the barber there. Ed.) We all join in sniffling our condolences.

PHOTO—FINISH: George Gillette does not use a gillette razer. Nor a straight razer. Nor an electric razer. He does not even use a combine. Once a month he carefully clips a hair he has persuaded himself has grown on his chin, then stands anxiously before the mirror for another thirty days until he has convinced himself that the painful operation must be repeated.

COMPLAINT: Sunshine is developing a case of the Iwo Jima jitters dodging the barrage of wet paper napkins which thickens the air around him after each meal. He requests that thenceforth only water be used as bean soup is very hard to wash out.

The marriage and alcohol meetings of the YW and YM last Sunday accuartely searched out the two local preoccupations.

Peggy Broks groaned, and with reason, when she lost the ball of navy blue yarn in chapel the other morning. Before she could say knit-one-pearl-two, it had travelled from the senior section clear to the freshmen. She played it like a veteran fisherman, but had to wait till after chapel to rewind the remnants.

SWEAT AND STRAIN: The Choir is negotiating for a forty hour work week. The seven thirty rehearsals held every morning for the past two weeks have introduced some to Pearsons breakfast spread for the first time this season. Sunday night they came back from Oak Ridge stinking of onions and cramed with steak and hamburgers, their pockets bulging with notes on the atom city which should bring a high price from good comrade Stalin.

Mae Merriweather hits the headlines twice this week. Once is for the excitement she has been causing over an Easter chick she was given. She was thratened to cut its head off with scissors until room mate Ruth Heaps said she'd sic the Humane Society on her. Mrs. Newberry refused to have anytihng to do with it as she felt it didn't mix with a cat and children. She is now thinking of raising it to be a frier so that it can supplement her diet.

There is one other scandal in which she appears a principal. She, chairman of the House Committee, Heaps, and Siebold, are to appear before Margie Newland, vice-chairman of the House Committee, to be arraigned for going through the halls garbed in long underwear at the unearthly hour of elven o'clock. Tut, girls.

By the way, pretty soon the drive for the World Student Service Fund will be under way, and although we don't usually grind any axes in this column, we feel too strongly its importance not to say a word. Really it shouldn't be a drive; the need is so compelling that it should turn out to be only an opportunity for you to spontaneously GIVE your share toward filling the vacuum. We recommend it strongly.

COUNCIL DESERVES CREDIT

Student Council has worked hard this year to construct a plan that will give more complete representation in Council .Their efforts have culminated in the proposed revisions to the Student Body Constitution on which we will vote Thursday, April 1. These revisions will give all groups (through the governing board) and all students (through WSGA and MSO) representatives with voting power in Council. At the same time the entire student body will be given a chance to nominate officers for next year's council. This is the first year for this plan and means that all rising seniors will have a chance whether or not they have been on the Council previously. Each year a few more of the tense spots in student government are eased out. The members of the Student Council deserve a vote of thanks from the students for the long hours of work and conferences necessary to give us better student government on campus.

MARYVILLE WELCOMES VISITORS

Holidays always bring to our campus people who have never seen it or us before. We'd like to welcome all those and say "hello" again to our returned alumni, hoping that we may show them the real Maryville spirit.

TALK OF THE WEEK

BY WALLACE MOORE

Alumni, Public Relations Office Becomes Beehive of Activity

During the past four or five weeks, the Alumni and Public Relations office has been a veritable bee-hive of activity.

At the noisy graphotype machine to the right of the door sits Bobby Buchanan, operator and son of Dr. J. D. Buchanan. Each day Bobby reports to the A and PR Office after his high school classes to punch out mailing plates for Alumni who have moved or, other addresses.

Often two or three typists, generously given over to the office by Mrs. Johnson, who is in charge of the printing department, laboriously pour over long lists for campaign and organization purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, chief occupants of the office, are dividing their efforts in preparation for a number of events, namely the annual Alumni Day May 18th, (with its class reunions) the organization of Maryville Clubs in nearly twenty-five cities all over the country, filing of senior recommendations, and placement duties. In addition to editing all the publicity and copy for the forthcoming choir tour, which Craig Fisher so genrously wrote, the Alumni and Public Relations Office has an Alumni Bulletin "under construction". The regular spring issue, which annually appears around the end of April, is being delayed somewhat this year by the mass of new information and statistics received through the alumni questionnaires.

The big desk in the center, which is the focal point of activity, is piled high at times with publicity pictures, letters, memoranda, and mailing lists. The mail carriers, sports writers, seniors in search of jobs, reporters, administrative officers not to mention alumni add to the hubbub of the office with their unpredictable entrances. Of immediate import, according to Mr. Pratt, are the senior recommendations, which must be filed by every senior before April 10. For this there will be a meeting after chapel next Thursday, April 1, to which all those who plan to graduate this spring or during the coming summer have been urged to come.

First Methodist Choir Presents Easter Cantata

"The Mystery of Easter," by Lee Rogers, will be presented in a cantata by the choir of the First Methodist Church at 8:15 p. m. Sunday evening.

The choir, with which a number of college students sing, is directed by Mr. Curtis Hughes.

Drive-In Bank

CHICAGO, ILL.—There's no parking problem for the patrons of this bank, which offers a drive-in service for its customers. As pictured above, the depositor merely drives in, takes care of his business and drives out the exit in the rear. Unusual, too, is the lack of iron bars normally associated with the teller's cage. In their place, Pittsburgh multiplate bullet-resisting glass has been used, which in addition to affording protection to bank personnel against bandits' guns, does not in any way detract from the dignity and beauty of the bank's appearance. A two-way drawer is provided at the bottom of the window for the interchange of business.

Once upon a time a moth named Esmeralda entered a wool-eating contest on her block. She quickly ate her way through a stack of wool half an inch high and won a silver loving cup. Then she went on to win the city and state wool-eating contests. The day of the national tournament, Esmeralda was pretty confident. Two inches of wool didn't scare her; she began to gnaw her way through. When she paused for air, she noticed a little boy moth behind her. "Gee, he's cute. Maybe if I let him win, he'll come over and talk to me," she thought.

Esmeralda slowed down. Soon the boy moth forged ahead to win the gold medal. Then he went over to another girl and took her hand. Esmeralda cried and cried. Have you ever seen a moth ball?

WRITER'S WORKSHOP

Dorothy Vawter read a short story, arbitrarily entitled "Twilight," at Writer's Workshop Wednesday, March 24. An unusual plot revolving on the psychological effects of a father's suicide witnessed by his son, ended with a play on the words sun and son.

Criticism of the story was led by Chester Phillips.

HERB'S— Half-acre

●ANTICIPATION for the opening of the spring sports arena currently holds both players' and fans' interest. Baseball, the first to begin for the home folks, opens next week by the schedule for the Highlander Diamond team. Meanwhile, things are moving in preparation for coming events.

●HIT AND RUN plays were the order of the afternoon when the baseball team, divided for intra-squad play, took their first test under fire on Thursday. Not too much went exactly as Coach Honaker desired it, but he's out to straighten out the wrinkles of the batters and baserunners. At any rate, Coach had them scooting and considerable danger was unloosened at the national collegiate record of 13.6 seconds in circling the bases. This record was set by Donald Weir of the University of Southern California in 1943.

●COMPETITIVE SPIRIT, co-operation, and coaching aided the track cause this week. As Coach Johnson appeared on the oval with routine work assignments for the thin-clads, and cooperation with the baseball forces allowed the trackmen the use of the entire area of the track at specific times, the action was like spring tonic for the cinder-runners. Still, the coach's prayer is for more fellows out to give even more impetus to the track program.

●TROUBLE is all that the keeper-of-the-courts, Bill Dinges, has when a March thunder shower blows in. By a process of scraping, rolling, and re-lining he has been very quick to put the courts back in shape for the daily heats staged among the tennis candidates. These practice matches, incidentally, provide tennis ladder upsets almost daily.

●JUST WHAT the T formation can do for Highlander football is the subject for scrimmage in Coach Davis' spring sessions. A good number of candidates are out; some good, some fair; and some also outs. It's encouraging to have many newcomers among the candidates. A "B" squad in football might be formed, if feasible, next fall of the lighter classes to play on odd-week-ends. This almost was a reality for the "scrub" team last fall under Marvin Mitchell's tutorlege. In the pre-war days of 1939, Maryville did have a "B" team known as the "Pups", who bit at nieghboring prep teams as a preliminary feature on varsity football nights.

●SIDELINES: For the second year, a collegiate crew of basketball players have advanced to the semi-finals in the Tri-State Independent Tournament at Knoxville . . . . Last year it was the Maryville Misfits, and this past week the Maryville Knockers were eliminated in the semi-finals of the tournament. . . . What unlimited substitution rules did to football, the new NCAA rules agreed upon this week by the national council will do to basketball. . . . . four big changes: (1) allow coaches to talk with the team during time-out periods, (2) require that a substitute report only to the scorer, (3) provides that players on whom fouls are called should raise hands for spectator-identification, and (4) all jump balls be carried to one of the three rings of the court. . . . The game's not going to be what it used to be. . . .

INTRAMURALS

BY DUNCAN BENNETT

Intramural sotball has had an excellent week—no rain—with all scheduled games played off as of Friday afternoon. The weather, except for Monday, has been good softball weather, and the teams have been out with a great deal of spirit. Make-up games due to inclement weather will be played off on the golf course at the diamond near Washington Avenue.

B. & B. Sneak Around Wizards, 7-6

The Bats and Balls won, 7-6, over the Wizards in a hotly contested game last Tuesday afternoon after Thurston drove in the winning run in the last inning. Pitchers for the Bats and Balls were Thurston and Weber. Bender pitched for the Wizards. For the Bats and Balls Thurston, Espada, Phillips and Horn made the runs. Mize hit a homer. For the Wizards Martin scored twice, Mullholand knocked a homer, and Lambert, Williams, and Mulford each scored once.

TRACK TALK—

Ability in Track Depends On A Few Essential Things

BY HERBERT McCALLUM

Just what does it take to make a good track man?

Speed . . . endurance . . . natural ability. . . control in training—these are probably the most important things.

The track man must be "fit to his part." As the dashes require speed so do the distance runners need stamina with an emphasis on precision and rythmn.

As great art conceals art—the runner with a perfected stride and sprint is the runner who constantly cuts seconds off of his race time. A runner is not developed overnight; improvement is the aim of every thin-clad. Strict and rigid training is the basis for improvement.

Most world record-breakers in track have special abilities and are "just built right." Natural advantages also help the amateur runner. For instance a low pulse rate is an advantage for the distance man. Gunder Haegg, the Swedish distance champion, had a normal purse rate of 46 per minute and not over 50 or 52 when put to pressure. Compare this with the average person's normal rate of 72.

Up to a certain point any runner can improve his race. Natural limitations, of course, keep many runners, despite determination and persistance, from being record-breakers. .

Even champions are hexed by limitations. In the 220 dash, the world record time is now 20.3 sec., which requires a rate of 10.838 yards per second! This, according to some physists, is a 100 percent performance. Time will tell.

The condition of the course may be a deciding factor in track competition. A dry, firm, "fast" track adds speed; a wet, hard, "slow" track increases the runner's time.

Even a one-twenty-fifth of a second difference in starting by pistol shot signal over the antiquated drop-handkerchief signal is an advantage to the runner. Accurate timers and course markings are of value in track.

While the most important thing to a runner is to win or place, the ultimate aim is to break the existing record in the event, if possible. Here are the standing M.C. Track and Field records:

Event	Record	Holder-Date
100 yd. dash	10 sec.	Schmock '14
		Williams '29
		Sutton '39
220 yd. dash	21.7 sec.

1 mile run	4:29.5	Moore '33
2 mile run	9:48.6	Snedecker '36
Mile relay	3:31.3	Baird, Lloyd Steakley, Orr '39
120 yd. h.h.	15.5 sec.	Orr '39

Football Squads Drill From A "T"

The second week of spring football found Coach "J.D." Davis, assisted by Ronald Easter and Ken Talbott, captain and co-captain of the 1947 squad, dividing the 51 man squad up into teams for scrimmage and signal drills from the T formation.

New Men Out

In addition to 28 veterans of last season, there are now 23 new men out for spring practice. Following is a list of the newcomers:

Reed Bell, Lester Bennett, Hap Brahams, Wallace Clendennen, Horace Clonniger, L. V. Cox, Delbert Earisman, Ralph Effler, Dempsey Jones, Raymond Keny, Charles Mabry, Marvin McKenzie, Frank Morton.

Maynard Noble, Herbert Palmer, Donald Reeves, George Stanfield, James Townsend, Donald Ward, Alvin Waters, Max Willocks, Orval Wintermute, and Dave Yeaworth.

Time Trials Start For Cindermen

Time trials have begun this week for eighteen cinderman preparing for the Milligan Relays on April 17. Kenneth P. Johnson, assistant coach, is handling the thin-clads now until "J.D" Davis finishes spring football practice.

The time trials will decide who will compete for Maryville in each event of the two-meet season at the Milligan Relays and State Meet. For the mile are Baird, Gillette, Kidder, Kiger, and Mulford. In the half-mile are Lambert, Robarts, and Thurston, and Trotter. In the dashes (220 and 100 yd.) are Burchfield, Hamilton, and Lambert. Bob Kay is out for the hurdles, Badillo is working on the pole vault, and Fisher is out for the high jump. Fisher and Haynes are trying for the broad jump.

Diamond Practice Speeds Up

Training Accelerates Before Season Opener Next Saturday With All Stars

BY KEN OLSEN

Diamond talent had a rough week of practice this week in preparation for the season opener on April 3 with Hitch's All-Stars, a local independent. With twelve men from '47 back, the Scots can look forward to a good season as compared with last year when all but three of the team were freshmen.

This week Coach Honaker has concentrated on batting, base-running, and fielding. Hitting has improved a little, but the boys are still a bit rusty on the rest. Another week will tell the story.

Two teams have been added to the schedule since it was first published earlier this semester—Milligan and Hitch's All-Stars. The All-Stars will open the season here on April 3 and Milligan will play here on May 7

The twelve returning men from last year's team are fairly well scattered throughout the team, with at least one experienced man at each position except first base. A good flock of freshmen and others are eyeing the regular spots too.

Four Veterans Trying For Battery

Four diamond veterans are prospects for the battery berths this season. In the mound category are Leon Berrong, Joe Jernigan, and Ross Honaker. Berrong, a sophomore, earned his letter last year, hurling his fast ball for nine victories and two defeats. Jernigan, another sophomore, was a relief pitcher last season, credited with one victory and no defeats out of seven games.

Honaker, the only senior on the team this year, lettered last season on third base. Behind the plate is Gene Reynolds, a second string first-baseman last year.

Four More Eyeing Infield

Among the infield prospects are "old timers"—all sophomores. King Berrong and Bob Neff are among the second basemen working out. King saw service in that spot in 20 games last season to earn his letter and Bob was a reserve outfielder with a good batting eye.

At third base is Jack Buckley, another reserve from last year who batted .222. Heavy-hitting Bob Boring rounds out the infield experience at shortstop. Tops at hitting with a .369 last season, the "slugger" has already won praise for having "as much power as any man" that has played under Lombe Honaker, "with the exception of Stone."

Final Quartet in Outfield

Outfielders Wally Pentz, Art Spears, Hugh F. Hamil, and Allan Rock complete the twelve. Hugh F., center fielder, was second only to Boring in the hitting with 23 hits for 66 trips. Rock, right, was a close third with 17 hits in 54 trips. Spears, center, and left, hit .234 and Pentz, left, hit .150.

PRACTICE TENNIS MATCH HERE FRIDAY

The varsity tennis team will play a practice match with Maryville High School next Friday on the Memorial courts at 3:15. The match was originally scheduled for this week-end but was postponed because the senior class of the high school is on a class trip.

GOLF COURSE OPEN; GREENS IMPROVED

The golf course is now open to all students after a spring clean-up and the addition of sand greens. The course is now nine holes with a par of 37. With the exception of Tuesdays and Thursdays between 3:30 and 5:30 when the girls' softball games are in progress, the course will be open all day. Freshmen gym classes will also use the course after track season closes.

BERTHOLF, ROGERS CHOSEN SOFTBALL CAPTAINS THURS.

Point system girls chose captains and managers of their future softball teams at their regular meetings Thursday.

Chillie captain is Barbara Bertholf, and captain of the Howees is Ruth Rogers. Managers are Sara Kemp for the Chillies and Faye Robinson for the Howees.

Teams will be chosen by the captains and managers at the meetings Tuesday.

"rats" Bob Dockendorf and Noble Pribble, also lost all their personal belongings.

There was no longer a place for the Artist Series, Messiah, commencement programs, recitals, plays, practice rooms, and no stage for any special programs. Chapel had to be held in the Alumni gym, vespers moved to the library, and attendance at the evening February Meetings necessitated a trip to town.

New Chapel Plans

Yes, it is a hardship. Due to the help of the townspeople, however, and the cooperation of faculty and students we have managed. Money has already been appropriated and plans have been drawn up for the new chapel which will include a new and enlarged fine arts department.

Pumping Oil Fields In Reverse

PITTSBURGH, PA.—By pumping water and natural gas into the depths of the oil fields, modern science is bring 10 to 50 per cent more oil to the surface. This typical cross section shows one way it's done. Here gas is pumped in above the oil pool, and water underneath it. These artificial pressures, from above and below, force the oil to flow thru the sand or rock in which it is imbedded and up the well shaft. Sketch is based on an explanation by Gulf Oil.

The final program in this series will be Monday, April 5, and will feature actual letters written by students in foreign countries describing conditions there.

Chairman of the drive is John Poland; program manager is Bill Nish, and publicity is under the management of Carroll Stegall.

Maryville Astronomy Addicts See Moon, Mars, Saturn's Rings

Somewhat with tongue in cheek, it was announced that Maryville students have been out looking at the stars—for scientific purposes, of course. Helping in the search for new knowledge was a three-inch telescope which the college has had for some time. The instrument is left over from a former astronomy course, and now belongs to the physics and mathematics departments of Dr. Sisk and Mr. Walker.

In recent weeks the telescope has been used to look at Mars, Earth's nearest planetary neighbor, the moon and Saturn's rings. According to Dr. Sisk, Mars appears to MC stargazers as about the size of a baseball. Whether local Galileos have found or disproved the existance of life on the war planet, he did not say.

Mr. Walker, whose field is physics, said the department hopes to reinstitute the astronomy course next semester if there is enough interest shown in the subject.

The three-inch instrument is kept in the little room under Thaw Hall steps and can be carried outside for use. Another telescope, reportedly of four-inch size and broken, is in the attic of the same building.

One does not make friends; one recognizes them.

Graduate School Student Interns At MC Library

Miss Catherine Spivey, who is taking graduate work in the Peabody Library School in Nashville, worked in the college library for a week as an intern. This was a required part of her library practice work. Miss Spivey has written a book of poems which is being prepared for publication.

Asked for her reaction to Maryville College, she told of the teas which had been held in her honor, and assured the reporter that she had enjoyed her work in our library. She presented the two potted plants in the library to the student body and faculty and the library staff.

Dr. H. E. Orr Gives Alpha Gamma Sig Induction Address

President R. W. Lloyd Will Preside At Service

Dr. Horace E. Orr, professor of religion and philosophy, will be the speaker at the annual induction service of Alpha Gamma Sigma which will be held next Thursday morning, April 8, in the Alumni Gym.

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will preside and lead a brief induction service of all newly elected members, as was announced in the March 13 issue of the ECHO. The list of new members includes Esther Cornelius, Tom Horst, Peggy Howell, Scott McClure, Carl Murray, Loretta Nunn, Mildred Orr, Harold Russell, Anna Sakaizawa, Dorothy Vawter, and Tom Wheeler.

Officers Elected

At a recent meeting of the Maryville residents of Alpha Gamma Sigma, officers were elected to fill next year's posts. Mrs. Lois Brown Murphy, daughter of Mr. E. C. Brown, engineer at the College, was elected president. She will replace Mr. Edwin Best, class of '36.

Esther Cornelius, one of the members recently elected from the class of '48, was elected vice-president, and Dean E. R. Hunter was re-elected secretary-treasuer.

CAMERA CLUB

"How to Use Kodachrome" will be explained by Walter English at Camera Club tonight at 6:45. Colored slides will be shown. The meeting will be held in Thaw.

Ten Students Elected To Theta Alphi Phi

Theta Alpha Phi will ring down the curtain on this year's activities with the induction of ten neophytes at a banquet, May 7. Three seniors, Footsie Housch, Bud Engle, and E. J. Cotton, were among the ten to receive a notice last Tuesday informing them of their election to the dramatic fraternity. The other initiates are Roger Cowan, Bill Nish, Ben Paxton, Dot Holverson, Mary Mitchell Woolridge, Glen Knecht and Betty Seagraves.

Election to Theta Alpha Phi, according to the constitution of the national fraternity, is on a basis whereby all aspects of dramatic production are on a par. Membership can be achieved by acting, staging, makeup, direction, will be especially important in carrying over Maryville's hard earned reputation for good dramatics under the director who will replace Miss Jesse Wild next year.

Pictures taken by the Camera Club of the various stage productions and the radio plays given over WGAP, will be used to begin a large scrap book which the fraternity expects to make its official record. Selected pictures are to be sent in to "Cue," the fraternity's magazine, for possible publication.

Shakespeare To Be Staged

At present chief dramatic activity centers around the production of "The Merchant of Venice" by the Athenian and Bainonian Socities. As with "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" recently

APRIL FOOL'S DAY HAS BIBLICAL ORIGIN, CUSTOMS

BY LYERLY AND HOLM

"There's something on your face. . . your nose!" Following this wise statement are sounds of embarrassed disgust and screams of laughter.

Each year on the first day of April, many such jokes are played upon unsuspecting innocents. This we take for granted without thinking much about it, but there is a method in this madness, for even foolishness must have some background or origin.

Has Biblical Origin

Authorities differ about the origin of April Fool's Day or All Fool's Day. Some trace its beginning past the time of Christ to the old Patriarch Noah, when he first sent out a dove from the ark, only to receive it back for there was no dry land. This act gives his more modern descendents an excuse for sending people on foolish errands, such as sending the rookie player to look for the pitcher's box.

Another Biblical basis for these errands is the shuffling back and forth of Christ, during His trial, from Annas to Caiphas, from Caiphas to Pilate, from Pilate to Herod, and from Herod back to Pilate. This all took place, supposedly, about the first of April.

France Exchanged Gifts

Perhaps the most logical explanation of the beginning of April Fool's Day comes to us from France. Originally the calendar year began on April 1st, and this first day of the year was commemorated by the exchanging of gifts and visits. Sometime later the calendar year was changed to its present form, and those persons who resented the change were teased on the old first day with mock gifts.

The foolishness prevalent on this day has been of assistance to at least two people, however. Francis, Duke of Lorraine, and his wife escaped from captivity at Nantes on April 1st. Dressed as peasants, they were almost past the sentries when one discovered their disguise and ran ahead to warn the guards. The guards, thinking it was a joke, only laughed and said, "Poisson d' Avril!" (This in France, corresponds to our American "April Fool!"). Thus the pretended peasants made good their escape.

In Scotland it was customary to hunt gowks (coocoos) on April 1st. Because of this, April-fools were called April-gowks, coocoo being a term of contempt then, just as it is now.

America Pulls Gags

In America, the day has become one of contest. Each person tries to outjoke the other fellow, and the person who pulls the first gag of the day is happy throughout the remainder of the day. Such stunts as the hat over a brick, and a purse attached to a string are hilariously funny when someone falls for them.

Just remember, though. When you are sent to look for the College Seal in the Biology Pond, think it over. If the day is April 1st, don't go.

NELSON EDDY PROVES DIFFICULT TO INTERVIEW

(ED NOTE: Barbara Wallin, Ruth Davis, Mimi Leake, and Carroll Stegall accepted a four-fold assignment of interviewing Nelson Eddy at the U.T. concert Saturday night. The result—well, read it yourself!)

"Mind the press—excuse us, please—mind the press!"

Following along in the wake created by Carroll Stegall, as he proclaimed their presence in strident tones and shoved through the mob with his camera held high, they nervously smiled at the irate people around them and struggled toward Nelson Eddy's dressing room.

Things weren't working out like they'd planned, really. In fact, the dreams they'd had of a quiet, dignified interview with the great baritone in his quarters where he would genially tell them of his life, had turned into a nightmare of snarling people, confusion and dismaying impasses.

It was the brain-child of Barbara Wallin, this business. An interview with Nelson Eddy! In its growth it had picked up her roommate, Ruth Davis and Mimi Leake—"Mimi" is so good at interviewing!"—and a photographer, Carroll Stegall. Barbara began moving the machinery that would arrange the thing. A letter to Mr. Frost, manager of the concert Series. A nervous two days; then, phone Mr. Frost—8 times. Finally his answer came through—if they would be there, he would "see if it could be arranged."

Came the night of the concert. Eddy took the audience at once, from the moment his dramatic silver-grey shock of hair and familiar features appeared. He sang to tumultous applause that called for encores at the end of the first group of sings and continued throughout the evening until he finished with a medley of his trademark tunes. The packed house exhausted themselves calling for encores.

When the lights came up Barbara rushed to the stage entrance to hold a place in the mob of people that rushed up. Carroll busied himself assembling his camera, and Mimi and Ruth began picking their way out of th clouds that fog the top galleries of the University Auditorium. It was some time before Barbara and Carroll saw their fellow conspirators, but they were having troubles of their own.

"You can get anywhere in America with a camera. Follow me." said Carroll. With that he began chanting in a commanding tone—"Let the press through!" and thrusting people aside, Barbara, like a well-trained quarter-back or a poodle, followed closely, smiling nervously at the nasty looks that attended their progress and laughing feebly at the bitter comments that rung in her ear. But forward they went—down the corridor, up the steps, and there were the ushers! But they, too, gave way in some confusion before the threat of a gleaming camera and flash-gun, and there was Nelson Eddy!

It was a dreadful shock. Far from being casually relaxed in a sumptous dressing room — far from being ready to grant us our private, cozy interview—he was seated behind a table which was pushed into a doorway—signing autographs, assembly-line fashion.

Leaning dispiritedly against the wall and watching, Barbara and Carroll stood there. Then Barbara spoke suddenly, "There's Mr. Frost!" When he was confronted, he replied at once, "Oh, yes, I remember. He'll see you. Wait in there."

"In there" proved to be the wings of the stage, and it was full of ushers, people hysterically showing off their signed programs—and also dirt, rickety chairs and a table with a lone glass of water standing tiredly in a corner. Not the place we had pictured for our private interview, even yet. But it was progress.

When Ruth and Mimi showed up minutes later, Carroll and Barbara were still waiting; Nelson was still signing; people were still waving their autographs, but Mimi and Ruth looked a little tattered. Mimi had ink splattered heavily over her hands and arms. It seemed that, like a good reporter, she was taking notes. When Eddy finished a number, she forgot to put her pen down when she began clapping. As for Ruth, she could only moan, "My head! My head!" while holding same in her hands. Again a crisis arose—with horror, the four observed that those ushers were shooing off the people and closing the doors!

Carroll galvanized again. Seizing his camera, trailed by the girls, he bore down upon Mr. Frost. In a patience-worn-thin tones he demanded of Mr. Frost, "Now?" Now it was. However, Mr. Eddy was preparing to leave and seemed to want nothing of an interview or pictures. It was suggested that they walk into the wings where the curtains would make a nice background. "Any people out there?" Mr. Eddy wanted to know. He opened the door, and hastily backed out. People. Mr. Eddy backed up against the wall with the grim air of a martyr before the firing squad. Then he looked around, as if thinking, "Ha! now I'll get even." He grabbed the wobbly-kneed Barbara and said, "Don't you want to be in the picture, too?"

She wasn't wholly convincing, but managed to back up against the wall, too. She smiled desperately as the flash came. When she recovered, Mr. Eddy and Carroll were arguing again concerning the matter of a short interview. mayed hands, but Nelson apparently convinced that the forces of fate were working against him had led the way back to a corner of the hall.

There was another painful impasse. Mimi was gripping her program, full of questions, with her blue fingers. Barbara backed away slightly, and Ruth felt her head. Finally one feeble question came forth "how had Mr. Eddy and his accompanist met?"

Mr. Eddy mellowed slightly. It seemed to take him back into his memories. "We were both just beginning", he said. "We were on the same program in a little town in Pennsylvania. He was assigned to accompany me. I didn't like it—I wanted another man. But we performed together, and have been together for 19 Mr. Eddy's manager waved disyears."

Mimi came through with a question. "Does your accompanist sing?" Nelson smiled a little. "Yes, he sings but for his own enjoyment" "Do you play?" came from Ruth- Nelson looked shocked. "Oh, no!" he replied and turned to Carroll as he asked "You have such a wide reptoire, Mr. Eddy, how do you select a program?" Mr. Eddy liked that one. "Oh, I know about a thousand songs," he said, "I pick them out as I think it will suit the group to which I am singing." The four reporters made goggling sounds of being impressed.

Next came "How did you get tagged with Shortin' Bread for a trade mark?" Nelson's face darkened a little. "I think Charlie McCarthy had something to do with it," he said a little venomously. "He made a crack about it when I guest-starred on his program, and I've been stuck with it ever since."

"Thank you", the reporters mumbled as Mr. Eddy began looking at the exit, and then started for it. A little more slowly, and in histerical spirits, the four reporters also went out, stopping the janitor as he locked the front door. Safely out into the street, spirits grew high. Then suddenly, Mimi paused in anguish, with a wrenching wail.

"We forgot to get his autograph!" she cried.

The other three rushed her off into the darkness.

produced by Alpha Sig and Theta Epsilon, especial difficulties will be met in producing it in the Maryville High School auditorium. Only a few, if any, rehearsals may be held there before the day of the performance. Also not all of the changes of scene indicated in the play can be executed.

It is to be performed on a Shakesperean stage, i.e. one in which most of the properties are left up to the imagination of the leader. Such a setting exacts the most imaginative and skillful acting, since it will not be supported by the usual stage props.

On April 17th "Antigone" will be given by the Experimental Theater. It will be performed in the Greek dramatic style. Preparations are also under way for the elaborate May Day Festival to be given next month.

OLD CHATTERBOX

BY RUTH DAVIS

AY, tear this hallowed temple down,
Long has it served us well,
And many an eye has danced to see
The ice cream comes they sell.
Inside it runs a joyful shout
And burst another's roar;
The savor of the campus air
Shall sweep the crowds no more.
Her floor, once brown with bottle coke
Where fallen by mistake
When kids were pushing toward the front
With loads of ice cream, cokes, and cake,
No more shall know the hungry's tread or know the bruised fall.
The harpies of the campus shall pluck it
From the back of Baldwin Hall.
Oh, better that her tearful friends
Be dead than be alive,
For if she's moved to the baseball field
She'll be far off circle drive.
Nail to her side her hallowed sign;
Set every threadbare letter
And give her to the god of storms
For lack of something better.

NATIONAL BASEBALL WEEK

MARCH 27 TO APRIL 3

BASEBALL . . . As American as the Freedom Train.

During National Baseball Week, we would like to pay tribute to great men like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Ty Cobb, and many others, and to the fine standards of fair play and clean sportsmanship that are coupled with this American sport. With this satule to the players of yesterday, let us renew our pledge to the sandlotters of today; that they may continue to play baseball in its traditionally American way.

HERB'S— Half-acre

●PLAY BALL! As this familiar call went out for the Highlander diamond team Tuesday, Coach Lombe—"Dean of Southern Baseball Coaches"—Honaker put another baseball team on the field. With baseball, Coach Honaker has made an institution of the game here at Maryville. His record in baseball, we believe, cannot be equalled by any coach in the nation for colleges of Maryville's size. It's with the expectation of another successful season that we look toward the rest of the current season.

To add a new title to the venerable Highland Chieftan's growing prestige as a grand patron of sports, we find that Lombe Scott Honaker is listed in the A. S. Barnes and Compayn's new Sports Encyclopedia, in a nation-wide honor list of "durable football coaches." "Our Lombe" is eighteenth in order of longevity of service. With 32 seasons behind him, only eleven football coaches in the nation have more coaching experience. This list, incidentally, is headed by such well-known "old timers" in football coaching as Amoz Alonzo Stagg, Walter Camp, and Glenn S. (Pop) Warner.

●FOOTBALL FLICKERS: With spring practice almost three weeks gone, the squads are whetting the edge of hostility. A hasty glance through the squads tells us. . . that Kluth is the only letterman out for tackle; Don Walker's eye trouble prevents him from coming out; Pinner and Johnson, tackles with experience last season, are no longer in school; Raymond Keny puts a lot of size in tackle slot as a newcomer; "Butch" Kramer is filling up a tackle position as his brothers, Jack and Frank, did before him.

At guards, Proffitt and Andes are back to brush up on their football tactics, while Willocks and Palmer, two grappling guards, should develop into varsity material by next season.

For the terminal positions, Miller, Jack and Harold Henry, and Lewellyn lead the returning candidates. "Hardy" Davis is missing, and Hap Brahams shows promise as an athlete.

Larsen and Holsey present capable material as "T" formation centers.

The backfield, since most of the '47 backs are expected back for fall, looks much better than the line prospects. With Merriman, Callaway, Clark, Fogarty, and Law breaking in the T in fine shape as "steadies", some backs uncovered thus far may be ready to go next season. Don Reeves shows power; McKenzie is plenty fast; Morton is improving; and Mabry lacks experience. James Newman, a guard shifted to quarterback, was sidelined this week with a bad knee.

●THERE WAS A TIME—When football was a spring sport entirely. Some coach must have begun fall training in those days and couldn't stop!. . . . . When baseball and track crowded out spring football here at Maryville.

About the '35-'36 basketball season when Maryville's Highlanders played the New York Celtics. . . the Celtics came out ahead, 35-27. That was about the year that the jump-center after each shot method was erased out of the rules.

SCOTS MEET HIWASSEE HERE TUESDAY

Scots, Maryville High Play Practice Net Match Friday

A practice tennis match is scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, with the varsitymen facing Maryville High's racketmen. The games will start at 3:15 o'clock. Six singles, and two doubles are scheduled and both the Memorial and Baldwin courts will probably be used.

Next Wednesday, April 7, Coach Johnson's netmen travel to Athens, Tennessee for a match with Tennessee Wesleyan. Six men will probably make the trip, although when ECHO sports went to press early this week, Coach Johnson could give no indication of which six of the varsity ladder would make the trip.

The match Friday with Maryville High School is designed to give both teams some "unfamiliar" competition. The High School team, coached by Mr. Green and assisted by Ken Ross, has been handicapped in its preparation by the lack of outdoor practice.

Coach Johnson indicated early this week that one group of six men on the varsity ladder would meet the singles competition of the high school and that another four men would comprise the doubles team.

Joe D. Beals is number one man for Maryville High, and George Queener is currently in the second place.

Number one man for the M.C. squad is the question of a lot of competition among the varsity players. The competition is awfully close. However, at the start of the week, Ches Anderson held first place on the ladder, followed by Bill Dinges at second place.

Bob Wilson and Fred Waggoner filled 3rd and 4th; Wes Miles was at 5th; Bill Uthlaut at 6th; Bill Lawrence at 7th; and Murray, Knecht, and Fisher down to ten in that order. Just how these seven would stand by Friday was the unpredictable question as ECHO sports went to press.

In the event of rain, the match will be postponed to either Saturday afternoon or Monday afternoon.

FOUR SOFTBALL TEAMS LEAD

Cinderman Train For Milligan Relay

Scot thin-clads began getting in shape this week to enter the Milligan Relays, which are scheduled for April 17, at Johnson City.

The highlight of the Relays will be the 440, 880 and the mile. Four men will participate in each relay, each taking the baton one-fourth of the distance.

Other events which Maryville may enter, according to the available entrants, are the sprint medley relay, and the distance medley relay Field events and dashes are also scheduled in the Relays and Maryville may enter some of these events.

As try-outs for the places began this week, Coach Johnson acting track coach, gave no indication who would participate.

ANDERSON, FROST TEACH SWIMMING

Under the able tutelege of Lloyd Anderson and Jack Frost about 30 students, some non-swimmers and some able to swim a little are learning to master the art of swimming. This class is open to all and meets every Thursday afternoon between 3:30 and 4:30.

To begin the pupil first learns to overcome any fear which he might have of water. The elementary strokes will be taught as the pupil progresses.

HITCH'S ALL-STARS GO DOWN, 7-0, IN PRACTICE GAME TUES.

Baseball season will offically open on Tuesday, March 6, on the Maryville diamond against HiwasseeCollege, unless LMU arrives this afternoon to fill an open date in the Maryville schedule. The Scots won their practice game last Tuesday against Hitches All-Stars, 7-0, on the home field.

Although a second rate team last year, the Hiwassee nine promises some competition this season. The Hiwassee men lost three games and won one against the Highlanders last year.

In the practice game with Hitches' the Scots hurried to an easy victory in the eight inning game. Boring hit a second inning homer deep into left field. The rest of the game was a hit and miss affair for the local independents who managed to sneak four hits in, but failed to score. Efficient fielding on the part of the Highlanders held the All-Stars inside third base.

Scrimmage, Plays Emphasized In Spring Football

Srimmage and play drills in the T formation have been on the agenda for spring football practice this week. An intra-squad game was scheduled for yesterday. Four teams have been up, but they are by no means any indication of next year's lineups. The rest of the spring work outs will be mostly contact work.

The main flaw of those out now is one of not knowing the T formation. Those who were out last fall got a mere smattering of it and the newcomers know even less. Because of this lack of understanding, the teams have displayed poor blocking, faulty and slipshod. The backs, when they have the ball, can find few holes to run through.

So far the T as seen in spring practice this year is a powerful one, full of drive but lacking deception.

The whole purpose of the spring practice is to teach the players the fundamentals and iron out the wrinkles by giving experience. This year the T is the entire emphasis—to learn it and the defense against it.

ELEVEN MONTHS SCHOOL YEAR PLANNED

Burning Cross Near Bookstore Frightens Campus

Six Loyal Georgians Placed Under Suspicion

Saturday night of last week, students and townspeople were surprised and frightened when fire was again seen on the campus exactly a year after Voorhees chapel burned. At first it appeared to be Science Hall, but the steady flame could not have been produced by that honored edifice. Then the bookstore was suggested. But as curious and excited onlookers gathered they discovered it was a huge cross burning between both buildings—Ku Klux Klan variety. The Maryville firetruck was summoned but Knoxville's got here first—the firechief having seen the flame from the backroom on the fourteenth floor of the Andrew Johnson.

College officials, led by the up and coming Board of Directors, started an immediate inquest. The situation is considered serious since so many Yankees depend on this school as a source of inspiration and education. All inmates of the institution coming from south of the Mason-Dixon line are suspected. The following people are considered especially dangerous: Ray Kirby, Alice Davenport, Margaret and Marjorie Pritchett, Elizabeth McChesney, Florence Katherine Housch. All are loyal Georgians.

Dr. Griffitts is under special guard because judging by the location of the fire, the sign was pointing toward him.

Saturday ECHO Issue Omitted

Special Notice

This issue of the Highland Echo will not be published Saturday mainly because it's being published today, but also because Charlie and Homer, our loyal workers down at the Enterprise Office, have met with an unfortunate obstacle. The place is infested with type lice, a condition which always makes working conditions unfavorable. Mr. Aytes and Mr. Paul, Charlie and Homer respectively, are quite perturbed about the situation and are blaming it on the extended period of "editor try-outs." The varmints flourish abundantly in the presence of those who have not as yet been initiated into the special intricacies involved in the printing business. Never before have they had such a dumb and gullible crop to work with.

All known remedies have been tried—from kerosene to corn liquor. Charlie and Homer wish to ask for the help of all loyal readers of this publication. Anyone who knows any unknown remedies for type lice is asked to report to the office. Also anyone who has never seen this special specie is welcome to come and be shown.

STUDENTS SUGGEST WEATHER PETITION

It has been suggested that the student body petition Professor E. R. Walker to do something about the weather at Maryville College. One suggestion from a questionable source is that a huge tarpaulin be stretched over the campus whenever rain is anticipated.

A special meeting concerning this matter will be held after chapel Monday.

Gene Autry Performs On May 1

FAMOUS COWBOY CROWNS QUEEN MAY

Miss Jessie Wild announced partial plans for the May Day program at a meeting of the Executive Council Thursday afternoon, March 18. These plans are a complete revision of the ones tentatively announced last month, for this year Gene Autry, cowboy star, will be on the program.

As the plans now stand the theme will be "May Day in a Western Frontier Town." The girls' choir, under the direction of Mr. Curtis Hughes, will be seen on the left stage of the amphitheater, dressed in western clothes. As they begin to sing "I'm Back in the Saddle Again," Mr. Autry will begin riding down the hill leading the procession of the queen and her court, all of whom will be riding horses. When the procession reaches the center of the stage, all will dismount. Mr. Autry will escort the queen to the throne and with the traditional gavel he will crown her queen of the May. After this, Mr. Autry and his horse, Champion, Jr., will perform for the audience. Their act will be the one in which Mr. Autry sings and plays the piano while his horse is standing atop the grand piano.

Other plans will be released in the ECHO as they are announced by the May Day Committees.

Mrs. Butcher Again Accused of Letting Dirt In Her Domain

Mrs. Pearl Butcher, matron on third floor Pearsons and assistant to the maintenance director, is under close supervision at the present moment. Pearsons girls who clean the floors have been trying for years to find any kind of dirt known to science, and janitors, in or on any of her possessions or property. Doris Cook, after she quit her job as floor cleaner, made the momentous discovery not long ago. Location of the treasure has not been disclosed but authorized dimensions are as follows: .10 of a millimeter by .100 of an inch, depth unmeasurable. The only thing regrettable about the discovery is that it was clean dirt.

Athenian-Alpha Sig Exchange Membership

Bernard Welch, Max House Among Group

Joe Claud, prominent member of the Alpha Sigma society, said tonight that Alpha Sig and its rival society, Athenian, have decided to exchange certain of their members. The change has come about, he said, as a form of punishment for those persons who have refused to give their all to their respective organizations.

Lazenby Kept Secret

Mr. Claud hesitated to admit that Bernard Welch, henceforth the president of Alpha Sig, will be sent to Athenian, where he will be forced to dust off the chairs for each Athenian member before such member sits down at a meeting. Along with Mr. Welch, (This the society would like to be kept secret. We promised that it would not go beyond the ECHO, so, dear readers, please refrain from discussing this matter among yourselves.), but along with Mr. Welch will go Carl Lazenby, famous ex-president of last semester. Mr. Lazenby, Mr. Claud breathed, has spent entirely too much time with a girl.

Punishment

In exchange, Athenian is offering Max House and is recommending that Mr. House be forced to attend all Alpha Sig meetings. They feel that his mere attendance will make him suffer beyond any other known punishment.

Mr. Claud, the promoter of the exchange, said further that he feels that it is his duty to assume the office of the president of Alpha Sig, in Mr. Welch's absence.

Betty Grable, Dot Lamour, Gypsy Lee Perform on Hill

Entertainment Held In Chatterbox Night Club

MC is proud to have three film stars, Betty Grable, Dorothy Lamour and Gypsy Rose Lee, as guests this week. These famous actresses entertained March 30 and March 31 at MC's own ritzy night spot, the Chatterbox.

On the first night, Miss Grable's costume was one of the several used in her recent picture, Mother Wore Tights; Dorothy Lamour was glamorously attired in a sarong, given to her by a Hiwaiian friend—Miss Lee wore high platform shoes and an ostrich-feather hat.

Interviews Possible

These three stars will remain on the campus for the rest of the week. Miss Massey has consented for them to use her office for interviews, so anyone who wishes to interview them may do so by signing up for an interview between the hours of 1:30 p| m| to 6:30 p. m. Please do not expect to interview them at Dubby's or anyplace downtown, since they are very busy.

They will also be the guest stars of a special program held Saturday, April 3 in the Alumni Gym. No tickets are necessary, but students should bring their activity cards. The faculty is advised that there is a good Western at the Capitol theater, and students have offered to pay the way of all faculty members who will go to the show that night.

Those who have offered their services are Wilma Robinson, Clarie Richards, Ruby Jean Harris, Bette Davis, Jim Latham, Bob Larson, and Erasmus Fowler.

Garrison Becomes M. C. President

Sweeping to victory on his "eliminate comprehensives" platform, Progressive Party candidate Dwight Garrison rode into the presidency of the college in an overwhelming landslide over the ex-president, who was running for a thirteenth term on the Isolationist ticket.

The ex-president, whose watchword has been, "Maryville for the Merry Villains" conceded defeat after the last returns had come in from the Far-west states of Carnegie and Memorial.

Appearing on the third floor balcony of Valet Hall, President-elect Garrison was greeted with tumultous applause when he gave the first significant words of the new administration's policy, saying, "Howdy, folks."

FACULTY OUTLAWS LOW GRADERS

Dr. E. R. Hunter, dean of curriculum, admitted today that the executive council is considering drastic actions against those members of the faculty who persist in giving students D's and F's. "Such marks on our records," he said, "is giving our school a terrible reputation. Just what kind of punishment we will use has not been decided upon, but we are considering forcing them to lead chapel five times straight, instead of the usual one."

Dean Hunter was quizzed about faculty members guilty of such un-Maryvillian action, but he refused to devulge their names. It is generally suspected, though, that Dr. Case, Dr. Barker, Mrs. Cummings, and Mrs. Kramer are at the top of the list.

Re-Celebration of Easter Begins On Campus Tomorrow

Because the numerous visitors on campus last Sunday disrupted the MC Easter spirit, it has been decided to recelebrate Easter next Sunday, April 4, with less celebration than that displayed last Sunday.

The three1day observance will begin tomorrow with a really good Good Friday—no classes, that is, however, classes will be resumed all day Saturday.

It will be the order of the day that no corsages shall be worn on Sunday. Any boy who dares to buy so much as a dandelion will be severely punished. He will not be allowed to study for an entire week.

Contrary to general campus opinion, students will be allowed to date, just as last Sunday only different. As a matter of fact, every student will be required to date for at least an hour sometime between 5:00 a. m. and 12:00 p. m. They must of necessity date Maryville students only.

Alumnus Finds Extinct Fish Alive

Named For Alma Mater

A flurry of excitement has buzzed through the scientific world since the discovery made by a Maryville alumnus in one of the numberless caves underlying many southeastern states: a fish of a kind believed to have disappeared from the earth 50 million years ago.

Maryvilliensis is the name given it by its discoverer, Jacob Rosenstein, in honor of the college from which he graduated in 1915.

Received With Amazement

Officials of the Smithsonian Institute received the word with amazement when it was flashed to Washington last Tuesday, May 16. It was as though some one had reported a living dinosaur. But the strange find is attested by the word of colleagues "down under" known to be competent and hard to fool. It seems impossible; yet apparently it's real.

A special plane loaded with scientists from Chicago, Harvard and the Smithsonian Institute was flown to the spot. Dr. Smythe, dean of the Harvard Research Center, summed up the opinion of his colleagues in these words: "This is unquestionably one of the most fantastic zoological specimens in the world. Its scientific value is incalculable."

To scientists its cartilaginous skeleton and backward locomotive and breathing structures show it to be a member of the most ancient class of primitive fishes. Till now the only known specimens have been found in fossil form.

Scientists Puzzled

The scientists were frankly puzzled over how such a fish, obviously an early stage in the process of evolution, could have survived in competition with its more advanced neighbors. It was thought to have died out because of its inability to keep pace with changing environmental conditions. This, they admit, may remain an unsolved mystery.

English Dropped From Schedule of English Majors

No longer will English majors be troubled with those unnecessary courses in English, unnecessary courses including all courses in English.

The first course to be dropped is regular freshmen English, it being deemed completely foreign to any previously learned by English majors in high school. Such non-repetition has proven to be confusing to some of the brighter students.

Shakespeare Dropped

Shakespeare has also been dropped. Too many students have reached his literary status in the last few years at Maryville, and his position in the history of literature is consequently being challenged. In an effort to prevent such a catastrophe only physical education majors will be allowed to enroll in the course.

Miss Jackson Speaks

The third English course which English majors will positively not be allowed to take is Literary Types and Forms in Poetry and Prose. Miss Jackson, who does not teach the course, says that any knowledge of either poetry or prose will only take up space in the brain that could be used to a better advantage.

English majors may enroll in a few courses, but it is not advisable. The department is advocating, however, that chemistry and mathematics majors spend more time in the department, English department. that is.

Cast members will receive full credit for all work begun this semester on the basis of the averages made when the tour begins and, because of the necessity of absence from classes during the last two months of school, will be excused from finals.

Proposed Route

Proposed route for the tour is Knoxville, April 5; Chattanooga, April 7; Birmingham, April 19, 20. After a week's rest, the play will be presented in Atlanta, Savannah, Charleston, Raleigh, and Richmond, but the dates for these performances are not settled.

Plans are still tentative for a third tour the first and second weeks in May to Nashville, Memphis, Shreveport, and New Orleans.

Miss Jessie Wild, Mrs. Nita Eckles West, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd will chaperone the group.

Properties, stage management, costuming, publicity, and make-up committees will also make the tour.

Stormy Weather Leads Chapel

Students Asked To Keep Wolf Howls At Medium Roar

Stormy Weather, notorious strip tease artist, will lead the chapel service Thursday, April 8. This announcement was made, with pardonable pride, from official sources. "We feel that the recent action of F.L.U. in humiliating this great artist by subjecting her to the indignity of rough treatment at the hands of hoodlums and having her thrown bodily into the swimming pool was ungentlemanly and tends to reflect discredit upon the esthetic appreciation of American institutions of higher learning," the statement read. "Besides, that water was cold. Before she got thrown in, that is."

Demonstrates Beauty Spirit

"We have therefore decided to invite Miss Weather to Maryville in an effort to demonstrate that the fiery spirit of Beauty cannot be quenched, not even in a forty degree swimming pool.

"It is asked that the student body cooperate in this effort and especially that wolf howls be kept to a medium roar during the fan and bubble sequences. In order that the best possible impression may be created, attendance on Thursday will be compulsory. No cuts will be allowed and anyone pleading illness will be required to present a doctor's certificate," the announcement concluded.

The artist is currently appearing in a benefit performance at the Old Ladies Home in Birmingham, Ala. She will arrive in Maryville Wednesday night. Weather is expected to be fair and warmer Thursday morning.

Germ in Germany?

The anxious eyes of the world are on the narrow air corridor between Frankfurt and Berlin. The struggle for psychological mastery between Russia and the Western Powers has become tense. During the past week there was a crash between a fighter plane and a British transport. Apparently, the Russian was stunting; however fourteen lives were lost and no one was laughing. At first Russia hastened to apologize. She did not want the planes flying the corridor to be escorted. Yesterday, Soviet Marshl Sokolovsky charged that the British action in blaming Russia was "provocative," and he hinted that the corridor might be sealed. He accused the British of disobeying the four-power flight rules.

"It is apparent that he received new instructions from Moscow," a high British official said. Both British and American authorities termed this Russian reply "insulting" and "hostile."

Wisconsin Primary

Stassen is happy over his political campaign results this week. In the Wisconsin primary he came through with nineteen pledged G.O.P. delegates to eight for MacArthur and none for Dewey. Since Taft was not in that running political oservers interpret this as a boost for Taft, the only other candidate seriously believed to have a chance for the nomination. In New Hampshire, Stassen won the expected two delegates to Dewey's six, and in Iowa, he claimed twenty of the thirty-six delegates. Dewey attributed Stassen's strong showing to the aggressive campaign the former Minnesota governor waged and regretted that his Albany duties prevented him from campaigning more intensively.

Lewis Indicted

On top of the governments contempt of court action against John L. Lewis and his UMW came an accusation, filed with NLRB, from southern coal producers that he has broken the Taft-Hartley Labor Law by refusing to recognize their association.

In Washington, government labor experts speculated on the chance that the striking coal miners might be called back to work in an effort to forestall the contempt of court action. He would face the prospect of a stiff fine and a possible jail sentence if the charges are pressed. He will go on trial, Judge T. Alan Goldsborough said, unless he can give satisfactory explanation at a hearing to be held Monday.

In Atlanta, a thoroughly rattled school bus driver detoured to police headquarters after a firecracker exploded under his seat. "It has been going on for along time and getting worse. Air has been let out of the tires and windows have been kicked out. I'm fed up with it," he exclaimed to detectives, who took the name and addres of each student aboard the bus; all boys between 13 and 19 years old. (When they finally arrived at school, the students were marched into the principal's office for a lecture.)

Dr. And Mrs. Lloyd Attend Banquet In Philadelphia

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd are planning to attend the annual banquet of the Atlantic Highlanders which is to be held on April 16, in Philadelphia. The Atlantic Highlanders is an organization of Maryville College Alumni in the Washington-Philadelphia-New York area, with William Fahnestock, who lives near Harrisburg Pennsylvania, as its present president.

650 invitations to the banquet have been sent from the Alumni ofifce, but there is no estimation concerning the number of persons who plan to attend.

Minstrel Features Negro Music, Jokes Good Indoor Sport

Blackface song, dance, and patter in a real, old-fashioned Minstrel Show was a high point in the WSSF campaign last Saturday night in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Roger Cowan, interlocutor, opened the show with "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee" to the accompaniment of the darky chorus. Footsie Housch as the old washwoman, sang "Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Mine." Following was "Sweet Kentucky Babe," sung by the quartette—Dick Ribble, John Morrison, Bill Houdeshel, and Sam Broyles.

In red-checked gingham and scores of pigtails, Lois Doebler had the pennies ringing onto the stage wtih her tap dance, "Dark Town Strutter's Ball." To show that he was just as good as that "Black Gal," Jim Lillard soft shoed to "Swanee." A third style of dancing—the jitterbug, was done in true exhibition style by Jackie Linderman and Andy Clark.

Oh My Aching Sides

The Mills brothers— Cotton Easter, Fred Kluth, Alan Rock, and Bob Neff—brought cheers and yells for encore with their "Oh My Achin' Heart" and "The Gospel Boogie."

Jim Frost sang "Old Man River", leaning on a stick in his tattered work clothes. Willis Sanderson played "St. Louis Blues" on the piano back stage. Three other solos were Sam Broyles' "Mighty lak' a Rose," Bill Diehl and his guitar singing "Shortin' Bread," and Mel Gaughan's "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair."

Chorus Numbers and Finale

The blackface chorus sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" with Mary Holly Webb soloing. Mr. Harry Harter sang "Beautiful Dreamer," background by chorus. The Finale was the national anthem, "Dixie," sung by the entire cast.

Nurse Training May Be Inaugurated At MC Soon

Plans for offering a nursing course this fall are being worked out between the Blount Memorial Hospital and Maryville College. Biology, chemistry, and other courses will be given by the college. While taking these courses, a student will be getting practical training by working at the hospital. During this training period, lectures will be given by the Blount County Medical Association.

Rev. George Brown Speaks At Vespers

The Reverend Mr. George E. Brown will speak at the Vesper service tomorrow night. Mr. Brown, the husband of Mrs. Bonnie Hudson Brown, professor of biology, is pastor of the Spring Place and Washington churches. He is a graduate of Maryville College and McCormick Seminary. Blind since young manhood, he is a familiar sight about campus with his seeing-eye dog.

The Vesper Choir will sing "O Lord Our God, We Humbly Pray," by William Diehl and "O God Our Great Jehovah," by Charles Huffman.

Mary Edna Smith Goes To China As Fred Hope Missionary From M. C.

Mary Edna Smith of the Class of 1948 has been approved as Maryville College's representative under the Fred Hope Fund to the foreign mission field in China for the next two years. Approval was officially completed by the Fred Hope Fund Board of Maryville College on April 7. Miss Smith is a Sociology major from Pennsylvania. She has worked in the parish project for four years.

Miss Smith applied to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in New York some months ago for appointment as a short term missionary to China. The exact place of her work has not yet been assigned but it is expected she will become a teacher in one of the schools in China where the English language can be used.

Board Recently Organized

The Fred Hope Fund Board at Maryville College was recently created by action of the Executive Council of the Faculty for the purpose of administering the Fund. It is a joint faculty-student board consisting of the Presidents of the YWCA, the YMCA, the Student Volunteers, and the Student Council, and the six Officers of Administration of the College. The new plan of sending a Maryville College representative abroad requires a minimum of $1500 a year.

Japanese Prints Shown In Library, Museum

An exhibition of original Japanese block prints loaned by the Robert-Lee Gallery is on display in Lamar Memorial Library and in the Museum.

The prints are multiple color wood cuts, done in the style of earlier Japanese masters. Especially notable are those done in the manner of Utamaro, Hokusai and Hiroshige, masters of the early 19th century.

All prints are for sale handled by the Art Club which receives a 25% commission. The display will be up until April 15.

Experimental Theater Presenting "Antigone"

A radio version of the ancient Greek tragedy Antigone by Sophocles will be presented in Bartlett next Saturday, April 17, at 8:00 p. m. The following Monday the play is to be restaged for a women's club in Knoxville.

Directed by Marion Pope with assistance of Footsie Housch, it is to be presented in the ancient Greek style. There will be only a suggestion of a chorus, three voices, and a minimum of scenery. Little or no action will accompany the dialogue, all of it being explained or implied.

Tom Eckert is to carry the role of Creon, Mary "Mitch" Wooldridge, Antogone, and Haemon, Ben Gearhart. Ismene will be played by Janice Landstrome, Eurydice by Margie Newland and Teiresias by Ray Holsey. Bob Holley will be the guard, and Herb McCallum the "man". The chorus will be Suzane Parker, Tish Ploughman and Iris Coe.

WSSF FUND REACHES $400

About four hundred dollars cash has been given to the World Student Service Fund. The goal which was set for Maryville College was ten hundred dollars.

The World Student Service Fund, which is the way students help other students in need, has as its purpose the three R's for peace—Relief, Rehabilitation, and Reconstruction. It has given scholarships to 1344 Chinese students, and has sent $198,860 worth of books to Europe and Asia.

In all, the World Student Service Fund has distributed $1,822,960 from American students to students in war-devastated areas.

Mrs. Walker Celebrated 96th Birthday Friday

Mrs. John Walker celebrated her 96th birthday at "Morningside" in the college woods yesterday, April 9. The Vesper choir were among her guests in the evening at which time they sang several numbers for her.

Mrs. Walker came to Maryville from Pittsburgh in 1932. She has done many things to improve the campus including the donation of the Walker Gates on the corduroy and many flowers and shrubs. She also contributed to the construction of the Court Street steps.

SQUARE DANCE HELD IN GYM TONIGHT

An all-campus square dance has been planned for tonight at 8:00 p. m. in the Alumni Gymnasium. Cecil Griffitts and his "Hillbillies," will provide the music.

Athenian-Bainonian 'Merchant of Venice' Committees Chosen

Chairmen of committees for "The Merchant of Venice" have been selected by Bill Nish, house manager and Bob Watkins, stage manager. Katherine Carpenter will head the publicity committee; Elsie Onifer, the ticket committee; Becky Maddux, the house committee; and Tom Wheeler, the program committee. Assisting the stage manager are Mildred Miller, chairman of the costume committee; Bud Engle, head of the lighting committee; Marjorie Prall, make-up; Ruth Heaps, hand properties; and Beverly Muetzel, stage properties.

Jean Almy is directing the designing of the sets. These sets will resemble those used in Shakespeare's day due to the fact that the crew will not have access to the auditorium until the day of the play.

Miss Jessie Wild, assistant professor of drama and speech, will direct the play, being assisted by Ruth Ellen Crews. "The Merchant of Venice" is sponsored by the Bainonian and Athenian Societies and will be given in the Maryville High School Auditorium on May 15 and 17.

Student Quartet On WGAP Sundays

On the first Sunday of this semester, several MC students formed a quartet called the King's Messengers. Since then, Earl Martin, Bill Willingham, Max Willocks, Bob Kribbs, and their accompanist, Dick Ribble, have had many opportunities, as they put it, to "witness with music."

The group was organized during an evening Singspiration meeting at First Baptist Church and has sung in that church several times. ther local churches, the Tuesday night Gospel Fellowship group, and a meeting at the nearby Country Parson's Lighthouse have also heard their gospel songs and hymns.

Recently, Allen's Electric of Alcoa decided to change its radio sponsorship to a "live" program and now sponsors the Messengers over WGAP. The broadcast time is Sunday morning at 8:45. Each week, according to a member of the group, they select some theme and present a devotional by appropriate songs and a Verse for the Week. On Easter, for example, Resurrection was the theme used.

Debaters Win Second Place Honors; Men, Women Score Triumphs In Meet

Competing in a field with forty-six other teams from eleven states, the Maryville debate squad returned Thursday morning bearing second place laurels in both men's and women's divisions. It was the Southern Speech Association Tournament, probably the biggest forensic event in the south, a two-day tourney held this year at David Lipscomb College in Nashville.

John Poland and Scott McClure were entered in the men's division, coming to a five place tie with Southern Methodist, Wake Forest, Texas Christian, and Southwestern State College, all of whom won five and lost one. Texas Christian was the only one of these whom Maryville debated, receiving from Maryville its sole defeat. The University of Alabama and the University of Florida took first place with six wins and two losses, neither of whom Maryville debated. The teams defeated by Maryville were: Mississippi State, University of Mississippi, Texas Christian (whose team won last years national championship at West Point), S. E. Oklahoma, and Duke.

BLACK, POLAND, COWAN, BORING, FORM CABINET

Ballots were cast this week for WSGA house chairmen, YWCA officers, and the all-student body officers as election season shifted into high. Thursday morning extended class meetings were held for nomination of the balance of the officers, class presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries, and treasurers, men and women student council members, and, for the Sophomore Class, the editor and business manager of next year's Chilhowean.

Among the all-campus officers elected last Wednesday, Jim Black became president of the student body and of the Council, John Poland vice president, Roger Cowan social chairman, and Bob Boring president of the Athletic Association

Sketches Given

Jim Black, president of the student body, is a rising senior from Baltimore, Md. During this last year he has headed the YMCA, and in his sophomore year was president of Athenian and president of the Sophomore Class. Well-known for his dramatic ability he has played stellar rols in "Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Dear Ruth," "Pygma-Who Came to Dinner," "Pygmalion," and, soon to come, Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." A major in biology and an honor roll student last year, he plans to enter the ministry as a profession.

John Poland, elected vice president of the student body, is a political science major from Beverly Shores, Ind. A high honor roll student his sophomore and junior years, he has been a member of Council during this past year and his freshman year. He has been manager of the Chatterbox, is on the YMCA cabinet, and is a member of the debate team. Although his plans as to vocation are indefinite, he tentatively expects to go to law school after graduation.

Roger Cowan, who will be coordinator of all the campus social life in the newly created Council office of Social chairman, is a political science major from Woodbury Heights, N. J. He has been a member of the YMCA cabinet, vice-president of the sophomore class, vice-president of Athenian and a member of the Student Vols cabinet. Also well-known for his ability from his parts in "Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Dear Ruth," and the pending "Merchant of Venice," he plans to make a career of dramatics. Cowan is a member of the present sophomore class.

Bob Boring, who will head the Athletic Board of Control during the coming year, is a physical education major from Friendsville, Tenn. He has been a member of the board during the past year. A talented athlete, he is a three letter man in baseball, basketball and football, and plans to go into coaching for a career. A member of the present sophomore class, his name appeared on the honor roll for last semester.

WSGA Chairmen Reviewed

For the WSGA only the chairmen were elected this week Barbara Eggleston for Pearsons, Betty Rock for Baldwin, and Brooks Maddux for Memorial.

Barbara Eggleston, a consistent honor roll student and English major from Marinette, Wis., plans to enter personnel work on graduation. She has been a secretary of the ABC. Nu Gamma chairman, a member of the Girls' Choir, "M" Club, and Writer's Workshop, and a Bainonian.

Betty Rock, chairman of Baldwin, is a pre-med major from Ontario, Oregon, with plans to enter a nursing career. She is at present a second alto in the Vesper Choir.

Brooks Maddux, chairman of Memorial, is a home economics major from West Memphis, Ark., and is thinking of teaching. Among her many achievements in high school, she was editor of her high school annual, treasurer of her Junior and Senior Classes, and recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award.

YW Officers Biographed

Of the YWCA officers elected this week, Margaret Rock became president; Hedy Nabholz, vice president; secretary, Dot Holverson, and Nu Gamma chairman, Martha McClure.

Margaret Rock, member of "M" Club, YW cabinet and Girls' Choir, is an English major from Ontario, Oregon, with plans to be a teacher. She has been an honor roll student for two years, and is a member of the Daisy Chain for the coming May Day festival.

Hedy Nabholz, who has been publicity chairman for YW, president of German Club, and Pearson vice-house chairman, is an English major from University Park, Md., and expects to do D.R. E. work upon graduation. A member of Writers' Workship, Daisy Chain for '48, and Girls' Choir, she appeared on the honor roll her freshman year.

Dot Holverson, secretary of Y W, a rising junior from Monticello, Ind., is an English major working under Dr. Griffitts in the book store. She was elected to Theta Alpha Phi, dramatic fraternity, is a member of French Club, secretary of Baldwin, and last semester appeared on the honor roll.

Peggy Cummings, daughter of Mrs. John Cummings, professor of Religion, is a native of Maryville. A rising junior, she is an English major with plans to teach after graduation. She has been an honor roll student her freshmen and sophomore years, was treasurer of her freshmen class, Nu Gamma leader, and a member of this year's debate team.

Martha McClure, chairman of Nu Gamma, is a rising junior from Lebanon, Ohio, majoring in home economics and planning to be a teacher. She is a Nu Gamma leader, works in the bookstore, is vice house chairman of Memorial, Student Council representative, and secretary of Bainonian, as well as a member of the French Club.

Let judgment run down as waters; and righteousness as a mighty stream.—Amos 5:34.

Freedom Of, Not From Religion Was Intended

The Supreme Court of the United States has recently decided that the teaching of religion in public schools is illegal. This action upheld the complaint of a woman atheist against the "embarrassment" caused to her son because she refused to allow him to attend religious training classes, which were optional. The case in point involved a system wherein Protestants, Catholics and Jews were equally free to conduct the training. Thus runs the Supreme Court's interpretation of religious freedom.

The margins and implcations of this decision remain to be seen. There is an old axiom that says you can't oppose something with nothing. Atheism must be a sort of religion, then, for it involves belief in disbelief. Atheism and anti-Christian teaching have not been halted.

But there is a more dangerous element present in the Court's action. A nation wohse authorities can dictate what a student cannot study is one step removed from dictating what the student can study. When this happens, totalitarianism soon results. Political freedom is guaranteed in our Constitution, too. The reasoning which prompted the Supreme Court to outlaw religious teaching would eliminate most of our American History courses, because they are highly partial to the democratic form of government.

Perhaps the worst single aspect of the court decision is the spiritual issue. The annals of history are crammed with epitaphs to nations which fell because of moral decay. And there is a direct ratio between the lack of religious training and the increase of juvenile crime, which constitutes one of our greatest national problems. Viewed from this angle, the Supreme Court might well be guilty of high treason in contributing to the internal collapse of our nation at a time when our people are faced with the threat of war from without.

When we consider the various other groups and functions allowed to operate unquestioned in our public schools, the contortion of the Supreme Court in bending over backward to come up with such an outrageous judgment against religion is fully apparent. Fortunately, Rep. Hobbs, of Alabama, has recognized the values involved and has proposed a resolution to our Congress for repeal of the 14th Amendment, which has been so badly abused by our highest Court. Let us support this proposal for repeal by writing to our congressmen or to Rep. Hobbs in its behalf. We believe, as do the great majority of laymen, that the purpose of this amendment was to prevent the unfair domination or persecution of any group or sect by any other group or sect. This purpose should be reaffirmed in terms so simple that even the Supreme Court cannot misinterpret it.

Seniors will return to a normal state after next Thursday. Those wild eyes, mumblings, noses unaccustomedly entombed in books and old class notes, signs on doors and hibernation, nightly light cuts, restricted social life, will all be behind them in just five more days. Wonder what it's like to take an eight-hour exam?. . . . juniors are the only ones with unscheduled Wednesday and Thursday p.m.'s . . . . every year some of the sophs try to study for co-ops. . . . .freshmen will finish their orientation and feel qualified to handle next year's newcomers. . . . .

TALK OF THE WEEK BY DON REEVES

Joes Lead Jills In Half Million Letters Handled By Post Office

BY HAZEL HOLM

Someday when the mail delivery goes past your door, don't blame Doc Griffitts and his gang of nine student helpers, because they've taken care of enough mail that day to make up for your shortage several times.

In every mail at least 400 letters are delivered to all the dorms, and more than that are picked up. Last year from October to March, 375,000 out-going letters were mailed but only 240,000 came in. A total of 750,000 letters and papers was handled during the year.

Doc Griffitts observed that the Carnegie boys received more mail in proportion than any of the other dorms. Maybe it's 'cause the girls back home are better letter writers than the boys. During the war there was the unusual case of a Baldwin girl who received 22 letters in one day from the same boy.

It is a large enterprise to deliver letters to each room twice a day, especially when this delivery is at college expense. The government sees to it that the mail gets to the front door only. From there to the rooms, the mail becomes the college's responsibility. All the time taken to sort and deliver is extra.

Each letter sent from the College post office is stamped by them, "Maryville College Station."

Then it is routed to the various cities and states. There must be at least five letters going to one particular city before the mail will be sent directly. Otherwise it is just put with the other mail going in that particular direction, thus taking that much longer. We don't suggest, however, that you send five letters home at once just to see that they arrive that much faster!

Doc Griffitts says you have a better chance of getting mail in the morning than in the afternoon, and on Tuesday afternoon you might as well give up hope, for very little mail comes in then, due to the Sunday layover.

ART CLUB

Jack Reid will lead the Art Club program with games to test members' knowledge of the old masters at the meeting Monday night, April 11. It will be held in Anderson Hall, Room 23, at 6:45.

YM-YW Get Together In Annual Retreat Friday

YM-YW old and new cabinet members will leave Friday afternoon for the annual "Y" retreat. The retreat will be held at Miller's Cove.

The purpose of the retreat is to plan for the program of the coming year and to report on the work of the present year. Two speakers are expected to speak at the retreat. One of the speakers will be the Rev. Earl Crawford, assistant pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville. and the other is to be a Negro pastor.

The cabinet members will return Saturday night.

Lucky Number Quiz Show Held By I. R. C.

Monday, April 19, is Quiz Show night at I.R.C. The biggest prize of the night will be given to the winner of the Lucky Number Contest. Anyone can enter. Just figure out the Lucky Number, as explained below put it, with your calculations, on a piece of paper, add your name, and drop the paper in a box to be provided in Pearsons Lobby April 16-19. There's no trick involved. In case of a tie, the neatest entry will be the winner.

Here are the rules:

1. Take the minimum number of total armed forces necessary for the U. S., as stated by Forrestal. (Time, April 5, 1948) Divide it by the number of nations which met in Paris, March 19. (Nation, March 27, 1948).

2. Divide this number by the date of the month of Italy's elections. (Nation, April 3, 1948)

3. From the result subtract the number of combat planes now owned by the U. S. (Life, March 29, 1948).

4. The difference is then divided by the number of states in the U. S.

5. For the lucky number divide that result by the number of years in a presidential term.

In the divison, any remainder equaling half or more of the divisor shall be counted as one.

GOOD LUCK.

YWCA

The Maryville High School choir will give a program of musical numbers at the YWCA meeting tomorrow afternoon. A double octet will present three numbers. There will also be a clarinet quartet.

Valerie Dunn and George Howell will be the soloists, Howell's selection being "The Lord's Prayer."

The meeting will be held in the YW roms at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon.

● UP TO THIS WRITING the baseball squad has been wavering in playing perfection. The first opposition, the local independents who go under the vague name of Hitch's All-stars, was a practice game in which the home team was on their toes, while the opposing nine showed especially bad fielding and poor hitting at bat.

● MARYVILLE'S baseball score-book is sprinkled with quite a number of large K's—signifing strike-outs among the local nine. Some of these K's can be explained by the fact that in the two practice games with the local independent club, the Scots have faced semi-pro pitchers. Some fans believe the Highlander nine won't be up against many pitchers with as much finesse in the rest of the season.

● HIWASSEE'S EFFORTS to beat the rain and secure a win with two runs almost succeeded last Tuesday. The Hiwassee Club, much improved with a new pitcher on the mound, made it look bad for the Scots until the fourth inning went by. Hiwassee's improvement, other than a pitcher, might be attributed to Coach Al Thomas, the new coach at Madisonville. 'Big Al' as he was known in his playing days, was an assistant Coach here at M.C. in 1940. He went to the Rose Bowl with the U. T. Vols in '39.

● FOOTBALL FINISHES—It took a drenching rain to liven things up on Wilson Field Tuesday afternoon and some fast feudin' took place before the Garnets upset the Orange aggregation. The victory, according to most observers, was a definite upset because the Garnet side was made up of almost all new material and remnant reserves which were both lighter and less experienced than the Orange group.

If spring practice did anything, it put confidence in the line material, while proving an excellent place to perfect backfield candidates. Among the new backs uncovered in spring practice were: the speed and power of Don Reeves; George Stanfield's endurance and capabilities; and the quarterbacking of Alan Marsh alternating with Tubby Callaway spurred the 'Red' victory.

● IF TWELVE MEN can make a track team, that's what Coach Davis hopes to do with the dozen men that were on the scene Wednesday as relay work was intensified in preparation for next Saturday's events at Milligan. Just who can run what will take another week to decide, but 'oldtimer' George Gillette and long-legged Alan Kiger are pacing the distance men; lettermen Kay, Proffitt, Robarts and Lambert are tuning up for the relays; and English, Mabry, Mulford, Thurston, Kidder, and Rahn are all in there running.

● DEPARTMENT OF CHEERFUL CORRECTION: Last week, we inadvertently and unadvisedly printed Maryville's record with Hiwassee in baseball last year as 3 losses and 1 win for the Tigers. This should have been, we cheerfully correct, 4 loses—no wins. (That reminds us of the wit who said: "in a small college, most readers know the news, but read the paper to see if the editor gets it printed accurately!")

Chillies, Howees Even Up In Softball Series

Thursday's game put the Chillies and the Howees on an equal standing in their softball tournament with the Howees winning the first game by 11 to 1 and the Chillies scoring an 8 to 5 win over the Howees in the second game which was played Thursday, March 25.

Howee positions are Heaps—pitcher, Faye Robinson—catcher, Siebold—first base, Merriwether second base, Davenport third base. Lindsay—short stop, Althouse—right field, McNeill—left field, and Rodgers—right field.

Scottie Netmen Bow To Moccasin Squad 5-4

Chattanooga's Moccasin Racketmen split the six singles with the Scottie Tennis team yesterday on Memorial courts and won the match, 5-4, by capturing two of the three doubles events.

The Mocs took the first three singles and dropped the final three to tie the count at the beginning of the doubles contest.

With the number one doubles game won by Chattanooga and the number three by Maryville, the tie was decided in favor of the Mocs as a doubles combination of Ward Crutchfield and Charles Kelley downed Maryville's team of Anderson and Waggoner, 6-2, 7-5.

Today the Scottie net squad travelled to Athens, Tennessee, to play a postponed match with Tennessee Wesleyan College. The Match was scheduled for April 7, but was rained out.

—Next Tuesday Coach Kenneth P. Johnson takes his Highlander Racketeers to Johnson City for a match with East Tennessee State, providing the weather is favorable. Next home tennis tilt is slated for April 20 with Tusculum College.

In the number one single pairing(Chattanooga's Vernon Kelly superbly swung his way to a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Bill Dinges, current top man on the Scottie net squad.

Bill Lawerence took a 6-3 margin in the first set with the number two man of the Moc squad, Ward Crutchfield. But Ward's consistency shut Lawerence out 6-0 in the second set and took the last go, 6-3.

Charles Kelley, brother of Vernon, overcame Wesley Miles, 6-1, 6-3, in the third place event.

Freddy Waggoner, Scot Freshman netman, took two love sets from Henry McDaniel, 6-0, 6-0. Waggoner kept McDaniel behind all the way and never allowed him to get more than one add in the score.

Chesley Anderson smashed his way to a 6-2, 7-5 count over Bill Flowers in the fifth singles matching.

Bill Uthlaut's steady work gave him a 6-0, 6-3 win over Glen Miller in the final singles pairing.

In the number one doubles game, Vernon Kelley and Bill Flowers paired up to defeat Maryville's combination of Uthlaut and Lawrence with 6-3 and 6-8 scores.

Anderson and Waggoner fell to Crutchfield and C. Kelley in the second doubles game 6-2, 7-5, and Wesley Miles with Bill Dinges whalloped Henry McDaniel and Glen Miller 6-1, 6-1 in the number three doubles pairing.

The netman from the city of the big bend arrived just a trifle late on the scene for the match because of the difference in time zones. Their number one man, Vernon Kelly, has been a mid-south champion for three years of tennis play. He is a senior at the bend, but has a brother, Charles, coming along to fill his shoes.

Garnets Win, 12-7 In Football Clash

The Garnet Squad defeated the Orange side 12-7 in the climaxing game to end spring practice on Tuesday afternoon before scattered rain-soaked by-standers.

The Orange team, captained by Fred Kluth and coached by Cotton Easter, first broke into the score column with Don Reeves driving over the goal from the 2 yard line. Andes kicked the extra point to complete the Orange scoring.

Captain D. M. Miller first scored for the Garnets on a pass from Marsh. The attempt for the extra point was no good. The half ended with the score 7-6 as the teams retired to the sidelines for briefing.

In the final quarter the Garnets scored again as Callaway went around left end and 45 yards for the tally. The extra point was blocked and the end of scrimmage found the Garnets, coached by Ken Talbott, in jubilant spirits despite a crashing rainstorm.

WESTERN N. CAROLINA HERE FOR TWO GAMES

MARYVILLE NINE VISITS HIWASSEE; PLAYS TENNESSEE TECH HERE NEXT WEEK

BY KEN OLSEN

Western North Carolina State Teachers College will pay a visit to the Highland diamond today for a double-header, providing the rain doesn't beat them to it. Tuesday the Scots pack bag and baggage off to Madisonville to meet Hiwassee College again, playing off that 2-2 tie from last week. On Friday Honaker's men will return to play Tennessee Tech here.

Carolina promises the first real competition for the Scots, if last year is any judge—they split a double-header with us at the end of the '47 season at Culhowee. Maryville won the first of the two, 11-7, and then the Catamounts won the second, 5-4. Now, with about the same number of experienced men returning, they have a good chance to beat the home team.

Hiwassee will be gunning for Maryville next Tuesday when the Scots make a trip there for the second game with them this season. The first encounter ended in a 2-2 draw last week when the "rains came." Now with the advantage of playing on their home diamond, beside the fast-ball expert, Mitchem, they have their best chance to take Maryville.

Tennessee Tech appears to be the biggest threat to the Highlanders this week, perhaps this season.

Power seems to be the big thing in batting this year—at least for the Highland Clan. Bob Boring set the pace when he hit his first four-bagger the first time at bat against Hitch's. Hugh Hamil, Woody Thomas, and Gene Reynolds followed in his wake, hitting doubles galore. Although hits were frequent against the local teams, they slowed down when the Scots met Hiwassee's fast-ball pitcher. And he isn't the best they will meet by a long shot. Power is the word for batting now, efficiency is next.

Errors are the main trouble for the infield so far. The infielders made four in six innings against Hiwassee as compared with two by Hiwassee, and both the visitor's runs were made on errors.

Not much has been seen of much of the real pitching talent yet, the competition has been too slow. "Red" Fowler, Ray Lillard, Joe Jernigan, and Ross Honaker have mounted the mound. Still on the bench are rookies Rowley, Yeaworth, and Campbell and the old standby, Leon Berrong, who will no doubt see action against TPI and Teachers.

TRACK MEET A WEEK AWAY

SCOT THIN-CLADS JOURNEY TO MILLIGAN FOR RELAYS

Maryville's trackmen, now under the reins of Coach "J.D." Davis, are grooming for Milligan Relays, which are to be held in Johnson City next Saturday, April 17.

Work in passing of the baton, and preparing for time trials were the principle fare as Coach Davis turned his attention to track after the end of spring football.

Coach Davis announced that Maryville would enter the following events next Saturday:

440 Yard Relay (four men each running 110 yards)

880 Yard Relay (four men each running 220 yards)

1 Mile Relay (four men ach running 440 yards)

Sprint Medley Relay (four men: 1st running 110 yards; 2nd. and 3rd. 220 yards; and 4th 110 yards)

Distance Medley Relay (four men running 220—440—880 one mile in that order)

Officials of the meet announced that team cups will be awarded winners of all relay events. In addition, members of the first, second and third place teams in all relay events will receive individual medals.

Hiwassee-M.C. Rained Out Tues.

TEAMS TIED 2-2 WHEN DOWNPOUR HITS IN SIXTH

Rain and Hiwassee's hurler, Mitchem, threw what might have developed into the proverbial monkey wrench, a 2-2 tie, into the efficiency of Honaker's nine when the two opened here last Tuesday for six innings before the game was called off by rain. Mitchem hurled seven strike outs, allowing three walks and four hits. Lillard, the starting Scot pitcher, alowed two hits and one walk. The tie will be decided in the next game next Tuesday at Madisonville.

On hitting, the Highlanders shone—three doubles and a single. Both the Scot runs were earned. The Hiwassee men were weak in hitting, making only two singles and scoring their two runs on errors.

INTRAMURALS

BY DUNCAN BENNETT

Weather has given the Intramural Softball League a bad time this week, with the rain causing postponement of more than half of the games. Postponed games are to be played off at a later date under more favorable conditions.

Coach Johnson reminds team managers this week that only twelve men may play on any one softball squad. All teams will be limited to twelve men who must be signed up on the intramural team rosters in Bartlett.

Crescents Beat Wizards, 9-6

The Crescents took over the Wizards in a 9-6 game Wednesday afternoon on the golf course. Errors were many, although the pitching was efficient for both teams.

Tea Roomers Fly At Sound of Bell

Bells ringing, books flying, and people running—such is the scene each week day at 12:30 o'clock on Maryville College campus. Most of the mad rush is composed of students dashing into Pearsons Hall, but not far behind some of the faculty members can be seen walking briskly towards Fayerweather. After climbing three flights of stairs, the members of the faculty heartily welcome the food waiting for them in the Tea Room.

Offered By Home Ec Dept.

The Tea Room is a course offered by the Home Economics Department in which students learn by doing. The menu, the preparing and the cooking of all meals, the fixing of the room, and everything down to the washing of dishes is done by the students.

These duties are divided among the group and each one changes jobs once a week. The manager has to plan a well balanced menu remembering always to keep it within the budget. The server and the cashier, the latter keeping records of the bills and collecting the money, also have plenty of work to keep them busy. In addition to these duties each one has to spend one week in Pearsons watching every meal, how it is prepared and served.

When the Tea Room was first started, town students and faculty ate there. The crowd grew so big that now accommodations can only be made for members of the college faculty and staff and their guests.

The first semester is run like a regular tea room. Cafteria style is used the second semester so that the students can learn the different methods of operation. Both semesters of the course are required for a dietician major and at least one recommended to all Home Economic majors.

One of the most serviceable and practicable things at work on the campus is the Tea Room. It is a process of learning and eating.

Facts and Rules From Other Schools

Berea College in Kentucky features a movie each Saturday which is shown in their Phelps-Stokes Chapel.

Duke University has removed all restrictions from drinking for women, and extended the Honor Code governing behavior in public places to cover these situations.

Florida State University rules that women coming back to the school after a week-end away, cannot enter the dormitory between 11:00 p. m. and 7:00 a. m. Students attending Wheaton College cannot attend a movie at any time.

Do You Know? . . .

In 1940 two girls were among the college students taking their first solo flights during a ground aviation class course.

In 1940 the Student Council was working on things such as getting a bubbler fountain installed in Fayerweather and planning a school party to be held in the mountains some Saturday.

Seniors, Sophs Fret; Juniors And Frosh Frolic

This year's Comprehensives, more fondly known as "comps," mark two important firsts. For the first time students have been allowed to use the Graduate Record Examination as an equivalent, and thus exempt themselves from taking Comprehensives. And for the first time failure of the Comprehensive Exam will bar a student from graduation although the exam may be repeated one year later.

Although it was at first thought that the Medical Aptitude exam would also stand as an equivalent, it was found that test scores could not be obtained. The second change came about, according to Dr. Hunter, Dean of Curriculum, because of the obvious devaluation of an examination which, though professedly the summing up of the college career, would not bar a student from graduation if failed.

The grading system will be the same employed in the past, each half grade above C adding twenty grade points, each half grade below subtracting twenty grade points.

While the seniors are taking their Comprehensives, and the freshmen and juniors are gamboling on the grass enjoying a half holiday, the sophomores will be clamped to their desks taking current affairs and achievement tests those two afternoons. These will be used to compare the sophomore class as a whole and as individuals with sophomores throughout the nation.

Lancaster-Grubbs United In N.C. Marriage Rites

Miss Alma Lancaster, '47, became the bride of Merrill Grubbs, '48, in a formal church wedding, Saturday, April 3, at the First Presbyterian Church in Hendersonville, N. C.

Following the wedding reception, the couple left for a honeymoon in Massachusetts. On return they will live in Erie, Pennsylvania, where Mr. Grubbs is employed by the General Electric Company.

Miss Lancaster was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1947, a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, the YWCA cabinet, Band Sponsor, Junior class sponsor, Barnwarming Sponsor and a member of Writers' Workshop.

Mr. Grubbs was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1948, a member of the Student Council for two years, and the Vesper Choir for four years.

Those attending from Maryville were Ray Holsey, June Holsey, Earl Martin, Tom Wheeler, Peggy Howell, David Grubbs, Marjorie Prall, Eleanor Hawley, Virginia McArthur, Ruby Jean Harris, and Margaret Weaver.

Those attending who were members of the class of '47 were Fred Wilson, Ruth King Wood, Mary Ruth Barber, and Ruth Kaye.

DEBATE TEAM WINS AT TOURNAMENT

The Maryville varsity debate team won nine out of twelve rouunds of debate in the Southern Speech Association Tournament. Those who debated were Scott McClure, John Poland, Katie Carpenter, Ann Cook, and Peggy Cummings. The tournament was held on April 6 and 7 at David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tennessee.

Seventy-six teams competed representing about eleven states. Maryville boys won five out of six rounds; the girls won four out of six rounds.

House Phones Installed In Pearsons By College

Pearsons' now has an intra-floor telephone system. It was installed as an experiment by the college to aid the matrons in locating girls for phone calls.

The debaters next week head toward Columbia, S. C., for the Pi Kappa Delta regional tourney. Maryville will be represented by McClure and Poland for the men, and Carpenter and Cook for the women.

WRITER'S WORKSHOP

Marian Pope and Miss Elizabeth Jackson read at the last meeting of the Writers' Workshop. Miss Pope's composition was an untitled legend on the creation, which Martha Cecil Hull criticized. Miss Jackson's work was an untitled dialect story in five parts. Anna Sakaizawa led the crticism.

GERMAN CLUB

An election of next semester's officers will be held at the German Club meeting next Monday night.

The business meeting, at which there will be a decision about the picnic, will be followed by a brief program. Dick Ebelacker is in charge of the program.

B SQUAD DOWNS NET TEAM OF M.H.S. IN PRACTICE SATURDAY

The B squad (second six men on the tennis ladder) won over Maryville High's netmen Saturday, April 3, in a practice game.

The B squad took all six of the singles matches; lost the only doubles match.

Number one man for the college was Bill Uthlaut, who cut down Joe D. Beals 7-5, 6-3. Knecht beat McCallie 6-4, 7-5. Gage of the B squad went into the third set to conquer Billy Watts 6-4. 3-6, 6-4. Craig Fisher beat Calloway 6-2, 6-5. Andy Clark downed John Anderson 6-1, 6-4, Carl Murray defeated George Queener of M.H.S. 5-7, 6-4, 7-5.

Maryville High's doubles team of Joe D Beals and Stanley McAliley took Bill Dinges and Bill Uthlaut two straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

Recreation Center Opening Postponed Until Next Autumn

Dean Frank D. McClelland announced this week that, although the work is going forth rapidly, the new recreation center will probably not be ready for use before next fall. The building is situated behind the federal gym just off Circle Drive.

The new rec hall will consist of two large rooms, 22'x46', in addition to space for the Chatterbox, a small storeroom and an office for the social chairman. The two large rooms will be thrown together and there is to be a small covered porch with a raised walkway to the street. Wood wainscoating will be used on the inside walls about four feet high and the rest of the walls and ceiling will be of plaster board. Present plans are for the inside walls to be painted ivory and the outside painted white. The Chatterbox will have a separate service entrance in the rear.

The YWCA has set aside $1,000 from their building fund which will be used toward the purchasing of furniture and equipment for the hall.

"The new recreation hall supplemented by the federal gym across the street makes a good social center for all student activities," said Dean McClelland. "It should facilitate an even broader field of Maryville social activities."

The materials for the building came from Camp Forest and Fort Oglethorpe The government is putting it up at no cost to the college except for architect fees and other incidentals. The building is being built because the college is training veterans. It was made possible by the Veterans Educational Division of the Federal Works Agency.

New Officers For YMCA Announced; Installed Tonight

Bill Nish, rising junior from Monterey Park, California, was elected the 1948-1949 president of YMCA in the elections held Tuesday, April 12. Other officers for next year are Ray Holsey, vice president, Dave Campbell, secretary, Henry Callaway, Jr. treasurer and Bill Starr, advisory board.

Nish, president of this year's sophomore class, was a YM cabinet member this year, an honor roll student, and a member of Theta Alpha Phi. He is house manager for the forth-coming production of the "Merchant of Venice" and has served Athenian as both vice president and treasurer.

Vice-president-elect Holsey, philosophy major from Baltimore, Maryland, is a sophomore. President of Pre-Mnisterials this semester, he served as vice president last fall; he is a letterman in football.

Campbell, ministerial student from Mars, Pennsylvania, is a rising senior and an English major. He was secretary this year and

Dr. R. H. Espy Speaks At '48 Commencement

Christian Youth Leader Internationally Known

Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, Executive Secretary of the National Students' Council of the YMCA, will address the graduating class at Commencement, May 19.

Edwin Espy is a graduate of the University of Redlands in Redlands, California and of Union Theological Seminary. In 1933 he was awarded an exchange fellowship to Germany by the Institute of International Education, spending the next three years of post graduate study at the Universities of Munich, Tubingen, and Heidelberg, and in extensive travel throughout Europe for World Student Christian Federation and International Student Service. Thus he gained a thorough knowledge of conditions within and beyond Germany, and personal acquaintance with leaders of Christianity in Europe.

In 1936, he was youth secretary for two of the Ecumenical Christian Movements at Geneva. He was largely responsible for the planning and directing of the World Conference for Christian Youth in Amsterdam just before the outbreak of war.

When war did come, he returned to the United States, and after traveling among colleges and churches, he became General Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. From this post he became Executive Secretary of the National Students' Council of the YMCA.

Y Cabinet Members Assume Offices At Annual Retreat

Campfire Services Conclude Program

Cabinet members for both YM CA and YWCA for 1948-1949 have been announced by presidents-elect Bill Nish and Margaret Rock. These, together with last year's cabinets, are holding Retreat this week-end at Miller's Cove to make plans for next year.

YMCA Cabinet

The YMCA cabinet members are: athletics, Brick Brahams; community, John Briggs; devotions and discussions, Carl Wilson and Herb Parsons; fellowship, Ray Holsey and Jack Buckley; inter-racial and missions, John Baird; "M" book, Harold Hunter and Bill Proffitt; maintenance, Ken Newell; publicity, Dick Sprague and Stuart Saul; radio, Jim Black, worship, Sam Broyles and John Shew; Y store, Ray Saunders.

YWCA Cabinet

YWCA's cabinet will include: athletics, Barbara Bertholf; Barnwarming, Mildred Miller and Buffie Carver; devotions Anna Katherine Knapp, Betty Emory and Marty Kincaid; house committee, Arelene Whiting and Betty Jo Smith; "M" book, Barbara Wallin and Betty Crawford; negro missions, Doris Vinton; Home Avenue, Winnie Schaumberg; music, Juanita Johnson; orphanage, Wanda Onifer; Pi Gamma chairman, Anna Paris; program, Marjorie Prall and Ruth Heaps; publicity, Argyle King; social committee, Vera Lusk and Geneva Robinson; world fellowship, Sara Jo Kiger; Y store, Janice Lindsay.

Retreat Plans

The group left the campus by cars at 4:30 Friday afternoon for Miller's Cove. Following supper, they heard the Rev. Earl Crawford, assistant pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville. This morning the group divided into three sections for discussions on worship and its publicity, social and spiritual fellowship, and community work. The remainder of the day was devoted to individual committee meetings and recreation. The final event of the Retreat will be a campfire installation service for the YM cabinet, at which Rev. Stinnett, pastor of the Shiloh Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, will speak The group will leave for the return trip to the campus at 9:30 this evening.

Plans for the Retreat were made by the Steering Committee composed of retiring presidents Jim Black and Mildred Orr, incoming presidents Bill Nish and Margaret Rock, and two members from the old cabinets, Tom Wheeler and Doris Cook.

Experimental Theater Features "Antigone"

"Antigone," a radio version of the ancient Greek tragedy will be presented tonight with two performances beginning at 7:30 in Bartlett Auditorium. The play will be restaged Monday for a woman's club in Knoxville.

Committee chairmen and committees for the play are Connie Hawkins, stage manager; Joyce Hampton, Sue Althouse, Mimi Leake, Eleanor Miller, costumes; Betty Baumer, Wally Moore, Helen Hair, Wanda Onifer, make up; and Joe Claud, house manager.

The ushers are Lois Lehr, George Ogle, Eunce Billings, and Edwin Pancoast.

The play is under the supervision of Miss Jessie Mae Wild, assistant professor of Dramatic Art.

The Maryville College a Capella Choir, pictured above will leave Tuesday, April 20, for a five day tour in the Southeastern states. They will present concerts in Chattanooga, Birmingham, Montgomery and Atlanta. Photo by F. A. Griffitts

Minstrel Grosses WSSF Over $250

A total of $261 has been earned by the minstrel show for WSSF in two performances, April 3 in the Alumni Gymnasium and April 15 in Maryville High School auditorium.

Ray Holsey singing "Chloe" was the only new act in Thursday night's performance but there were several additions and changes. Roger Cowan and Footsie Housch sang extra numbers,—"California, Here I Come," and "Summertime." Two of the solos with the chorus were changed: Peggy Wakefield did the solo part with "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny"; Sam Broyles, "Beautiful Dreamer."

317 people attended the Maryville High School performance, making a total attendance of 744.

Athletic Board Nominees Chosen

Brick Brahams and Ray Lillard were nominated for vice-president of the Athletic Board of Control at the student body meeting Thursday morning. Nominees for secretary were Alberta Gates and Barbara Bertholf. Three men are to be elected to the board from six nominees including Jim Lillard, Herschell Merriman, Bob Larson, Alan Rock, Arthur Spears and Jim Newman. Nominees for the two remaining student positions on the board are Mae Merriweather, Peggy Sangster, Sally Kemp and Janice Lindsay.

Miss Jessie Heron and Mr. Arthur S. Bushing, both of the English department, Mr. George D. Howell of the chemistry department and Coach Kenneth P. Johnson were nominated from the faculty. Two of them will be elected to fill the faculty positions on the athletic board next Wednesday.

BILL HOLT ELECTED PRESIDENT OF M. C. GERMAN CLUB

Bill Holt, freshman, was elected president of German Club at a meeting last Monday night, April 12. Bob Proffitt and Jim McKee were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The club is planning a picnic to be held at the college woods picnic grounds next Monday, April 19, 5:00-7:30 p. m. The group will meet at Pearsons at 5:45.

YWCA PRESENTS MISSION CHILDREN IN PROGRAM SUNDAY

Children from the Home Avenue Mission, the Negro Mission, and the orphanage will present a program of music and recitations at the YWCA meeting tomorrow afternoon, April 18. Each of these missions is under the direction of a Y cabinet member, Anna Katherine Knapp directing Home Avenue, Marjorie Prall directing the Negro Mission work, and Betty Yeaworth being the one in charge of the orphanage.

The children from Home Avenue will give a choral Bible reading and will sing "Jesus Loves Me" in Chinese. Delores Henry will recite the twenty-fourth Psalm.

Four anthems will be sung by the children from the Negro Mission, and those from the orphanage will sing "Jesus Love Me" in Spanish There will also be served refreshments to the children after the program.

STUDENT VOLS

Student Vols will not meet tomorrow night due to the choir concert.

WHEELER, SHEPARD PLAY IN SYMPHONY

The Knoxville Symphony Orchestra is presenting a series of five subscription concerts in its 1947-48 season. This semi-professional orchestra, composed of 85 members, is an outstanding example of the Civic Orchestra Movement over the United States.

David Van Vactor, director of the orchsetra, who was with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra for 15 years, is now head of the music department at the University of Tennessee.

Among the 85 orchestra members are Tom Wheeler, who plays first oboe, and Paul Shepard, who plays viola. Both of these are students at Maryville.

Although the concerts are usually held in the Bijou Theater in Knoxville, a "Pop" concert of popular music will be presented on May 12. in the Alumni Auditorium at the University of Tennessee.

Next season, the orchestra plans to widen its program to 8 subscription concerts, a step along with the ambition of Mr. Van Vactor to bring the organization up to the front lines of amateur orcehstras n the country.

Esthetics Projects Displayed In Thaw 202; Graphs, Pictures Featured

BY BARBARA WALLIN

If you happen to be going by Dr. Hunter's classroom in the next few days, wander in and look around. Or, better still, make a point of going. You will probably find it worth while.

The "it" mentioned is a display of the projects carried out by the forty-six people in Dr. Hunter's esthetics class. Each student selected some work of art and explained what particularly appealed to the observer about it. Everyone worked in a field other than his own major.

The fields represented and the number of persons doing work in each are as follows: architecture—10, painting—10, music drama—4, literature—4, landseape gardening—3, photography—2, sculpture—2, dance—1, church ritual—1.

The first thing which strikes the eye is Becky Walton's display of ballet positions. She used small figures made with pipe cleaners to illustrate the various positions. Next to this is Delmas Watson's model city display. It consists of numerous buildings and other parts of a city made of modeling clay.

Dave Campbell and Harold Hunter did an auditory analysis of symphonies representing intensity or volume change on involved-looking charts. Also along this line but from a different point of view was George Setterfield's abstract representation of Beethoven's Symphony No. 5. In keeping with a symphony, Eleanor Hawley did her work on the symphony orchestra and its participants and their jobs.

Florence Dillener's involved study of Raphael's works also deserves a second glance. Laura Crawford did a study of the opera "Porgy and Bess" and illustrated it with a charcoal drawing of "Catfish Row."

Hadyn White's project was an involved analysis of Roman Catholic Mass. Marian Pope tore Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" apart with her "intellectual tools."

These are just a few examples of the unusual display being held in Room 202, Thaw Hall. Why not stop by and see some more examples of the talents of Maryville College students?

Harter Directs "Four Centuries Of Choral Music"

As a prelude to its five day, four stop tour of southern cities, the Vesper Choir will perform its full concert in the Alumni Gym Sunday evening at 7:00. Already given in Oak Ridge and Loudon and twice in Knoxville, this will be the fifth performance of the full program aptly entitled "Four Centuries of Sacred Choral Music."

Ranging from the polyphonic period of choral song to the present, the program has been arranged with an eye to contrast and diversity. Drawing on the works of composers from the past four hundred years and from eight different nations, the program will dramatically demonstrate the difference in the styles belonging to different periods and nationalities.

Tour Starts Tuesday

Tuesday noon two busses full of choir members will set off for Chattanooga on the first lap of a tour which will take them to Birmingham, Montgomery and Atlanta. Saturday evening they will be back in Maryville ready for yet another concert in Knoxville the following night.

The Second Presbyterian Church will be the site of the Chattanooga concert, the 6th Avenue Presbyterian Church of the Birmingham concert, the Trinity Presbyterian Church of the Montgomery concert, and the Covenant Presbyterian Church of the Atlanta concert. The Presbyterian congregations in each of these cities are financing the tour, and providing beds and meals for the choir members in their overnight stops.

Maryville Alumni, numerous in the territory the tour will cover, have been invited from as far south as northern Florida. They will meet with the choir for a supper immediately prior to the concert.

Mr. Harter Director

Harry H. Harter, under whose direction the choir will appear, last year received his M.Mus. from the University of Nebraska. He did his undergraduate work in San Jose College in California, and achieved recognition there; in radio, primarily in a quartet singing for Rudy Vallee. After his discharge from the army, where he was active organizing and directing choirs, he went to the University of Nebraska for post graduate work. Here he won the Alpha Rho Tau award for choral composition, and a scholarship to study composition under Roy Harris, eminent American composer, at Colorado Springs. Last fall he came to Maryville.

Program Given

The program "Four Centuries of Sacred Choral Music" which the a cappella choir will present is as follows: "Gloria Patri" from the Magnificat, Giovanni P. da Palestrina; "Misericordias Domini" (Double Choir), Francesco Durante; "O Magnum Mysterium," "Tomas Lus de Victoria; "Ave Vtrum," Wolfgang A. Mozart; "God Goes Up On High," Jacobus (Handel) Gallus; "Cherubim Song," Michael I. Glinka; "O Praise Ye God," Peter I. Tschaikowsky; "Salvation is Created," Paul G. Tschennokoff; "Nunc Dimittis," Alexander Gretchaninof; "God's Son Hath Set Me Free," Edvard Grieg; "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star," George Schuman; "Beautiful Savior," F. Melius Christiansen; "Alleluia," Randall Thompson; "Hodie, Christus Natus Est." Healey Willan; "There is a Balm in Gilead," Spiritual; "Entrance Scene" (Advent Motet), Gustav Schreck.

LET'S START NOW FOR NEXT YEAR

Wouldn't you like to line up all the newly elected officers of all the student organizations so that we could look at them, see who they are and what they stand for? We are looking to them for many things. They have accepted responsibilities from us, the voters; responsibilities of building on the foundation laid this year, of keeping things running smoothly and of planning and preparing for future developments in the student life of Maryville. We expect them to remember that as our representatives they are our servants. We expect them to accept as their goals those things which will stand for the common good of all. We expect them to have a zest and enthusiasm for their work.

However, we, the people, also have responsibilities. In asking them to represent us, we have acknowledged our willingness to support them, to cooperate with them and to voice our opinions for them. Even should they like to, they cannot fulfill the duties of their respective offices without this cooperation from us. The success of the things they undertake depends upon the response of the student body. Not by our complacency and non-participation can they attain to the goals we have set for them. We must maintain an interest in student affairs and we must continue to cast our vote in deciding issues as they arise. We must not shirk our responsibilities!

Finally, let us extend a vote of thanks to this year's officers! In reviewing the year we see the reorganization of the student council, designed for better representation; we see the inauguration of men's representation and of senior privileges for women. We see also the time and effort that were spent in planning and revising until workable systems were arrved at. Perhaps less noticeable but just as highly appreciated is the efficient management of elections, of routine meetings and of planning in general for student activities. Our hats are off to you, retiring officers.

—R.R.

GOOD PLANNING RESULTS IN A WELL-BALANCED SCHEDULE

Overwork is a common complaint on the hill this year. We wonder how many people who are perturbed about this have tried to analyze their problem. When a person is rushed for time, there seems to be two causes for the feeling which is all too often released only in verbal expression. First, they may feel that the things they have to do take so much time that they have little time for the things they want to do. Second, they may be dissatisfied with the quality which results from not having time to be more thorough in their work. In either case the necessary adjustment can be made by the indvidual. It is assumed that a person's primary reason for being in college is an academic one, and therefore, that they can justify some time being spent along this line. It remains for the student to work out a balance of activities. Neither end of the scale should be tipped too far. The satisfaction obtained from being able to put more effort into fewer activities will compensate for what seems to be a less glamorous schedule.

—R.R.

TOWN NIGHT INCLUDES CARNIVAL

At its meeting last Wednesday, the Student Council voted to have town night changed from Tuesday night to Monday night. Thursday night was authorized for town night this week, with bounds extended to include the Minstrel show at Maryville High School. Next Monday, town night limits will include the carnival.

In the course of the meeting, it was made clear that there will be a Social Committee composed of YW, YM and Rec Hall Chairmen. This group will govern the new Recreation Center.

A Steering Committee was recommended for the purpose of studying the Student Government Constitution annually, with a view toward revision. It was also suggested that the Pep Committee be placed under the Athletic Board of Control and that athletic contests be given more publicity. Complete reports on these developments will be made at a later meeting.

Much Echo About Nothing

BY DON WHELAN

Those chapel commercials are going again. We've heard about darkroom technique before, tho Carroll Stegall may have something new on the subject. "Anyone interested in photography also come. . . . Many years of cute couplets for culminating quatrain announcements no doubt enabled Dr. Hunter to put a special significance into his voice as he reminded the more amorous that it's seventeen long blocks with your best girl to the Minstrel show. He's more to be pitied than censored, however. After being told to go get drunk (shut up, I know Mosby mentioned it, last week), this week's Advice-to-the-Dean from-Esthetics-'14 seemed to be "Go hang yourself." After seeing his class' projects, he may.

Political breezes wafted thru campus last week. Machine politics were springing up so fast, we had everything Kansas Cty had but the odor—and Fayerweather had that. Following on the heels of Czechoslovakia, there was a Poland coup. John & Joe, of course. . .Whether freshman nominees Charles Williams and Brooksie Maddux were discussing campaign strategy all last week, we don't know. Whatever it was seems to have worked splendidly. . . . Local politics hadn't enough time to develop campaign songs like the national ones: After Nebraska—"Taft for Two, just two for Taft. . . .."; "Ain't Gon' Study Warren No Mo'"; (there've been enough puns on Dewey).

Missed: th' ol' hangin' tree & friends around Alumni. Like some of MC's more timorous coeds, the cedars just couldn't take those noisy storms. Before Hangin' Tree cracked its last, we'd like to see dangling from its ample limbs, not Dr. Hunter, but—

People who complain about holidays and half holidays.

People who can't say Aunty-gone and insist on some Greek-sounding concoction like An-tih-go nee.

People who bother comps-bound seniors.

People who won't vote.

People who swipe things from the Rec Hall.

People.

Baldwinews: No more "Temptation" in the third floor shower since Wanda Onifer has gone home. . . . Pickininny Mary Holly Webb had to bow out of her prominent spot in the darky Minstrel chorus. Reason: the blackface greasepaint made her break out in a rash. (We can always expect rash things from Mary Holly.) . . . . Sue Althouse will no doubt be stuck up for the rest of the semester. It seems she won "a fishing tackle shirt from Proffitt's for writing on 'Why Proffitt's Is The Best Place to Trade in Spite of the ECHO'S Ads' or something like that."

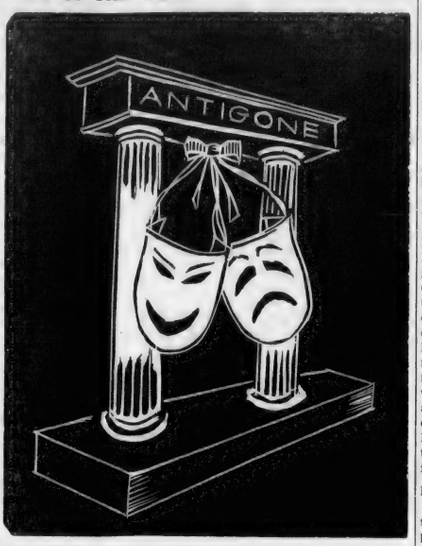
Add Similes: As unhappy as freshmen picnic-planners on their afternoon off Wednesday. Sophs had prayed for rain.

As confused as sophomores wondering what "landau" and "bathos" meant on their co-ops. 'Bathos" may be what Italians take on Saturday nights, but we're not sure about that other thing. . . . . Co-operating with who, anyway?

As vacant as a senior's stare or chapel section on Wednesday and Thursday.

Like plump Mohandas Gandhi—the Antigone chorus trying on bed sheets Remember what happened to the Mahatma and to 'Stormy," girls; you don't want to get thrown in the river.

Some interesting specimens were found by Mrs. Brown's biology class in their latest trek thru the College Woods. Eye to ground, they advanced over the knoll to the Amphitheatre, trying to find out what had sprung up these first few days of spring. Up sprang Bob Holley and Marge Newland, who had, we suspect, been toasting their respective epidermises. What the class saw was a couple of theatrical whizzes whizzing about the stage, apparently engrossed in production problems. At the advent of unwanted kibitzers, the erstwhile Queen of Scots and Judge Mud retired behind a dackdrop's foliage for further consultation.



Last week's misplaced joke on this page surely was deciphered by MC intelligentsia. Nevertheless, for the readers of this column, this is the way it should have read:

Dr. Howell: "Can you tell me about nitrates?"
Don Kribbs: "Well, ur, they're cheaper than day rates."

Little items of infant unmentionables were mentioned by Margaret Weaver and Bob Watkins as they prepared gifts for Joe Claud's surprise birthday party. Just how anyone's birthday could be made a surprise was not made clear. . .

Unfounded rumors founded here: There really was some truth to the much-buzzed tale about fee hikes next year. Yep, everything will cost more but the ECHO.

TALK OF THE WEEK BY WALLACE MOORE

NIGHT WATCHMAN, CAMPUS CELEBRITY REVEALS SECRETS

BY MARY LYERLY

Probably the best known, least hoped-for, most looked-for, and least appreciated figure on campus is Mr. Irwin, better known as Ralph, the night watchman.

This member of the staff has become a virtual tradition at Maryville. with his flashlight and knowledge of all the rules and exactly where to find them in the M Book. He may be found at night on any part of the campus, doing almost anything; for whether you know it or not, Mr. Irwin has a great deal to do on his particular job.

On his nightly rounds, Ralph must check for fires, turn off lights in the class and administration buildings, remove stray drunks who have wandered on campus, and incidentaly, watch out for moonshiners. On this subject, for the information of those of you who feel that the latter is his only job, Ralph says that we are the least of his worries.

During the course of his job, Ralph has had numerous experiences, such as putting out a small fire in Pearsons basement, evicting a crippled drunk from third floor of Pearsons, arresting a peeping tom who was frightening the Baldwin girls, and killing a mad dog.

During football and basketball seasons, it is his job to park cars, usually with the aid of several high school boys, so that people can get in and out easily. He is very proud of his record for the past season, of not even a dented fender.

Mr. Irwin has been with Maryville since 1917. His first year was spent on the college farm, and the next two years firing boilers. At the end of those three years, he took his job as night-watchman only as a temporary one, but has remained on in that capacity for about thirty years.

Ralph is married, has seven children, and five grandchildren, the newest of which is only about two weeks old. He has lived off campus all the time of his employment here except for a period of nine years when he lived in an apartment in Memorial.

Another familiar member of the Irwin family is Ralph's brother, Jim, who originally worked on the farm too. Now, however, he works as general handyman and repair worker.

Among the questions asked Ralph by your reporter was this one: "What do you like best and least about your job?" The answer was, "Although lots of them don't think so, I like to mix and mingle with the students, and I dislike having to turn them in when I catch them."

Some others we would have liked to have asked, but forgot were "How many flashlight batteries have you burned out during your sojourn on the Maryville campus." and "did you ever find out who dumped the bucket of white wash on you from the balcony of Pearsons?"

But anyway, fellow student, next time you're walking home from the library too slowly and see the flash of a light, cheer up. Ralph will probably be looking for a fire.

New Football Field Nears Completion

Recent work on the site for the new football field has included surveying and leveling of the ground. This was done by the surveying class under the direction of Dr. Augustus Sisk in preparation for grading the area. When the grading is completed the field will be a foot higher in the center so that it will drain to both sides. There will be a track around the field for the barrier events.

The present task is to disk, align, and sod the area. Dr. McClelland estimates that two years will be necessary to get a good sod, at which time the bleachers will be moved, and the present football field will be abandoned. The final sod will consist of Bermuda blue grass.

Dr. McClelland believes the field to be perfectly graded and potentially the most ideal field in the state.

Winter, Goddard Give Soph Recital

Dan Winter, pianist, and Edwin H. Goddard, baritone, were presented in a sophomore recital at the Chilhowee Club House Friday, April 16, at 8:00 p. m. Mr. Goddard, a post graduate student, was accompanied by Marion Weiler.

Mr. Goddard sang "Abendempfindung" and "Anchole" by Mozart, "Wohin?" and "Ungeduld" by Schubert, "Vision fugitive" by Massanet, 'God's Garden" by Erich Wolff, 'The Time for Making Songs Has Come" by Rogers, "May Day Carol" by Taylor, "The Rovin' Gambler" by Niles, and "Shadrach" by Mac Gimley.

Mr. Winter played Allegro, Andante, and Presto from "Italian Concerto" by Bach, "Concerto No. 5" Allegro with Miss Davies at the second piano, "Etude Op. 10, No. 3" and "Etude Op. 10, No. 4" by Chopin, and "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 14" by Liszt.

News Capsules—

BY DONALD WHELAN

In Bogota, Red Bogey

Just whether Colombia's noisy revolution was so spontaneous as first thought remained a good question. That it was, as chirped the Red Daily Worker in New York, "a black eye for Marshall" seemed to be all too true for it broke up the nicely purring Inter-American Conference in good Commy fashion. Shooting of a Liberal Party bigwig in Bogota had brought on week-end riots, looting, trolley-car burning, and general hob in the South American capital city. An all too systematic wave of trouble caused our State Secretary to blame it on Communists. Apparently overlooking facts that the revolt was not an all-Red show: many who merely opposed the Conservatives were prominent in the disturbances. Back home, Marshall's countrymen wondered why US Intelligence didn't know about the powder keg officials chose for a meeting place.

In Nebraska, A Feather

Breezing into Nebraska after a snappy Wisconsin victory in Republican primaries, young (41) Hal Stassen stuck another feather on his Prexy Nomination hat-in-the ring. In a wide-open field, the Minnesotian led New York's Tom Dewey, and a poor-third Bob Taft in last week's voting. It put Stassen a strong contender for the GOP no. 1 slot, but Dewey was still to be reckoned with: the governor still had more promised convention votes.

In Court, Again

Shaggy-browed John Lewis was barely holding his own in court battles. Upheld by the Supreme Court on pension claims for his United Minc Workers, he faced District Court action on another contempt charge. His disdain for judicial procedure last year had been rewarded by a fine of $3.5 million, later scaled down to a change purse sized $710,000. To decide whether John L. had violated court orders that he send his men back to work was old lap Judge Goldsborough who imposed the fine last time. Giving the country a last minute "reprieve" from coal shortage, Lewis told the miners to go back; about 40% did before the court decided.

In Italy, A Decision

Tomorrow, those who are not too winded from oratory and scuffling will go to the polls in Italy. Both East and West have exerted such pressure on the little country, that it can hardly be said the election will be a fair one. From the US have gone letters, telegrams, and broadcasts urging Italians to support the de-Gasperi government. Whether they will is still up to them—not us.

"Mountain Girl" Operetta, Climaxes May Day Program

"Mountain Girl," a short operetta in one act, will be presented in the Alumni Gymnasium, May 1 at 8:00. The operetta is a part of the annual spring orchestra concert and is using as its theme the East Tennessee mountain ballad tunes.

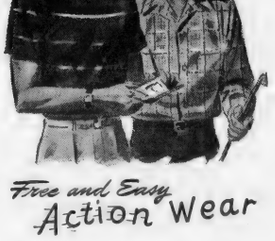
Maryvillians Write Words, Music

The liberette and a part of the music was written by Dorothy Vawter, senior music major from Maryville, and the remainder of the music by Charlie Huffman, junior music major from Maryville. The words and plot are original but are in the characteristic ballad style of narrative and language. The predominant tunes used are "Mary Was a Servant Girl," "Barbara Allen," "Lady Margaret," and "McAfies Confession."

Blount County Court Room Setting

The setting is in the Blount County Court Room and the trial, although it is of course a fantastic situation, is carried on in more or less tradtional fashion.

The soloists are Robert Holley, judge; Paul Kidder, clerk; John Shew, Mary's lawyer; Sam Broyles, Father's lawyer; Ed Goddard, Father; Rella Anderson, Mary, and Bill Deihl, Man.



Orchestra And Vesper Choir Participate

The orchestra will furnish the accompaniment. The chorus is composed of part of the Vesper Choir and any others who care to participate.

I R C

IRC will meet Monday evening at 6:45 p. m. in 314 Thaw for a radio program at which the winner of the Lucky Number Contest will be announced. Entries for the contest should be placed in the box in Pearson's lobby by noon Monday. See last week's ECHO for contest rules.

HERB'S— Half-acre

●WHAT WITH HIWASSEE'S big Mitchem hurling 'em over the plate, the Honakermen found tough sledding at Madisonville last Tuesday and were carried for a 2-6 outcome. The records show that Hiwassee had only one error on the scorebooks contrasted to Maryville's five. Mitchem went the distance, scoring four strike-outs. "Red" Fowler went six innings and also fanned four. It's really too bad we don't play Hiwassee more than twice this year! Maybe another game would even things up.

●FOUR BIG games confront the Scottie Club in the coming week. East Tennessee will likely field a strong club again. As for the Carolina teams, we have some comparative scores to dish out: An Erskine-Ohio University game came out 4-3 for the Ohioans. Wofford edged out Virginia Tech, 9-8. Newberry played Michigan State twice this spring, took the first game from state, 15-14, and dropped the other one, 1-6. Then Newberry beat Ohio University, 9-1 and defeated Presbyterian, 5-2. Just from these scores, we'd say the Highlander nine is heading for some pretty good baseball schools next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

●WITH A SURGE of competition, the Scottie net squad has, up to this writing, been unlucky every match. The factor of luck in the games seems to be best brought out by the fact that none of the six on the team win consistently. Maybe it's early yet in the season to expect consistently, but we can look for improvement as the court season draws on. Incidentally, Tuesday's macth with Tusculum will be the pivot match of the ten game season.

●THE ELEMENT of time has been a source of worry to Coach Davis in preparing his sprint and distance men for the relays today. With the track preparations accelerated during the last two weeks, condition has been uppermost, and form, stride, starts, and paces have had to rock along. But the State meet, which is now just three weeks away, should see the Scottie cinderburners in their top shape of the season. Also, in the State meet entrance in individual events should spur the efforts of the squad to each achieve polish in his particular race.

●IT WAS BOUND TO HAPPEN: This time it was on April Fool's day that Bill Fogarty, who thought he'd try his hand at softball hurling, pitched against the Nine-Balls. Three nine-ballers came to bat and broke three bats in succession. . . . we heard the game was called on account of a bat shortage.

Then a stray softball jumped the diamond into the path of Paul Kidder last Thursday as he was doing his daily jog as a Scottie track trainee. Kidder suffered a blotched left eye as a result of the unexpected kick of that softball fly.

Diamondmen Win Clash With Tenn. Tech, 7-6, At Home

Tennessee Tech's diamond nine came to call on the Scots yesterday, and almost went away the better; but luck was for the Maryville men who were still ahead, 7-6, when the ninth inning ended.

TPI was trailing behind with no score until the eighth inning when the Tech men caught up with the curve-ball of reserve pitcher Ray Lillard and blasted the reserve fielders for five runs. In the ninth, the Tech men scored again, this time off Honaker, another reserve hurler. Scot runs were earned in the second, third, fifth, and seventh innings. Leon Berrong was the winning pitcher and Day was the losing hurler.

Highland Nine Heads For South Carolina Next Week

After meeting East Tennessee State's diamond crew on the home field Monday, Coach Lombe Honaker and his Scottie baseball squad will be off early Wednesday for a swing through South Carolina to meet Wofford College, Newberry, and Erskine.

These Carolina teams— among the cream of the Southern Collegiate baseball talent— should give the Highlanders a strenuous three-day run. Wofford College at Spartanburg is the first stop on Wednesday for the Scottie baseballers, followed by an engagement with Newberry College on Thursday at Newberry, South Carolina. Due West will be the last stopping place, where the Erskine nine will be hosts.

Resting his pitchers' arms will be a big problem for Coach Honaker in undertaking four games in the coming week. Leon Berrong, Ray Lillard, and Ross Honaker are expected to take most of the load of pitching duties for the trip. Berrong is scheduled to take the mound Monday when the strong ETS squad arrives.

Up to the TPI game this week the Highlander pitching record went something like this:

Pitcher	G	W	L	IP	HA	RA	SO
Berrong	2	1	1	17	11	10	9
Honaker	3	0	0	5	4	2	1
Lillard	3	2	0	16	12	6	1
Fowler	2	0	1	11	5	4	3

KEY: G-Games, W-won, L-lost, IP-innings pitched, HA-hits allowed, RA-runs allowed, SO-strike-outs. Lillard pitched in the Hiwassee-Maryville tie game.

In batting, the Highlander nine have been rather irregular. Catcher Gene Reynolds led the batting record up to yesterday's game with a homer, six singles, and a double. Shortstop Bob Boring had a homer, a triple, and a single on his batting slate. King Berrong had collected five singles, and first baseman Woody Thomas had chalked up four singles and a double. Reynolds led the starting nine in batting averages with a .420, followed by King Berrong's .313.

The Scots had committeed an average of four errors per game up to the TPI game.

INTRAMURALS

BY DUNCAN BENNETT

The weatherman is still holding back the Intramural Softball League, but good weather towards the end of the week permitted the scheduled games to be played off. However, there are a good many make-up games outstanding, so come on Mr. Weatherman, let's have some more sunshine.

Eight Balls Forfeit

The Eight Balls forfeited to BOB's Monday afternoon and received their first loss of the season.

Tenn Penns Forfeit

The Tenn Penns forfeited to the Wizards their scheduled game for Monday afternoon.

Creamers Smash YMCA, 10-4

The Creamers took their second game for the week by smashing the YMCA in a 10-4 game Tuesday afternoon on the golf course. YMCA held the Creamers to a 0-0 score for the first four innings. After that it was the Creamers game.

Creamers	0 0 0 0 5 3 2—10

Eight Balls Beat BOBS, 9-3

The Eight Balls took the BOB's 9-3, in a play-off game Tuesday afternoon on the golf course. An early lead in the first three innings of the seven inning game gave the Eight Balls their five run lead.

Eight Balls	6 1 1 0 0 0 0—8

Creamers Lick Screwballs, 13-10

The Creamers played a close 13-10 game Monday afternoon with the Screwballs. An early rally in the third inning gave the Creamers the lead, 10-4, but the Screwballs came back fighting and the game wound up the fifth inning with the Creamers leading by only three points.

Creamers	0 1 9 2 1—13
Screwballs	1 1 2 5 1—10

BOB's Take YMCA 9-2

The BOB's took the YMCA by a score of 9-2 last Monday afternoon. Six runs in the third inning brought the BOB score hopelessly out in front of the gallantly fighting YMCA, who scored once in the first inning and once in the last inning.

BOB	3 0 6 0 0—9

Screwballs 6, Crescents 5

The Screwballs took the Crescents 6-5 Thursday afternoon on the golf course. Good pitching and fielding on both sides held the score down and made it a tough battle all the way.

SCOTTIE RELAY TEAMS ENTER SPRINT AND DISTANCE EVENTS

A squad of nine Scottie cindermen left with Coach "J.D." Davis this morning to participate in the Milligan Relays at Johnson City starting at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Maryville will enter a relay team in five events— the 440, 880, and sprint medley in the sprint division; the one mile and the distance medley for the distance relays. Each relay team consists of four men.

The sprint relay team for Maryville will run in this order: Bob Kay, John Baird, Jimmy Thurston, and Walter English. In the distance relays, the Scot combination will be: Sid Lambert, George Robarts, Alan Kiger, and Willard Rahn with George Gillette taking over the mile round in the distance medley.

Approximately nine schools have entered the Milligan Relays. These are: Tusculum, East Tennessee State, Milligan, U. T. Frosh team, Roanoke, Emory and Henry, Mars Hill, Hiwassee, and Maryville. The meet will consist of both high school and college divisions with special events for individual participation in dashes and field events. No Maryville entrants were listed in the special events.

The fledgling Maryville squad, with scarcely two weeks' of drill under Coach Davis, has been ruuning on a loose track and has also been considerably hampered by rain and wind in preparation for the relays.

Four lettermen of last season will run for the Orange and Garnet today: Bob Kay, George Gillette, Sid Lambert, and George Robarts.

Sid Lambert is the only member who is back of last year's mile relay team, which was composed of Wilbern Seymour, Ray Saunders, Lambert, and Brick Brahams.

Unfortunately Bob Kay was pushed out of competition in the hurdles because of lack of training time and his heavy schedule in the relays. As a hurdle man, Kay captured three second places in Maryville's track meets with TPI and U. T. last year in running second to Hap Brahams, first place man in the state meet in the 220 low hurdles last season. Scholastic difficulties prevented Hap from running this year.

Three freshmen will make their debut as Scot thin-clads at the relays this afternoon. Walter English, blond speedster, will be anchor man in the final 110 lap of the 440 relay and will also carry in the baton as anchor man in the 880 and sprint medley relays.

Jimmy Thurston is number three man in the sprint relay events, and Willard Rahn will go

TWC SHADES SCOTTIE NETMEN IN A 4-3 WIN

In their first away match of the season, the Scottie netmen were nudged out by Tennessee Wesleyan. 4-3, at Athens Monday afternoon. The Scots took three of the five singles, and dropped both doubles events.

Number-one-man Bill Dinges overcame Wesleyan's Smith, 6-1, 6-3. Freddie Waggoner topped Standridge, 6-0, 6-1, and Bill Uthlant defeated Holcomb, 7-5, 6-3 to score up Maryville victories.

Bill Lawrence was taken for 5-7, 7-5, 6-8 sets by Martin of T. W. C., and Hinds took the best two-out-of-three with Wes Miles, 6-4, 1-6, and 6-3.

The Highlander doubles team of Waggoner-Anderson lost to T. W.C.'s Martin-Hinds combination, 1-6, 5-7. The other doubles event was a TWC victory with Standridge-Smith bucking Dinges-Miles, 6-2, 7-5.

SCOT 9 DEFEATED BY HIWASSEE, 6-2

The Highlanders lost to Hiwassee, 2-6, in the mud Tuesday afternoon at Madisonville. This was the Scots second loss of the season they dropped the first game of a double-header against Western Carolina here last Saturday.

"Red" Fowler started on the mound for the Scots. Red worked six innings giving up 4 hits, 4 runs, fanning 3 and walking 3 before being relieved by Ross Honaker in the seventh inning. Honaker pitched two innings, allowing two runs and four hits.

Mitchem held the Scots well under control keepng them short of second base until the ninth inning when Maryville pushed across both runs.

Score by innings:

Maryville	000 000 002—2
Hiwassee	000 013 20x—6

Runs: Largen, Baldwin; Henry, Hale, Huftaker, Mitchem, Williams, Turpen. Errors: Buckley (2), K. Berrong, Neff, Reynolds; Hale. Triples: Williams. Doubles: Hatley. Left on bases: Maryville 1, Hiwassee 2. Struck out by: Fowler—3, Mitchem—4. Walked by: Fowler—3; Mitchem—2. Wild Pitches: Fowler—1.

Milligan Racquets Whip Maryville 6-3

Maryville's netmen fell to Milligan, 3-6, yesterday at Johnson City. Miles and Uthlant won in the singles, and the doubles team of Anderson and Miles were victorious to provide the Scots' three points.

It was the fourth defeat in four starts for the Scot Netters.

The next match will be a home engagement with the Scotties taking to the court against Tusculum's net squad Tuesday afternoon.

THE VOICE OF FAMOUS BLOUNT

MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE

May Day's Yellow Brick Road Leads To Land of Oz; "Over The Rainbow" Accompanies Gala Coronation

The afternoon of May 1 will find the driveway through the College Woods magically transformed into the Yellow Brick Road to Oz—transformed, at least, in the minds of everyone in this year's May Day Pageant. "Over the Rainbow To Oz." Miss Jessie Wild is directing a cast of nearly two hundred in the pageant, which will accompany the coronation of Marilyn Hartpence as May Queen. Anna Sakaizawa and Jimmy Dance have adapted incidents and characters from L. Frank Baum's famous OZ books in their script.

Leila Ambrister Heads Cast

The cast of characters for OZ includes Leila Ambrister as Princess Ozma, Jean Almy as Dorothy, Charles Williams as the Scarecrow, Joe Claud as the Tin Woodman, Ed Goddard as the Cowardly Lion, Lois Deobler as the Patchwork Girl, Paul Yambert as the Soldier With The Green Whiskers, Barbara Edwards as the Wicked Witch, and Jimmy Dance as the Wonderful Wizard of Oz. Guests at Princess Ozma's birthday party will include Bob Holley as Santa Claus, Ella Mae Thompson as Queen of the Gillikins, Ben Paxton as the Shaggy Man, Ann Gates as Ojo, Mildred Leake as the Rose Princess, Bill Starr as the Wooden Soldier, Brick Brahams as King of the Winkies, and Andy Clark as the Jester.

Jackie Linderman, cast as Ozma's housekeeper, will command a bevy of Maids-of-all-work, played by Marilyn Edge. Louise Masters, Mary Holly Webb, Sue Althouse, Carol Mitchell, and Sarah Kemp, and a group of Gardeners, played by Glenn Hieke, Jimmy Townsend, William Chalker, Conrad Lynn, Richard Ray, and Donald Whelan. Ray Holsey will lead a chorus of Royal Chefs.

High Society Dances; Choirs Sing

Dancing groups will feature The High Society as the Mermaids of Oz, and freshmen women's gym classes as the Munchkins and Quadlings. A mixed dance group will present the Maypole Dance.

Mr. Curtis Hughes' combined Girls' Choir and Men's Glee Club will sing the popular OZ musical score, including the title song, "Over The Rainbow", "We've Come To See The Wizard", "Merry Old Land of Oz," and other tunes.

Rehearsals Scheduled

These rehearsals are scheduled: Tuesday, April 20, 2:30 p. m., for the nine principals; Thursday, April 22, 1:00 p. m., for all choruses and guests; Tuesday, April 27, 2:30 p. m., for the nine principals; Wednesday, April 28, 3:30 p. m., a complete rehearsal of the entire cast; Thursday, April 29, 1:00, open, and Saturday, May 1, 8:30 a. m., the final dress rehearsal of the entire cast. Rehearsals will be held at the Amphitheatre or, in case of bad weather, Bartlett Auditorium.

Copies of the script may be checked out and read at the library. All persons are asked to be familiar with the script before rehearsals start.

Stegall and Cowan Advance To T. T. Alexander Finals

Both Will Speak In Chapel Service

Carroll Stegall and Roger Cowan were chosen as finalists in the T. T. Alexander oratorical contest during a preliminary held Monday, April 12. The contest, conducted under the supervision of the Bible and Religious Education faculty, was established by a friend of the college in honor of one of Maryville's foreign missionaries. Men and women alternate yearly in the participation.

Both finalists are awarded prizes. In the chapel program to be held April 29, the first place winner will be selected. Off campus judges will make the final choice. Dr. J. D. Buchanan, Dr. H. E. Orr, Rev. D. L. Englehardt, and Mrs. Margaret Cummings judged the preliminary.

Stegall's topic is "The Resurrection—A Present Day Miracle." A junior psychology major. Stegall is president of the Camera Club, treasurer for both I.R.C. and Student Vols. and a member of the Y Cabinet, choir and the debate team.

Cowan's topic is "The Resurrection—An Eternal Challenge." A sophomore political science major, Cowan is the social chairman elect, a member of Theta Alpha Phi, Student Vols program chairman, a member of the Y Cabinet, and vice president of both the sophomore class and the Athenian Society.

The other contestants in the preliminary were Bill Anderson, Harold Hunter, Frank Ladner, Carl Wilson, and Paul Woodbury.

Miss Henry Attends Nat'l. D.A.R. Convention

Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Director of Student Help, left Wednesday, April 14, for the National Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The meetings are being conducted at the national headquarters in Washington, D. C.

About four thousand representatives of the 158,000 members will attend the annual business meeting April 19-23. Preceding the convention Miss Henry will attend several committee meetings.

STUDENTS INVITED TO AAUW MEETING

Mr. David H. Bernard of the art department will lecture on some phase of western art at the meeting of the American Association of University Women Friday, April 23. He will use slides to illustrate his lecture. All students are invited. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. in the Art Studio in Anderson Hall.

Metropolitan Opera Star Performs In Knoxville

Alexander Kipnis, Metropolitan Opera Star, famous for his singing of Moussorgsky's "Song of the Flea" will sing at the Bijou Theater in Knoxville April 23. Mr. Kipnis, a Russian noted for his wide range, performed at Maryville in the Artist's Series several years ago.

George Gillette beat his time of 4:48.9, which he made in taking place at TPI last year, in practice this week and should be in shape to take up some slack in the mile run—the last leg of the distance medley relay. Half-milers George Robarts and Alan Kiger will negotiate the 440 and 880 distances, respectively, between Lambert's 220 run on the starting leg and Gillette's final mile lap in the distance medley relay.

Charles Mabry, who has bettered both Lambert's and Kiger's times in the 440 in practice, was left behind because of his unseasoned leg muscles.

Lois Roberts, '42, Assigned To Brazil

Miss Lois Roberts, Maryville '42, has been appointed missionary to Brazil from the First Baptist Church in Maryville. Miss Roberts is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. George D. Roberts of Maryville.

Miss Roberts taught at Maryville High School following her graduation here, but three years ago, she entered Baptist Missionary Training School in Louisville, Kentucky. She will receive her diploma from this institution next May. This marks the first time that a member of this church has gone into foreign missions and the first time the church has sponsored a representative on the foreign field. Miss Roberts will receive all of her salary and expenses from the First Baptist Church. She will study the Brazilian language this summer and will leave for Brazl in August.

Maryville Splits Double-Header With W. Carolina

Maryville split a double-header with Western North Carolna, 4-6, 5-4, last Saturday on the home diamond. The visiting Catamounts won the first game when they broke a 3-3 tie in the eleventh inning of the seven inning overtime game. In the second game Maryville waited until the last inning before scoring four badly needed runs to win the game.

35,00 SPEECH INSTRUCTORS ARE URGENTLY NEEDED

America's colleges and universities must graduate at least 35,000 speech correctionists in the the next few years if the nation's 4,000,000 vocally handicapped persons are to receive the retraining that they need so badly.

This estimate—a conservative one—was recently released by Dr. Martin F. Palmer, president of the American Speech and Hearing Association and director of the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kanasas, where a full curriculum of 62 hours is now being offered to students interested in speech correcton. The eminent speech authority further estimated that there are only about 400 students now enrolled in speech correction courses.

"Few fields currently offer undergraduates the professional opoprtunities that are offered by the rapidly expanding field of speech correction," says Dr. Palmer. "For the next five or ten years at least," he added "speech graduates need not worry about the demand for their services. Though we prefer that instructors devote full time to this vital work, it is possible for them to work with vocally handicapped persons during spare time hours or in addition to household duties. Scores of speech correctionists now are addng to their regular ncmose by doing part-time work with speech defectives."

Y CABINETS WORK, PLAY ON RETREAT

"Builders With God" was selected as the 1948-49 theme for both YM and YW by the incoming officers. This was also used for the annual Retreat, April 16-17, at which Bill Vogel served as toastmaster. Speakers for the two campfire services were the Rev. Earl Crawford and the Rev. Waite Stennett, both of Knoxville.

Joint Meetings

The serious aspects of the Retreat were highlighted by a discussion of joint meetings for next year. It was decided that the cabinets would recommend to their respective groups that not more than half of the regular meetings be joint. General planning rounded out the meetings.

Recreation

On the lighter side of the fence were the afternoon softball game in the briar patch, a session of ice water swimming, and hiking through the woods. Meals were prepared and served by a committee of cabinet members.

YW Installation

Mildred Orr, retiring president of the YW, in a candle-light service Sunday evening, a sequel to the Retreat, gave the charge to Margaret Rock, incumbent. The officers and cabinet members were then installed by Miss Rock.

Choir Holds Banquet Tuesday

The Maryville College a capella choir are having their annual banquet Tuesday evening, April 27. The banquet is to be at the Chilhowee Inn at 6 p. m.

The choir will return tonight from a five-day concert tour in Birmingham, Montgomery and Atlanta. The last of the concerts will be presented tomorrow in Knoxville.

HCL Causes Rise In Campus Expense

$25 Increase Effective For 1948-49 School Year

Increases in fees due to rising costs will become effective with the semester beginning August 31, 1948. The total cost will advance from approximately $240 to $265 per semester for the student living on campus, and from $95 to $105 for local students who neither room nor board on the hill. The estimated expenses for men rooming off campus but boarding in the dining hall are $220.

Tuitions Up

Tuition will increase from $90 to $100 and the textbooks will average $10 rather than the previous estimate of $8. Room and board, the largest item, will be $150 to $160 (depending on the room occupied), a jump of $15 over the present rate of $135 to $150. Men rooming off campus will pay $115 per semester for board. The Student Activities fee remains the same, $5.

SCHWAM INITIATED INTO SPANISH FRAT

Howard Schwam, Spanish instructor, was among six others from East Tennessee educational institutons who were initiated Tuesday, April 20, into the National Spanish Scholastic Fraternity through the Alpha Psi chapter at the University of Tennessee.

Mr. Schwam received his B.S. degree in 1939 from Memphis State College and his M. A. in 1946 from Peabody College. Before coming to Maryville, he was principal of Hughes High in Hughes, Arkansas, where he also taught social science and foreign languages. He spent last summer in Mexico doing graduate study. For three years Mr. Schwam was in the A.A.F.

Glee Club, Girl's Choir Present "Springtime"

May Day Programs, "Requiem" Complete Spring Festival

"Springtime Serenade" will open the Fine Arts Festival next Friday night, April 30, at 8:00 p. m. in the Alumni Gym. The Festival, under the auspices of the joint fine arts departments, includes "Springtime Serenade," "Over the Rainbow to Oz," the May Day pageant; the annual spring orchestra concert of which the locally-set operetta, "Mountain Girl," is a part; and Faure's "Requiem" by the Vesper Choir.

Hughes Directs 'Serenade'

"Springtime Serenade," a combined effort of the All-Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club, will be under the direction of Mr. W. Curtis Hughes, instructor in music. He will also be the organist for the performance. Soloists are Bill Fogarty, Ed Goddard, Mary Hicks, Ruth Humes, and Maurine Owen. Fred Sieber and Marian Weiler are pianists.

The program includes works by Youmans, Friml, Kern, Romberg, and Herbert. Specialities will be "Ol' Man River," "Because You're You," "One Kiss," "Indian Love Call," "Italian Street Song," and "Why Do I Love You?"

Committees for the event are as follows: stage manager, Howard Cameron; business manager, Marlene Mauger; electrician, Chester Schieber; publicity and programs, John Watt; and make-up, Lois Doebler. Elaborate decorations have been planned. The girls will wear white formals; the men, tuxedos. Fowler Brothers in Knoxville is lending a Hammond Organ.

In order to defray the expenses for music and decorations, 35c admission will be charged. Tickets will go on sale next week. Mr. Hughes stated that he hoped the idea of "Springtime Serenade" will become an annual event along with the other parts of the Festival.

May Day Pageantry

"Over the Rainbow to Oz," featured by the crowning of May Queen Marilyn Hartpence, will begin at 2:00 p. m. Saturday. It is scheduled for the amphitheater in the college woods, but in event of rain, the site will be Alumni Gym. A cast of nearly two hundred including the All-Girl Choir and the Men's Glee Club will be under the direction of Miss Jessie Wild of the dramatics department. Anna Sakaizawa and Jimmy Dance wrote the script.

Accompanists for the program are Fred Sieber for the combined choirs, Ann Jenkins for the dancers, and "Sandy" Smith for the May Queen coronation.

An added attraction will be the stage debut of Lady MacTavish, college mascot.

Miss Wild, announced production committees last week for "Over the Rainbow to Oz." Bob Holley is student director, and Jimmy Dance is technical director.

Walter Chambers' set design will be executed by stage manager Margie Newland and her crew, Dot Stater, Mary Holly Webb, Wally Moore, Bob Proffitt, and Jim McKee. Costume designs by Ruth Nicholas are being carried out by Lois Lehr's committee, Eleanor Miller, Violet Summerville, and Peggy Brooks. Doris Vinton heads the properties committee.

"Mountain Girl" and Concert

Maryville College's orchestra will present its annual spring concert at 8:00 p. m. on May Day. Divided into two parts, the first part will be in conventional concert style under Mr. Hughes' direction, and the second part will be "Mountain Girl," a short

Students Choose Delores Young Beauty Queen

Delores Young, freshman from Maryville, was chosen beauty queen from Maryville College in a student body election Friday. Miss Young will enter the beauty contest to be held in Lenoir City on May 1 in celebration of Bridge Day. She will compete with beauty queens from Maryville, Alcoa, and Lenoir City.

Miss Young was chosen "Prettiest Girl" in Maryville High School in both her junior and senior years. She was first place winner in dramatic reading at the state speech contest held at the University of Tennessee last year and has appeared in several Alcoa Little Theatre Productions.

Betty Hall, senior from Bryson City, N. C., was runner-up in the contest. Miss Hall has been a member of the Vesper choir during her four years at Maryville and has been soloist for The Messiah during her junior and senior years. She is a member of the French Club and was chosen Homecoming Queen last fall.

Librarians Present Colored Film, 'Books and People'

Students interested in library work will have a conference on Monday evening, April 26, at 7:30 p. m., in the second floor chemistry lecture room in Fayerweather. Miss Helen Harris, librarian of the Knoxville public library, and Miss Lucille Deaderick, regional librarian in the Maryville-Loudon area, will be present to discuss opportunities and training for library work. They will present the Bookmobile in a colored film entitled "Books and People." Miss Ruth Grierson, college librarian, has been in charge of the arrangements. The meeting is open to all students interested in this work.

There are over 400 Bookmobiles in operation throughout the U.S.

STYLE SHOW AND SKIT CONTEST TONIGHT--7 P. M.

Dr. Griffitts Attends Chicago Chemists Meeting

Dr. F. A. Griffitts, professor of chemistry, attended the meeting of the American Chemical Society April 20-23 at Chicago, Illinois. Dr. Griffitts is the chairman elect to the East Tennessee section of the American Chemical Society which includes the surrounding area of Maryville, Knoxville, and Oak Ridge. About 525 chemists in thie area are members.

The main speaker of the assembly was the representative of the Society of Chemical Industry of England who spoke on American aid for British Industry.

Major Considerations

The major considerations of the meeting were current issues of new discoveries and ideas in the field of chemistry.

Three of the main topics were trans-uranic elements, the teaching of Quantitative Analysis, and the raising of the standards of chemical education.

Some of the new discoveries reported at the meetings are the use of mustard gas as a new weapon against cancer, the development of a scratch resistant, transparent plastic developed by three University of Chattanooga scientists, and the removal of the chlorine taste of water by germs. The germs eat the carbolic acid which brings out the chlorine taste in water as food.

Another meeting of the American Chemical Society will be held in the Fall in Washington, D. C., St. Louis, Missouri, and Portland, Oregon.

Dr. Warmingham Speaks At Vespers

Dr. Osbert Wrightman Warmingham, who is traveling for the Danforth Foundation, will speak at Vespers Sunday night, April 25. Dr. J. D. Buchanan will be in charge of the service.

Dr. Warmingham, whose parents are English, was born in India. In 1933 he did some special studies at Oxford, England, and since 1933 he has been Associate Director of the American Youth Foundation. Dr. Warmingham's name appears in the 1948-49 Who's Who in America.

NEW DESIGNS FEATURED AT STYLE SHOW

"Springtime in Review" will be presented by students and faculty of the home economics department in Pearson's dining hall tonight at 7:30.

Nearly sixty-five styles will be shown by the three classes represented and described by narrators Ann Jenkins and Pat Dennis. The costume design students will wear dresses of their own design; the textiles and tailoring class, tailored suits, children's clothes, and made-over clothes; and the bride's course, bathing suits, blouses, skirts, and housecoats.

Soloists Featured

Rella Anderson, Peggy Howell, and Betty Hall will provide the special music. Set design was done by Mrs. Keith Speckman, the former Miss Virginia Purinton, who resigned her post as art teacher at Maryville College in 1942.

The style show is sponsored by the Social Committee and is open to the student body, faculty, and friends.

Students Register For Next Semester

Registration of students planning to return to Maryville began April 19, and will continue until May 15. Prospective seniors have been registered this past week. Juniors will register April 26-May 3, and sophomores and freshmen from May 3-May 15. A late registration fee will be charged after May 15.

The procedure for registration is as follows:

I. Fill out your Student's Record, including subjects, grades, and hours for all previous studies.

II. Make a tentative schedule, checking the general major requirements.

III. Take the record with your schedule card to your major advisor for approval.

IV. Return your approved schedule to the personnel office.

An advance deposit fee of $10 must be paid on or before May 20 to insure a dormitory room.

Societies Skit In Attempt To Capture Trophy

The annual skit contest between the four Maryville societies will be held Saturday night in the dining hall following the style show. The style show will begin at 7:30 and the skits will begin immediately following it.

The winning society will be presented a loving cup which that society will hold until the following year when the next skit contest is held. Bainonian society won the cup last year.

Judges for the contest will be Miss Jessie Heron, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed.

The entire program is sponsored by the social committee in cooperation with the home economics department and the four societies.

Nine Departments Change Curricula For Next Semester

Home Ec, Phys Ed Dept. Combine Health Course

Changes have been made in the curricula of nine departments for the fall semester of 1948-49. These changes are as follows:

One new course is being offered in Bible. It is Bible 235, New Testament Book Studies. It will deal with books not covered in the freshman course and the epistles of Paul. Next year, for the first time, chemistry majors will do special studies work. This will consist of an extra course in advanced quantative analysis and is Chemistry 351. Religious Drama 310 is being offered instead of the present play production course which is Drama 203.

Last year the American literature course was dropped, but next year a combined American prose and poetry course will be offered as English 225. A course in the English novel will be offered as English 327. The course in classical mythology will begin again next semester. It is listed as Greek or Latin 315.

New Music Major Added

A new music major will be offered—music history and literature. New courses related to this are Keyboard Music 305; Art, Song, and Choral Conducting 315. Students interested in work in sacred music are advised to take music theory major and music courses 308 and 315.

Health, First Aid, Care of Injuries, and Nutrition 301 is a new course being offered in physical education. It will be taught the first half of the semester by the physical education staff and the second half by the home economics department.

Parlor Science Course

The parlor course in physics and chemistry is being reorganized into a course in physical science. It will contain elements of chemistry and physics with units in mathematics, geology and astronomy, thus making it a comprehensive course. The economics department is offering a course in business finance which is listed as Economics 325.

Bible Students See Synagogue, Temple

Three buses carrying 90 Bible students, most of them freshmen, left at 1:15 this afternoon for Knoxville, to visit a Jewish Synagogue and a Catholic Church.

The arrangements were made with the Priest and Rabbi, by Mr. Engelhart and Dr. Buchanan, each student paying 50 cents for the chartered buses.

They plan to be back by 5:15.

CARNEGIE PRESENTS REQUEST PROGRAMS

At 900 on everyone's—well, almost everyone's—radio dial is Maryville's newest voice, WMAR, from Carnegie Hall, MC campus. From five o'clock until 5:50 and 9:45 until 10:30 p. m., Ralph Kent, freshman from Newton, Massachusetts, operates a small sending station which can be heard as far away as Baldwin's front lawn.

"Jive at Five," the early program, is a request record show featuring popular music and the accompanying chatter. One of the most popular records handled by the ham disc-jockey is "Bugle Call Rag." Dedications will be made when requested.

A projected enlargement of the service would include a sports roundup of campus activities and daily major league baseball results. Another idea for the future is a campus-wide transmission by means of the electric light circuit. This plan is already in use by student-broadcasters in other colleges.

FOUNDER, PAST PRESIDENT BURIED IN COLLEGE CEMETERY

BY ELENOR KRAMER

With spring and warm weather here one of the favorite activities for recreaton on the campus is walking through the college woods. Mrs. Walker's home, the picnic grounds, and the amphitheater are some of the most visited places there. Along with these spots is the college cemetery where the fence received a fresh coat of paint this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson and Mrs. John Walker, who did the landscaping and placed the stone for Dr. Isaac Anderson, started the endowment fund for the cemetery.

First Grave 1878

Rev. Ralph E. Tedford, who died in 1878, was probably the first to be buried there. Beside him lie his wife Martha and son Ralph Max., who lived only one year.

Franklin Magill, in the class of 1889, and George Cooper, in the class of 1892, are the only students other than those buried wth their families who have been placed in the cemetery.

Three Presidents

Three presidents have been interred there two of whom were moved from their first place of burial to the college. Dr Isaac Anderson, founder of Maryville College, died in 1857. He, his wife, Florence, a son, Samuel, his grandson, and his foster grandson were moved in November 1933 from the Presbyterian Cemetery at the corner of Broadway and Cates Street.

Dr. John Joseph Robinson, second president of the college, died in 1887 and was buried in Atlanta, Georgia. In October, 1935, his body was brought here.

A missionary to Mexico and the fifth president of Maryville College was Rev. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, who died and was buried at the college in 1944.

Twenty-five Graves

The college pastor from 1917 to 1941, Dr. William Patton Stevenson, his wife, and others who have worked with the college or have helped it in some way have been interred in the cemetery. In all, there are now about twenty five people buried there.

DUBBY'S GRILL IS POPULAR 'HANGOUT' FOR MC's HAMBURGER, DO-NUT LOVERS

BY LORRAINE SWIFT

There are several "hangouts" for Maryville College students, but the closest and probably the one visited most often is "Dubby's Grill". During the one short year it has been open it has become almost an institution within itself, all of which has been due to the sincere amiability and practicality of its managers, W. B. "Dubby" Emert and D. A. "Dot" Emert, brothers.

Not all college students would be able to enumerate the reasons why they like to go to Dubby's, but some of those who go most often like Bickey Smith, Dot Stater, and Ruth and Artie Spears; would mention, first of all, the coffee and doughnut aspect, the juke box, the booths, and the location of the place.

For those few who have never entered its hallowed doors, Dubby's is a small place—a very small place—located on Ellis Avenue, and open twenty-four hours a day. It has four booths, three tables, and twelve stools at a counter. Equipped to serve forty people, it often has more, especially on Tuesday nights and first period Thursday morning when the college crowd invades. Lest we forget, however, the busiest hours are between 8 p. m. and 3 a. m., which only goes to prove Americans like night life. Needless to say, Maryville co-eds do not make up this group, not that they wouldn't like to.

Week Ends Heavy

Week ends, naturally, increase the eating business, and Dubby's Grill calls on Ernestine "Teeny" Rogers and sometimes others to help. "Teeny," the only waitress with auburn hair, is an Everett High School student who works as an "extra" at Dubby's for that extra spending money.

There are three regular waitresses and six other workers. June Rawlings is the waitress on the 6 a. m.-2 p. m. shift, and Mrs. Nichols and George Bailey do the kitchen work. They are replaced by Mary Saterfield, the 2-10 p.m. waitress, and Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Gentry. Opha Saterfield relieves her sister for the 10 p. m.-6 a. m. shift. Also on the hoot-owl shift are Mrs. Tipton and son J. C.

Coffee and Doughnuts

Coffee and doughnuts remain the favorites for college kids, though Dubby says they don't consume all the ten dozen doughnuts and six to nine gallons of coffee sold each day. The college crowd makes up about one-fourth of the business, especially ordering fried pies and whips on Tuesday night. They also like the buttered nuts, the cigarette machine, which is the only one of its kind in town, the pop-corn, postal stamps, and even the ball gum machines.

Hamburger Specialty

But, as was mentioned, the college crowd only makes up one-fourth of the business. As a whole, hamburgers are probably ordered more than any other sngle tiem. Dubby himself prefers steaks and says he believes they are second on the list of customer preferences. All kinds of sandwiches and soft drinks are sold, too.

For some time, the occurrence of new signs in the grill every three or four weeks has caused reason for debate as to who does them. The football schedules of all the nearby schools caught the attention of most students' eyes last fall when they spied them posted on the walls. Dubby says that several people have made the signs, but at present "Brownie" Widner of Everett High School is doing them.

The Managers

As was mentioned in the first paragraph, the managers themselves have had everything to do

SENIOR PRIVILEGES WORKING

Commendations, seniors girls! We aren't used to seeing you around town on Wednesday and Friday evenings yet, but we have noted the easy manner in which you have assumed the privileges and responsibilities extended to you. We realize the temptation that it is to overstep the privilege with the attitude that, "Oh, well! I've got another month or so. Why worry?" Your actions fortify the convction that privileges for women are consistent with the high moral standards of Maryville College. Your actions fortify the hope that similar privileges can and may be enjoyed by all the girls of this campus in the future. Commendations!

—R.H.S.

A man's responsibility is to be "a brave and upright man, who must find or cut a straight path to everything excellent in the earth and not only go honorably himself, but make it easier for all who follow him to go in honor and with benefit."

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

CAMPUS POLITICOS

It has been called to our attention that there are people who, assuming little importance in the eyes of the campus—seldom being nominated to offices, seldom having their names in print, carry on a spirit of congeniality which is indispensable to an enjoyable campus life.

We could name numerous of them. The individual names are not important, however, except in the minds of those who know them.

We only wish to point this out at this time so that those who are about to begin in "campus politics", those who are getting the thrill of seeing their names in print will be reminded that, although their names may become well known on the campus, they will remain important only in the minds of those who know them as friends. Elections can expand this list; elections have been known to completely erase such a list.

CARNEGIE CONDITIONS

We would refer you to the Letter to the Editor, in which a correspondence from Mr. McCurry to Mr. Black stating a list of repairs and improvements for Carnegie Hall is gooted. That correspondence was posted in Carnegie Hall. We wish to press the fact that these are needed repairs; for the most part, they are obviously essential. Perhaps we can get along without the Hoffman Clothes Press, or new locks, or new mirrors, or decent lobby furniture, or a thorough paint job. A good argument could be made for each of them; for example, the last complete paint job for Carnegie Hall was in 1944, and that was only one coat. But perhaps we can get along without any of these.

We cannot get along in the spirit usually associated with college environment, however, unless the other suggestions and requests are heeded. It is not conducive to study habits, we venture to say, to idly toy with the thought that fire might break out, and then come to the realization that in such an emergency the fire extinguishers provided would not operate, the fire gates could be passed, and that if a blaze ever reached the fourth floor and attic the entire building would probably burn beyond salvage. Last fall, at a meeting of all Carnegie men, this warning was announced. Insulation of all the attic and fourth floor walls and replacement of leaky fire extinguishers may well save an estimated $300,000 to replace the structure. Therefore we reiterate these requests.

Shivers and Slivers

The floors—in the rooms, in the hallways, in the lobby—are not in a reasonable condition. Any paint or varnish which has been applied to them has worn off for the most part. Ambitious individuals have painted their own quarters, and some rooms were painted last summer; but, generally, a complete job is necessary. Before this is done, however, the floors need to be repaired and sanded. Perhaps, as Mr. McCurry has pointed out in his letter, new floors would be better and less expensive. We are not architects or engineers, we can recognize only the obvious facts: we notice men tripping on the steps and tearing clothes on the bannisters; we asked Don Weber why he limped and discovered that he had picked up a long splinter in his foot; we sweep and mop and see little change in the appearance of our floors. Therefore, we feel obligated to reiterate the requests which would correct this situation.

The last improvement we would mention—the weatherstripping of the fourth floor windows—has such obvious reasons for it that we won't even attempt to support it.

There can be no reasons why these repairs should not be made; there should be no reasons why they cannot be made. If Carnegie Hall is expected to continue to function as a dormitory, these improvements should be made to assure its capability of doing so. Postponement to another time may find the meantime dissolving the possibility of repair. Preservation, we have been taught, is usually the best policy.

Much Echo About Nothing

BY HOLM AND LYERLY

TO ERR IS HUMAN. Perhaps the Maryville police department failed in its job in connection with the Baldwin Thief, but it has done a noble job of keeping the faculty on the straight and narrow. Dr. Orr and Mr. Harter were both given tickets—Dr. Orr for passing a red light, and Mr. Harter for overparking.

And were the college students ever surprised to see Mr. Englehardt in the Presbyterian choir last Sunday. That's quite a promotion from his rendition of "Three Blind Mice" in the Bible classes.

And more about the faculty—Mrs. Newberry demonstrated her poise quite well when she was able to go right on with her lecture after she passed around Paul Yambert's dates (fruit, that is). To save everyone the trouble of depositing their seeds out the windows, Paul passed around the waste paper basket.

TO EAT OR NOT TO EAT? It's always embarrassing when chicken is served and everyone ignores his piece, waiting for someone else to start, to see if its fingers or fork. That's just what happened at one of the Methodist homes last Sunday. Tex McKenzie was the first to dive in when the host finally announced, "Anyone who doesn't pick up his chicken is a sissy."

Still more about the faculty—Mrs. Newberry went to quite some length to explain the theory of a nebulous float (which, as we were informed, is an idea that all Souls come from one large sphere, and return to it at death), and was pleased to find a concrete example—two helium-filled balloons, taped together and labeled "Nebulous Float."

To get back to thieves, Betty Jo Smith, of Memorial, thought that she'd caught Baldwin's own when she found someone rummaging around in her room with a flashlight. Disgustingly enough, it was only Anita Withers hunting for her French book while the fuse was burned out.

ABOUT THE Y—they're back from the retreat, and we're afraid that everything they brought back is not of spiritual value. It didn't take the chiggers that Winnie Schaumburg and Anna Katherine Knapp brought back any longer than one-half the period of the choir concert to spread to the surrounding persons. Well, at least, they had company scratching.

Not only were there chiggers and poison ivy at the retreat, but there were actual thrills too. There was bear hunting (Hedy Nabholz was the bear and Marg Prall the hunter), and swimming, when Lois Thomas who was sitting on a rock calmly eating, suddenly found herself in the cold creek, holding her hamburger in her hand all the while. P. S. The fish got the 'burger.

THEY'D LOSE THEIR HEADS—people are always losing books, but Sarah Durante would advise you to find one before the next open book test. She had just such a test, and no English book.

Even some of the honorable members of the ECHO staff lose things. Sports Editor Olsen was fuming at columnwriter McCallum for not leaving the column before he went home. He looked and looked. Later, much later, he found the column and the obvious note telling him where it was.

SMOKE GETS IN YOUR EYES (and in the girls' hair)—Tuesday night, when the Parks-Belk store got hot under the collar, some fellow looked at the crowd of college students there and yelled, "All college students please report back to campus immediately. Dr. Lloyd just called back from Pittsburg."

The fairer sex had some funny ideas about the fire, though. Bebe Ledbetter was busy figuring out how her summer wardrobe could be supplemented at a fire sale.

For once, Paul Woodbury didn't have his camera at the right time.

Everyone gave a sight of relief when Dwight (Tex) Garrison appeared on the scene in combat boots, with a long knife and a flashlight. Now they knew everything was under control.

Since his reported rescue of an elderly woman from the second story of the burning building, Nelson Forrester gets our vote for the next Rover Scout medal.

WIDE AWAKE, THAT'S US. There are ways and means of being awakened—from a sound sleep in class, but Paul Kidder was the victim of an entirely new method. He woke with a start when a pencil, thrown by Mr. Kiger, hit him on the head Explained said gentleman, "I just wanted to see if my aim was good."

JUST PEOPLE—Pass out the cigars (chocolate). Jim Black is the proud owner of a litter of kittens—born on Dave Campbell's bed.

TALK OF THE WEEK

HAMELFOOT

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am bringing the enclosed letter to your attention because it is a pleasure to learn that definite steps have been made to improve the conditions of Carnegie Hall.

March 31, 1948

Mr. L. A. Black
Director of Maintenance
Maryville College

I am enclosing herewith a list of repairs, improvements, and new equipment needed in Carnegie Hall before school opens next year, fall of 1948. These are as follows:

1. Paint all rooms not painted last summer (1947) with oil paint.

2. Repair stairs where cement is broken or metal edges bent or broken.

3. Repair floors by replacement of boards where deep splinters have pulled out of boards. Then sand floors down to the best possible surface and varnish or paint these floors. (Except lobby and main entrance). New floors might be much better, less expensive.

4. Sand and refinish floor of lobby and first floor hall.

5. Paint ground floor rooms, hall, and floors.

6. The men have provided washing machines but are in need of one Hoffman press.

7. New drapes are needed for five windows (lobby and guest room).

8. Six new upholstered chairs are needed for lobby of Carnegie Hall to replace second-hand much-worn furniture now used.

9. Three new fire extinguishers will be needed to replace same number which now leak.

10. All of the minor miscellaneous repairs such as adjustments on doors and transoms will of course need to be made; window shades replaced.

11. The fourth floor windows need to be weather stripped for heat, economy and comfort.

12. Insulate all of the attic and fourth floor walls as a fire control measure.

13. Mirrors in bath rooms need to be replaced with new mirrors.

14. Paint all window sills on outside unless the building is to be painted outside which would include these.

15. One dozen new locks to replace old locks which did not require replacement when check was made last year.

Supervisor of Men's Residence

I moved off campus because of the bad conditions of Carnegie Hall. Now if I were to move back on campus—with the above letter fulfilled—I could truthfully say, "It's great to be back."

Bill Anderson.

CLUB CLIPPINGS

PERSONALITIES

Art Club

The Art Club with Mr. Bernard attended the Knoxville Art Center's annual exhibition of local artists Thursday evening.

The display is in Rudiger Art Gallery at the University of Tennessee library and will continue until April 30.

Writers' Workshop

At the last meeting of Writer's Workshop on April 21, Barbara Eggleston read "Johnny", a short story, which was critized by Miss Jessie Heron. Sarah Jo Kiger read an allegorical piece entitled "The Soul Searches," and it was criticized by Miss Elizabeth Jackson.

I.R.C.

Officers for next year were elected at the last meeting of I. R. C. which was held Monday night, April 19. The new officers are president, Helen Gentry; vice president, Loretta Crawford; secretary, Margaret Pritchet; treasurer, Paul McNeil; publicity, Carroll Stegall; sponsor, Mrs. Pieper.

French Club

The annual French Club dinner will be held Monday evening at Miss Wilkinson's house.

A nominating committee for next year's officers was named: Elaine Kern, Don Lehman, Lib Crawford. The election will take place at the dinner.

L'Autre Montmarte, a play, was enacted at the regular Thursday meeting.

PRE-MINISTERIALS BANQUET APRIL 29

The Rev. Mr. Edwin C. Berwanger of the Lonsdale Methodist Church in Knoxville will be guest speaker at the annual Ministerial Association banquet, 7:00 p. m. at Chilhowee Inn.

Bob Holley will act as master of ceremonies for the program that includes a quartet—Sam Broyles, John Morrison, Dick Ribble, and Bill Houdeshel, slides of campus shown by Bill McIlvaine, group singing and installation of the new officers.

Bob Eastman and John Shew are responsible for planning arrangements, and program. About eighty-five pre-ministerials and their dates are expected for the fried-chicken dinner.

Y. W. C. A.

Elizabeth Crawford, Mary Smith and Lois Thomas will speak on their memories of Maryville at the annual Senior Program Day at YWCA Sunday. The meeting will be held at 1:30 in the "Y" rooms.

Y. M. C. A.

●TAKING OUR SLIPSTICK in hand this week while the baseball team was on the road, we of the ECHO sports staff went through the record for the eight games so far and arrived at some playing percentages. Going down the batting order, we found that. . . .

Benton Baldwin, lead-off batter in Monday's ETS game, has scored 4 runs and singled twice in his 17 times at bat. Currently Baldwin is starting right-fielder.

Third baseman Jack Buckley has cut down on his errors, has 19 assists and 10 put-outs in 8 games. Buckley has been in No. 2 position in the batting order since the TPI game.

King Berrong, second-baseman, ties Boring with 20 assists, and also in 14 put-outs. Berrong hit 7 singles in 30 trips to bat for a .233 percentage. His errors are 4.

Batting in the clean-up spot, Bob Boring has one each of singles, doubles, triples, and homers. He's been playing every inning of the season, going to bat 20 times with a .200 clip as of the ETS game.

Inseparable as players, Hugh Hamil follows Boring in the batting order, but unlike Boring, has not walked but once in 62½ innings. Hamil's .210 batting average was made in 28 times at bat while singling 5 times, doubling once.

Catcher Gene Reynolds is currently top batsman of the squad with a .280 percentage. He has 5 errors in 8 games, which is one error more than the nearest of other players in 8 games.

Bobby Neff, left-fielder, has been at bat 13 times, walked 4 times, and batted one triple.

Woody Thomas, lefty first baseman, has held his errors to 4 in the hot spot in making 73 put-outs and 2 assists. His .238 batting average is second only to Reynolds among the starting nine.

The pitcher's position in the batting order usually follows, and pitchers as batters are not supposed to be so good. But Ray Lillard has defied the usual odds by scratching out 3 hits—a single, double, and a triple—in six times at bat.

●SOME SAY it's news that Coach Johnson's tennis si xhave broke their jinx by last Tuesday's 5-4 win over Tusculum. It is definitely an omen of the calibre of material in the Scottie tennis troupe. A little look at the varsity six will tell you that there are 4 freshmen, 2 sophomores, and one senior among the starting team. Experience is the handicap to the tennis team this year. Perfection in performance will come with experience, and this should be reason enough not to make hasty conclusions about the fate of Highlander racquet play.

●A LITTLE FIGURING in matches won and lost of the starting six in varsity tennis shapes up like this: Chesley Anderson—won 2, lost 2, for .500; Bill Dinges—won 1, lost 3 for .250; Bill Lawrence—won 1, lost 4 for .200; Wesley Miles—won 3, lost 2 for .600; Bull Uthlant—won 4, lost 1 for .800; Fred Waggoner—won 3, lost 2 for .600; and Glen Knecht, sophomore, won his first varsity match Tuesday for a 1.000.

BASEBALL TEAM WINS TWICE ON TRIP

Nine Trims ETS, 6-2, With 4 Run Rally In Seventh

Four seventh inning runs put the Scottie nine out in front of East Tennessee State's Buccaneers, 6-2, on the home diamond Monday afternoon.

Poole, the starting Buc hurler, held the Scots hitless for six innings, and it looked as if he were headed for a no-hitter when he was relieved in the seventh by Blackwell.

Hugh Hamil singled with one of Blackwell's first pitches and drove King Berrong and Bob Boring, whom Poole had walked. Errors on the pitcher allowed Hamil and Pentz to put the game on ice for M.C.

Hamil's single was the only hit of the afternoon for the locals. Poole, the losing pitcher, walked 6, fanned 8, and caught four Scot runners off second and first bases.

Ross Honaker limited the visitors to four hits in nine innings while walking 4, and striking out 5.

Trackmen Win 5th In Milligan Relays

Maryville's cindermen placed fifth with seven points at the second annual Milligan Relays sponsored by Milligan College at Johnson City last Saturday. Milligan was the winning team with 37½ points; East Tennessee was second with 36½; Roanoke, third with 18¼; and University of Tennessee's freshmen team was fourth with 10½. The seven Scot points accounted for one second place, two thirds, and two fourths in the five events they entered.

In the distance medley, Sid Lambert (220), George Robarts (440), Allan Kiger (half-mile), and George Gillette (mile) won second place running the distance of 3300 yards in 8:18.3.

Bob Kay (110), Jim Thurston (220), John Baird (220), and Walter English (110 placed third in the sprint medley in 1:13.3.

Lambert, Robarts, Kiger, and Will Rahn won third place honors in the mile relay; time—3:40.5.

In the 440 relay, Kay, Thurston, Baird, and English took fourth place with a time of 47.8. The same four teamed together again to place fourth in the 880 relay, clocking 1:32.9.

Scot Netmen Drop Tusculum, 5-4

Tusculum's varsity netmen met a 4-5 defeat when they visited the Maryville courts last Tuesday. The Highlanders won four singles matches and one doubles.

Wes Miles, playing no. 1 singles for the first time, downed his opponent, Porter Larson of Tusculum, 6-3, 1-6, and 7-5. Other Scot winners were Bill Uthlaut, who defeated Paul Larson 7-5, 6-2; Chesley Anderson, who trimmed James Hipshire 7-9, 6-1, 6-2; and Glen Knecht, who dusted off big James French 6-3, 6-2.

In the doubles matches, the home clan won only one out of three. The victors for Maryville were Miles and Anderson, who dropped the Nicholas-Post team, 6-2, 6-4. Uthlaut and Lawrence lost to the Larson twins, 6-8, 7-9; Dinges and Waggoner lost to Shipshire and French 5-7, 4-6.

This afternoon the Maryville tennis team is at Greeneville playing a return engagement with the Tusculum squad. Next Monday they meet Lincoln Memorial University on the home clay. Remaining home on Tuesday, the Highlanders will take on East Tennessee State before journeying away the first week of May.

WOFFORD AND NEWBERRY FALL, ERSKINE WINS AGAINST SCOTS

The Highlander baseball team is home again with a pretty fair record—two wins and one loss—from their three-day tour in South Carolina. The Scots left Wednesday morning and beat Wofford College, 8-7, at Spartanburg, S. C. with a last inning three run rally. Then the Scots moved over to Newberry, S. C. to take Newberry College to the cleaners, 8-0, in what might be termed the best baseball the Scots have played this season. Finally a 8-4 loss to Erskine College and then home.

Scots Beat Wofford, 8-7

The game was not going too well for the Scots when the sixth inning began; the Highlanders were trailing, 4-6, with Ray Lillard pitching—they just could not get started. "Red" Fowler began pitching in the sixth, but another run came in. Then the Scots ticked, holding the Wofford men inside the plate. After a run scored for the Scots, they began rallying in the ninth inning and won the game with three runs scored that period.

Score by innings:

Maryville	020	003	003—8
Wofford	312	001	000—7

Newberry Falls, 8-8

Newberry College then met her defeat when the Maryville men came to call to the tune of 8-0. Ross Honaker hurled the game for the Highlanders, allowing only two hits.

Score by innings:

Maryville	404	012	010—8
Newberry	000	000	000—0

Erskine Turns Tables, 8-4

Erskine College, not to be undone, threw the book at Maryville with an 8-4 win over the Scots. Including two triples in their victory and hit parade, the Erskine boys rolled up all 8 runs before the Scots could manage two. Maryville's men tried another rally in the ninth for two runs but it was too late. During the course of the game, Reynolds knocked out a homer and Pentz tripled.

Score by innings:

Maryville	000	001	102—4
Erskine	030	200	30x—8

CHILLIES WIN TOURNAMENT

The Chillies led the Howees in Thursday's game by a score of 14 to 13 to win the softball tournament. Five games were played in all. Chillies winning three, Howees, one, and Tuesday's game ending 7 to 7.

Point system girls will begin track at the next meeting.

M.C. GIRLS ATTEND "SPORTS DAY" AT U.T.

Coeds from eleven colleges are attending a "Sports Day" at the University of Tennessee today.

Fifty Students Work On Parish Projects

BY ROWENA MANN

One of the strongest and most active organizations on the campus is the Parish Project. This group of students concentrates chiefly on Sunday School teaching and administration, teaching week-day Bible classes in local schools, supervising young people's societies, and the leadership of character building activities for boys and girls.

The project was organized in 1936 by Rev. Floyd Watt, pastor of the Baker Creek Church. It started out with only four members; today it has approximately fifty. At present it is directed by Dr. Ralph T. Case, professor of Bible and religious education.

All of the members of this organization are volunteers—usually pre-ministerial student and students planning to enter missionary or social work. They are enrolled in a class related to the project and receive credit for the satisfactory completion of the work each semester.

The project is jointly sponsored by the Board of Christian Education. Maryville College, the Board of National Missions, and the New Providence Presbyterian Church of Maryville.

Bible classes are taught in three schools in the vicinity of Maryville—Chilhowee View, Walland, and Forest Hill. Members also go to several churches and chapels—Coker Hill, Sunnybrook, Morganton, Mt. Tabor, Keeble Chapel and Home Avenue—to teach Sunday School.

Each member's work is scheduled at the same place each week, so they soon get to know and understand the boys and girls with whom they work.

BRAHAMS, BERTHOLF CHOSEN OFFICERS OF ATHLETIC BOARD

Brick Brahams was elected vice president of the Athletic Board of Control at the polls last Wednesday. Barbara Bertholf, junior, was chosen to fill the position of secretary. The elections for the vice-president, secretary, and other members of the board were held following the election of Bob Boring as president in previous office selections.

Jim Lillard, Herschell Merriman, and Alan Rock will fill the three positions open to men on the board, while Mae Merriweather and Sally Kemp will be the only two student women serving as members of the board.

Miss Jessie Heron and Coach Kenneth P. Johnson were elected for the faculty positions.

DR. SCHLESINGER, CHICAGO CHEMIST, SPEAKS HERE MAY 6

Dr. Herman I. Schlesinger, executive secretary of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Chicago, will visit Maryville College campus Wednesday, May 6. Dr. Schlesinger is traveling under the auspices of the East Tennessee section of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Schlesinger will speak in Pearsons Hall at a dinner in his honor. He will talk on inorganic hydrides.

COWAN, STEGALL SPEAK IN CHAPEL

Roger Cowan and Carroll Stegall will compete in the final T. T. Alexander oratorical contest which will be held in chapel Thursday, April 29. Cowan's topic is "The Resurrection—An Eternal Challenge" and Stegall's topic is "The Resurrection— A Present Day Miracle."

The contest is under the supervision of the Bible and Religious Education faculty. Judges for this final contest will be R. A. Harper, Superintendent, Maryville Public Schools; Mrs. Nita Eckles West, former M. C. teacher; and Dr. C. H. Gillingham, president emeritus of the school of religious education of Princeton, N. J. and formerly on the M.C. faculty.

DR. BRIGGS INITIATES SECOND WORKSHOP

A second workshop for elementary teachers living in Blount County will begin May 1. Classes under the direction of Dr. David Briggs, Professor of Psychology and Education, will meet every Friday and Saturday through May 29 at Maryville College.

Instructors for the workshop are Miss Elsie Burrell and Miss Carrie Lou Goddard, Supervising Teachers for the Blount County Schools, Mrs. D. S. Kramer, Instructor of Elementary Education at Maryville College, Dr. Lincoln Barker, Associate Professor of Psychology and Education at Maryville College, and Mr. Ed Goddard.

Both Dubby and his brother, Dot, like to eat the food at the grill, a fact which is relieving to their wives. Although both are married, neither have children. Customers Most Often Bickey Smith, Dubby says, is the customer who appears, reappears, and continues to reappear most often during the day. But others closely rival him. John Russ, Lil Conrad, Merle and Marion Henderson, Dot Stater, and several others whose faces are familiar also reappear frequently.

As we said, there are several "hangouts" for college students, but probably the one visited most often is Dubby's.

Fairer

The struggle for Italy seemed to be won by the West after last week's Christian Democrat victory at the polls. Both Russia and the United States had exerted strong efforts to swing the two-day, week-end ballotting in their direction. Premier Alcide de Gasperi's party will have an absolute majority in the Italian Chamber of Deputies and, with support from other anti-Red parties, a working majority in the Senate.

Cooler

Defense Secretary Jim Forrestal started plumping for a bigger (66-group) US Air Force. Earlier, when congressmen wanted to hike our air power from 55 to 70 groups, he had held out for UMT and a draft. Legislators eyed those proopsals coolly, but now the administration wanted all three. Cooler still was the estimated $45 billion in military costs for the next three years.

Larger

Another shift in the Truman cabinet was announced last week. As a further part of the European Recovery Plan, to which Studebaker prexy Paul Hoffman was appointed director, the President named W. Averell Harriman ambassador-at-large. The former Secretary of Commerce will represent the United States in all nations cooperating with the Marshall plan. Charles Sawyer, ambassador to Belgium, was nominated to succeed Harriman, subject to aprpoval of the Senate.

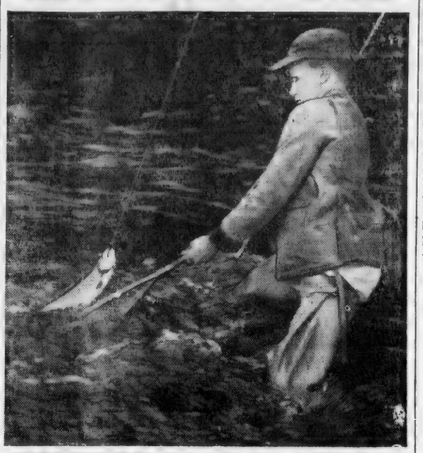
Later

By the end of the week most of the nation's 400,000 soft coal miners were back at work—urged to return by their union leaders after Lewis' back to work order. The UMW chieftan had been fined $20,000 on charges of criminal contempt of court; his union owed the government $1.4 million after sentence was passed in district court. On recommendation of the government, however, civil charges against the unionist were postponed indefinitely.

Stopper

Michigan's Art Vandenberg, who doesn't want it, won the Republican presidential nomination in a mock convention at Washington & Lee University. A Dewey-Taft Stop Stassen move shifted the lead to the senator. The near-by Washington Post noted: "Stassen, who has carried every other college convention, was. . . the personal choice—if they voted GOP, which most won't—of the great majority of students."

Freer



Tense nerves in Austria relaxed when the Russ commander agreed to let British and Americans pass freely to their respective airports in Vienna's Red Zone outskirts. How long the lull would last was anyone's guess.

Dr. Barbour, Dr. Baird Named Candidates For Church Moderator

Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville and speaker of the 1948 February Meetings, was named with Dr. Jesse H. Baird as a candidate for the moderatorship of the 160th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. Dr. Baird is from the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, California. He, also, has visited Maryville campus, leading one of the chapel services last year.

The moderatorship is the highest honorary position in the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Maryville Resident Writes About Arrival of Birds

Mr. Herman R. Bean who lives on Court Street recently read a reference to the arrival of birds which was printed in Lucy Templeton's column. Bean, a local bird lover, always keeps a feeding board for the various birds in his yard, and was impressed by Miss Templeton's observations. He wrote her a letter whch was later printed in her column in the News-Sentinel as follows:

bird arrivals has stirred my interest to write you.) The first whippoorwiil sounded off on the morning of April 8 just before daylight in the college woods. The first wood thrush was heard in the evening of April 9, in the same vicinity.

"The first brown thrasher I heard burst forth into singing was about March 16. But this one may have been the one I saw back in January during the severe cold spell. I believe he wintered in the college woods. His singing may have been due to the arrival of his mate, as I have seen a pair in the back yard. This was the fourth time I have noticed the brown thrasher spending the winter around home.

"The catbird is due here now, but I haven't seen or heard one. The indigo bunting ought to arrive in a few days. He will announce his arrival with his gay song and the chances are that he will only be heard and not seen at first, as he usually inhabits a low thicket bordering a field.

"I was about to forget to mention the Baltimore warbler I heard yesterday morning (April 15).

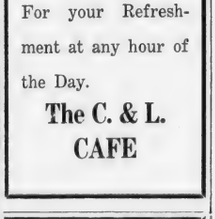
"Next after the indigo bunting possibly will be the summer tanager or the yellow-breasted chat. From my observation they arrive fairly close to the same time. When they arrive spring will really be here.

"I am interested in a pair of robins that are building their nest in a Chinese elm by the side of our driveway. The top blew out of this tree two years ago and where one of the limbs had been trimmed it has turned upward with a lot of small limbs coming out around the end, making an ideal place for them to build. It looks almost completed. Robins do not always select such a good place for a nest.

"I was watching a robin a few days past that was on the driveway, which has recently been covered with fine gravel. He would hop and then stop and then start knocking the gravel with his bill. I first thought he was getting gravel for his craw, but after scattering the gravel he came out with a small red worm. Out of nine times he came up seven worms. I have watched robins feeding in the lawn and wondered whether they saw or heard their prey. This observation convinced me that they hear Mr. Angle Worm."

Fire Escapes Scheduled For Improvements

Fire escapes on Baldwin and Pearsons will be reconditioned during the vacation months to comply with the present State Fire Code.



The lower balconies on the three existing Baldwin fire escapes will be enlarged and reconditioned. Supporting columns will be installed, and rigid stairs from the balconies to the ground will be added. A new fire escape, exactly like the new ones on Memorial, will also be erected.

The two existing Pearsons fire escapes will also have their lower balconies enlarged and reconditioned, and rigid stairs from the balconies to the ground will be installed.

'Mountain Girl,' Orchestra Concert Presented Tonight

Vawter, Huffman Write Original Operetta Score

The annual orchestra concert will be given tonight at 8 p. m. in Alumni Gym, the program being divided into two sections with the first half a regular style concert by the orchestra, and the second, an operetta, "Mountain Girl."

Directed by W. Curtis Hughes, the orchestra will play "Pavanne" by Martin Gould; "Tanglewood Pool," Newell Chase; and "In the Village" and "Procession of the Sadar" from Caucasian Sketches by Ippolitov-Ivanov.

"Mountain Girl," an original score by Dorothy Vawter and Charles Huffman, is a courtroom scene. The plot concerns the heroine, a mountain girl named Mary, whose father is trying to marry her to a city boy. She does not want to marry him as he is already in love with a neighboring mountain boy. They run away together but are brought back by the angry father. The trial is to decide whether or not she must obey her father. At this point one of the audience rises and declares himself to be the brother of the city boy involved. His testimony convinces the father that his daughter would be unhappy, and he gives her her choice.

Mary, the heroine, is sung by Rella Anderson. Her lawyer is John Shew; her father, Ed Goddard; and his lawyer, Sam Broyles. Bill Diehl is the man in the audience, and Bob Holley as the judge and Paul Kidder as the court clerk complete the soloists. The courtroom audience is the chorus who sing the opening comments and the finale.

Costumes will be ordinary clothing and background music will be provided by the orchestra.

Battle For Jerusalem

Taking advantage of the nearly completed British evacuation, Hagana militia began the heaviest fighting thus far in Jerusalem and appeared about to gain full mastery there. The Jews appear everywhere on the offensive while 30,000 Arab troops hover on the border "to rescue Palestine before May 15," the official date Britain gives up rule over the Holy Land. King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan will be the titular commander-in-chief of forces from Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Egypt, Syria, and Lebanon, each under its own national leader and represented on a supreme military council base in Abdullah's capitol. Jewish strength is estimated at about 80,000 actual or potential.

Solid South?

House Speaker Joe Martin yesterday called on Tennessee representatives at the Nashville state convention to help establish a "two party" system in the South. Stressing "home rule" as the best possible antidote for Communism, he declared, "We intend to clean Communists out of places of power, influence, and trust." Claiming that the New Deal had split the Democratic party wide open, he called on Southern Democrats, many of whom are in "revolt" against the adminstration, to lay aside "the halter of one party domination."

I.R.C.

Jim Frost and Peggy Wakefield will present a program of international music at IRC Monday night. This will be the last meeting of the year and will be held in Bartlett Hall at 6:45.

ART CLASSES GIVE EXHIBITION, MAY 6-17

An exhibition of work done by Maryville College art students will be on display in the library May 6-17, Mr. David E. Bernard, instructor in art, recently announced.

The exhibition will be taken from the second semester work and will include projects from the freshmen class in color and design. It will also be made up of sculpture in plaster and wood from the sophomore class.

Annual Senior Chapel Held Saturday May 15

The annual senior chapel will be held Saturday, May 15, at the regular chapel hour.

Seniors will wear their caps and gowns and will have entire charge of the program. Charles Hoglan is in charge of arrangements.

Choir Honors Ralph Colbert With "Requiem"

Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" will be given by the Vesper Choir tomorrow afternoon at 4 p. m. in the First Baptist Church, in memory of Ralph Colbert, former choir director. Sponsored by YM and YW, the program will be directed by Mr. Harry Harter. Accompanying the choir are Miss Katharine C. Davies at the organ and Dan Winter at the piano.

The "Requiem", a choral setting sung for the repose of the souls of the dead, is divided into seven parts. Each part is similar to a short anthem. Rella Anderson, soprano, and baritone Ed Goddard will be the soloists.

Mr. Colbert was the Vesper Choir director from 1936 until 1942. From then until his death on August 3, 1943, he was employed at the Aluminum plant. His wife and son reside in Maryville.

The program, which replaces the regular Y meetings, will last forty-five minutes. This is the final event in the Fine Arts Festival and the beginning of the college participation in National Music Week.

Geography Class Visits Norris Dam Thursday

Faculty Announces Special Studies Grading System

The Faculty Committee on Special Studies has worked out the following policy regarding grades on special studies.

Each special-studies student will be given a grade at the end of the first semester of his work. If he leaves college or transfers to another college, this grade becomes his permanent record for the first semester of his work. But, for those who complete the full two semesters of special studies this first-semester grade will be only a temporary or mid-year grade which will be superseded by the final grade.

Thus a student who has a B grade on the first semester of his special studies may complete a total project of such quality as to merit an A as final grade, and the A is the grade for the full six hours and not merely for the last three. In like manner a B might become a C if the final results fall below the promise of the first semester.

For purposes of semester averages or honor roll computation the temporary grade will be used as part of the current semester's record.

Students Acclaim Choirs' "Spring-Time Serenade"

"Springtime Serenade," acclaimed as one of the best performances of the year, was presented by the All Girls' Choir and the Men's Glee Club last night in the Alumni Gym as the the opening of the Fine Arts Festival. Accompanying the chorus on the organ, W. Curtis Hughes also directed the entire production from the organ bench. Other accompanists were Fred Fred Sieber and Marian Wailer. Roger Cowan was commentator, and introduced each selection.

Silver streamers glistened against a dark blue background as different colored lights were played against them. The emblem of the All Girls' Choir, was on the facade of the stage surrounded by large artificial flowers. The gym was darkened after each number except for the dim blue lights on the pianos and organ. The set and lighting were the product of Howard Cameron and Chet Shieber.

DICK HAMILTON UNDERWENT APPENDECTOMY MONDAY

Richard Hamilton, sophomore physical education major from Maryville, had an emergency appendectomy Monday night. Dr. Vinsant performed the operation at Blount Memorial Hotspital.

'M' CLUB SCHEDULES HIKE FOR SATURDAY

The annual "M" Club hike will be held the week-end of May 9. The girls will leave Saturday at noon for the cabin of the Smoky Mountain Hiking Club and will return Sunday night.

New members will be initiated and officers for the coming year will be elected.

Six Music Students Present Recitals At Chilhowee Club

Howell, Hall, Rich, Cook, Barnwell, Anderson Perform May 6, 7 and 8

Margaret Howell, Betty Hall, Janet Rich, Martha Barnwell, Doris Cook, and Rella Anderson will be presented in senior recitals May 6, 7 and 8. Each recital will be given in the Chilhowee Club House at 8:00 p. m.

Miss Barnwell, a pianist from Maryville, and Miss Hall, lyric soprano from Bryson City, North Carolina will be presented Thursday evening, May 6. Miss Barnwell will play "Sinfonia in E Major," Bach; "Sonata Op. 27, No. 1, Andante — Allegro — Allegro molto e vivace," Beethoven; "Intermezzo Op. 118, No. 1," Brahms; "Aufschwung," Schumann; "Broillards," Debussy; and the "Coronation Scene" (Boris Godounoff), Moussorgsky-Pattison. Miss Hall will sing "Come Raggio de Sole," Caldara; "Pur dicesti o boccca bella," Lotti; "Tu lo Sai," Torelli; the song cycle, "Woman's Life and Love, Op. 42," Schumann; "Ou va la jeune Hinduse" (Indian Bell Song-Lakme), Delibes; "The Day Is No More," Carpenter; "The Little Shepherd's Song," Watts; and "The Russian Nightingale," Alabieff.

Anderson, Cook Pianists

Miss Anderson, pianist from Maryville, and Miss Cook, another pianist from Baltimore, Maryland wil present their recital Friday evening, May 7. Miss Anderson will play "Three-Part Invention in D minor," Bach; "Sonata in F Major (K. 533) Allegro—Andante— Rondo," Mozart; "Children's Corner," Debussy; "Poissous d'or," Debussy; and "Concerto No. 3, Op. 26, Andante—Allegro," Prokofieff. Mr. Dan Winter will accompany the concerto at the second piano. Miss Cook will play "Sontata Op. 10, No. 3, Presto—Largo e mesto —Menuetto— Rondo," Beethoven; "Grande Valse Brillante Op. 18," "Etude Op. 10, No. 3," and "Scherzo Op. 31," by Chopin.

Howell Soprano

Miss Howell, a soprano from Maryville, and Miss Rich, a pianist also from Maryville, will present their recital Saturday evening, May 8. Miss Howell's numbers include "Se tu m'ami, se sospiri," Pergolesi; "Donzella fugite," Cavalli; "Amarilli," Caccini; "Rugiadose odorose," Scarlitti; "Beau Soir" and "Mandolin," Debussy; "Le fidele coeur" and "Arietta," Vidal; "Depuis le jour" (Louise), Charpentier; "O Nuhler wald," "Wie bist du mein Konigen," Meinlied," "Vergebliches Standchen," Brahams; "Floods of Spring," Rachmaninoff; "Come Unto These Yellow Sands," La Forge; "When I Bring to You Colour's Toys," Carpenter; and "At The Well," Hageman. Miss Rich will play "Gigue from French Suite No. 5," Bach; "Sonata in F Minor" and "Sonata in E Major," Scarlatti; "Nocturne Op. 27, No. 1," Chopin; "Intermezzo Op. 119, No. 6," Brahms; "Le Rossignol," Liszt-Alabieff; "Le Vent dans la plaine," Debusy; "Suite for Two Pianos Op. 15," "Romance—Polonaise," Arensky.

Roger Cowan Wins T. T. Alexander Oratorical Prize

Roger Cowan, sophomore political science major from New Jersey, won first prize in the T. T. Alexander Contest finals Thursday in Chapel. His opponent was Carrol Stegall. Cowan's subject was "The Resurrection—An Eternal Challenge." Judges in the final contest were: Mrs. Nita Eckles West, former M. C. teacher, R. A. Harper, Superintendent of Maryville Public Schools, and Dr. C. H. Gillingham, former M. C. faculty member.

Cowan is social chairman-elect, member of Theta Alpha Phi, Student Vols Program chairman, member of the Y cabinet, and vice-president of both the sophomore class and Athenian society.

Stegall's subject was "The Resurrection— A Present Day Miracle." Each speaker received applause at the conclusion of his address.

The orations Thursday morning were the culmination of this year's contest in which five other students were eliminated in preliminary competition. The $100.00 prize, divided proportionately between the two finalists, is awarded annually, but on alternate years the competition is between men and women. Next year the women compete. Subjects for the contest are among the following: The Deity of Jesus Christ, Christ's Atonement For Sin, The Resurrection, and Salvation Through Faith.

The donor of the award remains anonymous, but has named the contest in honor of one of Maryville's foreign missionaries. The contest is under the supervision of the Bible and Religious Education faculty.

Staffs For 1949 Chilhowean Chosen

Mills, McClure, Davis, Saul, Warner, Webb, Kay Selected Recently

Chilhowean Editor Dorothy Holverson and Business Manager Joe Claud announced staff appointments to the editorial and business staffs of the 1949 yearbook this week. Recently elected thmselves, the two chose Mary Mills, Martha McClure, and Ruth Davis as members of the editorial staff. Stuart Saul will be the artist for the book.

Charles Warner, Mary Holly Webb, and Robert Kay were chosen to make up the business staff. Each of the appointees are rising juniors, necessarily so since the Chilhowean is always a project of the junior class.

U. T. PRESENTS TRAUBEL CONCERT

Helen Traubel, the American Wagnerian soprano, will be presented in a concert in the U. T. Alumni Memorial Auditorium, May 5. This concert, originally scheduled on December 6, was postponed due to Miss Traubel's illness. She comes to the U. T. audience on Wednesday evening at 8:15 p. m. in the final concert of the university artist series.

Campus Drive For Clothes For Japan Gets Under Way

A campus-wide drive for clothing for Japan will open this week end, according to Eleanor Hawley, Pearsons chairman of the drive. Chairmen have been appointed in the women's dormitories and in Carnegie Hall, each of them being assigned to make arrangements for contacting students on the campus. The first collection will be held this week end, and the final collection will be on Saturday, May 15.

Anna Katherine Knapp previously held a lone campaign in Pearsons for gathering discarded clothes to send to Japan, and out of her efforts grew the decision to make the drive campus-wide.

Becky Davis was appointed chairman of Baldwin, Ruby Jean Harris, chairman of Memorial and Bob Holley chairman of Carnegie. Any student living off-campus and wishing to contribute clothing should see Holley.

Miss Nathalie Wright, assistant librarian, has volunteered to take charge of mailing all the clothing immediately after school has closed. She offered to pack all boxes and mail them at her own expense, thereby allowing the committee to concentrate all their efforts on gathering the clothing.

Knoxville College Choir Sings, President Speaks At Vespers Sunday Night

Dr. Reed J. Miller, president of Knoxville College, will speak at the Vesper service tomorrow night. The Knoxville College Coleridge-Taylor Chorus, choir of approximately forty voices, will sing. The choir is directed by Newell Coleridge, head of the music department. Marcellus E. Saunders and Barbara Coates will accompany the chorus in selected spirituals and anthems.

Vespers will be held in the Alumni Gym at the usual time.

Alpha Sigma

Alpha Sigma will nominate next year's officers at their meeting tonight in the Y rooms. The meeting will begin at 6:15.

Jimmy Dance Directs "Wizard of Oz" Production

Program Includes Numerous Songs, Dances

Coronation of May Queen Marilyn Hartpence and King Charles Hoglan will preceede the annual May Day Pageant this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. in the amphitheatre. The class attendants will meet at the bridge, the girls approaching down the path from the right and the fellows coming from the left, and will proceed to the middle of the amphitheatre. The King and Queen will follow and kneel to be crowded by the senior attendants. They will then be seated in the reviewing stand for the pageant.

Queen's Attendants

Senior attendants are Gelolo Kell and Mary Jane Long. Junior members of the court are Betty Jane Moser, Earl Black, Jim Torrey, and Edith Wilson. Those from the sophomore class are Henry Callaway, Sarah Durant, Margaret McNeill, and Bob Watkins, with the freshman class represented by George Ogle, Alice Huddleston, Jane McMillan, and Jim Lester. The crown bearers and flower girl are Merilew Clark, Larry Lee Lowe, and Patsy Taylor. Trainbearers are Kay Llewellyn and Judy Hill. The class attendants will all wear organdy gowns made from the same pattern, but each class group will wear a different color. The two seniors will wear aqua taffeta dresses.

"Over The Rainbow"

Following the coronation, the scene for the pageant will be set by Andy Clark as the Jester. Except for the announcements of the guests by Paul Yambert as the Soldier with Green Whiskers, and songs by the choirs, the remainder of the program will be in pantomime.

"Over the Rainbow to Oz" takes place in the magic fairyland of Oz, created by L. Frank Baum in his children's boks. Oz is divided into four lands, red, yellow, blue, and purple, with a green city in the center. The courtiers all wear green, and the dance groups represent the different countries. The amphitheatre represents the palace garden of the Emerald City. The action concerns the happenings connected with a surprise birthday party her subjects are giving Princess Ozma, their ruler.

Witch Animates Doll

Jellia Jamb, played by Jackie Linderman, is the royal housekeeper of the palace and opens the pageant by summoning a number of Maids-of-All-Work and Gardeners, who tidy the garden while they sing "The Merry Old Land of Oz." Next to appear is the Wicked Old Witch, enacted by Barbara Edwards, who is determned to ruin the party. She prepares to work black magic on a lifesized patchwork doll she has with her. The Soldier catches her, and she is tried by Princess Ozma. In an attempt to divert attention from herself, she flings the "Powder of Life" over the doll, who leaps into the air. In the resulting confusion the Wicked Witch escapes, screaming that she will have vengeance.

Ozma Surprised

Lois Doebler, the Patchwork Doll, shows them how she can use her new powers and dances. Just then the Chefs rush in with a big cake and sing to a dazzled Ozma. Guests of every size and shape arrive— Mermaids, Santa Claus, the Doll People, the blue Munchkin farmers—all from the lands of Oz.

MAY FIRST REMAINS DAY OF FESTIVITY FROM EARLIEST DAYS

BY HAZEL HOLM

May first has been a time for gaiety, dancing, flowers, and queens from the earliest times in many lands. Its origin for merry-making began when man first noticed that the warmth and joy of spring always takes the place of a dreary cold winter.

The Romans worshipped Flora, goddness of flowers, at this time. When they occupied Great Britain for several centuries, they introduced their festival customs, and thus May Day has grown, spread, and changed. The fairest girl of a village was crowned "Lady of May," and during the entire day she sat in a flower-covered arbor while other children danced and sang.

Every town erected a fixed May pole and on the morning of the Day, the people adorned it with wreaths of flowers, young and old participating in the dances. London once built a pole 134 feet high. Puritans objected to this wild festivity, and the observance of May Day was almost abandoned in England.

In Sweden, May Day is still celebrated from its heathen origin. On May Day eve, huge bonfires are built, around which young people dance. Winter is burned in effigy and ashes are placed over the grave.

In Ireland, as a substitute for sacrifice, fires are lighted at short distances, and the cattle are forced to pass between them.

Americans have their ways of welcoming spring also. The girls in Wellesley College in Massachusetts have for many years held a hoop rolling contest among the members of the senior class. The winner is supposed to be the first one married.

STASSEN FAVORED AS NEXT PRESIDENT BY STUDENT POLL

Now is the time when excitement is high in this land of ours. The Republican and Democratic National Conventions are drawing near, and this is election year. Who is to be the next president of the United States? Here on the hill, we perhaps don't get to know too much about the political situation, but we are interested. Your reporter has taken it upon herself to ask some people, at random, around campus who they think will be the next president. Here are the answers.

Richard Ray—"Stassen."

Don "Rip" Reeves—"Stassen."

Miss Ware—"Mr. Stassen, very definitely."

Zoe Sayre—"Stassen."

George Ogle—"Whoever is on the republican ticket. Stassen, Dewey, or Taft."

Katherine Boyer—"Stassen."

Mary Holly Webb—"Stassen."

Miss Halolck—"I hope Mr. Truman will be re-elected."

Miss Harwood—"I hope that Truman will be president, too."

Brick Brahams—"A republican, Stassen, I suppose."

Rosemary Gamble—"Stassen. I certainly hope so. He's the best best man. I'm a Democrat, but I'm for him."

It seems obvious that if these persons are representative of the average American citizen, then Mr. Stassen will be the next president of the United States.

SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1948

SOME UNFINISHED BUSINESS—

Now that the end of the year is practically upon us, we realize that we have collected more than a little unfinished business in our files. The stacks of papers mainly consist of unanswered letters to the editor and of ideas of our own that we intended to write an editorial about sometime, but just never have.

There are a few letters which maybe should have been brought before you. One was a long one from John Shell, a senior last year and president of last year's Student Council. Shell is still vitally interested in the workings of the student body, and wrote to us when we printed an editorial on senior privileges. He wished us well and stated that senior privileges had been on the Council list for a long time. He thought perhaps we would receive them this year, as we did. They are working beautifully, too.

Maryville vs. Academic World

We had another letter from J. Edward Thomas, a former student who was editor of the HIGHLAND ECHO in 1941 and who is now a law student at Harvard. Thomas, as an alumnus, would like to see Maryville become better known in the academic world. He feels that a small college such as ours has many advantages, a particular statement of his being that "close association of faculty and students and the opportunity for almost entire student body participation in extra-curricular activities are both conditions which lend themselves to the development of the savoir-faire essential to successful and happy living." He ended his letter by challenging the administration, the alumni, and the present student body to take progressive steps to raise Maryville to its rightful place among the colleges and universities of the country."

Writer Wanted

A third letter and a more recent one was that of Professor H. O. Long, a member of the Carson-Newman faculty. Asks he, "Do you happen to know anyone in your college who might be interested in collaborating with a song writer in writing a musical comedy? It is to be entitled SOUTHLAND RENDEZVOUS or some such title, depicting the romance and charm of the South." If anyone in college is interested this editor will gladly show them the full contents of the letter.

Correction, Please

Virginia Weest, a student last year, sent us a correction list not long ago. In one of our papers we had printed that Betsy Click was studying to be an airline hostess. Virginia says that Betsy is working at the Drexel Company in Philadelphia and is living in Mayfair, part of Philadelphia. Virginia herself is taking physical education at Sargent, a division of Boston University.

Other Letters

That covers about all that we feel we could have brought to your attention, but certainly not all we have received. We find every type of letter on the desk every once in awhile, letters from griping about very possible situation to bitter accusations that the editor runs the campus. It's almost flattering that some people would give us credit for holding as much power as they have seemed to think. Any student who pitches in and tries, though, can see that no one student can run affairs. Neither can any one group. Of course, there seems to be evidence to the contrary, but were every student interested enough nothing but pure democracy could reign on our campus. You couldn't prove that to some people, but we have no interest in making such a statement if it were not true. That's the way it has worked for four years, and we can't actually blame some people for feeling that they get tramped on. We felt the same way when we were a freshman and lived in Memorial. That year, in our estimation, a certain Baldwin crowd ran our whole class. Our suspicions were perfectly ridiculous and unfounded, but every one has to find that out for himself. We did.

Other Matters

Now that the end of the year is practically upon us, we realize a lot of things. We realize that we shouldn't allow anonymous letters to annoy us one bit. Nor should we allow gripers' letters to enter our mind. Some people aren't going to believe this, but two of the "gripingest" articles we've received have been from faculty members. One member had a second thought and came after the article before we could get it to the printers; the other article we refused to print.

The Way Things Go

That's the way things go. There is probably no possble way of changing matters. It's an experience for each individual, all these things put together. In view of this fact, we would like to hand out a bit of advice to all the underclassmen, though we realize no one will heed it. But just for the records, let it be said that if the entire student body should become vitally interested in campus affairs, inform themselves and inform others of true facts, unite as one body, and make firm decisions, then this would be the strongest student body on any campus. That, of course, is just a dream. There will continue to be bickering among students, and very little will be accomplished. There is a better way, though, if only in a dream.

Much Echo About Nothing

By CRAIG FISHER

. . . .or the Fifth Column. . . .

One of the more apalling symptoms of spring is the howling hord of idiots who converge on the tennis courts in the gray dawn, about the time criminals are traditionally hanged by their necks until dead. Heck bent on making the most out of college, they concentrate one half on getting the ball over the net, one half on shouting down their opponents. Dorm inmates allow themselves a few anti social thoughts, take another hitch on their blankets, and bury ther heads in their pillows in a grimly determined effort to wring another hour's sleep out of the day before breakfast takes over.

Grinding this column through the typewriter in the itty-bitty hours of Friday morning, we can't help but wistfully reminisce, as we pause for another bengedrine tablet, about the Gold Dust Twins, Dr. Echo and Mr. Hide, otherwise known as Gugger and Hoffman, who flourished in this column last year. We call it the gossip column's gold dust age. During the past month nearly every wit and nit-wit on the staff has had his fling in the bull pen, and we're hastening now to spike the rumor that Doc Griffitts is preparing to express his personality in this page. We call it prospecting for talent.

DISINTERRED: Speaking to an old alumnus some time ago, we heard an intriguing story on Doc Griffitts which we feel bound to pass on. Back in his green days, before the depression had wiped out his million and he was put to running the book store, some of the boys in the post office set off the Sears order for twelve pink unmentionables—in his name. When they arrived he was asked to come over and pick up his lab aprons. With everyone clustered around he carefully ripped open the carton, and immediately assumed the appearance of acute uneasiness. Daddy Knapp, who was manager of the book store at the time, strolled over and added to the merriment by a mumbled remark about track shorts. The next morning the roof of the chapel was seriously weakened when the unsuspecting dean read the following announcement: "Dr. Griffitts announces the arrival of the new uniforms for the track team. Report to the book store for your pair today."

CONDITIONING: Mel Fong, convinced by her disgustingly healthy room mates that the rigors of married life demanded more strength than she had, decided exercise was the answer. She followed a set of tennis by a hike around the seven mile loop, then went swimming. When she dragged her aching bones from bed the next morning, it was with the sincere conviction that she had better conserve all her available strength for married life.

SOLUTION: Bobby Neff, asked by Prof. Pieper what he would do about it if he went home and found his town run by a crooked politician, tersely replied, "Move out."

DE-ICER (approved by National Tuesday Night Underwriters' Association): a bunch of long stemmed irises as a follow up on a town date. For further details check with Janice Landstrom.

Another sign of the times is Art Lucas, who has found a new motive in life, which lives in town, owns a car, and does an amazing job of keeping him looking like a city preacher!

Report from the college infirmary: The trench mouth is going around. Pick your friends carefully. Ask them leading questions, like "Are your gums better today?" or "Do you, too, have pink tooth brush?" Sodium borate for mouth wash and a huge

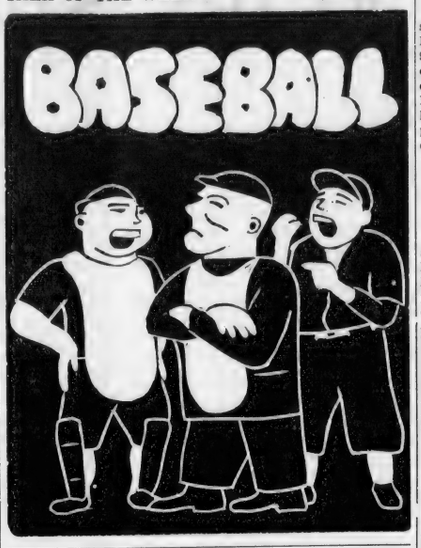
STUDENT COUNCIL

The Article on the Student-Faculty Senate was discussed at Student Council meeting on Wedensday night. Revisions were made and passed. It was voted that only this article would be tken before the regular meeting of the Student-Faculty Senate.



It was also voted that all committees of the Student Council will work under the new revisions of the constitution until the new constitution is set up and ratified.

A discussion was held on the work of the social committee, and especially the work of the managing body of the rec hall. A discussion was held concerning the working of a student during the summer under the student-help program, to get the rec hall in working order for the fall semester.

The new council and the old council will have a picnic on May 14, in the college woods.

LAMBERT—YOUNG WEDDING HELD FRIDAY, APRIL 23

Miss Delores Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Young, and Mr. George Lambert, Jr., son of Mrs. Lambert and the late Mr. Lambert, were married Friday, April 23, at the bride's home. The Rev. James M. Windham officiated.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Beth McCall. Mr. Bill Dinges was best man. Members of the immediate families were present. The couple took a short week-end honeymoon trip to Gatlinburg.

Mrs. Lambert is a freshman and Mr. Lambert is a freshman at Maryville. Miss McCall is a freshman and Mr. Dinges is a junior.

TODAY'S WORST POME

Though not poetry akin to that of Keats or Shelley, it seems that James Jones, sophomore, has caught something in the following rimes.

RETRIBUTION

At baseball and all football games,
What most amazes me
Is how much better I can call
Them than the referee.
My seat behind the hindmost perch,
Atop the topmost tier,
Affords the view from which I rant,
I rage, and jibe, and jeer.

My witticisms represent
In accents most unkind
The referee's defective sight
And feebleness of mind.
But there's one thought that bears him up,
That leaves him undismayed.
My services are free of charge;
The referee is paid.

The ECHO wishes to offer its sincerest apologies to the English department; however, we hope that Coach Honaker can appreciate this printing to some extent.

CAMERA CLUB

Camera Club will hold its spring hike and picnic Tuesday, May 4, from 2:00 p. m. until 9:00 p. m. It will be held in the college woods, amphitheater, and college farm. Two girls, Lois Deobler and Mary Hammelman, have been invited to attend and pose as models for the camera enthusiasts.

Theta Epsilon

Theta Epsilon will meet with Athenian in Bartlett Hall Saturday night. Bill Diehl will entertain. All Thetas are cordially invited.

Dr. Schlesinger Cancels Visit To Campus

The visit of Dr. Herman I. Schlesinger, executive secretary of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Chicago, has been cancelled.

●AS OUR HIGHLANDER baseball team drubbed Western Carolina in a double-header on foreign soil last Tuesday, it looks as if the M. C. nine have polished up their playing manners for the rest of the season. The Scot loss record now reads one loss each to Western Carolina, Erskine, and Hiwassee against a win record (through Tuesday's games) of ten victories and a 2-2 tie. The Scots have been playing some mighty good ball in the last week up through the Carolina double header.

●A HOME RUN made by Hugh Hamil in the LMU game of last Monday makes him the third man since the beginning of last season who has been able to pound out a bona fide home run on the home diamond. Bob Boring did it twice last year—in a game with Hiwassee and the closing game of the season against U. T. This year Boring started off his home hitting with a bang big enough to score a home run on his first trip to bat. Then Gene Reynolds got a homer in a game with the CIO local. Boring got two home runs Monday; the first, in the 3rd drove in two runs and the last one in the 8th just before Hamil joined the home-homer honor list. Pentz also got a circuit run, but upon an error of LMU's right fielder. So far in these two seasons no opponent batsmen has been able to score a home run here.

●THE PITCHING RECORD of the five pitchers who have held the mound for Maryville has held up good with the improvement in the Highlanders' fielding. Fowler has pitched the most games with four starts and is credited with two wins, two losses. Berrong has won two and lost one in his three times as starting pitcher. Honaker has a perfect record of three wins and Rowley pitched his first game against LMU Monday for a victory.

●HITTING has picked up in the Scot baseball club. This is how the batting record stood for the six leading batsmen through the double-header with Western Carolina Tuesday:

HONAKER ALLOWS NINE HITS, FOWLER 3 IN TWO GAMES

Improved hitting and fielding helped the Scots win twice, 10-8, 5-3, in the double-header at Western North Carolina last Tuesday. Honaker was the pitcher credited with the first victory and Fowler was the winning hurler in the second game.

Maryville Wins First Game 10-5

After allowing the Teachers a 5 run rally in the first inning, the Scots buckled down to tie the game in the fourth, 7-7. Then in the seventh, the Highlanders scored 3 runs to win the game. A 1 run rally in the seventh for the Teachers was too late. The final score was 10-8. Honaker allowed 9 hits, striking-out 1 and walking 2. The Scots earned 11 hits.

Runs: Ellis, Pressley, Bean—2, Heavner—2, Gibson, Brown; Buckley—2, K. Berrong, Boring, Hamil — 2, Reynolds, Pentz, Thomas, Honaker. Triples: K. Scots Take Second 5-3

In the second game the Maryville men dropped behind in the second, but won back the lead in the fifth when Hamil's double and singles by Reynolds and Pentz scored 2 runs. "Red" Fowler allowed 3 hits, fanning 4 men and walking 5. The Scots hit 9 times. Final score was 5-3 in favor of the visiting Highlanders.

Runs: Selzer, Williamson, Dyermond; Hamil, Reynolds, Pentz—2, Fowler. Doubles: Hamil. Struck out by: Dyermond—9; Fowler—4. Walked by: Dyermond—8; Fowler—5. Left on bases: Maryville—12, Teacher—8. Earned Runs: Maryville—2. Errors: Boring—3. Winning Pitcher — Fowler, Losing Pitcher—Dyermond. Hits: Maryville—9, Teachers—3.

Baseballers Down Lincoln Memorial 15-1, Last Monday

Maryville's Scotties flattened L. M. U., 15-1, Monday afternoon on the home diamond. Led by Bob Boring's two homers, the Scots rapped three L.M.U. pitchers for nine hits.

Rowley, making his first start of the season, gave up only one hit and isued five walks in the six innings he worked. Campbell, another rook, relieved Rowley at the start of the seventh and faced only 10 batters in the three innings he pitched.

L. M. U. jumped off to a one run lead in the first inning on three walks and an infield error.

The Highlanders scored 4 runs in the second inning on three errors, a fielder's choice and Pentz's single. They pushed five more runs across in the third on two erorrs, one walk, Berrong's single and Boring's circuit clout. The Scots scored 4 runs in the seventh on three walks, an error and a single. The final two runs came on consecutive home runs by Boring and Hamil.

Tenn. Tech Trims Maryville 14-3, At Cookville Hit-Fest

SCOTS MEET EMORY TODAY, LMU, UT AND MILLIGAN LATER

On the Scot diamond today, the invading Emory and Henry College is battling out the first game of a two game series with the Wasps. The Maryville squad, with three straight wins, is much improved in hitting and fielding and promises to give the Emory bunch a real run for their money.

Next Tuesday the Highlander baseball team packs up their troubles for a showing at Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate. Then Wednesday the Scots hop to Knoxville for a try at the University of Tennessee. On Friday the Highlanders accept the challenge of Milligan College on the Maryville diamond.

SCOTS HAVE THREE TENNIS BATTLES LEFT ON SLATE

Coach Johnson's net squad, now with three wins against five losses, wind up their season next week with home matches against Milligan and Tennessee Wesleyan and an away game with Chattanooga.

Monday morning the squad leaves for Chattanooga to avenge a 5-4 loss in the first match of the season. Milligan will bring strong team here on Thursday afternoon for a return match. The Buffaloes won the first match at Johnson City, 6-3.

A chance to end the season with a victory is expected Saturday when the Scottie court squad faces Tennessee Wesleyan on the Memorial Courts. The first meeting was a 4-3 decision for TWC.

Techmen Hit 13 Times Off Fowler, Honaker; Scotties Earn 6 Hits

Tenn Tech literally ran "hog wild" over the visiting Highlanders yesterday, 14-3, on the Cookeville diamond. Their hitting power was the main brunt of their atack—they hit 13 times in 39 legal times at bat, earning 4 doubles and 3 triples.

Maryville, minus its fast-ball hurler Leon Berrong, was pretty much at a loss for talent when the Techmen caught on to Honaker's and then Fowler's pitching. TPI started out with one run in the first inning, then knocked Honaker out of the box in the fourth, scoring 5 runs on 4 hits. Fowler came in, but it took him the whole fifth inning to put anything over on TPI, who scored three more times. An eighth inning rally of 5 more runs gave TPI too much of a lead. Two Scot runs came in in the ninth, a homer by Boring scored one and then a single by Thomas sent home Hamil who had walked. Honaker made the other score in the third innnig when Baldwin singled, driving him in.

Pitching all the way around was good, as far as balls and strikes go. Honaker and Fowler together walked only three men and fanned four. Of course this may have been because the Techmen were too busy hitting to bother walking or fanning. Tech's pitcher, C. Kinnamon struck-out six Scots and walked two. Maryville hit six times and errored five times.

SCOT TRACKSTERS PREP FOR STATE MEET NEXT SAT.

Scottie tracksters increased the tempo of their training this week to prepare for the state collegiate meet which they plan to enter at Sewanee next Saturday, May 9.

Improvement, which the team will need to make a good showing at the meet, is coming slow for Coach Davis' hopefuls on the cinders.

Maryville's best hopes for placing in the meet depend upon Kay's hurdle runs, Gillette's mile, and something of a miracle to allow the dash men to place.

With U. T.'s distance men, Southwestern's relay team, and T.P.I.'s dashmen participating, the meet at Sewanee next Saturday is expected to be heated in every event.

NETMEN FALL TO TUSCULUM, 2-5

Maryville's netmen, in a match last Saturday afternoon at Greeneville, lost to Tusculum, 2-5. Bill Lawrence and Bill Dinges were our only winners, with Lawrence defeating Roger Post 6-7, 10-8, 6-2, and Bill Dinges topping James French 6-0, 2-6, 6-2.

In the other singles Wes Miles lost to Peter Larson 5-6, 1-6, Bill Uthlaut lost to Roger Nichols 6-1, 6-3, and Glen Knecht was defeated by James Hepshere 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

In the doubles Miles and Anderson were upset by Nichols and Post, 2-6, 4-6. Uthlaut and Lawrence lost to Larson and French, 0-6, 5-7.

ETS Teachers Trim Scot Netmen, 7-2

East Tennessee State took five singles and two out of three doubles events to drop the Scotties, 7-2, Tuesday on the home courts. This was the Buaccaneer's second win of the season over Coach Johnson's varsity racketmen; they won the first match, 6-2, at Johnson City on April 13.

Bill Dinges, playing number five position, was the only Scot to win in the singles. Dinges trimmed Bowers, 7-5, 6-2. In the other singles Miles, playing number one position, was downed by Burrows, 6-2, 7-5. Lawrence lost to Derrick, 1-6, 1-6. Uthlaut put up a good fight before going down before Isbell, 5-7, 8-10. Knecht lost to Askers, 0-6, 6-2, 5-7. Waggoner also lost to Clark, 2-6, 3-6.

In the doubles, the Scot combination of Lawrence-Dinges defeated Askers-Bowers, 6-3, 6-0. Miles-Anderson lost to Burrows-Derrick, 0-6, 8-10. Uthlaut and Waggoner were dropped by Isbell and Clark, 3-6, 1-6.

TRACK TESTS HELD AT FINAL POINT SYSTEM MEETING

Tests for track for the point system girls will be held at the final meeting of the year, Tuesday, May 4. The Chillies and Howees have had two track practices which were Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

Points for all girls for the whole semester will be posted Wednesday morning.

INTRAMURALS

BY DUNCAN BENNETT

The Intramural Softball schedule is drawing to a close. Wednesday of next week will see the last of this great series, unless two teams tie for the lead in which case there will be a play-off. Only six games were played this week due to the Baseball game Monday afternoon with L.M.U. Intramural Softball may soon be classed as a hazardous occupation. We make this observation after seeing, Olsen, Ward and Chadwick journeying to the dispensary.

We consider ourselves worthy of a pat on the back this week. Out of six games played it was possible to find positive results in the scorebooks for three of them. We're batting .500.

We have also heard rumors to the effect that the Eight Balls beat the Wizards and the BOB's got licked by the Screwballs, but nothing concrete you understand.

We also wish to state unquivocally that the Creamers did beat the Eight Balls. They were so excited over a last inning rally that someone neglected to record it in the score book.

75-Hour Students Begin Special Studies In Fall

Students who have accumulated seventy-five or more hours of credit but have not begun special studies are expected to begin that work in September. They are to make contact with their major advisers at once and work out new plans as to choice of subject and program of work being done during the summer. There will be real value in having the subject in mind and in the avoiding of loss of time in the fall, according to Dean Hunter.

Art Club

The Art Club will hold a picnic in the college woods next Monday evening, May 3, at 5:30. Part of the expenses for it came from commissions from sales of prints on exhibition in the library recently.

The remainder of the money was spent for tools for the art department.

Dormitory Rooms Are Selected For Next Year

This week the students who are planning to stay on the campus next fall seelcted and signed up for their rooms.

In Memorial and Baldwin the girls drew numbers, and those with the lowest numbers received the first choice for the rooms which they wanted.

Carnegie and Pearsons used the policy of "first come first served."

Girls who are transferring from one dormitory to another had to choose their rooms after the persons now living in the dormitory had selected theirs.

SALES SENSE The book store is stocked up with paper napkins, 125 for 16 cents. If you want to surprise your table, give them a taste of civilization by stealing over and buying a pack. Rumors have it that the dry cleaning agents are organizing to move in and break up this threat to prosperity.

CRADLE ROLL: Kiger was out in front of Thaw waving cigars yesterday. His English class sang "Rockable Baby" to him, to Miss planation: his horse had just become a mother.

MRS. MARYVILLE 1948: Do lores Young had hardly become the beauty queen representative to Lenoir City before she was dis qualified by the staggering fact that she got married. Her best friends didn't seem to know anything about it. The honeymoon was spent in Gatlinburg where she and George Lambert, her hubby, celebrated by studying their next day's Spanish together.

ROSTER: But that is only the start. We've compiled a list, not complete, we suppose, of those who are signing away their liberty this summer. On Commencement Day, Lorrie Swift and Paul Abbott, Lois Thomas and Owen McGarity, Jean Almy and Bob Seale, and Janet Rich and Bob Garner. Sometime this summer, Jean Blanchard and Don Lehman, Bernell Crowder and Ally Clayton, Esther Cornelius and Bill Swenson, Ruth Williams and Bill Brewer, Lorrie Nunn and Ed Voorhees, Ed Pancoast and Unie Billings, Merle Headrick and Glen Smith, Becky Walton and Julian Gresham, Alberta Fink and Dick Smiley, Emily Leety and Noble Pribble. Ginger Claybough and Tom Eckert, Ouida Newman and Buster Sloan, Pat Dennis and Stuart Wilson, Miss Lanfear and Mr. Bernard, Dot Stater and Lyn, Gene Carden and Lorraine. Allah help me if I left a couple out or put the wrong one in!)

CHOIR TRAVELOGUE: Footsie Housch and Katie Carpenter copped in Birmingham for jay walking. The cop asked them if they were from the sticks and didn't know any better. They said they were from Maryville and he let them go. Betty Rock, unconditioned to beauty rest mattresses, spent the first two nights comfortably sleeping on the floor. Mr. McClelland had a suitcase full of women's clothes which we would have paid money to see him explain to his wife. Mr. Harter urged repeatedly that the choir be at the busses at 8:30 next morning. Everyone was prompt but him. Had the alarm set for seven and there were eight in the house, he stammered. Montgomery's high school nearly broke up the concert when Betty Hall sang her Bomb in Gilead solo. They really spread the good relations there. Head of the Birmingham Southern choir said it was the best choir he had ever heard, 'tremendously impresser." Head of the U. T. music department said it was the best choir in the south. Similar remarks from disc jockeys, pastors, music teachers, and plain folks made the choir grow the fattest heads this side of Philadelphia. They missed Big Jim Folsom, though we expect he would have been delighted to see them.

Jimmy Dance Directs "Wizard of Oz"

Dorothy, a little girl from Kansas (Jean Almy), leading her pet dog (Lady MacTavish), the brainless Scarecrow, played by Charles Williams, the Cowardly Lion, acted by Ed Goddard, and Joe Claud as the rusty Tin Woodman. Ozma invites them to join her party. Hearing their requests, she suggests that her royal magician, the Wonderful Wizard of Oz, may be able to help them in their troubles. The Scarecrow wants a brain, the Woodman, a heart, the Lion, courage, and Dorothy wants to go home.

The Wicked Witch appears and almost ruins the party but is vanquished by Dorothy with a bucket of pink lemonade. The Wizard (Jimmy Dance) arrives to help the group. However, he can do nothing for Dorothy who is eventually helped by the princess. The party concludes with the Maypole dance.

The entire program is under the direction of Miss Jessie Wild, and W. Curtis Hughes is musical director. Dance arrangements were made by Mrs. Queener and Lois Doebler. Accompanists are Sandy Smith for the coronation, Fred Sieber and Ann Jenkins for the pageant. David E. Bernard supervised the set construction, and sound effects were provided by Lorrie Swift. The script was written by Jimmy Dance and Anna Sakaizawa.

The program will be given regardless of the weather and will be in the Alumni Gym if it rains.

MRS. WALKER LENDS GARDEN PLOTS TO MARRIED STUDENTS

Mrs. John Walker has made it possible for a number of married students to have garden plots this year by having a space just east of the trailer camp plowed and harrowed. Sections 42x20 feet have been staked off and aspiring farmers are already sowing crops. Those taking advantage of this agricultural opportunity are the Huffstetlers, Dilliners, Naundorfs, Youngs, Kribbs, and Setterfields.

May First Remains Day of Festivity

Mawr College in Pennsylvania the festival is especially elaborate. A yoke of oxen pulls the Maypole upon campus, and then it is woven. Acts of Shakespeare and Robin Hood plays are presented.

Vassar College near Poughkeepsie, New York, holds field sports before the crowning of the queen. Many times the college has broken its record in the fence vault, high jumping, seventy-five yard dash, and the hop, step, and jump.

In California, spectators flock to see the folk games, dances, Grecian floral games, and chariot races at the State Normal School in San Jose.

So whether its a bonfire or the Wizard of Oz, it's still the same beautiful spring and nature will always mark the close of winter with an outbreak of new life and beauty.

WRITERS' WORKSHOP

Mildred Orr and Nan Wooten read at Writers' Workshop Wednesday afternoon. Miss Orr read "And Still They Sing" and was criticised by Dorothy Vawter. Miss Wooten read three pieces of free verse, two of them on the same theme. Rebecca Ruth Walton criticised.

At the end of next week, "Chips", the annual workshop publication will go on sale at thirty-five cents per copy. Members of Workshop will sell the copies. This is the second volume of "Chips," the first of which came out last spring in answer to long-standing requests that workshop material might some way be made public. Usually containing ten pieces, five per semester, this one, because of a tie, contans eleven faculty-student productions.

SOPHOMORES RANK ABOVE NORM IN NATIONAL TESTS

Maryville College sophomores ranked several points above the normal on both contemporary affairs and English in the annual cooperative tests. These tests are taken yearly by the better colleges in the United States. Last year Maryville College's sophomores ranked even with the norm, a little above in contemporary affairs and a little below in English.

ONE HUNDRED SENIORS GRADUATE WEDNESDAY, MAY 19

MOSBY, WEAVER HEAD '49 HIGHLAND ECHO

Staff Promotions Acknowledged By ECHO Committee

Ilda Mosby, rising senior from Massilon, Ohio, and Margaret Weaver, rising senior from Hendersonville, North Carolina, were recently elected editor and business manager of next year's HIGHLAND ECHO. Miss Weaver was chosen business manager at a meeting of the publications committee last Friday afternoon, April 30, at which time members of the editorial and business staffs were promoted.

The publications committee members voting include Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Miss Elmira Bassett, Dr. Ralph T. Case, Dr. F. A. Griffitts, Mr. Ted Pratt, Professor E. R. Walker, Anna Sakaizawa, John Poland, Dorothy Vawter, and Lorraine Swift. Miss Sakaizawa and Poland represented the Student Council vote, while Miss Vawter and Miss Swift represented the editorial staff vote.

Miss Mosby, newly elected editor, was elected at a regular Monday night meeting of the editorial staff held May 3. Miss Sakaizawa and Dr. Griffitts cast the Student Council and publications committee votes, respectively. Each of the editorial staff members were allowed an assigned number of votes, distributed according to the constitution.

Miss Mosby is an English major and has served on the ECHO staff since her freshmen year. She was a member of the 1948 Chilhowean editoral staff. Miss Weaver, also an English major, joined the business staff last fall. She has been a library assistant since her freshmen year.

In addition to Miss Mosby, two other juniors were promoted to the senior level on the editorial staff. Leslie Webb and Ruth Ramsey will each serve as senior editors, while five sophomores were promoted as junior associate editors. The five include Craig Fisher, Barbara Wallin, Ruth Davis, Herb McCallum, and Duncan Bennett.

Jean Hunt, Mary Lyerly, Hazel Holm, Elenor Kramer, Donald Whelan, and Maynard Noble, all freshmen, were promoted as sophomore reporters.

Business staff promotions were made entirely from the freshmen class. The beginning business staff for next fall will consist of Anita Withers, Bob Holley, and Barbara Altfather.

YMCA

YMCA will hold installation service for the new officers and cabinet at the regular meeting, Sunday afternoon. The meeting will be held in Bartlett at 1:30.

Alumni Day Brings Reunions, Senior Reception, Dinner

Rev. Wu Yik-Wan Speaks At Banquet In Pearsons

Alumni Day will bring a reunion of old students on the Tuesday before Commencement to partake in the whirl of year end activities. Guests of honor this year will be the class of '98, gathering for its fifty year class reunion. Other special reunions will be the twenty-five year reunion of the class of 1923 and the ten year reunion of the class of 1938. Other classes, especially those near the above years, are making plans to attend.

From 3:00 to 5:00 p. m. they will meet, together with seniors, parents of students, the faculty and other guests, at the home of President and Mrs. Lloyd.

Alumni Dinner at 7:00

That evening at 7:00 p. m. the annual Alumni Dinner will be served in the dining hall. Tickets for the dinner will be available at the Alumni Office or the Information Table on campus. Seniors will be charged half-price on the $1.00 dinner tickets.

The speaker at the Alumni Dinner will be Rev. Wu Yik-Wan. A gradute of the Union Theological Seminary at Canton, China, he was a prominent minister in the Church of Christ in that country. From 1942 until 1946 he was executive secretary of the Qwantung Synod. Since then he has been in this country doing advanced study at Drew Seminary in New Jersey.

Important business will be carried out at the banquet in reference to the rebrganization of alumni chapters, and the Campus Development Campaign Fund.

Orr, Hoglan, House Lead Senior Chapel

Miss Mildred Orr, history major from Maryville, will read the class history at the annual senior chapel, Saturday, May 15, in Alumni Gymnasium.

Charles Hoglan, senior class presdent, announces the program to be as follows: scripture and prayer by Max House, solo by Peggy Howell, a special number by the woodwind ensemble, and the class history. Then the juniors will take over the senior chapel seats as indication of their new dignity. A closing prayer for the college and singing of the Alma Mater will conclude the program.

Seniors will be in cap and gown.

Stuart Saul Elected Pi Kappa Delta President

Stuart Saul was elected president of Pi Kappa Delta at the varsity and freshman debate banquet held last Monday, May 3. Other officers are vice-president, Ann Cook; secretary-treasurer, Peggy Cummings; and reporter, Carl Lindsay.

Katie Carpenter, Scott McClure, John Poland, Tom Stovall, Carroll Stegall, and Jim Torrey were initiated Monday night into Pi Kappa Delta membership.

In order to become a member one must be on the varsity debate squad and must enter at least five intercollegiate debates.

Scott McClure had charge of the banquet which was held at Chilhowee Inn where the initiation and election took place.

Three Recitals End Semester Music Program

Two Senior Recitals, Two Piano Recital Included

Two senior recitals, one Tuesday evening and one Wednesday evening and a two piano concert Friday night will bring to a close the Maryville College recitals for this semester. All of them will be held at the Chilhowee Club House.

May 11, Barbara Blair, contralto, accompanied by Janet Rich, will sing eleven numbers. For "Dover Beach," by Barber she will be accompanied by the College String Quartet. Marion Weiler will play eight solos, and a suite by Rachmaninoff wth Rella Anderson at the second piano.

On the evening of May 12, another senior recital will be presented with Dorothy Vawter, pianist, playing seven pieces, one of them being "Sonata in G Major" by Haydn. Rella Anderson, coloratura soprano, accompanied by Dan Winter will sing thirteen numbers, including opera selection by Donizetti, "La Fille du Regiment".

Two Piano Recital

A two piano recital will be featured May 14, some of the numbers being, "Sicilienne," by Bach-Maier; "Le Matin," by Chaminade; "Danse Negre," by Boyle; and "Grand Valse Caprice," by Englemann. Those participating will be Barbara Altfather and Mary Holly Webb, Ruth Nicholas and Juanita Johnson, Alexander Smith and John Sayre, Juanita Johnson and Dolores Young Lambert, Fred Sieber and Alice Archibald, Alexander Smith and John Watts, Ruth Helen Bird and Grace Ellen Cross, and Dorothy Crowson and Haydn White.

Executive Council Of Presbyterian Women To Visit

Group Will Hold Business Meetings

On May 12, 13, and 14 Maryville will be host to the Executive Committee of the National Council of Women's Organizations of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

The Committee consists of fifteen women from all sections of the United States. It represents approximately 350,000 Presbyterian women in societies of 7,000 local churches, 257 presbyteries, and 38 synods.

The president of the National Council is Mrs. John M. Irvine, of Pittsburgh. The Contact Secretary Miss Margaret Shannon of New York, who will be remembered from her presence at Commencement last year when she spoke at Vespers and was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Anuual Meeting Held

This year the Executive Committee decided to hold its annual meeting in the South, dividing the time between Warren Wilson College in North Carolina and Maryville College. The committee members will drive Wednesday afternoon from North Carolina through the Great Smoky Mountains National Park to Maryville.

Members of the Committee will stay at the President's House and at Mrs. Walker's on the campus and at several homes in the town and will take a number of meals at the College Dining Hall.

Business sessions will be held at the Guest House in the College Woods. On Thursday afternoon from 4:00 to 5:30 p. m. a reception in their honor will be given by President and Mrs. Lloyd.

The Committee will attend Chapel Friday morning when an address will be given by Mrs. John M. Irvine, the president.

On Friday afternoon there will be a public meeting at Second Presbyterian Church, Knoxville, at which several members of the Committee will speak.

Directors Meet To Award Diplomas

The annual spring meeting of the directors of Maryville College will be held Wednesday, May 19, at 8:30 a. m. in Dr. E. W. Davis' classroom in Anderson Hall. The purpose of the meeting is to award degrees to graduating seniors and to attend to any other current college business. After this meeting, the directors will participate in the graduation exercises, marching with the faculty and graduating class.

The principal meeting of the directors is held annually in November, but the spring meeting is necessary to make the award of diplomas to the graduating class. Directors of the college are: Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Dr. J. M. Broady, C. E. Cathey, Dr. E. E. Gabbard, Dr. R. D. LeCount, C. F. Leonard, R. J. McClellan, Thomas McCroskey, W. E. Minnis, Judge A. E. Mitchell, C. T. Murray, and Dr. J. G. Newman.

Rev. George Seel Speaks At May 16 Vesper Services

Rev. Edward George Seel, D. D., president of the Polytechnic University of Puerto Rico, will speak at Commencement Vespers on May 16.

Dr. Seel was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity at Maryville on June 5, 1940. He was otherwise connected with the college in the capacity of instructor of German and French, and at that time his three children attended college here: David, ex '46, Elizabeth who graduated in 1940, and Bob who graduated in 1945.

Born near Pittsburgh, Pa., Dr. Seel graduated from Grove City College in 1912 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1917 and received the degree of Master of Arts from Columbia University in New York.

He was appointed a foreign missionary and served in Chile and Columbia. In 1935 Dr. Seel was placed in charge of all Presbyterian Missions in the latter country. Later he was appointed to his present position.

Dr. Seel has not announced his subject for the evening. The choir will render two anthems: "Nunc Dimittis" by Gretchaninoff and Lord Hosanna" (Advent Motet) by Schreck.

NOTICE

Refunds of the $10.00 deposits will be made at the close of school. Students rooming on the campus will get clearance tickets when keys are turned in at the dormitories, and all students will get tickets at the Book Store. These tickets must be presented at the Treasurer's Office in order to receive refunds.

Charges for laboratory breakage, lost keys and books, etc., will be deducted after which the balance will be refunded.

Office of the Treasurer.

Prizes and Honors Awarded Students In Chapel Monday

Group Includes Prizes From Several Departs.

Chapel service on Monday morning, a rarity at Maryville College, will be held on May 17 for the purpose of awarding honors and prizes for the '47-'48 term. The service will begin promptly at 8:00 a. m.

Prizes and honors to be conferred are:

The T. T. Alexander oratorical prize which is forty-eight dollars for first place and thirty-two dollars for runner-up position. Roger Cowan and Carroll Stegall are this year's winners.

The Alexander English prize, which is forty dollars this year. This is given to the student with the best four year record in English.

The Bates Bible prize—thirty-five dollars for first and twenty five and twenty dollars for second and third places, respectively. These prizes are awarded for proficiency in Bible.

The Economics prize given by the Bank of Maryville for the student with the most outstanding record in Economics for the year.

The Elizabeth Hillman Chemistry prize, awarded only to women for excellence in chemistry.

The Mathematics prize, given to the most outstanding and promising mathematics student of the junior or senior class.

The various Intramural Prizes
Women's Point System awards
Athletic letters
Choir pins for seniors
Recognition to Theta Alpha Phi members.

Names of most winners are not available yet, but will be made public as soon as they are determined.

Printers' Strike Delays Chilhowean

Chilhowean editor, Buffie Carver, has said that the cause for delay in delivery of the year books to be the two weeks' strike of engravers, and loss of material. The strike, which began just at the time when the annual was to meet its printing deadline, delayed the proceedings. Following this ,there was still more delay when some of the material became lost, and had to be done over and sent off again.

The year book is expected to arrive soon, however.

Daisy Chain, Choir, Faculty, Seniors In Procession

Exactly one-hundred seniors will march down the aisle to receive their diplomas a week from next Wednesday, May 19, and will soon be known as the alumni of the class of '48 along with the thirteen seniors who graduated last December. The commencement exercises will be held in the Alumni Gymnasium for the second successive year, due to the fire which destroyed Voorhees Chapel a little over a year ago.

The colorful Daisy Chain, made up of junior girls who carry a chain made of daisies, will lead the traditional processional of the Vesper Choir, faculty members, and students of the graduating class. The procession will begin at 10:30 a. m.

Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, executive secretary of the National Students Council of YMCA, will give the commencement address using the theme, "The New World We Face." Dr. Espy is a graduate of the University of Redlands in California and of Union Theological Seminary. He has studied and traveled extensively in Europe.

The Vesper Choir will sing "How Brightly Shines Our Morning Star" by Schumann and "Beautiful Saviour" by Christiansen.

For the first time Maryville is awarding Bachelor of Science degrees, a change brought about with the new curriculum. Of this year's graduting class forty-four are graduating with a B.S. degree, while sixty-nine are graduating with a B.A. degree.

DR. LLOYD GIVES BACCALAUREATE SERMON SUNDAY

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will deliver the annual Baccalaureate sermon to the 1948 graduating class Sunday, May 16. Dr. Lloyd will use as his subject "Who Are The Successful?"

It is a tradition of Maryville College for its president to deliver the Baccalaureate sermon.

May 18 Chapel Service Given By Dramatic, Musical Groups

"Trifles," a one act play written by Susan Glaspell, wil be presented in Chapel on Tuesday morning, May 18. It is under the direction of Carol Kennette, a sophomore from Plainfield, North Dakota. She is being assisted by Libby Kng. Those in the cast are Bob Watkins, Sheriff; Tish Plowman, Mrs. Hle; Wally Moore, Mr. Hale; Ella Mae Thompson, Mrs. Peters; and Bob Thompson, County Attorney. Pat Dennis is stage manager, and properties manager is Owida Newmn.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE," COMMENCEMENT PLAY PRESENTED IN TWO WEEKEND PERFORMANCES

The Merchant of Venice will be presented as the commencement play by Bainonian and Athenian Societies, May 15 and 17, in the Maryville High School Auditorium. Both performances will be presented at 8:00 p. m.

The play is under the direction of Miss Jessie May Wild, of the dramatic arts department of the college. This is Miss Wild's last producton at the college. She is assisted in the directing by Ruth Ellen Crews and Dr. E. R. Hunter.

This is the first Shakespearean play produced at Maryville for some time. Hamlet was given six years ago by Theta Alpha Phi, the dramatic fraternity.

A typical Shakespearean set will be used, which was designed by Miss Jean Almy. The costumes are typically Shakespearean, designed and made under the direction of Mildred Miller.

The principal leads are being played by Betty Seagraves as Portia, Jim Black as Shylock, Max House as Antonio, and Bill Starr as Bassanio.

Miss Seagraves is a sophomore from Milford, N. J. She was a majorette in the band during the past year and has appeared in several Experimental Theatre productions. Black is a junior from Baltimore, Md. He played the male lead in "Dear Ruth" which was presented last fall. House is a senior from Cato, N. Y. He also appeared in "The Man Who Came To Dinner" and several Experimental Theatre productions. Starr is a freshman from Baltimore, Md.

The supporting members of the cast are Milford Castrodale, Joe Poland, Julian Cresham, Roger Cowan, John Shew, Carroll Stegall, Bill Vogel, Dick Sprague, Arthur Haaf, Ben Paxton, Tom Eckert, LeGrande Orr, Craig Fisher, Ann Jenkins, Dot Holverson, and Dave Campbell.

The committee on publicity is headed by Katie Carpenter, who is assisted by Stuart Saul, Carolyn Kaye, Delbert Poling, Anna Stevens, and Carroll Stegall.

Other chairmen and their committees are Elsie Onifer, ticket committee; Becky Maddux, house committee; Tom Wheeler, program committee; Bud Engle, lighting; Marjorie Prall, make-up; Ruth Heaps, hand properties; and Beverly Muetzel, stage properties.

Bill Nish is house manager and Bob Watkins is stage manager.

LIFTERS, GO FORTH

Somewhere in our memory a poem is vaguely placed, a poem which boils all the people in the world down to two groups. In these particular lines the writer insists that every person on the face of the earth is either a "lifter" or a "leaner."

Now we have no desire to expound upon the poetic abilties of this man or woman whose name we canont even recall. The theme, however, has popped in our mind more than once since we first read those frank words.

A week from next Wednesday one-hundred seniors will receive their college diplomas. The group, as the poet would say, is made up entirely of "lifters" and "leaners." To predict what per cent of each type is impossible, but we would venture to say that our class has as high a per cent of "lifters" as any could hope to possess.

Perhaps the classification is crude; perhaps it isn't, but what better send-off could seniors receive than the simple statement, "Lifters, go forth."

STUDENT COUNCIL

Eunice Billings was elected Secretary and Glenn Knecht treasurer at the combined meeting of Council last Wednesday. Both this year's retiring and next year's incoming members met together in Thaw 214.

Certain changes in Student-Faculty Senate were proposed by the steering committee. Revisions, which must be approved by the faculty Executive Committee, will come back to Council for approval and then be submitted to the student body next year.

Editor Buffie Carver presented the report to Council for the 1948 Chilhowean. She suggested several changes for future editions of the yearbook: responsibility by the entire student body instead of the junior class alone (all class presidents, junior class officers, and the publications committee would nominate editor and business manager); selection by the editor of "try-outs" from lower classes; the editor, like future ECHO editors, a member of Council; a Chilhowean fund established so that anniversary or especially expensive issues might be financed. It was pointed out that a "try-out" system, similar to that of the ECHO would give experience to potential Chilhowean editors.

Rec Hall chairman Winnie Schaumburg told what might be expected of next year's Rec. Hall. Financial worries have plagued the committee, but careful spending of available funds promises to balance the meager budget. Green and ivory is to be the Rec Hall's interior color scheme, with a white exterior to match other frame structures on campus. Multi-color plastic furniture, sixteen tables, and several lounges served to run up the cost of furnishings. A radio-phonograph was suggested by Dean McClelland as use for the $100 gift to the Rec Hall by Mrs. John Walker. The money was to be used "for something which otherwise could not be bought." Miss Schaumburg reported that Coach Johnson had promised facilities for active games in Federal Gym across the street and croquet on the lawn. With the College pool open on its regular nights, the Rec Hall area should prove to be a very popular student center.

After consideing Rec Hall Chatterbox financial problems at great length, the Council decided to knock off for a picnic on May 7.

Much Echo About Nothing

Someone breathed, "This is the last one." Here we are gathered together, and about to part. Before we part, says the good gossip, there should be several matters settled, such as—

An explanation as to just why Miss Ware deemed it necessary to serve us onions last Tuesday night. If there is any disgusting element in school, it is that element in your date's breath which reeks of onions. We understand, however, that it conforms with a certain policy on physical contact which says——you know darn well what it says!

Every day in every way Herman the fish is getting fatter and fatter. He seems to be the sole resident of the fish pond, due to his introduction to the place by a fourth floor Pearsonite who had gone fishing. Herman has been reported dead twice; nevertheless, tadpoles, bread crumbs, and reasonable facsimile thereof continue to disappear when they come in contact with the pool, and, shall we say, possibly with Herman.

Why is Coach Johnson getting the golf greens in shape when it's so near the end of school? Perhaps we're wrong in assuming that that is the reason his gym class meets over there regularly. But if we aren't then it will be a nice place for somebody to play golf this summer.

Miss Grierson, the official shuterupper of the library, was somewhat flustered the other day when a stranger burst in the library and addressed her in loud "tones". "Didn't I see you in New York?" asked he or should we say "shouted" he. We haven't heard exactly what happened to the dear man.

Well, we're here. Exams are here. The "Merchants" here. And, before we realize it, we won't be here. So "good luck" to the seniors and "'til we meet again next year" to the rest.

TALK OF THE WEEK

DONALD REEVES

Violet Summerville Elected President Of French Club

Violet Summerville was elected president of the French Club at a dinner held last Monday night. Other officers are Bob Bird, vice president; Vendeda Huskey, secretary; Walt Pentz, treasurer; Bill Diehl and Margaret McClure, program chairmen.

The dinner was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Henry.

"M" CLUB TAKES WEEKEND TRIP

Members and neophytes of the "M" Club are spending the week end at the Smoky Mountain Hiking Club lodge near Greenbriar on the annual "M" Club hike under the direction of Mrs. V. M. Queener.

Initiation of new members, a Sunday morning worship service, and plenty of hiking in the mountains are on the schedule. The girls left campus at 1:00 p. m. this afternoon and will return Sunday night.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor and Folks:

Well, May Day is over! May we pause a moment from wiping the perspiration from our brows to thank everyone concerned with the production of "Over the Rainbow to OZ"—cast, crews, committees; Margie Newland deserves a special pat on the back for her masterful handling of the difficult position of stage manager. The pageant owed its success to the grand cooperation of all those involved, each of whom we'd like to thank personally, but 250 people and just one week leave us little time to do it.

Yours in OZ,
The Directors,
Bob Holley and Jimmy Dance

ALPHI SIG ELECTS PARVIN PRESIDENT

Charlie Parvin is the new president of Alpha Sigma. Glen Knecht is vice-president, Bernard Welch is secretary, Bob Kay is treasurer, Ben Gearhart is program secretary and Ed Pancoast is sergeant at arms. There will be no Saturday night meeting of Alph Sig but the society will join with Theta for a starlight hike Tuesday night.

BYRNE DRUG CO.

WHAT DOES "DRUG STORE" MEAN TO YOU?

To the kids, it means: soft drinks, school supplies, and candy. To the women, it means: cosmetics, snacks, and magazines, and to the men, drug store means: Havana cigars, shaving cream, and pipe cleaners. To most people, it's a real neighborly place where the druggist's understanding smile means credit "till the check comes."

But to all the folks, the drug store means dependable, precise compounding of their prescriptions and medicines for every ailment, from athlete's foot to dandruff.

Look to your druggist with confidence.

COMES THE TIME WHEN ole number 32 bobs up on the dateline of the HIGHLAND ECHO. Then it's time for this corner of ECHO sports to look back and see what's happened in the way of sports in the semester just past. First we'll start with the current sports.

BASEBALL

At this writing the Highlander baseballers are on the sad end of a three game losing streak—Tenn. Tech, Emory-Henry, and U. T. are the victors of the most recent contests. But five games remain on the schedule, including a trip to Emory-Henry and East. Tenn. State and then the commencement week game with U. T. Ten wins, six setbacks, and one tie are on the Scot tally sheet at present, but a reversal of their current trend would give them a very good standing by the season's end.

The record:

MC 7—Hitch's All-Stars	0	MC 15—L.M.U.	1
MC 8—Local C. I. O.	5	MC 10—Western Carolina	8
MC 2—Hiwassee	2	MC 55—Western Carolina	3

TENNIS

Today the Maryville raquetmasters were to end their 1948 outing. Three wins, seven losses and one to go make the court campaign seem disheartening. However, the group has been under Coach Johnson's hand for the first year. It started from scratch and is still youthful—that's enough to show it has promise. . . .and next season should find this group ripe for a better showing.

This is the bleak journal of tennis proceedings:

MC 4—Chattanooga	5	MC 6—Lincoln Memorial	3
MC 2—East Tenn. State	6	MC 5—Lincoln Memorial	4
MC 3—Tenn. Wesleyan	4	MC 2—East Tenn. State	7
MC 3—Milligan	6	MC 1—Chattanooga	6
MC 5—Tusculum	4	MC 3—Milligan	6
MC 2 Tusculum	3	MC ....—Tenn. Wesleyan	.....

TRACK

Judging a track team is like judging a race horse: you can't tell what its got until you see it run. Since this scribe, as well as the entire student body, hasn't seen the squad in a race this year, we venture no remark about the worthiness of the twelve men who have carried on in the cinderwork except to say, "it's well done considering the opportunities. . . . a pity that they couldn't have made a home showing."

WRESTLING

For 1948, Coach "J.D." Davis' g-r-rappling lads polished up the art in a season attended by much student interest. With a good turnout of both spectators and wrestling fledgings, the Maryville College team branched out with a "B" squad for two matches, sent four wrestlers to the finals of the Southern Invitational Tournament at Chattanooga, and wrestled a ten-match season for four wins, two ties, and four defeats. In the tournament, Palmer copped first place in the 175 class; Cameron, Callaway, and Merriman each took second places in their respective weights. The season:

MC 18—Chattanooga	11	MC 16—Knoxville Y ("B")	16
MC 12—Baylor Prep ("B")	18	MC 29—Western Carolina	5
MC 31—Knoxville "Y"	5	MC 5—Auburn	26
MC 17—Georgia Tech	17	MC 24—Western Carolina	5
MC 8—Applachian State	25	MC 10—Georgia Tech	17

BASKETBALL

Highlander basketball in the 1947-'48 season hits some new highs. Taking 13 victories in a 22 game season, the Scottes challenged the low and the mighty. Swapping heated battles with East Tennessee State, Carson-Newmn, Lincoln Memorial, Tennessee-Wesleyan, Oak Ridge Elks, and Emory-Henry, Coach Honaker's hoopmen bowed only to Lambuth, Western Kentucky State (That titan of nation-wide basketball competition), and bowled over Cumberland, Carbon-Carbide, Western Carolina, and Tusculum each time. Here's how it went:

MC 68—Carbon-Carbide	25	MC 76—Emory-Henry	50
MC 64—Carbon-Carbide	36	MC 82—East Tenn. State	85
MC 36—Lambuth College	49	MC 62—Tusculum	50

Highlanders Lose, 2-3, When UT Nine Score In Eleventh

University of Tennessee's twice-victorious nine added Maryville to its lessers when they sneaked an eleventh inning run in to win the game, 3-2, at Knoxville last Wednesday. The winning run for U.T. came in when a pitch-out by Honaker went wild.

Twelve Maryville Thin-clads Participate In State Meet

Twelve Maryville trackmen left early this morning for Sewanee to enter the track meet of the 13th Annual meeting of the Tennessee Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference.

The Maryville entrants are as follows:

Mile—Gillette, Mabry

Two mile—Gillette, Mulford

Half-mile—Mabry, Kiger

Relays—Baird, English, Lambert, Robarts, Rahn, Thurston

Hurdles—Kay

High jump—Hargis

Sewanee Athletic Director Gordon M. Clark said this week in an Associated Press report that teams from the University of Tennessee, Vanderbilt University, Southwestern, Maryville, Memphis State, Middle Tennessee State, East Tennessee State, University of Chattanooga, Milligan College, David Lipscomb, Tennessee Tech, and Sewanee have been invited to compete in the track and field meet today at the University of the South.

The best prospects for a Maryville man placing in this field of competition center around the two mile. Gillette paced out a 10:20.5 two mile time in practice this week and should make a showing today the meet.

Mabry and Gillette have a time of 4:51 each in the mile, and Mabry has improved during the past two weeks. John Baird has shown the most improvement in the relays. His running mates will probably be English, Thurston, and Lambert.

Hargis topped 5' 7" in the high jump Thursday on a cold afternoon.

LMU Bows 3-6 To Scots

The tennis team defeated LMU 6-3, Monday, April 26.

VOLUME 34 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE SEPTEMBER 4, 1948 Number 1

First Maryville Student Center Building Opens

Poland Announces Y. Store Hours

Maryville's first Student Center building, combining the old Rec Hall and Y Store facilities, opened last night at 8:00 p. m. in the new building on the West end of the Circle Drive. The new Center will be the focal point of student social activities.

Full-Time Director

Mrs. Carmen Marquis has been appointed as full-time director. She will serve on the committee for determining the policies and for the control and maintenance of the Center. In addition to the director, the committee is composed of the Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, the presidents of YM and YW, and the Student Council, and the campus Social chairman.

The building was constructed last semester from army surplus materials and has been furnished by the building funds of the YM CA and the YWCA. There is an open fireplace, couches, chairs, ping pong equipment, and small tables and chairs for games and the serving of the Y Store.

Y Store Schedule

The Y Store is located along one side of the building with a serving counter which can be opened for use. John Poland, manager, has announced the following hours during which it will be opened:

9:00-10:00 a. m.
12:30- 1:20 p. m.
3:00- 5:30 p. m.
6:30- 7:15 p. m.
9:30-10:15 p. m.

The store will be open to all students during the 9:30 evening period instead of having separate periods for men and women.

Additions To Stock

Coffee, donuts, milkshakes, and sandwiches have been added to the stock of previous years. Assistants this year are Janice Lindsay, Joe Poland, Mae Merriwether, Bill Chalker, Lauri Dale, and Ruth Heaps.

PARISH CONTINUES SERVICE PROGRAMS

Parish Project will continue its program of serving the community in the vicinity of Maryville.

The program will include work in Sunday Schools, teaching Bible classes to groups in public school, supervising young people's societies, and the leadership of character building activity groups for boys and girls.

Students working on the project are enrolled in Bible courses 251, 252, 341, and 342. The project is sponsored and supported by the Board of National Missions, the Board of Christian Education, Maryville College, and the New Providence Presbyterian Church of Maryville. Dr. R. T. Case directs the program.

DR. HUNTER LEADS VESPERS SUNDAY

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter has chosen "Thou Shalt" as the theme for his sermon at the first vesper service tomorrow evening at seven p. m. in Thaw Hall. The a cappella choir will make its first appearance of the year at this time. Dr. Hunter is Dean of Curriculum and Chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature.

YM, YW HOLD FIRST MEETING SUNDAY

The YMCA and YWCA will hold a joint meeting Sunday afternoon in the library. Margaret Rock, president of YWCA, and Bill Nish, president of YMCA, will speak briefly on the theme "Builders With God." All students are cordially invited to attend this meeting which formally opens the Y programs for this year.

Bainonian Tea Opens Rush Week

"South of the Border" has been chosen as the theme for the Bainonian Rush Week, September 6-11 .The first major event is a tea in Bainonian Hall Wednesday, September 8 from 4:00 to 5:30 p. m. All new girls on campus are invited as guests of Bainonian.

The formal opening of the Bainonians and their brother society, the Athenians, will climax the week of activities. This program is planned for the pleasure of the new girls on Saturday, September 11 at 8 p. m. Mary Wills and Dot Downey are co-chairmen for the week and are assisted by all the active members of the two societies.

Registration, Tests, Student Mixer Fill Week's Activity

Annual Convocation was held in the Alumni Gym on Friday, September 3, at 8:00 a. m. Dr. Frank D. McClellend, dean of students, gave the invocation and address. Announcements and the prayer were given by Dr. E. R. Hunter, dean of curriculum. Students met classes according to schedule beginning Friday, Sept. 3.

Registration procedure for new students began Tuesday, August 31, at 4:00 p. m., when all new students met in the Alumni gym for explanations and announcements. This was followed by the English Placement Tests and the counseling program for all freshmen.

Old Students Register

Returning students who filed schedule cards at sping registration began registering with the new students, in Thaw Hall, Wednesday, September 1. The first meal for old students was served Wednesday at noon. The annual Student Mixer, sponsored by Student Council, was held on the steps of Thaw at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday evening. Master of ceremonies Roger Cowan, new Social chairman, was assisted by Jim Black, president of Student Council, and Bill Nish, president of Y. M.C.A. Following a short program, stuednts from each section presented skits.

Thursday, September 2, the first chapel service was held in Alumni Gym for announcements and a welcome to new and old students. Registration of students continued with schedule changes being arpproved by the personnel office. Before, schedule changes were not taken care of until regular registration had closed. The Scholastic Aptitude test for all new students and the reading placement test for freshmen were given on Thursday. In the evening at 8:00 p. m., the Y. M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. freshman frolics were held with the "big" brothers and sisters entertaining their "little" brothers and sisters.

Dave Gulick, '47 Grad Killed In Auto Accident

Dave Gulick, '47 was killed on June 6, 1948 in an automobile accident. The wreck occurred while Dave was driving to his home in West Palm Beach, Fla. from Temple Medical School Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where he had just completed his first year as a medical student.

STAFF MEETING

The Editorial staff of the ECHO will meet Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the office.

Library Receives Memorial Books

Several memorial books in memory of former teachers and friends of the college have been placed in the library during the summer.

A book on Albert Sweitzer by Scaver was given by Mrs. H. C. Wright and Miss Nathalia Wright in memory of Mrs. Helen Crowder Muir, who taught in the Home Economics Department. Another book given in memory of Mrs. Muir was "A Treasury of American Folklore" by Botkin. The book was given by neighbors and friends of Mrs. Muir.

Books Honor Miss Jewell

Three books have been placed in the library in memory of Miss Almira Jewell, who taught in the History Department for several years. "Civilization of Trial" by Toymbee and a set of books, "The Memoirs of Cordell Hull", were given by neighbors. "The Beauty of the Purple" by Davis was given in her memory by Miss Mary Keller, a former teacher in the Education Department.

A book, "On Active Service in Peace and War" by Henry L. Stimson was given in memory of Mr. Henry by neighbors.

Professors Donate Books

Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz of the Home Economics Department placed two books, "Ann Karinina" by Tolstoi and "Remembrance of Things Past" in the library during the summer.

Mrs. Susan Black has donated approximately 100 volumes from her personal library during the past year. These books included additions of the classics and many volumes of current interest.

Faculty, Students Meet Tonight At Annual Reception

Tonight at 8 o'clock, the annual formal faculty reception will be held in the library of Thaw Hall. All students, old and new, and students' wives are invited to meet and renew acquaintances with members of the faculty.

The reception line will be headed by the president of YWCA, Margaret Rock; the YMCA, Bill Nish; the Student Council president, Jim Black; and the Women's Student Government Association, Barbara Eggleston. The students will then be introduced to faculty members.

Although the tea begins at 8, students may call any time between 8 and 10 o'clock. Light refreshments will be served.

Claud Accepts Yearbook Money

Joe Claud, business manager for the 1949 Chilhowean, is now accepting payments. The total subscription of $4.50 may be paid or reservations made by down payments, full payment to be completed later.

Dorothy Holverson, editor, announces a change in the editorial staff. Marian McBride, junior from Arcadia, California, will replace Martha McClure who did not return this year. Miss Holverson reports that summer plans for the yearbook went well and prospects for it are good.

WSGA Sets Floor Chairman Elections

WSGA elections for floor chairmen in the dorimtories will be held next week. Barbara Eggleston, WSGA chairman and house chairman of Pearsons, met Friday with Brooks Maddux and Betty Rock, house chairmen of Memorial and Baldwin Halls, to appoint nominating committees.

Nominations will be posted on dorm bulletin boards. WSGA coordinates women's activities in the dormitories and is responsible for the administration of Senior Privileges.

Students To Vote On Senate Article In Constitution

The following amendment to the Student Body Constitution will be voted upon at the first student body meeting occurring at least one week from today. This amendment was approved by Executive Council of the Faculty and the Student Council near the and of last semester. Until it is accepted by the students, a temporary committee will function.

Article on Student-Faculty Senate

Section I.—Membership

The Student-Faculty Senate shall be composed of (a) eight members of the Student Council: President of the Council, W. S. G. A. chairman, M.S.O. chairman, Social chairman, and four other Council representatives, and (b) eight faculty members and the President of the College.

Section II.—Election

(a) Four council representatives, one from the six Council carry-overs of the preceding year, shall be elected by the Council from their number at the first regular meeting of the fall semester. The faculty members shall be appointed by the President at the first regular meeting of the semester.

(b) The President of the College shall serve as chairman of the Senate; the Senate shall elect a vice-chairman and a secretary. The vice-chairman shall serve in the absence of the chairman, retaining his power to vote.

Section III.—Meetings

Senate shall meet at regular times as it may decide, but at least twice a month after its election.

Section IV. Quorum.

A quorum for the transaction of all business shall consist of at least five students and five faculty members.

Section V.—Duties

It shall be the privilege of the Senate: (a) to consider all matters pertaining to the good of the College and of the Student Body; and (b) to recommend from time to time for consideration by the Executive Council of the Faculty and the Student Council such regulations and such changes as may be deemed wise and necessary.

Bernard-Lanfear Wed In Pittsburgh

Miss Mary Vivian Lanfear, dauhgter of Dr. and Mrs. Vincent W. Lanfear of Pittsburgh, became the bride of Mr. David E. Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Bernard of Sandwich, Ill. in the Bellefield Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh, August 21. Mrs. Bernard was formerly an instructor in the college music department and Mr. Bernard was an instructor in the art department. After a motor trip in Canada the couple will go to Iowa University where Mr. Bernard will continue work toward his Master's degree.

Miss Alice Archibald and Miss Thelma Nelson, both of whom are instructors in the music department, were members of the bridal party.

STUDENT VOLS

Student Vols' theme, Youth for Christ, will be presented at the meeting Sunday evening in Bartlett auditorium after Vespers. The new officers will speak briefly.

The Student Volunteer group is for all those interested in foreign missions as well as those who intend to work in the foreign field. All students interested are invited to attend.

MSO Meets To Fill Council Vacancies

The Men's Student Organization will meet for the first time this year on Wednesday, September 15, after Chapel. The purpose of the session is to nominate representatives to fill vacancies on the organization's Coordinating Council. Council vacancies were caused by graduation and transfers of students.

Three groups are represented on the Council. They are on-campus transients, off-campus transients (freshman men for whom there was no space in the dormitories), and off-campus non-transients (town students).

Carrying through recommendations made last semester, the MSO was instrumental in bringing about improvements in Carnegie Hall. Of special note are new mirrors, which have already been ordered and shipped. The delay in installing them was caused by the manufacturer's mistakenly shipping them elsewhere.

The Council will continue to work with Dr. McClelland and other college officials for further improvements in conditions and buildings, according to Henry Callaway, chairman of the group. He added his confidence that students would appreciate the improvements and would take care of them.

Campus Buildings Repainted; Floors Sanded, Finished

Activities on the campus during the summer included an extensive schedule of building repair, reconditioning, and completion.

Carnegie, Pearsons, and the book store building received repaint jobs on the outside trims. Almost every building on campus was at least partially repainted on the inside. In Carnegie, fifty student rooms, all bathrooms, all stairways, and the second and fourth floor halls have been painted.

The first floor hall and all bathrooms were painted in Baldwin, while eighteen rooms were either papered or painted. Pearsons lobby, all bathrooms, second and third floor halls, and about twenty-five student rooms were painted.

Painting in Memorial Hall included all bathroms, halls, and a dozen rooms. Anderson had several offices and halls painted; Fayerweather's Home Ec kitchen and Bartlett auditorium were painted; the Home Management House in Thaw's annex has been redecorated; and the Dairy Farm buildings and fences bear a new coat of paint.

College Summer Program

A new hardwood floor has replaced the worn boards on Carnegie's second floor, while the first floor halls and lobby were refinished. New furniture for the lobby and necessary replacement of stair treads completed the men's dorms' reconditioning.

The lower floors in most other campus buildings have also been refinished. The chemistry laboratory tables in the science building were sanded and finished, while a coat of paint was applied to the dressing room floors in Bartlett.

Three kinds of activities make up the summer program on the campus each year: (1) the administrative and enrollment processes are as active as during the college term and all offices except that of the Dean of Curriculum are open; (2) painting and repairing begin at commencement and are continued until the opening of school with full maintenance staff and a crew of six painters and six extra workers; (3) church conferences are held during the first half of the summer.

Vesper Choir Begin Try-Outs Monday In YWCA Rooms

Seashore Musical Tests Required of New Member

Try-outs for the vesper choir will begin in the YWCA Rooms Monday at 7:00 p. m. for new sopranos, 7:45 for old sopranos, 8:30 p. m. for new altos, and 9:00 for old altos. Tuesday at 7:00 p. m. all new tenors will meet; old tenors at 7:45, new basses will try out at 8:30, and basses at 9:00 p. m. All new members of the choir will be required to take the Seashore Musical Aptitude Test. The time and place of this testing will be announced.

Choir Traditions

The Maryville College a cappella choir is an organization with many traditional duties. Besides the weekly participation in the college vesper services they participate in two Easter Sunday programs, the Good Friday program, Founder's Day program, THE MESSIAH, February Meetings, the Baccalaureate service, Graduation, the Town Choir Festival, and several concert appearances in the fall and spring.

Rehearsal Attendance Required

The choir has five regularly scheduled rehearsal periods and may be called for extra rehearsals from time to time. Attendance is required at all rehearsals and at all public appearances. The personnel office recognizes the choir as a regular course and membership once obtained may not be withdrawn. Any people who are re-chosen for membership after one year's participation will receive one-half credit for each semester thereafter.

Several social functions are planned each year for the choir and the year's work is usually climaxed by a concert tour.

Try-outs for both old and new members are conducted for one section at a time. Voices are matched and re-matched in order to obtain the finest blending of voices possible.

Dr. Lloyd Attends World Church Talks

President Ralph W. Lloyd, who has been absent from Maryville since August 3, is attending the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam, Holland. This Council is composed of representatives from all leading Christian churches throughout the world except the Roman Catholic and the Southern Baptist.

The World Council of Churches convention opened August 22 and concludes September 4. Dr. Lloyd plans to leave Amsterdam September 5 and will arrive back in Maryville about September 10.

The president attended a conference of Allied Churches throughout the World holding the Presbyterian System of Government prior to his attendance at the World Council of Churches. The Presbyterian conference was in Geneva, Switzerland, and lasted from August 11 to August 18.

FIRST TOWN NITE EXCLUDES FROSH

Town Nite will be held Tuesday, September 7, for all old students, with regular rules in effect. Freshmen do not have the privilege since they have not yet received a full explanation of the regulations. There will be a program on campus for freshmen.

Town Nite has existed for five years and is the result of a project of the student body in cooperation with the faculty. Town Nite was established in order that the students might have a night to go to town. The students shoulder the responsibility of carrying out the provisions of the proposal and obeying all its rules and regulations.

Six Departments, Library, Offices, Receive Additions

Twenty new appointments to the faculty and staff have been announced by the president's office.

Arthur David Ainsworth, B.A., M.A., of Albany, New York, Instructor of Political Science. Mr. Ainsworth received his B.A. degree from New York State Teachers College and his M.A. from Cornell University. He will serve for one year in the absence of Mr. A. F. Pieper, who has a leave of absence to do graduate study at the University of Tennessee.

Bernice Cathcart Blair, B.A., M. Mus., of Maryville, Instructor in Music. Mrs. Blair received her bachelor's degree from Maryville College and her master's from the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago. She will teach voice.

Carolyn L. Blair, B.A., M.A., of Leeds, Alabama, Assistant Professor of English. Miss Blair holds her bachelor's degree from Alabama College and her master's degree from the University of Tennessee. Her teaching experience has been in high school in Alabama and in the University of Tennessee.

Paul Joel Cooper, B.A., M.A., of Appalachia, Virginia, Assistant Professor of French. Mr. Cooper graduated from Maryville College in 1943 and received his master's degree from Columbia University in 1945. He has done additional work at Columbia toward his doctorate. Mrs. Cooper, the former Carolyn Eberhardt, is also a Maryville College graduate. Mr. Cooper is taking the position made vacant by the resignation of Miss Ruth Cowdrick, who has accepted a position at Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio.

Lenora M. Courtney, B.A., M. A., of Kansas City, Missouri, Instructor in Drama and Speech. Mrs. Courtney has received her education at Columbia University, Horner Institute of Fine Arts, University of Missouri, and the University of Kansas City. She has taught at Horner Institute of Fine Arts and the Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, and has had varied experience as a director of plays and pageants.

Charlotte Buel Johnson, B.A. of New Rochelle, New York, Instructor in Art. Miss Johnson is a graduates of Barnard College and has done graduate work at the Institute of Fine Arts of New York University.

Kathryn C. Kolter, of Rockford, Ohio, housemother in Carnegie Hall. This is a position created this year in which Mrs. Kolter as housemother will be an assistant to Mr. McCurry, the proctor of the dormitory. She is the mother of five sons, two of whom were in Maryville College last year.

Howard O .Long, B.A., M.S., of Friendsville, Tennessee, Assistant Professor in the Social Sciences. Mr. Long graduated from Maryville College in 1943 and served in the armed forces from then until the end of the war. He received his master's degree at the University of Tennessee in 1946, and has done work toward his doctor's degree at George Peabody College, Nashville.

Carmen Park Marquis, B.A., of Nashville, Tennessee, Director of the Student Center. Mrs. Marquis is a graduate of Maryville College and has done graduate work at Biblical Seminary in New York. She taught at the College for three years before her marriage to Rollin H. Marquis, also a Maryville graduate, who died in 1945.

Mary Miles, B.A., of Maryville, Tennessee, Assistant in the Library. Miss Miles is a graduate of Maryville College and has done graduate work at Biblical Seminary in New York, George Peabody College, Nashville, and the Jaapnese School of Language and

MC'S SPIRIT STILL THE SAME

Maryville's traditional "spirit" has welcomed the freshmen and re-welcomed the old students. There's always a lot of comment on just how much of that spirit is to be found on campus. Each year we hear that it's not as good as it used to be. After thinking back over the last few years, and each successive set of complaints, we find that, for all of them, Maryville still has something that makes it different and brings us back each year. In a smaller college everyone feels free to speak to everyone else. In a smallr college everyone feels free to speak to everyone else. Freshmen don't need to worry about unjust initiations, or of being left out of the fun and work of campus activities. There's plenty for everyone to do, and the chance to do it. So here's to another year of work and pleasure at Maryville.

STUDENT CENTER MARKS PROGRESS

Old students attended the Student Center opening with a feeling of accomplishment. Three years ago, when the present senior class entered, there was no Student Center, no WSGA, no MSO, and no Senior Privileges.

The old Rec Hall in Bartlett served its purpose only until the return of the student body to normal size from its war-time enrollment. Women's dorm lights went out at ten-thirty and there were no light cuts. Rooms were inspected by dorm heads. During study hours, quiet was maintained by the matrons. Seniors had no more privileges than under classmen. WSGA helped there.

Last year, MSO gave the fellows (including those off-campus)their first representation as a group. Now, social dancing will be permitted.

The students petitioned and worked hard for these privileges, and if we want to make them work, it's up to us to see that the provisions controlling them are enforced. The Student Center can function only so long as its building and equipment are cared for properly. Let's all remember the rest of the student body when we take advantage of its facilities and the privileges which we have.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council will conduct a Student Body meeting in the near future to vote on the Senate amendment to the constitution. In the past, a large number of students have left the gym and not attended these meetings. The result has been confusion because those students were not aware of the business transacted. If Student Council is to function properly, all students must attend these meetings. If possible, student body meetings will be regularly scheduled just as those of other organizations.

The present Council set-up gives a more complete cross-representation than ever before. The president was elected by the entire student group for the first time, at Spring elections. WSGA, MSO, YMCA and YWCA presidents, the campus social chairman, the Athletic Association president, the four class presidents, and the ECHO editor were all added to the Council under the new constitution. This gives the major groups a direct voice in Council and will help to coordinate their activities.

Much Echo About Nothing

"Oh come will you waltz with me. . . . . ."

That Dr. Lloyd would be away we could guess, that some of the faculty couldn't take us any longer and would have to be replaced by new straw bosses we suspected, that the buildings would be all dolled up with paint we had dreamed, but dancing socially—much less any other way!

Sweet Alice, whose hair was so blue?
It used to be red, till she fell over dead
After washing it freshly with glue.

TALK OF THE WEEK

DONALD REEVES

Music Department Adds New Records To Library

Works of twelve composers have been added to the record library in the music department. The records in this library are available to the general student body through the facilities of the Disc Club. Students in the music department will be using the record library throughout the year.

The new records include "Goldberg Variations", Bach; Six Intermezzi, Two Rhapsodies, and the Concerto in D by Brahms; "Lenore Overture No. 33", Beethoven; Mozart's "Quartet No. 15"; and Haydn's "Quartet No. 30." Also newly purchased are Franck's D minor Symphony, Dvorak's "New World Symphony", two songs by Schubert, and Debussy's "Preludes," Books I and II.

New records from the later composers include Copland's "Appalachian Spring", Stravensky's "Rites of Spring", and Harris' "Symphony No. 3."

Other records are the Columbia History of Music, Vols. I, III and V and a series on the instruments of the orchestra.

Mrs. Queener Announces Women's Intramurals

The sports program for sophomore girls the fall semester will be on the same idea as point system. The intramural program will include competitive and individual sports but will not be carried out to as great a length as point system sports. Two sections will meet Monday and Wednesday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:30 and from 4:30 to 5:30. The first meetings of the two sections will be held Monday, September 6, in the Intramural gymnasium.

Four sections of freshmen girls' gym classes will also meet in the Intramural gymnasium. The freshman program will include sports, health lectures, calisthenics, and square dancing.

Mrs. Verton M. Queener will direct the sports activities of the freshmen and sophomores. She will be assisted by Alverta Gates.

Theta Alpha Phi Plans Dramatic Productions

Theta Alpha Phi members have been reading plays during the summer in preparation for their first production. With the help of Miss Lenora M. Courtney, new Dramatic Arts instructor, they will select the play which will be given later this semester.

Drama Depart. Moves To Former Chatterbox

Dramatic Art classes will be held in the Chatterbox, which previously was the Y store. It has been repainted and a stage built in one end. The Y Store is now a part of the new Student Center.

IRC

International Relations Club will begin its membership campaign Monday, September 6. There will be sign-up tables on campus. Membership is available to all students interested in international affairs.

THETA

Theta will have a business meeting this evening at 6:15 p. m. in Theta Hall. Rush week will be September 13 through September 18.

GOSPEL FELLOWSHIP

The Gospel Fellowship Club will meet Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 7:00 p. m. in the YW roms. Glenn Knecht will be the speaker, and special music will be given. All are invited.

Intramural Changes

Under the new intramural system to be inaugurated at Maryville College this year, only the freshmen and sophomore men will be required to "take" supervised intramural activities.

Upperclassmen will be privileged to form independent teams for their exercise. Various campus organizations are now sponsoring intramural squads.

Additional details of the new intramural year will be printed in next week's ECHO.

1948-49 With Maryville Athletics

The trouble with success, observed the noted composer Irving Berlin, is that, once successful, one must continue to be a success. This, it seems, is the situation confronting Maryville College Athletics—particularly the gridiron phase—in this academic year 1948-'49.

Blessed with a bountiful return of gridiron veterans, Maryville has fared exceptionally well in the past two seasons to rightly claim the mythical championship among the state's small college teams consequtively. This coming season, by all indications, is expected to be—tougher than the last one. For such teams as Sewanee, Middle Tennessee State, Carson-Newman, and East Tennessee State are among Maryville's gridiron foes who exepct to place in the win column over M. C. this year.

For veteran Head Coach Lombe Scott Honaker, tough schedules have been the rule and not the exception during his 27-year tenure. Thru thick and thin Coach Honaker has weathered the trials of competition with his Highlanders. When asked to look back and name the most outstanding Maryville College eleven of his career, he selected a team—not for their nearly perfect win-loss record—but a team that gave the most of their best—the 1941 eleven.

The success of Maryville College Athletics is governed by its athletic policy. While many colleges look to subsidized football to build up a sports program, Maryville College has traditionally refrained from professionalizing college football for any cause. Maryville, a liberal arts college and not a professional school, does not provide professional training for athletes—with pay. Consequently, Maryville's collegiate sports program is purposely small-time.

The heart and core of the support for subsidized athletics is the intake of gate receipts. It is true that gate receipts go a long way in dictating the athletic policy of any institution. Football money has built reputations and facilities for many colleges. Conforming with the college's three historic and distinctive policies (1) high scholarship standards, (2) low expense rate to students, and (3) positive Christian emphasis, Maryville maintains an athletic policy which seeks to enrich and complete the student's college life. Student activities fee (which is a very moderate admission price when compared with other school admission fees) and further use of athletic revenues to expand athletic facilities rather than pay player's subsidies are two of the major benefits Maryville's students enjoy.

The end result is that Maryville has as diversified an athletic program as can be found in most small colleges. In the coming year we, either as players or spectators, can look for expanded athletic participation or performance.

Our football squad is preparing for a fast and tough go this fall. For our trackmen, cross country, (after suffering a brief relapse last season) appears as if it will become a going concern this fall. Wrestling, perennial M. C. show, should have a very good year. Basketball gives Maryville another strong winter sport. Then baseball, track, and tennis give promise of a full spring sports schedule for Orange and Garnet teams.

With confidence in and admiration for our athletic teams, we can look forward to a full year of athletic action—sparked by that good old Maryville spirit.

It is to this end—the full realization of the significance of Maryville's athletics and their employment for the greatest benefit—that we dedicate this sports page.

—The ECHO Sports Staff.

Seventy Five Lads Greet Honaker On Football Field

Football practice for the Scotties' coming tilts is off to a flying start with seventy-five men reporting for practice. Coaches Honaker and Davis are working hard with the Scotties in preparation for the September 25 opening game with Hiwassee.

The Orange and Garnet is fortunate in having sixteen lettermen returning to the team. Maryville's talent from the 1947 football season will be ably represented by Benton Baldwin, Hershel Merriman, Leon Berrong, Bill Fogarty, Allen Law, Bob Neff, D. M. Miller, Tubby Callaway, Donald Walker, Kenneth Andes, Bill Proffitt, Fred Kluth, Alan Rock, Howard Davis, James Holsey and Joe Johnson.

Three linemen are missing from last year's championship team. Cotton Easter, captain of last year's team, will be missing from his guard position. End Kenneth Talbott and Lloyd Anderson, guard, both mainstays on the 1947 team, are not back this year. Two first string quarterbacks King Berrong and Dave Clark will be missing from the backfield.

Captain of the team this year is Alan Rock, tackle, from Blue Island, Ill. Co-captain is Fred Kluth, another tackle from Blue Island. Rock and Kluth were elected at the close of the season last year to replace their outgoing team-mates Easter and Talbot.

The team is going through light work-outs every afternoon in order to get into shape for scrimmage which is to start sometime next week.

There is, as yet, nobody to replace Big Mitch as the assistant line coach.

Eighteen Men Sign For Cross-Country

Practice for the cross-country track meets will begin Monday afternoon at 3:30.

The following eighteen men have signed up for the team: Jim Akin, Orvil Wintermute, James Thurston, John Baird, Preston Mulford, Paul Kidder, Walter English, Del Earisman, Bob Kees, Neale Pearson, George Robarts, Thomas Kees, Willard Rahn, Paul McNiel, Sid Lambert, Bill Mengis, and Ric Rogers.

Any other students, new or old, who are interested in trying out for cross-country should report to coach Davis in Bartlett at the time indicated.

Two of the six scheduled meets are with the University of Tennessee whose schedule opens and closes with meets at Maryville on October 9 and November 13.

SWIMMING HOURS

The revised schedule for swimming periods as announced by the athletic department is as follows:

Men (only) Tuesday and Thursday—3:30-5:30.

Women (only) Monday and Friday—3:30-5:30.

Mixed swimming will be permitted Tuesday evenings from 7:00 until 9:00, Wednesday afternons from 3:30 until 5:30, and on Saturday afternoons from 2:00 until 4:00 .

Lindsay Announces Point System Plans For Next Semester

Point System will hold its first meeting Thursday, September 9, in the Federal gymnasium. Meetings will be held on Tuesday's and Thursday's throughout the semseter from 3:30 to 4:30 and from 4:30 to 5:30.

Any girl may take point system, but physical education majors are especially recommended to join. The objects of point system are to promote sportsmanship and experience in the field of sports.

Points will be given for each activity and at the end of the second semester those girls earning 300 points will receive a small "MC" letter. With 400 points a small "M" letter and a membership in the "M" club will be awarded, and with 500 points a large "M" letter and a membership in the "M" club will be given.

The program outlined for the Fall semester will be four tournaments consisting of soccer, volley ball, aerial darts, and stunts in which the two teams, the Chillies and the Howies, will compete against each other. Those girls not selected to play on the regular teams will be given instruction in that particular sport during the regular games and will receive points for that accordingly.

Those in charge of point system are Janice Lindsay and her assistant, Alverta Gates, and Mrs. Verton M. Queener, assistant professor of physical education for women.

Letters Awarded By ABC In Final Meeting Last May

Baseball, tennis, and cheerleader letters were voted to players at the final meeting of the Athletic Board of Control on May 8 last spring. Letters were given to the players at Chapel when prizes were distributed May 17. Thirteen baseball, seven tennis and six cheerleading letters were awarded. No awards were announced in track.

Those receiving baseball letters were: Gene Reynolds, Leon Berrong, Woody Thomas, King Berrong, Bob Boring, Erasmus Fowler, Jack Buckley, Bob Neff, Hugh Hamil, Benton Baldwin, Walter Pentz and Ross Honaker.

Cheerleader's letters were awarded to Jane McMillan, Kay Titley, Betty Clemens, Bob Watkins, Dick Jones, and Marvin McKenzie.

Tennis lettermen as announced were: Chesley Anderson, Wesley Miles, Bill Lawrence, Bill Uthlaut, Bill Dinges, Glen Kneckt, and Fred Waggoner.

This year's Athletic Association officers, as elected by the student body last May, are: Bob Boring, president; Brick Brahms, vice-president; Barbara Bertholf, secretary.

FOOTBALL TICKETS

The Athletic Department has announced that season tickets (reserved seats) will be sold this year for the football games. Faculty members desiring reserved seats are requested to see Coach Honaker.

Wives of veterans attending Maryville College will be given passes to the games. Other students' wives may purchase student activity cards at the Treasurer's office.

SPRING SPORTS ROUND-UP

(Since the May 8 ECHO came off the press before the finish of the track, baseball, and tennis seasons this spring, we're taking this space to wind-up spring sports.—The Editor).

BASEBALL—With a 10-win, 8 loss, and 1-tie record before the close of the final week of school, the Highlander nine travelled to Emory, Va. for a 1-6 humiliation by Emory-Henry on May 10. The following day, Tuesday, the Scottie ball club lost to East Tennessee State 1-2.

Hitting hard luck on the road, the Honakermen retired to the home diamond for the annual commencement week baseball game with Coach Ike Peel's Tennessee Vols. The M. C. nine, with hits by Neff, Hamil, and Boring, took a 3-0 lead in the first inning. The Vols tied the game 7-7 by the eighth inning after Bender hit a homer in the fifth and Littleford made a circuit run on a three base hit and an error.

In the ninth inning, the U. T. batsmen were put out—one, two, three, and the Highlanders took the bat. Reynold's single sent Hamil home and the Scots were the winners. Season's record: 11 victories, 8 losses, and 1 tie.

TENNIS—May 8, Coach Johnson's racqueteers ended the season with a 4-2 victory over Tennessee Wesleyan. Considering this to be Coach Johnson's first year and the fact that most of the team were freshmen, the record of 4 wins and 7 losses was fairly im-

Hamil Nominated Most Valuable Baseball Player

Hugh Hamil, ace centerfield on the '48 baseball squad, was voted "the most valuable player" by thirteen lettermen polled at the end of the season.

Players were also asked by an Echo sportswriter to name the team they thought was the strongest baseball outfit the Highlanders met in the '48 season. Newberry College of Newberry, South Carolina, and East Tennessee State's nine drew a tie vote as the strongest outfits in the Highlander schedule last spring. Tennessee Tech came third in the vote. The Scottie nine beat Newberry (8-0), won their first game (6-2) and dropped the last (1-2) with East Tennessee State, and were trampled by Tennessee Tech (14-3) after taking a close (7-6) victory in the first meeting with Tech's diamond squad. What's in a score, any how?

STUDENTS RECEIVE '48-'49 HANDBOOK AT REGISTRATION

The 1948-1949 "M" Book, Maryville College Handbook, was distributed to all students at the time of registration. The book is a general directory and contains the Student Body, W S G A and M S O constitutions.

Also included are the rules and regulations of the dormitories. It is published by the YMCA and YWCA in cooperation with Student Council, MSO, WSGA, and the Executive Council of the faculty.

This year's "M" Book staff was Harold Hunter, editor, Betty Crawford, associate editor, Barbara Wallin, business manager and Bill Proffitt, associate business manager.

Eight Faculty and Staff Accept New Positions

Eight members of last year's faculty and staff have left the college for positions elsewhere.

Miss Nathalia Wright, former assistant librarian, plans to work on her doctor's degree.

Mrs. P. R. Wilkerson, the former Miss Jessie Wild who was a member of the drama department, is living in Lynchburg, Virginia.

Dr. Ruth Cowdrick, former associate professor of French, has gone to Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio.

Mrs. Etta Kennedy, who was Special Studies editor, did graduate work at U. T. this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bernard, former art and music instructors respectively, are living in Ames, Iowa, while Mr. Bernard is doing graduate work at the University there.

The Ted Pratts are in Wisconsin, since Mr. Pratt acquired a teaching position. They worked in the Alumni Office.

TWO MC STUDENTS WALK 1250 MILES

Paul Yambert, ex-'50, and Jimmy Callaway, freshman, walked 1250 miles in 80 days this summer. Starting June 6, 1948 at Mount Katahdine, Maine, they walked until August 24, when they reached Waynesboro, Virginia.

Yambert, Vesper Choir member and a heavy-weight wrestler, transferred this fall to the University of Michigan to study forestry.

Huffman, Three Majorettes Lead 1948 College Band

Charles Huffman, drum major and majorettes Linnea Johnson, Peggy Kettles, and Pat DeCoursey will lead the 1948-49 college band. Sponsor for the band was selected this week but will not be announced until the day of the first game.

All three majorettes are from Pennsylvania and Huffman is a music major from Maryville. These four and the fifty-four members of the marching band were chosen at try-outs last Monday.

Practice Fundamentals

The band has practiced fundamentals of marching this week and will begin formations next week in preparation for the first game of the year.

Nominations for sponsor were made by the societies and the final selection was made by band members.

The personnel of the band is:

Trombones Betty Rock and Jack Randolph, first, Harry Settle and Bill Grindsted. Trumpets, Bill Crosley, Floyd Hager, Ronald Fleming, and Clarence Reaser, first, Margaret Holland, Betty Coates, Herbert Leonhardt, Evelyn Kennedy, second.

Baritones, Charles Williams, James Townsend, Bill Shields, Larry Thompson.

Losers

With less than two months until national elections in the US, major party organizations were last week proclaiming their worth and opponents' shortcomings. Opening a drive for labor support, President Truman lashed out at Republican policies as anti-labor. Meanwhile, Harold Stassen, speaking for Mr. Dewey, defended his party's stand.

Trends which could be noticed as early as the conventions were becoming more and more apparent: HST was running against the GOP Congress—not Tom Dewey; the New York governor, on the other hand, was running against "reds in the government"—not on the record of his party's standpatters; Truman chose to ignore Wallace and Dixiecrat Thurmond: Dewey was still "Me-too" on foreign issues. But to public opinion pundit Elmo Roper, it was all over last month. It would be Dewey all the way. Fortune's expert was sure, but the New Yorker might also inherit some of Harry's troubles, namely an anti-administration Senate. As usual, chief losers would be citizens of the US.

Victors

Another of the unique French national pastimes was much in evidence last week as the paradoxically moderate Radical Socialist Premier Marie and his little-right-of-center government fell. Again.

Vesper Choir Adds Members During Tryouts Last Week

Twenty-five new members were added to the Vesper Choir after try-outs Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. This brings the total membership of the choir for this year to sixty-two.

New Members

The new members in the first soprano section are Mary Arvidson, Carolyn Burrell, Ruth Humes, Frances Postethwaite, and Margaret Warren. New second sopranos are Dorothy Downey, Ann Jenkins, Ruth McQuilkin, and Evelyn Smith, Lucy Carrick.

Nina Gillette, Jean Hunt, and Evelyn Kennedy are new first altos; and new second altos include Emily Czerniawski, Ruth Nicholas, and Louise Packard. Three new first tenors include James Akin, Floyd Eaddy, and Walker English.

Richard Rogers, Wayne Shelton, and Fred Sieber are new second tenors. Two new members in the baritone section are Andrew Clark and Jack Reid. New second basses are Bob Holley, George Howell, and Charles Shelton.

Friday the choir sang for Dr. George Davies in honor of his eightieth birthday. Dr. Davies is the father of Miss Katherine C. Davies who is Chairman of the Division of Fine Arts.

The choir will make its first concert appearance at the First Baptist Church in Knoxville, November 7. In the meantime they will appear weekly at the college vesper services.

Figures for Current Enrollment Released

Enrollment for the current semester at Maryville College is a little less than for the final semester of last term, according to figures released by the Personnel Office. A total of 886 students are enrolled now as compared with 898 for last semester. There are 309 freshmen, 261 sophomores, 190 juniors, and 126 seniors in the current enrollment.

Student Help Program Employs Record Number

More students are working under the self help program this semester than there have been since the war. Out of an enrollment of 890, 230 of the students hold part-time jobs, a few handling two.

Due to the larger number of applications, there are still 30 people waiting for vacancies. Miss Massey announced that she plans to place several soon.

The various jobs held by students range from assistants in the student center to driving the parish wagon and modeling in the art department.

Yearbook Pictures Begin This Week

Individual pictures for the 1949 Chilhowean will be taken this week, Sept. 13—Sept. 17. The cost will be $1.02 per student for proofs. If pictures other than that for the annual are ordered, the dollar deposit will apply on the total cost.

Clothing Specified

In order that pictures will be uniform, the yearbook staff has designated the type of clothing to be worn. Freshmen girls will wear peter pan collared blouses and no jewelry. Sophomore girls are asked to wear V-neck blouses with no jewelry. Jewel neckline blouses with one strand pearls have been decided pon for junior girls. Senior girls, by vote, have chosen drapes. All fellows will wear jacket, shirt, and tie.

Time, Place

Senior girls' pictures will be taken only from 1:30—4:30 because of the extra time required for the drapes. There is no specified time for other students. They may have theirs taken any time including the afternoons. Time and place will be announced.

Joe Claud, business manager, is receiving payments and reservations for the yearbook.

Music Department Forms Chamber Music Society

Plans are being made for a chamber music society at the college. Those interested in forming string, woodwind, or brass quartets, trios, or instrumental quartets, trios, or instrumental ensembles should contact Miss Dorothy Horne, recently returned associate professor of music, or W. Curtis Hughes.

Dr. Lloyd Leads Chapel Thursday

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, president of the college, will speak at the long chapel service, Thursday, September 16. He will talk about his general impressions of the two councils which he attended during the past month.

President Lloyd returned to Maryville by train Friday morning about 5 a.m. He greeted the student body and led the regular morning chapel service.

Business Staff Tryouts Scheduled Wednesday

All students interested in trying out for the business staff of the Highland Echo should meet in the first floor chemistry lecture room in Fayerweather, Wednesday, September 16, at 7:00 p.m.

Rover Scouts Offer Chance For Service

Maryville College scouting program for this year promises to offer a variety of opportunities for service. Rover Scouts is the name applied to a particular type of senior scout unit.

They have two purposes on Maryville campus: (1) to restore and maintain interest in the work and movement of scouting; and (2) to afford opportunities for leadership in actual scouting organizations.

To attain the first purpose, the Rover Scout Patrol on the Maryville campus has a project on which college men may continue various crafts learned in earlier years. The picnic area in the College Woods has been taken over for improvement. A brick and cement open style barbeque grill has been constructed and a log cabin is now being erected. The purpose of this shelter is to make possible the use of the picnic area in inclement weather.

Various other plans are proposed for the addition of benches, tables, other grills, walks, and general beautification of the area. These things will be built after the manner of scouting methods and merit advancement may be gained if desired.

To obtain the second aim, there will be opportunities for leadership and guidance work in local scout troops and cub packs. There are many old outfits that need additional leadership and several prospective new outfits that require organizational assistance.

The Maryville Rover Scout Patrol is now a chartered outfit, the only one of its kind in this district. Membership cards have been received by the advisor and will be distributed to old members.

For the very near future, an overnight hike is being planned. More information on this matter will be available later.

Those interested in joining should contact Paul McNeil, chairman of the YMCA committee on Community activities or Sam Broyles, adult advisor of the Maryville College Rover Scout Crew. If membership is already held in another scout unit of any kind, a transfer may be obtained for those so desiring. Previous scouting experience is desired, but not absolutely necessary. A completely new membership carries with it the usual registration fee of $.50 for those under eighteen years of age, and $1.00 for those older.

Election of WSGA House Officers Scheduled Monday

Elections for the house officers of the Women's Student Government Association will be held Monday, Sept. 13, by secret ballot.

Those nominated for offices in Pearsons Hall are: Clara Miller and Loretta Crawford for vice house chairman; Virginia Schwarz and Jane Martenis for secretary-treasurer; Anna Jane Brunson and Mary Elizabeth Mills for emergency captain; Argyle King and Frances Postelthwaithe for first floor chairman; Marian Pope and Betty Jo Smith, second floor chairman; Wanda Onifer and Peggy Brooks, third floor chairman.

Those nominated for Memorial Hall are: Mary Arvidson and Joy Parker for vice house chairman; Betty Carrol, Gene Rice for secretary-treasurer; Mary Jones and Lou Masters for fire captain; Ruby Laster and Carol Barnette for first floor chairman; Ethel Hickman and Kathryn Blackburn for second floor chairman; Elaine Smith and Ruby Jean Harris, third floor chairman.

Those nominated for Baldwin Hall are Laurie Dale and Phyllis Jackson for vice chairman; Irene Mellon and Evelyn Kennedy for secretary-treasurer; Hazel Holm and Libbby Dunn for fire captain.

Officers previously elected are Barbara Eggleston, chairman of Pearsons Hall, Betty Rock, chairman of Baldwin and Brooks Maddux, chairman of Memorial.

During the past week, the WSGA has distributed mimeographed sheets of helpful grooming hints to all rooms in the dorms. This is the first of a series which they hope will be of service to the girls

Bainonians Open Saturday Night At "La Fiesta"

"South of the Border", the climax of Bainonian rush week, will be held tonight at 8 in the Alumni Gymnasium. The formal affair centers around a fiesta in old Mexico and the program includes comedy, musical, and speciality acts. The script was written by Anne Jenkins, Jim Black, and Marge Prall.

The set is a street scene with shops, and vendors dressed in the colorful costumes of old Memico. Ruth Nicholas is in charge of the sets and is assisted by Wilma Davis. Howard Cameron is the acting stage manager.

Music for the evening will be a Mexican chorus composed of Athenian and Bainonian members. The music is arranged and conducted by Charlie Huffman and Fred Seiber is the pianist.

Passport Invitations

All freshmen girls have been sent invitations in the form of a passport for a trip "South of the Border". Arrangements have been made for all freshmen girls to be escorted by Athenian members and freshmen boys.

Co-chairmen for the rush week are Dorothy Downey and Mary Wills, with the program under the direction of Mildred Miller.

Other chairmen of committees for the affair are Brooks Maddux, refreshments, Mary Hammelman, publicity, and Arline Whiting, costume.

"T-esta"

The freshmen girls were entertained Wednesday afternoon with a "T-esta", in Bainonian Hall. The hall was decorated with Mexican decorations and each girl was presented paper flowers for her hair.

The Mexican theme was carried out in the refreshments and the music for the afternoon. The girls who served wore peasant skirts and blouses and no shoes. Over 100 girls we represent.

All Girls Choir Selects Members

Forty-one girls were selected for this year's All Girls Choir at tryouts held last Tuesday. At their next regular rehearsal, September 14, in Dr. Orr's classroom, choir officers will be elected.

Plans for the year include the All Girls Choir-sponsored Sadie Hawkins Day and Vespers on the first Sunday in each month, beginning October 3. Joint programs of secular and sacred music will be given with the Men's Glee Club.

W. Curtis Hughes, director of the group, announces that there are places for fifteen more girls, especially altos and second sopranos.

The members of the choir are: first sopranos, Mary T. Hicks, Martha Hull, Anita Withers, Maurice Owen, Barbara Shorling, Ruth Helen Bird, Barbara Wallin, Ruth Mason, Jessie Dye, and Susie Martin; second sopranos, Suzanne Parker, Barbara Stidham, Anne Higdon, Jean Tipton, Janice Marion, Betty Jo Smith, Virginia Schwartz, Lois Miller, Lois Lehr, Edna Brown, Wilma Borter, Ruby Arp, and Laura Pritchett.

First altos are Edith Lancaster, Martha Hollowell, Nancy Lassell, Elaine Smith, Betty Coates, Carol Corbett, Lois Layton, Betty Cowden, Peggy Hughes, and Joy Hays. Second altos, Ruth Davis, Clara Miller, Natalie Hart, Marlene Mauger, Irene Mellon, Hazel Holm, Jeanne Pelton, Juanita Johnson, and Carol Benett.

College Orchestra Begins Rehearsals

Thirty-five members of the college orchestra met Thursday evening for its first rehearsal. Practices will be held each Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

Mr. W. Curtis Hughes, director, states that the prospects for the orchestra are good, though the number is small.

The orchestra will present a fall concert and accompany The Messiah.

BOOK STORE HOURS

Book Store hours for the current semester have been announced as follows: Daily, except Saturday:

After chapel to 8:35 a.m.
11:25 a.m.—12:15 p.m.
12:55 p.m.—1:25 p.m.
3:25 p.m.—5:15 p.m.

Saturday afternoon:

Theta Announces Rush Week Plans

Marianna Hayes, President of Theta Epsilon announced today that on Monday, September 13, the S. S. THETA will dock at Maryville College. All new girls are invited to become members of the crew for a World Cruise during Theta's rush week, Septmeber 13-18.

On Monday, passports will be issued to all prospective members. During the week those who remain on campus can follow the course of the S. S. THETA'S world cruise on large maps posted about the campus.

Splash Party

A tour has been planned with with stops in Hawaii, France, Africa, and England. When on Thursday the ship S. S. THETA crosses the equator King Neptune and his court will attend Theta's Splash Party in the college swimming pool for a typical pollywog ceremony for those of the crew who have never crossed the equator before.

Following this ceremony the S. S. THETA will continue on course until Saturday night when all members of the crew and passengers are invited to the captain's ball, the formal affair climaxing the cruise.

The feature of the Captain's Ball will be Theta's musical revue, WORLD CRUISE.

The Echo Presents Mrs. John Walker Of Morningside, House In The Woods

By Hazel Holm

"I don't know why I like Maryville any more than the other colleges, except for its natural beauty and resourcefulness. . .and I've never regretted coming here," said Mrs. John Walker, one of the benefactors of Maryville College.

Born in 1852 Mrs. Walker began her childhood in Davisfield, an exclusive suberb of Pittsburgh. She was the second oldest of a large family.

Mrs. Walker began her education when she was nine at Newell's School, a private institution in Pittsburgh, and continued to study until she was 16, when throat trouble caused her to miss so much school that she had to stop.

Before she reached her twenties, she married. After her husbands death she began living with her mother again, but soon became bored with life at home and felt useless among her mother's friends. So she went to New York to study kindergarden teaching. Then another blow struck for, before she finished her course, her sister died and she was called back home.

Teaches Kindergarden

A close friend in Portsmouth, Ohio, invited her to stay with her and while there, Mrs. Walker found a way to make use of her kindergarden course. For two years she made her bungalow home into a nursery school.

Then her uncle in Pittsburgh became critically ill and since nurses were practically unheard of, she left Ohio to help her mother with the household responsibilities.

Marries John Walker

Mrs. Walker married twice, the second man, John Walker, who is deceased now, was her neighbor in Pittsburgh. By this second marriage she had several step daughters and a son. She has a grandson, John Walker who is head of the National Galleries in Washington. Another grandson lives in Dunniden, Florida, and Mrs. Walker has spent two winters with him.

Visits Europe Three Times

At the age of three Mrs. Walker made her first of three trips to Europe. The journey was made for her father's health. They left in a sailing vessel and it took them three weeks to reach Liverpool. Mrs. Walker enjoys the comparison of then, and now, when Dr. Lloyd can make it in a matter of hours.

Friend Drowned on Lusitania

Mrs. Walker recalled one incident about a close friend, Phyllis Hutchinson, whom she met in England. She was a beautiful and talented girl, very popular, engaged to an officer. Mrs. Walker brought her back to the United States for a visit. When she was ready to return to England, there was much discussion about how she should go, and finally her father bought an expensive ticket for the Lusitania. No one has heard of her since the ship went down.

Designs House in the Woods

When Mr. Walker died, Mrs. Walker moved to Maryville to join her sister who was Mrs. Stevenson, wife of the college pastor. She liked it here so well that she planned and had built her present home, "Morning-side", the House in the Woods.

On meeting Mrs. Walker one would never guess her to be 96. She appears very spry and is an interesting conversationalist, overcoming well her only handicap, deafness. She spends much time writing letters and chatting with visitors. Living with her are a secretary and a maid.

Find Your Place in Y

Every student at Maryville College helps to support the YMCA or the YWCA when he or she pays the Student Activities fee at the time of registration. This gives the right of Y membership but does not make the student an active member. Only when the individual signifies his desire does he receive active membership.

The Y's offer several fields for service through inter-racial, community, missions, and orphanage groups. They sponsor two of the major annual programs, Barnwarming and May Day. They have regular weekly Sunday afternoon worship meetings. The Y Store is a joint project of the two Y's. Money from their building funds was used in the decorating and furnishing of the Student Center building. Part of their profits will pay the salaries of the workers in the Center.

The campaign for active membership is now in progress. All students have the privilege of joining. These two groups are the one place where all students on campus regardless of church, class, or society affiliations work together.

Only through us can they serve as they should. Why not "find your place in Y" now?

STUDENT COUNCIL

President Jim Black briefed a new Council, as it convened in the Student Center for its first meeting this year, on its goals both achieved and projected. Since the "carry-over" system provided for in the new constitution will go into effect for the first time in the Spring elections, it is an entirely new Student Council that has stepped into the shoes of last year's Council, one which many observers claim was the most effective Council in College history.

President Black first enumerated the eight aims of this year's Student Council as follows: 1. Continue work on hospitalization (student health insurance); 2. Continue work on the Constitution (duties of class officers; formation of Elections Committee); 3. Investigate possibilities of instituting an honor system; 4. Work on the N S A (National Student Organization, a nation wide organization of college student bodies); 5. Student Day (in which students will prematurely gray by taking over all faculty and administrative duties for 24 hours); 6. Work out details of the Governing Board (composed of the heads of all campus clubs and societies) and the social program; 7. Make progress toward the organization of a student bank; 8. Organize a point system limiting the number of offices and activities a person may involve himself in.

The four elected members of the Student-Faculty Senate were then chosen: John Poland (V. P. of the Council), Vera Lusk (Senior Class Representative), Bill Nish (YM president), and Bill Chalker (Junior Class president). The four automatic members are President Jim Black, Social Chairman Roger Cowan, M S O Chairmon Tubby Calloway, and W S G A Chairman Barbara Eggleston. Dr. Lloyd on his return will appoint the eight members of the faculty to Senate, and a co-chairman will be elected who will have the power of calling a meeting in the absence of the chairman. The first task on the Senate agenda will be to draw up rules governing social dancing, until which time no social dancing will be allowed.

In a final word before adjournment, Black reminded the Council that freshmen elections were only one month away, and that the freshmen class should begin to look about for leadership.

Scandal of the week:

Cecil Griffith and his Youngin's clouded up the gym Tuesday night with cigarette "Smoke, Smoke, Smoke." Doc should have warned him. . .(It has been suggested that each entertainer be given a copy of the "M" Book before each performance. Not that it will do any good, of course.)

Intellectual utterances from intellectuals

Dr Barker: "The nervous system consists of. . . nerves."

Mrs. Brown: "Many people believe that Columbus discovered America. He didn't. The Indians knew it was here all the time."

Herr Reber: "To form the diminutive of a noun in German, add "chen" (pronounced "kin"). For example, pump and pumpkin."

Ed Pancoast: "If a person from New York is a New Yorker, what about Hamburgers and Frankfurters?"

Ray Holsey: "Jonah spent 40 days and 40 nights in an apartment in the stomach of a whale."

Sally Lewis, speaking to the somewhat abashed splashers in the M C pool last week: "There is to be no roughnecking in thepool." We suggest a pause between the strategic parts of that word.

Arthur Godfrey sang: "A fellow needs a girl to sit on his lap, at the end of a business day. . ."

The audience at Wednesday morning's chapel was somewhat amazed when Dr. Wiley danced a jig in the middle of his talk to illustrate his statement that dancing seemed to be here to stay.

What with the try-outs for the two choirs that were held this week, everyone seems to have overexercised his obligato. One enterprising tenor joined in with the choir from the top of the bleachers.

On the serious side for a second, congratulations to all new (and old) choir members.

This week marked the beginning of the Theta-Bainonian rush weeks. Bainonian went South American when Bill Anderson miranda—ed (Carmen, that is) through the dining hall Wednesday.

Even though we aren't Bainonians (we're Columnists), we stuck our noses in the Bainonian tea. . . Wet, wasn't it?

(Next week we'll really get wet at the Theta splash party.)

Now add silly definitions: The Mad Rushian—one who doesn't know whether to join Theta or Bainonian.

Recruiting posters say "Join the Navy and see the world." We say, join a Maryville society. Bainonian will take you down South America way and Theta is planning a round-the-world cruise.

And they say that travel is broadening. Goodness!!

And then there's the International Situation. . . . We suggest that I. R. C. should be changed to IRE.

All the radio programs seem to be going in for stupendous quiz shows and contests. Not to be outdone, we, too, have a contest. To the person sending in the neatest typewritten entry on the 15,000 best uses for Scotch tape, we will give the fabulous prize of two pennies in a bucket of molasses. All entries must be written on the head of a pin and postmarked no later than midnight.

Have you noticed how many of the upperclass girls have been giving appropriate (?) names to their rooms? The Webb-Kincaid-McBride domicile is aptly named "The Opium Den." Just in case of emergency, the management has conveniently placed a fire extinquisher just outside the door. Two other girls we know have two stuffed pandas in their room. From these they derived the name "Pandamonium." You figure it out. Not to be left out is the "Headquarters of the Royal Society of Tea-Drinkers." Not that we're angels, of course, but we call our room "Blue Heaven." Wonder why there is a fire extinguisher outside our door, too?

No, Joe, its spelled ChilhoweAn.

Belle of the Week

Although we're Southern belles (?) our nomination for this honor is an Eastern belle. . .from the far East. In fact, she was born in Russia, and has only been in the States about a year. She studied music in Germany, and now she's a piano major at Maryville. When you see a cute brunette with an interesting accent, that's our Belle of the Week—Irene Launitz.

TALK OF THE WEEK BY WALLACE MOORE

WRITER'S WORKSHOP

Writer's Workshop will hold its initial meeting of the year, Wednesday, September 15, at 4:30 p.m. in Thaw 202. The first reader of the semester will be Dave Campbell and Marion Pope will criticize his paper. All members are requested by the governing board to be present in order that the group may organize for the work of this term.

Girls File Activity Cards With Dorm Heads

Activity cards for all girls to fill out have been supplied to the matrons of each dormitory. The cards record all off-campus weekends, and other special permissions. These and the permission blanks mailed to all parents during the summer, will provide accurate record of each girl's extra-curricular activities each semester.

Arizona Beauty

A GIRL of the Golden West, Donna McElroy, 18, of Phoenix, hides behind a huge Mexican sombrero. As "Miss Arizona of 1948," she will compete for the title of "Miss America" at the Atlantic City beauty pageant. (International)

Infirmary Treats First Patients

During the first week of this semester two students were treated in the hospital infirmary. Davis Smith, freshman from Trenton, New Jersey, entered the infirmary on September 2 and was dismissed September 5. Anna Katherine Knapp, senior from St. Albans, West Virginia, was admitted to the infirmary on September 5 and was dismissed September 8.

Miss Thelma Hall, R. N., nurse in charge of the infirmary, has announced the hours the doctors will be at the infirmary and the hours during which the infirmary will be open. Dr. Lynn Curtis will be there Monday from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.; Dr. G. D. LeQuire on Wednesday from 4:00 to 5:00; and Dr. Trent Vandergriff on Friday from 4:00 to 5:00.

OFFICE HOURS

Office hours at the infirmary are from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and from 4:00 to 10:00 p.m. Miss Hall asks that the hours between 1:00 and 4:00 p.m. be reserved for a rest period for the patients in the infirmary.

Doctors' services are free to students unless the doctor has to be called for a particular student. There is a charge for medicine and dressings used in addition to the regular $2.00 fee per day for a room.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall is the matron of the infirmary.

Dorothy Miller, freshman from Gatlinbrg, stayed at the infirmary for a few days at the beginning of the semester until a room was made available for her in Baldwin Hall.

BIRD TAKES FLIER AT COLD BATH

WHEN IT COMES to figuring out how to cool off in the heat wave, "Bunny," a parakeet, is right on tap. The bird's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sapio, Brooklyn, N. Y., have discovered that their pet takes to water like a duck. Hence the cooling faucet bird-bath. (International)

Physical Examinations Omitted for Upperclasses

Old students will not be required to take the annual physical examinations. New students have been examined already. In former years every student had to be examined at the beginning of the fall semester. Due to the elimination of physical education classes for juniors and seniors, they will no longer be necessary.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club will meet on Monday, September 13 at 6:45 p. m. in Herr Reber's classroom in Bartlett Hall. Bill Holt, president, will preside over this first meeting of the year. All old members are invited to attend to help organize the club's activities for the semester.

MENS GLEE CLUB BEGINS REHEARSELS

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, instructor in music, met for the first time this semester on Wednesday, September 8. Their rehearsal time each week is 6:30 p.m. on Wednesdays when they meet in Dr. Orr's classroom in Anderson Hall. The group sings both secular and sacred music, and joins with the All Girls Choir for programs during the year.

I. R. C.

The I. R. C. will hold its first meeting of the year, Monday night, 6:45 p.m., in the second floor lecture room, Fayerweather Hall.

A sound movie, "People of the Soviet Union," will be shown.

All persons interested in international relations are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Dining Hall Serves Eighty-Six Tables

Approximately 690 students are eating in Pearsons Dining Hall this semester, making up some eighty-six tables.

During the summer material for new drapes was ordered, but became lost enroute. More material arrived just last week, and Mrs. Lloyd is making the drapes at present. To date, six pairs have been hung in the dining hall. No other decorations have been added.

BE KIND TO ATHLETES WEEK—By all rights, this week should have been declared Maryville College's official "Be Kind to Athletes Week." No week of training ever necessitates more strain than the initial work under a blazing September sun. First requisite for the proper observance of the week might have been: "Don't bother a resting athlete unless utterly essential to his welfare."

•MISSING—Quite a number of questions are asked about players who are not back at football this season. A few of the answers: King Berrong has accepted a coaching position at Vonore High School. Dave Clark has dropped out of school—occupation unknown. Bob Boring was advised not to play this year lest his beseball shoulder muscles be strung. Joe Johnston, tackle from Knoxville, returned but declined to remain. Others missing are unidentified.

•DESERTERS—Two local players, Morton and Shepard by name, reported for first few days of workouts here at Maryville last week. After scouting a bit, they elected to leave and were reported to have turned up at Hiwassee College—for football practice. They're missed. . .but Hiwassee probably needs them worse, anyhow.

•THE HARRIERS began chasing the rabbitts this week. Although totally inexperienced at the race, Maryville cross-countrymen can, with persistance, make a good season out of it. With the opportunity, incentive, and opposition, Maryville's team ought to show up —(ahead)— in cross-country around here.

•SKELTON-IN-THE-CLOSET—That's what the requirements as defined by the current by-laws of the Athletic Association for cross-country are! No specific requirements, as we've beeen able to discover, are enumerated in the Association's By-Laws for the awarding of cross-country letters. Need we appeal to the superme court (i.e. the Athletic Board of Control)?

•RAILBIRDS, as they are known who watch football practices, got the first look at team scrimmage on Wednesday. Quite a congregation assembled, too, for the opening huddle. There are two types of railbirds, we find. Those who are curious and those who are interested. Of course the curious are always completely harmless, but the interested sometimes obstruct training by making comment designed to catch the attention of a coach or player. This slows practice down, and is detrimental to team spirit. Therefore, the rule for railbirds is: Keep your comment for the Monday morning quaterback.

•SLIPPED—In case you did notice, last week's football schedule as printed on this page had one major error: Carson-Newman game is to be played at Jefferson City, not on Wilson Field. Looking at the '48 schedule, we found an old friendly opponent missing. Tusculum, no less, with whom Maryville College has had many friendly athletic rivalrys.

•STEAMROLLED—Two of Coach Honaker's former pupils, Steve Boretsky of Bristol's Tennessee High and Ken Stinett of Walland High, bumped heads last week. In the opening games of their season, Tennessee High steamrolled Walland's eleven, 91-0, in Bristol last Friday. One-sided, wasn't it?

SPORTS

HARRIERS GET TWO DATES SET

Two meets—at Sewanee October 13, and at U-T November 13—are definitely scheduled for Maryville's cross-country team, according to an announcement by the Athletic Office this week.

The schedule also includes a possibility of four other meets, opponents and places unannounced.

Coach Johnson met 25 potential runners in the first practice last Monday. Lapping the football field mixed with assorted calisthentics was the main part of the first week workouts.

A minor sport, cross-country before the war was a strong Maryville specialty. In the fall of '46 the team split two meets with the University of Tennessee. Maryville had no cross-country season last year.

Three mile course

The course was laid out by Coach Johnson and helpers the first of the week. A three mile trek, it starts with a circle around the golf course, continues into the college woods, by the picnic grounds, around toward College street, and back to the football field.

As many of the men were new to the course, the route schedule has been slow for the start. Any men interested in cross-country may still enter training by seeing Coach Johnson.

The following are training for cross-country: Jim Akin, Orvil Wintermute, Jim Thurston, Preston Mulford, Paul Kidder, Walt English, Del Earisman, Bob Keys, Neale Pearson.

George Robarts, Thomas Kees, Willard Rahn, Paul McNeil, Sid Lambert, Ric Rogers, Rod LeVan, Wm. Menges, Robert Keny, Richard Keene, Paul Toothsman, and Jim Koen.

Tag Football Gets Going Today

Touch football—Maryville's first intramural activity of the year—starts Monday. Two games are scheduled on the athletic field behind Alumni Gym.

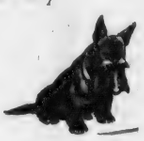
Five Teams Out

The five teams out so far this fall for touch football are: the YMCA with Brick Brahams as manager; the Eight Balls with Artie Spears as manager; the Varmints with Frank Farmer as manager; the Olympics with Don Hyatt as manager; and the Ministerial Association with Bill Starr as manager.

ATHENIAN

Athenian will hold its opening meeting Saturday at 6:15 p.m. in Bartlett Hall.

A new program entitled, "Be Stupid, It's Fun," will be the main attraction of the meeting.



All freshmen and new men are invited.

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma held a Male-Mixer, Saturday evening in the Y rooms. Refreshments were served by Theta, Alpha Sigma's sister society.

Friday evening the second annual Old Member's Banquet was held at Chilhowee Inn. Following dinner, the officers for this year were installed. They are: president, Charles Parvin; vice president, Glen Knecht; secretary, Bernie Welch; treasurer, Bob Kay; Sergeant-at-arms, Ed Pancoast. Transportation to the inn was by chartered bus.

Scotty Sez:

Football time is near at hand. And with football time comes the test of College spirit. Has Maryville College spirit—the kind that prompts students and players to carry on, no matter what?

Real enthusiasm is of utmost importance to victorious athletic teams. For this reason, Maryville should have enthusiasm this coming season.

Within the coming two weeks, the students of Maryville College will elect their cheerleading corps—four girls and four boys— to lead the football cheers at home this fall. You have the opportunity to elect persons most sitable for cheerleading. The Pep committee, a faculty-student cooperative organization, will sponsor the cheerleading try-outs.

Although the pep committee and the cheerleaders are responsible for most of the organization for promotion of college spirit on the hill, you are directly responsible for it as expressed by the student body of the college.

Then, lend an enthusiastic hand to the support of the cheerleaders and the pep committee in organizing college spirit for Maryville this seanson.

It is significant to note that Maryville has not lost a single game on Wilson Field since 1942. With the student body supporting the 1948 Highlanders with victorious spirit, 1948 should be a year in which the Scots also win all the home games!

Winner's Reward

WINNER for the third time in the Bendix transcontinental air derby, Paul Mantz of the Hollywood movies gets a hug and kiss from his daughter, Tinita, at Cleveland flying field. He covered the 2,048 miles from Los Angeles to Cleveland in 4 hours, 33 minutes and 48 seconds. His average speed was 447.980 miles an hour. (International)

YMCA Presents Cabinet To New Students Sunday

"How Y Works" will be presented by the YMCA Cabinet Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in Bartlett Hall. The object is two-fold to present the cabinet in person and to acquaint the new men of the campus with the functioning of the YMCA.

Intramurals....

To organize a team it is necessary only to obtain an eligibility list from Coach Johnson's Intramural Office, get twelve men to sign it with one to act as captain, and return the list to the office. Entries were scheduled to close Thursday.

Richardett Plans. . .

A complete intramural schedule has been planned for the year by Fred Richardett, senior intramural manager. The season starts with touch football, which is to be replaced by soccer before the Christmas vacation. After Christmas both basketball and volleyball will be played until spring, when softball and possibly track will take over for the remainder of the year.

Managers Needed

Charles Warner and Kenneth Newell are junior managers, and Thomas Kees is a sophomore manager. There is an urgent need for three more sophomore managers and eight freshmen managers. Men interested should see Coach Johnson.

College regulations require that all sophomores take physical education. Intramural teams are a good way to avoid the old "sign-up" every week—if you're interested get your name on an eligibility list.

Sixty-six Girls Join Point System

Sixty-six girls reported at Point System's first meeting of the semester last Tuesday. Explanations of the objectives for point system this semester were made. Enrolled in the 3:30 group are 38 prospective Chillies; 28 girls are in the Howee group.

At Thursday's meeting both groups did calisthentics to limber up for the 5½ weeks of soccer ahead. Rules for soccer were given, and both classes practiced elementary procedures in soccer.

The first Chillie-Howee soccer clash is slated for October 5.

Easter Becomes New Assistant Line Coach

Ronald "Cotton" Easter, captain of last year's football squad, began duties of assistant line coach of the 1948 Highlanders last Monday.

Easter, a senior who will graduate in December, will help coaches Honaker and Davis as a part-time duty. A four-year letterman, Easter is ineligible to return to the Maryville squad at his right guard position.

Cotton was graduated from Loudoun (Tennessee) High School, served four years in the navy, and returned to Maryville in the fall of '46 to continue his outstanding play as a Highlander guard.

As assistant line coach, Easter succeeds Marvin "Big Mitch" Mitchell, captain of the 1947 Tangerine Bowl Team, who was graduated last December.

Easter is a pre-med student, 25, and unmarried.

Rev. Thomas A. Graham, will be the vesper speaker Sunday, September 12, at 7 p.m. in Thaw Hall. The Reverend Mr. Graham is the pastor of New Providence Presbyterian Church.

Scotties Scrimmage Began Wednesday

Scrimmage was called on Wednesday of this week for the initial test under fire for the 1948 Highlanders After a week of conditioning drills, Head Coach Honaker and Coach Davis put five squads through the first contact work of the season.

With the season's opener—Hiwassee, here, September 25—just two weeks off, the Highlander coaches have begun bringing the team into battle shape.

"Cotton" Easter joined the coaching staff this week as assistant line coach.

Line Wide-open

Seven first string players are lost from the '47 team—five from the line. Therefore, almost without exception, every line position is wide-open this year. Although the backfield has seen less changes, the quarterback spot is the center of most competition.

Backfield veterans such as Hersh Merriman, Leon Berrong, Allen Law, Bob Neff, and Bill Fogarty began showing 'em how on the first scrimmage opportunity.

"Tubby" Calloway, reserve snap-caller of last season, Gene Reynolds, Dick Hamilton, are breaking in at quarterback positions. With the loss of King Berrong and Dave Clark since last year, the Highlanders are searching for first string quarterbacks.

In the line, which is as unsettled as marble bouncing on glass, Coach Davis is giving the candidates plenty of the fundementals. As guards—Andes, Proffitt, Lester, Rutherford—are getting the most attention. At tackles, Fred Kluth, Alan Rock, Don Walker, and "Butch" Kramer loom as big men for tackles this year.

With ends Miller and Davis as hold-overs from '47, other candidates including Carl Lewellyn, Hap Brahams, Jack Henry, and George Handley are pressing for a terminal position.

The center position has numerous entrants—Larson, Holsey, Archer, T. E. Boyd, competing.

28 Newcomers Out

About 28 of the 64 man squad now in practice are new men under the Orange and Garnet.

The new men include: Charlie Allen, tailback, Louisville, Ky.; Reed Bell, center, Maryville; Harry Brahams, end, Laguna Beach, Calif.; Brannin Boyd, fullback, Philadelphia; T. E. Boyd, center, Maryville; Jimmy Calloway, end, Maryville; Brace Campbell, tailback, Alcoa.

Wallace Clendenen, tackle, Etowah; Loren Fowler, tailback, Cambridge, Ohio; Richard Gerke, fullback, Philadelphia; Raymond Hitch, fullback, Maryville; Jimmy Hawkins, fullback, Maryville; George Handley, end, Townsend; Raymond Keny, end, Maryville; Charles Mabry, quarterback, Morristown.

Tom McClendon, quarterback, Scottsboro, Ala; John Lewis, guard, Corcoran, Calif; Herbert Palmer, guard, Elizabethton, N. J.; Donald Reeves, fullback, Knoxville; Herbert Rutherford, guard, Bristol; Eugene Reynolds, quarterback, Alcoa; Vernon Shamblin, end, Maryville.

Danny Sheffield, fullback, Memphis; George Stanfield, wingback, Shelbyville; Kenny Smith, fullback, Mount Holley, N. J.; Ben Talbott, end, Maryville; Earl Valentine, center, Maryville; William Waters, tackle, Maryville; Bob Sprague, and Eugene Reece.

James "Hisee" Newman is trainer for the Scotties, while Clifford "Bo" Henry, head manager, and Bill Dinges are serving as the squad's managers this year.

Bo and Bill are in need of Freshmen assistants. Interested freshmen should see Coach Honaker, the managers stated.

Correction, Please. . .

ECHO was in error last week in a story concerning the sale of season home football tickets to faculty and students' wives. To state it correctly: Wives (or husbands) of students now in school may obtain special athletic activity cards for admission to the home football games of the coming season.

The price of these cards is $1.95—on sale at the treasurer's office.

Chapel Assignments Posted Monday Morning

Chapel seat assignments will be posted Monday, September 13, in the gym and on the bulletin boards in Thaw and Anderson. Beginning Tuesday morning, all students are to sit in the proper places in chapel.

This year the seniors will sit in the folding chairs at the west end of the gym instead of in section I as was done last year.

Dr. Griffitts Heads E-T Chemical Group

Dr. F. A. Griffitts, professor of Chemistry, has been elected chairman of the East Tennessee section of the American Chemical Association for the year beginning January 1, 1949.

Elected in December, 1947, Dr. Griffitts holds the position of chairman-elect at present, since it is the policy of the association that the chairman have a membership on the executive committee for one year before his term of office, and for one year after, as Past President. This is done in order that the executive officer gains a working knowledge of the organization.

The East Tennessse Section of the association is comprised of Knoxville, Maryville, Oak Ridge, and has a membership of 480 persons. The organization meets nine times a year from October to June, at which times there are distinguished speakers sent out by the American Chemical Association Tour Service.

Each year prizes of honorary memberships in the association for one year are awarded by the local section to two senior chemistry majors from U. T., one from Carson Newman, and one from Maryville. The Maryville graduate receiving the award last year was Kenneth B. Talbot.

for the seventh time in four years, France faced another cabinet crisis. Leading the list of problems in forming a new government was keeping the country away from the twin perils of deGaulle right-wingers and Thorez Reds.

President Auriol first asked Robert Schuman to try again. Schuman had preceded Marie as premier. His efforts this time, however, were even less successful than before. After sixty-four hours, the French were again without a workable coalition of cabinet members when M. Schuman handed his resignation to the President. Unless a settlement can be reached soon, a new election will have to be held —one in which one of the extremist groups will be victor and which all Europe will fear.

Whoops!

With a whoop and a holler, the Un-American Activities Committee of the House made a bid to regain some of their lost notoriety. This week such distinguished scientists as Chicago's Urey and Yale's Compton expressed fear that the committee still had its lethal mud supply. Nevertheless, the oft-quoted authoritative sources said the Thomasites saw more Reds among the atom bombs. Advance publicity for this round included a "slim, pretty miss" and a network of spies from here to there. Remembering the last "blonde spy queen" who was neither blonde nor especially pretty at a plump middle-age, photographers were hoping this time there would be some feminine match for good-looking young Alger Hiss.

Oops!

Here in Tennessee, there was enough politics without worrying about the rest of the world's statesmen. Although Demo gubernatorial candidate Browning spoke in nearby Maryville, Knoxville's morning Journal found little space for anyone but GOPer B. Carroll Reece and his Guitar-strumming runningmate, Roy Acuff. Earlier the paper had seen a total of 10,000 Reece-Acuff enthusiasts at meetings in which the likewise Republican Chattanooga Times could find only 5,000. A recount was not made.

Stack Cards Ready

Library stack cards may be secured by those who had them last year, by application at the main desk at any time. Upperclassmen who have not had a stack card before may secure one by seeing Miss Mary Miles at 11:00 a. m. any week day and on Mondays and Thursdays at 8 p. m.

Freshmen will have access to the stacks after Thanksgiving.

Most of the instructors have placed books on reserve for their classes. Students may use these books in the library and take them from the libarary after 9:00 p. m. at night or 4:00 p. m. on Saturdays.

Library hours during this semester will be as follows:

Weekdays, 8:20 a. m.—5:30 p. m.
7:00 p.m.—10:00 p.m.
Saturdays, 8:20 a. m.—5:30 p. m.

Strike Long, Milk Short

Crippling strikes upset both coasts of the nation last week as New York transport workers and West Coast longshoremen were out. Crux of the matter in California was the ruling by the National Labor Relations Board that hiring halls violated the Taft-Hartley Act. This was one point, however, on which the shipping industry agreed its troublesome union: hiring halls are better than anything else worked out for maritime workers so far. Union leaders out there say their men will never work without them; NLRB says they can't have them; one spokesman said, "This means either the union or the owners will be out of business." Back in New York, officials viewed a milk shortage as a dangerous threat unless agreement could be made.

Students desiring to have copies of the Highland Echo mailed to their home addresses should contact Margaret Weaver, business manager. Subscription rates are $1.00 per year.

Boyer, Baird Present Korea to Student Vols

"Korea, Past and Present," is the topic of the message for Student Volunteers which will be given in Bartlett Hall Sunday night after Vespers.

Katherine Boyer and John Baird both children of missionary families, will give their personal stories of experiences in Korea. They will create an Oriental atmosphere by wearing garments and having Korean exhibits to illustrate their talks.

Special music will be given by Betty Rock and Harold Hunter, who will play a trombone duet.

CAMERA CLUB

Camera Club will meet at 6:45 p.m. in Science Hall on Thursday, Sept. 16, for a social and "get-acquainted" evening. Carroll Stegall, president, invites all students interested in photography to attend. All those who obtained new camera equipment during the summer are asked to bring it to the meeting.

All we ask is the Chance to serve you and to let you see what good meals we can offer to you.

Musical Revue Closes Theta Rush Week

Theta Epsilon's Rush Week draws to a close tonight with the presentation of a musical revue "World Cruise" at eight o'clock in the Alumni Gym. The theme of Theta's Rush Week has been a World Cruise," and freshman girls have been rushed with a Neptunian "splash" party, daily favors, and visits to major seaports as the S. S. Theta circled the world.

Ocean Tour Is Theme

Completing the theme of an ocean tour, tonight's program will feature "World Cruise: a Musical Revue, with Stops in Five World Ports." The script for the revue was written by Jimmy Dance. Margaret Newland and Howard Cameron are handling stage presentation. The entire production is under the management of Rush Week Chairmen Marianna Hayes, Virginia Gress, and Buffie Carver.

Scene Is Deck of S. S. Theta

The action of Theta's "World Cruise" takes place on the deck of the good ship S. S. Theta on the last night out of home port. The plot centers around a young girl, Marian Bradley, who is writing in her diary all the adventures she has had while on the world cruise. In a series of flashbacks the audience is treated to a tourist's-eye-view of (1) life on a movie set in the Hawaiian Islands, (2) the latest fall fashions by Ermingarde of Paris, (3) missionaries vs. cannibals in darkest Africa, and (4) tea with Lady Cholmondeley in a foggy English castle. Concluding her chronicle in the diary, Marian is a guest at the Captain's Ball, the formal affair climaxing the voyage and the revue.

Pope and Newland Head Cast

Heading the cast for the revue are Marian Pope as the young traveler, and Margaret Newland as her rich old aunt. They will be supported by Dorothy Stater as Captain Bligh, Bob Holley as a Hollywood movie director, Jane MacMillan as a Hawaiian hula girl, and Lois Deobler as a French ballet dancer. Andy Clark and Mary Holly Webb are African missionaries; Mary Mitchell Woolridge is a Russian spy. Martha Kincaid is the veddy British Lady Cholmondeley, and Louise Lloyd, Margaret Priest, and Mary Taylor Hicks are entertainers at Captain's Ball. Other members of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma are in the cast and on the production committees.

Music for the revue is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Vawter, member of the Fine Arts faculty at Maryville College.

Medical College Admission Test Dates Announced

The Medical College Admission Test formerly known as the Medical Aptitude Examination will be given this year on October 30 and February 7. Only students hoping to enter medical school in the Fall of 1949 are to take the test this year and the October 30 date is urged because many medical schools begin their selective processes very soon after that date. No one may take the test twice this year and it will probably be given here only in October.

Individual Applications

Under the new plan the student sends in his own application. Blanks for this purpose are available at Dean Hunter's office. Applications must be made at the office in Princeton, New Jersey, by the 16th of October; therefore, they should be sent in during the next three weeks.

The fee is $10. Reports are sent free to three medical schools indicated by the applicant. If he wishes scores sent to other schools a charge of $1 additional is made for each.

Reports will be sent to approved schools of Pharmacy and Dentistry at $1 each.

Black Appoints Student Council Committees

Steering, Elections, Pep, Finance Groups Included

Members of the standing committees for the 1948-1949 Student Council were announced this week by Council president, Jim Black. These committees and their duties are as follows:

Steering Committee

The Steering Committee is composed of six members of the council and the president who shall act as chairman. This committee is responsible for the outlining of the year's program and for the agenda of each council meeting. These members are Jim Black, John Poland, Eunice Pancoast, Bill Nish, Margaret Rock, Barbara Eggleston, and Henry Callaway.

Elections Committee

Fourteen students make up the Elections Committee. Among these are three seniors, Bill Houdeshel, Marguerite Priest, and Margaret Rock, two juniors, Glen Knecht and Wanda Onifer, two sophomores, Betty Jane Greenwald, and John Shew and two representatives of the freshman class as yet not elected. Also included are the presidents of the four classes, Chester Phillips, Bill Chalker, Joe Poland and the president of the freshman class, John Poland, vice-president of the Student Council is chairman of this committee. The Elections Committee is in charge of the annual elections each Spring. The Council may also direct the Elections Committee to conduct other general student elections when requested to do so by groups sponsoring such activities.

Pep Committees

The Pep Committee, which is responsible for the publication of all athletic events and for all pep celebrations is composed of Bob Boring, Jim Lester, Barbara Bertholf and John Shew.

The Student-Faculty Senate members on the council are Jim Black, Henry Callaway, Barbara Eggleston, Roger Cowan, Vera Lusk, Bill Nish, John Poland and

GIRLS ELECT HOUSE OFFICERS MONDAY

Elections of house officers, under WSGA regulations, were held Monday, September 12th, in all women's dormitories. The results are as follows:

Upperclassmen Officers

Pearson's Hall, vice-chairman, Loretta Crawford; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Schwarz; emergency captain, Anna Jane Brunson; second floor chairman, Argyle King; third floor chairman, Marian Pope; fourth floor chairman, Wanda Onifer.

Underclassmen Officers

Baldwin Hall, vice-chairman, Laurie Dale; secretary-treasurer, Irene Mellon; emergency captain, Libby Dunne; first floor chairman, Edilene Froggs; second floor chairman, Marilyn Schnee; third floor, chairman, Alita Bryant.

Memorial Hall, vice chairman, Betty Carroll; emergency captain, Lou Masters; first floor chairman, Ruby Laster; second floor chairman, Katherine Blackburn; third floor chairman, Elaine Smith.

The House Chairmen who were elected at the close of last semester are, Pearsons Hall, Barbara Eggleston; Baldwin Hall, Betty Rock; Memorial Hall, Brooks Maddux. These officers, plus those elected Monday, make up the staff of house officers, under WSGA.

SPIRITUAL SINGERS APPEAR AT YMCA

The Golden Crown Spiritual Singers, a local colored group, will appear at the meeting of the YMCA tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in Bartlett Hall. This same group appeared on a YM program last year.

Students are reminded to watch for a series of meetings on courtship, friendship and marriage which will be conducted in joint meetings with the YWCA.

Music Department Posts Practice Room Schedule

Practice schedules for the music department have been posted on the bulletin board on first floor of Anderson Hall. This schedule will be checked every day to see that students are not taking extra cuts.

Y's Rebroadcast 'Fugitive In Earth'

"Fugitive in the Earth" is the title of the Y's first radio program this year. A dramatic type show, it will be broadcast at 2:45 p. m. Sunday over WGAP, 1400 kc.

This broadcast is the first in a series of three programs which are being repeated because of their popularity last year. The script for "Fugitive" was written by Thomas Wheeler, a 1948 graduate.

Already prepared for the weeks following the series of repeat broadcasts are three new scripts, according to Jim Black, YMCA radio chairman. All of these programs will be of a dramatic nature, since this type was found to be most successful during the first year, 1947-'48, Black added.

Script Contest

A contest for original radio scripts for the Y series is planned for the month of November. Any student may enter the contest since each one is an associate member of the Y's. For ideas concerning the general plan of scripts, prospective writers entrants should tune to the Sunday broadcast of a typical show. Chairman Black and co-chairman Ben Paxton of the Y radio committee will be in charge of the contest and will accept entries later.

Many students at Maryville gained valuable radio experience on Y programs last year. WGAP studios in the Blount National Bank building are used for the productions.

YWCA HEARS NEW GIRLS' SUGGESTIONS

The Nu Gamma program will be presented at the meeting of the YWCA, Sunday at 1:30 p. m. Winnie Schaumburg, Nu Gamma chairman, will introduce the Nu Gamma leaders. Louise Lloyd will interview three new girls - Susy Martin, Bloomington, Illinois; Ella Swift, Maryland; and Beverly Moore, junior transfer stdent from Waukesha, Wisconsin. These girls will be asked to give some of their opinions about the effectiveness of the Nu Gamma program.

Debate Class Formed For Varsity Try-Outs

Six Tournaments Planned For Year

All upperclassmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, interested in trying out for the varsity debate team this year are asked to meet Wednesday night, September 22.

In order that the team may organize and start work earlier than in former years the date for the holding of tryouts has been set as Monday, October 25. This was decided at a recent meeting of Pi Kappa Delta of which Stuart Saul is President.

Maryville Has Alpha Chapter

Pi Kappa Delta is the largest of three national forensic societies. Maryville College is the Tennessee Alpha Chapter, founded in 1922. Dr. V. H. Queener, present debate coach, was a charter member of the organization. Dr. E. R. Hunter, also a charter member, was debate coach when the chapter was founded.

Tournaments Planned

Five or six tournaments are scheduled for the varsity team this year. They will attend the national convention of Pi Kappa Delta at Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette, Louisiana. In 1938 Maryville College was host to the national convention.

Plans are being made for a freshman debate team again this year with several tournaments.

Faculty Debaters

Dr. E. R. Hunter, Dr. V. H. Queener, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pieper, Mr. J. H. Kiger, Dr. D. H. Briggs, Miss Jessie Johnson, and Miss Arda Walker have been members of Maryville's Pi Kappa Delta.

In 1938 Miss Walker won the Grand Eastern Oration. During the same year she and her partner won the women's debate in the Provincial Tournament and in the state tournament.

Mr. Pieper and Paul Hartman were beaten only by the winners at the national Pi Kappa Delta debates in 1936 at Houston, Texas. They came in seventh place in competing with 103 other teams. That same year Mr. Pieper and his partner won the State Men's Debate and Mrs. Pieper and Miss Roberta Houre were the winners in the Women's State Tournament.

EDITORIAL STAFF TRYOUTS

All freshmen interested in trying-out for the editorial staff of the HIGHLAND ECHO are to meet in the first floor chemistry lecture room in Fayerweather at 8 p. m. Monday. This includes those desiring to write sports, features, or straight news stories. Previous experience on a newspaper is not required.

DR. BARBOUR SPEAKS IN CHAPEL THURS.

Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Ph. D., D. D., pastor of Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville for the last twenty years, will speak in chapel, Thursday, September 23.

As leader of the February meetings Dr. Barbour was here in 1938, 1942 and 1948. In 1948 he was the first leader of the meetings who did not speak in the chapel building.

Dr. Barbour was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and Western Theological Seminary. His Doctor of Philosophy degree was conferred upon him by the University of Edinburg, Scotland.

He was a candidate for Moderator of General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. this year and has published one book, Sin and the New Psychology.

County C. of C. Annual Dinner Held Monday

The Blount County Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual dinner meeting at Pearson's Hall next Monday evening at 7 o'clock. The organization has approximately 180 members, and many are expected to bring their wives and families for this occasion.

MC Grad Speaker

The principal speaker will be Lloyd E. Foster, Maryville, 1907, who was captain of the only Maryville football team to beat the University of Tennessee. This feat was accomplished in 1906. Mr. Foster is now executive vice-president of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce and president of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries.

Many local officials, newspaper representatives from Maryville and Knoxville and a Capital Airlines representative will also be present. Entertainment will be furnished by a chamber music group composed of Mr. Curtis Hughes, cello, Miss Alice Archibald, piano, Miss Dorothy Horne, violin.

President David L. McArthur, who was re-elected for this year, will give the annual report at the meeting.

INTRAMURAL GYM SUPPLEMENTS STUDENT CENTER

Additional recreational facilities will be available in the Intramural gym early next week. Eqipment will include volley ball courts, dart boards, ping pong tables, and card tables for games. The gym will serve as an annex to supplement the Student Center.

The all-campus social committee under Roger Cowan, chairman worked on this project. Committee members include Judy Breen, Ray Packard, Pinky Ahler, Bob Holley, Ray Sanders, Nicky Hart, and Dot Stater.

VESPERS

President Ralph W. Lloyd will speak at Vespers Sunday evening, September 19, on the subject, "The Message of the World Assembly of Churches." Dr. Lloyd has just returned from the meeting in Amsterdam, Holland where he was delegate from the Presbyterian Church USA.

The Vesper Choir will sing two anthems, "Praise Ye God", and "Gloria Patria".

Disc Club Sponsors Friday Record Program

Disk Club is cponsoring a campus-wide listening program every Friday night. This is not a regular club program with commentary, but is a period in which any student may select any record that he wishes to hear. The program will be between 6:30 and 7:15 each Friday evening.

Disk Club is an organization sponsored by the Music Department for the benefit of those who are interested in music. Regular meetings are held the first and third Thursday nights of the month, and planned programs include specific records, with commentaries from the members of the club.

Governed by Committee

Under the sponsorship of Miss music, the club is governed by a Music, the club is governed by a committee made up of six members, three of whom are music majors, and three non-majors. The members of this committee are Charles Huffman, Fred Seiber, Jane Martenis, John Ferris, Laurie Dale, and Mary Jo Richardson.

Squad Contains Three Sophomores, Five Freshmen

Eight cheerleaders for the 1948 season were elected at a Student Body meeting last night in the Alumni Gym. Three sophomores and five freshmen compose the squad. John Shue presided at the meeting conducted by the pep committee of Student Council.

The 1948 Cheering Squad

Jane McMillan—Sophomore
Beverly Jacobi—Freshman
Peggy Knox—Freshman
Gracie Scruggs—Freshman
Richard Jones—Sophomore
Arch Swarztrauber—Sophomore
Alan Fort—Freshman

Clyde McCampbell—Freshman

Jane McMillan, an education major from Acworth, Georgia and Richard Jones, sociology major from Morristown, New Jersey were re-elected from last year's cheering squad.

Gracie Scruggs, a physical education major from Clinton; Peggy Knox, chemistry major from Lawrenceburg; and Beverly Jacobi, art major from Point Pleasant, join the squad with previous experience in cheerleading.

Alan Fort who is an art major from Darieu, Connecticutt, Clyde McCampbell, a business administration major from Knoxville and Arch Swarztrauber, also a business administration major from Zion, Illinois, complete the squad.

The group practiced Thursday afternoon under the supervision of the cheerleaders from last year. In other years only six leaders were chosen; this year the number was increased to eight on the recommendation of last year's group.

This cheering squad which will appear at all home games will elect their own head cheerleader.

Juanita Johnson Heads All Girls Choir

Juanita Johnson was elected president of the All-Girls Choir Friday afternoon. Other officers are Edna Burkins, vice-president, Barbara Wallin, secretary-treasurer, Virginia Schwartz, social chairman and Anne Higdon, recreation chairman.

Bite Size This Week

As if the Berlin crisis weren't enough, Hindu India and the Hyderabad native state came to blows last week. The Moslem Nizam of Hyderabad gave up nearly a week of typically bloody Indian fighting. Earlier, Mohammed Ali Jinnah, the one man who perhaps contributed most to India—Islam hatred, had died, leaving the subcontinent his spirit of conflict.

Only because things could hardly be any worse, Berlin became no less explosive than the the powder-keg it has been for the past few weeks. Following two nerve-war mass meetings and a counterblockade, big four talks on lifting the "siege" were dropped. The delegates simply ran out of ways to disagree.

In Paris, UNotable ran true to form by failing to decide what to do with Italian colonies.

The US was having its share of troubles too with strikes on both coasts and politicians on the loose all between. Particularly unblest was the South where two Long dynasty victories in Louisiana were followed by a "Hummon" Talmadge unit-vote landslide in Georgia. Time quotes one dismayed voter: "Fore ol' Georgia—first Sherman, then Herman."

DR. LLOYD TELLS DETAILS OF EUROPEAN TRAVELS

By Jean Hunt

President Ralph W. Lloyd arrived home Friday morning, September 10, thus ending a European trip which carried him to several church meetings of world-wide importance. Dr. Lloyd left New York City on August 5 at 9:30 a. m. on the KLM (Royal Dtch Lines) for a trip which was to take him to Paris, France, Geneva, Switzerland, and Amsterdam, Holland.

Marks Fifth Visit to Europe

After leaving New York, Dr. Lloyd arrived in Gander, Newfoundland, a distance of 1100 miles, where he changed planes for Glascow, Scotland, 2100 miles away. From Glascow, he boarded the Air Line France and continued on his way to Paris. This marked his fifth visit to France and his fourth visit to Paris. Dr. Lloyd made his first visit to Europe twenty years ago in 1928, on his return trip home from Palestine, and his last visit, a little over two years ago.

Dr. Lloyd arrived in Paris in time for lunch on August 6, having made the trip of 4100 miles in only 17 hours of actual flying time. The next four days were spent in that city, visiting new places of interest and revisiting places which he had seen on previous trips. One of the amazing things which Dr. Lloyd speaks of, is that the city itself shows no signs of the war except that a few of the buildings are in need of paint, yet France is a country which suffered heavily in the war. The country has been so drained of its wealth that the people have lost the spirit of the old France. Only ten millions of her forty millions of people have any church connection, Catholic or Protestant.

Visits The Louvre

While in Paris, Dr. Lloyd visited the Louvre, where all the famous paintings and statues which were removed dring the war have once again taken their former place, and the new municipal biulding where the United Nations Council will meet this fall. On Sunday, August 8, he attended church at the American Church in Paris, where he met a number of ministers from the United States who were on their way to various church gatherings in Europe. Leaving by plane on Tuesday, August 10, he flew to Geneva, Switzerland which is an hour and a half trip by plane from Paris.

Over 200 Delegates Attend

In Geneva, Dr. Lloyd attended the World Alliance of Reform and Presbyterian Churches as one of the delegates of the Presbyterian Church USA. There were approximately 200 delegates and visitors representing the different branches of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches in 27 countries. The Presbyterian-Reform groups and the Lutheran Groups are the largest groups of Protestants in the world.

Among the delegates in Geneva were Rev. Frank M. Cross of Birmingham, Alabama. Rev. Cross is the father of Grace Ellen Cross who is a senior at Maryville Rev. and Mrs. Cross spent some time visiting and sight-seeing before and after the meetings.

There was presented at these conferences a strong program of addresses by the different leaders of various nationalities, and plans were made to strengthen and extend the service of this world alliance in the contribution to the Christian enterprise in the world. Dr. Higden of Scotland was elected the new president, and plans were made to open headquarters in Geneva Switzerland.

Sight-Sees In Geneva

Places of special interest which Dr. Lloyd visited in Geneva were the home, church, and the grave of John Calvin. Geneva has always been a center for reformations and Dr. Lloyd was also able to visit the park where the noted statues of various reformers have been placed. Although Dr. Lloyd did not have time to visit the mountains of Switzerland, the beautiful peaks, snow-capped in August, could be seen in the distance. On August 20, after 10 days in Switzerland, Dr. Lloyd boarded a plane for a two hour flight to Amsterdam, Holland.

The opening service of the World Assembly was held in Niewe Kirk beside the royal palace in the huge cathedral ofthe Dutch Reformed Church. At the meeting there were representatives of 150 churches from 50 countries. Among these representatives were the Archbishops of Canterbury and of Thyateria (Greek Orthodox Church).

The processional and recessional included only the 450 official members, while the hundreds of alternates and official visitors filled the huge cathedral. The delegates from the United States marched together. These included five delegates from the Presbyterian Church USA.

One Strike Already

Last week the Men's Student Organization began its first full year of service. As with most new institutions, MSO started life with some misgivings on the part of its members. The uncooperative spirit shown by those men who walked out of the Thursday morning meeting is certainly not commendable.

Nevertheless, the large group staying in their rightful places for the meeting was most encouraging and, we are sure, gratifying to the Coordinating Council. If MSO can continue to work as smoothly as in its first general session of this year, success is assured. What gains have been made and what must be done to insure their continuance were pointed out. It is not asking too much, is it, that taking care of improvements be an objective of all non-campus men this year.

Success of the meeting was due, in large measure, to good leadership. Unfortunately, however, there was one oversight—one for which the chairman is not responsible. Three groups were to be represented on MSO's Coordinating Council: (1) on-campus transient, (2) off-campus transient, and (3) off-campus non-transient. Each group is certain to be represented no matter who is elected. It should be pointed out, however, that the largest segment of the second group is composed of freshmen. Yet not one freshman was nominated for a place on the council.

With wise leadership during the coming year, everyone who should be CAN be represented in MSO, but not so adequately as would be possible with a member of the council from each class. We hope the organization will be able to overcome this handicap so that it might really be a force for progress on the campus during 1948 and 1949.

Student Council

Student Council met Wednesday for the second time this year in the new student center building. President Jim Black opened the meeting, and, after the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the council turned to the business of the evening.

First on the agenda was the formation of the permanent and temporary committees within the council organization. A list of apointments to the committees was read by Black. These bodies include a steering committee, an elections committee, a pep committee, a publications committee, and a disciplinary committee. Of these, perhaps the most important is the steering committee, whose function it is to decide on the importance and order of matters brought before the council.

The next item of business was a proposal by the president to revise Section III, Article IV, of the student body constitution, with respect to the formation and duties of a social committee. This proopsed revision is to be gone over more fully by the Student Council and then presented to the student body and faculty for ratification.

Since Wanda Onifer is the only junior girl on Council who lives on campus, she was unanimously nominated and voted into the co-ordinating council of the Women's Student Government Association.

A question in which everyone is interested was raised by a member of the council at this point: "When do we start dancing?" The president answered by saying that the dancing question was to be taken up at the first meeting of the Student-Faculty Senate, probably Friday evening; some decision on the matter was to be made at that time.

Black next took up the matter of some recent violations of the Town Nite privilege. It seems that some of the girls and, not to be partial, some of the men, were seen loitering downtown and at the dormitories last Tuesday evening. In other words, it is a violation of Town Nite privileges to spend half an hour saying good night. Barbara Eggleston, as Chairman of the WSGA, was asked to look into the matter.

Disciplinary action of the Council at this meeting consisted in restricting three girls to the campus for three weeks due to infractions of Town Nite rules.

The steering committee was asked to remain for further business, and, after calling a special meeting of Concil for Thursday evening at 6:30 in Bainonian Hall, the meeting was adjourned.

Orange and Garnet, Please

Each fall there comes to Maryville's campus a collection of very pretty school letters which represent hard work and a good record at the school in Hometown, U. S. A. However, you have chosen Maryville and Maryville has chosen you; therefore, let's throw our weight in support and loyalty to the Orange and Garnet. We are proud of the people on campus who have earned their M's, so in respect to them let's put the other letters back in the closet. In the meantime, we'll be cheering while you earn your M for Maryville!

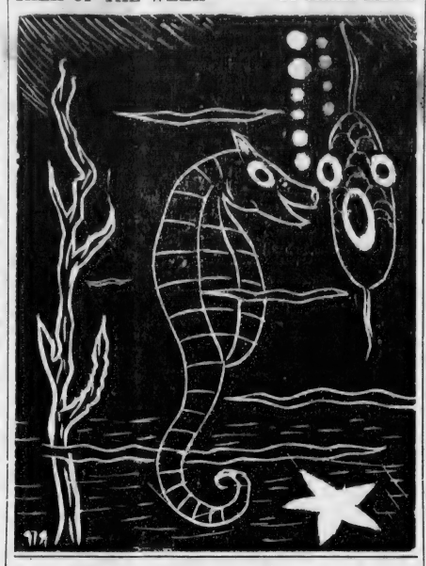
Social Behavior In The Highest Primate

BY CRAIG FISHER

"Gone With the Draft," or, "My, lad, how did you get used to army chow so quickly?" Wan smiles all around. Two services those little cards render: excellent identification when you want to cash a phoney check, ad they entitle you (when your hour strikes) to eighteen months free food, clothes, lodging and travel, not to mention the priceless training you derive in the refinements of toting a gun. Don't gnash your teeth so, pal. It looks uncouth.

Pleasanter symptoms of autumn are the cross country thinclads hobbling in about supper time, and Coach Johnson fuming because they're still strong enough to complain. Or General Hughes marching his troops in ragged but promising array as they rehearse the noise that will help lift our Scots to pigskin victory, Charlie Huffman leading off in his role as new drum major (a job he took so he wouldn't have to carry something in the band for once, an understandable sentiment since heretofore he's had to lug around the sousaphone all season.) Or the gleaming row of reflectors behind Thaw soon to be bolted to the pole tops to turn Wilson Field into the Yankee Stadium for a night. Or the shock of leather on leather as the gridders toughen for the coming season. It's a time of anticipation, things brewing with faint, attractive bubbling sounds and provocative odors.

But differences there are. The bell, for instance. It rang the better part of its life away over the Freedmen's Institute, organized after the Civil war by the Quakers for freed slaves. It's never felt at home here really till this year. Now it bellows with a new significance.



THE QUESTING INTELLECT: The freshmen are at their freshest at this time of year. So it was the other day when one strode triumphantly over to an upperclassman, certain he had out thought the whole conspiracy on that preposterous joke: "How," he asked exultantly, "could a football game be played at night when it isn't light enough to catch a forward pass?" The upperclassman was stunned speechless, and while his throat struggled with helpless spasms, the freshman sauntered off, eyeing the whole pack of idiots wtih the air of one who challenged the whole world to shear enough sheep to pull the wool over his eyes. (It actually happened).

ADVANCES IN COURTING TECHNOLOGY: Time was when a ukelele and a light baritone voice were important assets in the courting behavior in the highest primate. But now all that appears to belong back where they used buggy whips instead of accelerators. Exhibit A is Smitty, seen the other night dangling a woman off one arm in a tour of Circle Drive. In his other arm was cradled an ivory portable which did all the mooing and plinking for free, and left him unhampered for better things.

Rog Cowan has another refinement, a chow dog (not to be confused with frankfurter). He explains that it gives him and Nicky something in common, and planning for its future leads to still more topics of conversation. When a waitress downtown refused to give them milk to take out, Nicky said, "We have a little one eight weeks old," and the waitress was so sympathetic she couldn't do enough for them. The same trick worked when they were buying its Clapps baby food. He confides to his cloest intimates that his only anxiety is who will gain custody of it in case of—well—the unforseen.

A rumble, clouds of live steam, and a room full of red hot pudding followed the explosion of a double boiler cooking tapioca (ja, frogs eyes) in the home ec department last week. The first serious accident in the home ec department's history, it gave its cook, Carolin Scruggs, some unenviable second degree burns.

TALK OF THE WEEK BY DONALD REEVES

Mary Edna Smith Former Student, Writes From China

FRED HOPE FUND SUPPORTS TEACHER

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd this week received a letter from Mary Edna Smith, former Maryville student, who is now a teacher in Changsha, China. Miss Smith's home is in Grove City, Pennsylvania; she graduated from Maryville last May. The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions appointed her as a teacher in the Fuhsiang School for Girls of Changsha, China. Her support for the next two years is guaranteed by the Fred Hope Fund given by students and faculty of Maryville College. She sailed from San Francisco on August 11.

Miss Smith's letter to Dr. Lloyd follows:

"Maryville College is now zipping full speed ahead again. I shall miss many friends there, and, if it were not for the fact that I am here to be of service, I would like to be back there.

Rough Voyage

"I arrived in Hong Kong on Saturday, Sept. 4. But let me go back a short time. On the whole we had a very smooth trip across. The ocean was rough the night we left Los Angeles and two other days were rough enough to make one feel woozie. We had a very enjoyable day in Honolulu. It is a very lovely place with a rich look to it. Even the vegetation looks rich.

In The Phillipines

"We had much cargo for Manila and the captain decided that we would need three days there instead of two. They went full speed ahead and we were to get there one day ahead of schedule. We arrived there one day ahead and in that way we missed the typhoon that hit the Philippines that night. The center of the typhoon didn't come much closer than 80 miles but Manila got a lot of rain and wind. The streets were flooded, traffic stalled and shops closed. Passengers embarking there couldn't get into Manila and the crew couldn't get the cargo unloaded. We pulled out 20 hours later than scheduled. Not long after we left, an earthquake hit some part of the Philippines, and the next day another typhoon was heading for Manila. We were certainly being lead by a stronger mind than man's.

Maryville Reunion

"In Manila we were met by Dr. Henry Little and Mr. Ernest Frei. We all went to the Little's for tea and all the missionaries in that area were there. We M. C. grads had quite a nice chat.

"Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bucher met the boat here in Hong Kong. Henry helped me with my baggage and getting through customs here was easy. The difficult customs to go through will be in Canton. I am staying at the Phillips' house.

On To Canton

"I am leaving here tomorrow evening for Canton. I am traveling with Mrs. Dwight Rugh from Yoli in Changsha. Mr. Ady is going to meet the boat there and help me through customs. We will probably stay there for two days and may get into Changsha by Sunday, (September 12).

"I will write a letter shortly after arriving in Changsha."

Most of the missionaries with whom Miss Smith has come in contact in China and enroute are people Dr. Lloyd met while on his trip to China.

History of Fund

The Fred Hope Fund which is supporting Miss Smith is an all-college student and faculty drive to raise funds to aid the work of missionaries in various countries. The first subscriptions raised by the efforts of Fred Hope in 1901 were sent to China. In 1907 Mr. Hope went out as a missionary to Africa. Shortly thereafter the fund for foreign missions was named the Fred Hope Fund and was sent to him each year afterward for his work. In 1945 he and the college agreed that after his death the Fund should not always go to Africa but should be given to aid the work in various countries. Mr. Hope died in 1946. Two years ago it was decided that the money should be sent to China. It will continue to be sent there for at least the next two years to aid Miss Smith in her work.

HOSPITAL TREATS FOUR PATIENTS

On a whole Maryville College students have been very healthy the past week. Only four patients have been admitted to the college infirmary.

Colds excommunicated three freshmen girls, Carolyn Burwell, Mary Kelton, and Ruth Kucherman while John Ferris is being treated for an infected foot.

TALL GIRLS MEET WEDNESDAY EVE.

The first meeting of the Hi Society will be held Wednesday, September 22, in Bainonian Hall immediately after supper. All tall girls, those 5' 7" or over, are eligible for membership in the society.

"The time has come," the Scotty said,
"To speak of divers things—
Of blocking backs, and pass attacks,
And future pigskin kings."

—Adapted from The Kentucky Kernel

●THE TIME HAS COME! Next week will see the initial fay of the Highlanders' 1948 football season. . . . we know of about 68 guys who'll be especially anxious to start. One reason is that this latent heat in September's molten sunshine is causing trouble—losing five to ten pounds of weight each day isn't a good morale builder.

●PUTTING A FOOTBALL team on paper is like an Easterner attempting to lasso a steer. You don't know what to expect. Coach Honaker's charges have been pacing the practice field for three weeks now. Gradually, they're becoming more aggressive and team spirit seems improved. Whether this year's eleven will stand up to the competition is anybody's guess. A hasty summary of "ifs" and "ands" might leave an onlooker with this impression of the team now shaping up: strong in the backfield, except at quarter; secure at tackles; question mark on guards; satisfactory at ends; and in need of experience at center. Roughly, this year's team may be the Hyde of the '47 Jekyll—where weight and power served to advanatge last season, speed and deception must be counted on this year.

●ROOKIES OF THE YEAR—Borrowing a term from baseball, we think that rookies in football ought to be recognized as well. For our nominations for a "rookie of the year," we submit the following entrants: As a rookie, Hap Brahams is not to be overlooked as a player to watch. T. E. "Honk" Boyd, working hard at center, is a newcomer with a future. Raymond Hitch, freshman fullback, carries power and talent in his 5'11" frame. Raymond Keny, a sophomore currently plying at right end, has recommendations for a good start at collegiate ball. Then there are a coupla guards, Herbert Rutherford and Herbert Palmer who can cut a big swath in a savage way.

●UP AND COMING—This may be the year that: Carl Lewellyn's wicked sway at end may be a benefit to the safety of Highlander flanks. Richard Isenburg gets stirred up enough to become a demon for the opposition at a guard position. Don Walker gives the Scots another stone for the forward wall. Harold Henry turns in some grade A performance at an end assignment during the season. And, last but not least, some stout ones like McKee and Kramer wake up to do notable service with the Scot forward seven.

●CROSS-COUNTRY CHATTER— Two time trials per week is the decree of Coach K. P. Johnson for the fledgling Scot cross-country crew. "Run two and walk one" was the terse command as the team appeared on Wednesday. Monday's race—the first timed run of the season—found Bob Kay and Del Earisman breaking tape before a runner who led until he attained the top of the hill. Charles Mabry, fresh out of football togs, steamed up ahead of the harriers, but started walking some distance before the actual finish line!

●SOME SAY football coaches have a memory that surpasses the ability of elephants not to forget. The other day while glancing at a typewritten record of one of his teams in the '20s, Coach Honaker said, "Now that's not right. That score should be 11-7." We take his word for it. If it were not for coaches' keen sense of memory, how else do you account for the long and loud gridiron rivalrys such as Maryville contests with Carson-Newman?

●SNUFFING OUT A RUMOR—Last fall along toward the close of football season, the Asheville Times drummed up a story to the effect that Maryville and Appalachian Teachers were scheduling a clash in Asheville November 20. 'Tain't so!

Intramurals....

By DUNCAN BENNETT

The intramural tennis ladder starts Monday, September 20 for the more or less amateur racquet weilders. Come on out all you happy people who derive enjoyment from tennis –the place to sign up is the old athletic office on the first floor of Bartlett Hall. See how far up the ladder you can get. Top men usually become part of the varsity tennis team.

Golf Course Open

In the interests of the pasture pool players, be it known that the golf course has received some attention recently although there are still nine holes. There is no organized intramural golf, it does count on the sign-up sheet.

Soccer practice was held Friday afternoon on the field behind the Alumni Gym. No one was carried off—I hope.

A Review Of The Rules

Just in case anyone has not got the intramural set-up here at Maryville straight yet we will list some points of interest. For further elaboration see the managers.

1. All sophomores are required to sign up for at least one intramural sport each semester. The sign-up sheet works very well boys, but it can't last forever. If touch football is your sport, get on a team or you'll find yourself being booted around the soccer field.

2. Freshmen are eligible for all intramural sports.

3. There is still a crying need for officials. Most of the positions are open to freshmen and sophomores, and physical education credit is given to intramural managers. See Richardett on this.

If none of the games are cancelled during the week, the Eight Balls will play the Scuddy Hoos at 3:30 Friday afternoon. This will end the first half of the Intramural touch football schedule. The winner of the first half will play the winner of the second half under the lights on the varsity football field, and the winner of this match is to have a final play-off with an all-star team chosen from the best players on all of the teams. This final match is also to be played on the varsity field at night.

Tag Football Week

Intramural seven man football started Wednesday afternoon with a 7-0 skirmish between the Scuddy-Hoos and the Varmits. The Scuddy-Hoos, a team composed of freshmen, made a good showing when Setwart scored against the Varmits in the fourth quarter. The Varmits were considerably outplayed throughout the game, with most of the action being in their end of the field.

	1	2	3	4	Total

Olympics 12; Balls 0

The second game Wednesday afternoon was a 12-0 battle between the Eight-Balls and the Olympics. George Ogle caught two passes and scored twice for the Olympics—once in the third period and once in the fourth. Both trys for the extra point failed.

	1	2	3	4	Total
Olympics	0	0	6	6	12

Attention: Swimmers–

Divers . . . dashmen . . . sturdy strokers—all are needed for Maryville's swimming team. By next semester, it is hoped that Maryville mermen will once again compete in the tank.

If you're interested in working for the team, sign up with the lifeguard at the pool on Tuesday or Thursday afternoons. Or, see Coach Johnson to arrange a swimming practice schedule.

Time Trials Began For Cross Country Runners This Week

Scot Harriers got their first time trials this week.

Bob Kay set the best time on three -mile course with a 16 min. 20 sec. trip last Monday in the first practice heat. Coach Johnson was preparing to send his cross-countrymen through another time run yesterday.

In Monday's race, Delbert Earisman and Charles Mabry placed two and three, respectively, after Kay.

Dave Thomas, Russell Owens, and Charler Mabfry began with the squad this week.

While the season is too young to make any predictions, Coach Johnson believes his squad has one or two leaders for the race. Daily drills have been underway for cross-country prospects for two weeks now.

Although the complete cross-country schedule is incomplete, Coach Johnson listed the following meets as definitely on the card:

Date	Opponent	Place
Oct. 9	Sewanee	There
Oct 20	U. of Tenn.	There
Nov. 10	U. of Tenn.	There

'M' CLUB OFF ON ANNUAL FALL HIKE

Members of the "M" Club left this afternoon on their annual fall hike. This year the group and their sponsor, Mrs. V. M. Queener, will spend the week-end at the Methodist Assembly grounds near Gatlinburg.

There are twelve members in the "M" Club, six of whom were added at the end of last semester. To be eligible for the club a point system girl must earn 400 or more points.

Officers Listed

Heading the "M" Club this semester are Janice Lindsay, president, Barbara Bertholf, vice president, Peggy Sangster, treasurer, and Ruth Rogers, secretary. While at the assembly grounds, the group will hold its annual business meeting.

No program is planned in advance, but the girls decide what they want to do after they arrive. According to the "M" club girls, the main event on the program is one of "eat and be merry."

Scots Prep For Hiwassee

HONAKER SAYS SCOT SQUADS IN 'PRETTY FAIR' CONDITION

Time began to run low in the Highlander Coaches' sand-glass as they sent the Scottie squad through intensive work in preparation for next week's opening game here with Hiwassee.

Two scrimmage sesions highlighted the activity for the Scot gridders on Wednesday and Friday of this week. Sweltering autumnal heat continued to harass the squad as the Highlanders kept up rugged scrimmage and signal drills.

Condition: 'Pretty Fair'

Commenting "pretty fair" on the teams' condition on Wednesday, Coach Honaker was looking over his backfield potentials in an effort to strengthen the quarterback position which is hurt by the loss of two lettermen—Dave Clark and King Berrong.

Henry "Tubby" Callaway is the sole returning letterman with quarterbacking experience, while Gene Reynolds and Dick Hamilton are in there calling.

While Coach Honaker drilled the backs, Line Coach "J.D." Davis and his assistant, Ronald Easter, put the line candidates through blood and sweat. Four big bruisers—Bill Proffitt, Jim Lester, Ken Andes, and Richard Isenburg— were heading the guard candidates during the past week. Proffitt and Andes are returning lettermen at the key line spots. Isenburg and Lester, both sophomores, had experience last year as tackle and end, repectively.

Looking good at tackle, Captain Allen Rock led the tackles through a week of strenuous play. Other promising tackles include Don Walker, 6'1" letterman with a season of college football behind him; Fred Kluth, '48 alternate captain; and Roy Kramer.

Center candidates got plenty of line-backing work this week as Ray Holsey, a junior with two years' experience behind him, and T. E. Boyd, another junior who is a newcomer, held the inside track.

Defensive Work Stressed

Taking plenty of defensive work, the end aspirants took a lot of attention. Last year's combination of Howard Davis and D. M. Miller was divided as Hap Brahams, fleet and shifty, and Raymond Keny, throwing his weight around at the right terminal post, gained experience.

In a game scrimmage last Saturday, Bob Neff, letterman wingback, received a rib injury that kept him under the heat lamp this week. Neff is expected to be back in scrimmage by next week.

Backs Warm Up

Men with experience in the Highlander backfield—Leon Berrong, Hershell Merriman, and Alan Law—took the heat and the pigskin in their stride during the opening scrimmage sessions. Stressing plenty of line bucking, Coach Honaker gave the backs "the works" against assorted line combinations.

Don Reeves joined another ex-Central (Knoxville) High back, Bill Fogarty, to lend a tricky combination to the Scot backfield possibilities. Reeeves, a freshman, is running at fullback while Fogarty, a letterman at tailback, runs at tailback.

James Newman, Scot trainer, reported that with the exception of minor sprains and bruises, the squad were coming along without serious injuries.

Harold Everett, who received an unlucky bump near his right eye, is the only player out with noticeable injury.

The team was to rest today. Non scrimmage until the early part of next week. After Wednesday, Coach Honaker expects to step-up signal drills.

Y W C A GIVES USE OF ROOMS TO STUDENTS

Cooking facilities in the YW Rooms may be reserved for use by students on the sign-up chart in the Y Rooms. The rooms are for use at any time except during Prayer Meeting Wednesday evenings, Sundays after dinner and during the hours when Mrs. Blair and Mr. Harter are using the studio.

The YWCA cabinet has ruled that clubs and groups will not use these rooms for their weekly meetings, in order to give more people access to the facilities. These groups may use the rooms occasionally for special meetings.

After reserving the time desired on the sign-up chart, permission must be obtained from Miss Massey. The keys may be obtained from the house committee of YWCA, who are Arlene Whiting, 42 Pearsons, and Betty Jo Smith, 40 Pearsons. A fee of 35c is charged for the use of the kitchen at the time the keys are obtained. Any breakage should be reported to the house committee.

BAINONIAN

Bainonian will hold a business meeting this evening at 6:45 p. m. in Bainonian Hall. Plans for sign-up week for the societies will be presented.

ATHENIAN

Coach Lombe Honaker will speak at the meeting of the Athenian Society, Saturday night at 6:15 p. m. in Bartlett Hall. The program is designed to be a spectators' skull practice.

All freshmen and new men are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

MUSIC SOCIETY INITIATES NEOS

Tau Kappa Chi, honorary music society, will have its formal initiation service Monday, September 27, at 7 p. m. in the Y rooms. The initiates are Jane Martenis, Grace Ellen Cross, Ruth Ramsey, Peggy Wakefield, Pat Cox, and Louise Lloyd.

The Club's purpose is to promote student and community interest in the music department. Requirements for membership are an honor roll average for the two preceding semesters and a written recommendation from each person's applied music instructor as to musical ability.

Juanita Johnson is president and Peggy Cummings, secretary.

Town Girls Complete Pi Gamma Plans For Year

Dorothy Lambert was elected secretary-treasurer and Buffie Carver, dorm girl representative at the recent meeting of Pi Gamma.

Pi Gamma is an organization sponsored by YWCA to promote friendship between the town girls and the dormitory girls. Any town girl attending college is eligible to become a member. Pi Gamma has a luncheon every two weeks to enable the girls living in the dormitory and town students to become better acquainted. The organization plans to present programs at these luncheons.

New Ideas

Pi Gamma also wishes to start the other new things this year. It has been suggested that the organization sponsor hikes and picnics for the girls living on the campus, and that the town girls sometimes have meetings in the dormitories.

Dr. T. J. Miles, College Director, Dies Sept. 11

Dr. T. J. Miles, director of Maryville College for the past 41 years, died at his home last Saturday night following a long illness. He was 83 years old.

A graduate of Maryville College and a native of Jefferson County, Dr. Miles retired from the ministry in 1934 and became permanently located in Maryville after years of mission work.

The deceased is survived by his widow, one son, and four daughters, one of whom, Miss Mary Miles, is assistant librarian at the college.

EVAULS ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF SON

Rev. and Mrs. Phillip O. Evaul have announced the birth of a son September 8. Rev. Evaul, who was formerly pastor of Houston Memorial Church and Sunnybrook and Home Avenue chapels, is now in Medellin, South America. The parents are both Maryville College gradautes and are now serving as missionaries in South America.

FRENCH CLUB

William Diehl led group singing in French at the first meeting of the French Club, September 9, in Miss Wilkerson's classroom. Virginia Schwartz is the co-chairman with William Deihl in charge of programs this semester.

DR. LLOYD . . .

English, French or German, the three official languages of the meeting.

On August 26, the conferences were attended by Crown Princess Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard. They sat on the platform beside the chairman and seemed very interested in the services. Princess Juliana was crowned queen of the Netherlands the week after President Lloyd left, in the same church where the opening service of the World Council was held. At the time Dr. Lloyd was in the city, preparation was being made to accommodate the three million visitors, and putting up decorations along the many canals. Dr. Lloyd was also able to attend the great jubilee festival in Olympic Stadium held in honor of the sixty-eighth birthday of Queen Wilhelminia. The festival was the main event of the celebration.

Queen Wilhelmina Speaks

On September 1, 50,000 people crowded into the meeting to hear Queen Wilhelmia make a speech before the assembly on the story of her fifty year reign. Dr. Lloyd states that it was a royal pageant, the like of which one seldom sees in a lifetime.

One of the important events near the close of the meetings was the adoption of the Message to the churches and Christians of the world. Dr. Lloyd plans to present this talk to the students at Vesper Services on Sunday evening.

The World Council adjourned its business sessions the morning of Septmber 4, and all went from the concert hall to the large West Church of Amsterdam for the closing service of worship. This like the opening service was conducted by a number of persons from a number of countries in their native languages. At noon the benediction was pronounced and the first World Assembly of Church was over.

Six Presidents Named

The next meeting will be held in five years. Officers for the interim period have already been elected. There are to be six co-presidents representing six countries and six churches. Four of them carry over from the formative years—the Archbishop of Canterbury (England), Upsala, (Sweden), Thyateira (Greece), Pastor Boegner (France), Bishop Oxnam (United States), and Dean Chao (China). The senior former president, Dr. John R. Mott becomes the honorary president.

Dr. Lloyd left Sunday night, September 5, and arrived in New York on Monday afternoon. After a four-day business meeting in New York, he arrived in Maryville on Friday morning.

Dr. Lloyd states that whatever the published statements from Amsterdam, they were not the pleasure of the significance of this first assembly of the World Council, but that the real measure was the fellowship of the Protestant Churches of the world and that that fellowship is now an organized one and will carry forward an extensive program.

News Capsules—

By Donald Whelan

He's Fer It

First signs of any sort of Palestine unity were seen last week after the tragic assassination of Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, UN Mediator. Both Israel and Arab League nations joined in condemnation of the alleged Stern Gang murder. Orders for arrest of the radical Jewish undergrond group went out from Israeli headquarters. Meanwhile, US State Secretary Marshall askel the UN to accept Bernadotte's recommendation that certain changes be made in partition of the Holy Land.

They're Agin' It

Traveling salesman Tom Dewey and Harry Truman breezed through the West last week. Mr. Truman was the agressor, attacking the GOP on fronting for Wall Street, fishing for votes with "red herring" bait, and generally being scoundrels. Even Democrats caught part of the President's invective; they were blamed for not getting out the vote in '46, thereby electing "that awful. . .80th Congress." Messers. Warren and Dewey, victory-mindedly cool, were less biting, admitted that total blame for the country's dilemas did not lie with the administration. All candidates assured Westerners they were for conservation and against sin.

'Clear-Cut'

At the UN General Assembly meeting in Paris, some conciliation may be brought about by the newly elected officers. Dr. Herbert Evatt of Australia is the new president; Poland got a vice-presidency. Major-issue voting, however, was still dividing along the Iron Curtain.

Renewed determination on the part of Western powers was seen in Britain as Foreign Secretary Ernie Bevan told Commons that the allies will not be moved from Berlin. More concrete evidence was a US State Department note asking for a "clear-cut" Russian reply to settle the Berlin East-West currency squabble.

Cut Clear

Florida, like the rest of the world, had its share of troubles: that peninsula and Cuba were hit last week by a hurricane. Over $3 million in vegetables and 10% of the fruit crop were reported lost. After cutting a wide swath through the prosperous agricltural area with torrential rains and 16 mph winds, the storm headed out to sea.

Dr. C. E. Barbour Leads Chapel Last Thursday

"Accepting the Incredible" was the subject spoken on by Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, in Chapel service Thursday morning.

Dr. Barbour said that the world is full of amazing and incredible things such as the radio, airplane, atomic energy that we do not understand, yet we believe them and use the benefits from them.

"In the same way we accept these incredible things, we also have to accept some things of God as incredible." He suggested that one of the things we have to accept is that the Bible is the Word of God. "The Bible presents a fairly accurate record of history and the feelings of men; we know how, when, and by whom it was written, yet those who know it best, know best that it reveals God better than any thing else."

Dr. Barbour also went on to say that the redemption by faith prayer, and immortality were also incredible; yet those who accept those things demonstrate something that we would also like to have. In the same way we accept incredible things as our modern inventions, we also have to accept the things of God and apply these truths to our every day life.

College Launches Chapel Fund Public Subscription Drive

JOHN C. CRAWFORD DIRECTS CAMPAIGN

The campaign to raise $150,000 through public subscription in Blount County toward the cost of a new chapel building for Maryville College will be launched officially September 30, it was announced Monday.

John C. Crawford, Jr., Mayor of Maryville, will head the campaign organization of several hundred volunteer workers who will solicit the largest amount ever sought for the College in its home community. The campaign organization is sub-divided into divisions for advanced gifts, commercial gifts, and special gifts.

Campaign Launched September 30

The Advanced Gifts Division will launch solicitations September 30 with a dinner meeting of workers at the College. Opening of the general campaign will follow two weeks later on October 14.

President Lloyd in announcing leadership for the campaign said, "Maryville College is indeed fortunate to have such firm friends and such able leaders as those who are now carrying our cause to the public.

"When fire destroyed Voorhees Chapel in March, 1947, a new, larger, fireproof chapel became immediately the most important project of our long range building program.

"As when there were crises to be met in the past, so now the College turns first to those whom it knows best and who know it best—the friends and neighbors of the home community.

"The interest of Blount County citizens, it has been agreed, will find most appropriate expression in the Chapel. As has been announced, there are several buildings in the College's early building plans. But the Chapel is the only one for which the general public of our community will be asked to contribute."

Headquarters at New Providence

Headquarters for the campaign have been established in the basement of the New Providence Presbyterian Church. A full-time staff already has been at work for two weeks in preparation and planning.

The campaign for the new chapel has been promised ever since the night of March 26, 1947, when the Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin, with loss of all its contents.

New Chapel Named For Dr. Wilson

The new chapel, by approval of the Voorhees family and official action of the Directors of the College, will be named Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel in honor of Dr. Wilson, fifth president of the institution, who died in 1944 after 60 years of continuous association with the College.

The new chapel is to be constructed on approximately the same site as the old chapel, and will cost an estimated $400,000.

Student Center Proves Popular Campus Addition

A total of 1,946 participated in games at Maryville's new Student Center during the first two weeks of this school year. A count made by Mrs. Carmen Marquis, director of the center, showed that 906 students the first week, and 1,040 the second week, made use of the center's recreational facilities.

Games in use at the Student Center consist of bridge, chess, rook, dominoes, Chinese checkers, cribbage, monopoly, checkers, and ping pong. The two ping pong tables are busy from the time the center opens at 5:30 until it closes at 7:15. Music is furnished from a collection of approximately 50 records belonging to the center and others which individual students bring from time to time.

Convenient For Town Students

Magazines in the lounge are in constant use and some students study there during off periods throughout the day. Off-campus students read and study there and some eat their meals and play games while campus students are in the dining hall.

"Students have been most cooperative with me in trying to keep a nice atmosphere in the center and in taking care of the place. This shows that it is really useful and that it does have a real place on Maryville campus. The students seem to really enjoy using the student center," said Mrs. Marquis.

More Games In Gym Soon

Mrs. Marquis went on to say that she hopes that the new equipment will soon be installed in the Intramural Gymnasium for more games. These will probably include volley ball, badminton, shuffleboard, and ping pong.

The new Y Store in the Student Center is carrying an increased stock this year and is doing a greater volume of business as a result.

Rev. Engelhart Speaks At Vespers Tomorrow

Rev. David L. Englehart, assistant professor of Bible and Religious Education, speaks at Vespers tomorrow evening. "More than Conquerers" is the theme of his sermon.

"Nunc Dimittis," by Gretchaninof, and "The Spires" by Christianesen are the choir selections.

STUDENT VOLS

Mrs. Margaret Cummings will be the speaker for Student Volunteers Sunday night. Mrs. Cummings will use as her subject her brother's experiences as a missionary in Ethiopia.

Student Vols meet each Sunday night immediately after Vespers in Bartlett Auditorium.

BAND SELECTS POPE AS 1948 SPONSOR

Band Presents New Show at Halftime; Mascot Will March

Marian Pope, 1948 band sponsor, will be presented this evening preceding the opening game wth Hiwassee. She was selected by the band members, September 10, from the candidates of the four societies.

Miss Pope, senior dramatic arts mjor from Etowah, Tennessee, is a member of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic society. She appeared in last year's production of "Dear Ruth".

Band Presents Bouquet

Mr. W. Curtis Hughes, band director, will escort the sponsor across the field where she will be presented with a bouquet by the drum major, Charlie Huffman, on behalf of the band. Lady Mac, the Scotty mascot, will accompany her as she marches with the band at the half-time show.

New Band Formations

At the halftime, the band will demonstrate its new formations using the Great Divide and Telescope methods. An H honoring Hiwassee will be made, after which the band will spell WIN for Maryville. Next, the members will wish the team luck by forming a horse shoe enclosed by a football. Finally an M pennant will be made.

Lady MacTavish III Mascot, Marches With Band Sponsor

Lady MacTavish III will march with the band and band sponsor tonight for the opening game of the 1948 football season. Lady MacTavish, Lady Mac as she is fondly called by those well acquainted with her, is the small black Scottie that is seen on campus accompanying Miss Nancy Dunn. She is the result of an extensive search for a Scotch terrier to replace the former one which was kept by Miss Jessie Heron.

Lady Mac was purchased in Knoxville by two families, the Ross Birchfields and the Maynard Dunns, friends of the college. She was officially presented to Jean Cobb, band sponsor and representative of the college, at the Maryville-Hiwassee game which opened the 1947 football season.

Cousin of Fala

Four years old now, Lady became, in the spring of 1947, a devoted mother to a litter of five puppies. She has an impressive pedigree, and is a cousin of Fala, the Scottie that was owned by the late Franklin Roosevelt.

The mascot's disposition is all that could be desired in any pet. She is very obedient, and responds to the slightest affection given to her.

TIGERS SEEK TO BREAK JINX OF 33-0 SCOT VICTORIES

Maryville's Highlanders rip into the gridiron battles of 1948 against Hiwassee's Tigers tonight at 8:00 o'clock on Wilson Field.

Although tonight marks the tenth meeting of the two squads, not since 1932 when a plucky Tiger team dropped a Scot eleven 12-7 on an opening night has a Scot-Tiger clash been as significant.

Hiwassee Won One

That night in '32, the first meeting of the squads, is the only game the Tigers have taken from the Scotties. Hiwassee brings a team hoping to break a drought in scoring for the Tigers on Wilson Field. Since 1940, when the current opening night series began, the junior college teams have scored but two touchdowns. On subsequent opening nights—'42, '46, '47—the Hiwasseans have been unable to score, accepting three straight 33-0 whitewashings.

Back in '41, a team captained by Les Rock, a Scottie end who is a big brother of Alan, this year's captain, first blasted Hiwassee 33-0. That season was termed "the year of renaissance" for Maryville College football.

After war's interruption, many of the '41 and '42 footballers returned to give Maryville an undefeated season in 1946—the Tangerine Bowl year. Last season the Scots bowled over much heavy opposition to become the "Giant Killer" team. For 1948, another Captain Rock leads the spirited Highlanders toward gridiron glory.

Thomas Coaches Tigers

Hiwassee has reasons to look for scoring opportunity this time. Al Thomas, former U-T Vol who went to the Rose Bowl in '39, began coaching at Hiwassee last spring. Coach Thomas is very familiar with the Highlander mode of attack. He helped a line coach at Maryville in 1940. What type of material Thomas has in the Tiger troupe is not known as yet, but with experience and opening game opportunities the Tigers are expected to fight.

The big change in Maryville's line-up for the first game of the season seems to be the loss of weight in the line. Last year the Scot line averaged 190 pounds; this year it mounts 177 pounds. Strong defensive work and morale-splitting ground attack has marked the post-war Scot elevens.

Captain Alan Rock starts at right tackle for the Highlanders tonight in his last year of football at Maryville College. Rock, a six foot, 200 pounder, first lettered as an end in 1946. Blocking a punt in the Tangerine Bowl, Rock gave the Highlanders a scoring opportunity which paid off for Maryville's six points.

At 205 pounds, Fred Kluth, starting at left tackle, is the heaviest of the Scot line. Kluth, a senior and alternate captain, lettered last year at tackle.

Miller-Davis at Ends

D. M. Miller, letterman at end, combines speed and shiftiness to ably defend Scot flanks. At right end, Howard Davis, lanky 195 pound rugged player, excells at pass catching. Both Davis and Miller are veteran flank defenders.

Fast and fierce at left gard, Bill Proffitt has two seasons of experience as a Scot guard. A senior this year, Proffitt's experience up front counts a lot in the Scottie line. At right guard, Ken Andes, who started with the Highlanders in '42, packs 200 pounds of wallop for the opposition.

With the exception of the quarterback position, Maryville has her '47 backfield back intact. Henry Calloway, starting snap-

Pep Rally Brings Out Students, Band

Bonfire . . . Cheerleaders . . . M-C Band. . . Coach Honaker—all participated in the opening pep rally of the season last night on the football practice field.

After the band's arrival, Dick Jones introduced the 1948 cheering squad. The band played two selections, and John Shew, pep committee chairman in charge of the rally, asked Coach Honaker to "say a word."

Coach Lombe, in typical joking fashion, introduced members of the Highlander team present at the rally. Both Coach and Alan Rock, '48 football captain, asked enthuiastic support from the student body for the team this season.

A quartet composed of Bob Neff, Charles Huffman, Bill Houdeshel, and John Shew introduced the pep song, "On Highlanders!"

Afte rsinging the Alma Mater, the rally ended as the band marched off playing the Victory March.

Dick Jones Captains 1948 Cheering Squad

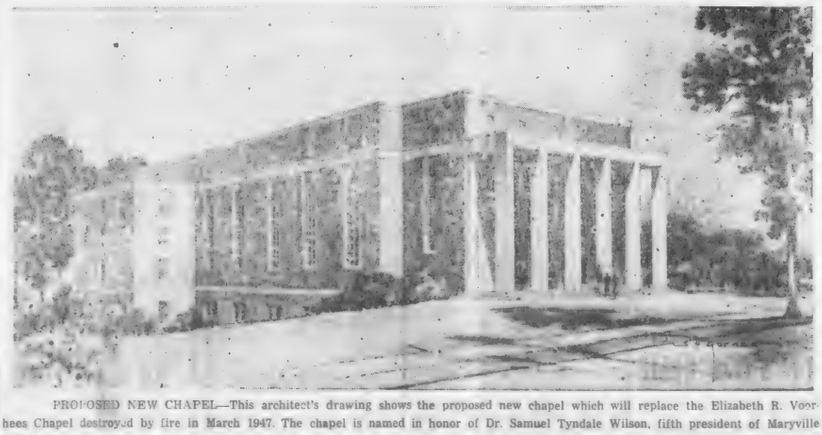
Richard Jones, sophomore sociology major from Morristown, New Jersey, was elected head cheerleader at a meeting of the 1948-1949 cheerleading squad this week.

The first pep rally of the season was held Friday night after supper and a snake dance was planned for Saturday afternoon. The band led the snake dance which wound through town.

Three new cheers were introduced Friday night at the pep rally. These will be used at Saturday's game and other new ones will be introdced later. One of the new cheers is a chant and another is an acrobatic cheer based on the team cheer.

This year the girls on the squad will wear new white, orange-lined skirts and white sweaters and the men will wear white pants and white shirts and sweaters. All will wear orange and garnet M's on their sweaters.

In order to cover the stands better and to be able to lead more students in cheers, this year's squad is composed of eight members instead of the usual six.



PEARSONS GROUP NAMES COMMITTEE

The first meeting of Pearson's house committee was held this week. A maintainance committee was appointed composed of Andy Anderson, chairman, Mary Elizabeth Mills and Jane Martenis. This committee is in charge of keeping medicine cabinets replenished and seeing that the laundry is kept in order.

Plans were made to make up a questionnaire on suggestions for the expansion of the program of WSGA. Collection of house dues will begin next week

Student Council

Student Council met Wednesday night in the philosophy lecture room in Thaw. The members briefly discussed the work of the Student-Faculty Senate and the advantages of having a committee to work out the problems of social life on the campus.

Jim Black, president of the council, urged the members to be more vigilant on Town Nite. Beginning next week rules and regulations concerning Town Nite privileges will be more rigidly enforced.

One Strike, One Error

In last week's editorial entitled "One Strike Already," we tried to Echo the sentiments of MSO speakers for taking care of Carnegie improvements. Unfortunately, printers do not follow MSO's operations any more closely than some students. Result: what should have read "on-campus men" came out "non-campus men." To those off-campus freshmen who don't get even a chance to see the improvements, our apologies. We only hope that, before too long, MC will have room for all new students — on campus.

Town Nite Loiterers Beware!

Town Nite is a privilege whose regulations all students apparently do not understand. The most noticeable violations so far have been on-campus loitering and loitering in the first floor lobby of Pearsons Hall. The rule providing for no loitering is in force for all students whether or not they go to town. Couples may go to the Student Center, but are not permitted to sit on campus benches.

Pearsons' parlor is on the second floor, and girls are not permitted to linger in the lower lobby on Town Nite.

Student Council is responsible for enforcing Town Nite provisions. No student enjoys turning in other students. Why not cooperate with the Council and clear the campus on Tuesday evening?

UNSOCIAL BEHAVIOR IN THE LOWEST (PAID) PROFESSION

Brother, can you spare a Kleenex

What with "the season" on, many of the perpetual greeters up and down the local by-ways have changed their tune from "hey!" fever to hay fever. Since the malady seems to have affected the student body more noticeably than the instructors, we'll pretty much leave the former to their misery. That's the reason, then, for this week's "take a swing at the faculty; they'll get their chance at you later" attitude.

For that matter, we hear that Mom Worley over in Pearsons delivered Smitty's gift to Eggleston—hamburgeres and a kiss. Eggleston got her kiss all right, but had it been delivered previously to Mrs. W.?

Speaking of people who get splashed when Baldwinites throw water out the window—which we wouldn't dare speak of—here's another poem. The Echo printed it several years ago with the lines mixed up. At any rate, one of the parties involved in these affairs has a good "line."

It was a moonlight night;
She was a marble statue;
He was a little tight.

Why students get grey

Briggs: "Well, before I came back from North Carolina, a teacher from Cuba handed me a little package, saying, 'I don't think this is illegal in Tennessee as it is in this state.'" TALK OF THE WEEK —A REPRINT

WHAT'S BG?

By Ruth Davis

B. G. is perhaps one of the least known clubs on the campus. No one seems to know how it began, why it began, or why its membership is limited to such a seemingly select few.

All that is given about this organization is the two short sentences in the "M" Book: "Originally formed for the purpose of hiking, this women's club has gradually taken on more varied activity. The membership is limited to eight persons." True, there is a page in the Chilhowean; but that page gives only the members and the officers.

Meet the Officers

First let us meet this year's members and officers. Barbara Eggleston is president, Barbara Bertholf, business manager, and Marian Pope, social chairman. The members are Mary Wooldridge, senior, Sarah Durant, Ellen Collins, and Mae Meriweather, juniors, and Peggy Sangster and Laurie Dale, sophomores.

At the May meeting which is the last meeting of the semester, new members are elected by the old members—two from the rising sophomore class and one from the rising junior class. The club usually consists of three seniors, three juniors, and two sophomores; however, this year there are nine B. G.'s:

B. G.'s Not a Clique

The only requisite for being eligible is to have a good time. Girls from various groups are chosen and not certain ones of a particular "set." "Clique" is a word shunned by the B. G.'s. Members o fthe club form a close friendship but do not rush around as a group.

The only distinguishing feature of a B. G. is the old necklace she wears which consists of a pair of dice on a chain. This is the official emblem of the club.

Perhaps you are wondering what the letters B and G mean. This is the only secret of the B. G.s' and they seem to delight in non-members' bewilderment—nor will they divulge their secret. Perhaps a severe penalty would befall a member who told—who knows?

Club Organized in '34

B. G. was organized in 1934 by a group of girls in Pearson's who liked to hike. These girls were all good scholars and athletically inclined. On the faculty then were Mrs. Brown, assistant professor of biology, and another teacher, Helen Gamble, who, too, wasn't far from being of the same age as the girls. These teachers were chosen to be the B. G.'s sponsors. Now Mrs. Brown expresses that as far as B. G. is concerned she has become "practically extinct."

In 1934 rules were quite a bit more severe than they are at present. B. G. was formed to permit these girls to go on hiking trips to the mountains. Miss Gamble had a cabin in the mountains to which the girls freqently went under the watchful eyes of Miss Gamble and Mrs. Brown, then Miss Hudson. Membership was limited at that time because of lack of transportation facilities and since then has kept the same number traditionally.

War Brought Changes

B. G. was primarily organized as a hiking club and since then has become more of a social organization. During the war when restrictions were placed on such pleasure trips, the B. G.'s were more and more inclined to give parties and the like rather than hike in the far region of the mountains. Even after the war B. G. has not fully reconverted to its pre-war status. It is the plans of the present officers to restore the original purpose.

The B. G.'s meet once a month with some social "get together." Now programs are planned alternately by the classes. No minutes are kept of each meeting, only a log. Complicated procedure is avoided and the sole aim of the club is to have a good time.

Theater Group Plans Semester Play Schedule

In preparation for the coming season, old and prospective participants in MC's Experimental Theater met Wednesday afternoon, September 22, to discuss plans for this year's work. Although there were only eight upperclassmen, over twenty students of sophomore or freshman status attended.

Each person present filled out a slip of paper indicating the type of work he would like to do—directing, make-up work, acting, or other phases of dramatic work.

Monthly Productions

Each month last year, when there was no full-length production, Experimental Theater presented a program of one-act plays. This plan may be followed this year.

Mrs. Leonora Courtney, new this year in the dramatic department, is in charge of the group. She stressed that Experimental Theater is open not only to dramatic majors, but to all students and faculty members who are interested in any phase of the work.

Men's Glee Club And All Girls Choir Begin Joint Rehearsals

Men's Glee Club and All Girls Choir will begin joint rehearsals soon in preparation for vesper service appearances.

Men's Glee Club, which held tryouts and reorganized Wednesday, now has 35 members. They rehearse Wednesday evenings from 6:45 to 7:45 p. m.

All Girls Choir has 51 members but there are still openings for two or three first sopranos and second altos. Any girls interested should see Mr. Hughes before the Tuesday rehearsal.

Foundations are being laid for "Springtime Serenade of '49", the second annual performance of both choruses.

Rush Week Doubles Societies, Enrollment

Tuesday night ended the official rush season for the Bainonian-Athenian and Theta-Alpha Sigma societies on campus. 159 new girls and 125 new men joined the societies.

Bainonian headed the list with 201 members on the roll. Of this number, 137 are old members and 74 are new.

Theta Epsilon totaled 146 members with 85 new members and 61 old.

Alpha Sigma has 123 members this term. 85 new members were added Tuesday, while 38 old members re-signed.

Athenian claimed 40 of the new members this year. Added to this number are 70 old members which makes the society number 110.

GERMAN CLUB

Wednesday evening, September 29, the German Club will hold a party in Dr. Orr's classroom in Anderson Hall. Ed Pancoast, master of ceremonies, invites old members and all prospective members to attend.

Friendship, Courtship, Marriage Series Begins In Joint Y Meetings

Miss Arda Walker, assistant professor of economics, will speak on "Friendship" at a joint meeting of YM and YW tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the library. Her talk is the first in a series of three on friendship, courtship, and marriage.

Mrs. A. F. Pieper, instructor in sociology, will speak October 3 on "Courtship and Engagement." The following Sunday, October 10, Dr. L. C. Olin of Maryville, will talk on the third topic, "Marriage and the Christian Home."

Letters To The Editor:

All old students who conscientiously stood in line at football games last year in hopes of procuring reasonably good seats, well remember the disappointment which was theirs when, ten or fifteen minutes before the opening, the number of students between them and the gate swelled from one hundred to four hundred. By the time the last opponent of the season had been defeated it became a familiar thing for a student to be seen hiking the length of the line in diligent search of some acquaintance who, under the circumstances, might be considered to fit the term "friend."

Then there is the person standing in line who can be heard saying, "Come on in here, fellows—I've been saving a place for you." Saving places in line for friends, special or otherwise, is one of the most unfair practices there is. Nothing goes against the grain quite as much as standing in line for an hour only to find that it has done no good, due to the unfairness of others.

Athletic programs are partly for the purpose of developing sportsmanship, so here's an appeal to all MC students—if you want a good seat at the game tonight, be there early enough to get it yourself. Don't depend on somebody else. And for those of us who observe a violation of this principle, let's be united in our charge, "End of the line, Bud!"

● ON HIGHLANDERS! No coach ever gets jubilant before the season starts. Coach Honaker presents the typical pessimistic outlook—for the good of the team. Tonight, the Scots have a warm-up game in which, the Highlander Chieftan says, "We are liable to get beat." Never underate the power of an underdog—especially a school that hasn't scored since '41! Looking at the Scot line-up, we venture the opinion that if the line repulses the opposition as the two preceding teams have done, the Scottie backs can be expected to come through in fine shape.

●GRAND OPENING—As far as we've observed, Maryville's opening game is really "did up." The only major disappointment is that the new football jerseys—due two weeks ago—haven't arrived!' With ample loudspeaker coverage, which is being handled by a staff under the direction of Walter Pentz, the capacity crowd predicted by ticket sales should get the fine points of Highlander football. Messrs. Fowler and Lazenby are handling the mike for the P. A. system this year.

●ON THE AIR goes the Highlander grid campaign, thanks to the sponsorship of Morton-Myers Motor company through the facilities of station WGAP. Now, for four Saturday nights of the season Maryville students may keep up with the journeying Scotties in a comfortable position by a radio. Last year, we recall, two radio stations broadcasted the Maryville-Carson-Newman game. Then, time was when the student body assembled in the chapel to hear a telephoned account of away games. Now Anderson bell will lose its prestige of the first heralder of victory tides. . .time marches on!

●FOOTBALL GUIDE FOR 1948 lists events of local significance in its tabulations departments. In rushing plays, one of the longest listed as an 83 yard sprint by Tennessee Tech's Bell in a game last season with Cumberland University. Fogarty's 75 yard run through East Tennessee State's Bucaneers on Wilson Field last year made the publication. Then Cosson, Carson-Newman halfback also is listed for a 75 yard dash in a game with Western Carolina in '47. In the leading scoring department, Football Guide lists three area players:—Fogarty of Maryville with 9 T.D.s, and 5 points—after-touchdowns; Jennings, Carson-Newman back and a Teammate, Cosson, who each collected nine T.D.s.

●WE WONDER if Coach Davis' "four-arm shivers" and "mousetraps" are all greased up and waiting for the Hiwassee eleven. To the uninitiated, a forearm shiver is simply a defensive lineman's manuever, while a mousetrap is an offensive back's chief attack in blocking a big, burly, fast charging guard or tackle who uses his brawn more than his brains. Does "T" formation football allow such simple arts?

●HIWASSEE BEAT CARSON-NEWMAN—"Orange and Blue C-N student publication, calls the defeat of Carson-Newman by Hiwassee (18-12) a 'weird nightmare.' It also states that 'fans and students were stunned and amazed'—which must be putting it mildly."—The Highland Echo, October 7, 1937. See, Little Hiwassee is a force never to be counted upon to do anything consistently!

●EVERYBODY'S DOING IT—Guys who are supposed to know the dope on college football games are continually sticking their neck out to show mystic powers of crystal ball gazing. We have no crystal ball, no gambling interest to serve, but only a little looseness of the brain to get out on a limb and say: Middle Tennessee has a good fight with Cape Giradeau—but the Raiders should win. Carson-Newman should find it in Tennessee Tech's Eagles—(a close one, sure to be a slugfest)—C-N by a margin. Emory-Henry vs. Guilford—the Wasps, probably. East Tennessee State vs. Tennessee Wesleyan—ETS, naturally. That's all the interest of our area opponents in football clashes this week.

Intramurals....

By DUNCAN BENNETT

The fall intramural tennis tournament is fast approaching the end with six racqueteers leading the pack into the home stretch. Miles, Fisher, Hunter, Anderson, Waggoner, and Knecht are at the top after a week of play-offs!

Many of the games were ceded when opponents failed to show up at the time of the game. It is the responsibility of the player to arrange with his opponent the time and place of the match.

The play-off sheet is posted on the bulletin board outside the tennis courts behind Memorial Hall. Information from this sheet will be used in determining the standing on the intramural tennis ladder, and from this will be picked the candidates for the varsity tennis team next spring.

Coach Johnson has announced that an intramural golf tournament will start just as soon as intramural tennis is finished. There is a sign-up sheet posted in the Intramural Office in Bartlett Hall.

FRESHMAN MANAGERS

The Intramural Office wishes to announce once again that there is still a definite and unfulfilled need for freshmen intramural managers.

Duties of freshmen managers consist in spending two hours a week in organizing and directing intramural sports for which you will receive physical education credit. Any freshman who is interested is to contact Coach Johnson or Fred Richardett as soon as possible.

Varmints-13, 8-Balls-0

The Varmints walked over the Eight Balls with a 13-0 score last Thursday afternoon on the athletic field. The Varmints scored once in the first period and failed to make the extra point. Their third period try for the extra point after the touchdown was successful.

Varmints	6	0	7	0	—13

Scuddy Hoos-25, Ministerials-13

The Scuddy Hoos whipped down the Ministerials last Friday afternoon by a 25-13 score. The Ministerials were leading 7-6 at the end of the half, but early in the third quarter the Scuddy Hoos forged out for two touchdowns and one extra point.

Scuddy Hoos	0	6	13	6	—25
Ministerials	6	7	0	0	—13

YMCA-19, Olympics-0

The Olympics came out at the little end of the horn last Friday afternoon in the game with the YMCA. The final score was 19-0 with the YMCA scoring twice in the second quarter and once in third.

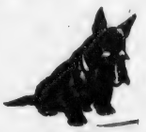
YMCA-25, Scuddy Hoos-12

The YMCA gave the freshman Scuddy Hoos a sound trouncing last Monday afternoon in a 25-12 game. The YMCA got to the other end of the field once in each of the four qaurters. Scuddy Hoos scored in the second and fourth.



YMCA-26, Ministerials-0

The YMCA squelched the Ministerials Thursday afternoon by a score of 26-0. YMCA scored twice in the first period, once in the second, and once in the fouth. An extra point was made in the first and fourth periods.

Scotty Sez:

An enormous number of voters for cheerleaders last week opposed the oft-spoken saying that "Maryville students show no school spirit." This contest proved what can be done once interest is aroused. And now that cheerleaders have been selected, let's carry that interest and enthusiasm to the game tonight.

Do you go to watch the game and plays as they are being made, or do you go to sit through it just to find out what the score is at the half and the finish? Why lose interest when the score is a little higher or lower than you wanted it to be? The men on the field need your continuing enthusiasm. Remember, the game is never won nor lost until the referee blows the final horn.

Noise-makers are fine in moderation, but when sirens are blown so loud and long that they drown out the fire engines on the other side of town, then they become a menace. But bring your cowbells, horns, and all the yell you've ever had, and don't forget to stand and show your respect for the Alma Maters of both schools.

The instant the cheerleaders stop for a breath is not a "go" signal for a few spectators to organize yells among the crowd. It only succeeeds in giving the opposite side an impression of lack of cooperation. Save your voice to back those you elected to lead cheers. Also, when Maryville makes a touchdown, stand and cheer!

Give the players credit for what they've done by learning their numbers beforehand. Then you won't be wondering "who made that run" or "who got that tackle?" Be sure and cheer for every injured player, whether he is our own or a member of the visiting team.

Maryville is friendly to its own students, but what about visiting teams? Let's help create for them the same friendly atmosphere and courtesy that we expect away from home.

How good a sport are you?

WGAP Broadcasts MC Football Games

WGAP, 1400 kc, will broadcast all Maryville College football games of the coming season—at home and away.

Morton-Myers Motor Company, sponsors of last season's home game broadcasts, are now sponsoring the WGAP broadcast for the second year.

Two of the station's regular staff, Skeeter Shields and Jim Hess, will handle the game broadcasts with Shields giving the play by-play account and Hess coming in with the "color" and spot announcements.

WGAP is affiliated with the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Colds Hamper Scot Cross-Country Team

Hit by colds and muscular stiffness, Coach Johnson's cross-country runners ran their third time trials Thursday afternoon.

Coach added a new round to the course this week to lengthen the Harrier's route. Fifteen men finished the race, with Del Earisman breaking tape first with a time of 18 min. 20 sec.

Coach Johnson expressed confidence that the team was showing improvement. Several of the men capable of challenging the lead were laid-up by colds and injuries.

One of the best opportunities to show just how good you really are is the way you conduct yourself at the game tonight and throughout the season.

Whether this year's football games will be successful or not greatly depends upon the spirit and determination shown by the entire student body. Let's back our Scotties with all we've got!

MARY E. HUNT, '47, HOLDS EDITOR'S JOB

Mary Elizabeth Hunt, '47, has been named Desk Editor of the Elizabethton Star, in Elizabethton, Tennessee. The paper which is a daily and Sunday publication, has a circulation of over 2,500. Since the time of her graduation from Maryville, she has been employed by that paper as Society Editor.

Miss Hunt was the senior staff member of the Highland Echo, and served two years as a reporter.

BALLAD COLLECTOR VISITS MARYVILLE

Mrs. Louis M. Belden of Indianapolis, who wishes to make a collection of ballads and folk tunes representative of all Maryville college students, will be on campus from September 27 to October 2.

Mrs. Belden wants to meet any student who knows a ballad, a spiritual, carol, Bible story in song, tale, witch's tale, a singing game or any such similar type of folk music. As Mrs. Belden says, "I want songs they learned from their grandparents or parents."

Further announcements will be made concerning the method of contacting Mrs. Belden. Dr. Hunter of the English faculty and the Misses Horne and Vawter of the music department will help her in making her contacts.

Y's Present Second Drama of Series

"Two for Admission", will be presented by the Maryville College Y's over station WGAP at 2:45 p. m. tomorrow afternoon.

A repeat performance, "Two for Admission", was written by Tom Wheeler, a 1948 graduate who also wrote last week's radio play. Tomorrow's dramatization concerns a man who is electrocuted at a state prison, finds himself at the Golden Gate, and seeks to gain admission.

A new series of quarter-hour dramas will begin after a third repeat performance is given next week. Plays chosen for broadcast during the November contests announced in last week's ECHO will be included in the new series.

Persons interested in entering the contests are asked to see a member of the joint Y radio committee. Dot Holverson, Ben Paxton, Bill Starr, and Jim Black compose the committee.

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma will meet tonight at 6:45 in Dr. Orr's classroom, Anderson Hall.

New members will be initiated at the meeting.

Helen Saulsbury Speaks In Chapel On Indian Missions

Mrs. Helen Saulsbury will be the speaker at Chapel service, Thursday, September 30. Mrs. Saulsbury, who makes her home in Temple, Texas, has just recently returned from fourteen months of observing the Presbyterian mission work in India.

In March 1947, Mrs. Saulsbury flew to Ambla City, East Punjab, India, where she volunteered assistance to the staff of the Philadelphia Presbyterian Hospital.

Witnesses Adjustment In India

During the tragic months of adjustment for the new government of India in the fall and winter of 1947-48, Mrs. Saulsbury was an eyewitness to the confusion and suffering produced by the shifting of Hindu, Sikh, and Moslem population. She was instrumental in securing and distributing medical supplies used in combating disease in the refugee camps of Punjab.

Saw Effect of Gandhi's Assassination

Mrs. Saulbury was in New Delhi when Mohandas Gandhi was assassinated. She experienced the tensions felt in this capital city by this historic event and also the relief of these tensions when further civil strife was averted.

In the fourteen months in India, Mrs. Saulsbury traveled over much of the country. She visited Presbyterian Missions in Lahore, Ludhiana, Dehra, Dun, Ferozepur, Kodaihanal, Jellunder, Miraj, and Bombay. While in Ferozepu, she stayed at the hospital which is headed by Dr. Dorothy Ferris, sister of John Ferris, who is a student at the college.

New Providence Church Plans Student Reception

New Providence Presbyterian Church's annual open-house for college students will be Tuesday evening, September 28, from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock at the manse, 318 South College Street.

Refreshments will be served on the lawn at the rear of the house. In the event of rain, the party will be held in the church basement.

SPANISH CLUB

Elmer Mize was elected new treasurer of the Spanish Club at the regular meeting Thursday night. Eleven new members were also chosen. Those members are Mary Baker, Barbara Blum, Lloyd Cornelius, Betty Field, Peggy Ann Kettles, Marlene Mauger, Barbara McNeil, Beverly Musick, Jeanne Pelton, Bill Shields, and Irene Tedford.

A picnic and initiation of the new members is planned for the next meeting which is October 7.

ORCHESTRA PLANS FOR FALL CONCERT

The college orchestra is preparing numbers for a concert in late November.

At rehearsals they are working on an overture, "The Bat," by Strauss.

Plans are being made for the "Clock Symphony," by Hayden; a concerto for two violins and orchestra, by Vivaldi; and "A Manx Overture" by Hayden Wood. The latter is a composition built on folk tunes from the "Isle of Man."

Point System Girls Elect Leaders

Captains and managers of the point system teams were chosen at the regular meetings Tuesday, September 21. The captain of the Chillie soccer team is Margaret Rock and manager for the team is Barbara Bertholf. Heading the Howee soccer team is Ruth Heaps and the manager is Edna Burkins.

Soccer Squads Line-Up

Teams and squads for the soccer tournament were chosen at the meeting Thursday, September 23. The team announced for the Howees are Ruth Heaps, Elaine Smith, and Zan Memery—forwards, Janice Landstrom, and Mae Meriweather—fullbacks, Ruth Nelson, Ruth Rogers, and Wilma Robinson—halfbacks, Betty Fields, and Ruth McSween, wings, with Andy Anderson as goalie.

The Chillie team are Barbara Bethrolf, Barbara Eggleston, and Carrie Parsons—half backs, Peggy Sangster, Cora Anthony, Margaret Rock—forwards, Alberta Gates and Sarah Kemp—fullbacks, Mary Ann Brogden and Betty Carol—wings, and Betty Jo Clemens—goalie.

BAINONIAN GREETS INITIATES TODAY

Bainonian will meet this afternoon at 4:45 for the initiation of new members. During the four home football games, the Society will meet at 4:45 p. m.

Plans for the semester, including a banquet early in November, were discussed at the last meeting. The new chapter system, subdividing the society into twelve groups, was explained, and each girl assigned to a chapter.

The chairmen and chapters are as follows: Kappa, Mary Fowler; Omega, Brooks Maddux; Iota, Ann Jenkins; Zeta, Winnie Schaumburg; Delta, Snookie Mills; Chi, Mae Meriwether; Beta, Dot Downey; Gamma, Marian McBride; Phi, Peggy Sangster; Upsilon, Barbara Altfather; Nu, Anna Jane Brunson; Tau, Laurie Dale.

Starting at tailback, Bill Fogarty's running and passing play is ready to pave the way down the T.D. trail. Ably sharing tailback duties with him, Leon Berrong, Scot tripple-threat, will be in demand for punting, running, and passing duties.

Out at wingback, Alen Law points Highlander attack. A kick-off specialist, Law will likely toe the initial kick-off tonight for the Highlanders. Bobby Neff, another letterman at wingback, is sidelined for the opening game because of a rib injury.

Hershell "Stumpy" Merriman, fullback deluxe, is a 60-minute standout for the Highlanders with a plummeting drive and leather snapping tackles.

Facing a "T" attack, the Scot line may undergo much shifting. With the backfield more experienced, many shifts can be made without weakening the strength or power. Likely to see early action are:

Student Center, Y-Store Post Regulations

Regulations concerning the Student Center building and equipment and the Y-Store have been posted on the Center bulletin board. The rules in their entirety are printed below:

"This Student Center is operated under an agreement entered into by the College, the YMCA, the YWCA, and the Student Council. Under this agreement the Student Council has assumed responsibility both for the efficient management of the Student Center and for the maintenance of proper conduct in and about it.

Governed By Board

"The Student Center is governed by a student-faculty Board, the actions of which are subject to ratification by the Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty. The Board determines policies for the operation of the Center and establishes regulations governing its use. The Director of the Center, Mrs. Marquis, is a member of the Board. She and her assistants are responsible for maintaining the policies and enforcing the regulations of the Board. The Y-Store, although a separate YM-YW unit, is under the over-all supervision of the Board.

"Funds for the original equipment and furnishings of this building were made available by the YMCA, the YWCA, the College, and Mrs. John Walker. Funds for operation and maintenance are derived from the semester fees paid by students, from rental fees of the Y-Store, and from contributions.

Regulations Listed

"This Student Center is for your enjoyment and convenience. In order to insure its proper use and care and to keep its activities in proper relation to the general program of the College, you are asked to cooperate in observing the following regulations:

1. Foods and drinks may not be taken into the lounge room.
2. Shorts may not be worn in the Center, except that between 3:30 and 5:00 p. m. persons so dressed may come to the counter for refreshments but will leave immediately after being waited upon.
3. Sitting on tables or on arms of furniture, lying on settees, placing feet on furniture, marking furniture or walls, or similar abuse of property is not permitted.
4. Game equipment will be checked out and in at the office. Any damage to equipment will be paid for by the person to whom it was signed out. Equipment may not be checked out during the 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. period.
5. No furniture may be removed from the Student Center.
6. Those sitting at tables are responsible for clearing their tables before leaving.
7. Student Center and Y-Store hours are given below. Please remember that those in charge are required to conform to these schedules:

Coach Lombe Honaker spoke at the second pep rally of the season on Friday evening in the Alumni Gym with a few not-too-brief but very much to the point jokes. Coach Honaker's serious remarks at the rally dealt with the fact that the Scotties have a very tough game scheduled tonight with the Middle Tennessee State Blue Devils. In conclusion Coach Honaker asked for support of the students at the game tonight.

John Shew announced that there will be a tumbling act at half-time tonight. He also stated that freshman initiations will be held on Wilson Field, and that a student cheering section will be roped off in the Maryville stands.

A mock trial was held, with Bob Holly as judge and Bill Houdeshel as clerk. Accused were Susie Martin, Delbert Earisman, Jerry Campbell, and Jim Crane.

The rally ended with the alma mater by the band.

The cheerleaders used this opportunity to work out some new cheers with the student body.

Band Presents New Show This Evening

At the halftime show this evening, the band will present several new formations. The first will be a "Bronco Buster" formation involving a series of "five, six to the rear" movements. Next an MT will be formed honoring the visiting team, Middle Tennessee State.

The band will then go into regular formation in the middle of the field while the tumbling team gives an exhibition before the Maryville stands. Then they will form a Scottie and play "On Highlanders."

An M with a revolving square around it will be formed in the middle of the field during which time the fight song will be played. While in the same formation the band will play the Alma Mater.

MEN ELECT SIX TO FILL COUNCIL VACANCIES OF MSO

In two-day balloting last week, Maryville's Men's Student Organization elected six new members to its coordinating council. Chosen to represent the largest group of men, dormitory students, were George Ogle, George Stanfill, and Jim McKee. Of the off-campus students, Bill Fogarty was selected from transients, and Charles Williamse and Charles Huffman from permanent residents of Maryville.

Tubby Callaway is chairman of the MSO Coordinating Council; Ray Holsey and Bob Neff are the other members elected last spring. Last week's election was necessary to replace transferred and graduated students.

18 Education Students Begin Practice Teaching

Eighteen students are doing practice teaching this semester. Seven elementary educational majors who are teaching at West Side School are Betty Yeaworth and Buffie Carver, first grade; Virginia Hand and Betty Emory, second grade; Loretta Crawford, third grade; Ada Shay, fourth grade; and Ann Cook, sixth grade.

Sarah Durant, a junior elementary education major, is working with the fifth grade at Fort Craig School.

The following secondary educational students are practice teaching at Maryville High School: Georgia Cordle, biology; Margaret Rock, English; Zoe Sayre, history; Mrs. Ola Sherrill, home economics; Eleanor Miller, Latin; Jane Martenis, music; Ruth Ramsey, music; Janice Lindsay, physical education; Alan Rock, physical education.

Violet Summerville is going to Everett High School where she is doing practice teaching in French.

Mrs. A. F. Pieper Speaks at YM-YW Meeting Sunday

Mrs. A. F. Pieper, sociology instructor, will discuss the courtship and engagement period at Sunday's YM-YW meeting. The joint meeting will be held October 3, at 1:30 in the Library. This will be the second of a series of three meetings sponsored jointly by the YMCA and YWCA.

A question box has been placed in Pearsons Hall to give students a chance to ask any questions they might wish to have answered.

These lectures are designed to help college students get a better understanding of friendship, courtship, and marriage. This is the first year these meetings have been held jointly.

The first speaker of the series was Miss Arda Walker who spoke last Sunday on friendship. Dr. L. C. Olin, Maryville, will conclude the lectures by discussing marriage and the Christian home on October 10.

Y'S PRESENT THIRD WHEELER ORIGINAL ON RADIO SUNDAY

"Report From Satan," an original drama by Tom Wheeler, will be presented by the YMCA and YWCA Sunday at 2:45 p. m. over station WGAP. This fifteen minute drama, the third and last of a series of repeat productions will have in its cast Ben Paxton, Bill Starr, Joe Poland, and Bill MacIlvane. Next week a new series will begin.

Although most of the programs for this semester have already been planned, radio committee chairman Jim Black announced that a skit contest is to be held in November. The four best skits will be dramatized on the air with the four winners receiving prizes for their scripts.

The chairman also announced that the committee is considering lengthening the programs from fifteen to thirty minutes so that music may be included with the dramas.

Dr. J. D. Buchanan Speaks At Faculty Club

Dr. J. D. Buchanan will speak at the Faculty Club meeting Monday night, October 4, on "The Use of Symbols in the Christian Church." He will illustrate his talk with Kodachrome slides.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. in the home economics room in Fayerweather. A light salad and desert will be served instead of the usual dinner.

NU GAMMA HOLDS ANNUAL BREAKFAST

Nu Gamma will have a sunrise breakfast for all new girls Monday morning, October 4, at 7 o'clock. New girls will meet in front of Thaw at 6:45 a. m. ready to go to the picnic grounds. After a short devotional period, they will cook breakfast on an open fire.

This breakfast is the end of the Nu Gamma program for this semester.

YW Barnwarming Committees Plan Annual Program

Committees have been appointed and plans are being formulated for the annual Barnwarming program which will be presented on Thanksgiving evening. The previously appointed committee chairmen met last Wednesday night for the first time. These chairmen are as follows: publicity, Andy Anderson; business manager, Argyle King; costumes, Snooky Mills, and make-up, Marg Prall. Ilda Mosby, Hedy Nabholz, Howard Cameron, and J. A. Cameron are in charge of sets, lights, and decorations.

Barnwarming is an annual affair, sponsored by YWCA, and held on Thanksgiving night. The co-chairmen, who are members of the Y cabinet, are appointed, and the theme is selected, at the end of the spring term, for the following the band will present several this year are Buffie Carver and Millie Miller.

The king and queen are elected by the student body from the senior class, and each class elects a girl as sponsor, to complete the Barnwarming court. The date for election of the court will be announced later as will further plans for the program.

MC DEBATE SQUAD RELEASES NATIONAL TOPIC FOR COLLEGES

Maryville College chapter of Ki Kappa Delta has announced the national collegiate debate topic for the coming year. The subject is "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a policy of equalizing education in tax-supported schools by means of annual grants."

Fifty-eight students, including varsity debaters of last year, freshman debaters, and upperclass newscomers to debating, are at present working on material for their try-outs. The try-outs will be held October 25, and each individual will present before judges a case and rebuttal in debate against one other opponent. The varsity team will be selected from those persons.

Four tournaments have been selected for Maryville participation, according to Dr. Verton M. Queener, debate team coach. These include the State, Smoky Mountain, National, and Hickory Tournaments.

Frost, Bennett Read At Writer's Workshop

Jim Frost and Duncan Bennett will read at the next meeting of the Writer's Workshop, Wednesday, October 6, at 4:30 p. m. in Thaw Hall. Marian McBride will critize Frost's work and Martha Kincaid will criticize that of Bennett.

Last Wednesday, Craig Fisher read three poems, "The Bum States His Case," "Sky Flame," and "Love's Souvenir," which were criticized by Chester Phillips. Ed Pancoast read an untitled piece of prose, the first chapter of a novel, which Martha Cecil Hull criticized.

Folk-Song Collecting Begins As Hobby, Becomes Profession

BY RUTH RAMSEY

Mrs. Louis M. Belden of Indianapolis, Indiana, was on campus this past week making a collection of American folk songs. She is a graduate of Maryville having been an assistant instructor of piano during her student days.

She began her hobby while planning a music club program based on Indiana folk songs. She found that very little material on American folk songs was available; therefore, she began asking friends for songs they had learned from their parents and grandparents. In this way she collected more than enough material for the program and became interested in folk songs as a hobby.

For five years Mrs. Belden was state chairman of folk music for the Indiana Federation of Music Clubs. During this time she made two collections of Indiana folk music which she presented to the clubs; one was a collection of children's songs and a second of traditional ballads. These collections are made from a musical standpoint and not necessarily from a literary one. Mrs. Belden copies the melodies as people sings them for her; then she arranges a simple accompanient so that they may be sung. Her primary concern is preserving these melodies.

In coming to Maryville Mrs.

Student Vols Adopts Indian Mission Hospitals

A spontaneous campaign has developed on the campus as a result of the chapel address of Mrs. Helen Saulsbury, who spoke Thursday morning. The picture of shortage of materials and money in two hospitals in India which she presented, moved many students to express a desire to help.

The movement has been adopted by the Student Volunteers as their project for the year. Every student in the college was invited to contribute one dollar; the money which could thus be raised would pay for the new sundried brick buildings which are needed if the hospitals are to remain licensed by the government. This phase of the movement was launched in chapel Friday morning, when Carroll Stegall, President of Student Volunteers, and Miss Anna Katherine Knapp, program chairman, presented Mrs. Saulsbury again to explain how the money is to be used.

The final phase of the movement will be presented within a few weeks, after letters which have been mailed to the hospitals, asking what equipment they need, have been answered. A mimeographed list of materials will be offered to each student who wishes to take part in the movement. This list is to be mailed to any doctor whom the student may know, with the request that he send used surgical instruments, sheets, and equipment which has been discarded by his own hospital.

Advanced Gifts Division Begins Chapel Campaign

Indian Missionary Speaks At Chapel Thursday Morning

Mrs. Helen Scott Saulsbury, traveling representative of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, USA, who has just returned from India, spoke in chapel Thursday morning. She gave a picture of the conditions in India at the present time.

Mrs. Saulsbury was present in India at the time of the communal riots that took place upon the partition of the sub-continent into two nations. She told of the terrible sights that became as common as death itself during those violent days. All Moslems fled India to escape the Hindus, and all the Hindus had to migrate by the millions from Pakistan. In those days, Mrs. Saulsbury said, missionaries and doctors worked as much as four days at a time without rest.

Hospital Work

Mrs. Saulsbury worked in two hospitals in India. In the Philadelphia Hospital in Ambala City in the Punjab she worked with Dr. Iva Noel Gibbons. In Ferozapur, Punjab, she helped with Dr. Dorothy Ferris, at the Francis Newton Hospital. These hospitals have to maintain their work upon a budget of $980 a year. They are theoretically 60-bed hospitals, but were constantly crowded to 100 or more patients. Despite total lack of clean facilities, adequate surgical instruments, or money for drugs and medicine, Mrs. Saulsbury declares that she saw miracles of healing performed by the consecrated missionaries. She gave a vivid picture of the parallel crisis of a cholera plague that followed in the wake of the disorganized mass flight of the Indian people.

Informal Discussion

After her address to the chapel group, Mrs. Saulsbury was surrounded by a group of about 80 students who listened to her speak extemporaneously for another hour.

She exhibited a number of photographs of the conditions which existed and still exist in the portions of India which she described. She also gave many side-lights upon the important persons whom she met in her work, including Ghandi, Lord and Lady Mountbatten, and Jahwrahal Nehru.

ANDY CLARK HURT WHILE PRACTICING TUMBLING ACT

Andy Clark, sophomore from Lewiston, Penn., who received a back injury while practicing with an acrobatic team Thursday afternoon, was reported by a member of the Blount Memorial Hospital staff at Friday noon to be in an improved condition.

Clark was hurt when he attempted to swan dive over three other members of the team. Failing to break his dive with his hands in time, Clark hit on his head and a partial loss of control in his back resulted from the blow.

His condition is not reported as serious and it is thought that only strain resulted from the accident. An X-ray picture was taken of Clark's back at the hospital Thursday night.

The other members of the acrobatic team, Jim Marvin, J. A. Cameron, Bob Kees, and Joe Poland will carry through the act at tonight's game with Middle Tennessee State.

Clark was transferred to the college infirmary Friday afternoon.

I R C

International Relations Club will meet Monday, October 4, for its annual picnic in the college woods. The group will leave from Thaw steps at 5 p. m. for the picnic grounds.

Chapel Seats 1100; Plans Include Little Theater

Organization of the Advanced Gifts Division for the Chapel fund was completed with the announcement of 32 committee members by co-chairman A. M. Brinkley, Jr., and Joe C. Gamble. The group launched solicitations at a dinner meeting Thursday evening in the home economics department of the College. Members of the campaign executive committee as well as resident directors of the College also attended the dinner.

One of the important objectives of this group is the designation of different units of the building as gifts of special donors. Of this plan of giving, Mr. Brinkley said:

"While planned in its entirety as a monument to the beloved Dr. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, whose supreme gift was a life of service and inspiration to the College, separate units of the Chapel will provide the ideal means by which individual and family donors may remember loved ones with memorials that will live for generations in Christian service, or by which they themselves may be remembered in the years ahead for their devotion to those principles upon which the College program is built."

While gifts for the chapel will also be sought in Knox County and from alumni throughout the country, Blount County contributors will have first choice in memorializing the various units, according to a statement by Mr. Brinkley.

The Chapel plans revealed that the ground floor will provide complete facilities for a 300-seat little theater or playshop, together with class and practice rooms for the drama and speech departments and a rehearsal room for the choir.

The plans show an auditorium seating 920 on the main floor and 190 in the gallery, facilities for film projection and broadcast control, a prayer room, lounge, college pastor's study, and offstage reception rooms.

Campaign workers got a preview of the campaign brochure which is to be mailed to all potential contributors.

Chilhowean Staff Sets Subscription Goal At 600 Books

The goal of 600 subscriptions set by the 1949 Chilhowean staff has passed the half-way mark. An intensive campaign will begin Monday, October 4, and will continue through Saturday, October 16. If more than 400 copies are sold, the cost of the books over that number decreases and more pages can be added thus increasing the size and completeness of the annual.

Chilhowean's may be served during the two-week period by either partial or complete payments. Joe Claud, business manager, will be in front of Pearsons daily before and after lunch and dinner. Payments may be made before dinner only on Saturdays.

Individual portaits may be made at George's in Knoxville any time before October 16. The $1.02 price is still in effect. Group pictures of the various organizations are now being taken.

Let's Be Consistent, Please

Last Wednesday evening, on the recommendation of the faculty, Student Council voted to discontinue the annual spring World Student Service Fund. Many Council members felt that the WSSF drive was a worthy cause and should be supported, but the idea was presented that two drives per year were not in keeping with the general policy of a low student budget, and that when there were two drives, neither reached its goal. The Fred Hope Fund, an annual fall campaign, was felt to be more personal to Maryville students. The faculty seemed to feel that a second drive, even though in a different semester, jeopardized this fund. On those grounds, Council made its decision.

Less than twenty-four hours later a "spontaneous movement" to collect funds for Indian hospitals was authorized despite the fact that the Fred Hope Drive is less than two weeks away. We are for worthy causes and have no quarrel with such, but why the inconsistency? Will not any collection of funds at this time limit the chance for the success of our annual drive? Particularly when the goal of that movement is more than half again as much as the total collected for WSSF last year. Council has been left in a rather embarrassing position. Students have expressed their desire to continue the WSSF; Council, in not retaining it, felt justified. By Thursday the picture had changed and Council is left with no explanation to give students.

Another mater of similar nature is the Theta Alpha Phi play. Always before this play was given in the fall. The societies then alternated the two spring plays and no student appeared in more than one a semester. This fall Theta Alpha Phi found that they were to have the commencement play, thus eliminating the Theta-Alpha Sigma members who are to present the first spring play in March. This hardly seems fair. Either those students appear in only one, or knock themselves out by working in two. Opinion so far has been that such students could very well be in two major plays in one semester, and yet we are constantly warned not to overload our schedules. Maryville stands for scholarship and a well-balanced program. Somehow, those last few ideas just don't jive.

When a program effects so many students and changes are made, shouldn't such changes be discussed with the Student Body? For the sake of all of us, so we'll know just where we stand, can't we be a little more consistent?

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council met Wednesday night in the Student Center. Jim Black, president, opened the meeting.

After the secretary's report, the Town Nite violations were discussed and voted on by Council. Only one violation was reported this Tuesday night. For failure to sign in from town, a three-weeks suspension of Town Nite privileges was given.

The second item discussed was the result of the meeting of the Student-Faculty Senate. Changes and amendments to the constitution of the Student Body were drawn up at the Senate meeting. The material will become Articles VI and VII in the Constitution and will then go before the Student-Faculty Senate and Executive Committee of the faculty to be approved before it is voted on by the Student Body.

Rules concerning use of Student Center equipment and building, hours of the Y store, and facts about the construction of the Center will be placed on its bulletin board in a few days.

Council President Black announced that there would be dancing on campus under certain provisions as soon as the dance committee of Student-Faculty Senate completes its plans.

The next point of discussion was that of the discontinuation of the WSSF drive. It had been suggested by the faculty that the drive be discontinued and that there be only the Fred Hope Fund drive on campus. After discussion, Council voted on this matter. General agreement was that it would be best to have only the Fred Hope drive since this drive is more personal to the students. The faculty opinion had been that the majority of the students have only moderate means and cannot afford to support both drives.

The Fred Hope Fund is now supporting Mary Smith, one of last year's graduates, in the mission field in China.

The meeting was adjourned after a brief presentation of proposed committees to be appointed next week. One committee concerns a point system which would determine how many offices a student could hold at one time. Two other committees are on hospitalization and a student bank.

First to complete the business at hand: Regarding the Scotch Tape contest your columnists mentioned in the Highland Echo of September 11. We received so many entries that Doc Griffitts had to take on extra help at the book store to handle them all. However, the best one by far was sent in by Alfred H. Nead, resident of Carnegie basement. Mr. Nead sent in 16,000 uses for Scotch tape written on the head of a pin, and the judges unanimously decided in his favor. We regret to inform Mr. Nead, however, that the molasses he was to have won has turned to sugar. Nevertheless, he may collect his two pennies by calling for them at the Echo office any night after midnight. (The editor refuses to include such in the expense account.)

Was her face red!! This week at the Executive Council meeting of YWCA officers and advisers, the question came up of what to do with the money the YW received from the Y Store. Miss Massey suggested that perhaps some mention might been made of a similar problem in the minutes of the Y while she was in school here. Dot Holverson, obviously without thinking, quipped, "Oh, we don't have anything that goes back that far."

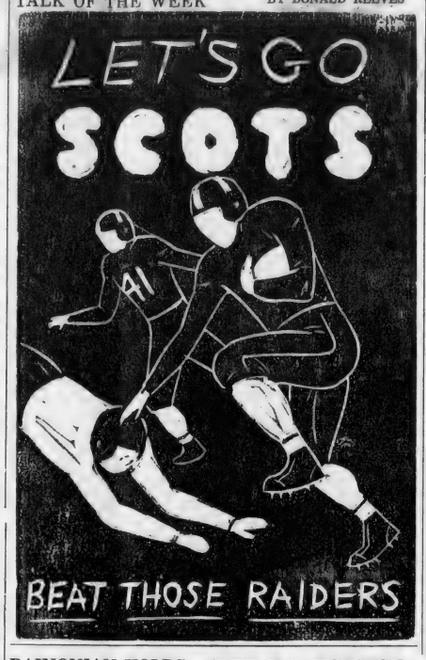
Greater love hath no man. . .

Janet Doyle, freshman from way up No'th, recently received a 38-page letter from her o. a. .o at home. It took him only a week to do it, too. Some people have all the luck.

Fred Kluth has lost a tooth, as any fool can plainly see. Consequently, some of his brainy classmates studying about Hrothgar in "Beewulf" have helpfully dubbed Kluth "Toothgard." What some people won't do for a laugh!

It has been brought to our attention that our Lady Mac, like any other self-respecting purp, likes to take a daily constitutional ("walk," to you). If you've seen Nikki and Roger strolling along with a bundle of fuzz on the other end of a leash, that should give you an idea. Lady Mac is available at all times to enhance your afternoon strolls, so why not take the hint and take her along?

Picture of the Week. . . as seen through the window of Fayerweather: Doc Griffitts peacefully asleep, arms crossed, feet on desk, smile on face. . .



We find Dr. Buchanan guilty of attempted murder. We recommend the highest punishment be given him for his attempt on the life of a Maryville trumpet player, for, not only did he try to drive his car over her, but he was smiling as he did so. Shame on you, Dr. Buchanan!

And for all those poor motorists who try to drive their vehicles past Fayerweather through the ranks of the band, we kindly submit a schedule of those times when the band monopolizes the street. The usual times are Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from 4:20 until 4:45, depending on the punctuality of the band members and the ire of Mr. Hughes.

Belle of the week. We hereby nominate as our Belle this week Miss Suzanne Emery who comes to us as a transfer junior from Montreat College, North Carolina. She's the friendly type, with a smile for everyone. That she is very athletic is borne out by the fact that she always seems to be just recovering from a soccer injury. If you see someone answering to "Hey, Zan!," that's our belle of the week.

BAINONIAN HOLDS MUSICAL PROGRAM

Bainonian will meet this afternoon at 4:45 p. m. in Bainonian Hall. After a short business session, a musical program will be presented. Some of the society members who worked as waitresses at Norris Dam this summer will give skits, and Ella Swift will pla yseveral accordion solos. Wanda Onifer is program chairman.

The formal initiation service for all Bainonians was held Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Y rooms. President Vera Lusk, in welcoming new members, explained the aims and purposes of Bainonian and the responsibilities of its members. A tea followed the service.

Girls' Swimming Classes Start Monday

Mrs. V. M. Queener of the women's athletic department has announced that beginning swimming classes for girls start Monday, October 4, at 3:30 p. m.

Judy Breen Leads Prayer Meeting

Judy Breen will lead the all-campus prayer meeting Thursday evening at 9:30 p. m. in the Y rooms. Ruth Ramsey, violinist, will provide special music. The group will meet before the fireplace.

FOLK SONGS . . .

Belden hoped to get songs of interest to college people that would make a typical college collection. However, she found more children's songs than traditional ballads.

Songs were contributed from Michigan, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Ohio, Arkansas, and New Jersey. Mrs. Belden found one melody she had been looking for for eight years.

Mrs. Belden said she appreciated the cooperation she received at Maryville and she wished to thank all those who had helped in making contacts and contributions for her collection.

REV. R. L. HOUSTON SPEAKS AT VESPERS

Rev. Robert L. Houston, pastor of the Sevierville Presbyterian Church, will speak at the vesper service tomorrow at 7 p. m. in the library.

The All Girls Choir under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes will sing "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn and "God is a Spirit" by Koploy.

ART DEPARTMENT PRESENTS EXHIBIT

Each week the Art Department presents an exhibit on second floor of Anderson Hall depicting a leading artist, with accompanying notes. Tentative events are a film entitled, "Chartres Cathedral," and the visiting of the University of Tennessee's exhibit.

Next fall they plan to present an exhibit of the work of local artists around Maryville College.

Dramatics Society Welcomes Courtney

Theta Alpha Phi honored Miss Lenora Courtney, the new instructor in drama and speech, at a social and business meeting on Friday night, September 24. Jim Black, president of the dramatic society, offered his resignation. Arrangements were made for a business meeting in the near future, at which time officers for the year will be elected. The group has as yet made no definite plans for the year.

YM Plans Annual Hike To Smokies October 16-17

The annual YMCA hike will be held on October 16 and 17. At the next meeting of the Y cabinet more definite plans will be made concerning the trip. Only those who have signed pledge cards will be eligible for the trek into the Smokies.

YW SETS OCTOBER 9 FOR ANNUAL HIKE

YWCA members will leave Saturday, October 9, for their annual hike to Montvale. All girls, on and off campus, are invited to attend. The group will leave immediately after lunch and return late Saturday night. Food for the trip will be furnished by the YW. Sign-up sheets will be placed in all dormitories, and each girl is asked to sign as soon as possible.

Sports Echoes

●MTS'S BLUE RAIDERS (ask anyone who saw the 13-7 battle of last year) have one of the best all-around football squads in this area. To what extent they have developed their T attack this year has not been quite proven, for they took to the air for two touchdowns last week with Cape Giradeau and ploughed through on the ground for the third. But with a 195 pound left half who likes to drive standing straight up through an opposing line—the Raiders are not at loss for ground attack.

●NEVER WAS A TOWN more broken-hearted than Murfreesboro and the Raider squad as the final whistle last year took the last opportunity to score away from the MTSC team and the Highlanders departed with a 13-7 victory—the lone defeat of the season for the Middle Tennessee team. Before the game, all signs read, "Give 'em hell, Raiders!" One sports correspondent for an out-of-town newspaper ended his story the following morning in a note like this: "The beautiful campus and buildings of MTSC were splattered with "Beat Maryville" and other such window markings but today they only serve as a grim reminder of last night's futile stand against a scrappy bunch of East Tennesseans. . . ."

●"ONE OF THE BEST teams we'll meet this season," is Coach Honaker's opinion of the visiting Raider eleven. Coach "J.D." Davis, who saw them play last week, said ',They're better than they were last year." Speaking of the MC—MTSC game, a United Press story stated: "The tilt with the revenge angle may be the top scrap of the week with MTSC invading Maryville to play the Maryville College Highlanders." By all counts, tonight's Scot-Raider game is one of the toughest tests for any football team. The Murfeesboro eleven is power-laden. Though without their last year's big tackle, McPeake, their line apears capable on defense. Ends good at passes. Bill Blackman, quarterback, is the team's passer. And Nesbitt punts when not carrying the ball.

●HEARD HERE AND THERE: Al Thomas, to his waning Tigers as the Highlanders built up steam in the third quarter: "Get your heads together!" As Shepard, who took the running part of Hiwassee's game where Caton (who's at Tusculum now) left off, one observer remarked: "He'd been a good back to have this year." Shepard trained with the Scots the first two weeks of school. Then last week's cheering from the Highlander ranks was tumultuous. . . grand. . . Let's have more of that. .

●RESERVES MADE a big difference in last Saturday's game with Hiwassee. In thrashing the starting eleven at half-time, one of the Highlander coaches let the first string know that somebody else (the reserve men) had played a big part in the ball game. Fortunately, the Scotties have capable men backing the first string up. Notable the other night was the running of Benton Baldwin, Charlie Allen, an dthe line work of Richard Isenburg, Carl Lewellyn, and T. E. "Honk" Boyd.

●PURR-DICTIONS—We called them that, but after last week we're hiding. Having missed two by a long shot, we're banking on these to be right: Carson-Newman over Emory-Henry; Chattanooga over Tennessee Tech; Western North Carolina over Tusculum; Erskine over East Tennessee State; Hiwassee over Middle Georgia; and Southwestern over Sewanee.

Scots Pit Forces Against Power-Laden Blue Raiders

Maryville's fighting Highlanders tackle Middle Tennessee State's Blue Raiders, defending champions of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference, tonight on Wilson Field.

State's Blue Raiders, who were headed for a bid to Pasadena's Little Rose Bowl last year before Maryville's Scotties burst their bubble with a 13-7 defeat at Murfreesboro, are aiming for revenge for defeats dealt by the Scots in the past two seasons.

MTS opened their season last week by shellacking Cape Girardeau, 20-2.

Capt. Rock On Sidelines

The Highlanders may be without their captain for tonight's game. Alan Rock, 200 pound tackle, and '48 football captain, twisted his right ankle in practice on Wedensday and may not be able to see action tonight.

The Scot squad was sent through extensive drills during the week on the subject of T formation football—which the Raiders use in their running attack. Coach Charles Murphy, the Raider's pilot, introduced the split-T formation at the Middle Tennessee institution this fall.

Defense Stressed In Practice

Coaches Honaker and Davis had Assistant Coach Ronald Easter form a T team of the Highlander third squad to run against the starting eleven for defense work. In weight averages, the Scot line will be handicapped for the fray tonight as the Raider starting line averages 189 pounds while Maryville's average is 177 pounds.

State's starting backfield will average in at 182 pounds, and the Scot starting backfield averages 161 pounds per man. Except at blocking back, the Raiders have their '47 backfield ready to run. Switching to the T, the Raiders will use their ace ground-gainer, a tailback last year, Bill Nesbitt, at left half. Other veteran Raider backs expected to start are Blackman, Cox, and Adams.

Scot Line-Up Changed

With the probability of Captain Rock shelved for the encounter, either Roy Kramer or Wallace Clendenen are expected to fill in the right tackle position in the Highlander line. Richard Isenburg will start at left guard in the Scottie line. Bob Neff, wingback who was out of action last Saturday because of a rib injury, is back in the "on duty" list.

Probable Starting Line-Ups:

Maryville		TS
Miller	LE	Varallo (C)
Kluth	LT	Love
Isenburg	LG	Yearwood
Holsey	C	Smith
Andes	RG	Prince
Kramer	RT	Miller
Davis	RE	Fleming
Law	WB	Adams
Callaway	QB	Blackman
Merriman	FB	Nesbitt
Fogarty	TB	Cox

Scotties Subdue Hiwassee In Final Half Attack, 32-0

Little Hiwassee was almost a big scare last Saturday night as the Highlanders opened their 1948 season, but in the final half Maryville passed for three and ran for two touchdowns after capitalizing on Hiwassee fumbles to win, 32-0.

Bill Fogarty's pass to Hap Brahams early in the third quarter was the first score of the game. For the second tally, Allen Law took a wide reverse after the Scots recovered a fumble on the Hiwassee 20 and crossed the double stripes. Fogarty's kick for extra point was good after the first touchdown, but went wide on the second attempt.

Leon Berrong pased to Benton Baldwin for two more Scot TD's, and Charlie Allen, reserve tailback, broke loose late in the fourth quarter to score the final Maryville counter as the Scots chalked up an almost traditional 32-0 win over the Tigers.

During the first half, Hiwassee's Tigers running from a T formation, commanded the ball and allowed the Scotties only three first downs. Coming back on the field with more speed and snap, the Highlanders quickly took advantage of the breaks and put the brakes on Hiwassee's control of the ball. Fogarty's pass to Brahams broke the Tiger resistance, and the Scots began a whirlwind of touchdown plays.

Highlights of the game:

First Quarter

Allen Law's kick-off to the Tigers went into the end zone, and the Tigers first had the ball in play on their own 20. After two plays, Howard Davis recovered a fumble on the Tiger 28. Fogarty hit the line twice, Merriman ploughed through for 6 yards, and Law reversed for 7 yards before a fumble by Fogarty on the Hiwassee 17 put the ball back in the Tigers' hands.

Penalties Bogged Play

Beset by off-side and holding penalties, the Hiwassee squad made little headway toward a goal post as Shepard and Leon Berrong punted to keep the teams struggling near the center of the field. Three Tigers, Shepard, Bryant, and North once put the Tigers on the Scot 15 with first and ten. Here offside penalties and the Scottie line stopped the Tiger advance. Berrong punted the Scots out of danger from behind the Highlander goal stripe.

Third Quarter

Starting the final half, the Highlanders were held for downs after taking the Tiger kick-off. Leon Berrong's punt put the Tig-

Intra-Squad Meet Set For Harriers

Intra-squad team races are slated for Maryville's cross-country runners next Thursday as Coach Johnson prepares the squad for the opening meet with Sewanee Saturday, October 9.

With the meet just a week away, the squad is aiming for more improvement despite the aching of arches and splint shins. The cross-country team will travel with the football team for a two-ring sports event at Sewanee next Saturday.

Mabry, Earisman Are Leaders

The Harriers, 13 strong, staged time trials Thursday afternoon. The squad finished in the following manner: Mabry, Earisman, Kay, Menges, Thurston, and Kidder in the first six places, respectively. Mabry's time was 18:34 and Earisman finished 18:37.

For next Thursday's race, Coach Johnson plans to divide the squad evenly into an Orange and a Garnet team. Usually, in competition the runners have cut their time by as much as a minute over time without competing runners.

Squad Showing Improvement

Coach Johnson observed that although some have come along slow in getting into top condition, most of the squad has been showing steady improvement. However, two runners, Ric Rogers and Walt English who had previously placed among the first six, were on the down-grade.

Sewanee's course is two and seven-tenths miles long and the Scottie runners will have the disadvantage of starting the season on a foreign route. Maryville's course is now approximately three and two-tenth miles long.

The cross-country schedule, still unsettled as yet, as it stands now:

Date	Opponent	Place
Oct. 9	Sewanee	There
Oct. 20	Univ. of Tenn.	Here
Nov. 10	Univ. of Tenn.	There
Nov. 12	Sewanee	Here

Intramurals....

By Maynard Noble

This week brought to a close the first half of intramural football competition. The YMCA remained the only unbeaten team. Already the second half is well underway.

Soccer practice has started and the fellows have been out limbering up their legs and going over the fundamentals. There is a need for more players and anyone may join a team by signing up in the Intramural Office. Intramural credit is given for soccer as well as for football.

There is a dire need for candidates for the swimming team—especially for good breaststrokers. All those interested should see Coach Johnson. In the meantime swimmers out for the swimming team may practice any afternoon during the week.

As soon as the tennis tournament is over the golf tournament will get underway. There is a sign up sheet in the Intramural Office for all those interested and anyone is eligible.

Olympics Nose Out 8-Balls, 7-2

With the only scoring done in the first half, the second place Olympics eked out a 7-2 victory over the Eight Balls. McNeil and Tom Yeaworth went over for the Olympics' seven points while Roberts was credited with a safety, two points.

YMCA Wipes Out Varmits, 19-0

In the last game of the first half the YMCA team proved how consistent they were by beating the Varmits 19-0. This gives the first half championship to the Y and it looks as if they might win the second half also. The only scores of the game were

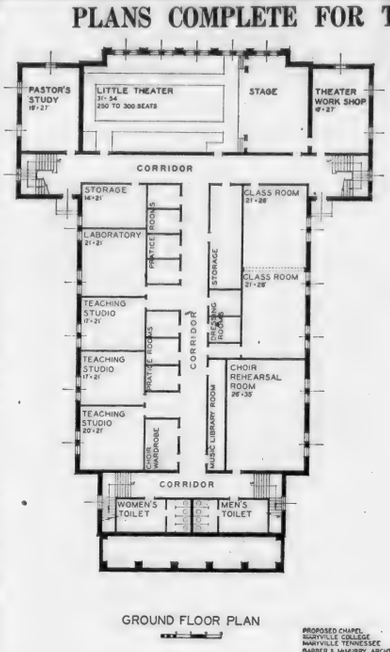
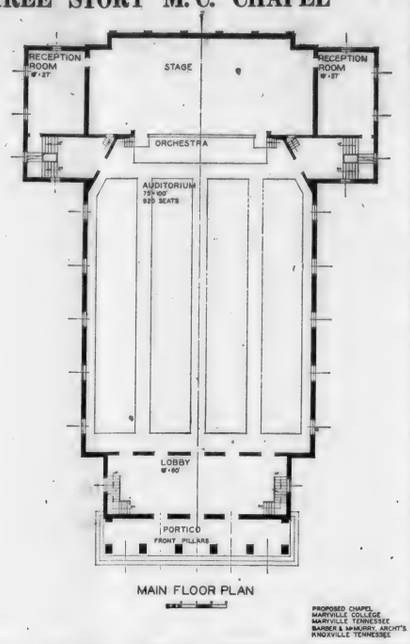
MISS ETHEL DAVIS, FORMER INSTRUCTOR BURIED THURSDAY



Miss Ethel Davis, former instructor in organ at Maryville, died on Monday, September 27, after an illness of several weeks. Miss Davis was a sister of Dr. E. W. Davis, professor of Greek and Latin, and had made her home in Maryville since 1932. She taught organ at the college from 1937 to 1947.

She received her education at Missouri Valley College, Kroeger School of Music in St. Louis, New England Conservatory of Music, and Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She also studied under Sue Goff Bush in Kansas City in 1928.



Miss Davis was, for some time, an instructor at Wilson College in Pennsylvania. Later she held private classes in Marshall, Missouri, and taught at Missouri Valley College before coming to Maryville.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 Thursday afternoon, September 30, at McCammon-Ammons Funeral Home.

er squad down on their own 10. They punted to Fogarty on the Hiwassee 40, and the Scot tailback brought the ball down to the Hiwassee 30 and passed to Brahams for a touchdown. Hamilton held as Fogarty kicked the extra point. MC 7; Hiwassee 0.

Again a kick-off by Law went into the end zone and the Tigers had the ball on their own 20. A fumble put the Scots in possession of the ball, and Law scampered around right end on a 20-yard touchdown run. Fogarty's kick was wide. MC 13; Hiwassee 0.

Taking another Law kick-off, which Coldiron caught on his own 20, the Tigers again gave the ball to the Scotties through a fumble. Merriman plunged through the tiger line for short gains before Berrong with a fourth and twelve count, passed to Baldwin from the Tiger 28 for a touchdown. Fogarty's kick was good. MC 20; Hiwassee 0.

Fourth Quarter

Gene Moses, Tiger quarterback, connected with a couple of passes to end Dan Herron early in the third quarter before a stunning tackle by Law forced the Tiger end to fumble a catch and end the Tiger aerial attack.

Leon Berrong, starting to pass, was forced to run and covered 15 yards before the Hiwassee linebackers stopped him. With the ball on the MC 47, Berrong connected with a long pass to Baldwin on the Hiwassee 20 as the light wingback raced for a score.

After two off-side penalties called back the extra-point trys, the third try by Callaway was no good. MC 26, Hiwassee 0.

Stopping the Tigers short after the kick-off, Carl Lewellyn blocked a Tiger punt on the Hiwassee 15, which was recovered by Andes on the Tiger three-yard line. A wide end run by Charlie Allen gave the Scots their final score. Callaway's kick was no good. Final score: MC 32; Hiwassee 0.

Varmits Over Skuddy Hoos, 19-7

Scoring early in the game and then again in the last quarter the Varmits went on to win 19-7 over the Skuddy Hoos. Chiles DeNagy, and Springfield scored for the Varmits while Sayeres and Stewart reached pay dirt for the Skuddy Hoos.

Olympics Down Ministerials, 14-0

After holding the Olympics scoreless for three quarters, the Ministerials were scored on twice in the last quarter to lose 14-0. Morton and Poland accounted for the touchdowns while T. Yeaworth and Blalock tallied the extra points.

8-Balls Trounce Skuddy Hos, 19-6

The Skuddy Hoos weren't stubborn enough to hold the Eight Balls, as they won 19-6 Monday afternoon. Henry, Forrester, and Roberts each scored a six-pointer and Poland went over for the extra point for the Eight Balls. Jones made the only score for the Skuddy Hoos.

YMCA Downs Ministerials 26-0

Once again the league leading YMCA scored another victory when they rolled ove rthé Ministerials 26-0. Brahams and Campbell racked up the touchdowns as Fowler made the extra points.

8-Balls Defeat Varmits 20-12

Despite the sensational pass interception by Frank Farmer on the last play of the game, the Varmits went down to defeat at the hands of the Eight Balls 20-12. Farmer, and Springfield scored for the Varmits while Spears, Forrester, Wilson, and Warner tallied for the Eight Balls.

Jenkins, Starr Head Cast Of 'Ten Little Indians'

Societies Present Murder Mystery For First Play

Ann Jenkins and Bill Starr, sophomores, have been selected to play the parts of Vera Claythorne and Phillip Lombard in the Athenian-Bainonian production of "Ten Little Indians."

The other members of the cast are as follows: Rogers, James Dance; Mrs. Rogers, Ruthellen Crews; Fred Narracott, Charles Williams; Anthony Marston, David Reed; William Blore, Joe Poland; General MacKenzie, Bill Nish; Emily Brent, Marjorie Prall; Sir Lawrence Wargrave, Ben Paxton; and Dr. Armstrong, James Black.

Miss Jenkins, a dramatic art major from Jamestown, Tennessee, is active in Experimental Theater, and took the part of Nerissa in last year's Athenian-Bainonian play, "The Merchant of Venice." Starr, an English major from Baltimore, Maryland, also active in Experimental Theater and YMCA radio shows, played the part of Bassonio in "The Merchant of Venice."

Of these nine people, three have held roles in previous plays history major from Beverly on campus. Poland, sophomore Shores, Indiana, had a part in "The Merchant of Venice," and has taken part in several Experimental Theater plays. He is president of the sophomore class. Paxton, junior dramatic art major from Pleasant Ridge, Michigan, had a role in "The Merchant of Venice," and has acted and directed in Experimental Theater. He is co-captain of the Y radio shows, and is treasurer of Theta Alpha Phi. Black, senior biology major from Baltimore, Maryland, has held parts in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Pygmalion," "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "Dear Ruth," and "The Merchant of Venice." He is president of the Student Body, and co-chairman of the Y broadcasts.

Four members of the cast who have played active parts in Experimental Theater, but have not held roles in major plays are as follows: Dance, sophomore English major from Knoxville, who was co-author and director of last year's May Day program, and director of Theta's formal rush-week program for this year; Miss Crews, senior dramatic art major from Morristown, Tennessee, secretary of the senior class; Nish, junior psychology major from Temple City, California, president of YMCA; Miss Prall, senior English major from Franklin, Pennsylvania.

Williams and Reed have had no previous experience in either plays or Experimental Theater. Williams, sophomore mathematic major from Maryville, had a role in the May Day program. He is vice-president of the sophomore class, and treasurer of Athenian. Reed is a freshman dramatic art major from Delhi, New York.

"Ten Little Indians," by Agatha Christie, was adapted from a novel to play form, and then was produced as a movie under the title, "And Then There Were None." The story concerns ten persons, three employees and seven guests, who have been invited to an island off the coast of Devon, England, by a host and employer whom no one knows. None of the guests or the employees know each other. When they arrive at the island they are informed that their host and hostess have been detained and will not arrive until the following day.

While remaining on the island, they are told by a mysterious voice that they are all murderers and shall receive justice on the island. From this point, as the little China Indians disappear

Frosh Nominate Officers, Council Representatives

Bob Edgar and Vernon Peeples have been chosen as candidates for the office of freshman class president. Elections for frosh officers and Council representatives will be conducted next Thursday, October 14. Those nominated for the other offices are vice-president, Bob Edgar and Peggy Kettles; secretary, Lucy Carrick and Beryl Stewart; treasurer, Betty Roach and Ralph Theessee.

Student Council representatives will be selected from nominees Charles Schwenke, Charles Allen, Suzy Martin, and Carolyn Miller. One boy and one girl will be selected from this group.

JUNIORS NOMINATE HOLSEY, BUCKLEY FOR COUNCIL

Ray Holsey and Jack Buckley were nominated for Student Council representative by the junior class at a meeting last Thursday morning. The elections will be held Thursday, October 14. The junior class found it necessary to elect another Council representative to fill the place of Tubby Callaway who was elected in the campus elections last spring. Callaway also holds a seat in Council as president of MSO.

At the meeting Bill Chalker, president of the junior class, also urged promptness in paying class dues and co-operation with the social chairman, Wanda Onifer, in planning the Hallowe'en party.

STUDENT VOLS NET $600 FOR MISSIONS

Over $600 has been collected by the Student Volunteers for the India Mission Fund. The money was collected by personal contact and at tables set up for this purpose during Friday, October 2 and Saturday, October. 3. This Fund will be used to build a new addition to the hospital mentioned in Mrs. Saulsbury's Chapel speech, Thrusday, October 1.

In a few weeks the Student Volunteers will begin another phase of this drive. They plan to purchase flannel for baby blankets to be hemmed by the girls who wish to offer their services to the organization. This will terminate the annual project of the Student Volunteer Movement.

STUDENTS PRESENT RECITAL TUESDAY

On October 12, the Student Recital will present a program of classical music. The program will begin at 4 p. m. in the Y rooms and will include the following selections:

"Sinfonia in D Major" by Bach, Louise Lloyd; "Chacun le soit" by Donizetti, Peggy Wakefield, accompanied by Mary Fowler; "Sonata in D Major" by Mozart, Louise Lloyd; "Le soir" by Gounod, Gloria Measamer, accompanied by John Sayre; "Sweet Polly Oliver" by Britten, Jane Martenis, accompanied by Thelma Nelson; "Fantasie impromptu" by Chopin, Dan Winter; and "Snow Flakes" by Prokofieff, Ruth Ramsey, accompanied by Dorothy Vawter.

DR. LLOYD SPEAKS AT U T GAME OCT. 16

Dr. Lloyd will speak between halves at the UT-Alabama game Saturday, October 16. His talk will be on some phase of Maryville College.

At the first game of the season, Dr. C. E. Brehm, president of UT, gave a short talk. It is presumed that the sponsor of the broadcasts, Aluminum Company of America, will present some well-known person for each home game.

The game can be heard over station WGAP, beginning at 2 p. m. on Saturday afternoon.

ALL-CAMPUS MOVIE PRESENTED IN GYM AT 8 THIS EVENING

"Jane Eyre," a full-length movie, will be presented in the Intramural Gym this evening at 8 p.m. for all students. In addition two comedies will be shown.

The program is sponsored by the Athenian and Bainonian societies.

Fine Arts Division Organizes Groups For Chamber Music

Chamber music groups, made up of stringed instruments and horns, are being organized by the Fine Arts Division.

The faculty trio, consisting of Miss Alice Archibald, Mr. C. W. Hughes, and Miss Dorothy Horne, played for the chamber of commerce dinner and the initial dinner for the new chapel drive.

A string quartet is made up of Miss Horne, first violin; Miss Ruth Ramsey, second violin; Miss Constance Jeffery, viola; and Mr. Hughes, cello. They are working on Haydn Quartet, op. 17, no. 5, and on a quintet by David Van Vactor, who is conductor of the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra and head of the Fine Arts Department at UT. This number is written for strings and flutes, with Miss Barbara Rosensteel as flutist.

A quintet composed of Miss Horne, violin; Miss Jeffery, viola; Mr. Hughes, cello; Dan Winter, piano; and Charles Huffman, bass is working on the Trout Quintet by Schubert.

Student-Help Rate Reflects Increase In Cost-of-Living

Various changes have been made in student-help rates for this year. These rates have always been kept in line with student fees. As expenses have increased, rates have increased on a percentage basis and this year the same plan was used.

The percentage of increase in the main items, namely, tuition, board, and room rent, were taken as a basis for determining the percentage of increase in student help rates. Since all items of student fees were not increased, the over-all percentage was less than that taken for the basis of raising the student-help rates. For this reason, the actual percentage of increase in student-help rates is somewhat greater than the percentage increase in expenses.

Dining Hall

By way of illustration the dining hall may be taken as an example. The actual increase is 1c per meal, 3c per day per person. Yet a student who is paying an increase of $5 per semester for his meals (plus other increases in fees) is earning $6.15 more than last year for the same work.

Pay Increase Greater

Although the percentage of increase in college expenses and the increase in student-help rates is very close, the greater increase is the rate paid the student workers. It is interesting to note that the increase of 1c per meal makes a total increase of $30 per day or more than $700.

The number applying for work is still slightly greater than the number of available jobs. Although it has been possible to place most of the people who applied before or at the beginning of the fall semester, there are still waiting lists for office, janitorial, and dining hall work.

Comprehensives Only Exams Scheduled For Graduating Seniors

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter has announced that Graduate Record Examinations cannot be taken this year in place of the scheduled Comprehensive Examinations. For those students who plan to do graduate work at seminaries or universities where the Graduate Record Examination is required for admission, the tests will be given next February 7.

Comprehensives will be given to the eleven seniors graduating at the end of the semester on November 23-24. The date which the remainder of the 1949 graduating class will take the tests has not yet been decided.

J. C. Gamble Talks For Chapel Drive On Radio Program

Joe C. Gamble, co-chairman of the Special Gifts Division of the Maryville College Chapel Fund, appeared as guest speaker on behalf of the fund on the Louise Torbett program sponsored by the Dempster Brothers, Knoxville on Sunday afternoon.

In his radio address, Mr. Gamble pointed out to the people the necessity of giving to the $150,000 fund. The fact that Maryville College owns property and is able to loan money does not mean that it is a wealthy college. He pointed out that the college real estate and loans represent investment of endowment funds which could not possibly be used for building capital. Endowment income is used to supplement College fees paid by students and helps to keep the cost to them low.

Mr. Gamble also stated the need of the college for a spiritual center such as the old chapel meant to the campus life.

White Star Alters Policy On Concert Trips To Knoxville

Transportation arrangements for going to U T Concert Series, although similar to previous years, have been subject to a few changes due to bus company regulations.

Sign-up sheets will be available as usual in the dormitories. Students must sign up at least one day in advance. If 25 people sign, a bus will come to the campus and leave for the concert at 7:15 p. m.; It will leave the University to return to the campus at 11 o'clock.

New Regulations

All students expecting to return on the 11 o'clock bus will have to go over on the bus at 7:15. This regulation of the bus company makes it impossibel for the College to give students permission to go to Knoxville on an earlier bus for shopping, dinner, or picking up tickets.

Should less than 25 people sign for a concert it will be necessary for the students wishing to go to make arrangements with Mrs. Butcher to go on a regularly scheduled bus from the bus station. It is the desire of the College to help students as much as possible to take advantage of the concerts in Knoxville; nevertheless, the above regulations are the only ones under which the bus company will send buses to the campus.

Students, Faculty Councils Adopt Regulations Governing Social Dancing On Campus

Rules Specify Location, Type of Music, Time

Ratification by the Student Council on October 6 and by the Executive Council of the Faculty on October 7 of the regulations for dancing recommended to those groups by the Student-Faculty Senate, indicates the possibility of entering upon the new arrangements soon. It has been announced that a further statement will be made at a meeting of the Student Body following Chapel at an early date.

Announced in August

In the Summer Bulletin sent to all new and old students early in August it was announced that the Executive Council of the Faculty, with the approval of the Directors of the College, had decided to permit dancing under certain conditions. These conditions were stated thus: "That regulations satisfactory to the Executive Council of the Faculty shall be established governing times, expense, tone, number of functions, and supervision; and that the student body through its official organization shall assume with the Faculty joint-responsibility for administration of the regulations and programs."

At the first meeting of the Student-Faculty Senate this fall the subject of dancing was discussed and a committee of students and faculty members was appointed to work out suitable regulations which might be recommended by the Senate to the Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty. The Committee spent considerable time and effort learning and discussing the various points of view current among the student body and faculty. Certain important principles were agreed upon as bases for the necessary regulations. An earnest attempt was made to arrive at regulations representing a reasonable adjustment of the many factors involved.

Committee Report

The report of the committee was presented to the Senate, where after further consideration and some modification it was approved for recommendation to the Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty. The report includes the following principles which it is believed should govern the arrangements for dancing at Maryville College:

1. Since it is reasonable to expect that a considerable number of the student body will not participate in dancing, it should be considered and maintained as only one of several popular forms of social recreation on the campus. Students who do not dance should not be set apart or deprived of the opportunity for other popular types of recreation.

2. In the past the social program at Maryville College has produced many original, clever, and varied types of recreational activities, which have become a unique and valuable part of Maryville campus life. Care must be taken that dancing, which is so easily arranged, does not gradually displace these other desirable forms of recreation.

3. Expenses must be kept low, to accord with the Maryville program and objectives. This means that music should usually be from records, otherwise by a volunteer student orchestra; that the number of dances and the various items of expense be limited.

4. To insure tone and atmosphere benefitting this College, there must be proper supervision, both student and faculty. The proprieties of dancing as observed in the best of situations should obtain here. Participation by non-students should be carefuuly controlled.

Guided by these principles stated above, the Student Council has concurred in and the Exe-

Students Elect Homecoming Queen Thursday

Grace Hildebrand, home economics major from Chicago, Illinois, and Vera Lusk, English major from Scotch Plains, New Jersey, were nominated for homecoming queen by the senior class. last Thursday morning. The Homecoming Queen will be elected at the all-campus elections Thursday, October 14, and will be crowned at the Homecoming game with Emory & Henry, Saturday, October 23.

The ring committee composed of Bernie Welch, chairman, Dick Sprague and Marge Prall, reported to the senior class at their meeting October 7. Other business before the class concerns the collection of class dues which will be conducted by Janice Lindsay, treasurer.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN SPEAKS AT YM-YW

Dr. L. C. Olin, local physician, will be the speaker at the joint Y meeting in the library Sunday at 1:30 p. m. His subject will be "Marriage and the Christian Home."

This will be the concluding meeeting of the YM-YW fall series on Friendship, Courtship, and Marriage. Previous speakers at the meetings were Miss Arda Walker and Mrs. A. F. Pieper.

A question box was again placed in Pearsons lobby, giving students an opportunity to ask questions.

Special Purchasing Plan Adds Books To English Section

During the past year a special purchasing program has been carried out in the library by the English department. At the request of the department, the library last year surveyed the English collection and compiled a bibliography of 1700 titles, consisting principally of those appearing in two general bibliographies, Shaw's "List of Books for the College Library" and the "Standard Catalog for Public Libraries," supplemented by titles in specialized bibliographies.

To make possible a larger amount of such purchasing, the library committee this year allotted an extra $400 to the English department, with the intention of establishing a rotating fund for use by other departments in turn. Next year an extra sum will be allotted to the history department, for which a bibliography has been prepared.

Most of the purchasing for the English department was done less expensively from catalogs of secondhand book stores. A total of 90 titles on the bibliography were purchased.

The library budget totals $5750 for 1948-49, with $4000 allotted for books, $1000 for magazines, and $750 for binding. When figured out, this budget amounts to about $6.25 per student.

YM Hikers Make Camp In Mountains Next Week

Men of the YMCA will leave next Saturday afternoon on the annual Y hike to the Great Smoky Mountains. They will make camp at the Chimney Camp grounds Saturday night and on Sunday morning hike up Mt. LeConte, hold Sunday School on top, and lunch at the campground before returning to the campus.

Sign-up sheets are now posted for men interested in making the trip.

Dancing Etiquette Based On Consideration Of Others

By Barbara Wallin

It has been said that manners are like a toothache. You don't think about them until you are up against it. Anyone can consult a book about manners just as one does consult a dentist, but few will until the last resort.

Now that dancing is on the way and since our student body is from many sections of the country, Mrs. Carmen Marquis, Student Center Director, has selected a few rules of dancing etiquette that are acceptable in good society everywhere.

1. On arrival, after leaving wraps, go immediately to greet your hostess or chaperone; before leaving be sure to seek her out and say goodnight. Treat her as you'd like to be treated if you were in her position; you may be some day. Also see that she has refreshments and if she is alone see that she is called for and taken home

2. A man must not neglect his hostess. He asks her to dance or if she is too old to dance he sits out one dance with her. She most likely will send him off to dance with someone who isn't dancing.

3. It is decidedly bad manners to go to a dance not dressed as indicated.

4. Learn to dance well and look happy while you are doing it. It saves one from being a wall flower or a bore.

5. Conversation during dances is entirely a matter of choice and not of etiquette. You are there to dance so don't worry about carrying on a clever conversation.

6. Having started a dance a man must complete it, no matter how impossible. However, the girl can make excuses such as "I'm thirsty," or "I'm tired," and thus managed to sit it out with him.

7. After a dance a man may applaud the orchestra, but a girl does not applaud.

8. When collisions occur with another couple or your own partner, the girls smiles, but the man always does the apologizing. Even if she falls over his feet, he courteously takes the blame.

9. The first and last dance, also the supper dance, the man always has with the girl he escorted to the dance and she saves those dances for him.

10. On taking leave a man thanks a girl for the dance. She does not thank him, for it is he who has received the favor; hence she says "You are welcome," "It was fun," "I enjoyed dancing with you," or some such courteous reply.

11. A girl should be most gracious in declining a dance. Even though she may not like the man, he has paid her a compliment to ask her to dance.

12. A girl always precedes her partner on and off the dance floor.

13. A girl never wanders across or around the dance floor unaccompanied.

14. A couple who desires to leave the dance floor dances to the edge of the circle of dancers, never being so rude as to walk across the dance floor.

15. A girl is held responsible for her escort's conduct and any unseemly behavior on his part reflects on her; so try to restrain him. Anything that attracts attention is bad taste.

16. Do not practice steps or eccentric figures on the dance floor. Exhibition stuff is hard on your reputation.

17. It is not good taste to monopolize the center of the floor or even a corner of it. Don't make yourself or your partner conspicuous.

18. Don't dance cheek to cheek

'Messiah' Requires the Best

Sunday afternoon practice begins for the 1948 "Messiah" presentation. Before December 12, participants will be complaining about the time taken from Sunday afternoons for rehearsals. Any yet, the opportunity is one which is not often open to the average person. The value of the experience is one which few will forget. Maryville College offers to its students and faculty and to the townspeople the chance to take part in the best known religious oratoro. With the cooperation of all those who have become affiliated with the group, this year's presentation can be one of the best at Maryville.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Two articles to the proposed Student Body Constitution were ratified by the Student Council at its regular weekly meeting last Wednesday night.

The articles, sections VI and VII of the new constitution, which were previously passed by the Student-Faculty Senate, set forth the duties and powers of the Social Committee and the Inter-Club Council, respectively. Formerly, the Inter-Club Council was named the Governing Board for Student Organizations. These articles, which have now passed the Executive Council of the Faculty, are to be presented to the student body for official adoption.

Council discussed the possibility of sponsoring transportation for Maryville students to an away football game—possibly to the Carson-Newman-Maryville game at Jefferson City on November 13. No decision was reached on the question, and President Black stated that a committee would report to the Council next week after investigation of the transportation arrangements.

Negotiations for a better spirit of sportsmanship between C-N and Maryville by both President Fite of Carson-Newman and Maryville College authorities were revealed by the Council president. In view of the "raids" allegedly made by students of both schools in past football seasons, this step toward improvement of athletic relations was welcomed by the present Council.

A report from the special student-faculty committee on regulations for dancing was reviewed by the council. Members voted to adopt the report of the committee, which was passed on to the Executive Council of the Faculty for final approval. "With due historical significance," as one Council member stated, regulations concerning the conduct of dances on the Maryville College campus were duly adopted by the council.

Council briefly considered the question of the continuation of the WSSF drive specifically, and an informal vote was taken to see how members felt in carrying through council's decision to eliminate the WSSF drive in favor of one all-campus drive, the Fred Hope Fund, in the academic year. Since the Indian Mission drive, spontaneously sponsored by the Student Volunteer Organization, has already been held, Council was divided in its decision of whether to reconsider the question or carry through its resolution of last week.

Opinion of one member of the council was that although there are many causes of equal worth which Maryville students would be willing and could contribute to, there is the possibility of not successfully carrying through but one drive on the hill in a given year. Another member proposed the idea that possibly WSSF could go through in the spring semester, should Council reconsider, if the campaign were limited, as was the Student Volunteer drive, to one chapel session. It was proposed that two drives might result in larger donations by the Student Body than one single drive of a long campaign period.

President Black said that arrangements for the holding of the freshmen, junior, and Homecoming Queen elections would be made in time for the general elections next Thursday. —H.M.M.

The March of Science

Two freshmen we know claim to have a secret weapon. They insist it's a sure cure for fleas, lice, or other undesirable aliens in the hirsute adornments of various animals. Recipe: Sprinkle equal amounts of alcohol and sand liberally over the infested area. Within a few minutes, experimenters report, the varmints (no offense intended to local sportsmen) are drunk and start throwing rocks at each other.

Our Baldwin touring zoologist cables: Roommates Jackie Lenderman and Janice Landstrom have entered the hunting and trapping industry. (Previously, it will be remembered, Mr. R. W. Erwin had a virtual monopoly in this field.) Each night the two have caught a mouse each by what we would call underhanded methods Mousetraps. Sally Kemp, former vice-president in charge of Zulus with Frank Buck is called in to handle the little animals. For safe-keeping, one of the mice has been cached under Evelyn Kennedy's pillow. How many more days it will remain there our correspondent would not venture to say.

What! No Baby-Kissing?

Whether anyone went to hear politics at the Court House Square "Carroll Reece for Page Turner With the Smoky Mountain Boys" Rally Thursday we don't know. We strongly suspect all participants from the College could be classified into a few general categories: (1) English majors who are vitally interested in old folk ballads, are thinking of writing their master's theses on it, and who can't stand sitting in a dry old building with nothing to do when there are some all-wet politicians to hear; (2) Up-Nawth Republicans who refuse to believe until shown that Grandpa's party could have come to this; and (3) Russophobes who, suspecting "The Great Speckled Bird" is tinged with Red, want to throw assorted fruits and vegetables at Mr. Acuff's chaperon Reece.

Farther up Court Street, at Carnegie, campus politicians have set up campaign headquarters. The well-backed by Wall Street Dewey advocates boast two divisions of their MC GHQ.

For some mysterious (& probably subversive) reason Wally Moore and Joiseyite Glenn Gage sport new titles of "Cuhnul" as chief wheels on the Dixiecrat bandwagon. Wallace Party Chairman Bob "Red" Brown reports Progressive action on the part of his group. The Vegetarian Party, with alternate headquarters on Pearsons' first floor, refuses to announce its hierarchy, let alone reveal the meat of its platform.

Suggestion: See if you can get anywhere by Browning any of the staid GOP professors around here. Gordon is his first name.

Workshop Promotes Would-Be Wordsworths' Creative Writing

BY BEVERLY MOORE

In the fall of 1927 when Maryville College was just 111 years old, Writers' Workshop was born. This organization, composed of faculty members as well as students, was started so that students who show an ability for creative writing might have a chance to meet together to discuss their work. Dr. E. R. Hunter is the only charter member of Workshop now on the faculty. Except for a few years during the war, Writers' Workshop has been an active organization on the campus.

Limited Membership

Students are elected on the basis of the work they have done up until their junior or senior year. Membership is limited to 25. Once a person becomes a member, he must read one original manuscript each semester. Each week two members read their work and two other members offer constructive criticisms.

The meeting place of these would-be Wordsworths is in Dr. Hunter's classroom at 4:30 on Wednesday afternoons.

Annual Publication

Chips is the annual publication of the Workshop. By purchasing this the student body gets to read the 10 best contributions of the year, as selected by the Workshop members.

The group is controlled by a governing board composed of four members. This semester's officers are Dave Campbell, Marian Pope, Roger Cowan, and Mr. Arthur Bushing.

Girls' Choir Plans Banquet, Initiation

Members of the All Girls' Choir will have a banquet at Chilhowee Inn October 15. This banquet will take the place of their annual trip to the mountains and new members will be initiated at this time. Ginny Schwarz is plannnig the program for the evening.

Staff Collects Yearbook Proofs Next Tuesday

Portrait proofs for the Chilhowean will be collected only on Tuesday, October 12. All students should return their proofs to the staff on that day.

Dorothy Holverson, editor of the 1949 Chilhowean, recently made a visit to the publishers in Nashville, with the first dummy for this year's book.

Sales of the yearbook are going well, manager Joe Claud reports. An advertising campaign is now in progress. Claud reminds all prospective buyers that the cost of the book goes down as sales increase, and urges that students make their reservations at once.

MARYVILLE GOES TO E.T.S. NEXT SATURDAY

Sports Echoes

●SEWANEE-ETS—EMORY-HENRY are next up, in that order, to challenge our dauntless Scots of whom Coach Honaker said at the first of the season, "We'll show you (the student body) a football team before the season's over." Nobody could ask for a better game than last Saturday's thriller with MTS C's Raiders, and if the Scotties continue with the brand of ball in the coming football tussles Maryville will come through with the best.

●TEE, TEE WHO'S GOT THE TEE? If Fogarty's placements had gone true last Saturday, the story might have been different. It was revealed at skull practice Monday that a tee, a standard to hold the ball off the ground, was missing when Fogarty attempted the extra point kicks. Excitement over the game might cause bad memory, but the thinking team is the winning team—possibly that was the difference in the outcome.

●OTHER POST-MORTEM NOTES: Had Maryville's passing attack come through, possibly the Raiders would not have known how to stop both a ground and aerial advance. Penalties played a major part in deciding the opportunities for both teams to score. Without a penalty when the Raiders were held in the fourth quarter after a short spurt up the field, the ball would have gone over to Maryville with three minutes to go. As Runion raced by three dazed (either by momentary disillusionment or rage—we won't know) MC tacklers, there was little powder left in the Highlander keg. Passes—but for time—might have worked.

●ABOUT THE MOST ANXIOUS fans we saw last Saturday were former Scot players who were back pining to see Maryville bounce the Raiders. This delegation would have made a contribution in football togs: Charlie Pepper, Frank Still, Tucker Pinner, Lloyd Anderson, King Berrong, and possibly other former Tangerine Bowlers who attended the game. Then there's Assistant Coach Easter giving the team pointers from last year's experience.

●BARNEY JOHNSON'S BUNION BURNERS, as one frosh styled the Scottie Cross-Country crew, make their debut today on the Sewanee course. The team has been persistent in working for the initial meet. Despite the fact that two broken-down wrestlers, Earisman and Mabry, are pushing any potential track runners out of the picture by leading the squad, the team is working hard. Unless bus sickness, lost of direction on Sewanee's course, or other unforseeable difficulties set in, Coach Johnson's squad should be in condition to give the Purple and White team a go for their money.

●WHY WE EVER got into the trickery techniques of picking winners is more than we can fathom out. Our technique: Guess, that's it! This week give us: Middle Tennessee over Union by a length; Carson-Newman over Centre of Kentucky by two lengths; Carson-Newman has a battle in Emory-Henry—The Eagles; Tennessee Tech over Georgetown; Hiwassee over Mars Hill; and East Tennessee State over Western North Carolina.

Scots Show Power, But Lose To Lucky Blue Raiders, 13-12

By Herbert McCallum

For the want of an extra point, a hard-charging Highlander eleven which outclassed the MTSC Raiders all the way, dropped their first home game in three years by a 13-12 score last Saturday night.

Maryville quickly scored in the first period on Fogarty's end run after Callaway covered a Raider fumble on the MTSC 22. Taking a second kick-off to their own 40, and adding a 25-yard pass from Blackman to Varallo, the Raiders matched the Maryville touchdown as Blackman went over from the MC 6. Prince kicked what was to be the winning point and the score remained 7-6 until the middle of the fourth quarter.

Scots Score In Fourth

Starting a drive from their own 17, the Scotties went to the MT SC 41 in the fourth quarter when Baldwin, jumping for a pass in the end zone, was fouled by a Raider defender. Officials gave the Scots the ball on the Raider one yard line where Fogarty ran wide around right end to score. Again Fogarty's attempt to kick an extra point went fowl. Briefly, it was Scots, 12; Raiders, 7.

Middle Tennessee took the Scot kick-off by Law from behind their own goal line, and extended it for a full field drive on passes and end runs by Arnold, Runion, and Varallo. A Scottie defense held the Raiders for a 4-and-9 count on the MC 36, but a roughness penalty put the Raiders on the Scot 20 with first and ten.

Pass To Runion Scores For MTSC

After being set back themselves by a roughness penalty, the final Raider score came as Runion took a pass from Arnold on the MC 35, made a wide swing around left end, and dodged three Maryville tacklers to score. This time the Raider extra point attempt failed. The Raiders were then out front to stay, 13-12.

Behind a block-busting interference formed by a greatly improved line, Scottie backs kept the Raider eleven on the defense for much of the second and third quarters. Maryville's passing, except for the penalty play with Baldwin in the end zone, didn't get started until Hap Brahams caught a 30-yard pass from Fogarty on the MTSC 31 just before the game ended. Two interceptions by the Raiders grounded the Scot aerial advance—first in the initial quarter and again in the second period.

Berrong Stopped on State One

Merriman, making a 35-yard kick-off return after the first Raider touchdown, put the Scots in motion toward Raider territory. With off-tackle and reverse thrusts by Neff and Fogarty, the Highlanders advanced to within the Raider 10. Neff recovered a Scot fumble, Fogarty attempted a jump-pass, and Maryville lost the ball on downs as Berrong was halted on the Raider one

Intramurals....

By Maynard Noble

With but one more week to play, the tension in the intramural football league is pretty high. The YMCA team is as yet undefeated and the OLYMPICS are running them a close second. The winner of the league will play an All-star team composed of men chosen by their teammates. This game will be played next Friday night under the lights on Wilson Field at 7:30.

As soon as the football league comes to a close the soccer league will begin. There is a need for more players and more teams could be used. There are sign up sheets in the lobby of Carnegie and in the Intramural office in Bartlett.

Candidates for the swimming team are still needed, especially those swimming breast stroke. Prospective? See Coach Johnson about training and practice schedules.

There is still a need for three sophomore managers; any one wishing to apply should see Fred Richardette. Intramural credit will be given for this service.

YMCA Swamps SKUDDY HOOS 27-0

Under the scoring leadership of Hugh Hamil, who made 13 points the YMCA went on to score 14 more to defeat the Skuddy Hoos 27-0. Boring, Fowler, and Kren accounted for the rest of the points.

8-BALLS Over SKUDDY HOOS 32-6

Scoring 7 points in the first quarter and 25 in the last gave the Eight Balls a good margin by which to beat the Skuddy Hoos 32-0. Bo Henry scored 18 points in the last quarter while Roberts, Spears, Taylor, and Forrester made the rest of the points.

It has been requested by Coach Johnson that the rules regarding talking back to the referee should be noticed. This rule states that no one other than the captains may indulge in arguing with the ref. Anyone so doing will cause the team a penalty of 15 yards. A continuance of bickering might cause the team the forfiture of the game.

OLYMPICS Beat MINISTERIALS 19-13

Coming up from the short end of a 13-6 score at the end of the third quarter, the Olympics scored 13 points in the last few minutes of the game to win 19-13. Blalock, Ward, and T. Yeaworth racked the line for the Ministerials.

Those games which were scheduled for last Monday were played yesterday afternoon and the results came in too late to make the Echo deadline.

SCOTTY HARRIERS ENGAGE SEWANEE

Maryville's Scotty thin-clads left at 6:00 Saturday morning for Sewanee, Tennessee, where they will meet the Purple and White cross-country team between the halves of the Scot-Tiger gridiron battle.

The Scotty cross-country men have been working out hard during the past week over their rugged 3.2 mile course. Best time for the loop was made by Charles Mabry with an 18:34; Del Earisman is second with a 19:11.

The seven cross-country men who are participating in the meet at Hardee Field are Del Earisman, Charles Mabry, Bill Menges, Bob Kay, Paul Kidder, Jimmy Thurston, and Ric Rogers.

Bob Kay is the only man of the 1946 cross-country team running this year. Ric Rogers, the only representative of the freshman class on the cross-country team this year, lettered in track in high school. Kidder, Mabry, Earisman, and Menges are sophomores.

BULLETIN

The Maryville College "Pups" (B Team) lost to Knoxville's Central High Bobcats 6-0 yesterday afternoon. Windell Smith's pass to Locker, a Bobcat end, provided Central's score in the second period after the Pups twice made a goal line stand.

Starting for the Pups: Ends—J. Henry, H. Henry; Tackles—B. Proffitt, Campbell; Guards—Palmer, Willocks; Center—Archer; Backs—Stanfill, Sneed, Hawkins, Allen.

BUCCANEERS WILL ENTERTAIN SCOTS AT HOMECOMING GAME

By Duncan Bennett

Maryville's traveling Highlanders, fresh out of a scrap at Sewanee today, will attend East Tennessee State's homecoming party at Johnson City next Saturday. The Scot-Buccaneer battle will be the first home engagement for Coach Preacher Roberts' proteges.

Scots Tangle With Tigers At Sewanee

The Scotties are off this weekend to Sewanee, Tennessee to play the Purple and White eleven of the University of the South. Our Scots left from Bartlett Hall at 1:00 Friday afternoon with a royal send-off by the students.

Sewanee's record during 1947 was their best since 1909, with only one loss—to the Scotties, and one tie. The score last year here on Wilson Field was a 34-0 win for the Scots, Sewanee's worst defeat in 35 years. In 1946, the Highlander's year of straight wins, we took the Tigers 7-0 on their home field.

The Maryville - Sewanee game will be aired via transcription over Station WGAP at 8 p.m. tonight, it was learned by an Echo reporter. Morton-Myers, local automobile dealers, sponsor the broadcasts.

The Tiger team, under Coach Bill White, has most of their lettermen back this year; and with the exception of Price McDavid, star tailback of the Tigers, all have felt defeat at the hands of the Scotties at least once.

Ends who are back playing for the Tigers this year include Neal Speake and Bill Stoney. Other linemen who will be itching to get a crack at the Scots are Pete Hannah, Bob Snell, Ralph Reed, Homer Smiles, Ben McGhee, Roy Bascom, and Frank Watkins. Backfield threats this Saturday include Price McDavid, star of last week's 2-0 upset over Southwestern at Memphis, as well as Duff Green, Jim Gentry, Charles McDavid, John Guerry, and Reed Ball.

Last year the Buccaneers played here on Wilson Field, and went home a little worse for wear after the Scotties had trampled their T formation contingent by a 31-6 score. In '46 the Bucs were the first squad to score on a bowl-bound Scot eleven that took a 25-2 decision over a scrappy ETS squad. East Tennessee State was one of the two teams who scored against the Scots in home territory last year.

Buc Pass Attack Strong

The Buc's tussle with the Scots last year was marked by a strong passing attack by two of their best backs—Vest and Musselman. Both of these men are back at State this year as are Pansock and Holsclaw, two veteran Buc ends; a guard, Weekley, will be another force to be reckoned with come the sixteenth.

The Buccaneers play Western North Carolina today, a new addition to their schedule. Last week end they dropped their game with Erskine at Anderson, S. C., by a score of 13-6. The Buccaneers drew first blood in their game with Tennessee Wesleyan when they came through in the last quarter with a badly needed touchdown and conversion to walk off the victors by a score of 20-18.

ETS Has Bigger Stadium

The Scotties game with Tennessee State, their annual homecoming game, will be the first time this season that the Bucs will have an opportunity to prove their mettle on home ground. They have a much bigger and better stadium this year, with new lighting facilities being installed for night games. Whether or not the MC game will be played at night depends upon whether or not their fine new lighting system will be completed and in operation by next week-end.

HOWIES WIN FIRST TWO SOCCER GAMES

Captain Ruth Heaps' Howie team defeated the Chillie team, captained by Margaret Rock, by one point in the second Point System soccer game Thursday afternoon. The final score: 5-4.

On the first meeting of the two squads last Tuesday, the Howies won 7-2. Both practice games were won by the Howies.

Soccer will continue as the Point System sport until after the tournament game October 12 when the girls will begin playing volleyball.

Tumblers Working On New Routines

The Gym Club, which was presented during half-time of the Middle Tennessee State football game last week, is now learning and practicing new tumbling exercises to perform at a later home grid game.

Coach K. P. Johnson, club advisor, stated that thus far the best showing by upper classmen has been turned in by Joe Poland, and Jack Reid, while the best looking frosh to date have been Ken Smith, George Day, Bob Kees and Ric Rogers. A group of 12 are now working on knee-shoulder springs, balancing, hand-springs, cartwheels, handstands, pyramid building, sumersaults, and diving.

Coach Johnson announced that any boys interested in tumbling or other gym exercises are welcome to join the Gym Club, which meest every Tuesday and Thursday during the winter at 3:30 in Bartlett Hall.

Y's Stage Fantasy, 'What's Tomorrow'

"And What Tomorrow" is first in the new series of original radio dramas presented by YWCA and YMCA. The broadcast, including Bill Starr, Dot Holverson, Ben Paxton, and Jim Black in the cast, is set for 2:45 p.m. Sunday on WGAP.

Other students on the Y's radio committee are Joe Poland, Bill MacIlvaine, Walt English, and Katie Carpenter.

This week's story is a fantasy dealing with man's ability to see into the future. Last year some of the programs were recorded and sent to a national network.

Anyone writing scripts for the contest in November may turn them in to Jim Black or Ben Paxton.

Pre-Ministerials

The Rev. William C. Bennett, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church of Knoxville, will speak on "The Place of Prayer and the Word in the Life of a Minister" at the next meeting of the Pre-Ministerial Association at 6:45 p. m. on Thursday, October 14 in Bartlett Hall.

Mr. Bennett is a graduate of Dallas Theological Seminary. He spoke to the Pre-Ministerials last semester. Committee organization will be discussed at the business meeting after the program.

Visit us and see what good work we can do. Portraits, in black and white or tinted, are an excellent gift for a loved one.

French Club Picnics, Initiates New Members

French Club met Friday evening, October 1, at the home of Miss Catherine Wilkinson for a picnic supper and the initiation of new members. Bill Deihl and Fred Seiber played several piano selections.

At the last regular meeting, Thursday, September 23, Dr. Lloyd told the club about his recent trip to France and his impressions of the country. The new members, who were elected at that meeting are: Carol Corbett, Kennedy Garrison, Natalie Hart, Margaret Hennemuth, Earl Henry, Ann Higdon, Ann Jenkins, Lois Johanson, Mary Mills, William O'Neill, Fred Seiber, Lee Orr, Anna Stevens, Charles Williams, and Anita Withers.

Dr. Ralph Case Leads Vesper Service Sunday

Dr. Ralph T. Case, professor of Bible and religious education, will speak at Vespers Sunday evening, October 10, on "Truth for Today."

"God Goes Up On High" by Gallus-Burkhart, and "God's Son Has Made Me Free" by Greig-Overby, will be the selections offered by the choir.

THETA-ALPHA SIGMA

Theta will join Alpha Sig this evening for a moonlight hike on the Five Mile Loop. Those going will meet at 7 p. m. in front of Pearsons Hall. After the hike the group will return to the picnic grounds in the College Woods for refreshments and a program. The chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bushing and Mr. Stanley Phillips.

The weekly meeting of Theta on Saturday, October 2 was presented as a radio show by the new Theta girls. The program was in charge of Beverly Moore and Beverly Music. The Theta mascot for this semester, a blue and white panda was presented.

The audience watches as the group grows tense and frightened, revealing their crimes, and distrusting each other until only two "little Indians" remain, and the play draws to an exciting and surprising conclusion.

This play will be presented on Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20.

MTSC GAME...

yard line.

In the second period, Maryville threatened the Raiders as Merriman, Neff, and Berrong advanced the ball from their own 35 to the Raider 20 when Varallo ended the advance by recovering a Scot fumble on the MTSC 12.

Late in the first half, the Scotties put on a 40-yard march, but the Raiders halted Merriman with a 4-and-1 count on their own 39.

MTSC Passing Pushed Attack

The Arnold-Varallo passing team, aided the Raiders in striking deep into Scot territory in the latter part of the third quarter. Adams and Runion made short gains, and a roughness penalty pushed the Raiders back to the MC 5. An alert Scot pass defense halted the Arnold-Varallo attack, and Berrong booted the ball after gaining four yards in three downs. Berrong's punt was the only punt of the game for the Scottie eleven.

Both teams played a hard-fought game in a not-so-cold atmosphere. Tackles Kluth and Kramer consistenly spilled Raider interference to rush the Raider quarterback. Ends Miller and Davis game ample protection to the Scot flanks. While guards Isenburg, Andes, Lester, and Proffitt buttressed the defense in the line, centers Holsey and Boyd helped the backs curb the Raider pass attack.

Capt. Rock Missed Fray

Captain Rock missed the game because of a twisted ankle. Tailback Leon Berrong, nursing a charley-horse, saw little action and came out in the fourth quarter with a minor injury. Bob Neff returned for the game after overcoming a rib injury. Fogarty, running better behind improved interference, throttled the touchdown express on power-driving end runs.

SAUL, LINDSAY GIVE PRACTICE DEBATE

Stuart Saul, president of the Maryville Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national debate society, and Carl Lindsay, reporter, will meet in a demonstration debate Monday, October 11, in the debate classroom.

The debate is to give an example of what is expected of the aspirants for the varsity team; they are meeting under the instruction of Dr. Verton M. Queener. Try-outs will take place October 25.

Dancing Etiquette . . .

or with your eyes closed. You may feel romantic and rapturous, but you look stupid to others.

19. If yours is one of those intense romances that decrees dancing with the same person all evening—Sorry! it just isn't done. Everyone is there for a good time so scatter yourself around a bit.

20. Never leave a girl stranded; always take her back to her place and stay with her until her partner comes to claim her. If he doesn't come and you have the next dance taken, frankly tell her so and she must take herself off your hands. She can always do so by suggesting that you take her to her hostess or chaperone saying, "I think I'll sit this dance out with her."

21. Stand erect—not on the bias. Keep your distance. Don't go in for acrobatics, strangle holds, etc.; be smooth and try not to prance and bounce. A girl's arm should be on a man's shoulder and not around his neck; neither should she lean too heavily on his manly chest.

22. If there is food, don't take matters in your own hands even in a school gym. Wait to see how refreshments are being served. If it's buffet style, the girl always precedes her escort or she may wait and let him bring her refreshments. In no case leave cups and plates strewn around the floor.

The above rules of conduct apply particularly to scheduled dancing but good manners are good manners anywhere, and common sense should dictate which are applicable to casual dancing. In dancing if "cutting in" is permissable dancers are obligated to abide by it, and not to do so is distinctly rude. The man who cuts in should step up and lay his hand on the man's shoulder, never on hers. There is nothing for her partner to do but to relinquish his place to the newcomer. The newcomer says thank you to him and he says thank you to the girl. Of course "cutting in" presupposes a stag line. One invariable rule is never to cut in immediately on the same person. A girl should never refuse one person and then dance off with another.

These rules and suggestions are excerpts from the following books which can be had in our library: "Manners," Hathaway, "If You Please," Allen and Briggs, "Manners for Moderns," Black, and "Your Manners are Showing," Betz.

MADRIGAL SINGERS REORGANIZE FOR YEAR'S PROGRAM

The Madrigal singers, under the direction of Harry H. Harter have reorganized for the coming year. The members of the group are: Margaret Warren, Peggy Wakefield, Carolyn Rose Burrell, sopranos; Katherine Carpenter, Gloria Measamer, Dora Evelyn Smith, altos; James Akin, Floyd C. Eady, Sam Broyles, Herbert Keene, tenors; Charles Huffman and Bill Deihl, basses.

Madrigal songs are being prepared for the Christmas Vesper service. Work is also being done in preparation for the Madrigal and chamber music concert which is usually presented in the early spring. The group also hopes to prepare the love waltzes of Brahms for presentation.

The Madrigal singers sing only Madrigal songs which are of the secular type. They sing in the traditional manner, sitting around the table with no director present.

ART CLUB

Art Club will meet Monday night at 6:45 in Anderson 22, to elect officers. Plans for the remainder of the semester will be completed after the elections.

Student, Faculty Council Adopt Regulations

cutive Council of the Faculty has adopted the following regulations governing dancing at Maryville College:

1. There may be casual dancing in the Intramural Gymnasium from 6:30 to 7:15 each week-day evening except Saturday. This is to be under direct supervision of the Director of the Student Center assisted by student committees appointed from time to time by the Social Chairman. The student committees are to attend to music, conduct, and other arrangements. Non-student guests must present proper credentials approved by the Dean of Women. Such persons are subject to the same regulations as are students.

2. Small groups (not officially organized groups) scheduling parties in the Y Rooms by arrangement with the Dean of Women and the YWCA may be permitted to dance.

3. One informal, all-college dance may be held in the fall, at a time to be decided upon by the Social Board and the Faculty Committee on Scheduling of Activities. The dance is to be managed by a student dance committee and faculty sponsors selected for the occasion by the Social Board. The dance committee with sponsors is to make all arrangements and supervise the dance which is to end not later than 11 p. m. Music is to be from records. There is to be no admission fee and dating will not be required. Corsages are not to be allowed. A student may have a guest who is approved in advance by the Dean of Women and has proper credentials. Such a guest is subject to the same regulations as are the students.

4. One formal, all-college dance may be held in the spring, at a time to be decided upon by the Social Board and the Faculty Committee on Scheduling of Activities. The dance is to be under management of a student dance committee and faculty sponsors seelcted for the occasion by the Social Board. The dance committee with sponsors is to make all arrangements and supervise the dance which is to end not later than 11 p. m. Music is to be by a volunteer student orchestra, sponsored by the Social Board. An admission fee is to be charged of not more than $1.20 (including tax) per couple, and couples only are to be admitted. This is to be a program dance. Refreshments will be served. Corsages are to be limited to not more than $3 each. Any student may have a guest who is approved in advance by the Dean of Women and has proper credentials. Such a guest while on the campus is subject to the same regulations as are students.

The final paragraph of the initial announcement in the Summer Bulletin is worthy of repetition here: "This change of a longtime policy by the College is made with the aim of enriching the campus social program and with the expectation that the high spiritual, moral, democratic, and cultural standards of the College will be maintained. The degree to which the results fulfill this aim and this expectation will determine the permanency of the new policy."

VERA LUSK NAMED HOMECOMING QUEEN

BARNWARMING CELEBRATES MARDI GRAS

Annual Thanksgiving Program Features Shops, Parade Floats, Band

Barnwarming will transform Alumni Gymnasium into a festive Mardi Gras, Thanksgiving night, November 25. The parade in full regalia will wind through shop-lined Creole streets led by the King and Queen with their court, followed by Charles Huffman's band.

Barnwarming King and Queen will be nominated from the senior class by the Student Body on Thursday, October 21. At the same time individual classes will nominate class sponsors to serve as attendants. Elections will be held Friday, October 22.

Shops, Parade

The shops will open at 7:30 p. m. and remain open until the parade starts at 8:15.

Mary Holly Webb is proprietor of the cafe; Joe Claud, in charge of the wax museum; Glen Knecht, the fish market; Beverley Moore, the clothing store; Judy Breen, the florist shop; and Winnie Schaumberg, the sweet shop.

The parade will begin at 8:15 p. m. with various members of the clubs and organizations taking part. A dozen floats, trimmed in true Mardi Gras fashion, will follow.

The biggest program of the fall is Barnwarming. Traditionally, faculty members take part in the program.

Barnwarming, open to both student body and community, is sponsored by the YWCA. Proceeds in the past have gone to WSSF.

Students Nominate King, Queen, Next Thursday

Club Council Meets October 18 For First Time

Social Board Integrates Organizations' Activities

Inter-Club Council will hold its first meeting Monday, October 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Bartlett auditorium. The Council, together with the Social Board was created through Articles VI and VII of the Student Body Constitution. Final approval of these two articles has been secured from Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty. They will be added to the constitution and will go before the Student Body for approval in the near future.

Inter-Club Council

Membership in the Inter-Club Council consists of the presidents of all organizations on campus except YWCA, YMCA, MSO, and WSGA. It replaces the Governing Board established last spring and gives the groups representation on Student Council as its elected chairman is a member of that Council.

Social Board

The Social Board was created to integrate the total social program of the campus. The purpose of the Board is to provide a clearing-house for all activities to eliminate over-lapping in schedules and programs. Roger Cowan, who was elected as campus social chairman, is chairman of that group.

Articles VI and VII are self-explanatory and are printed below.

ARTICLE VI—SOCIAL BOARD

Section I—Purpose

The purpose of the Social Board shall be to provide an organizational structure through which an adequate and varied program may be provided to the student body of Maryville College.

Section II—Membership and Meetings

A. The Social Board shall consist of the following persons:

1. Social Chairman of Student Body (Chairman of Social Board);
2. President of Student Council;
3. President of YWCA;
4. President of YMCA;
5. Two students;
6. Dean of Women;
7. Dean of Students;
8. Social Center Director;
9. Chairman of Inter-Club Council;
10. Two faculty members.

B. The Social Board shall meet monthly or when called by the Chairman.

Section III—Organization

A. The officers of the Social Board shall be a Chairman, Vice Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer.

B. Elections to the Social Board shall be as follows:

1. The Chairman shall be elected by the student body from the junior or senior class at the Spring Elections.
2. The Vice-Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer shall be elected from the Social Board.
3. Two persons shall be selected by the Student Council president.
4. Two faculty members shall be appointed by the President of the College.
5. The following shall become ex-officio members of the Social Board upon taking office:

a. Director of Social Center;

WRITERS' WORKSHOP ADDS FOUR; 'CHIPS' STILL AVAILABLE

Writers' Workshop has added four new members to this year's group, including Bill Carter, Carroll Stegall, Mr. Arthur Bushing of the English faculty, and Evelyn Anderson, who is returning to Workshop after a year's absence.

At the next meeting, Wednesday, October 27, Jaunita Johnson and Ben Paxton will read. Duncan Bennett will criticize Miss Johnson's work and Mr. Bushing will criticize that of Paxton.

Last week, Harold Hunter read "The Joy of the Game," a story about tennis, which was criticized by Barbara Eggleston. Ilda Mosby criticized a free verse poem, "A Corner of a Foreign Field," by Marion McBride.

A limited number of "Chips," the official publication of the Writers' Workshop is still available and may be purchased from any member of the English faculty or at Dr. Hunter's office. It contains ten selections from those produced by the members last year.

Stegall Chosen Director Of 'Ten Little Indians'

Carroll Stegall, junior, has been selected as student director for the Athenian-Bainonian play, "Ten Little Indians."

Committee Chairmen include the following students: stage props, John Keely; hand props, Margaret Weaver; costumes, Peggy Brooks; stage crew manager, Maynard Noble; house manager, Wally Moore; stage manager, Ruth Heaps.

Mrs. Lenora Courtney of the dramatics department is in charge of the production.

SOCIAL BOARD PLANS SCAVANGER HUNT FOR THIS EVENING

This evening at eight o'clock an all-campus scavenger hunt will start from the Alumni Gym. Lists and instructions will be distributed there. Following the hunt participants are to return to the gym with their loot for reports on success. This program is under the sponsorship of the Social Board.

Other Social Board action this week included the appointment of Virginia Gress to arrange for chaperones for the evening dances in Intramural Gym.

Final arrangements were made for the locations of class Hallowe'en parties to be given the night of October 30. Juniors will use Bartlett Hall; sophomores will have the Alumni Gym, and the Intramural Gym has been designated for the freshmen. Seniors are invited to the parties of all classes.

COMPOSERS FORUM BEGINS OCTOBER 25

The first meeting of the composer's forum, sponsored by the theory department, will be held Monday, October 25, at 7:00 p. m. The forum has been organized because of the many students interested in composition. Since no courses in the subject are offered, the music department felt the need for such a program.

The forum will be held at least once each semester and more often if the need arises. All persons, whether studying applied music or not, may submit manuscripts for criticism and discussion.

Faculty members guiding the forum are Miss Dorothy Horne, who has studied composition with Leo Sowerby and Bernard Rogers; Mr. Harry Harter, pupil for one summer with Roy Harris; and Miss Dorothy Vawter, co-composer with Charles Huffman of the operetta, "Mountain Girl."

Students wishing to submit compositions should see Miss Horne before Thursday, October 21.

Y's Present Radio Play 'And What Tomorrow'

"And What Tomorrow," the radio play originally scheduled for last Sunday, will be broadcast tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 by the Y's. The program was cancelled last Sunday because of the World Series broadcast.

IRC Plans Mock Campaign

International Relations Club, in cooperation with the department of political science, will begin a mock presidential election campaign Monday, October 18.

This campaign, which will close with an actual campus poll vote on national election day, November 2, will feature all the trappings of a real political rally, with speeches, platforms, discussions and propaganda. Campus campaign managers will soon be announced for each of the four major parties, including the Dixiecrats of Mr. Strom Thurmond and the Progressives of Henry Wallace. With the results from the returns of the poll vote, a possible forecast can be made of the actual presidential elections going on at that time.

Mr. David Ainsworth of the department of Political Science will preside at the regular meeting of the I.R.C. Monday night at 6:45 in Thaw 214, and will begin the proceedings with an objective discussion of the aims, platforms and distinguishing features of the four major parties.

YW Presents All-Musical Program Tomorrow

YWCA will present an all-musical program centered around the Y theme, "Builders with God", tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the Y rooms. The music committee, with Juanita Johnson as chairman, has arranged the program.

STUDENTS, BAND PARADE FOR NEW CHAPEL DRIVE

The student body, led by the band and cheering squad, will participate in a parade boosting the College Chapel Campaign on Monday afternoon, October 25, through the business section of Maryville.

A big "kick-off banquet" for officials and workers of the campaign will be held in the College dining hall that evening. A varied program, featuring a skit written and produced by Jim Black, Jim Lester, and Mary Mitchell Woolridge, will be presented to the group.

Display In Byrnes Window

Students are participating in many ways to help in the campaign. Art classes, under the direction of Miss Charlotte Johnson, instructor, are making displays for the large window of Byrnes Drug Store and for one other store in town. John Poland has given a speech and other students have been asked to prepare speeches, telling why the students feel that the College needs a chapel.

In connection with the campaign, President Ralph W. Lloyd will speak this afternoon at the half-time of the Alabama-Tennessee game. He is appearing as the guest of the Aluminum Company of America.

Tomorrow College Sunday

Tomorrow, Sunday October 17, has been set aside by the churches of Blount County as College Sunday. All churches in the county have been asked to inform the Christian people of the churches as to the need and the proposed plans, and have asked them to support the campaign with their gifts.

Leaflets on the need of a chapel and buttons carrying the slogan, "A Chapel on the Hill Again," have been distributed throughout the town.

Radio Program Thursday

Another phase of the program being done by students is the two radio shows under the direction of Ben Paxton and Marian Pope which will be presented over the local station, WGAP. The first program will be a fifteen minute program on Thursday, October 21, 7:30-7:45. This will feature instrumental music by several college students.

Double Octet Sings Oct. 27

The second program will be presented on October 27, 6-6:30. This program will use as its theme a life sketch of Dr. Samuel T. Wilson after whom the chapel will be named, and will tell of his service and interest in the college. This program will feature a double octet, representing the Vesper Choir. They will sing "Madame Jeannette" to represent the music that the chapel offered in the way of secular music, and two sacred numbers, "Ave Verum" and "Sonnah Will Be Donnah" will represent the music used in the worship services.

Freshmen Elect Edgar; Juniors Choose Holsey

Two brothers, Bob and Don Edgar, were elected to the offices of president and vice-president, respectively, of the freshman class in the elections last Thursday. The Edgar brothers are from Princeton, Indiana.

Other students elected to office were Lucy Carrick from Duquesne, Pa., who was named secretary; and Ralph Thiesse, Cleveland, Ohio, treasurer. Council representaitves chosen were Sue Martin, from Bloomington, Illinois, and Charles Allen, from Louisville, Kentucky.

The junior class elected Ray Holsey, pre-ministerial from Baltimore, Maryland, to fill the Student Council seat left vacant last spring when Tubby Callaway was elected chairman of the MSO.

After-Supper Social Dancing Inaugurated Here

Social dancing officially began on Maryville campus with dancing in the Intramural Gym after supper on Tuesday night. This initiated the practice of having casual dancing after supper each week night from 6:30 until 7:15 in this gym.

A special meeting of the student body was held after chapel on Tuesday morning at which time Dr. Ralph Lloyd and Jim Black, Student Body president, outlined the regulations for dancing. It was stated then that non-student guests must be approved by the Dean of Women. This has been clarified further by Miss Frances Massey, Dean of Women. The name of the non-student guest must be given to Miss Massey. A card will be made out for that guest and the card will be kept on file in the Student Center by Mrs. Carmen Marquis, director of the Center. This does not apply to those non-student guests at the two big dances of the year. Special approval must be obtained from Miss Massey for each of those dances.

Since the music for the dancing is supplied by records, the Student Center has had to divide its supply of records for this purpose. Mrs. Marquis has asked that all students who can and will contribute records, either from their personal collections or new ones, do so as soon as possible. This will facilitate the use of new popular music in both the Student Center and in the Gym for dancing.

'Messiah' Chorus Begins Rehearsals

Rehearsals are now under way for the 1948 presentation of Handel's "Messiah." The rehearsals, under the direction of Harry H. Harter, are held at 3:30 each Sunday afternoon in Alumni Gymnasium.

The chorus is made up of the Vesper Choir, Men's Glee Club, All Girls' Choir, and any students, faculty, or townspeople who wish to be included. Any persons who wish to in the chorus may still join by going to rehearsal on either of the next two Sundays.

The College orchestra, directed by W. Curtis Hughes, will begin rehearsals on Sunday afternoon at 3:30, in Anderson Hall. This group will accompany "Messiah" singers.

Dance, Programs, E-H Game Scheduled For Week End

Captain Rock Crowns Queen Preceding Emory and Henry Game

Vera Lusk, recently elected Homecoming Queen, will reign at the first semi-formal dance at Maryville College, which is to be a homecoming dance Friday, October 22, at 8 p. m. Miss Lusk will be crowned by Alan Rock, captain of the football team, preceding the Emory and Henry football game next Saturday night.

Miss Lusk, a senior English major from Scotch Plains, New Jersey, is president of Bainonian this semester. For two years she has been on Student Council, the Student-Faculty Senate, and in the Vesper Choir. She is in M Club and the YWCA cabinet; she served as a WSGA officer last year. During her sophomore year she was a Nu Gamma leader and a May Day attendant.

Dance Plans

The fall homecoming dance will be the informal dance of the year as provided for in the regulations concerning dancing on the campus. Formal evening attire will not be worn. The men will wear coats and ties; the women will dress semi-formally. Dance music will be furnished by records, and light refreshments are to be served.

Barbara Bertholf is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dance. The other members of the committee are David Campbell, Margaret Rock, and Ray Saunders, who will arrange for the music and chaperones for the affair.

Founders Day, Homecoming Set For October 23

Maryville College's sixteenth annual Founders Day and Homecoming will be Saturday, October 23. The day's program will begin officially with the Founders Day Service at 9:45 a.m. in the Alumni Gym. The annual homecoming barbecue will be held on the athletic field at 5:45 p. m. and the day will be climaxed at 8:00 p. m. by the Emory-Henry football game.

C. Hodges Mathes Speaks

Mr. C. Hodge Mathes, B.A., M. M., will be the speaker at the Founders Day Service. His topic will be "Pioneer Colleges of the West." Mr. Mathes is now professor of French and English at East Tennessee State College. He taught Greek and history at Maryville College from 1903 until 1911. He was formerly dean of East Tennessee State College and secrtary of the Tennessee College Association.

Vesper Choir Sing Two Numbers

The Vesper Choir, under the direction of Mr. Harry H. Harter, will sing a new arrangement of the Alma Mater by Charles Huffman, and the entrance to the "Advent Motet" by Schreck. The latter anthem will be done in eight parts with an antiphonal effect between the choir and a double quartet composed of sopranos, Peggy Wakefield and Mary Arvidson, altos, Gloria Measamer and Katherine Carpenter, tenors, Floyd C. Eaddy and Sam Broyles, and basses, Charles Huffman and Dick Ribble.

Barbecue Saturday Evening

Mr. Earl Blazer, president of the Alumni Association, will preside at the barbecue Saturday evening. All alumni and their families are invited. There will be a charge of 50c for each plate to cover the expenses.

Alumni may get tickets to the Emory-Henry game at the special price of 75c. These tickets may be secured in the Alumni office or at the barbecue.

Since the Founders Day Service will be longer than the usual chapel service, classes on Saturday morning will be scheduled differently.

Student Council

Plans for students to go to the Carson-Newman game were approved by the Student Council last Wednesday evening. The proposal was to go before the Senate Friday afternoon. At least 200 students must be willing to go before a train can be secured.

Sam Broyles presented two programs to Council. The first concerned the orientation program which YMCA attempted to carry out this semester at the suggestion of last year's Council. Since it was not coordinated with the regular college orientation program, it was not completely successful. His recommendation was that the two programs be combined in the future to avoid overlapping.

Already chapel announcements have been curtailed and future plans will reduce the number even more. Only those pertaining to major groups or programs are to be given in chapel. This will necessitate some other method of getting the information to the students. Broyles' idea was the publishing of a weekly bulletin listing all activities, to be supplemented at the end of the week by a calendar in the Echo. A proposed method of financing this plan was that the money be appropriated by the Inter-Club Council and that this Conucil collect $1 from each organization.

Barbara Eggleston presented changes to be made in the Student Programs Committee as suggested by Dr. R. T. Case, chairman. He proposed that the committee be reduced from five faculty members to three students and three faculty members. The Council agreed that with student representation on the committee the students would feel more free to voice opinions on such matters as play censorship.

The loitering problem was again brought to the attention of Council, and they were reminded that it is their responsibility to enforce the rules. Loitering, especially on Town Nite and on the way to and from the Student Center, must be eliminated if the present arrangements are to continue.

Council discussed the WSSF drive and decided to stand by its former decision to reccommend to Senate that there be only one drive a year.

Howzat?

Cleverest charade we've heard in some time. The IRCongregation, having adjourned their picnic to Thaw's Y Rooms, were guessing mo'om pitchuz (see below) titles. Charader Sam Broyles sat contentedly, a pie plate balanced precariously atop his "stately. . .dome." Six—one twice—cohorts sauntered by the sedate Mr. B., passed on. The mail-chewing solution: "Seven Keys To Baldpate."

The Mo'om Pitchuz

By now, those who like the Lake-Ladd combination can't go wrong on another of their pictures. "Saigon," at Maryville's Capitol this Tuesday, is the same Terry to Pirates to Burma (et al.) play that has been so popular before.

This time it seems that Alan and two friends have just been discharged from the US Air Force in China. About to fly a v.i.p. to Saigon, they find that only his blonde secretary shows up. Since she is carrying a brief case full of cash which is even hotter than Miss Lake's own more obvious attractions, the trip begins anyway—posthaste. The plane Shangri-la's into the jungle. . .you will fill in the rest.

Verdict: Here we go again with that plot, but it was pleasant before; why invent a new one now. Plenty of action; & Veronica too.

"Hurricane," at the Park Tuesday and Wednesday, was literally a howling success. Unless the sound track has dulled in the 11 years since its production, the plot won't be noticed: Jon Hall (as Terangi in his first picture) has just married Marama (Dot Lamour); for socking a barroom bully, he's jailed until he breaks out (& a guard's jaw) eight years later and paddles 600 miles back to Dotty. He gets there in time for all Hollywood to break loose in the hurricane. If all this isn't enough to keep your interest, watch for some prize boners in the story.

Verdict: A technical masterpiece; good entertainment.

"Vaudeville's not dead; she's only a-sleeping . . ." to paraphrase an old mountain ballad of these parts. That's the theme; the title this time is "Give My Regards To Broadway." The Wednesday-Thursday showing at the Capitol has old trooper Charles Winninger rear his son (Dan Dailey) and two daughters in "the show will go on—someday maybe" tradition, only to have them find love more appealing than greasepaint.

Verdict: Song & dance; plenty of old-timer who knew vadeville when.

●EVERYBODY'S WANTING REVENGE over Maryville's out-odded Scots. Among the first on the priority (self-appointed) list are East Tennessee State's Buccaneers. What the Bucs wouldn't give to turn back a team that was solely responsible for putting them in the 1946 defeated ranks. Last year they gently stood by as Maryville's power muscled their off-and-on passing atack off the field, 32-6. The year previous, 1946, State's Buccaneers first scored on a steamrolling Scot eleven with a safety for a meager two points as Maryville strode on to 25-2 victory. But the Bucs didn't go down that time without a tooth and nail fight. Reserving the Maryville game for their Homecoming occasion, the opening of a reconditioned stadium, and the first home game, the Buccaneers—alumni, students, and followers—are pointing for revenge in tonight's game.

●TO LOSE MORE games in two weeks than had been lost in two seasons past was a demoralizing fact for our Scots after Sewanee came out ahead. The post-war saga of an invincible Highlander line, of one of the hardest striking backfields among Tennessee's small colleges, and of an indomitable will-to-win has made our Scotties one of the most feared and best-like-to-beat teams in East Tennessee. At this writing it appears that no team Maryville has met so far this season has "the goods" more than our Highlanders—if we play ball. Disregarding the fact that all football teams make costly mistakes now and then, it appears that the Scot eleven has fallen a bit short in playing "heads-up" ball. It's time to snap out of it.

●"WHERE'S THE REST of the team? This query came from Sewanee's cross-country coach, so it is told, to Jimmy Thurston after he came in behind the second Sewanee runner. (The other five were still on the run). It seems that Earisman, Mabry, and Menges set a rather rapid pace for the start of the course. Sewanee's seven, thinking the Scot runners to the rear were the ones to watch for a sprint finish, lagged with assurance along with the end men. Alas, the whole Maryville team up and passed all but three of their seven before the end of the course.

●MISCELLANEOUSLY MUSING— With Emory-Henry for Homecoming next Saturday, Maryville's Scotties have one of the strongest of Wasp teams in late years. This Wasp group smacked Carson-Newman, reported to be up to last year's strength, in a manner most un-genteel, 12-6. Milligan secured a 6-0 defeat over the Wasps in the opening game, but other than that Emory-Henry has placed a winning combination on the field. Another coming foe, Western North Carolina, sank East Tennessee very significantly last week with strong ground (single-wing, unbalanced line) movements.

●FINDING PICKING winners a bit upsetting, this time we turn the tables to spot the losers, thusly: Morehead Teachers will lose to Tennessee Tech at Cookeville (Morehead beat Tech, 19-7 in the season's opener); Carson-Newman drops to Georgetown; Emory-Henry to Eastern Kentucky State; Mississippi College to Sewanee; Arkansas State to Middle Tennessee State; and Athens to Hiwassee.

High Man Gets Low Score In Cross-Country Races

By Tom Weide

"We beat 'em badly; their score was twice as big as ous!" A remark like that, made at this time of the year, probably refers to cross-country running. If you don't know ho wcross-country races are scored (and we'll bet you don't!) read on.

An ordinary duel meet, like the one Maryville has with UT next week, i srun between two teams of seven men each. Each man scores points according to the order in which he finishes, for example: winner scores 1 point, 10th man scores 10 points. Since it is better to win than finish tenth, it is obvious that a low score i sthe aim in this sport.

Notice this, too: Only points made by the first five finishers for both teams are included in team totals. Maryville's first five against Sewanee added up to only twenty, impossible if seven score had been counted. Incidentally, because Maryville's sixth and seventh men beat out some of Sewanee's first five, Sewanee's score was pushed even higher.

See, it's easy:—seven-man teams, five point-mekers per team, low score wins. Get it?

HARRIERS TOP SEWANEE, 20-41; FACE VOLS HERE WEDNESDAY

Sewanee Falls—

Maryville's Harriers, taking every place except first and last, took the Sewanee cross-country team, 20-41, on the mountain course last Saturday during the half of the Scot-Tiger gridiron battle.

Although Albert Perkins, who won the race with a 14:36 time, came in thirty yards ahead of the Scot's lead man, Charles Mabry, five Maryville runners filled in places from two to seven without Sewanee's opposition.

Paul Kidder, pushed by Del Earisman, Bill Menges, and Bob Kay, placed third as the host of Orange and Garnet runners rounded the final curve. Sewanee's John Stewart, leading the last of the Harriers, outdistanced Jimmy Thurston by less than twenty yards to capture seventh place.

The finish:

1. Albert Perkins (Sewanee—14:36); 2. Charles Mabry (Maryville); 3. Paul Kidder (Maryville); 4. Del Earisman (Maryville); 5. Bill Menges (Maryville); 6. Bob Kay (Maryville); 7. John Stewart (Sewanee).

Orange and White Next

Scot Cross-country runners will make their first home debut when they line up against UT's strong array on the home course next Wednesday afternoon, October 20.

Seven runners who made the trip to Sewanee last Saturday plus Ric Rogers, Preston Mulford, and Neal Pearson are running the course daily in preparation for the vaunted Orange and White Harriers.

The Vols, possessors of plentifully capable runners under the guidance of Coach Carleton Crowell, placed second in the '46 and '7 Southeastern Conference meets.

John Trent, former state high school mile champion, and Walter DeVault, a newcomer with the Vols, are expected to load the Tennessee squad with veteran runners —Cliff Barbour, Sam Fowler, Louis Schneider, Fleming Reeder, and Earl Downey—pacing close behind for the Orange and White.

Tom Scott, captain-elect of the Vol Harriers, was recently ruled ineligible by an official of the Southeastern Conference. Scott, who led the '46 Maryville Cross-Country team to a victory over UT, ran with Penn State as a freshman in 1942. Downey, another member of the Maryville squad in '46, transferred with Scott to the Volunteer course.

SAYRES TOP SEEDED IN GOLF TOURNEY

Twelve players will vie in the intramural golf tournament which begins next Monday. Play will consist of 1 8holes on Monday and an additional 18 holes Tuesday for a total of 36.

The contestant with the lowest score will be proclaimed winner. In case of a tie an 18 hole play-off will commence on Wednesday.

The seeded players are: (1) Jerry Sayres, (2) Bob Boring, (3) Harold Hunter, and (4) Don Myatt.

Players will be divided into four groups o fthrees. The first group will include Jerry Sayres, Ed Pancoast, and Charles Trotter. The second Bob Boring, Charles Warner, and Frank Morton. The Third Harold Hunter, Ed Fowler, and Stuart McNeil, and the fourth Don Hyatt, James McNeil, and Charles Keller.

Jerry Sayres, the top seeded player, participated in the National Junior Open Golf Tournament in Omaha last July.

Soccer will not begin until October 25 because of the need for practice. Next week will be devoted to much-needed pracitce.

Scots Fall To Sewanee, 12-6; Match Buccaneers Tonight; Emory-Henry Next Week

Tigers Take Revenge

Revenge was gained by Sewanee's Tigers over Maryville's Scots, 12-6, on Hardee Field up on the mountain last Saturday afternoon.

Maryville opened the scoring with Law's 35 yerd reverse-jaunt after an exchange of punts in the opening minutes of the game. Sewanee scored in the first and again in the second. McDavid's pass to Duff Green, the lightning of the Tiger backfield, gave the Purple and White their first touchdown, and Green's run set up the final marker of the game as Bell plowed through from the Maryville two. Neither Fogarty's nor Bomar's or Speake's kicks for extra points were good.

Injuries Hamper Scots

Costly injuries hit the Highlanders before the game was gone. Hershell Merriman, starting fullback, came out of the game with a hip injury. Dick Hamilton, calling signals for the Scotties, suffered a broken wrist and a dislocated shoulder in the fray and Jim Baird, running fullback, was put out by a ill-timed blow. T. E. Boyd came off the field with an ankle injury. Captain Alan Rock remained on the sideline for most of the game shackled b ya stiff ankle from a practice injury the previous week.

The Tigers, running from a Tennessee box formation, employed tailbacks Prince McDavid and Billy Bomar to good advantage on deceptive end run and/or pass attacks. Sewanee's first touchdown came after McDavid attempted to circle right end, then clear the Scot backfield deck for a pass to wingback for the touchdown pass to wingback Duff Green.

Tigers Intercept Passes

The Scotties, attempting a pass offense after their first score, completed a 20 yd. pass from Fogarty-to-Miller, and a little heave for no gain from Fogarty to Law. Stewart, Alford, and Bomar were three of Fogarty's best receivers in the opening half.

Holsey and Baird, scouting for Tiger passes in the second period, each stepped into the path of enemy aerials, but didn't manage to latch on to the missles.

Bell's punting aided the Tiger defense no end. It was just after his quick-kick in the first period that Maryville scored. The Tigers, held for downs, punted out to Fogarty on the mid-field stripe who took the ball down to the Sewanee 40. An off-tackle play by Fogarty netted two yards, then Law whipped around on a reverse on a touchdown run that caught the Tiger secondary standing in their treads.

After a pair of punts by Bell and Berrong in the second quarter, a Fogarty-thrown pass was caught by Stewart on the Scot 30. The Scots had it 2-and-12 on their own 17 when Fogarty's pass went astray. A rebounding Scot line, led notably by McKee in this phase, stopped McDavid for no-gain on a center plunge. Pulling a fast reverse, lithe Duff Green scampered around the Scot right flank and down the side stripe until Neff rolled him out of bounds one yard from pay-dirt. Bell, Sewanee's lithe All-American fullback in '47, took the glory role to push the ball over for Sewanee.

Held twice by a Sewanee line, the Scots failed to score in the final half, Sewanee's attack lacked polish, and the last half withered out before the Highlanders could better the count.

Wasps For Homecoming

Maryville's Highlanders will play host to the Yellow and Blue of Emory and Henry College next Saturday on Wilson Field. The Wasps have a wealth of reserves to back up a much improved varsity that make them favorites to down the Highlanders in the midst of Homecoming activities.

The yellow-helmeted Wasps are expected to put on a good show for the homecoming crowd after dropping two of their four games played so far this season. The Wasps lost their first game of the season to Milligan by a 6-0 talley, and their play with Hampden Sydney last week-end cost them a 19-13 defeat; but the story was a little different when they took Carson Newman, the favored team, by one touchdown —final score, 12-6. Their other win of the season was over Guilford College by a 13-7 talley.

Emory and Henry's Blue and Gold were squashed last year on their home field by the Scotties when they took a 24-7 beating. Revenge will be the keynote this year with their "T" formation attack on the Scots in the big home game and football celebration of the year.

Coach Conley Snidow's Wasps are playing the East Kentucky State Maroons tonight at Bristol, Tennessee. Kellerman, fast Blue and Gold halfback will be a backfield threat, with Brewer Sheets, freshman star of the Wasps, out of the game for this week due to an injury.

Homecoming For Bucs

Maryville's Scotties, boasting a 1-2 win-loss ratio, challenge East Tennessee State's Buccaneers tonight in Johnson City. The Bucs, playing host to the Scots before a Homecoming crowd, are making their first appearance of the season in their recently remodeled stadium.

Coach L. T. (Preacher) Roberts has all his regulars back in the team this year, with Vest and Musselman in the backfield, and Holsclaw in the line spearheading the attack. A passing combination from Vest to Holsclaw at left end is expected to be a prominent feature of this Saturday's game, with Musselman at left half presenting another problem to the Scotty challengers.

In 1946 the Highlanders broke an undefeated season for the Buccaneers by tramping them 25-2 on home ground. The 1947 game, played here on Wilson Field resulted in another upset for the Blue and Gold when the Scots ran over them and came off the victors by 31-6.

The Scots are in "pretty good" shape according to trainer James Newman, but the team will be missing Dick Hamilton who will be unable to play because of a broken left hand and dislocated left shoulder. Merriman may be able to play if his hip injury is straightened out.

WGAP, the Maryville radio station, will carry the game at 8:00 p.m. Saturday evening.

Probable starting line-up for Maryville will be Holsey at center, Andes and isenberg at guard, Kluth and Kramer at tackle, Davis and Miller at end, Calloway at quarterback, Law at wingback, Berrong at fullback, and Neff at tailback.

Election Forecast By Poll

By Donald Whelan

Thomas E. Dewey will be the next US President. At least that's the way MC's potential voters would have it.

In sample balloting held last week, five classes in the Social Science division voted the following percentages:

Dewey	70%
Truman	15%
Thurmond	5%
Wallace	2%
Thomas	1%
Undecided	7%

These results, though not in the same proportion as the country at large according to general public opinion polls, probably represents an accurate cross section of Maryville's student body. Seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen were included in the straw vote.

Lesser Evil

Significantly, 46% of those voting said their choice was based on "the lesser of the evils." This trend is not restricted to Maryville's campus. Many voters feel that they have been deprived of adequate choices this year despite the more than six candidates in the field.

From the very number of ex-Democratic candidates it is evident that former FDR voters will be deserting his party. Although Franklin Roosevelt would have been elected each of his four terms without the "solid South," that vote is badly needed this year by Harry Truman.

South Carolina's Gov. J. Strom Thurmond shows strength which is not present on the general national scene. His popularity on this Southern campus is explained by MC's proximity to "rebel" Alabama, Mississippi, and South Carolina—states apparently in the Dixiecrat column already.

MC Right-Wing

The Progressives' Henry Wallace, erstwhile Truman cabinet member, and perennial Socialist candidate Norman Thomas are not favored by local students. Mostly conservative in background, Maryville students would be expected to oppose the so-called "left-wingers." This tendency would also be partially responsible for the greater-than-average sympathy shown for States' Righter Thurmond.

Campus interest in national elections is nearly the same as the national norm—MC, 7% undecided.

The poll was conducted by Arthur D. Ainsworth, instructor in political science, and Assistant Professor J. H. Kiger of the history department. Questionnaires were prepared by the Highland Echo.

OPEN LETTER TO STUDENT BODY

To the Editor of the Highland Echo:

The annual publication of the student body has been on sale since the beginning of this semester. Because it is published by and for the students, we—the staff—want to explain the operation of the Chilhowean.

In the past our annual has been criticized, and rightly so, for not representing the entire student body. For years editors and business managers have attempted to have the Chilhowean included in student fees, but the administration, with an eye to holding entrance expenses to a minimum, will not sanction such a move. Therefore, the Chilhowean is supported by student subscribers. So, if students don't subscribe, how can we represent them? Entire representation is possible only if each and every student subscribes.

Let us look at the subscription rate of the Chilhowean. Despite rising costs, we are still offering the Chilhowean for $4.50. At this rate we undersell any comparable book with a volume of sales equal to the Chilhowean. In many cases, annuals of other schools, which are inferior to ours, cost more than the Chilhowean.

Plans call for a beautiful book in 1949, one which will require a maximum number of subscriptions. So, when the Chilhowean salesman comes to you, think twice before you say No. We promise that the 1949 Chilhowean will be a yearbook to treasure. It is a students' book; the yshould support it with their subscriptions.

All Girls' Choir Holds Banquet At Chilhowee Inn

The All Girls' Choir, directed by Curtis Hughes, held its fall banquet Friday night, October 15, at the Chilhowee Inn. New members were initiated at that time.

Initiates were given slips of paper on which were written tasks to be performed. Then the new members were divided into groups, do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, te, do, and the groups gave individual skits and charades. Each initiate was required to eat a "square meal" with a "Hallelujah" and an "Amen" with each bite.

The welcome address was given by Juanita Johnson. Vocal solos were given by Maureen Owen and Mary Taylor Hicks, followed by a reading by Ann Higdon. A skit was given by several members of the choir after which Lois Lehr played a selection on her "bones." Various games were played and the program ended with group singing.

VOLUME 34 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE OCTOBER 23, 1948 Number 8

General Chapel Campaign Begins Monday, October 25

College Students Parade Monday Morning For Drive

All college students will march in a Chapel Fund parade Monday morning, October 25, at 11 o'clock. Chapel will be held at 10:45 and instructions for the parade will be given at that time.

The purpose is to let the community know the campus interest in a new chapel In this way the students can show their gratitude to the people of Maryville who are helping to build the chapel.

Each student will carry a flag with the words "A Chapel on the Hill Again." These flags will be planted in the business places on the parade route.

The parade, led by the band, will feature clowns and other circus attractions. Leaving from the east gate, it will march down Washington Avenue and p West Broadway to Love Street.

Dr. E. H. Hunter, Dean of Curriculum, made the following statement concerning the parade:

"In planning for the parade in behalf of the Chapel Fund, we have felt we could depend on the students to take full part in it. It is time to help touch off the general campaign for funds in Maryville and the county, and it is intended to be a demonstration of interest that will impress the community with our genuine enthusiasm for the new chapel.

"The men at the campaign office say they want 99% participation by us here on the Hill. They might be surprised to know that we don't even have that good a chapel attendance. But we do hope for 98% or at least 97%. So we urge you not to take refuge in the feeling that 'enough will go, even if I don't.' Your being there will be your personal contribution to an enterprise that means much to the College."

Monday Schedule Changes

8:30 a.m. First period
9:30 a.m. Second period
10:45 a.m. Chapel
11:00 a.m. Parade
12:30 p.m. Lunch
5:30 p.m. Supper

'Kick Off' Dinner Monday Night

Two special broadcasts Sunday afternoon and a "kick off" dinner Monday evening have been arranged for the beginning of the general campaign for the Chapel Fund.

The Advanced Gifts division has already secured $51,254, of which over $10,000 was given by faculty members.

Tomorrow afternoon a script will be presented by Ben Paxton and Marion Pope over WNOX at one o'clock on the "Sunday Down South" program. Harold Hunter will be the guest speaker on Louise Torbet's program at three o'clock over WGAP.

Monday, October 25, the general campaign will have its "kick off" dinner in Pearsons dining hall at seven o'clock.

The hour for the evening meal has been changed to 5:30 p. m. for students eating in the college dining hall.

Dr. Guerry, Sewanee Educator, Dies

Dr. Alexander Guerry, vice-chancellor of the University of the South at Sewanee, died Tuesday, October 19 of a heart attack. He was in Knoxville at the time attending religious and educational meetings.

The funeral services were held Thursday in the All Saints Chapel at Sewanee, with the Rt. Rev. Frank A. Juhan, chancellor of the university and Bishop of Florida, conducting the Episcopal services.

Chattanooga U. President

Dr. Guerry was formerly the President of Chattanooga University, and since 1938 had been the administrative head of Sewanee. He graduated in 1906 from Sewanee Military Academy and received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of the South in 1910. A doctor of laws degree was awarded him in 1913 from the Chattanooga College of Law.

Barnwarming Election Results Remain Secret

Announcement of the Barnwarming Court as chosen by the student body in elections held Friday will not be publicized until the night of November 25 — Thanksgiving, the regular date for Barnwarming.

At nominations for Barnwarming Court, conducted after chapel Thursday, October 21, Mary Elizabeth Carver and Grace Ellen Cross were selected for Queen balloting; Bill Proffitt and John Poland were nominated for King.

Junior Renior Attendents

Each class named sponsor candidates in the same voting. Seniors chose Carolyn Bowman, home economics major from Maryville, and Anna Jane Brunson, Elmira, N. Y., biology major. Alice Davenport, sociology major from Marietta, Ga., and Mary Watts, Maryville education major, are junior class nominees.

This year's sophomore court attendant nominations are education majors Jane McMillan and Ga. Frosh Betty Lester, Atlanta, Sarah Kemp, both from Acworth, Ga., and Beryl Stewart from Hayworth, N. J., are their class' choices.

King, Queen

Miss Carver is an elementary education major from Ambridge, Pa. She has been a Vesper Choir member since her freshman year and is this year's Barnwarming co-chairman. Last year Buffie was 1948 Chilhowean editor.

Miss Cross is assistant to Dr. H. E. Orr of the philosophy, Bible, and religious education department. Last year Grace Ellen was a member of the Daisy Chain. Her major is philosophy.

Poland, a political science major from Beverly Shores, Ind., is vice-president of the Student Council and has been manager of the Y Store for two years.

Proffitt is a business administration major from Maryville and has lettered in football for two years. Bill is a member of this year's Student Council.

LUSK CROWNED QUEEN BEFORE GAME TONIGHT

Homecoming Queen, Vera Lusk

CEREMONIES BEGIN AT 7:45 ON WILSON FIELD

Homecoming Queen Vera Lusk will be crowned tonight at the Maryville-Emory and Henry football game on Wilson Field at 7:45. Alan Rock, 1948 team captain, will place the crown on her head, and Professor Lombe S. Honaker of the athletics division will present her with flowers.

Barbara Bertholf, senior sociology major from Morris Plains, N. J., and Ruth Ramsey, senior music major from Cedarville, Ohio, are attendants for the Queen.

The College Band will parade on the field before the game. Marching in from the north end, they will proceed to the center of the east side of the field. In honor of MC Alumni and Emory and Henry College visitors, the band will play the trio from "Our Director." Then turning to the west (home) stands, an "M" in a revolving square will be formed and the fight song played.

A fanfare will introduce Queen Vera, brought to the center of the field in a royal sedan chair. Four members of the Tumbling Team will carry the chair, which was built by Chester Schieber and Ruth Nicholas. Joe Poland, Jim Marvin, Bob Kees, George Day, and Ken Smith are the participating tumblers. On command from the Queen, they will execute a short series of stunts.

Lynn Willis and Bobbie Burris have been Homecoming decoraters, and Pep Committee chairman John Shew is in charge of the pre-game ceremonies and decoration.

'Holiday Parade'

At half time the band will play special music while in formation before the section reserved for alumni in the east stands. "Holiday Parade" is the title of the performance as listed by Curtis Hughes, director: an entrance maneuver, in which the band is spread single file across the goal line, will be followed by re-forming in the middle of the field where the letters JAN will be formed. Forming a bell, the band will play "Auld Lang Syne." After executing the letters FEB, a heart will be represented while "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" is played. Abbreviations and a picture will be formed for five other months: March—a shamrock, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling"; May—the letter "V" for VE Day, "Over There"; July—a flag, "America"; November—a half moon, "Shine On Harvest Moon"; December—a Christmas tree, "Jingle Bells." Arranged in the letter M, the band will play the Alma Mater for the opposite (MC) side of the field.

Reunion Fete

Alumni will gather at 5:45 this afternoon for their annual barbecue on the baseball diamond. Earl Blazer, '30, president of the Alumni Association, will preside. Margaret Ware, College dietitian, has prepared the menu.

The Alumni and Public Relations Office announces that all alumni are invited and may obtain tickets at 50 cents each from that office in Anderson Hall, first floor.

David L. McArthur, '36, is chairman of the homecoming food committee; assisting him by Mrs. Arthur Bushing, '42, Mrs. Clyde Murray, '13, and Mrs. Hugh Crawford, Jr., '35. Harwell Park, '16, is chairman of the promotion committee. Mrs. William R. Carter, '48, and Marvin Minear, '39, are on the hospitality committee.

Founders Day

Maryville's sixteenth annual Founders Day Service was held this morning at 9:45 in Alumni Gymnasium. Following introductory remarks by the President, Dr. Ralph Lloyd, Samuel O'Grady Houston, Chairman of the Board of Directors, of Knoxville, welcomed alumni and visitors.

Applied Music Students Present Recital Tuesday

Nine musical numbers will be presented at the Student Recital at 4:30 p. m. on Tuesday, October 26, in the Y rooms. The program will include Purcell's "Passing By," sung by William Robinson, with Bernice C. Blair as accompanist. Bishop's "Love Has Eyes," will be sung by Mary Taylor Hicks, accompanied by William Diehl.

Lois Deobler will sing de Machault's "C'est force, fairrele weil," accompanied by Sarah Durante; Linnea Johnson, accompanied by Gloria Measamer, will sing Schubert's "Widmun,"; from Gounod's "Romeo et Juliette", Maurine Owen will sing "Je veux vivre," accompanied by Ruth Helen Bird.

Louise Lloyd will play "The White Peacock," by Griffes, and Chopin's "Valse," Op. 70, No. 1; Patricia Cox will be accompanied by Emma Lee Czerniawski as she sings Chretien's "Que je t'oublie."

Mary Arvidson will sing "Hear Ye, Israel," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," accompanied by Irma Jean Benedict, and Horsman's "The Bird of the Wilderness" will be sung by Evalyn Smith, accompanied by Louise Lloyd.

All-Campus Poster Committee Organizes

Students interested in making posters for the publicity of clubs and organizations on the campus met Wednesday, October 20, to discuss plans for an all-campus poster committee. The purpose of this committee, the only one of its kind on the campus, is to centralize the distribution of work on posters. The publicity departments of the various clubs will request posters, which will be assigned to different members of the committee. Everyone interested in serving on the committee should contact Louise Packard, Donald Reeves, or Carl Lazenby.

Students Plan Trip To Carson Newman

Tickets for the Carson Newman-Maryville game on November 13, and for the special train, will be available late next week. They may be purchased before and after meals in Pearsons lobby and at specified times in Thaw.

Train tickets are $1.66 and game tickets, $1. Both should be purchased at the same time. Students planning to go are requested to purchase tickets as soon as possible since at least 200 train reservations must be made before a special train can be secured.

Guests may accompany students if they are approved in advance by Miss Frances Massey, Dean of Women.

Arrangements for the trip are being made by the Student Concil.

Maryville College Entertains DAR Board Members

Next Wednesday and Thursday, Maryville College will be host to 57 members of the National Board of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Heading the group will be Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne of Brookville, Indiana, president-general; Mrs. James B. Patton of Ohio, first vice-president-general; Mrs. Frank Edgar Lee, California, second vice-president-general; Miss Katherine Matthies, Connecticut, third vice-president-general; and Miss Edla S. Gibson, Buffalo, N. Y., chairman of the National Committee on Approved Schools.

Maryville College was on the original list of approved schools of the DAR.

Tour College

These guests will arrive at the College at noon on Wednesday and will leave early Thursday morning. Various activities, including a tour of the campus and buildings Wednesday afternoon and a reception Wednesday evening, have been planned for them. Luncheon will be served by the home economics department; Wednesday night and Thursday morning they will eat at the College Dining Hall.

The President-General, the National Chairman of Approved Schools, and other national officers of other years have visited Maryville previously, but this is the first time such a visit has been made by the Board.

Echo Editorial, Business Staffs Add New Members

Eleven students were elected to the editorial and business staff of the Highland Echo at a meeting of the publications committee last Wednesday afternoon. The elections followed a tryout period for both staffs.

Of the eight additions to the editorial staff, one sophomore was selected, Jimmy Dance from Knoxville. The seven freshmen apprentices are: Frances Moore, Chatham, N. J.; Elizabeth Wilson, Monticello, Iowa; Margo Huffaker, Johnson City; Tom Kelly, Morris Plains, N. J.; Dick Newman, Kingston, N. Y.; Tom Jones, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Tom Wiede, New Castle, Pa.

Business Staff

Newcomers to the business staff are Marlene Mauger, sophomore from Absecon, N. J.; Bob Kay, junior from Morristown, N. J.; and Delores Green, sophomore from Binghamton, N. Y.; Marianne Brogden, freshman from Nashville, and Clarence Reaser, freshman from Linden, Pa.

The publications committee is composed of five faculty members, three Student Council representatives, and the two senior staff editors of the Echo.

Editorial additions increase the staff to twenty members. The business staff is made up of eight students.

Ten Selected Soloists For Messiah Presentation

Ten soloists have been selected for the sixteenth annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah", scheduled for December 12. Mary Holly Webb, Lois Deobler, Dora Evalyn Smith, Peggy Wakefield, Jane Martenis, Gloria Measemer, Conrad Eaddy, Herbert Keene, Dick Ribble, and Harold Hunter will sing a total of eighteen selections.

The soprano recitatives, "There were shepherd's abiding in the field", and "And the angel said unto them," will be sung by Mary Holly Webb. Miss Webb is a junior theory major from Harrisburg, Pa.

Lois Deobler, soprano, will sing ariosos, "And lo, the angel of the Lord," and "And suddenly there was with the angel." She is from Chicago, Illinois, and is a junior voice major.

Dora Evalyn Smith, second semester freshman voice major, will sing the soprano air, "Come unto Him." Miss Smith's home is in Maryville.

The air, "I know that My Redeemer liveth." will be given by soprano Peggy Wakefield of Knoxville. Miss Wakefield, sophomore, is a voice major.

Alto Jane Martenis will sing the recitative, "Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened," and the air "He shall feed his flock." She is a senior voice major from Elkton, Maryland.

Sohpomore voice major Gloria Measemer from Crossville, will sing the alto recitative "Behold a virgin shall conceive" and the air "He was despised."

Tenor Conrad Eaddy, freshman voice major from St. Petersburg, Florida, will sing the arioso, "Comfort ye," and the air, "Every valley."

"Thy rebuke hath broken his heart," a recitative, and "Behold and see," an air, will be sung by Herbert Keene. His home is in Wilmington, Delaware and he is a freshman music education major.

Dick Ribble, bass, will sing the recitative "Thus saith the Lord" and the air "But who may abide." He is from Philadelphia, Pa., and is majoring in English.

"Behold, I tell you a mystery" and the air, "The trumpet shall sound," will be sung by bass Harold Hunter. Hunter, from Maryville, is an English major.

All except Hunter and Keene are members of the Vesper Choir.

Harry H. Harter will direct the oratorio for the second year. The entire chorus rehearses every Sunday at 3:30 p. m.

College Conducts Second Workshop For Teachers

Maryville College is conducting a public school teachers' workshop under the direction of Dr. David H. Briggs. More than 90 teachers have enrolled for the nine-week period; classes meet from 4:30 to 9:30 p. m. on week days.

Dr. Briggs attended a meeting in Nashville on Thursday, October 21, for the directors of public school teachers' workshops. The meeting was called by Dr. Hardison of the State Department of Education in connection with the workshops being held in Tennessee colleges.

Began Monday

On Saturday, October 16, the teachers of Maryville and Alcoa, and Blount County and neighboring counties met to organize this year's workshops. The first group began work Monday. In addition to Dr. Briggs, the following persons are directing the five divisions: Miss Elsie Burrell, supervising teacher of Blount County, "Teaching Science in the Elementary School"; Miss Mary Alice Whitehead and Walter Coker, in-

Let's Show Our Gratitude

Maryville, as a community, has already pledged over $50,000 toward our new chapel. Within the next few weeks, a total nearly three times that large will be asked of these people.

So far, we, the students, have not been asked to participate. Now, we are requested to march in a parade on Monday to show the townsfolk our gratitude and interest. Classes will be excused for that time. In all fairness to those who are working for us, let's turn out Monday.

Most of the upperclassmen remember Voorhees chapel. It would seem only fair that the newer students be given a chance to have a chapel to remember. It won't take long, it's good exercise, and it's only fair to do our share in building the memorial to Dr. Wilson.

Student Council

A plan to revise the Student Program Committee was accepted by Student Council this week. President Jim Black has appointed Vera Lusk, Bill Nish, and Roger Cowan to the three student posts on this committee. The names of the three faculty members of the Council will be announced at a later date. It is hoped that this revision will encourage the students to voice their opinions with regard to the student programs.

Plans for student body attendance at the Carson-Newman football game were approved by the Council at the session last week. President Black announced at the session that the proposal had been sent to the Executive Council of the faculty for final approval.

Procedure for the election of the Barnwarming Queen, King, and court was settled when the Council decided that nominations were to be held Thursday morning after chapel, and the election the following day. Council members are to have charge of the balloting.

Try-outs for positions on the debate squad are coming up soon, so we thought that now is the proper time to offer some good advice we once heard, to the future debaters.

In promulgating your esteemed cogitation, or articulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable philosophical observation, beware of platitudinos ponderosity. Let your conversational commnications possess clarified consciceness, a coalescent consistency and a co-ordinated cogNancy. Eschew all conglomeration of fatuous garrulity, babelment, and incongruous affections. Se dulously avoid all poly-syllabic profundity, pompos prolixity, or pretenious vacuity, and above all, prolixity, or pretentious vacuity, and above all, don't use big words.

TALK OF THE WEEK Donald Reeves

Echo Forum

Dear Editor,

One day—two years ago—while walking in the College Woods, I had a vision. I saw in my mind's eye a rustic log shelter tucked cozily away in the pines. It was a student lodge.

As I stood on the bridge at the present picnic area and looked back toward the College campus, I realized that there on the hillside above me would be an ideal place for the students of Maryville College to have a lodge for their recreational use the year around, in fair weather or foul. I imagined gay groups of fellows and girls dressed to fit the weather, a friendly fire lighting a circle of warm fellowship, the beckoning invitation of aromatic coffee and sizzling meat, the engaging swing of a "portable" radio, and the welcome of a warm shelter with cold wind around its corners or the muffled beat of rain on its roof.

For a long time now it has been the desire of some on the campus to build such a lodge in order that we might, to a greater degree, enjoy the beauty and seclusion of our lovely College Woods. Due to the pressing needs of the present building program, however, the costs of labor and materials have put a damper on all "other" building. It is for this reason that I point to the fact that practically all of the necessary materials are available in their natural usable state at no expense and we have the permission of the College to utilize them. The only problem, then, is the necessary labor. There are many students on the Hill with the necessary amount of technical know-how to complete such a project. No doubt there are many people also who would like to contribute a small portion of their time to building a student lodge, realizing, of course, the real service that would be rendered not only to themselves and the present student body, but to many classes down the years. What do you think, Editor?

Sincerely,
Sam C. Broyles.

GERMAN CLUB

On Monday evening, October 25, at 6:45 p. m. in the Y rooms, German Club will present a program of German music. Miss Peggy Wakefield, soprano, will sing four songs by Schubert, and Miss Irene Launitz, pianist, will play works by Beethoven and Schumann.

New members elected to the group include Bill Carroll, Tom Cummings, Rosemary Gambill, Marion McBride, John Morrison, Herb Palmer, Fraulein Rodemann, and Earl Shelkopf.

Dr. Harold Martin Speaks In Chapel Next Thursday

The Rev. Dr. Harold Martin, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Bloomington, Illinois, will be guest speaker at chapel service Thursday morning.

Dr. Martin has a daughter, Susan, who is a freshman at Maryville and a son, Jim Martin, who graduated in 1947.

Three Students Confined In College Hospital

George Ogle, sophomore, was admitted to Blount Memorial Hospital Monday, October 18, with a kidney injury he received while playing intramural football.

In the college infirmary this week are Bob Holly and David Cowan who were admitted Tuesday, and Jean Davis who was admitted Wednesday.

Alumni Office Arranges References For Seniors

Graduating seniors who wish to have faculty references and letters of recommendation may submit requests for these to the Alumni Office.

A group meeting of the senior class will be held and the details explained then. Arrangements can also be made to have identification photographs made to accompany the references.

AAUW DISCUSSES HIGHER EDUCATION

Miss Viola Lightfoot and Mrs. Paul Beach spoke last night to the Maryville chapter of the American Association of University Women. "American College Education" was the topic of the Maryville College registrar, Miss Lightfoot; Mrs. Beach spoke on high school education.

Mrs. Hugh Crawford, Jr., was hostess for this month's meeting.

The AAUW is composed of graduates of colleges and universities which have been approved by the organization. Maryville College is one of the institutions on this approved list. There are approximately 25 members in the MC chapter.

WORKSHOP HEARS NABHOLZ, MOSBY

Hedy Nabholz and Ilda Mosby will read at the next meeting of Writer's Workshop October 27. Juanita Johnson and Craig Fisher will criticize their work.

"The Sportsman" by Juanita Johnson, and "A Chapel on the Hill Again" by Ben Paxton were read at the meeting last Wednesday. Miss Johnson's humorous essay was criticized by Duncan Bennett. Arthur Bushing, assistant professor in the English department, criticized Paxton's work which was written as a thirty-minute radio play for the current chapel campaign. It will be heard soon over WGAP.

Sports Echoes

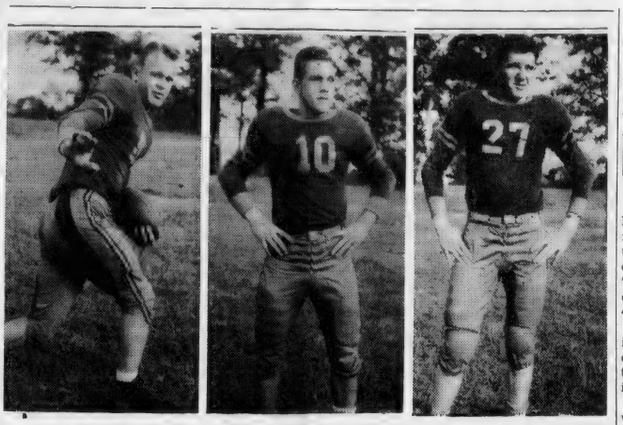
●THIS IS THE BIG WEEK-END in the Scot pigskin parade. With three down out of four played, the Maryville Highlanders play the Emory and Henry Wasps in an attempt to gain back a little lost prestige before the homecoming crowds. Reports are that Coach Conley Snidow's Wasps are stronger this year than ever before. The Wasps have dropped three of their five games this season, with two wins over Carson Newman and Guilford by a 12-6, 13-7 talley respectively. Last Saturday the East Kentucky State Maroons gave them a 35-6 drubbing which, no doubt, leaves them fighting mad and more ready to revenge their 1946 and 1947 beatings handed them by the Scots.

●FROM ONE TO ANOTHER—Scot cagemen will be found back in their old headquarters sweating it out and getting into shape for the 1948 basketball season here on the hill. Basketball will come into its own in not-too-many more weeks, and sports talk will turn from "foreward pass" to "fast break" and from "fifteen yard penalties' to "foul shots." Last year's net-men brought the Scots a 13-9 win-loss ratio, with a total of 1193 points for Maryville and 1094 points for the opponents.

●SCOTTY THIN-CLADS started off the year right by winning from Sewanee, but in spite of the efforts of Coach Johnson and the splendid running by the members of the team, the harriers dropped to the U. T. Orange and White Wednesday afternoon. Better luck on the return race with the Orange and White come November 10.

●THE E.T.S. BUCS gave the Scots another run-around last week-end, bringing the tally to one win and three losses for the worst year since the war for the Highlanders. We wonder what is lacking this year. The material is here, and certainly our opponents have not improved so much in so short a time. Let us not make it one win and four losses this Saturday evening—rather a 2-3 ratio which would help morale and thus possibly pull us out of a hole so that the season will not end in too great a debacle after two years of winning football.

THE NEWS THAT SIX of Maryville's top men will probably be out of the Emory and Henry game this week is very unwelcome. The team is bucking a run of hard luck this season with first one and then another player on the bench. With a tough homecoming game looking at us, this is no time to have the good men out with injuries.



A WEEK from today the Highlanders trek to Cullowhee, (rhymes with the title of the song) North Carolina, for what promises to be a rough game.

The Cats will be after poor Scotty's blood, and they may get some—especially since the ETS Bucs put the bite on them.

Cullowhee, in case you are interested in a place with such a name, is in the western tip of North Carolina and is a small college town. Sylva, N. C., the county seat of Jackson Co. in which North Carolina State Teachers College is situated, is the largest nearby town of any significance. Cullowhee is about 40 miles, as the crow flies, from the Tennessee line and is situated on the Little Tennessee River.

SCOTS MEET E-H IN HOMECOMING FRAY

Maryville's Scotty eleven play host tonight to the Yellow and Blue Wasps of Emory and Henry. The Scotties, with three games lost out of four games played, will be playing before the homecoming crowd here on Wilson Field.

BUCS TAKE SCOTS, 20-0

East Tennessee State's Blue and Gold Bucs upset the Maryville Scotties last Saturday at Johnson City, by a score of 20-0—thus gaining sweet revenge at last for Coach L. T. (Preacher) Roberts' Buccaneer eleven, who bowed to Maryville in 1946 by a 52-2 tally and again in 1947 by 31-6. The 1946 defeat at the hands of the Scotties broke an undefeated season for East Tennessee State.

Scots Punt

Fogarty, for Maryville, received the kick-off and ran the ball back to the Scot 31 yard line where the Highlanders were stopped for three downs. Berrong punted on the fourth down to the Bucs 30, and the Scotties held the Blue and Gold there for the next three downs when they punted back to the Maryville 25. Fogarty ran the ball back to the Scot 42 where Berrong again punted to ETS.

At this point the Buccaneers uncorked an aerial offensive which carried them into scoring position on the Maryville 15 yard marker. Musselman, playing at left half-back for the Bucs, ran wide around his own right end to cross the Scotty goal line for the first score of the game. The try for an extra point failed. The first quarter ended with the ball in ETS hands on the Scotty 24 yard line.

Stop E.T.S.

During the second quarter the Scotties fought hard down in their own territory. They succeeded in stopping two scoring threats on the 12 and 10 yard lines, but the ETS Bucs came over on them again and succeeded in the try for the extra point, which left the score at 13-0 at half time.

In the third quarter the ETS eleven marched steadily down the field from their own 24 to the Maryville nine yard line. At this point Vest, quarterback for the Bucs, threw a short pass to Holsclaw at right end which brought in the third tally of the game. Conversion was good, and the score stood at 20-0.

Belated Offensive

The Scotties made a belated offensive early in the fourth period, which brought them to the Bucs 16 yard line. The Blue and Gold then drove them back into their own territory, and soon had them on the defensive again. The ball game ended with the ball in Scotty hands on their own 40 yard marker.

U. T. Harriers Better Maryville Runners

Wednesday afternoon University of Tennessee harriers outdistanced the Maryville men to finish in 18:08.9—a time which has been bettered by Maryville in practice running. UT scored 19 points while Maryville scored 42, giving the University a decisive victory.

Trent, Schnider, and DeVault came in the first three places for UT. in that order, as Mabry and Erisman finished fourth and fifth for MC. Key and Reeder came in sixth and seventh for UT, while the others, in the order in which they finished, are as follows: Fowler, UT.; Downey, UT; Kidder, Kay, Menges, Mulford, and Thurston, all from Maryville.

VARSITY CAGERS START PRACTICE

Varsity basketball practice got under way officially last Monday, with approximately 25 hopefuls on hand, including eight who had varsity experience last year. Ray Lillard, captain of last year's cage squad, will be in charge of the practice sessions until Coach Honaker takes control when football season is over.

Three sessions a week are planned for the next few weeks. Practice will be on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 3:30 p. m. in the Alumni Gym. Anyone interested in trying out is urged to attend these practices.

Point System Begins Volleyball Tournament

Point System volleyball tournament between the Chillies and the Howies will be played on November 2, 4, and 9. All games will be at 4:30 p. m. in the Intramural Gym.

A test on the rules of the game will be given October 26 for point system members.

Scots Travel To WNC College For Next Tilt

Next Saturday night the Scotties take the field against the Western North Carolina Teachers College. The Cats, under the tutelage of Head Coach Tom Young, have developed a fast offensive game using the single wing formation. Western North Carolina Teachers game is one of the few on this year's schedle in which the Scotties will not be playing against the popular "T" formation.

New to Schedule

Maryville has not tilted with the WNC eleven since before the war, making this the first time the two teams have met in quite a few years. The tussle with the Cats was added to the Scotty schedule during the summer months to fill an open pocket between Emory and Henry homecoming and the TPI game which is to be played at home this year.

Good Season

The Cats, hailing from Cullowhee, North Carolina, have had a successful season to date in this 1948 football year. They tramped East Tennessee State's proud Buccaneers (who, in turn, tramped us 20-0), and they tied Appalachian College, another of their old rivals. They will undoubtedly be out to give the visiting Scotties a rough gridiron battle.

Big Team

Coach Young's Cats are no group of little fellows. Their backfield is a good deal heavier than the Highlanders, but the linemen on the two teams are about evenly matched for weight. They are expected to depend more upon power for their yardage than upon passing, and their attack will probably be of the steamroller variety with little finesse or tricky handling of the ball.

Intramurals....

By Maynard Noble

Intramural soccer play begins Monday afternoon at 4:30 with four teams scheduled for competition during the season. It will be closed with the All-Star game Thanksgiving afternoon. All games except the last will be played at 4:30.

There was very little activity in Intramurals this week, as only those going out for soccer took advantage of the opportunity to practice with their teams.

Volleyball starts Monday, November 22, following the close of soccer. If some of the teams wish to continue play into the second semester, a schedule will be worked out later. Plans call for basketball to begin about Janary 17.

The soccer schedule is as follows:

All-Star Game

Coach Conley Snidow's Yellow-topped eleven have let themselves be tramped in three out of five grid tussles this season. Eastern Kentucky State's Maroons ran over them last Saturday at Bristol, Tennessee, and walked off the winners by 35-6, while Milligan beat them 6-0 and Hampden-Sydney sent them down to a 19-13 defeat. Their two wins were over Carson-Newman by 12 to 6 and Guilford by 13-7.

Wasp Stars

Brewer Sheets, freshman back who has been outstanding this year, was out of last Saturday's game due to an injury, but he may be back with the Wasps this week-end. Kellerman, the Wasps star halfback, will spear-head the offensive against the Scotties, and, as the play gets under way, we may expect some good football from Coach Snidow's vaunted "T" formation.

Last year the Scotties ran down the Wasps to the tune of a 24-7 runover on home grounds. In 1946, the Scots undefeated year, the Highlanders rode down Emory and Henry by a 19-6 tally. Revenge for two such trouncings will undoubtedly drive the Wasps on to greater efforts to set back the Scotties still further this season.

Elaborate Ceremonies

Elaborate ceremonies will mark this football game of the year. The pre-game period will see the crowning of the homecoming queen by Captain Alan Rock. Between halves the band will put on a show for the expected record breaking crowd.

The Scotties will suffer this Saturday because many men will be on the bench due to injuries. Merrimen should be back at his position in the backfield however, and Rock will again be able to play after being laid up for three weeks because of a badly sprained ankle. Ray Holsey, center and, Isenburg, guard, will probably be out this week. Both suffered foot injuries during scrimmage this week. Roy Kramer is still out of the line due to a bad foot, and Andes and Lewelling are out due to an elbow and leg injury respectively.

United Nations Day Celebrated Sunday

UN's charter begins, "We the people of the United Nations. . .."

For the first time in history people all over the world are going to join together on the same day to observe a common purpose—the achievement of enduring peace through the United Nations. That is the real meaning of United Nations Day, October 24, 1948, which will be observed by the United States and all the other 57 countries that are members of the United Nations. That day has been set aside to give ordinary men and women and their families an opportunity to share personally in the work of their United Nations.

The UN General Assembly on October 31, 1947, adopted a resolution naming October 24—the day the Charter of the United Nations came into effect—as United Nations Day and inviting all member governments to cooperate in observing it. The resolution declares that the day "shall be devoted to making known to the peoples of the world the aims and achievements of the United Nations and to gaining their support for the work of the United Nations. '

'Stock-taking'

United Nations Day will be a day of international stock-taking, to see what progress we have made, and of planning, to see how we can accomplish what remains to be done. The birthday of UN is an appropriate occasion to measure the growth of better international relations and to look ahead to new years of peace and freedom based on mutual confidence and good will.

By itself, the United Nations will not guarantee peace or solve problems of how to live and work together; but through it the peoples of the earth will be able to know and use their common will to achieve peace by making their UN stronger, sounder, and more effective.

'Open Door—East and West'

US State Secretary George C. Marshall has said:

"United Nations is a forum of daily world negotiation. It is the world's vehicle for dealing with basic economic and social maladjustments, for developing safeguards of essential freedoms, for advancing the development of dependent peoples and areas.

"It is a forum of negotiation where charges or distortions are held answerable, where violations of treaty obligations must meet the verdict of world opinion, and where those responsible must answer for their conduct. UN negotiaion affords continuing working contacts in international relations and an open door to communication between East and West.

"What is needed for the achievement of a world order based on law and dedicated to peace and progress is a widespread improvement in the material and social well-being of the peoples of the world. The responsibility for such improvement will always rest primarily upon the peoples and governments themselves. In this field United Nations can, however, play an increasingly active role."

Not Change But Fidelity

Answering those who would revamp UN's organization, charging it as cause of the world's difficulties, the Secretary continued:

"The problems today presented to those who desire peace are not questions of structure. Nor are they problems solvable merely by new forms of organization. They require performances of obligations already undertaken, fidelity to pledges already given.

"All new efforts to attain order and organization in the affairs of men require time to grow roots in the loyalties of men. The history of our own people testifies to this necessity. Let us not in our impatience and our fears sacrifice the hard-won gains that we now possess in the United Nations."

Mock Campaign Begins Second Week

The mock political campaign sponsored by IRC and the political science department swings into its second week today amid electioneering by all major parties. Registration was held last Thursday and Friday, and the election will occur on November 2.

Maryville's Democratic campaign is paced by Dick Sprague, and Carl Lindsay heads the Republicans. Wallace followers are led by Bob Brown, Dick Newman, and Delmas Watson. Aubrey Galyon is chairman of the States' Rights Democratic Party.

Inter-Club Council Elects New Officers

New officers of the Inter-Club Council, elected at last Monday's meeting, are Stuart Saul, vice-chairman, and Helen Gentry, secretary. The council, which is made up of presidents of all clubs and organizations on campus, will meet next week to appoint committees to work out problems concerning the council. The purpose of the council is to regulate the schedules and functions of the clubs so that their activities will not overlap.

Persons who have written radio scripts or short stories should contact Ben Paxton or Jim Black.

FRENCH CLUB

Miss Almira Bassett showed slides of places which she visited in France at French Club, Thursday evening October 14.

The club has been asked to prepare menus in French for a dinner to be given at the East Tennessee Educational Association meeting, October 28.

A special program is being planned for the meeting on November 11.

Annual Fred Hope Fund Honors Beloved Graduate

Each year students are asked to participate in a drive to contribute to the Fred Hope Fund held in memory of one of Maryville's outstanding and beloved graduates. The money raised for the past two years, and the money of this year's drive is administered by the Rev. Wallace Martin, a former Maryville student, now head of the mission work in North China.

In a letter received May 26 from Miss Elizabeth C. Wright, Presbyterian Mission, Peiping, China, the use of the money is explained. The $1400 reased by Maryville College students in the drive of 1946-47, seemed relatively small in our money, but when exchanged into Chinese currency the money amounted to millions of dollars.

Money Used In Mission

One half of the gift, $172,000,000 is being spent as follows: Bibles, hymn books, and other badly needed religious literature was purchased; other equipment such as benches for the visual education room was bought.

The other half of the money is being kept for future use. Miss Wright states that several things are badly needed, especially repair work on typewriters; the money will probably be used in some such way.

Many families of the students at the school live in places still occupied by the Communist army and visit their homes only by taking great risks. One such case is a girl, Chang Shu Hsien, who is in the senior high school.

Chinese Girl Aided

Chang's home lay on the border of the fighting territory. To reach it she had to travel by train which was constantly raided by opposing forces. While going home for the Christmas vacation, she barely escaped with her life when a hand grenade was thrown into the group waiting upon the platform.

When Chang arrived home, even greated danger awaited her. Plunderers came nightly and took clothing and members of the family for ransom. She had to hide hurridly under the wood pile until the danger had passed.

The girl is now back at school, saddened by her experience and without funds to see her through. It is people of this type that the fund of Fred Hope serves.

Sun Yu Chuan's Letter

Sun Yu Chuan, another student at the School of Gentleness, wrote the following letter to the faculty and students of Maryville College:

Chung Teu Girl's Middle School
24 Ma Ta Jen Htung
Peiping, China
March 19, 1948

This is my first English letter that I have written so I will make many mistakes, but my teacher Miss Wright will correct them.

Do you want to hear about my school? My school belongs to the Presbyterian Mission. It is a girls' high school. There are a big playground, library, and a garden in my school. There are many pine trees and other trees in every place. I have such a beautiful school for me to study. How happy I am!

We have three American teachers and many Chinese teachers in our school. The teachers here are very kind and treat us well and my classmates are also good to me.

500 Attend School

There are over 500 girls who are studying here. We wear a school uniform which is made of blue cotton cloth. Spring has come and it is warmer now. I always play basketball, volleyball, and other games with my week, five classes of conversation schoolmates when the classes are over.

I learn athletics, biology, Chinese, English, geography, history, mathematics, music, and physics. We have many lessons. I like them and study them hard. We have eight classes of English a and two classes of grammar.

Many of my schoolmates live in the school. They came here from the country. Chinese food is very good. Chinese always eat vegetables, eggs, beans, corn and danties made of meat, but boarders do not eat the best food because it is too expensive. We use bowls, dishes, chopsticks, and spoons when we eat. We do not use forks and knives.

Self-Help Department

There is an Industrial selfhelp department in my school that other schools in Peiping have not. There are many industrial goods and stockings in the Industrial Department and we can buy many things in it.

Our teacher read us your letter and I am very happy to hear from you. I am very glad to get letter from you again.

Your Chinese friend,
Sun Yu Chuan

When the Fred Hope Drive begins this year, remember our Chinese friends and give generously.

GHOSTS, GOBLINS STALK CAMPUS TONIGHT AT 8

'Canterville Ghost' House of Monsters Frighten Students

Three big parties are planned for tonight at 8 p. m. in celebration of Halowe'en. The freshmen, sophomore and junior classes are hosts of the parties to which the seniors and faculty members are invited.

The freshman party will be held in Intramural gymnasium amid cobwebs and witches in a land of magic. Alan Fort and Jessie Dye, who are in charge have a surprise program in store for those who attend.

Other chairmen for the party are Don Edgar, decorations and Marilyn Schnee, refreshments.

Sophomore Monsters

Alumni Gymnasium will be transformed into a house of monsters by the sophomore class. Gaily costumed, they will bob for apples, square dance, play games, and generally enter into the spirit of the occasion.

The feature of the program, to be presented at 8:15, will be "The House of Monsters," a horror play which the directors, Jimmy Dance, and Charles Williams, promise will outdo anything Hollywood has ever produced. Frankenstein's monster, the Wolfman, the Mummy, and Count Dracula, during the course of the play, pursue Louise Lloyd, Andy Clark and Ray Kuhn thru the President's residence, urged on by the Mad Doctor and the Hunchback.

Five Murders Committed

Altogether, five murders are committed during the action of the play. Blackmail, housebreaking, amnesia, assault, and murder figure prominently in the plot.

Louise Masters, Bill McIlvaine, and Chester Schieber are handling technical details of the production. The cast includes Louise Lloyd, Janet Cummings, Andy Clark, Ray Kuhn, Jimmy Dance, Bill Varker, James Townsend, Charles Williams, Joe Poland, Bill Starr and Paul Kidder.

Following the horror show, refreshments will be served.

Juniors in Bartlett

The Junior party will be held in Bartlett Gymnasium with promise of fun and entertainment for all. The evening will begin with a trip through a horror chamber. Rotating games and relays will be played by sections of students.

Climaxing the evening will be a short adaptation of "The Canterville Ghost," which will be presented as a radio play. Characters include Ed Pancoast, Dorothy Holverson, Margaret Newland, Craig Fisher, and Martha Kincaid.

Those serving on the party committee are Wanda Onifer, chairman, Mary Holly Webb, Tommy Hair, Ruth Rogers, Charlie Warner, and Ken Newell.

FACULTY HEARS BAPTIST DELEGATE TO WORLD COUNCIL

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays will speak to the Faculty Club Monday evening, November 1, at 7:30 o'clock.

President of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., since 1940, Dr. Mays was a delegate from the National Baptist Church to the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam, Holland. He took an active part in these meetings.

Dr. Mays was vice-president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America during 1945 and 1946. An outstanding lecturer and writer, Dr. Mays received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

YMCA Presents Program 'Music For Every Need'

"Music for Every Need" is the theme of the YMCA program for tomorrow afternoon. The meeting is at 1:30 p.m. in Bartlett auditorium.

Chapel Fund Drive General Campaign Reports $56,317

At the first report meeting of the General Division of the Chapel Fund campaign, a total of $56,317 was reported. The group met last night in Pearsons dining hall with Jack Proffitt, head of the General Division. This total includes the previously reported $53,639 from the Advance Gifts drive.

Also presented last night was a repeat of "A Chapel on the Hill Again,'" a script written by Marian Pope and Ben Paxton.

Broadcast over WGAP at 8:30 p.m., this 30-minute program dealt with the student life of Dr. Wilson, emphasizing the fact that the chapel is a memorial to him. The program included music by twenty members of the Vesper Choir. The first presentation was over WNOX, Knoxville, last Sunday.

Monday morning the entire student body, led by the pep committee and band, paraded through the business district of town. The students carried banners and smaller individual flags that were placed in store windows.

A kick-off dinner for the General Division of the campaign was held in the college dining hall last Monday night, with Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, pastor of Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church, as guest speaker. The dinner meeting was presided over by John C. Crawford, general chairman of the campaign. Dr. Lloyd introduced the guest speaker.

Dr. Barbour, well-known to Maryville College students, spoke many times in the old chapel. He is a trustee of the college and familiar with its financial need.

Mr. Proffitt briefed the members of the teams on the plan and methods to be followed in solicitation. He declared, "Our answer . . . is that our objective. . . a chapel on the hill again—is much bigger and more important than any personal matter which may be advanced as an excse for not giving."

At the conclusion of the meeting, workers had an opportunity to select from prepared lists the names of the persons they would solicit.

GIRLS' CHOIR PLANS FOR SADIE HAWKINS DAY NOVEMBER 12

Sadie Hawkins Day, the annual celebration of Dogpatch's most important event, will be held on Friday night, November 12. This program, for the benefit of the girls on the campus, is sponsored each year by the All Girls' Choir.

A script for the program was written by Jimmy Dance, and present plans include a contest to determine the best characterization of any person in the "Li'l Abner" comic strip. "He's Took" tags will be on sale for five cents next week. Watch the Echo and bulletin boards for further information about Sadie Hawkins Day.

'Hansel and Gretel' Staged For First Opera Workshop

"Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdink is the operetta which the newly-formed Opera Workshop has chosen to present next January. Bob Holley, Ben Paxton, and Mary Mitchell Woolridge have been named student directors. The staging and designing will be done by the advanced art classes.

So that several voice majors may take part, different leads have been selected for each of the operetta's three acts. Hansel and Gretel will be played by Gloria Measamer and Peggy Wakefield, first act; Lauren Johnson and Patricia Cox, second act; and Mary Holly Webb and Lois Doebler, third act.

The supporting cast includes: Evalyn Smith, witch; Conrad Eaddy, father; Jane Martenis, mother; Herbert Keene, sandman; Ruth Ramsey, dawn fairy. Members of the High Society will act as angels in the second act.

Accompanists are the Misses Thelma Nelson and Alice Archibald of the music department, and Fred Sieber. Faculty advisors are Mrs. Lenore Courtney, drama department; Charlotte Johnson, art department; and Harry H. Harter, music department.

"Opera Workshop is not an activity, but an outgrowth of classwork in the music, art, and drama departments," Mr. Harter explained.

Maryville College Holds Mock Election Tuesday

With national election day, November 2, only three days away, leaders and supporters of the major parties are swinging into the final stretch of campus campaigning. The mock presidential election, sponsored jointly by IRC and the political science department, has succeeded in attracting the active participation of 435 registered voters, who will determine the outcome of the presidential race.

Donald Dickinson, who directed the registration of prospective voters and will handle the voting, announces that the election booth is to be set up on Tuesday, November 2, between Pearsons Hall and the Bookstore. Election officials and clerks will open the booth for voting from 12:30 p. m. until six o'clock.

Results of registration broken down by political parties:

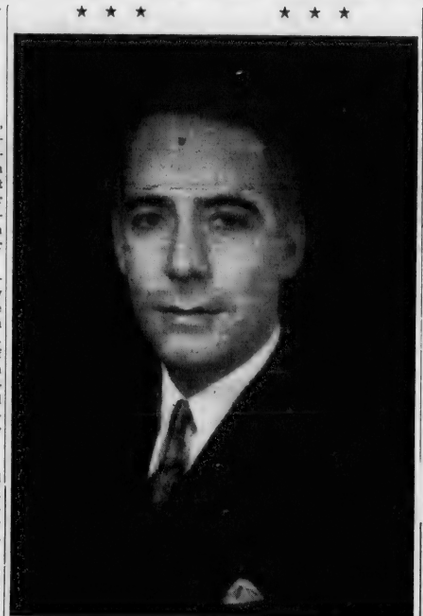
Registration Results

Republican	232
Democratic	77
States' Rights Democratic	57
Progressive	22
Independent	39
American Labor	2
Vegetarian	4
Socialist	2

Of a total of 435 registered voters, more than half registered as Republicans. Carl Lindsay, chairman of the campus Republican campaign, announced complete confidence in the election of the Republican candidate, Thomas E. Dewey. Lindsay will speak at the joint political rally to be conducted by IRC on Monday night, November 1.

Wallace Supporters Rally

The supporters of Henry Wallace, led on campus by Dick Newman, Bob Brown, Delmas Watson, and John Laney, came out 50 strong to the Wallace rally in Alumni Gym last week. Following speeches by party chairmen, refreshments were served and plans discussed for more extensive campaigning to continue until election day.



The States' Rights Democratic party, under the direction of Aubrey Galyon, held its political rally on October 25. The Dixiecrats have announced that the main issue of the national campaign is the question of states' rights, and Galyon will speak at the IRC rally on this point.

Dick Sprague will address the joint political rally on behalf of Harry S. Truman, the Democratic candidate. Sprague expressed the belief that voters are behind Tru-

FEBRUARY MEETING LEADER NAMED

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan

Dr. H. M. Morgan Conducts Annual College Services

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, Pa., will lead the February Meetings this year. Dr. Sidney E. Stringham of Jackson, Mo., will again be the song leader. The seventy-third series of Meetings are scheduled for February 2 through February 10.

The February Meetings originated in 1877 with an emphasis on the necessity of Christiantity for character building. During that week, all other events and athletic contests are suspended except for Saturday evening. The speaker usually carries out two themes, one in the morning and one in the evening services.

Dr. Morgan has led the meetings twice before, in 1937, and in 1941. He was born in Boston, Massachusetts, the son of the late Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, world renowned preacher, Bible lecturer, and author. Dr. G. C. Morgan came to America from England at the request of the famous evangelist, Dwight L. Moody. He served as pastor of the church his son now serves in Philadelphia. Later he returned to London as pastor of the great Westminster Chapel.

Dr. Morgan takes a prominent place in the Presbyterian Church and is a member of the General Council.

IRC Sponsors Co-op Newspaper Subscription Plan

International Relations Club, in cooperation with Lamar Memorial Library, is sponsoring a co-operative newspaper subscription plan. This plan will supplement the library's current newspaper coverage by introducing a selected number of nationally known daily papers from sections over the country.

This plan will afford an opportunity for students and faculty from several areas to subscribe cooperatively for their hometown newspapers at a minimum cost. It is hoped that the addition of these newspapers will heighten the interest of Maryville's students and faculty in national and international affairs as interpreted by a variety of newspaper angles and editorials.

Area Co-op Subscriptions

Cooperatives are being formed with area representatives in charge to finance the subscriptions, which will be paid for equally by the cooperating persons.

Sign-up sheets carrying the names of the newspapers to which the IRC hopes to subscribe have been placed on the bulletin boards in each dormitory. These newspapers are "The Atlanta Constitution," "The Baltimore Sun," "The Birmingham News," "The Chattanooga Daily Times," "The Chicago Daily News," "The Detroit Free Press," "The Los Angeles Daily News," "The Commercial Appeal" of Memphis, "The Miami Herald," "The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin," "The Washington Star," and "The Tampa Morning Tribune."

National DAR Officers Visit Campus On Tour

The National Board of the Daughters of the American Revolution were guests on campus from Wednesday noon until Thursday morning. The Board of more than 50 members representing 32 states.

Traveling with the board were president-general Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne of Indiana and three vice-presidents-general, Mrs. James B. Patton of Ohio, Mrs. Frank Edgar Lee from California, and Miss Katherine Matthies of Connecticut. With them was Miss Edla S. Gibson of Buffalo, New York, the chairman of the National Board of Approved Schools, of which Maryville College is a member. Maryville marked the termination of a tour of six approved schools in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, and Tennessee.

Long Relations

There has been co-operative relationship between the college and the Daughters of the American Revolution for approximately half a century. In 1903 the first scholarship and self-help funds were solicited by Miss Margaret E. Henry, teacher and scholarship secretary at Maryville College. Some of the first benefactors were DAR's, of which organization she, too, was a member. In time, other members and chapters joined in providing current funds, usually for student help.

Luncheon, Tours

At 1 p. m. a luncheon was served for the women by the Home Economics Department. Dr. Lloyd presided over the luncheon, presenting different speakers and introducing Maryville College to the group. Mrs. Lloyd, Miss Clemmie Henry, and Dr. Frank McClelland also spoke.

Representing the student body were Chester Phillips, president of the senior class, and Hedy Nabholz, vice-president of the YWCA. Addresses were also given by Miss Viola Lightfoot, by the president-general and by the three vice-presidents-general.

After the luncheon, Dr. Mc-

ETEA Holds Forty-Fourth Annual Meeting

East Tennessee Education Association held its forty-fourth annual meeting at Knoxville on October 28 and 29. This association consists of eighty-five hundred members and thirty-three departments.

President Goodrich E. White, of Emory University, Atlanta, was the main speaker. He gave a first-hand account of the epoch-making "Report of the President's Commission on Higher Education," which is a controversial document. President White was a member of the commission.

A discussion, "Are Colleges Really Taking Advantage of Audio-Visual Aids?" was led by Professor Paul L. Palmer, of the University of Chattanooga. Actual data on Tennessee colleges was presented at that time.

Outstanding examples of the most up-to-date sound films for college use were demonstrated by Mr. James E. Arnold, director of the University of Tennessee film service. Mr. Arnold also showed some recent film-strips, color slides, and phonograph records which aid in teaching the humanities, and the social and physical sciences in college.

FRENCH CLUB

Bill Deihl discussed current events in France at French Club, Thursday evening, October 28. Later a spelling bee in French was conducted by Miss Catherine Wilkinson and Virginia Schwarz.

Ten Courses Added To Curriculum For Next Semester

Ten courses will be added to the College curriculum for the second semester, Dean E. R. Hunter announced this week.

The course in art appreciation, for upper-class non-art majors, will be revived after a lapse of time. It is being scheduled at the same hour as Music 313 so there can be an interchange of teachers and a few combined sessions. The subject will be listed as Art 313A, taught by Miss Charlotte Johnson.

Studio drawing and painting is a course designed for non-art majors who are interested in art and may be of either beginning or advanced standing. There will be opportunity to work in such media as charcoal, pastel, watercolor or oil, according to the needs and interests of class members.

General artistic principles of expression will be considered in connection with class projects. This is a two-hour course offering no credit; it meets with Miss Charlotte Johnson on Wednesdays and is Art 11.

Bible, Chemistry

A new course, introductory problems, Bible 306, will be taught by Dr. J. D. Buchanan and is required of all Bible majors. It will deal with the questions of how sacred scriptures came to be written, how the canon was established, what is meant by inspiration, and how the Bible has been preserved and translated through

The Reverend Mr. James R. Beard, pastor of the Erin Church at Knoxville, Tenn., will be the speaker at Vespers Sunday evening at 7 p. m. The vesper choir under the direction of Harry H. Harter will sing "O Lord, Our God, We Humbly Pray" by William Deihl, and "O Praise Ye God" by Tchaikowsky.

William Deihl, the composer of "O Lord, Our God, We Humbly Pray," is a member of the choir and of the junior class. His composition was published by the Fitzsimmons Publishing Company of Chicago. Deihl is majoring in music theory and composition.

FTA ORGANIZES LOCAL CHAPTER

First official meeting of the newly organized local chapter of the Future Teachers of America will be held Friday, November 12, and the second Friday of every month thereafter. Officers elected at the organizational meeting are: Virginia Hand, president; Betty Emory, vice president; Sarah Durant, secretary; Ray Kirby, treasurer; Bill Carter, librarian; Ann Cook, historian.

The purpose of FTA is to acquaint people who are going into the teaching field with the profession. Merit points are given to members at the rate of one for each hour of work in the chapter. These points are of value to the educational placement bureaus in the placing of graduates.

Membership

All practice teachers, and all other juniors and seniors who are interested, are eligible for membership in the local FTA, which is an affiliate of the National Education Association. Through this organization subscriptions to the NEA Journal and the state educational bulletins are available. Freshmen and sophomores will be invited to join in the spring.

The FTA was organized in colleges in 1939. There are also high school clubs of FTA.

The local chapter will feature at its meetings speakers from other FTA chapters.

Laudable & Censurable

Next Tuesday Maryville's IRC-registered voters will join voters of the nation at large in selecting their choice for President of the United States. The Highland Echo has not supported one candidate against the others and will not do so here; neither shall we attempt to evaluate the national political scene.

Nevertheless, the mock campaign on MC's campus did have certain phases—laudable and censurable—which are of note. At the outset it should be made clear that both IRC and the political science department are to be commended for conducting this experiment in citizenship. (The Echo's poll had been planned in advance of the registration campaign but would not have been an all-campus affair as the campaign has sought to be.)

Therein lies the difficulty. It must be apparent that, although large numbers of students and the College staff have registered, the percentage is so much lower than the national average that the campaign cannot be called a representative election. Normal voting strength for the whole country in a presidential campaign is over half the eligible voters; fewer than 45% of MC's potential voters are registered. It is not unreasonable to think Maryville's staff and student body are better informed and more interested in national affairs than the general public.

Thus, it would seem, either inadequate registration facilities are at fault.

Whether too little publicity be at fault or not for registration, congratulations are due to each of the two "minor" parties on the active interest they have shown. Particularly impressive were the Progressives' slogan leaflets and rally. Perhaps their tactics — along with those of the States' Righters—were unconventional and emotion-appealing, but, compared to the do-nothingism of the "regular" parties, their action was most praiseworthy.

Again by comparison, this time to general politics, the campaign was in good taste. Two lapses from high standards did, however, mar a record of sportsmanship: display of slogans and a picture where other parties had no access (inside the Library) and destruction of a printed poster. Both, of course, are small incidents, but they are not conducive to the type of experiment that was wanted—democracy at work.

Student Council

A committee report and two items of business were taken up in the short Student Council meeting in Bartlett Hall Wednesday evening.

First on the agenda was a report on the committee which met with representatives of Carson-Newman to discuss sportsmanship between the two colleges. The matter is to be placed before the student bodies of both colleges in the near future.

Glen Knecht, head of the Student Bank Committee, gave a report on the progress of organizing a student bank for the college. Mr. Knecht reported on an interview with Mr. Paul Henry, college treasurer. The committee is awaiting reports from other schools which have established the student bank, and a more detailed report will be given during the next meeting of Council.

Vice President John Poland announced three appointees to the ticket committee for the Carson-Newman game. Glen Knecht, Chet Phillips, and Betty Jane Greenwald will organize the sale of tickets, and cooperation of the other members of the Council was requested in selling the tickets. The cost is $1.66 for train fare, and $1 for admission to the game.

Sound & Fury

Counsel To The Wise

Here's the way Drew Pearson—the poor man's Nostrodamus—would have reported last week's Student Council.

In the next column you can see what the rest of the Press will say, but here's the inside story.

Having hidden my wire recorder under a bale of discarded Revised Student Body Constitutions, I placed what was left of some DAR roses (just four in the chandelier and retired to another German classroom. As I Stormed through a miniature copy of "Immensee," my secret device in the Council Chamber reported these subversive activities:

While Council President J. Black stayed away, reading the new book "The Lost Art of Swearing," junior classmen Bill Chalker and Roger Cowan darned sox.

Sophomore representative Jim Lester refused to stand up—even for his (& states') rights. Although his hand, with a needle in it, was raised several times, he would not speak when invited. He just sat on the last row, patching his trousers.

More on uNAMamerican practices next week, Mr. Pearson would add.

The Illiterati

"The Saturday Review of Lit'rachu" advertises this in its Personals Column:

EXPERIENCED MALE TEACHER (BOSTON) available for summer. Specialty—retarded children. Box 820-A.

ecHO-HUMor

Forthwith an explanation why Lamar Library's east end is rent from time to time wth gales of lahftuh (not girls); it is directed for those of the enrollment who are more familiar than we are with the dark interior of the continent Textbookia:

A manual of style for the Highland Echo is now in production—for the third month running. Its title, "What Not to Do on a Freshman Theme," is no more misleading than its contents. Particularly pithy is a section on abbr'v't'ns—abreviations, says an illuminating footnote. Piped a typing staffer, "We abbreviate all months except Ohio, don't we?"

And remembering what the old months rhyme says, "You're smearing peanut butter on your tricycle, Grandma."

Not only was Drew Pearson not there, but a thundering 97.63% of Maryville's student body and faculty failed to show up at last Thursday's Civil Rights debate. Held in the philosophy classroom, Ethics ("even G. Washington would have slept here") was tossed on its conscientous ear by speakers Aubrey Galyon and Bob Brown. What with hundreds of lynchings and dying children bandied about, more than a little enthusiasm could be noted in those observers who were awake. James Kroh and Ima Redd were alternate speakers and could be heard frequently during the debate.

Wallacites passed out campaign throw-aways as promised in chapel. What most visitors were disappointed in was that that no one even balanced a fiddle bow on his nose (a la Acuff), much less sing the printed hill-billy ballads. Song tunes varied from "The Wabash Cannon-Ball" to "Revive Us Again."

What we missed was "Lead On, O Knoxville Journal" and "Vote Straight, Like Peas in a Pod" —the latter to the tune of "R. U., O. M. of G.," of course.

SCARE OF THE WEEK Donald Reeves

Students Take Maryville Campus For Granted

By Mary Lyerly

Maryville, as we see it now, is taken for granted. As far as we present students are concerned, this campus, these "ivy-covered" buildings have always been here, and all anyone had to do was to occupy them (with the exception of the Student Center, which only freshmen take for granted). On the contrary, however, the College had a very humble beginning, and has only been added to through hard work and perseverence of many people.

The college has advanced, going through a series of "growing pains" when the accomodations must have seemed fully as inadequate as now. The buildings have been built at widely-separated times, representing several architectur eras, and serving varied purposes.

Anderson First

As might be expected, Anderson Hall was the first to be erected on the present College site. Begun in 1869, the brick edifice was completed in 1870. This was the College, containing all the classroom and administrative space.

Baldwin Boarding House

But this was not all, for lo and behold, in the same year that Anderson was completed, two dormitories were begun! Baldwin and Memorial Halls were completed, in 1871. Besides being a dormitory, Baldwin contained the College boarding hall and several basement kitchens where the students prepared their own meals, saving precious pennies.

Lamar Memorial

Soon after 1887 the Lamar Memorial Library was built, and therein were placed the books that had previously been situated in the largest room available in Anderson.

Twenty-one years later the Ralph Max Lamar Memorial Hospital was erected as a memorial to the small son of professor Lamar.

Presidents, Science, Athletics

The next building to be erected was the home of the president. The brick residence which serves as the president's home was completed in 1890.

Fayerweather Science Hall, a two-story brick building was erected in 1898. Later on, the third floor was added to this building.

The courage and perseverance of the Japanese student, Kin Takahashi, is another story. Let us be content to say that it was through his efforts that Bartlett Hall was ready to be occupied in 1901.

More Dorms

By this time, women were attending Maryville College, so in 1910 Pearsons Hall was erected to take care of the overflowing of boarding students, and to house the young women of the college. The entire first floor of Pearsons was set aside as a dining hall.

Also in 1910, Carnegie Hall was built. Destroyed by fire soon after, it was rebuilt in 1916.

Recreation and Education

As an addition to the recreation facilities, the swimming pool was built in 1915. Originally planned as an addition to Bartlett, the swimming pool was under its own roof.

In 1922 Thaw Hall, one of the largest and most beautiful buildings on campus, was completed. It was to the first floor of this building that the library was again moved. This building also houses class rooms, the YWCA rooms, and the College Maid Shop.

Recently the large Alumni Gymnasium was built through the efforts of the Alumni Association of the college. This gymnasium has helped to relieve the strained athletic conditions.

In addition to the Alumni Gymnasium, the Federal Gym was built in 1947 through federal aid for veterans. Used for intramural sports, this has also helped to offset the crowded recreational facilities.

Last, but not least, has been the Student Center which was also built with federal aid for veterans. Needed for a long time, this building was finally erected last year. There is no need to say how thankful the upperclassmen are to see this one addition to the "Hill."

Still More Plans

Even yet, Maryville has not ceased to grow. Great plans are in the making for four additional buildings, a chapel to replace the Voorhees Memorial Chapel which was destroyed by fire in 1947, an additional dormitory for women, a science building, and fine arts center. Right now, the emphasis is on the first building mentioned, but all three are sure to be seen sometime in the not too distant future.

So those of us who will remain here several years will have an opportunity to watch Maryville grow, and grow, and—.

DR. LLOYD ATTENDS NEW YORK MEETING OF MC ALUMNI

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will leave Tuesday afternoon for New York City where he will attend the dinner meeting of the alumni of Maryville College in that area. The meeting will be held Friday, November 5, at the Hotel New Yorker.

Rev. William S. Quigley, '36, pastor of the Flatbush Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, is chairman of the committee arranging the meeting. This will be an organizational meeting.

Dr. Lloyd will conduct other business pertaining to the college while in New York.

Student Vols Money Sent To Indian Hospital

David Yeaworth, treasurer of Student Volunteers, has announced that the final sum given by Maryville College students to the hospitals in India has been sent to them.

The amount raised by student gifts reached $670. An unexpected gift of $40 was added to this amount by Mr. Horace B. Henry, who is the brother of Miss Clemmie J. Henry of the Student Help office. This brought the figure to $710, which amount has been sent to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, U. S. A., to be equally divided between the two hospitals.

Life Preservers Aid Students To Learn Swimming

By Tom Kelly

A new post-war use has been found by Coach Kenneth P. Johnson's freshman swimming classes for the war-surplus "Mae West" life preserver. Beginning swimmers are now learning to swim with the aid of these life preservers.

The odd shape of the life preservers, which were used by allied flyers in the event they were forced down over the ocean, does not obstruct the swimming actions of the beginning swimmer and allows him to master more quickly elementary swimming form.

Fit Like Football Pads

A sense of security in water is the principal feature in the use of the life preservers for beginning swimmers. Although the "Mae Wests" appear bulky and cumbersome, they are simple to strap into. The life preservers fit over the head somewhat in the manner of football pads except for a strap which fits between the legs to hold the floats in place on the chest and back.

Beginners Learn Faster

The use of the preserver, which helps the "fear" of water for the non-swimmer, allows beginning pupils opportunity to practice strokes to perfect coordination. By using these preservers the beginner can make much faster progress in learning fundamentals of swimming.

When a student has mastered the necessary strokes, he is allowed to swim without the help of the floats. By giving confidence to the starting swimmer, use of the preserver cuts the time ordinarily required for a pupil to learn how to swim.

Preservers Are A Great Help

Swimmers now taking lessons with the help of the "Mae Wests" agree that they are able to conquer their fear of water more easily. "A person who uses one of these," according to Coach Johnson, "will be a better swimmer than one who takes the same course without the benefit of its use."

The preservers were bought as war-surplus equipment. Coach Johnson now has 17 available for his swimming classes.

McKULLOCK'S JEWELERS

HIGHLANDERS BEAT WASPS, 12-6

Sports Echoes

●A WINNING COMBINATION was what turned the tide in the case of the 12-6 defeat of Emory-Henry last week. Confidence on the part of players in their own abilities and the coaches in the players was beginning to wear thin. At Sewanee, an unending shuttle of reverses going into the game indicated that the starting team was possibly not the best combination. Then at East Tennessee State, under pressure through loss of men by injuries, the starting team was necessarily shifted. As men who did not regularly make the starting team showed up well under fire, new mettle was moulded for the Highlander line and backfield.

●COMPETITION then put a winning combination on the field against Emory-Henry. But other things, including a home game with homecoming alumni to boost, made the rout of Emory-Henry's Wasps easier. A new tactical device—the spread formation—and Bob Neff, running like a hungry hound and passing like a rocket launcher with radar direction, gave the Scots the most potent offense of the season. Maryville's line, which had been uncommonly sluggish in downfield blocking, roared up like a tornado with Ralph Willocks, 165 pound frosh guard, and Herbert Rutherford, the Bristol Blitz, providing deadly escort-defense service. Big Howard Davis, shifted to tackle, and co-captain Kluth again and again broke into the Wasps' fast outside plays. With Ends Miller and Brahams, possibly the Scots had a most capable pass receiving team—except when butter-fingered.

● QUARTERBACKING by Fogarty was a new shift. Fogarty's quick-kick, catching the Wasps completely off-guard, was perhaps the smartest move of the game. Callaway, who was initiated in the signal calling chore during the Carson-Newman game of last year (Clark was ruled ineligible, and King Berrong had drawn a personal foul), made a good fit in fullback. Allen Law, making his usual good kickoffs, took up running hard and fast for splendid gains. And who ever thought that Benton Baldwin (although it was called back) could punt? Hershell Merriman found himlsef for the best exhibition of fullback ripping he's done all season.

●TALE OF THE WEEK—Wofford College of Spartanburg, N. C., who play Tennessee Tech two weeks from now, haven't won or lost a game all season. Each of their five games have ended in a tie. They've successively tied Catawba, Washington and Lee, Furman, Hampden-Sydney, and Davidson. Perhap's they'll win over Tennessee Tech.

●DOWN WENT undefeated Middle Tennessee State last week with Milligan taking a 7-0 win at Murfreesboro. This week, by our calculations, Sewanee's purple Tigers will bite the dust as Hampden Sydney (who beat Emory-Henry, 19-13) invades. Feeling confident after spotting five straight losers on October 16, this'll be the outcome of area games for the weeek-end: Appalachian State over Emory-Henry, Middle Tennessee over East Tennessee; Milligan over Carson-Newman; Tennessee Tech over Murray State; and Hiwassee over Sewanee's 'B' Team.

Maryville Harriers Make Trial Run On UT Course

To break the monotony of regular laps on the home course, Scottie cross-countrymen journeyed to Knoxville Wednesday afternoon for a practice run on the Tennessee Vols' home course near Kingston Pike.

Maryville's next meet will be a return match with the Vols at Knoxville on November 10. Making the Wednesday trial run from the river up Kingston pike, Coach Johison's harriers met the Vols—going the other way. The Vols' course is three and two-tenths miles long.

Jerry Sayres Cops Golf Tournament

Top seeded Jerry Sayres easily copped the intramural golf tournament which was held last week. Sayres, on the first 18 holes, shot a five over par 65, but on the second round he shot a four under par 56. This gave Sayres a two day total of 121. His closest competitor, Charles Trotter, shot a 71 on Monday and a 70 on Tuesday for a score of 141.

Here are the scores of the first six: Sayres 121, Trotter 141, Fowler 144, Boring 147, Hyatt 150, and Hunter 160.

Twelve players participated in the golf tourney.

Athletic Board Proposes Four Changes In By-Laws

By Herbert McCallum

Bob Boring, president of the Maryville College Athletic Association, called the Athletic Board of Control into a special meeting Thursday to draw up preliminary proposals for changes in the by-laws of the Association which would:

(1) alter the requirements for earning a wrestling letter to ten earned points instead of by winning one intercollegiate match by a "fall";

(2) set up more thorough standards for earning team managers' letters;

(3) make specific stipulations for awarding cross-country letters by means of a points-earned system;

(4) change the requirements for earning a track letter to (a) winning first place in the state meet, or (b) scoring ten points in the season to supplant present qualifications of (a) winning first place in an intercollegiate meet or recognized standard, or (b) scoring ten points for the season.

Proposals Sent to Council

These proposed changes will be be sent to the Executive Council of the Faculty for approval before being drawn up as definite proposed amendments to the by-laws of the Association. Amendments to the by-laws must be passed by vote of the association, which is composed of both the students and faculty of the college, before they can become effective provided the Executive Council of the Faculty has signified its approval.

On the first proposal, awarding of wrestling letters has been on an informal points-earned basis, and/or by recommendation of the wrestling coach for a number of years, but Article VI, Section Five of the by-laws states: "Members of the varsity wrestling squad who in a given season have won at least one intercollegiate match by a "fall" are eligible, other conditions being met, to receive wrestling letters. The proposed change is to bring requirements in accord with the current practice.

Manager Situation Discussed

Discussion about the situation for the training of competent manager for a varsity sport is to teams led the Board of Control to propose definite requirements. According to the proposal, a manager for a varsty sport is to serve one season of apprenticeship before becoming eligible to receive a manager's letter.

Because the present by-laws of the Association, adopted in 1938, do not set forth specific conditions for the awarding of cross-country letters, the Board discussed and approved a points-earned basis for awarding them. Under the proposed system, a cross-country runner must earn a total of ten points to be eligible to receive a letter for the season.

The points would be scored as follows: first place nets 7 points; second place—6 and on down to seventh place, which gives one point. Therefore, in an average season of four meets, the most

Scotty Sez:

Noticeably out-of-place on Maryville's campus this year are the wearers of high school sweaters, which, though colorful and appropriate for hometown wear, are just not being worn on college campuses.

Maryville Orange and Garnet letter-sweaters worn by varsity lettermen of both major and minor sports and girls' Point System winners represent recognition for time and toil in Maryville's varied athletic program. Any other type of letter can't be appreciated on the hill.

Loyalty to one's school can best be shown by striving to uphold the college ideals. It is not an ideal of any college for students to divide loyalty by the wearing of alien colors on its campus.

Ample opportunity for participation in a variety of sports which carry the recognition for the qualified to wear the cherished Orange and Garnet "M", is extended here at Maryville.

Then, if it's a letter-sweater you want to wear, make sure its Orange and Garnet.

Intramural Soccer

YMCA opened the official intramural soccer season by shellacking an inexperienced Pi Lumbago eleven, 2-0 The second game of the week was a match between Alpha Sigma and the Freshmen.

As yet there have been no eligibility lists turned in to Coach Johnson at the intramural office. All teams should trn in eligibility lists as soon as possible.

Air Route Seen As Hope For Scot Win Over Vaunted Cats

With hopes of taking the Carolina Catamounts by air, Maryville's Scots left this morning for Culhowee, N. C. to battle a powerful Western Carolina Teacher eleven tonight.

The Catamounts, employing a fully manned single wing, are expected to give the Highlanders plenty of defensive trouble, and the Honakermen are aiming to out-do the Carolinians with a dazzling aerial show. Condition of the Scot eleven, except for a few ailing casualities is fairly good for the clash. Baldwin, Holsey, and Lewelling are the only players sidelined by injury.

Undefeated in five games, the Carolina Cats have topped High Point (7-6), smothered Tusculum (37-0), bowled over East Tennessee State (32-12), blanked East Carolina Teachers (39-0), and hooked a close (7-0) decision over Lenoir-Rhyne.

WGAP broadcasts Maryville-Carolina game tonight at 8 p.m.

In weight averages, the Scots and the Cats don't vary much in the line, but the Cats hold a heavy margin for backfield averages. Maryville's starting line averages 184; Carolina's 182. The Catamount backgfield, possessing a 6'1" fullback, Arrington who tips in a 203, packs an average weight of 177 pounds, while the starting Scot backfield averages 165.

SECOND VICTORY OF SEASON RACKED UP AS NEFF SHINES

By Duncan Bennett

Maryville's fighting Highlander eleven edged out the Wasps of Emory and Henry College by a 12 to 6 tally last Saturday before the homecoming crowds here on Wilson Field. This is the Scotties' second victory of five games played thus far in the 1948 grid season.

The Scotties starting formation was radically changed for the Wasp battle because many of the Scot players were on the bench due to injuries received during practice. Holsey, Isenburg, Kramer, Andes, and Lewelling watched the game from the sidelines while their replacements battled it out with Emory and Henry.

Scots Tally First

During the first quarter the Scots pushed the Wasps hard, and, except for the two punts of the Emory and Henry eleven, the ball remained well down in Wasp territory. The Wasps were stopped with only six yards gained in the opening plays of the game. They punted from their own 35 yard marker and the Scotties went to work. A sustained drive brought them into scoring position on the E-H 15 yard line, but the Wasps succeeded in stopping this first scoring threat of the game after the Scots were thrown for a ten yard loss.

Emory and Henry forced their way back to their own 35, where they were again forced to punt. Fogarty carried the ball back to the Scotty 42, and the Highlanders started their second drive which ended in pay dirt at the Wasp goal line. Neff tallied for the Scots from the E-H ten yard marker. Fogarty's try for the conversion went wild, and the score stood at 6-0.

Wasps Score

Emory and Henry's Yellow and Blue Wasps then put on a spectacular display of power. Starting from Maryville's kick after the touchdown on their own 25 yard line, the Wasps drove down the field to the Scotty four yard line. A fumble at this point nearly cost them their scoring opportunity, but they recovered, and on the next play Pippin, left halfback for the Wasps, crossed the Scotty line. Allen Law blocked the Wasp kick, and the score was tied at 6-6.

Neff Scores Again

The Scotties started off the second quarter badly with a fumble on the 50 yard stripe which cost them ten yards. A long pass from Fogarty to Davis at left tackle failed, and the Scots were forced to punt. However, there was a 15 yard penalty against the Wasps on the play, and the ball stayed in Scotty hands with a first and ten on the Wasp 40 yard line. The Highlanders started an aerial attack which put them in scoring position on the Wasp 14 yard line. Neff again tallied for the Scots. Conversion was no good, and the Scotties led 12-6.

Scot Pass

The third quarter was marked by a beautiful 35 yard pass from Fogarty to Law, and another steamroller drive by the Wasps Coach Conley Snidow's Wasps were on the Scotty 15 yard marker at the end of their drive when they fumbled and lost their only opportunity to even the score. Archer, at center, recovered for Maryville.

Early in the last quarter the Wasps, caught in their own territory, tried a series of laterals from a spread formation. After losing eight yards on the plays they punted to the Maryville 28 yard line. Davis, quarterback for the Wasps, snagged a Fogarty pass late in the last quarter, but the Scots stopped the Wasps on the Maryville 40 yard stripe. A series of passes and reverses brought the Scotties down to the Emory and Henry 22 yard marker where the game ended.

Swimmers Churn Waters As Aqua Sport Returns

By Tom Weide

Swimming is returning to Maryville this winter after an absence from the scene dating from 1942. It has been away so long that it will seem like a new sport, so maybe we could use a little information about this pastime of water-churning.

The encyclopedia tells us that swimmers do best in water that is not too hot or too cold, and in water that is clean. Clean water? It seems to me that one of the boys here said that the last time the men cleaned our Maryville pool they fond six frogs hopping around in the mud. But that is just a rumor. The facts show that the pool is cleaned regularly.

What The Mermen Do

Swimming teams splash through all sorts of different races and dives, so look the list over; maybe you can get in on the fun. Strokes vital to the success of a team are the crawl, the back stroke, and the breast stroke. (Anybody who has started practicing for the team can tell you all about the "butterfly breast stroke.")

What events are there in a swim meet? Well, let's see. Free stylers compete over distances of 50, 220, and 440 yards; breast-stroke boys go 150 and 440 yards; back-strokers go for 220 yards. Rounding out the eight events, the boys go through a 400-yard relay and a 440-yard medley relay.

If you can't swim, maybe you can dive. Divers must do these five compulsory dives: plain front, plain back, front half twist, front one-and-a-half somersault, and back jackknife. Five optional dives are: full gainer, half gainer, front somersault, back somersault, and layoff.

Come Out, Come Out

Swimming is supposed to give its devotees big chests, broad shoulders, strong lungs, and mighty muscles. Of course, if you have all these but like to swim, maybe you can build yourself up even more. Any student is eligible for the team (except girls, of course!) and Coach Johnson awaits you all with open arms. Who wants to "swim with a will for Maryville"? Dive in.

Hopeful Swimmers Prep For Season

Maryville College expects to have a swimming team this winter. Coach Johnson will direct the boys, who will make up the first swimming crew seen here since 1942.

Although at this moment no definite plans have been announced, Vanderbilt and the University of Tennessee have been contacted. U. T. and Maryville will hold a practice meet sometime before Christmas.

Practice Already Begun

Several boys are already practicing their strokes, and all prospective swimmers are urged to turn out. Official practice will start at the end of football season, while the first meet should be about the middle of January. Hard workers so far include: Dean Risher, Jim Frost, and Bill Varker.

points a runner can score to win a letter is four first places with 28 points. The smallest number of points a runner can score and still letter would be three fifths and a seventh place for 10 points.

Conditions for awarding of track letters, according to present by-laws, are as follows: "Students eligible to receive the Maryville College varsity M shall be those who complete the semester in which the season ends, in good standing in the college, and who meet the following requirements: . . . (4) those who in a given season have won at least one first place in an intercollegiate track meet of recognized standard; or who have scored five points in at least one such meet and have scored a total of at least ten points for the season."

Brick Brahams, vice-president of the Athletic Association, helped draw up the proposals and present theme to the board members. All members, both student and faculty, were present except Alan Rock, senior class representative, and Hershell Merriman, junior class representative on the board.

Camera Club Presents Disc Club Take-Off

Camera Club will present a program take-off on Disc Club lectures, Thursday, Nov. 4, at 6:45 p. m.

Carroll Stegall, the president of the club, will lecture upon records which will be played. The selections will be by Spike Jones and will include "Cocktails for Two," "Chloe," and "The William Tell Overture."

A business meeting will be held and the question of the purchase of a new contact printer will be raised. The present printer, which is borrowed from Chet Phillips, is no longer capable of handling the large volume of work being done by club members.

Dr. Lloyd Ruland Speaks To Open Fred Hope Drive

Fund Allocated To China For Two-Year Period

Special speaker for the opening of the Fred Hope drive on Thursday, November 18, will be Dr. Lloyd S. Ruland, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, in charge of administering the program in China. The appeal for the Fund will be made by students selected by the Fred Hope Board.

Dr. Ruland was formerly a missionary in China and is in daily touch with events there. He plans to bring a moving picture on China to show Wednesday evening, November 17, and to speak in chapel Thursday morning.

Fund Supports '48 Graduate

The decision was made last year to allocate the Fund to China, through the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, for at least the next two years. The Fund is to support Mary Edna Smith, graduate of last year's senior class, as Maryville's direct representative on the mission field in China. She was assigned to the Fuh Siang School for Girls in Changsha, China, a high school supported by several denominations, and has been at work there since school opened in September.

1947-1949 Project

The Fund of last year, amounting to $1,300, is being used for Miss Smith's support. The amount necessary is $1,500 a year, so there is some to make up for the school year of 1948-1949, and $1,500 will be necessary again for 1949-1950.

The Fred Hope Fund Board is composed of the Presidents of the YMCA, YWCA, Student Volunteers, and Student Council and the following college officers: the president, Deans, Treasurer, Directors of Student-Help and Maintenance, and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Mary Lee Snodderly Wins 4- H Honor Trip

Mary Lee Snodderly, a student at Maryville College, has won a free trip to Chicago to the National 4-H Congress.

This honor was a result of the 4-H Club's wool suit contest. She won first prize in Blount County, in the district, which includes twenty-five counties, and in the state. Besides the trip, she received $45 and other gifts. Miss Snodderly plans to leave for Chicago on November 28.

She was elected as State 4-H cover girl and was given a white orchid for this occasion. Her picture will be in several magazines, one of which is "Progressive Farmer."

Civil Service Lists Requirements, Exams For Student Dietitian

U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for student dietitian from which appointments will be made to courses in Veterans Administration Hospitals in California, New York, Illinois, and Tennessee.

Salary for student dietitians is $1,470 a year, including subsistence, quarters, and overtime. Courses will last for 12 months. A bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university is necessary, and the following courses must have been studied: chemistry, biology, foods, institution management, nutrition and diet in disease, social sciences, and education. The required education must be completed not later than the beginning date of the course for which application is filed.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 35, except veterans.

Information and application forms may be obtained from most first and second-class post offices or from the US Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Don Kent, '46, Receives Air Force Appointment

Don Kent, 1946 graduate and former managing editor of the Highland Echo, has enlisted in the United States Air Force as Staff Sergeant.

He is assigned to the Public Information Office at Olmsted Field in Middletown, Pa. His duties are to write news items and features concerning base military personnel and activities.

During the war, Sergeant Kent spent two and a half years in the Mediterranean theater of operations as public information officer and real estate officer. Following his release from military service he returned to Maryville and received his B.A. as a major in English Literature.

College Repairs Thaw Rooms For Workshop

Maryville's maintenance men are rapidly putting in shape six rooms for the Teachers' Workshop. The rooms, located on the second floor of Thaw Hall, have already been painted and will have new lights as soon as the new flourescent fixtures come.

No other building repairs are contemplated at present, but maintenance men and students alike should be interested to know that College Engineer E. C. Brown is due back today. Mr. Brown has been vacationing in Florida.

Rev. Dr. Edwin Driscoll Leads Thursday Chapel

The Rev. Dr. Edwin A. Driscoll, Executive of the Southern Area Student Council of the Y MCA, will be the guest speaker at the chapel service Thursday, November 4.

Rev. Driscoll is a graduate of Maryville and received his B.D. from Hartford Theological Seminary.

Lost and Found Caches Hold Unclaimed Articles

Many unclaimed articles, including several parts of glasses, still remain in the "lost and found" department in the Personnel office. Students are requested by the office personnel to claim their missing objects as soon as possible.

Books are rarely turned in to the office. Books left in the library may be secured by calling for them at the desk. Those things left in Pearsons lobby will possibly be found in the hinged seat.

Phillips, Hull Read For Writers' Workshop

Chester Phillips and Martha Hull will read at Writers' Workshop next Wednesday, November 3. Their critics are Miss Elizabeth Jackson and Roger Cowan.

Last Wednesday's readers were Hedy Nabholz and Ilda Mosby. Mss Nabhoiz read a series of monologues within a monologue entitled "The Secret." She was criticized by Craig Fisher. "And I Trod on the Tents of Men," a poetic prose essay by Miss Mosby, was criticized by Juanita Johnson.

Maryville Mock Elections Fail To Predict National

Truman Victory Surprizes Nation; Baffles All Polls

President Harry Truman's surprise return to office last Tuesday could not be foreseen from the results of Maryville College's mock election. Governor Dewey swept the campus by securing 182 votes or 58% of the number cast. Truman and Thurmond followed, each receiving 51 votes or 16%. The biggest local surprise was Henry Wallace's receiving 9% of MC's vote, far above his national average.

A light vote—only 71% of the 435 registered on the Hill—was cast; poor weather conditions were responsible, election officials announced. Electioneering was carried on until the polls were closed at 6 p. m.

Four For Thomas

Besides the four major candidates, four votes were cast for perennial Socialist candidate Norman Thomas, and one for Senator Arthur Vandenburg, who at one time was suggested as a Republican presidential candidate.

Progressive Party members immediately issued a statement announcing their interpretation of the campus election results. "Mr. Wallace's 9% on campus is an overwhelming victory for the Progressive Party. That percentage is far above the Echo poll prediction, the national Gallup prediction, the percentage of those here who registered Progressive, and the actual national percentage received by Mr. Wallace."

GOP in Lindsay's Old Age?

Carl Lindsay, Republican chairman, stated, "I am extremely disappointed in the national election results. President Trman was re-elected only because we are living in an age of prosperity; every one knows that Governor Dewey is the best man. For 16 years I have looked forward to seeing a Republican President; now I look forward to seeing one in my old age."

Democratic Party chairman Dick Sprague said, "The mock election results for Truman were good. Needless to say, the national result was a surprise—but a very welcome one. I guess Gallup interviewed too many non-voters."

Aubrey Galyon, States' Rights Democratic Party chairman, announced, "We are confident from our showing that the cause of states' rights is not lost among the citizens of this country, but we shall continue to work until we become the nation's major party. Eight or ten years at the most should see this come about."

Chapel Campaign General Division Reports Tuesday

The General Division in the $150,000 Chapel campaign is working toward a report dinner set for 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the College. The overall total of subscriptions reached $56,452 at the first general report meeting.

U. S. Senator-elect Estes Kefauver and Governor-elect Gordon Browning contributed $200 each it was revealed yesterday. The gifts were made on a visit here previous to the election with the understanding that announcement would be withheld until after the balloting.

Designated Gifts

The following additional designated gifts for the Chapel were announced by fund headquarters

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Crawford, Jr., $1,000 for two main entrance doors; Mrs. Joe McIlvaine, $700 for a main entrance door and a chapel seat; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Proffitt, $500 to be added to the F. L. Proffitt memorial; Mr. and Mrs. Wagner Newberry, $200 for a chapel seat; Miss Jessie Johnson and Mrs. J. E. Johnson, $200 for a chapel seat; Mrs. Robert C. Jones, $200 for a chapel seat in memory of the Rev. Robert C. Jones.

The report of the fund as of November 1 is as follows:

Campaign Goal	$150,000

Student Council, Faculty Committee Select Students

Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges has notified nine Maryville College seniors of their acceptance for the 1948-49 edition. Jim Black, Barbara Eggleston, Dave Campbell, Vera Lusk, Mildred Miller, Ilda Mosby, John Poland, Bill Proffitt, and Margaret Rock are the students selected for this honor.

This organization was created in 1934 to provide a national basis for the recognition of college and university students. Such students are officially nominated by the school which they attend and then approved by the Who's Who board. An average of 600 schools are represented in each edition.

Method of Selection

Maryville members are chosen by Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty. They are selected on a basis of scholarship, cooperation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, general citizenship, and promise of future usefulness.

Certificates are given to each student receiving this award. They are then eligible to wear the Who's Who key and receive the benfits of its Student Placement Service.

Biographical Sketches

Jim Black, Student Body president, is a biology major from Baltimore, Md. Black served as president of YMCA last year, and as Athenian and class presidents his sophomore year. He had roles in "Pygmalion," "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Dear Ruth," "The Merchant of Venice," and "Ten Little Indians," and was listed on the honor roll three years.

Dave Campbell, an English major from Mars, Pa., has been YM secretary for the last two years and was on the cabinet his sophomore year. In addition, he is president of Preministerials, a member of the governing board of Writers' Workshop and a four year member of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity. He was freshman class president and May Day attendant, and a member of Student Council his sophomore and junior years. Campbell appeared in three plays, "Pygmalion," "The Man Who Came To Dinner," and "The Merchant of Venice."

Barbara Eggleston, WSGA president, lives in Marinette, Wis. She is also president of BG, a member of Writers' Workshop, on Student Council, and secretary of Senate. An English major, she has been on the honor roll three years. During her freshman year she was a Nu Gamma leader, and was Nu Gamma chairman her junior year. A three-year member of M Club, she was also Athletic Board of Control secertary last year.

Vera Lusk, 1948 Homecoming Queen and president of Bainonian, is from Scotch Plains, N. J. She has been on Council, the Senate, and in the Vesper Choir for two years. A member of the YWCA cabinet, she was a Nu Gamma leader her sophomore year. Miss Lusk served as class secretary and as a cheerleader her freshman year. She was a sophomore May Day attendant, and WSGA secretary-treasurer last year. Her major is English.

Mildred Miller, senior biology major from Brownsboro, Ala., is co-chairman of Barnwarming this year and has been on the YW cabinet for two years. She was a Council representative for the freshman class and secertary of Senate the following year. In her sophomore year she was House Chairman of Baldwin and a Nu Gamma leader. As a junior she was stage manager for "Dear Ruth." M Book editor, and a member of the social committee. She made the honor roll two

'EYES OF JESUS' REPEATED FOR YM

YMCA's Sunday afternoon presentation in Bartlett Auditorium will be "The Eyes of Jesus." This program, originally produced by the YWCA, is having a repeat performance for the men of the College at 1:30 p. m.

Trimmer Will Speak On 'Man and Atom'

Dr. J. B. Trimmer, associate professor of physics at the University of Tennessee, will speak on "Man and the Atom", Tuesday evening, November 9, at 6:30 p. m. in Bartlett Aditorium. Nationally known, Dr. Trimmer has worked from the beginning with the splittin gof the atom. He lectured here on the same subject in 1946.

Fourteen Varsity Debaters Selected In Recent Tryouts

Maryville's Varsity debate team for 1948-49 will consist of fourteen students this year. They are Judy Breen, Katie Carpenter, Carol Corbett, Roger Cowan, Louis Evans, Eramus Fowler, Elenor Kramer, Carl Lindsay, Eric Meadows, John Poland, Stuart Saul, Bill Shields, Dorothy Stater, and James Torrey.

Tryouts were held on Wednesday, October 27, in Anderson Hall from 3:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. Miss Jessie Johnson, Howard O. Long, and Dr. David Briggs were the judges.

Katie Carpenter, Carl Lindsay, John Poland, Staurt Saul, and James Torrey were on the varsity team last year. Those who were on the freshmen team in 1947-48 are Louis Evans, Eramus Fowler, Elenor Kramer, and Bill Shields.

Pessimism Prevails At TPI Pep Rally

"Best team we've played all season" is Coach Lombe Honaker's size-up of Tennessee Tech's squad to a slim crowd of students who came out for last night's pep rally.

Pessimism for the outlook of the toughest game of the year was darkened by the meager turn-out of students. "Bet half of them don't even know who we're playing tomorrow night," the Highland coach scowled as he looked at the disappointingly small group that was present for the season's final pep meeting.

Observers agreed that the rally had the poorest attendance of any rally this year—the group numbered somewhere between two hundred fifty and three hundred persons.

As Coach Honaker came out antique jokes, he expressed opinion that a school is short of pep when the majority of the student body fails to rally when their support is needed most.

Goings-on at the pep rally were highlighted by a "typical" family looting for ole alma mammy. George Day, Ray Kuhn, Ric Rogers, and Maynard Noble provided laghter in clowning as the family.

A mixture of the band played "Our Director" march and the Scot pep song, "On Highlanders!" Bass accompaniment for the "Fight!" yell was boomed out also by band members.

Lighting up the electric scoreboard, the group yelled the potential score over TPI up to 21-0.

John Shew, pep committee chairman, planned the rally.

Fred Hope Fund Appointee Tells Of Mission Work

In a letter received recently from Mary Edna Smith, whom the Fred Hope Fund is supporting this year, the mission work being done in China was described.

Her school in Hunan province has an enrollment of 464 students and only a third are Christians. Miss Smith teaches one Bible class of fifth year students. There are 23 in the class and all but one of them are non-Christians. She considers them a very challenging and encouraging group.

Classes In English

She has not yet learned to speak Chinese so her classes are all conducted in English. At first it was difficult for her to know how slowly to talk in order to be understood.

Another interesting incident which she mentioned is that of attending a Chinese wedding. The bride wore a white gown and veil similar to the American type instead of the customary red kimona of China. After the ceremony, fire crackers were shot; this is typical of all Chinese festivals and celebrations.

Holiday on Confucius' Birthday

Confucius' birthday was a teachers holiday and Miss Smith was invited to lunch at a Chinese home. She was served a dinner of 16 courses.

The school auditorium, on the top floor of one building, was condemned last year. Like Maryville, the students now use the gymnasium for chapel services. They are working on a five-year building program which includes plans for a new science building, dormitory and administration building.

MARYVILLE, CARSON-NEWMAN STUDENTS UNANIMOUSLY APPROVE AGREEMENT

By Jimmy Dance

On November 4, 1948, Maryville College took its first step toward creating more friendly rivalry between this College and Carson-Newman College. Council President James Black presented for student approval an agreement drawn up by a student-faculty committee from each college.

This agreement, already passed by the Student-Faculty Senate and the Student Council, was approved unanimously by the student body—a good sign of the breaking p of a unwholesome spirit of competition which has existed between the two institutions.

This two-year "contract" has been ratified by both colleges in time for the football game of November 13. The committee which drew up the agreement also made plans for carrying them out at this game. Maryville College students, traveling by special train, will be met by Carson-Newman's band and welcoming committee. A section has been reserved in the stands for Maryville students.

Train, Game Tickets

In his speech at last Thursday's chapel, Black voiced the hope that the largest possible number of Maryville students would attend the Carson-Newman game. Tickets, which will go on sale November 9, are priced at $2.66—$1.00 admission to the game, $1.66 transportation on the special train. Chartered especially for this trip, the train will leave Maryville College at 5 p. m., November 13, and will return following the football game.

Plans, culminating thus far happily in the direction of abolishing unfriendly rivalry, were begun on October 27. On this occasion a committee from Maryville College, Jim Black, Barbara Eggleston, and Henry Callaway, accompanied by Dr. Frank D. McClelland, met with Carson-Newman representatives at the S & W Cafeteria in Knoxville to talk over the situation. Dean of Students Carr of Carson-Newman expressed the purpose of the meeting—to reach an agreement that would result in maintaining the proper type of rivalry and in erasing unfriendliness. Cooperation, not only of the colleges as colleges, but of the students and faculties as individuals, was stressed.

Text of Agreement

In its entirety, the agreement reads as follows:

We, the representatives of Maryville and Carson-Newman, feel that there should be a more friendly rivalry between the two schools. At the present time it is an unwholesome thing and does not represent the best element in either school. Therefore, we agree to the following:

1. The student body of each college will make a sincere effort to maintain a friendly spirit of cooperation and fair play toward the other college. When one school visits the other, arrangements shall be made for such cooperative measures as band programs, parades, welcoming of student body, seating arrangements, and the like.
2. We would like to encourage friendly rivalry between the schools, such as cheering and parades on the campus; but in carrying out this agreement we agree not to participate in any kind of activity that would permanently or temporarily damage or disfigure the other campus, or to commit any acts that would be detrimental to the good feelings between the schools.
3. The entire student body shall be responsible for upholding the articles of this agreement. In accepting this agreement, it shall be clearly understood that the student body will assume full responsibility to make full and complete restitution for any group or individual violations of the agreement.
4. This agreement shall be in effect for a period of two years, subject to renewal at that time by ratification of the student body.

Unanimously Accepted

The above agreement was accepted unanimosly by the student bodies of both colleges. Members of both committees urge the participation of every student in the program of building up a wholesome spirit of competition between the two. In the past the men's dormitories at both colleges have suffered mutilations, sidewalks and streets have been defaced, and one pathetic touch was the harm done to the bronze eagles on the Carson-Newman gates.

Last Thursday's meeting of the student body will be the next-to-last meeting this semester, Black announced. The fourth and last meeting of the student body will be held in three weeks and will deal with changes in the constitution regarding election of officers.

At least 240 students must purchase tickets to guarantee train.

It's Your Paper

There has been some talk of publishing a weekly or semi-weekly news bulletin to carry club and similar announcments in order to eliminate some of those read in chapel. The Echo, as the college paper, should and would like to cover these stories. However, through lack of cooperation, we have been unable to secure much information regarding these groups and their programs. Such material should be turned in at the Echo office by Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. All that we need is a list of the facts—who, what, when, where, how, and any other pertinent details.

Newspapers fulfill their obligations only if they carry accurate and complete accounts of all the news. No matter how efficient a staff is behind a paper, it is still dependent upon the people from whom that staff must secure its information.

All papers have printers' deadlines which they must meet. The Echo has such, and therefore must put a deadline on material which is turned in for publication. Necessary exceptions to this deadline can and will be made when arranged by 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The Echo wishes to print the material it should cover. It's the students' paper, and their cooperation is needed.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Relations with Carson-Newman, infractions of Town Nite provisions, and discussion of ways to make student body meetings more effective took Student Council's spotlight of consideration this week.

President Black reported to Council negotiations which preceded the meeting of Maryville and Carson-Newman representatives to draw up a pact calling for friendlier attitudes and acts in the schools' historic rivalry. The resolution, the same as presented to the student body after chapel Thursday for adoption, was summarily passed by council after brief consideration of the need and purpose of the pact.

Significant points covered in Council's summary of the Carson-Newman and Maryville negotiations were these: (1) that the attitude of both schools among students and faculties was not conducive to a friendly, wholesome rivalry; (2) that vandalism, admittedly perpertrated in the past by factions of both sides, was not the major consideration of the representatives but rather the creation of a cooperative attitude toward the situation in order to foster a sane, yet spirited rivalry; (3) that both Maryville, according to the vote of the Student Body, and Carson-Newman by similar action are going all the way to erase the era of bad feeling; and (4) that harmony of cordial relations between the schools would benefit mutually.

On Town Nite privileges, Council's president reminded the assembly that members who were lax on reporting violations tend to make the total Town Nite provisions ineffective. Discussion as to reasons why students might mininterprate Town Nite privileges gave Council a review of the following situations: (1) that all students are under the same regulations on Town Nite, whether or not couples go to town or remain on campus; (2) that, for girls, failure to sign in is subject as much to penalty as actual intentional infraction of Town Nite privileges; and (3) that downstairs lobby in Pearsons is not considered the dormitory lobby.

One penalty, for failure to sign in, was ruled by Council on Tuesday night's deportment.

Council, in seeking ways to increase attentiveness for matters concerning the student body, considered several proposals to maintain attendance at student body meetings. Through its steering committee, president Black stated, Council has avoided taking nothing but the most urgent business before the entire student body. Mentioning the fact that until this week only one student body meeting has been called thus far in the year, the president added that in proceeding as if under the forthcoming constitution, Council has averted general student body meetings by delaying ratification of the proposed constitution until such a time when the completed revisions can be voted on as a unit.

Other suggestions by council members to maintain attendance at student body meetings were to use a public address system and to appoint sergeants-at-arms.

Council's transportation committee reported that tickets to the Maryville-Carson-Newman game were scheduled to arrive by today for sale to students starting Monday.

Miss...givings

We didn't expect to see the day when there Deans Hunter and McClelland couldn't face it Wed-Deans Hnter and McClelland couldn't face it Wednesday morning, for Dr. Davis did the honors. A lot of Republicans couldn't fact it that morning either. Even Dr. Queener had to change his scripture lesson over night, having intended using "the thieves break into the temple."

Professor Walker was overheard saying he voted Republican for the first time this year, but that it didn't do them any good. Things might have been different if they had been zealous as Sally Kemp about casting their votes. Her roommate awakened at 1:30 a.m. to find her preparing to leave saying, "I've got to vote; I've got to vote!"

"Hallowe'en, Hallowe'en, O what curious things are seen . . ."

If you still remember the horror walk at the junior party. . .if you remember Ruth Nicholas' blazing costume from the sophomore party . . . if your blood is no longer chilled by thoughts of the Williams' monster or dracula. . ."If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs. . ."

Mrs. Scott, there are girls on fourth floor Pearsons who are as deserving of reward for Saturday night's Miss behavior as the trio from Memorial who were treated Tuesday night to tickets to the show. Who did roll those bottles?

Those who take to wheels Tuesday evening will be doing the Hill a good turn since the proceeds all go toward our chapel.

It's amazing how many Baldwin girls got to breakfast last week after having their alarms confiscated one at a time at half hour intervals last Saturday night. And while we're on the subject of Baldwinites, its too bad Laurie Dale couldn't be awakened and dragged the time for their a.m. fire drill out ten minutes. We hesitantly suggest that a roommate might be justified in applying a cold wet washcloth in a case like that.

Student council had their picture made Wednesday night and it seems the Bill's, Nish and Proffitt, had to share the same chair in order to be in the picture. One of the brunettes on council was sure she could have arranged a cozier seating plan, especially for Proffitt!

A discordant note from the All Girl Choir echos, "No Sadie Hawkins' Day." A feeling of melancholy hangs over the campus. Girls will have no fun planning original corsages or calling for the men at their dormitories. Maybe a Sadies' Aide Society should be formed?

It all began last Sunday at Vespers when the speaker made a reference to a young couple's standing up with candles all around. Hazel Holm nudged her companion saying she didn't get it. After a dutiful explanation Hazel asked, "But what were the camels doing?"

Benny Goodman has nothing on the clarinet talent on our campus. George Barber plays a unique clarinet—no reed! We would venture to say its the only one of its kind.

The Reformers, Nish, Black and Poland, march again. This time it was rain-clad, pajama-clad to breakfast so that the Beverly's could see how it looks across the table. We shouldn't ridicule Margie Newland though for she just wanted to find out how it felt. And it seems she didn't have the right technique. Do they wear garters?

Underclassmen probably think the crushed looks on the faces of the seniors just mirror the impact of special studies. But the blow fell when Dr. Orr calmly announced that he hadn't seen a genius on the campus in twenty years! How about that, Huffy?

Every year someone connects with the lily pond, but Robarts, you're a junior! What people won't do for five frogskins!

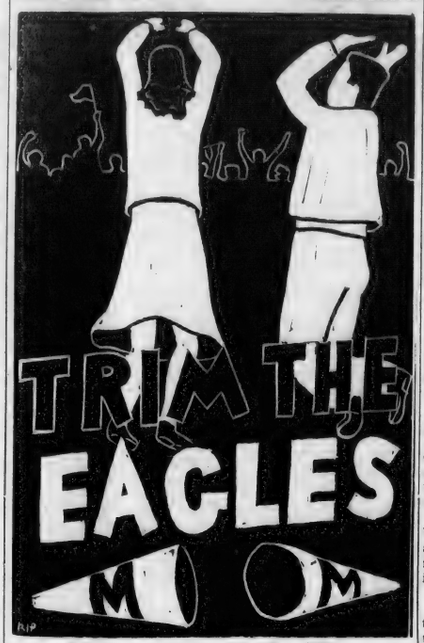
Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

My prime purpose in writing this letter is to set forth some explanations to the readers.

First, my thanks and the thanks of the Pep Committee to those of the student body who helped and are helping to make the "football spirit" on campus. I believe we can label much of the success to the cooperation of faculty members and students alike who were eager to pitch in.



Second, there are some things for which the Committee is responsible. The notices: Overheard: Maryville will lose by three touchdowns to T.P.I. What do you think? These were put up by us because we had overheard these exact words on campus. "What do you tihnk?" should have been answered—"I think that the author of these words didn't know what he was talking about!" The signs on the sidewalks were not made, as hed been rumored, by the Pep Committee. They were printed by someone outside or inside the student body and have fulfilled only the purpose of making people talk and making others angry.

Third, an explanation of the Pep Rallies and spirit in general on the campus. In numerical attendance. Yes. Why? There certainly was enough publicity. The coming game is important. Our team has shown itself capable of very good ball. The program was even planned to give a few laughs. Why, then, was it not a success? Do we not care? Are we too busy? Are we behind our football team? I can only say that as each of us answer so shall we win.

Closing, I would but re-echo the Echo readers. The Pep Committee hopes that each of you will put yourselves into the spirit. Success to us, the team and fans.

Yours truly,
John Shew
Chairman Pep Committee

Inter-Club Council Committees Begin Work

Three committees of the Inter-club Council are at work this week. According to Charles Parvin, president of the council, George Setterfield is chairman of a Committee on Announcements, Dave Campbell of a Committee on Play Casting, and Bill Hodeshel, chairman of the inter-club group's Rush Week Ethics Committee. Inter-club Council meets on the first and third Mondays of each week.

Pre-Med Club Hears Town Dentist Wright

Dr. Robert Wright, Maryville dentist, will speak on root canal therapy, a subject usually unfamiliar to layman, at Pre-med Club, Thursday, November 11, in Fayerweather Science Hall. A graduate of MC and Ohio State, he served in the Medical Corps during the war. Dr. Wright began his practice in Maryville last year.

SEVEN STUDENTS REPRESENT YWCA AT CONFERENCE

Maryville representatives to the YWCA leadership training conference this afternoon at Knoxville are Katherine Boyer, Anna Katherine Knapp, Betty Emory, Betty Jo Smith, Arlene Whiting, Peggy Cmmings, and Margaret Rock.

Miss Rosalie Oakes, National Student Secretary of the Southern Region of the YWCA, spoke to a meeting of the Y cabinet and advisers at a meeting in the Y rooms last Thursday evening. She also led chapel Friday morning, and will be at the conference today.

Rebecca Maddux is teaching home economics and general science in Manila, Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lehman (Jean Blanchard) are living in East Providence, Rhode Island. Don is working on his doctor's degree; Jean is working for the counseling board at the university.

WSGA Poll Shows Most Girls Want Good Study Habits

Establishing more effective study habits drew the largest vote in the poll sponsored by WSGA recently. Approximotely 200 girls voted on questions concerning the improvements and activities needed on campus.

Entertaining Guests Second

Second in popularity was the chance to become more skillful in entertaining guests. Opportunity to get more sleep ran third place closely followed by a three-way tie for fourth place. These were the opportunity to cultivate friendships with girls of different tastes and backgrounds; to have more informal mixing with men students; and for a greater skill in conversation.

Against Residence Teas

The greatest number against any of the 29 questions was 79 votes cast against more teas given in residence halls. Seventy five girls were indifferent to the opportunity to represent residence halls in campus activities.

Barbara Eggiston, president of WSGA, urges the students to offer any suggestions they may have for promoting these activities and improvements.

Beverley Muetzel will attend the Presbyterian College of Christian Education in Chicago.

Girls' Choir Cancels Sadie Hawkins Day Plans

Sadie Hawkins Day celebration will not be held this year according to Curtis W. Hughes, director of the All Girls' Choir. The program originally scheduled for Friday night, November 12, is an annual affair sponsored for the girls on campus in previous years by the choir.

Two Freshmen Confined In College Infirmary

Two students, both freshmen, are in the college infirmary. They are Phil Murray and Bob Stewart. Stewart, who is suffering from a kidney ailment, will have to return to his home in Penn's Grove, N. J., as soon as he is able. Murray has a severe case of bronchitis, but is expected to leave the infirmary by next week.

Sports Echoes

●TOUCHDOWN HUNGRY, Tennessee Tech's Golden Eagles come to Wilson Field with a record of two wins in seven starts. Continuing on a more-or-less up and down pace, Tech has been highly unpredictable—but it has a diversely rated schedule of opponents. For instance, in the opening game of the year Morehead State trounced Tech, 19-7. Three games later, on a return game, Tech's Eagles stopped the same Morehouse team, 19-6 for an abrupt about-face. Tech's alibi, it seems, is that they can't get warmed up for the season's opening game—as for the Carson-Newman 18-7 surprise upset at the start of their '47 schedule. Coming this week, Tech just last week had a rapid round with Murray State, victors 19-7, and have a clash with Wofford next week.

●WITH A SOLID KICK at the dope bucket, our scrappy Highlanders did the unpredictable last Saturday in edging out Carolina's Catamounts with a wee 7-6 margin. Blessed with breaks, burning with underdog ferocity, and hitting like a piledriver, Scot backs, line, and reserves teamed up to give the Carolinians a rough night. That and more must come tonight if Maryville makes a showing against the Cookeville Techmen.

● TO SAY THAT a fast and flashy game, currently the main attraction of the T formation outfits, has made other football attacks and tactics obselete is disproved by the Scot-Cat wrangle last week. Two single-wing forces, pounding furiously on the ground and flipping passes in tight spots, played one of the fastest games, especially the first quarter, most fans would care to keep up with. Punting, the quarterback's tactical retort, proved valuable indeed in the game. Considerable edge was maintained by the team able to boot the longest punts.

●"IT TOOK THE BEST game of the Eagles' 1947 season to beat the Highlanders last year," goes a Tech publicity release in reviewing the Eagles' four win, seven loss 1947 season. Two passes put Tech out in front of the Scots last year, and the the same Morehead team, 19-6 for an abrupt about-up tonight as Red Jarrell, Eagle Captain, is their prime pass receiver. Conversely, for a win over TPI, it'll take the best game of the Highlanders' 1948 season.

●WINDING UP a long period of training enlivened by competition of an irregular schedule, Maryville's Harriers go into the home stretch of the season next week. Blistering their feet on UT's course next Wednesday, Coach Johnson's boys then toe the mark on the home course Friday for the final run of the season against a Sewanee delegation hailed as "hardening rapidly. . . defeated but not discouraged." Friday will tell.

●AREA GAMES are filled with chances of upsets this week-end. East Tennessee State, in the probability spotlight of being asked to play as host team in the Burley bowl, may (a big upset here) find Emory and Henry's Wasps too much to handle. Sewanee's undefeated Tigers could go down before Millsaps' Majors. After taking two defeats in a row, Middle Tennessee's Blue Raiders might find defeat from Memphis State's Tigers. And then there's the long possibility that the Tusculum tribe will whip the Orange and Blue of Carson-Newman.

TECH'S MIGHTY EAGLES INVADE

Scot Eleven Edges Out W N C In Close 7-6 Win

A Scottie eleven, possessing an undefeated spirit, knocked the props ot of Western Carolina's undefeated record with a thumping 7-6 win last Saturday night at Culhowee, N. C.

Three times Maryville's Scots pounded inside the Carolina 20 yard line during the opening phase of the game, but it wasn't until Bob Neff, by intercepting a Cat pass thrown by Robertts, set the stage late in the second quarter for a touchdown march. A pass from Neff to Miller on the Cat four yard line and a plunge over left guard by Hershell Merriman scored the Scots' six points. Andes kicked the all-important extra point.

With two potent single-wing ground-attacking elevens, the game was rocking along in Maryville's favor during the first half, but the tide turned after half-time and Maryville, on the defensive, was handicapped by weak punting attempts.

Cats Go 34 Yards To Score

Carolina's score came mid-way the fourth quarter on a 34 yard sustained rushing attack. Roberts scored from the Scot four after the Cats had brought the ball down from the MC 34 in four line plays. Raymond Keny, at end for the Scots, blocked Hardin's extra point attempt to preserve Maryville's winning margin.

In the first half, Carolina was successful in invading Maryville territory only once—to the Scot 42. Maryville, in the final minutes broke into Catamount field down to the Cat 43 for the only time of the final half. McConnell starting Carolina tailback, was forced to punt three times in the first quarter and Maryville depended on Berrong's punting in the final half to hold the Cats at bay.

At the opening of the game, McConnell returned Law's 60 yard kickoff to his own 22. Three pnts after this gave the Scots the ball on their own 33 where Neff for two, and Berrong for eight, made the first down of the game mid-way the first quarter. A forty-yard drive with Berrong clearing the scrimmage line for 23 yards, put the Scots on the Cat 17. A one-yard gain on a reverse by Law, and two unsuccessful pass plays ended the downs.

Rock Captured Carolina Fumble

Carolina made a first down after an exchange of punts by McConnell and Fogarty. Captain Alan Rock covered a Cat fumble on the Carolina nine as Maryville happened into the first break of the game. Merriman was stopped twice, Neff lost four yards on a spread play, and added with a five yard penalty, the Scots were on the Cat 14 with fourth and

Scotty Sez:

Do we have it?

Let's ask ourselves . . . do we have the spirit and determination to back our Scotties to the limit?

By indications of the slim crowd (under 250) which showed up for last night's pep rally, Maryville students seem to have deserted their valiant football lads who are to face the biggest opponents of the season on our own home field tonight.

Let's think a moment . . . some say we haven't one chance in ten to stop Tech short of two touchdowns. Granted we'd all like to win . . . win . . . win . . . and win. But sometimes the cards just aren't stacked right.

Last Saturday at Culhowee, eleven Maryville men, plus all the pluck of the coaches and reserves, made a masterful job of setting a heavy Western Carolina team back, 7-6. Our Scots showed football timbre last week that hasn't been excelled by us or our opponents this season.

Undefeated in six games, Carolina had never been scored on thru their heavy line—but a Maryville team pounded through it . . . blocked an extra point and won a stirring victory.

Since '42, Maryville students and players have lost but one home game—and that was a very close 13-12 loss to Middle Tennessee on October 2. In the past two years no opponent team has ever scored over twice on our home grounds.

TECH boasts they'll boost a 35—even 55-0 score over our Highlanders tonight. Will they do it? It depends on us—do we have it? Let's throw it at 'em!

Harriers Engage UT Vols, Sewanee To Close Season

Scottie harriers close out the season with a meet at UT next Wednesday and with Sewanee here Friday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. Both meets are return engagements; Maryville previously topped Sewanee, 20-41, and fell to the Vols, 42-19.

The Vol runners, paced by Trent, gave the Scots a whopping licking here on home grounds by a wide margin of 23 points. Total points were 42 for Maryville and 19 for UT. Wednesday's meet with UT will take place on the Vol course on Kingston Pike, on which Scotty thin clads have made a trial run in order to familarize themselves with the route. The match should see some hard running by the Scotties when they try to even the score.

Take Sewanee

At Hardee Field in Sewanee, the Scot Harriers dealt a 20-41 blow to the Purple and White of the University of the South. The meet, run between the halves of the Maryville-Sewanee football tilt, saw Albert Perkins of Sewanee setting the pace, but the Scot Harriers came in solid from second to seventh place. Mabry came in second, followed by Kidder, Earisman, Menges, and Kay in that order.

Time Trials

Time trials, held Friday afternoon, gave the following times for Scot runners: Earisman 18:38, Kay 19:1.5, Menges 19:28, Thurston 19:57; Kidder 20:19, Rogers 20:39, Mulford 21:06, and Pearson 21:53. The cross country team for the Sewanee and UT meets will be composed of Mabry, Earisman, Kay, Menges, Thurston, Kidder, and Rogers. Mabry, who sustained a slightly sprained ankle, did not come in the time trials, but is expected to be in shape for the meets next week.

INTRAMURAL ITEMS

PING-PONG—

A college-wide table-tennis tourney will start November 15. Sign-up sheets for the tourney are posted in the recreation hall and in both of the boy's dormitories.

The deadline for signing up will be November 10; Echo will list the pairings on the thirteenth.

There will be a deadline for the first round about a week after the start of the tournament, but within that time games may be arranged for any hour.

SCOTS MEET HEAVIEST TEAM OF YEAR IN FINAL HOME GAME

Maryville's Highlanders tackle big Tennessee Tech's Golden Eagles tonight in the final home game of the season. Patching up the bruises dealt by a rugged tussle with Western North Carolina's Catamounts, the Scot eleven was pronounced to be in top fighting strength, save a few unhealed injuries.

Up against a line averaging ten pounds per man heavier than the Scotties, the Orange and Garnet operatives have concentrated on polishing up aerial patterns to pitch against the Techmen. Maryville's line averages 184 against TPI's 194 pounds-per-man.

Coach Hooper Eblen's grid string have lost five of their seven games played this year, and the Highlanders are a little better off with three won out of six.

Last year's successful grid season for the Scotties was marred by one loss—to the Eagles by a close 13-6. Back in 1940 the Scotties were mauled 39-0, in the first meeting of the squads.

Eagle Record

The Eagles' two wins this year were over Morehead (19-6) in a return game, and Carson-Newman (26-7). They have been swamped by Georgetown (27-19), Chattanooga (18-7), Morehead (19-7), U-T (41-0), and Murray (19-7). The Eagles, in a hard game at Shields-Watkins Stadium in Knoxville, held the Orange and White Vols of U-T scoreless for the first half of that unequal grid match.

Probable Starting Line-ups:

SCOTS	Pos.	EAGLES
Miller	LE	Jarrell
Rock	LT	Billingsley
Willocks	LG	Johnson
Archer	C	Henderson
Andes	RG	Cunningham
Kluth	RT	Regen
Davis	RE	Jared
Fogarty	QB	Matthews
Law	WB	Pickering
Merriman	FB	Whitfield
Neff	TB	Massa

This is Coach Eblen's second year as head coach at TPI. Last year saw the Golden Eagles trailing with a seven to four win-loss ratio with a tough schedule. This year the Eagles are playing from their new winged "T" formation—a considerable change from last year's single wing—and evidently no more successful.

Big Strong Ends

The captain of the Eagle eleven is Gordon (Red) Jarrell who, along with Walter Jared, will hold down the ends of the TPI line. The Eagle left tackle, Hugh Billingsley, is a 210 lb., 6' 3" giant who will be hard to budge, and the other tackle is 230 lb. Dick Regen.

Echo Clarifies Soccer Rules and Regulations

(Editor's note: Having had questions about soccer rules raised by some of the more unfortunate players who've been kicked around once too often, Echo is presenting a set of soccer rules to clarify confusion on the rudiments of the game.)

Soccer, although enjoying great prominence in the sports picture in many parts of the country, is unknown to many. To those not initiated to the finer points of the game, these simple rules should help clarify the sport:

1. No player except the goalie may touch the ball with any part of his arm or hand.

2. The game is played on a field approximately 75x100 yards and by two teams consisting of eleven players each. The goals are eight yards wide and eight feet high. The soccer ball, although smaller and lighter than a basketball, is still considerably stronger.

3. When the ball is illegally touched by a player, the opposing team receives a free or penalty kick from the spot the foul was committed.

4. When the attacking team kicks the ball beyond the opposition's end boundary, the attacking team receives a corner kick. On this kick the ball is placed on the corner of the field and the attacking wing tries to kick the ball into a position from which teammates may score.

5. If the ball goes out of bounds, the opposing team is given a free thrown-in.

6. On the kick-off, the ball must roll forward at least one circumference before it is legally in play.

7. Team positions are as follows: in the line, a center, two insides, and two wings; in the backfield three halfbacks, two fullbacks, and a goalie.

8. Any personal foul gives a free-kick to the opposing team unless said foul occurs in penalty area. The following are personal fouls: blocking, use of the hands or arms, tripping, and slugging. Personal fouls, except for illegal use of the hands or arms, usually result from playing the man instead of the ball.

9. On the throw-in, heels must be on the ground and at right angles with the boundary line. The throw must be made from over the head in one continuous motion. Failure to observe rules of the throw-in results in loss of ball.

10. The offensive team can have no more than two men between the defensive players and the goal unless in possession of the ball. An infraction of this rule gives the opposing team a free kick from the location of the offside.

11. When the ball goes over the end line and the offense touched the ball last, a goal kick is awarded the defensive team.

12. When the ball goes over end line and is last touched by the defense, a corner kick is awarded the offensive team.

Ilda Mosby, English major from Massilon, Ohio, is editor of the Highland Echo this year and has been a staff member for three years. She is a member of Writers' Workshop and on Student Council. During her freshman year she was in Experimental Theater and has worked in Parish Project for three years. She was a 1948 Chilhowean editorial staff member and has been on the honor roll for two years.

John Poland, Y Store manager for the past two years, is an economics major from Beverly Shores, Ind. Vice-president of Student Council this year, he has been a member for three, and a Senate member for two. His freshman year he was on the Echo staff, and was a varsity debater last year. He has been on the honor roll for two years.

Bill Proffitt of Maryville is a business administration major. A two-year letterman in varsity football, he also earned a track letter when a sophomore. He was associate business manager of the 1948 M Book and is a Council member. He served as president of both the junior class and the Athletic Board of Control last year. His sophomore year he was on Council and was a May Day attendant.

Margaret Rock, president of YWCA, is an English major from Ontario, Ore. She is a member of Council, the social board, and M Club. Her sophomore year she was a Nu Gamma leader and in the Girls' Choir. She worked in Parish for two years, was in last year's Daisy Chain, and made the honor roll two years.

Library Publishes Fall Booklist

Miss Ruth Grierson, Librarian, announced the publication of the booklist of summer additions to Lamar Memorial Library shelves. New books in the fields of art, science, and religion, a number of musical scores, and several crrent novels have been purchased since last June.

Heading the list of new fall fiction is Pearl Buck's latest novel, "Peony." Authoress Buck, a Pulitzer prize winner for "The Good Earth," usually chooses a Chinese setting for her books. Alice Tisdale Hobart, whose novel "The Cleft Rock" has been added to the library, also has written in the Chinese scene. Mrs. Hobart recently visited in Knoxville. From France, where its publication made quite a sensation according to the publishers, comes Camus' "The Plague." "My Indian Family," by Wernher, is a clever story of family life in India.

Sandbrg, Cronin

Other new novels are Carl Sandburg's "Remembrance Rock," A. J. Cronin's "Shannon's Way," which is another of Cronin's "doctor" novels, "Pilgrim's Inn" by Elizabeth Godge (she wrote "Green Oolphin Street"), Agnes Turnbull's "The Bishop's Mantle," Nelia White's "No Trumpet Before Him," and "Woman with a Sword," by Noble.

The library's collection of music scores is growing rapidly, including the following new additions: Griffes—"Roman Sketches"; Mendelssohn's "Symphony 3 (Scottish) A Minor; Haydn—"The Seasons"; Brahms— "Requeim"; the well-known operas "Der Rosenkavalier," by Richard Strauss, Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," Gay's "The Beggar's Opera," and the ever popular opera by Mozart, "The Marriage of Figaro."

New biographies of Bernard Shaw, Cordell Hull, and Harriet Beecher Stowe are among those added to the biography collection. Of local interest should be Folmsbee's story of "The Founding of Knoxville."

Besides being listed periodically by the library, new books may be found on the new book table to the right of the entrance and displayed in connection with the bulletin boards.

Jackson, Pope Read . At Writers' Workshop

Miss Elizabeth Jackson and Marion Pope will read at Writer's Workshop, Wedensday, November 10. They will be criticized by Ben Paxton and Ed Pancoast.

Martha Cecil Hull and Chester Phillips read at Workshop last Wednesday. Miss Hull read "It Was in the Paper," a piece of narrative prose, which was criticized by Miss Elizabeth Jackson. Phillips' poem, "Translation," was criticized by Roger Cowan.

SENIORS SERVE AS DANCE HOSTS

Hosts and hostesses for the nightly dances in the Intramural Gym will be the seniors who will take turns alphabetically. This suggestion was presented by Virginia Gress, in charge of hostess selection, at this week's meeting of the Social Board. Under this plan no one would be compelled to serve.

Other business of the Social Board included a report on the fall dance and the reading of a letter from Miss Clemmie Henry expressing thanks for the DAR visit here. The Board also discussed the use of the equipment in the Student Center.

goal to go. A pass by Neff intended for Fogarty expended the final down and ended the first scoring attempt.

On the next play, Roberts' pass was intercepted by Law on the Carolina 36, but two running plays and a pass from Berrong dropped by Davis ended the downs as Berrong punted into the end zone.

Starting on their own 20, the Catamonts clicked off two first downs as Roberts plunged from fullback before Neff snagged a Roberts thrown pass to begin the successful Scot scoring five. After the Scot score, Carolina took the kick-off and made two first downs to get into Scot territory for the first time just as the half-time whistle blew.

Playing a defensive second half, the Scotties reached Carolina's 43 yard line before the end of the game for their only penetration in the final half. In the third quarter the Scots stopped a 55-yard drive sparked by Carolina's Rogers on their own ten as Willocks, Kluth, McKee and Keny did rugged defensive work. Brown, a Carolina end, dropped a touchdown pass thrown by Hamilton to muff Carolina's chance to score after the 55 yard trip.

SOCCER—

Alpha Sigma's soccer team defeated the Pi Lumbago team 2-0 in a hard fought contest Monday afternoon. Menges starred for the Alpha Sigma booters by kicking a goal in each half. As yet Alpha Sigma is undefeated.

In two other contests Alpha Sigma bested the Freshmen and the YMCA by 2-0, and 3-0, respectively. In both cases previous experience and practice put Alpha Sigma ahead of their opponents.

Fred Hope Fund Drive Begins November 18 Dr. L. S. Ruland Speaks

STUDENTS PRESENT APPEAL; 1949 MONEY SUPPORTS ALUMNA

Dr. Lloyd S. Ruland, China Secretary for the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, will be the speaker for the opening of the Fred Hope Drive in chapel next Thursday morning, November 18. Dr. Ruland will speak on the need for funds for the mission field in China.

An appeal to the students will be presented by Jim Black, president of the Student Council, and Margaret Rock, president of YWCA. The scripture will be read by Carroll Stegall, president of Student Volunteers, and the morning prayer will be offered by Bill Nish, president of YMCA.

Studies Post-War Church

Dr. Ruland has recently returned from a three months tour of China where he was sent as a member of the Presbyterian Board's deputation to study the post-war church and missions. The deputation covered more than 5000 miles of territory during their visit, and viewed almost all of the Presbyterian mission work. Their task was to see, hear, evaluate, and report on the post-war state, and to recommend an adequate program for further American participtation in funds and personnel.

Helping Dr. Ruland were the Chinese Christians, interdenominational leaders, and government officials, both American and Chinese, including Madame Ciang, Ambassador Stuart, and General Marshall.

Former Missionary To China

Dr. Ruland was a missionary to China for ten years. After coming to the Board as Secretary for China, he spent seven months surveying the work of Presbyterian missions there and making short, comparative studies in Japan, Korea and Siam.

He is chairman of the Committee on East Asia, the co-operating agency of the mission boards in studying and recommending plans and procedures for post-war mission service in the Far East, and a member of the Board of Directors of Church World Service.

Speaks Wednesday Evening

A meeting will be held at 7:15 Wednesday evening in Bartlett Auditorium, at which Dr. Ruland will speak on some phase of Chinese mission work.

This year's Fred Hope Fund will support Mary Edna Smith, graduate of last year's senior class, as Maryville's direct representative to the mission field in China. Miss Smith teaches in a high school supported by several denominations in Hunan Province. The Fund of last year, amounting to $1,300 is being used for Miss Smith's support. The amount necessary to support her for the year is $1,500.

Dr. Lloyd S. Ruland

Organ Class And Professor Present Recital Monday

Under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, the organ repertoire class will present an informal organ recital in New Providence Presbyterian Church on November 15 at 3:30 p. m.

The program of Bach includes "Prelude and Fugue in C Major", Mary Fowler; "Fugue in G Minor (The Lesser)", Peggy Cummings; "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor", William Deibl; "Fantasia in G Minor", Juanita Johnson.

A recital by Mr. Hughes of early organ music is composed of "Prelude", Conrad Paumann, German, about 1410-1473; "Preludio per Organo", Andrea Gabrieli, Italian, 1510-1586; "Pavane (The Earl of Salisbury)", William Byrd, English, 1538-1623; "Gagliarda", Bernhard Schmid, German, 16th Century; "Magnificat (Sexti Toni)", Jean Titelouze, French, 1563-1633; "Qui Peccata Mundi" ("O Thou That Takest Upon Thee the Sins of the World"), Francois Couperin, French, 1631-1703.

REV. R. I. BRAHAMS PREACHES SUNDAY

The Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Laguna Beach, Calif., will speak at Sunday Vespers on November 14. Rev. Brahams is the father of Hap and Brick Brahams, students here.

The Vesper Choir will sing, "All Breathing Life, Sing and Praise Ye the Lord" by Bach and "Cherubim Song" by Glinka.

Music Department Record Library Opens To Students

The Music Department record library will be open for all students every Friday during the 4:30-5:30 period and from 6:30 until 8:45. The 6:30-7:45 period will be sponsored by Disc Club and the remaining periods will be under the supervision of the Music Department. All of the departmental records, except a few collections such as "L'Anthologie Sonore" and Columbia's "History of Music", will be available at these periods. Students must sign out each record and return it before closing time.

Several rooms, including the turntables and earphones, will be provided for listening.

The Music Department and Disc Club desire to give all students the chance to use the records.

F T A Members Lead Friday Chapel Services

Three representatives of the Future Teachers of America Club led Chapel Friday, November 12, in honor of National Education Week. Alan Rock led the devotional service. Sarah Durant spoke on the purpose and origin of this special week, and a talk on the old and new fields of teaching was made by Bill Carter.

AMERICAN EDUCATION— PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE

National Education Week is a good time to step back and try to evaluate what American education has done and should do. In the rush for becoming bigger but not always better, some have charged that our universities and colleges have perhaps lost sight of the real purposes of education.

Maryville has always maintained a balanced liberal arts program designed to equip a student for living as well as for some particular occupation. The spiritual and social phases of life are given important places in the curriculum.

Dean McIntosh Speaks

Dean Millicent Carey McIntosh of Barnard, appearing at the annual forum of the New York Herald Tribune, spoke of the chaos now existing and its relation to modern education.

Dean McIntosh, in the following quote from "Time" for November 1, expresses the thoughts of many modern educators.

'Our highly esteemed civilization. . . destroys the very qualities which have produced it; initiative, independence, intellectual resourcefulness. A generation. . . born in confusion, suckled in tumult, reared with cars, radios, movies, comics, and picture magazines, can hardly grow up into reflective, sober, well rounded young people. . . .

"It is difficult now for parents to hand on to children clear-cut standards of what is right and what is wrong in the relations of the sexes. . .The air is blue with insistent voices. . . analyzing behavior as 'normal' which in the past we were accustomed to associate with the gutter.

". . .(Progressive school teachers) who have concentrated on the (development of personality) have succeeded often in developing superficial, egocentric young people, lacking in discipline, and woefully ignorant of the great cultural tradition and religious tradions through which man has emerged from group savegery into individual freedom. . .

"(It is) our business as educators to. . . provide a moral synthesis which can guide our students wisely through a mass of contradictory (views). . . It can be provided only through freedom of inquiry and discussion, and by. . . the personal idealism of (teachers) aware of the moral and spiritual implications of knowledge. . . Graduate schools and colleges which glorify research and publication at the expense of teaching are guilty of a grave and perhaps irreparable sin against civilization. Communities which spend millions for alcohol, cosmetics, and amusements, and what is left over for schools, committing spiritual suicide. (We are) letting our world slide into abyss of technological and moral confusion. . ."

DISC CLUB

Loeffler's "Pagan Poem" will be commented on by Alice Archibald at Disc Club Thursday, November 18. The meeting will be held at 6:45 p. m. in Bartlett Hall. This music is an example of contemporary American music.

M CLUB SPONSORS DANCING LESSONS

Dancing lessons, under the sponsorship of M Club, will be given every Tuesday night from 6:30 to 7:15 in the Intramural Gymnasium. The usual week-day dances will not be held on Tuesday nights.

The lessons are for the benefit of all persons who do not feel at ease on a dance floor and wish to gain more poise. Mrs. Verlan Queener, instructor, requests that those who do dance fairly well not attend these lessons until later, when there will be an opportunity for those who wish to improve their dancing to attend. All persons attending will be required to participate in the lessons in order to discourage spectators.

Chapel Campaign Passes Halfway Mark November 9

Maryville College's $150,000.00 Chapel Fund Drive passed the halfway mark this week with $77,047 reported at a dinner of volunteer workers Tuesday night. A campaign to supplement the Chapel Fund begins in Knox County Wednesday, November 17, with a luncheon meeting at the Farragut Hotel in Knoxville.

Largest of the new gifts were those of $1,000 each from the six children of the late Dr. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, fifth president of Maryville College, for whom the new chapel is to named. The $6,000 from the Wilson children was designated for the six pillars which will form the portico of the building.

Wilson Children

The Wilson children are Mrs. H. B. Phillips of Hysham, Mont., Mrs. Clyde Murray of Maryville, Mr. Howard Wilson of Knoxville, Miss Lois Wilson of Lebanon, Syria, Mrs. Ben Watkins of El Paso, Texas, and Mr. Lamar Wilson of Glendale, Cal.

Advance Gifts Awards

Specially inscribed certificate awards for their work throughout the Advance Gifts phase of the campaign were presented to Roy Blackburn, Clyde T. Murray, and Judge Pat Quinn.

Campaign chairman John C. Crawford, Jr., announced that the appeal in Blount County would be closed officially next Tuesday night, November 16, when a final report dinner of workers will be held at the College.

POLL DETERMINES YM-YW SCRIPT CONTEST WINNER

A poll will be taken among the students of the College at the end of November to determine the winner of YM-YW's radio script contest open to all students of Maryville College.

Acceptable scripts are broadcast over WGAP, 1400 kc, each Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the combined YMCA and YWCA of Maryville College. Anyone interested in entering a script should see Jim Black or Ben Paxton.

To participate in the poll, it will be necessary only to have listened to all four broadcasts during the month of November.

TRIMMER LECTURES ON ATOMIC ENERGY

Dr. J. B. Trimmer, associate professor of physics at the University of Tennessee, spoke on "Scientific Aspects of Atomic Research," Tuesday evening, November 9, at 6:30 p. m. in Bartlett Auditorium. His main discussion was on stable isotopes and the nuclear reacter apparatus where radio activity takes place artificially.

Dr. Trimmer has worked from the beginning with the splitting of the atom at Oak Ridge. He lectured here in 1946 on the social effect of the atom on man.

Poster Committee Needs Twenty New Members

Twenty new members are needed to keep the poster committee in operation. This committee is responsible for the majority of posters appearing on campus, and groups desiring posters should contact them. Students who are interested in joining are requested to see Carl Lazenby, or Miss Charlotte Johnson in Anderson 23.

Knoxville College Quartet Sings at YM-YW Sunday

Knoxville College Male Quartet will present a program of spirituals and sacred and classical music at the joint YM-YW meeting in the Library at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. Among the selections they will sing are "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" and "Balm in Gilead." This same quartet sang here last semester.

COLLEGE DIRECTORS SCHEDULE FALL MEETING TUESDAY

Maryville College's Board of Directors is scheduled to begin its fall meeting Tuesday, November 16, at 10:30 a. m. in the President's office. Mr. S. O. Houston, chairman of the board, will preside.

President Lloyd will make a complete report on College activities for the past year. He will also ask for reports from each of the offices and faculty committees.

The fall meeting of the board is referred to as the "long meeting" because most of the directors' important business is transacted during these sessions. The board will meet again in the spring for the express purpose of awarding degrees at the commencement exercises.

Art Club Sponsors Table Decoration Contest

Art Club plans to sponsor a contest for the best decorated Thanksgiving table in the dining hall and a award a prize at the noon meal on Thanksgiving Day.

Time of the judges' selection will be announced the day before Thanksgiving, and the club has asked each table to participate.

Gresham, Kincaid Prepare Compositions For Workshop

Readers at Writers' Workshop November 17 will be Becky Ruth Gresham and Martha Kincaid. These readers will be criticized by Dave Campbell and Bill Carter.

At last week's meeting Miss Elizabeth Jackson read six short translations from three French poets Musset, Heredia, and Verlaine. Ben Paxton criticized. Marian Pope then read "Auction Sale", a dramatic monolog in prose. Ed Pancoast led the criticism through the use of a series of questions.

IRC

Don Dickinson will discuss the Philippines at IRC's meeting Monday evening at 6:45 in Thaw 214.

Formal Dinner in Pearsons Precedes First Performance

Opening night for Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians" is November 19 at 8 p. m. in Maryville High School Auditorium and is to be preceded by a formal dinner in the dining hall at 6 p. m. The play will be repeated the following night, November 20. Mrs. Lenore Courtney and Carroll Stegall are directing the play for the producers, Athenian and Bainonian societies. Reserved seat tickets sell for 50 cents.

Violence is the theme of the mystery drama from the very start. Coming to an apparently happy week end at secluded Indian Island, ten complete strangers soon find that they have one very frightening thing in common —someone is trying to murder them all. Two lovers, a nerve specialist, a judge, a wealthy playboy, a fanatically religious old maid, an elderly general, a self-styled African millionaire, a butler, a cook—which is the killer? Suspicion mounts rapidly. The suspects keep reading the nursery rhyme of "Ten Little Indians" and finding the little Indian boys atop the mantle broken, one by one, as the murderer finds his victims.

Starr, Jenkins Star

Featured in the cast are Ann Jenkins and Bill Starr as Vera Claytorne, the private secretary, and Phillip Lombard, gentleman adventurer. Jim Black plays the role of Dr. Armstrong, Bill Nish plays General MacKenzie, and Ben Paxton portrays Sir Lawrence Wargrave. The part of Emily Brent, a cantankerous old spinster, is taken by Marjorie Prall.

Joe Poland has the role of William Blore, and David Reed plays Anthony Marston. Jimmy Dance and Ruthellen Crews portray Rogers and Mrs. Rogers, the butler and cook of the ill-starred household. Charles Williams plays the part of Fred Narracott, skipper of a motor launch.

C-N Buses Load At 5:30; Supper Served At 5 P M

Carson-Newman bound buses will load in front of Anderson at 5:30 this afternoon following a 5 o'clock supper for students eating in the dining hall. Buses load for the return trip immediately after the game is over and make no stops.

There will be a student conductor on each bus who will have charge of tickets and bus passengers. All tickets should be signed on the back as each student must return on the same bus on which he goes.

The buses will leave campus at approximately 5 o'clock. Refunds of the difference between bus and train tickets rates will be made next week by Council.

Course In Histology Offered Next Semester

Mrs. Susan Black will teach a class in histology, biology 314 next semester. No histology course will be taught the two following semesters so schedules should be made with these facts in mind.

Social Science Group Visits County Jail

Mrs. A. F. Pieper's fifth period social science survey class made an investigation of the Blount County Jail recently as a project which grew out of a study on criminology. Accompanied by Mrs. Pieper, the group left after chapel on Wednesday, November 2.

After seeing the equipment and types of cells provided for the different kinds of criminals, they were shown a collection of articles taken from places which the police had raided.

Applied Music Students Retake Seashore Tests

Applied music students will meet in rooms 21, 22, and 32, Anderson, at 4:30 on November 16 to retake seashore tests. These tests are to be regiven because the grades were low on the previous tests. Students should consult alphabetical lists on the bulletin boards to determine the room to which they should report.

Fine Arts Center Architects Visit Campus Tuesday

Mr. Paul Schweikher and Mr. Winston Elting, representing the firm, Schweikher and Elting, Architects, from Chicago, were on campus last Tuesday for conferences concerning the new fine arts center. Besides studying the site of the proposed building they met with the fine arts faculty Tuesday morning.

In the evening the model and drawings were discussed and explained to a group of faculty members, several of the directors and, fine arts majors. At this meeting Mr. Schweikher explained the philosophy back of their work. This firm holds a high place among architects working in the contemporary style.

At present the tentative plans for the two-story structure provide for teaching studios, practice rooms, a music library, class rooms, listening roms, an art gallery, a lounge, and a recital hall with a seating capacity between 250 and 300. It will partially enclose an ampitheater. The building will be about as long as the football field in length and about two-thirds that distance in width.

The architects have also been in contact with the donors of the new building, Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Lloyd of Chicago.

FRENCH CLUB

New members will be elected to the French Club at its last session of the semester, December 9, in the Y rooms. At the November 11 meeting Virginia Schwartz's skit, "The Celebration of Armistice Day in France," was presented. Included in the cast were Dorothy Holverson, Virginia Schwartz, Bill Deihl, and Dan Winter. Following the program refreshments were served.

Don't Let Her Down

This year's its not just the Fred Hope Fund Drive. It's standing back of one of us who's trying to do the thing that most of us feel should be done, but can't do ourselves.

Each year Maryville students and faculty contribute to the Fund. It is a unique one that MC alone supports. Last year we asked Mary Smith to go to China as our personal representative. Now it is our responsibility not to let her down. She's helping others for us; she stands for Maryville College and its ideals to a lot of people. It's our job. What are we going to do about it?

We're Off To See The Eagles

Carson-Newman and Maryville have both unanimously adopted the agreement to change the relationship between the colleges. Our actions (both schools) for the next two years will be the test of whether or not such pacts are practicable. As can be seen by the Echo Forum this week, other colleges are interested and watching to see what will happen.

The pact is reciprocal. Those who have objected to the $1 ticket price should remember that our tickets will cost them the same amount next year. Our waiting till game time to visit Jefferson City means that they, too, will no longer pay "early" visits to our campus.

Both sides have expressed a desire for friendly rivalry that can be enjoyed by all. Today's the day. Let's go!

Student Council

Town Nite penalties, the Carson-Newman trip, and the last article of the Student Body constitution were discussed by Student Council at its weekly meeting on Wednesday night.

Two Town Nite penalties were ruled for failure to sign in and overstaying the privilege.

The trip to Carson-Newman was discussed and it was stated that unless a sufficient number of students had signed up for the train by Friday, it will be necessary to make the trip by bus.

Council decided to take the last article of the Constitution, on committees, before the Student-Faculty Senate this week. If it is passed by the Senate the whole Consitution will be ready to be ratified by the Student Body. It has not been ratified previously because the Council thinks it advisable to have the Constitution voted upon as a whole instead of small parts at a time.

Reports of all Council Committees are due next Wednesday night.

Two students, Ray Holsey and Wanda Onifer, were appointed to the Social Board this week.

The frost is on the pumpkin;
The corn is in the shock. . .

Yes, it seems as if winter may be here again. Let's hope it's here to stay this time. June in January is all right, but who wants March in November?

We should have more chapel programs like the one Thursday morning. Who would have thought it could come to pass that we'd have a magic show during chapel! Dot Stater seemed to be really getting a kick out of the whole procedure. After each act she tried to find a logical explanation, but like most of us, she failed.

And while we're on the subject of chapel—if this little item is of any use in the chapel drive, the committee is welcome to use it. However, we are more interested in seeing that it obtains short speakers. Follows a poem:

He loveth best who speaketh least,
Of things both great and small,
For the bleacher seats which holdeth us,
Were not made to fit us all.
(courtesy S. Coleridge and J. Hunt)

After the magic show Dr. Briggs let his psychology class listen to a hypnotism record. It is a recording of the general procedure of putting a subject into a hypnotic trance. If you noticed any change in Bill Nish that morning, that was the reason. It almost worked on him.

It seems as if one corner of the dining hall is always having a commotion about raincoats. Tuesday night the stir was created again when Bev Moore came to supper wearing her raincoat as she usually does to breakfast. This time she had a good explanation—zipper trouble.

Our illusions have been shattered. Good Queen Bess, it seems, owned an extensive wardrobe of 100 dresses, but not one bathtub. Perhaps 'twas she who prompted Bill to write that if a woman has to smell at all, 'tis better that she smell sweet.

Overheard in the bookstore: Harold Hunter asking for some "caressable blond special studies material."

Yea, Scotts—

How red can one tailback get? Not only did he miss an easy pass (ping pong) from a lineman, but Bob Neff slipped and fell flat on his head in the "center" last Tuesday night. His color, upon regaining his feet, was a becoming shade between orange and garnet.

Late election results—Dr. Queener's surprised, but oh-so-pleased expression—

WSGA decided to take pity on the poor defenseless male, so a proclamation was issued that it would be according to Emily Post if the gals paid their own fares to Carson-Newman. Many fellows could be heard heaving thankful sighs of relief. Five bucks plus is a lot of green stuff to shell out for one football game.

Talk of The Week — Donald Reeves

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

The College's first full length play this season is Athenian-Bainonian's "Ten Little Indians," to be produced November 19-20 at 8 p. m. the High School auditorium. The mystery drama, adapted from Agatha Christie's novel, has been read and seen in film form in America as "And Then There Were None." Authoress Christie has scattered poison, guns, axes, knives, booby traps, and various other lethel weapons at random throughout her play. "Ten Little Indians" should be good box office as a top-notch mystery drama.

SHADOWS

Town Nite audiences at Maryville's Capitol Theatre next Tuesday will see Marlene Dietrich and Ray Milland in "Golden Earrings." Memories of the movie's theme song still linger in the ears of Hit Parade listeners, although the plot of the picture may not come up to your expectations. "Grandma" Dietrich is quite glamorous and spry as the tempestuous gyspy girl, while Milland, ever the dashing adventurer, is still escaping numerous pursuers. Feature, short, news and previews.

PRESTIDIGITATION

W. M. Robinson brought down last Thursday's chapel with round after round of applause for his skillful showmanship of magical tricks. Robinson started with hankies and worked up to Haaf and Rueter and card tricks. His reading, while blindfolded and adhesive-taped, of a wide range of "literature" leaves this columnist thinking I need my glasses changed.

VOICES

Save that 2:30 Sunday afternoon spot on your radio dial for "MC on the Air"—WGAP. YM and YW are putting on an excellent series of programs this season, including scripts by Tom Wheeler, class of '48, and Jim Black. November 14's program will bring a new script writer to the local radio audiences—Ann Jenkins, sophomore dramatic art major from Jamestown, Tennessee. Miss Jenkins calls her play "Pit of Revenge."

THE PRINTED PAGE

Lamar Memorial Library is celebrating National Book Week, November 14-20, with a bulletin board of "Current and Choice" novels and non-fiction. Most of the titles on the best-seller lists find their way to the College library's shelves, as you'll see if you thumb through the book jackets and books on the New Book table just inside the front library door.

In addition to the publication of quarterly bulletins of new book titles, the library announces that a weekly supplement of book titles added will be posted. Included among the purchases put on the shelves from October 23 to November 16 are these colorful titles: Toynbee's "Civilization on Trial," "Information Please Almanac," four volumes of "Plays for our American Holidays" edited by Schauffier, and that famous crutch of the legal profession, Black's "Law Dictionary."

Dorothy Wilson's novel "The Herdsman" has been added to the fiction collection, as has Owen Grazebrook's historical novel, "Nicanor of Athens." Other fiction items are Conrad's "Typhoon" and Gorkii's "Creatures that Once Were Men."

Art students may want to keep scissors and stapler in hand as they read Paul McPharlin's book about "Paper Sculpture." Profusely illustrated with photographs, this book gives detailed instructions for "sculpting" such designs as an abstract limp doughnut! Music majors may want to read Boyd's "Elizabethan Music" or run over some numbers on the piano from Lomax's "Folk Song U.S.A." or Franz Schubert's "Trout-Quintet."

Echo Forum

(The following is an excerpt from a letter to the ECHO resulting in part from the publication last week of the C-N agreement. At present, Blount County high schools have an organization similar to the one suggested, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The voters are the game officials and score schools on four points, team, coach, spectators, school officials, Results from both teams are used to determine the score of each team for each game. Total points in relation to the number of contests, determine a school's percentage at the end of the year.—Ed.)

"I was particularly interested in the write-up concerning a "truce" between Maryville and Carson-Newman students. It seems to me that the same condition underlying this agreement is apparent at most college games in this area. If Maryville and Carson-Newman, evidently particularly at odds, can arrive at a mutual agreement that good sportsmanship and friendly relations between colleges is an ideal activity sought after, why could not all colleges in East Tennessee, or at least those which come into competitive contact with each other, come to the same agreement.

"As a suggestion for your consideration, I would like to present the idea of a group of East Tennessee college newspapers offering an annual trophy or plaque to the college displaying the best sportsmanship in all intercollegiate activities throughout the year. Eligible voters for the winner of this award would be those students participating in intercollegiate affairs. A contract similar to that passed by the student bodies of Maryville and Carson-Newman might be submitted to all colleges wishing to participate, in order to make the students more aware of the problem.

Sports Echoes

●JUST A MOUNTAIN FEUD—When the boys from Pistol Creek (Maryville) and the Mossy Creek boys (Carson-Newman) mix it up, there's something more tenacious about it than an ordinary football rivalry. It all started back in 1903 when the Mossy creek crew licked a Pistol creek representation, 72-0. But by 1915 Maryville caught up with Carson-Newman for a 99-0 whipping. Since then, every game has been a hell-for-leather occasion. With the 23rd meeting tonight, the team records point to a very equal match and possibly a close score, judge for yourself:

Maryville's 1948 Record		Carson-Newman's 1948 Record
32—Hiwassee	0	19—Newberry	0
12—Middle Tenn. State	13	7—Tennessee Tech	28
6—Sewanee	12	6—Emory and Henry	12
0—East Tenn. State	20	13—Centre	6
12—Emory and Henry	6	16—Georgetown	7
7—Western N. Carolina	6	6 East Tennessee State	7
0—Tennessee Tech	21	7—Milligan	19
??—Carson-Newman	??	33—Tusculum	0

●UNDEFEATED, UNTIED teams are extinct in the state this year. Sewanee's Purple and White boast the best small college record with five victories and one tie as of this week. Last year Carson-Newman brought a Burley-Bowl bound, undefeated eleven down to battle on Wilson field for a 7-7 deadlock. In '46 Maryville's undefeated team invaded Carson-Newman to trash the Eagles, 33-7. Neither team this time has either an undefeated record or a possible bowl bid, but both have scattered defeats and wins and point for their last game of the year with arch rivals. As a matter of record, Maryville has a 17-12 lead in games won since Coach Honaker came to the hill in '21. Last year's 7-7 score was the first time a tie game has entered the series.

●TALENT APPRECIATED — Every time Merriman got the ball last Saturday, Tech's forward wall headed furiously for him—Hersh is appreciated especially by opponents. Bob Neff, as a pass interceptor, has the art down to a fine degree. Taking two in the Carolina game, he was budding as a back to stop passing attacks when his presence ruined the E-N Eagles pasing barrage last year. Punting will undoubtedly come very much into play tonight, and it'll be good if Berrong's toe is ready for some punts with both altitude and latitude. Fred Woolwine, Carson-Newman's punting ace who kicked four punts to Boring's four last year on Wilson field, will be booting for the Eagles again.

●MARYVILLE'S cross country squad had a field day with Sewanee yesterday afternoon. Del Earisman, with his antelope lope, cut almost a minute off his running time in previous runs. He completed the 3.2 mile course in 17 min. 46.8 sec. to better a time set in practice last week of 18:38. Both Earisman and Sewanee's Perkins (who broke tape in 17:57.2) beat the time of 18:08.9 set by UT's leader, John Trent, who took first place when the Vols ran here. Menges, Kidder, and Kay showed considerable improvement over earlier work. These guys should be rarin' to go when the track call goes out next spring.

●WHETHER OR NOT Western North Carolina is likely to defeat Emory and Henry this week, we'll take the 'Cats' by sheer guess. Likewise, we'll take Sewanee over Kenyon—easy going; East Tennessee State over Tusculum—no trouble; Murray over Middle Tennessee State—sure to lose; and Wofford wants Tennessee Tech's hide, Tech in a home game has the advantage but Wofford's not to be stopped.

TECH TROMPS SCOTTIES, 21-0

Heavy Techmen Held Scoreless For Two Quarters By Scots

After holding Tech's Eagles to a 7-0 score at the half, Maryville's Scots allowed the TPI eleven two touchdowns in the final quarter and took the worst beating of the season, 21-0 in the final home game last Saturday.

Maryville was first to threaten as end Howard Davis covered a fumble by Ferguson, Tech fullback on the Tech 32 after two Eagle plays. Berrong, Merriman, and Neff hit the Eagle line for short gains and planted the ball on the Tech nine. Berrong's pass to Fogarty and then to Merriman fell incomplete, squelching the best chance of the game for a Scot score.

Eagles Bottled Up

The Scotties bottled up the Golden Eagles for the remainder of the first quarter and, with the aid of Berrong's punting held the heavy Eagles well in their own territory.

Tech scored first in the second quarter after an exchange of punts by Lancaster and Baldwin. Beset by an offside penalty, the Eagles had it 2 and 13 on their own 41 when Baldwin intercepted a pass thrown by Massa. Three running plays by Miller, Allen, and Merriman were unsuccessful and Allen prepared to punt. Ferguson, Tech fullback, broke through the center of the Scot line to block Allen's punt on the MC 37.

Vol Harriers Beat Scots In 17-38 Win

U. T.'s Orange and White Harriers out-ran Coach Johnson's Scot cross-country men Wednesday to take the first four places for a 17-38 decision. The race, run on the Vol's Cherokee Boulevard Course, found the Scots taking the fifth, sixth, eighth, ninth, and eleventh places.

Louis Schneider of the Vols led the way home around the 3.2 mile track—making the run in 16 minutes and 38 seconds. He was closely followed by Earl Downey, Sam Fowler, and John Key—all of U. T.

Fifth and sixth places were taken by Del Earisman and Bill Menges. Red Reeder took seventh

Varsity Splashers To Report Monday

Candidates for the varsity swimming team should report at the pool 3:30 p. m. Monday afternoon, Coach Kenneth Johnson announced this week. Men are invited to try out for the nine swimming events or the diving event.

Sixteen swimmers have been working out for the past few weeks in preparation for the start of regular practice. These are: Dave Yeaworth, Jim Frost, Carl Herring, Bob Brown, Bill Varker, Lee Orr, Ed Vandersllice, Branin Boyd, Bo Henry, Preston Mulford, George Barber, Reed Bell, and Curt Barnett in the swimming events; while Jack Moore, Frank Morton, and Dean Risher have been working on diving.

Events which the tankmen will enter are as follows: 50, 100, 220, and 440 yard freestyles, the 150 yard backstroke and the 200 yd. breaststroke, the 400 yd. freestyle relay, and the 300 yd. medley relay.

Scots Seek Fourth Victory To Close Season With Eagles

Maryville's Highlanders, thrice victorious and four time defeated, head for Jefferson City for the final game of the season tonight with Carson-Newman's Eagles.

Backed by Highlander rooters, the Scotties will be out to even up a lop-sided season of three wins, and four losses. Carson-Newman's Eagles, who have won four victories in eight starts, will also close their season tonight.

Top Condition

Condition for the Highlanders, with all injured regulars ready to go except Law who has an ankle sprain, is about the best shape of the season. Coaches Honaker and Davis put the Scots through heavy scrimmages early in the week and extensive signal drills at half speed toward the end of the week.

For this 23rd Scot-Eagle clash, it'll be the same old rivalry of

Earisman Leads As Tigers Lose, 19-36

Scot Harriers wound up the cross country season Friday afternoon by scoring a 19-39 win over the runners of the University of the South. Earisman, of Maryville, crossed the finish line first, and established a season record for the Scot course. His time was 17 minutes 46.8 seconds.

Second man in was Perkins of Sewanee, who trailed Earisman by about ten seconds for a 17:57.2 running time. Scot runners Menges, Kidder, Kay, and Thurston trotted home to take third, fourth, fifth, and sixth places respectively. The remainder of the runners placed as follows: Stewart (S), Mulford (M), Prows (S), Ragland (S), Woodwin (S), Rogers (M), Pearson (M), and Segram (S). Mabry, who led the Scots in the first Sewanee meet, was out of the running due to a cold.

American Council On College Study Sponsors Junior, Graduate Students In Switzerland

Opportunities are now increasing for study abroad by American students. Events during the past few years have aroused a keen interest on the part of students in this country. Many have already participated in programs such as those sponsored by the American Council on College Study in Switzerland, of the University of Maryland.

SCIENCE STUDENTS ENROLL AT BASEL

For the first time American students enrolled in an American program of supervised studies, are studying at the University of Basel, Switzerland's oldest university located on the banks of the Rhine. 27 men and women representing 20 colleges and universities in the United States have begun their studies there.

Basel is one of the few European universities which extends its facilities in the Sciences to American undergraduates. Limited course offerings in Biology, Chemistry, and Physics are available in the program known as the "Junior Year in Basel" which is sponsored by the American Council on College Study in Switzerland.

In addition to the Science courses Scientific German, German Grammar and Composition, German Language and Literature, History, Music, Art, and advanced courses in other Modern Languages are offered in the program.

Requirements for membership in the JY in Basel include completion of the Sophomore Year, a minimum of two years of college German or the equivalent in that language, and recommendation by the dean or president.

Florida Student Moved To Blount For Operation

Four students were confined to the college infirmary this week. One of these, Sarah Hastings of Oneco, Fla., has been moved to Blount Memorial hospital for an appendectomy. The three patients remaining are Carol Mitchell of Circleville, Ohio, JoAnn Stroud of Loceland, Ohio, and Bob Stewart of Penn's Grove, N. J.

ZURICH SPECIALIZES IN LIBERAL ARTS

Ernest Herbster, assistant to the Director of the American Council on College Study in Switzerland, reports that 53 men and women representing 35 colleges and universities are studying in Zurich under the Council's auspices. They are members of the group know as the "Junior Year in Zurich." All of the students are majoring in the field of Liberal Arts. Science and engineering students are not eligible because of limited facilities in Zurich. They are, however, accepted in the Junior Year in Basel group, also sponsored by the Council, because the science facilities at the University of Basel are somewhat better than in Zurich.

Courses offered this year include German Grammar and Composition, German Language and Literature, Government, History, Economics, Art and Music, as well as advanced courses in other Modern Languages. Tuition for the year is $550. Veterans may make use of their G.I. benefits.

Sophomores who will complete two years of college by next spring or summer, will have completed two years of college German or have had the equivalent in that language, and are in the upper half of the class, may be eligible to become members of the 1949-50 Junior Year in Zurich.

Maintenance Department Installs Lights, Mirrors

The installation of new fluorescent lights on the third floor of Thaw Hall will be completed this week, College director of maintenance Louis Black announced today. Other improvements include the painting of the Town Girls' Room ,also in Thaw, and the installation of new mirrors in Pearsons Hall.

Howees Defeat Chillies In Volleyball Series

The Howees became victors of the point system volleyball season by gaining victories in both team and squad competition last week.

Howees won the first team game 39-17 and took the second, 39-37. Squad scores were Howees 32, Chillies 29; Howees 41, Chillies 37.

Tests for stunts, the next point system activity, will be held next Thursday.

GRADUATES SEEK MASTERS DEGREES

One of the more encouraging signs that American students desire to obtain at least part of their education abroad is the interest and participation in the Foreign Study Programs for graduate students sponsored by the University of Maryland. Centers in Paris and Zurich were first established by the Maryland institution in the fall of 1947. This year the Maryland group in Paris is composed of 32 men ad women. The membership of the Zurich group totals 39.

The program provides majors in linguistics, comparative, French and German literature, and history. Minors are offered in nearly all fields with the exception of the sciences.

Admission to the program of the Foreign Study Centers is dependent upon admission to the Graduate School of the University of Maryland. It requires that the applicant hold a Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution and has at least two years of undergraduate work in the language spoken at the respective Center.

Two kinds of awards are offered. A Master of Foreign Study is given after the completion of 24 semester hours, plus six hours for a thesis in the major field of the student, and a final examination. A Certificate is awarded for the successful completion of an approved program of thirty semester hours.

For the 1949-50 academic year the University of Maryland plans to establish a third Foreign Study Center. The city of Basel was chosen because of its excellent university, its cultural advantages, and the fact that it has been found necessary to find a second city offering facilities in the German language.

place for U .T., with Paul Kidder and Charles Mabry following him to place eighth and ninth. Tenth man in was Cliff Barbour of U. T.

This is the second win for the Vol Harriers over the Scots. On October 20 the UT thin-clads tagged the Scots with a 19-42 win here on home grounds when Trent, Schenider, and DeVault paced the way across the finish line for the Vols. Trent did not run for UT Wednesday due to a sprained ankle. Heaton of UT, who ran the course unattached, led Schneider by ten seconds for a 16:28 run.

SCOTS INVADE . . .

the Scots last rode into Jefferson City and blasted the Eagles, 33-7. For Maryville, Leon Berrong, Hershell Merriman, Bob Neff, D. M. Miller, Howard Davis, Bill Proffitt, Alan Rock, Ken Andes, Fred Kluth and Ray Holsey are making their second trip to Jefferson City. Carson-Newman's Keller, Kyker, Cosson, Moffett, and Wade helped the Eagle warefare in '46 and in last year's 7-7 tie.

Three Seniors On Trip

Captain Alan Rock, alternate captain Fred Kluth, and guard Bill Proffitt will be playing their last game for the Orange and Garnet. Trainer James Newman, who lettered at guard last season, will make his last trip with the Scots and assistant Manager Bill Dinges will windup managerial chores.

Assistant line coach Ronald Easter, a senior, will see the Scots in action for one of the few times this season since scouting duties hava cerried him else where.

TECH TROMPS . . .

a strong ground attack, Lancaster on a second pass attempt hit Thaxton, his right end for the Eagle touchdown. Bussell's extra point put the Eagles out front, 7-0.

After taking Tech's kickoff, Allen's pass intended for Miller was intercepted by McDonald, the Techmen were held for downs, and Maryville's pasing from Berrong to Neff neted a first down on the MC 45 before the half.

Scots Stop Tech on Own Five

Tech's weight advantage began to wear down the Scots before the end of the third quarter, but the Orange and Garnet line made a goal line stand on their own five to repulse a Tech touchdown attempt in the third quarter.

Lancaster made 35 yards in three attempts and teamed with Ferguson and Matthews to reach the Scot 11 where the Scottie line held from end to end and stopped the Eagle advance five yards short of the goal.

Berrong's punting again relieved the presure but only momentarily, for Massa then hit five times from his own 33 to the Scot 40. Lancaster made ten, and a lateral from Matthews to Webb gained an Eagle first down on the Scot 18. The Scottie line bucked both Massa and Matthews for no gain in three tries, but Matthews again lateralled to Webb, who went to the Scot five as the third quarter whistle blew.

Webb's pass to Jarrel completed the Eagle's 63 yard jaunt and scored their second touchdown. Busell kicked the extra point. Tech 14, Maryville 0.

Tech was held to one first down between punts by Fogarty and Berrong, who punted out of bounds on the Tech 37. Two plays later Massa handed off to Whitfield who went over right tackle for a 45 yard run down to the MC 17 where Fogarty and Allen bounded him out.

Whitfield scored on the following play by taking a fake-lateral run around left end. Bussell's point made the score 21-0 for Tech.

Soccer

Intramural soccer ended the first half with the YMCA on top with four wins, no losses, and one tie.

This week Pi Lumbago tied the YMCA 0-0, and then tied the Freshmen 1-1, while the YMCA defeated the Freshmen 2-0. Comparative scores do not prove a thing.

In the Pi Lumbago-Freshmen game Fowler scored for Pi Lumbago and Peters booted through the goal for the Freshmen. In the YMCA-Freshmen fracas Yunker accounted for both points.

Swimming

There will be an Intramural swim meet, for all fellows interested, on December 8, at 4 p. m. Following is a list of the events which will be open: 50 yard free style, 100 yard free style, 100 yard back stroke, 150 yard breast stroke (butterfly), free style relay, Medley relay, free style-back-crawl-breast, and diving.

College Orchestra Presents First Concert Of Year Friday Evening

Hughes Directs Group For Second Year; Horne Is Concert-Mistress

Maryville College's 36-piece orchestra, W. Curtis Hughes, director, will give its first concert of the year Friday night, November 26, at 8 p. m. in Alumni Gymnasium. Miss Dorothy Horne, associate professor of music, is concert-mistress.

Four selections are on Friday's program. The orchestra will first play "A Manx Overture" by Haydn Wood; the work is based on folk tunes from the Isle of Man. Haydn's "Symphony No. 101 in D Major," more familiarly known as "The Clock," will follow the Wood piece. Fifteen members of the orchestra string group will play an aria by Tenaglia. Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus," or "The Bat," concludes the program.

This is Mr. Hughes second year as director of the orchestra.

Art, Music Courses Offer Correlated Program In Spring

Art appreciation 313 and music appreciation are being offered next semester at the D period. Although the courses will be entirely separate an effort is being made to correlate them by a planned exchange of six lectures during the semester. Miss Charlotte Johnson, instructor in art, and Miss Katherine Davies, professor of music, work together to teach the relationship between art and music and the history of the two fields.

These six exchange lectures will follow this outline: I—Middle Ages, Romanesque, Gothic; II—Renaissance, 15th and 16th centuries; III—Baroque, 17th and early 18th centuries; IV—18th century; V—Romantic, neo-Classic and growth of impressions; VI—20th century, cubism, dadaism, expressionism in art and polytonality and atonality in music.

General Background

Each course will provide a general historical background for its particular material. The music course will include a survey of music literature as well as a listening acquaintance with all types of music, with special supervision in correct methods of listening. The art course will survey sculpture, painting, and architecture to provide understanding and appreciation of all branches of art. These courses are designed for people with little or no background in either subject who are interested in learning enough of the history and development of both to be able to enjoy them.

Writers' Workshop Hears Bill Carter Wednesday

Bill Carter will read at Writers' Workshop next Wednesday and Evelyn Anderson is to criticize.

This week Becky Walton Gresham read "Only A Grown-up," a short story which Dave Campbell criticized. Martha Kincaid's selection was a character sketch, "Dumb But Honest"; Bill Carter criticized.

Table Decoration Contest Judged Thanksgiving Day

College Vespers Features All-Music Program Sunday

MC's vesper service, Sunday, November 21, will be a hymn festival having as its theme, "A Hymn for Every Century." The program is arranged in chronological order beginning with the first century and continuing through the twentieth.

Hymns have been chosen from two thousand years of Apostolic, Jewish, Greek, Roman Catholic, and Protestant songs from Palestine, Syria, Spain, Italy, France, Germany, Russia, the Netherlands, England, and America. These have been set to the music of plainsongs, folksongs, French and German chorales, carols, and Welsh and Anglican hymn tunes.

Harry H. Harter, assistant professor of music, is choir director, and Katherine C. Davies, chairman of the fine arts division, is accompanist for the program. The program outline is as follows:

Prelude, fantasia on hymn tunes; call to worship, first century hymn; choral introit, second century, an old Scottish chant from the Greeks; processional, third century; invocation, fourth century; responsive reading, "Te Deum Laudamus," fifth century; congregational carol, sixth century; choir hymn, seventh century; narration, "The Day of Resurrection," eighth century; prayer, anonymous Latin hymn, tenth century; choir selection, eleventh century; antiphonal hymn, twelfth century; narration, "All Creatures of Our God and King," thirteenth century; congregational hymn, "The God of Abraham Praise," fourteenth century; choir carol, fifteenth century, anthem; Christiansen setting of sixteenth century hymn; solo, "We Gather Together," seventeenth century; congregational hymn, eighteenth century; prayer, "Dear Lord and Father," nineteenth century; recessional, "Christ of the Upward Way," twentieth century; benediction; postlude.

Students Register Beginning Monday For Next Semester

Registration for the coming semester begins Monday, November 22, and continues through Thursday, December 16. All students must register within the time specified for their respective classes in order to avoid payment of the late fee of $2.50. Lists of course offerings may be obtained at the Personnel Office.

Seniors begin registering Monday, November 22, and must complete registration by Friday, November 26. Juniors register between November 30 and December 2. Registration of sophomores will occur from December 7 to 9, and freshmen, December 14 to 16.

Registration Procedure

Upperclassmen will receive schedule cards from chapel monitors and must first secure approval of tentative schedules by major advisors. The permanent card should then be filled out at the Personnel Office. After approval there, the cards should be filed at the Treasurer's office.

Freshman call for their cards and register at the Personnel Office during the time specified.

Class attendance will be required from the first day of the second semester, January 12, and the usual penalties will apply for absences the first two days after a recess. Necessary changes in schedules after registration may be made Friday, January 14.

The Student Help Office will be open for those who wish to make arrangements and sign notes before vacation.

Y's Broadcast 'Korean Mission' On WGAP Sunday

"Korean Mission" is the title of YMCA-YWCA's 2:45 p. m. program on WGAP Sunday. Marjorie Prall wrote the short radio drama, based on actual letters Katherine Bayer received from her father, a missionary. Actors in the play are Bill Starr, Jim Black, Dorothy Holverson, and Joe Poland. Ben Paxton will continue his role of director-announcer.

Chilhowean Staff Keeps Boy, Girl Of Year Secret

Editorial staff members of the 1949 Chilhowean met Monday night to choose the Chilhowean Boy and Girl of the Year. The choice will remain secret until the Chilhowean arrives in the Spring. The two seniors were chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, service, personality, and character. The task of choosing culminated in two people whom the staff considered outstanding in these qualities. Even those chosen for the honor will not know until shortly before the Chilhowean arrives.

The presentation of the Chilhowean's choice of the most outstanding senior boy and girl of the year is a comparatively new tradition. This will be the fourth consecutive year for Girl of the Year, while last year was the first presentation of Boy of the Year.

Blount County Chapel Campaign Reports $83,595

Maryville College Chapel Fund reached a total of $83,595 when the Blount County campaign officially ended at a final report dniner held at the college Tuesday night. Wednesday, a luncheon gathering of Knoxville friends of Maryville College met at the Farragut Hotel to institute an appeal for a Knox County campaign for the chapel fund. The Knox County campaign is a sequel to the one just concluded in Blount County, and it will be followed by a county-wide appeal to Maryville alumni.

Knoxville Luncheon

Dr. Lloyd was the main speaker of the luncheon meeting. Using as his topic, "A Chapel on The Hill Again," Dr. Lloyd spoke about the church college and its necessity in these trying times. The meeting was sponsored by a Knoxville Campaign Committee headed by John H. Murriam, chairman, and R. W. Riggens, vice-chairman.

Blount Campaign Ends

The Blount County Campaign culminated after three weeks of successful cooperation of both College and townspeople. In thanking the small army of more than 200 workers who took part in the appeal, Dr. Lloyd said; "Although we did not realize the full sum that we had set as our goal, I'm confident that the total will continue to grow. All this that you have brought in will help in doing the thing that must be done."

19 Music Students Appear In Tuesday Y Rooms Recital

Ten musical numbers will be presented at the Student Recital at 4:30 p. m. on Tuesday, November 23, in the Y rooms. Ruth Humes, accompanied by Barbara Stidham, will sing "Mother Dear," a Polish folk song arranged by Liebling. An English folk song, "When Love is Kind," will be sung by David Grubbs, accompanied by Alice Huddleston.

Emma Lee Czerniawski will play "Allegro" from Beethoven's "Sonata, op. 2, no. 1." Jane Martenis, accompanied by Thelma Nelson will sing "Du bist wie eine Blume" by Schman. "Dedication" by Franz will be sung by James Akin, accompanied by June Hood.

Massanet's "Meditation" from "Thais" will be sung by Constance Jeffery, with Irene Launitz as accompanist. John Sayre will accompany Gloria Measamer when she sings "Me voici dans son boudoir" by Thomas.

Peggy Wakefield and Conrad Eaddy will sing "La ci darem la mano" from Mozart's "Don Giovanni." They will be accompanied by Mary Fowler. Selections, "Allemande," "Courante," "Gigue," and "Loure," from Bach's "French Suite, No. 5" will be played by Dan Winter.

Local Churches Join In Thanksgiving Services

New BSU Sponsors Early Program At First Baptist

Maryville's first Thanksgiving sunrise service in several years will be held at 7 a. m. Thanksgiving Day, November 25, at First Baptist Church, for all College students. Participating in this program, under the sponsorship of the Baptist Student Union, are representaitves from the college classes of Maryville church Sunday Schools.

Kennedy Garrison, First Methodist Church, will offer the opening prayer. An ensemble from the College Vesper Choir is presenting two special musical numbers; Max Willocks will lead congregational singing. A representative from Broadway Methodist Church will read from the scriptures. John Laney from First Baptist Church and Sam Broyles from St. Andrew's Episcopal will give short talks. The benediction will be pronounced by a representative from New Providence Presbyterian Church.

BSU Organizes

BSU, newly organized off-campus youth organization, is sponsoring the Sunrise Service as its first project since its inauguration. Jimmy Brown is president of the group, assisted by Margaret Stone, first vice-preisdent, Bill Willingham, second vice-president, and Ruthellen Crews, third vice-president. Anne Higdon acts as secretary for BSU, and Donald Whelan is treaswrer. Barbara Hicks and Beth McCall represent the Sunday School and the BTU respectively, and Wilma Davis is publicity director. Max Willocks directs singing, accompanied by pianist Peggy Williams.

Although it is an off-campus BSU officers point out that interest in its work is the only requirement for membership in its group. Brown announces that deputation teams plan to visit the other Baptist churches in and around the community with a view toward expanding the organization. Meetings of BSU are called monthly; the executive council meets each Thursday.

Community Service Held At 10 Thursday

Maryville's annual community Thanksgiving service will be held at New Providence Presbyterian Church at 10 a. m. The Rev. Floyd Clark, minister of the First Christian Church, will deliver the sermon. An offering will be taken to help support some local charity.

Maryville Bands March In Santa Claus Parade

Maryville College band, under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, participated in the Santa Claus parade held this morning in downtown Maryville. This is an annual affair with bands from the high schools and the College invited to perform.

First Performance Of 'Ten Indians' Staged Last Night

Dress Rehearsal Thursday Evening

(Since the Echo deadline is Friday, a review of the first performance was not available for this issue.)

"Ten Little Indians," first major play of the year, opened last night at 8 p. m. in the Maryville High School auditorium. A second performance will be given this evening at eight o'clock.

Athenian-Bainonian's production had its dress rehearsal Thursday night at Maryville High School. At 3:30 p.m. Ruth Heaps and her stage crew started changing the stage into the living room of the drab, gloomy house high on the cliff at Indian Island. Bill McIlvaine and the special effects crew perched themselves on the beams to direct spotlights toward the stage.

At 6:30 the cast arrived to mutter hurriedly over those last few "tough" lines. At 7:30 Peggy Brooks with costumes and Eleanor Miller with the make-up kit, arrived to transform the actors into frightened, suspicious strangers. At 8:30 Mrs. Lenore Courtney and Carroll Stegall made a few last-minute remarks, and then at 9 o'clock the red velvet curtain parted slowly on Act I of "Ten Little Indians." For the next two hours the tense, suspenseful mystery drama that many college students saw last night played out its violent story.

Dress rehearsal found the cast and directors in good spirits about the successful acceptance of their play. Intense preparation has gone into production of Agatha Christie's murder story.

ART CLUB SPONSORS CAMPUS EXHIBIT

Maryville's first all-campus art exhibit, sponsored by the Art Club, will be held early next semester. Entry blanks may be secured from a poster in Thaw lobby next week.

The necessary information is to be recorded on the blanks as directed and returned to the box at the door of the Art Studio, Anderson 23, before December 3. Entries must be taken to the studio bewteen December 13 and 17.

Each person may contribute two entries. The exhibit will be shown in the library, and entries should be mounted in some form suitable for display.

King, Queen, Court Remains Secret; Shops Open To Public At 7:30

"Mardi Gras" opens at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in MC's annual Thanksgiving show in Alumni Gym. The traditionally elaborate Barnwarming program of pageantry and music begins at 8:15.

Barnwarming King and Queen and the Queen's court will be known for the first time when they appear to the music of Charles Huffman's band. The student body chose classmates for these honors in elections October 22.

Vin Rouge

Festive Mardi Gras shops are to be open from 7:30 to 8:15. Le Cafe du Vin Rouge, Mary Holly Webb, proprietor, will serve refreshments to celebrants. Joe Claud is curator of Barnwarming's wax museum; Judy Breen is a florist. Winnie Schaumburg and Ginny Schwartz run an Antique & Sweet Shop. Beverly Moore manages a clothing shop, and a fortune teller and a mask shop will set up business, too.

Campus groups participating in the Mardi Gras parade and program include the tumbling team, Theta Epsilon, Alpha Sigma, Bainonian, Athenian, WSGA, the faculty, Theta Alpha Phi, High Society, the Highland Echo, the 1949 Chilhowean, Pre-med Club, French Club, German Club, IRC, and a part of the College band. Several of these organizations made floats for Barnwarming parade.

Tickets Sale

Sale of tickets begins Monday, continues through Wednesday. Tickets are 40 cents, and those who did not get them earlier may buy them at the door Thursday night.

Since WSSF is benefitted by any profit made on receipts, it is customary for those who take part in the program to buy tickets also. World Student Service Fund will receive no other money this year

Holley, McCallum Represent Echo At Press Confab

Bob Holley and Herbert McCallum represented the Highland Echo at a Tennessee college press association organizational meeting Thursday at Murfreesboro. A group of editors from middle Tennessee college papers proposed the meeting.

Representatives from nine Tennessee collegiate papers, who were guests of Middle Tennessee State College's publications committee, attended the meeting to formulate plans to reorganize a statewide Collegiate Press Association.

The Highland Echo was a charter member of the former press group, Tennessee Collegiate Press Association, formed in 1935 and disbanded during the war years.

Those meeting in Murfreesboro last week outlined a constitution for the association and selected an interim governing board to act as a steering committee until formal organization is completed. Bob Eskew, MTSC "Sidelines" editor, is chairman of the interim board, and Hugh Headrick, editor of Tusculum's "Pioneer," Julia College's "Cardinal and Cream," Bobbitt, editor of David Lipscomb and Echo sports editor Herbert McCallum were chosen members of the board.

College papers represented at the meeting were Cumberland "Collegian," Austin-Peay's "All-State," TPI's "Tech Oracle," David Lipscomb College "Cardinal and Cream," the Highland Echo, and the host paper, Middle Tennessee State "Sidelines."

Author Ed Bell addressed the newspaper policies preceding a assembeled editors and writers on round-table discussion of editing, advertising, and printing problems peculiar to the state's college newspapers.

Mr. Bell, state editor of "The Nashville Banner," wrote "Fish on the Steeple." J. L. Sloan, publicity director of Middle Tennessee State College, presided during the round-table discussion.

Representatives were invited by MTSC's athletic department to remain for the State-Cumberland game Thursday night.

Students, Faculty Pledge $1604.90 To Fred Hope Fund

Pledges received for the Fred Hope Fund Drive from 432 students, faculty, and staff members after Chapel last Thursday morning total $1604.90. These pledges were made following the program at which Dr. Lloyd S. Ruland officially opened the 1948-49 Drive, and are less than $100 short of the $1700 goal.

This total, if completely paid, will be the largest amount yet collected for the Fund. A larger sum, $1715.35, was pledged in 1946-47, but less than $1200 was paid.

Students Lead Chapel

The Chapel service was in charge of Carroll Stegall, Student Volunteer's president, Bill Nish, YMCA president, Margaret Rock, YWCA president, and Jim Black, president of the student body.

Dr. Ruland, China Secretary for the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and a former missionary to China, spoke on the origin and efforts of the Drive, and the need for funds for the mission field in China.

Pledge Cards

Pledge cards were given out, filled in, and returned to chapel monitors. Ample opportunity for making pledges until today was given to those who had not made a pledge on Thursday and still wished to do so.

Dr. Ruland also presented a movie, Wednesday night, on the mission schools in China during the war. The movie told of their efforts during the trying times, and presented the need for them now

What's The Purpose?

Within the next two weeks, Inter-Club Council plans to begin bi-weekly publication of an announcement bulletin if approval is granted by the faculty. The proposed days of publication are Wednesday and Saturday, with a view to eliminating a large number of Chapel announcements. This seems an unnecessary duplication of function and expenditure of money.

Present plans call for only event, time, and place to be listed with further details presented through the Echo. Since the Echo already carries a weekly calendar, there appears little value to such a plan.

Deadlines for the bulletin would be Tuesday and Friday, and for detailed information for the Echo, Wednesday at 8 p. m. This would mean that each group would meet at least two deadlines. At the present time, few are meeting even that of the Echo.

Publication of such a bulletin would necessitate funds for printing and materials and would require the time of one or more people.

Student-Led Chapel

Twice during the last two weeks students have led Chapel services. During the entire year, this will occur only eight or ten times on special occasions. Most students, especially juniors and seniors, would consider it an honor.

At present the few times students participate are limited to FTA, Fred Hope Drive, or similar programs and involve only the officers of a few major organizations.

In addition to regular daily chapel services, programs sponsored by some of the other groups such as IRC, could bring topics of current interest before students and faculty. Or, such groups could bring leaders in their fields to the services.

This is not a suggestion that students replace faculty members, but that a specified number of services each semester be led by students.

Student Council

Chairmen of the pep, finance, and point system committees made reports of the findings of their respective committees at the weekly meeting of the Student Council on Wednesday night.

Bill Chalker, point system committee chairman reported on the regulations governing points for offices held in campus organizations. Thi system if accepted, probably will not go into effect until fall.

The committee, in making out a point system for holding positions on campus, has based it on the following principles: (1) The "average student" does not exist. An adequate point system must take into consideration the fact of individual differences. (2) Student government gives students a chance to learn by doing; it therefore fails in its purpose if only a few benefit from doing the job themselves. (3) A student who is overloaded with extracurricular activities cannot satisfactorily perform all his respsonsibilities. (4) It is not fair to an organization to let an overworked student become one of its officers. With these in mind the committee has worked out a system whereby a certain number of permanent points will be given for each activity lasting the entire semester, and a certain number of temporary points for activities lasting only a part of the semester. Students of each class are allowed a given number of permanent points per semester and a total number of permanent and temporary points. The total number must not be exceeded at any time.

Glen Knecht, finance committee chairman, reported on the possibility of organizing a student bank, the purpose of which would be to provide a convenient, well-regulated, business-like system of banking for organizations. The systems of banking used in other colleges has been investigated and the committee has combined them in setting up this proposed system. The committee set forth the following suggestions concerning this bank: (1) It shall be for the use of recognized college organizations. (2) Business will be transacted and records kept in the College treasurer's office. (3) Ledges containing accounts of each depositor will be balanced monthly with the control account. (4) Each organization with a deposit account will be given a card which it will retain until funds are exhausted. (5) A slip, made valid by signatures of the president and treasurer of each organization, will be necessary in order to withdraw money.

Pep Committee report was made by chairman John Shew. The pep committee has been responsible for pep rallies before each home game, the program for Homecoming, and decorating the field before each game. In the future this committee will be under the Athletic Board of Control, pending the acceptance of the Board.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

THE MAGIC LANTERNS

For those who missed "Give My Regards to Broadway" a few weeks ago, the Capitol next Tuesday has a facsimile that should serve just as well. This time it's Jack Carson and Ann Southern in "April Showers." Ann and Jack are a couple of down-at-the-heels vaudevillians, as usual, who have proved notable flops in their field. Enter their kid Buster, whose dancing livens the act; result: big time New York stage. Enter N. Y. law; exit kid back to school. Papa Carson takes to drink; the audience takes to hoping for a hot newsreel.

Verdict: Some swell old tunes; the same old plot.

THE LISTENING POST

Sunday has become the best listening day of the week, many dial spinners report. After YM-YW's 2:45 afternoon spot on WGAP, each network seems to vie for the best programs of the week

This week the Y's 15-minute radio play is "Korean Mission," written by Marge Prall. The story is based on actual letters received from a missionary.

For the historically minded there is CBS's "You Are There" on WNOX. By far the best documentary on the air, each week CBS' world news staff covers some significant event in history. Such competent newsmen as John Dailey, Edward R. Murrow, and Quincy Howe take part in the show.

Topping Hope and Skelton in quality—if not in Hooperating—is NBC's new Robert Q. Lewis on WROL just before supper at MC. If you're tired of the same old gags, be sure to listen to Robert Q's new twist to them.

THE PRINTED PAGE

"Federal World Government," compiled by Julia Johnsen, was added this week to Lamar Library's Reference Shelf Series. This volume, like others in the group, includes comment on this world government question by several distinguished writers: the "Herald Tribune's" Walter Lippmann, Presbyteriansism's John Foster Dulles, US State Secretary George Marshall, Chicago University's Robert Hutchins, nuclear scientist Harold Urey, and the late historian Charles A. Beard.

Music majors at least will be less confused perhaps than most library users by the new "Kaleidophone," by Joseph Schillinger. It is subtitled as an aid to practically everybody. Mr. Schillinger quotes Gershwin in the preface: "You don't have to compose music any more—it's all here." An odd-looking little volume, it was, says the publisher, "Designed by the author according to his Theory of Design."

'Catalina'

W. Somerset Maugham fans will be pleased with the Library's only new fiction this week, "Catalina." It is the prominent British author's last novel and, says "Harper's Magazine," "is a fitting climax to a career which produced 'Of Human Bondage,' 'Cake and Ale,' and 'The Moon and Sixpence' . . . . Its amiably—or perhaps lovingly—ironic tone and its superbly tactful celebration of God's humor and common sense, make this modern miracle tale . . . a perfect vehicle for Maugham's ripest observations (on) human life." For those who still think Mr. M. overripe, steer clear."

A new 90-page pamphlet on economics is fascinatingly entitled "Planned Chaos." Dr. Ludwig van Mises is the author.

Echo Forum

Tuesday, 16 November

The Editor, Highland Echo:

The following letter was received recently by the Student Volunteer Organization. It is from the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, USA, being written by Margaret Shannon who is chairman for the building committee for which the collection was taken when Mrs. Helen Scott Saulsbury visited the campus. In view of the fact that no credit is due to Student Volunteers except as they provided a gathering point, but rather that the generosity of the Maryville College students themselves provided the funds which were contributed, it seemed that the letter of thanks printed below belonged to us all.

The letter, dated 12 November, New York, is as follows:

"It has been many a long day since our Board has had the thrill that came when we heard of the gift of the Student Volunteers on Maryville Campus for the Punjab Medical Jubilee.

"Not only the generous gift of $710.00. . . but your influence in telling the story in other places has made a significant contribution to this very important building project.

"Maryville College has already made a fine contribution to the medical program of India by sending Dr. Dorothy Ferris, who is a rare Christian spirit as well as a skillful surgeon. This spontaneous desire to be of service on the part . . . of your campus indicates the same dynamic spirit which continues there.

"May God bless you all in your dedication of life and talent!

"With every good wish,
"Margaret Shannon"
Sincerely,
Carroll Stegall, President

SPORTORIAL—

On A Sportsmanship Trophy

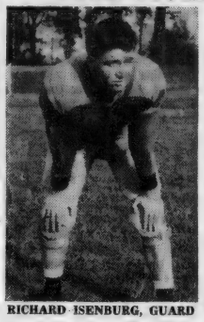
What does Maryville or Carson-Newman strive to win in the decades-old rivalry which has flourished between the schools since 1903?

Is it just to boast, "We beat 'em."? Is it to magnify the coaches' records? Is it, as the "Saturday Evening Post" stated last month, to win because of the far-too-prevalent attitude that "football is no longer a game. . . . but a yardstick by which their (respective) schools are judged"?

It seems to us that the followers of either team enjoy the prestige of a gridiron victory over the other. Both schools, moreover, sense an intangible appreciation for the spirit and teamwork of the home squad when an annual outcome of the classic rivalry brings victory to the local colors in a clean and spirited contest. Good sportsmanship, then, brightens the laurels of victory.

Joint efforts of students and faculties of the schools, as exemplified by the ratification of a recent two-year agreement calling for friendlier attitudes, are being directed to improving athletic relations between Maryville and Carson Newman.

Echo believes a good sportsmanship trophy, awarded through a mutually approved plan, could help to preserve a right sense of sportsmanship between Maryville and Carson Newman both in the grandstand and on the playing field.



In making this proposal, it is not suggested that an ordinary metal trophy serve as the symbol for recognition of truest sportsmanship, but rather something that is original and distinctive. Something that would capture the enthusiasm of teams and fans as the traditional "little brown jug" of Michigan-Minnesota exvhanges. A unique type of symbol, selected by representatives of both schools, could foster sportsmanship and add to the school's colorful grid-iron saga.

This week we read about an original victory symbol—an "Old Hawg Rifle" that is exchanged between Morehead and Eastern Kentucky Teachers Colleges. While a victory symbol is not the aim of this proposal, a compromise might permit selection of a victory and a sportsmanship symbol combined in one coveted relic. A symbol that could be divided with the winning school receiving a part of the tangible award for victory, and the second part awarded by disinterested judges to the school showing the best mode of fair play.

Machinery for the selection of the type of symbol, judges, and times of award, should this proposal reap comment, would have to be decided by joint agreement of the two schools.

What do you say? Would a symbol for sportsmanship serve to enrich the sense of true sportsmanship between Maryville and Carson-Newman in our long-standing rivalry? —H.M.M.

Twenty-four players of the Scot grid team were nominated all-opponent team in an Echo poll this week. Best men from each of the eight teams played by the Highlanders this year were listed by their position, and the men were asked to pick a team from this list. The winners, as shown, are the best of the Scot opposition in the 1948 football schedule.

Choices

Our all-opponent team is picked from five of the eight schools played. On the basis of this choice TPI, with four men on the all-opponent team, was the best rival. ETS runs second with three men, Carson-Newman third with two men, and Emory and Henry fourth and Western North Carolina are tied with one man each. Hiwassee, Middle Tennessee State, and Sewanee have no players to represent them, although Smiles of the Sewanee team ran a close second with Cunningham of TPI as one of the guards. Byrd, WNC guard, was a unanimous selection. Jarrell of TPI and Holsclaw of ETS were almost unanimously acclaimed the best opposing ends of the season.

Echo's Choice

The sports staff of the Echo picked an all-opponent team before the squad made its choice. The line-up placed Varallo (MTS) and Holsclaw (ETS) as ends, Billingsly (TPI) and Padgett (C-N) as tackles, Byrd (WNC) and Weakly (ETS) as guards, Earp, E-H as center, Matthews, (TPI) as quarterback, Nesbitt (MTS) and Green (Sewanee) as halfbacks, and Massa (TPI) as fullback.

Scotties Cage Mighty Eagles To Score 20-18 Upset Win

Coming from behind Carson-Newman's early two-touchdown lead, Maryville's Highlanders first scored with a Berrong to Brahams pass late in the second, and twice in the final half to edge out the vaunted Eagles, 20-18 Saturday at Jefferson City.

Early in the third, end Hap Brahams went goal-ward again when he pulled out on a double reverse for a 17-yard touchdown run just after the Scots had mired down on the C-N five.

Merriman and Berrong, driving like stubborn oxen, ran the ball down from the Eagle 43 to their 3-yard lin early in the fourth; and Bob Neff rammed his way over right tackle to score the winning touchdown. Andes kicked two extra points in three tries.

The Scots threw the law of averages out the window, as Echo's Scotistics show, to out-play the Eagles by putting in the punch when it could be used to the best advantage.

Carson-Newman opened the scoring by moving from their own 15 to Maryville's 25 where Netcher's pass to Lawson carried the Eagle touchdown attempt through. Cosson and Jennings, on quick-opening hand-off plays, shattered the Scot line from tackle to gain four first downs without a break, for the 85 yard touchdown trip.

Until Brahams connected with Berrong's pass for a score late in the second quarter, the Highlander eleven was dormant—tackling was off, and the team had lost the ball on downs four times to the Eagles. All told, the MC eleven gained all of six yards on four rushing attempts in the entire second quarter, excluding Braham's forty-five yard pass-run touchdown play.

Carson-Newman	6	6	6	0	—18

The Scoring plays:

C.-N.: Lawson, Eagle end, took a pass from Netcher to complete the four 25 yards of the 85 yard trip which the Eagles made to score when they first had possession of the ball in the game. Woolwine's extra-point kick was blocked by uniform Scot interference, with Fogarty coming through first. C.-N. 6, MC 0.

C-N: The Eagle's second touchdown attempt was thwarted momentarily on the MC 3 by brittle Scot defense, but Jennings took a lateral from Netcher on the fourth down to circle wide around his own left end to score. Jennings' run completed the Eagles' 66 yard touchdown drive midway the second quarter, and Carson-Newman led 12-0. Merriman blocked Netcher's extra point kick.

MC: Holding the ball one set of downs after C-N's second TD, Berrong kicked from his own 21 to Jennings on the C-N 35, who brought the ball down to the MC 45. Robert's hand-off to Wade was good for eight yards through right tackle. Moffett fumbled, and the Scots recovered on their own 45. Pulling an intricate hidden ball play, the Scot score came as Fogarty took the ball from center, handed it to Neff coming from the wingback position, and Neff laterelled back to Berrong, who was going to his right. Berrong hit Brahams with a 40-yard pass on the C-N 40 where the fleet end out ran the Eagle safety to score. Andes kicked a perfect extra point. The first half ended Maryville 7; Carson-Newman 12.

MC: Larsen covered an Eagle fumble on the C-N 30 after the first play of the second half. Neff off tackle, Berrong around right end, and four more trusts by Berrong and Merriman put the ball on the Eagle five where Merriman's fumble on fourth down gave the Eagles the ball. Woolwine punted from behind his goal line to the C-N 29 where Neff and Berrong took a reverse and an end run for a 12 yard gain to the C-N 17. Brahams, on a double reverse went the distance, 17 yards, for a touchdown. Maryville took the lead, 13-12

WRESTLERS REPORT MONDAY AT 3:30 P.M.

All non-letter men and new men will report at 3:30 Monday in Bartlett to start training for the coming wrestling season.

Last year's lettermen are to report Monday week for start of training. The initial week, Coach Davis explained, will give the new men a chance to develop in the fundamentals before the lettermen come out. Later, the squad will be cut to a workable group before the season is under way.

Echo will carry complete details of the coming season at a later date.

Honaker, Lillard Drill Basketeers

Coach L. S. Honaker, assisted by last year's captain, Ray Lillard, began sending 20 netmen through formal drills this week in the Alumni Gym.

Many of last year's lettermen are back with the team, and there is quite a bit of new talent from the freshman class. Football men who are coming out for basketball are to report Monday to complete this season's opening roster.

VOLLEYBALL—

Ten volleyball teams will begin the battle royal starting Monday. The teams lineup as follows for the four-week schedule: Bacas, Choir, 8-Balls, Faculty, Floogies, Freshmen, Mars, Ministerials, Pi Lumbago, and YMCA.

Y SINKS 'LUMBAGO TO COP SOCCER TITLE

YMCA defeated Pi Lumbago 2-0 to take the intramural soccer championship Thursday afternoon. Y was the first half winner; Lumbago copped the second half championship.

This victory gave Y undisputed first place for the season with Pi Lumbago coming in a close second, while Alpha Sigma landed in third and Freshmen brought up the rear with undisputed fourth place.

Earlier in the week Pi Lumbago set down Freshmen, 1-0, to take over the lead for the second half. In the championship game Tom Keys and Ken Yunkers booted thru goals for Y.

Rogers, Macdonald Join Swimming Team

Two swimmers, Ric Rogers, and Don Macdonald, joined Coach Johnson's varsity group this week. Swimming candidates now have a week of intense training behind them, and are slowly starting to get in shape for the coming season.

Not only are they mastering a variety of strokes, such as the crawl, backstroke, and breaststroke, but they also are doing daily routines of calesthentics.

mid-way the third quarter.

C-N: Cosson took Davis' kick off up the middle of the field and veered left for a 45 yard return to the Scot 30. The Eagles, with quick-opening thrusts by Cosson and Jennings, took 25 yards more to the MC five where Jennings added five to complete a 75 yard TD jaunt. Carson-Newman regained the lead for the last time for an 18-13 margin as Netcher failed to make the extra point through the line.

MC: Berrong exchanged punts with Woolwine with two intervening down series, and the Scots had the ball on the C-N 43. Plying around the ends and off tackle with power plays, Berrong and Merriman took the ball to the C-N 3, where Neff shifted to tailback and scored through right tackle. Andes kicked a good point, and Maryville was ahead to stay, 20-18.

Finis: The Eagles, on a 55 yard sustained drive fumbled on the MC 16, and Maryville took over for a 30 yard stretch. Berrong punted out of bounds on the C-N 7. Coach Holt's Eagles then blew their last steam on a 37 yard drive to their own 44 where Woolwine ran out of punt formation for no gain. The Scots held the ball four plays until the final whistle.

'Money Up To 5c

"Barnwarming money" slips, for use in the Mardi Gras shops, will be sold along with tickets next week. This "money" ranges up to five cents in price, and is accepted in place of actual coins at the shops.

History

Barnwarming was started in 1926 by a group of girls who decided that those who had studied too much or were homesick needed something on Thanksgiving besides a big dinner.

Everyone, the first year, was invited to a corn-husking, square dance, and fiddlers' contest.

Since then, programs have grown more elaborate and have followed a central plan. Past years have seen such themes as "Panamania," "Howee Pow - Wow," "When the Lights Come on Again," "Open Sesame," "Circasia," "Atlantis," "Vagabonda," and our 1948 theme, "Mardi Gras."

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma society meets this evening at 6:15 in Dr. Orr's classroom, Anderson 306. Ben Gearhart is in charge of tonight's program, an original skit.

Members will discuss a thanksgiving eve stag barbecue.

PARENTS AFFECT CHILD'S ATTITUDE TOWARD SCHOOL

If Junior gets a "D" on his report card, your own past difficulty with the subject concerned may be the cause.

So says Dr. T. Ernest Newland, director of the University of Tennessee Psychological Clinic, who believes that emotional conditioning toward a subject influnces a pupil's success or failure with it.

"A father or mother who says to Junior 'Oh, I never could get that either' when he has trouble with a lesson is cultivating a negative attitude in the child. Thereafter Junior can be expected to attach undue weight to a minor difficulty," according to the U-T psychologist.

A person chould be careful about the kind of importance he attaches to traditional school marks, Dr. Newland contends. He believes that marks should be based upon what a child does in accordance with his own ability instead of upon a "mythical average or ideal child."

"Instead of constantly upsetting some children by expecting them to do things beyond their capacities to obtain report card grades, some schools are reporting to the parents on their adaptability, emotionality, initiative, and attitudes. This is praiseworthy," says Dr. Newland.

Cross, Proffitt Reign Thursday At Barnwarming Mardi Gras

Bowman, Watt, Kemp, Lester Chosen Sponsors; Sets Reproduce New Orleans French Quarter

By Barbara Wallin

Grace Ellen Cross and Bill Proffitt reigned over "Mardi Gras," Maryville College's 1948 Barnwarming last Thursday night in Alumni Gym. Entertainment began at 7:30 p. m. with a tour of Mardi Gras shops, covering three walls of the gym and representing the old French Quarter of New Orleans.

At 8:15 the main program began with the introduction by bashful herald Andy Clark of the King, Queen, and four class sponsors, Carolyn Bowman, senior, Mary Watt, junior, Sally Kemp, sophomore, and Betty Lester, freshman.

Barnwarming Court

Miss Cross, senior philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala., and Proffitt, business administration major from Maryville, were elected by the student body. Senior class sponsor Miss Bowman is a dietetics major, also from Maryville.

Miss Watt, whom the junior class selected, is another local student; her major field is education. Miss Kemp, sophomore, is a physical education major from Acworth, Georgia. Miss Lester is a freshman education major from Atlanta, Georgia.

Preceded by clowns, the grand parade circled the gym and lined up to sing a hearty invitation—"Come to the Mardi Gras."

Floats of the gala occasion followed. Charlie Huffman's band introduced each one with appropriate music. A football field, pushed in by center Bob Larson and guard Jim Lester, had cheerleader Grace Scruggs seated in the center, carrying the ball.

Next in order of the floats, came a Thanksgiving table, an elephant, and a scene from Al Capp's Dogpatch comic-strip. "Moonbeam McSwine" Gugger helped push the float, which had on its starboard side a painted Mammy Yokum sporting a remote-controlled pipe that blew real smoke.

Pirates' Sailing Skull, clowns' circus fun house, a rudder-loose Robert E. Lee, and a snowy Winter Wonderland followed.

Santa Claus and package-opener Marilyn Edge, New Year's Father Time and Baby New Year, and a spring scene of Washington Monument and cherry blossoms, which had a Dewey-looking little man contemplating the lake, completed the show of floats.

Shops Opened at 7:30

Doors opened to the general public at 7:30, giving the audience a chance to visit the Mardi Gras shops along the boulevard. Reading from left to right were Ye Olde Sweet Shoppe, Le Cafe du Vin Rouge, Claudia's Wax Museum, the Trout Ryte Inn fish market, Dot Stater's fortune-telling booth, Theatre Ritz, Petite Style shop, and a Marche aux Fleurs—florist.

Athenian's clowns began, filled in the gaps of, and ended the program. Their song was "Be A

All-Campus Show Tonight Includes Drama, Music

Tonight's all-campus program at 8 p. m. in Alumni Gym includes a Telephone Company demonstration, a two-act drama, "Four Score and Twenty-eight Years Ago," and several musical numbers by a vocal trio.

"Your Voice of the Future," by the Bell System, concerns conservation of communication apparatus.

The drama, an original play by Jim Black, takes place in an 1840 courtroom. Ninety-pound Matilda Cluck Dodge is accused of strangling her 210-pound husband, Willie Dodge. Abraham Lincoln is the prosecutor, while Elmer Todworthy is attorney for the defense. Included in the cast are Ray Packard as Lincoln, Roger Cowan, Todworthy, Jim Lester, judge.

The social Board is sponsor of this program.

Vine Teaches At University In Honolulu, Hawaii

Richard W. Vine, assistant professor of music at Maryville College from 1942 until 1947, is now teaching music at the University of Hawaii at Honolulu. After leaving Maryville, Mr. Vine accepted a position with the music department at State Teachers College in North Dakota. He taught at the college for one year and then accepted his present position. Following are excerpts from a letter received by Miss Katherine Davies from Mr. Vine shortly after he arrived in Honolulu:

"Well this is coming from a good distance away. We decided to come on the fifteenth of July. . . .We got our plane on the tenth of September and the trip started at 10:30 a. m. PST and we landed at 6:30 a. m. HST.

"On the way (out to the coast) we visited the Black Hills, Yellowstone and then to Los Angeles to visit Eleanor's (Mrs. Vine) sister and some friends and back to San Francisco for our flight.

"When we were at Laguna Beach we called at the home of Dr. Brahams to say hello, but the two boys had just left to return to Maryville and Dr. and Mrs. Brahams were at a church meeting for a few days. We left a note for them and then went on our merry way.

"We have beeen to the beach a good deal. (Waikiki). The coral sand is so soft and nice and the water is so warm and comfortable. In that respect it is much nicer than the beach at Francisco or the beaches at Santa Monica and Laguna. There the water is so cold, and very often the breezes are, too.

"At present I am doing all of

Fred Hope Fund Breaks Past Record

Pledges made to the Fred Hope Fund of 1948-1949 now total $1,724.90. This is the largest amount ever pledged, and payments are expected to approximate that total. That will mean the largest single gift to date from students and faculty of the College.

Last week the Echo reported $1604.90, and the total has climbed daily since that time. If $1,700 is paid, that added to the $1,300 paid last year will cover the $1,500 promised for each of two years in support of Mary Edna Smith, '48, who is now teaching in Fuh Siang, Changsha, Hunan, China.

Most pledges were made on a three-payment basis. The amount paid to date is $531.25. The second payment is due December 10-11; however, payments may be made at any time to Mrs. Kenneth Johnson at the printing office in Anderson Hall.

Band Closes Fall Season With Party In Y Rooms

MC band closes it's fall season with a party this evening in the Y room at 6:30 p. m. With music as the theme, games will be played and several take-offs on operas will be given.

Lucy Carrick is general chairman for the party. The committee heads are as follows: refreshments, Irene Mellon; entertainment, Margie Newland and Bob Holly; decorations, Margo Huffaker.

President Lloyd, Dean McClelland Attend Memphis Conference

President Ralph W. Lloyd and Dean Frank D. McClelland will represent Maryville College at the annual Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools meeting in Memphis from November 29 to December 3. Maryville has been a member of this regional accrediting body since 1922.

A number of other educational groups are meeting simultaneously with the Southern Association, and both Dr. Lloyd and Dean McClelland plan to attend several of these meetings.

YM Sees 'Prodigal Son' At 1:30 P.M. Tomorrow

YMCA will show the movie, "The Prodigal Son," at 1:30 Sunday afternoon in Bartlett. This is the dramtization of the familiar Bible story.

Kick-Off Dinner Tuesday Starts Knox Campaign

December 1 is the date set for the kick-off luncheon for the Maryville Chapel Fund Drive in Knox County. The luncheon will be held in Knoxville at the Hotel Farragut, and the Madrigal Singers will provide music for the guests.

The Maryville office has been closed, and another opened in Knoxville at 506 W. Church St., in the Church House of the Second Presbyterian Church. Mr. John H. Murrian, president of the W. H. Savage Co., is the chairman of the Knoxville Committee. A program similar to the Maryville drive will be carried out; the committees are already working on lists of prospects.

N. Wright Undergoes Emergency Operation

Nathalia Wright, former assistant librarian at the college, flew home for an emergency operation last week. The operation occurred Saturday and her condition is reported as good. She is working in American Studies for her doctor's degree at Yale and intends to resume her studies next semester.

Maryville Alumni Organize Clubs In Eastern Cities

Maryville alumni meetings are scheduled to be held in three eastern cities December 2, 3, 4 for the purpose of organizing Maryville College Clubs for alumni in those areas.

The first meeting will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio. In charge is Robert W. Bishop, '26, who is Dean of Men at the University of Cincinnati.

The Saturday meeting is to be held at Louisville, Ky., with James M. Brown, in charge. Mr. Brown is also from the class of '26 and is YMCA Secretary in Louisville.

The last meeting is at Detroit, Mich., with John K. Tope in charge of preparation. Mr. Tope is a graduate of the class of '33 and is now connected with Republic Steel Corporation.

Dr. Lloyd will attend all three meetings. Accompanying him to the Louisville and Cincinnati meetings will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Blazer. Mr. Blazer is president of the Alumni Association.

Societies Elect Next Semesters' Officers In Recent Balloting

Virginia Gress, Argyle King, Ed Pancoast, and Webster Fue will become presidents of the four societies next January.

Ed Pancoast, who is a senior from Loysville, Pa., will succeed Charles Parvin as president of Alpha Sigma. Ted Beasley, the new vice-president, is a sophomore from Montgomery, Ala. The recording secretary, Frank Russo, is from Plainfield, N. J. A junior, Bob Kay, was elected treasurer. He is from Morristown, N. J. Ben Gearhart, a junior from Hollywood, Fla., and Aubrey Galyon are the new program and publicity chairmen respectively.

Athenian, Bainonian

Webster Fue, a junior from Pylesville, Md. is president-elect of Athenian. He will succeed William Houdeshel in office. Jim Lester, a sophomore from Birmingham, Ala., was elected vice-president. A freshman, Walter English, was elected secretary. The treasurer, Jim McKee, is a junior from Centralia, Ill. Jim Dance, a sophomore from Knoxville, is the new program chairman.

Bainonian's new president, Argyle King, who is a senior from Charlotte, N. C. will follow Vera Lusk in office. Ellen Collins, the new vice-president, is a junior from Montgomery, Ala. Carolyn Kaye was elected secretary. She is a senior from Washington, D. C. A sophomore, Elaine Smith, from Philadelphia, Pa. is the new treasurer. The program chairmen are two juniors, Edna Burkins from Street, Md., and Mary Mills from Morris Plains, N. J.

Theta Epsilon

Virginia Gress, who succeeds Marianna Hayes as president of Theta Epsilon, is a senior from Crescent City, Fla. The new vice-president is Ada Shay, a senior from Branchville, N. J. Two seniors, Mary Mitchell Woolridge from Harrodsburg, Ky., and Betty Emory from Portsmouth, Va., were elected secretary and treasurer respectively. The new sergant-at-arms is Lynn Willis, senior from Detroit, Mich. Beverly Moore, a junior from Waukesha, Wis. and Marilyn Edge, a sophomore from Dover, N. J., were elected program chairmen.

Treasurer Accepts Bill Payments During Holiday

Payment of bills for next semester may be made by mail during the Christmas vacation. Activity cards and receipts will be mailed to the student's dormitory address (or other local address) on the first day of the second semester.

Except during Christmas week, anyone who wishes will be able to pay his bill in person at the Treasurer's Office.

All necessary papers for loans or scholarships secured from the Student-Help Office must be included with the remittance.

After Friday, January 14, the five-dollar late payment fee takes effect.

Rev. George Brown Conducts Vespers Sunday

Vesper services Sunday evening at 7 p. m. will be conducted by the Rev. George E. Brown on the subject, "Are You Able."

The Rev. Mr. Brown, a graduate of Maryville College and McCormick Seminary, is the pastor of Spring Place Church and Washington Church.

Ruth Ramsey will sing a solo, "How Beautiful upon the Mountains" by F. Flaxington Harker.

Announcement Bulletin Published Bi-Weekly

Inter-Club Council will publish a bi-weekly announcement bulletin in order to eliminate a large number of chapel announcements. The publication was approved this week by the Executive Committee of the Faculty and the Student-Faculty Senate.

Deadlines will be at Chapel time on Tuesday and Friday and the bulletin will be circulated on Wednesday and Saturday. A box will be provided in the Alumni Gymnasium for all announcements which do not need to be made in Chapel.

Anderson, Bushing Read For Writers' Workshop

Arthur S. Bushing and Evelyn Anderson will read at Writers' Workshop next Wednesday afternoon. Carroll Stegall will criticize Mr. Bushing's work, and Jim Frost wil criticize that of Miss Anderson.

"The Cannon House," a short story, was read by Bill Carter at Workshop this week. Carter's work was criticized by Miss Anderson.

Case, Cummings Attend Conference In Birmingham

Dr. Ralph T. Case and Mrs. Margaret Cummings will attend a conference of enlistment chairmen and youth workers of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church on November 30 and December 1, in Birmingham, Alabama. Mrs. Cummings is an assistant professor of Bible and religion; Dr. Case, Professor of socialogy, directs the Maryville College parish program.

The purpose of this conference is to share the ideas and procedures found effective in the different presbyteries in counseling young people for church vocations.

Discussion Groups

Two discussion groups will be held each day. "The Church's Task in Enlistment" will be led by Harold Eugene Meyers, director of the Department of Life Work, Board of Christian Education; "Selective Techniques in Enlistment," by Dr. Clifford E. Davis, associate director in the same department.

On the second day, the topics, "Challenging Youth for National Missions," led by Dr. Laurence W. Lange, unit of personal service, Board of National Missions; and "Challenging Youth for World Missions," led by Dr. Herrick B. Young, Director of Personnel in the Board of Foreign Missions will be discussed.

Art Exhibit Entries Due December 3

Students who paint, draw, or do work in crafts are eligible to enter the all-campus exhibit. The deadline for entries is December 3. Entry blanks are available at the poster in Thaw and in Anderson 23. This project is sponsored by the Art Club.

BARBER, LAZENBY HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Sickness took a holiday this week on the hill, and the infirmary treated two accident victims instead.

George Barber, in a freakish accident, fell through the bleachers last Sunday afternoon at "Messiah" practice in Alumni Gym. Barber, due to a momentary dizzy spell, lost his balance on the fifth row of bleacher seats, and went tumbling to the floor as the chorus left their places. Five stitches were required to close a head wound.

Carl Lazenby accidently burned his left hand while helping in preparations for Alpha Sig's barbecue in the woods Wednesday afternoon. His hand was treated and bandaged at the infirmary.

By Jean Hunt

Everyone likes to rummage around in old attics and Maryville has one just as cluttered with relics as any you can find. In a tour of Thaw attic, amid the accumulated dirt of half a century, one can find everything from rat cages to ice cream freezers.

Antique Junk

The first thing that attracted our eyes as we stumbled over the loose planks and piles of rubbish were some choice bits of antique furniture. On closer examination we found an old-fashioned high-topped bed. Draped dramatically over one post was a faded pink taffeta lamp shade trimmed with blue fringe. It was definitely something which belonged to the period of our grandmothers.

Singer's First Machine

Very suitably near the bed was a spinning wheel, or at least the remains, and a sewing machine which assuredly was Singer's first. To complete the ensemble of furniture was a round-top table and a beautiful old cabinet with a couple of legs missing.

Moving on to another corner, we found it definitely was the remains of the history department, and from its looks we suppose it was brought along with the present relics. The first of these was a globe of the world, or rather we suppose it is the world since between the splotches of broken plaster we made out the word, "Pacific." Included also in the history department is a varied collection of maps, the most recent one picturing the US in 1914.

Tender Memoirs

We also realized while roaming through some old desks that our ancestors also had their tender moments which they appropriately recorded for future generations. We wonder if Ruben married the Jane that he had his name so romantically linked with, and if the scars of this romance are carried anywhere besides the desk.

We were just about to move on to more interesting matter, when we noticed an age-eaten scrap of paper lying on the floor. An immediate glance told us that it was the program of the one hundred and ninth annual commencement of Maryville College, June 2-7, 1928. This only being twenty years old, we felt like we were approaching things of more current interest. It seems Dr. Clifford Barbour was addressing the student body of that generation and President Samuel Tyndale Wilson was conferring the degrees.

Religious Relics

The emphasis on religious material was placed in one corner. It consisted of a couple of old pulpit chairs, a handful of hymnals, and an appropriate scriptural plaque presented by the First Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, Pa. Among the newer additions to the corner was the large white cross used at the Easter services and the Maryville College Choir signs which are placed on the sides of the touring buses.

Of course we can't begin to list all we found, but we can say that we found a purpose for everything except three jars of seashells. Any explanation would be appreciataed.

But why should we laugh? When future generations go rummaging through Thaw in years to come they will probably find the record, "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth" lying moulding along with the contributions of past years.

Simplification Needed

Barnwarming is over. Mardi-Gras, the most elaborate extravaganza yet presented, played Thursday night to an audience limited, of necessity, to those of the students and faculty who were not included in the cast, and townspeople. Following three hours of excellent entertainment, the scenery, which represented four weeks of intensive planning and work, and the floats, which represented a shorter but quite intensive a period of labor, joined the ghosts of the sets of other Barnwarmings. Friday found Alumni Gym the same bare, barnlike building it was Wednesday morning.

While Barnwarming is the "big show" of the fall semester, the point has been reached a which the only more elaborate thing that can be done would be "Cleopatra" with the Nile River flowing across the gym floor and live crocodiles clambering across the bleachers. Out-Hollywooding Hollywood is a grand thing to be able to do, and we're proud of a talented group of people who can put on such a professional performance, but there lies the point: Barnwarming is not a professional show and shouldn't be allowed to become one. When the only measurement of success is "It was more elaborate than last year's," let's stop to consider if we can't put on something just as good—better—without knocking ourselves out for a month and spending a lot of money that could do more good elsewhere.

Barnwarming is not the only guilty party. Most of the all-campus entertainment and a great deal of the inter-group programs have been difficult and expensive to produce. Let's realize that such programs are not intended to run for two years on Broadway, and arrange entertainment for one night to be less elaborate. It can be simple and still be lots of fun. —J.D.

A Privilege & A Duty

Tuesday is Town Nite at Maryville. Last week's Tuesday night couples, we're sure, enjoyed the movie, a trip to Dubby's, or bowling. But all were not as thoughtful as they could have been in remembering just what Town Nite means. It's an evening of fun, certainly, but it's equally an evening of privilege.

We like to think our student body is capable of handling the responsibility it took upon itself in adopting the Town Nite proposal. For those who may have lost sight of duty, here are provisions that are important if we continue to enjoy this privilege: Town Nite boundaries extend to town on Court and College, on Broadway to the theatres, on Harper to the bowling alley, on Ellis to Dubby's; loitering is, to be plain and simple, out.

Because a few students—unfortunately, in increasing numbers lately—have not been keeping their word, beginning next Tesday, Student Council will patrol campus and town. Nothing could be more regrettable, from our point of view. It shows that, for the time being at least, we have been so lacking in integrity that it has become necessary to check on us. If, after a period of patrolling, there is no improvement Town Nite may be suspended.

Thus a small percentage of the student body is threatening everyone else with loss of privilege because they can't join into the spirit of fair play.
—D. W.

Sound & Fury

'And the Walls Came Tumbling Down' was the pre- and post-Barnwarming theme late this week. King Whosis and his Hanging Gardens—number four of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World—had nothing on J. A. Cameron's construction crew Wednesday night and the wee hours of Thanksgiving morning.

At sundry times during the evening hired help Bill McIlvaine, Chet Schieber, Tom Kees, Joe Poland, and unidentified rope-pullers, paper-smoothers, beam-lifters, and on-lookers literally hopped from pillar to post in Alumni Gym. How many stayed buried under massive paper debris all evening could not be readily determined. Whether the walls had ears was debatable, but that bulges in the paper walls had often-useful voices was undeniable.

An interesting physics experiment halted abruptly when (1) a new rope snapped, (2) a three-by-four beam gave way as a result, (3) New Orleans' Mardi Gras French Quarter lost about 19c. Worst woe: the long rip in the Petite Styles shop; closest call: anyone near the collapsing timbers.

Commy?

Our "Lead On, O" friend, the next county's "Journal" ought to give Barnwarming rave reviews tomorrow. We can't, however, expect Sunday to be quite the red-letter day "T. K. J." had it last Sunday about an alleged criminal suspect reported to be questioned. Citing his "record" (he was arrested in 1911), Tennessee Valley's Greatest Newspaper dragged out a Chinese-crimson, 120 point headline for the old boy. Neither reporters or police found a CP card on him.

Ol' Home Week

On the Hill this week were Charles Hogland, the 1948 senior class prexy, Squire Kemp and Rush Lester, said to be camping here (as an election bet?), Clarice Riedel, Tom Wheeler, Leonard Schieber, Elsie Onifer (last year's Barnwarming Queen), Dot Crowson, Bob Argie, Ruth Hildebrand, Lloyd and Jessie Anderson, Bob Smith, and Gordon Rettke.

Kith & Kin included Dot Stater's brother and chiefest admirers of Sally Lewis and Katie Carpenter respectively. Rumor has it that, though there was no kin involved in the latter's case, the kith was really something to see—and quite a few did.

Mrs. Courtney's Sunday night day-after-th' thihtuh (theayter, to you) pahty concerned, we feel, more than the passing references to cultural discussion that attendants will make. Between faux pas in which everyone cheerfully joined we understand Bill Nish did imitations of Jim Black imitating someone whose name is of no consequence in such already distinguished company. Despite "simply loads" of food there, one brand of corn chips is most popular with that gang of hams—the company that advertises: "Here's Oscar!"

Not everyone's Barnwarming troubles were in Alumni Gym. Would-be Washingtonians M. McBride and M. Kinkaid have had a bloomin' cherry tree in their room all week; neighbors have reported a suspicious-looking dagwood tree in that room with three blondies.

Just who Aunt Mary is, why Czerniawski blew an Irish fuse, that a number of cracks could be popped at faculty Barnwarmers. . .in short, that names be in print for no especially good reason, this columnist gives neither a hoot nor assorted Anglo-Saxon monosyllables. Pages 114 to 135 of this year's catalog have everyone's name but the freshmen. And most of this year's freshmen come, we hope, from schools where gossip columns are considered childish.

Hand me that old Barnwarming rope, kiddo.

Talk of The Week — Donald Reeves

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

ON THE SCREEN

This week's selection of films at the Capitol Theater gives local audiences a chance to see Betty Grable's legs (When My Baby Smiles at Me), New York's sidewalks (Naked City), and Gene Autry (who's back in the Saddle). The music-comedy Town Nite moviegoers will see is the same old Grable legs-lyrics-laughs formula, lately augmented by dancer Dan Dailey, which has always proved so popular. By far the best feature of the week is Mark Hellinger's "Naked City," showing Wednesday and Thursday. What the magnificent photography actually bares in this film is the cops-and-robbers chase that begins with the murder of a girl by an unknown killer, runs through the closing in on the criminal by all the laboratory experts, pavement pounders and ballistics experts of the New York Police force, and culminates with the killer's capture atop Brooklyn Bridge.

Scorings: Baby—two cheers; Mrs. James is still charming. City—three cheers; a remarkably thorough, fresh, and engrossing exposition of big-city methods of criminology. Saddle—one cheer. Average Western, although Autry's name is still a big drawing card for Western fans.

BETWEEN THE BOOKENDS

Lamar Memorial Library delves into the past this week with a bulletin board on Buried Cities and one on Costume through the Ages. The latter, displayed in conjunction with the costume design class of Home Ec department, features fashion plates of women's costumes from BC to the 20th Century AD. The former is built around books by archaeologists whose explorations in Egypt and Asia made fascinating reading. Did you know that the pyramids were honeycombed with a network of secret passages? Whom is the Sphinx really supposed to represent? Did the vocal Memnon really speak?

UNDER THE BATON

Of the four selections presented by the College 30-piece orchestra last night at 8, perhaps the story behind Haydn's "Clock" symphony is the queerest. Clocks, in the late 18th century, served not only to tell time but also as musical instruments and ornaments. Haydn wrote some thirty pieces for the musical clocks, whose function must have been that of a renaissance juke-box. Even complete overtures could be played on musical glocks, since—unlike our present phonograph records—their duration was not limited to four and a half minutes. "The Manx Overture" also is done in musical symbolism, this time of the broad nature of the Isle of Man. The other two numbers on the program are an aria by Tenaglia—he wrote an opera in 1661—and selections from Strauss' "The Bat," his enchanting operetta from which the waltz is perhaps best known.

ON THE AIR

Those of us whose roommates are still children are apt to have heard such daily thrillers as Jack Armstrong and Sky King, who alternate in 30 minute serials every day, and the Lone Ranger, whose anachronisms are still crossing to the Hi Yo Silver set. It's death on Sunday afternoon if your radio dial happens to be stuck at WGAP; you hear House of Mystery, True Detective Mystery, and the Shadow in the 4-5:30 p. m. spots. If you haven't heard the Shadow lately, don't miss it; the commercials for the present sponsor are worth the price of the product.

AT THE MARDI GRAS

Millie Miller and Buffie Carver, girl Ziegfields, produced last night's Barnwarming with a gay abandon that would credit Cecil B. deMille. The Parade of the Mardi Gras had mob scenes, beautiful girls, brightly colored lights—everything but a bubble bath sequence. Much of the interest in this season's festivities can be marked up to the excellent poster advertising. While the night's entertainment was elaborately swell, this columnist would lend his shoulder for the following to cry on: the poor kids who knocked themselves out to put up the set which was properly torn down 24 hours later; all the back-stage workers on costume, make-up, etc., the treasures of the sponsors.

Scoring: three cheeers and another loud huzzah for a spirited show by talented young people.

COMING ATTRACTIONS:

December's Experimental Theatre productions of Booth Tarkington's "The Trysting Place" and Rachel Field's "Londonderry Air." We predict that stars will be made on the Experimental Theatre stage.

The Student Art Exhibition, planned for a December 1 opening in Lamar Memorial Library, will feature samples of student work and will include two works of David Bernard, former art instructor here. December 3, by the by, is the late date for entering your own special artistic effort in the all-campus art show.

Watch for news about May Day; committees and theme may be announced soon.

●FOR OUR 'MOST improved players of the year,' a back and a lineman, we look back over the late football campaign to cite Ralph Willocks, guard, and Bob Neff, back, for exemplary action. In the darkest hour of the season, the ETS massacre, their services were most appreciated. Perhaps not the most talented on the field, but these players came through when where others were waning. It was their hard-hitting punch that characterized the terrific comeback the Highlander eleven made to smack Emory and Henry's Wasps, 12-6 in the homecoming match.

●TO SAY THAT East Tennessee gave us the best opposition of the year would be an exaggeration, but their eleven had the best of the breaks against our Scots in the season past. With Merriman, Rock, Berrong and Kramer on the shelf, the MC squad was low in striking power to start the game. Then after one set of downs, the Bucs took over for good—almost. But late in the fourth, Maryville rallied and ran down to the ETS 17 where pass plays fell short—it was tragic.

●UNDOUBTEDLY A MOST prized performance for the Scottie eleven was the upsetting 7-6 victory over Western Carolina's powerful Catamounts. Taking and making the most of the breaks, Maryville pushed a huge Catamount line aside to score a morale-building victory. Ken Andes, with a true-kicking toe, booted an important extra point. Later, Andes was to come through with two vital points and spot the Scots 20-18 over Carson-Newman—a highly prized accomplishment. A long way from the MTSC game when two perfect extra points would have provided a victory instead of a 13-12 side-tracking.

●A TOSS-UP WOULD have to decide the best home game of the season, either the 13-14 loss to Middle Tennessee State or the 12-6 victory over Emory and Henry. Known not to let the homefolks down, the 1948 Highlanders made a valient effort to stem the power of the heaviest team of the season—TPI's Golden Eagles in the final home game. Two quarters went scoreless for the Techmen—to the Scot's credit. The 21-0 victory by Tech was the worst defeat a Highlander team had suffered on Wilson field since '42 when a Scot eleven took two victories from Hiwassee and left a trail of six defeats. Incidentally, it was Tech's first victory on the road for the season.

●RAPIDLY SHIFTING GEARS, Maryville's sports are going under cover for the winter. With basketball, wrestling, and swimming on tap, MC sports enthusiasts shouldn't have trouble either (1) finding a sport to go out for, or (2) finding a sport for a chance to watch and enjoy. Next week for the sum-up of winter sports preparation. . . .

Y, FACULTY LEAD VOLLEYBALL

Ten teams began knocking the Intramural volleyball back and forth this week. Captain Arthur Bushing's faculty six sprinted to a early start to take three consecutive games and tie Y for top place this week.

First Week's Results

On Monday the Floogies downed the Ministerials 2-0; the YMCA beat the Bacas, 2-0, the Faculty edged Pi Lumbago, 2-1, and the Freshmen took the Choir, 2-0.

Wednesday had three 2-0 scores; Mars over Pre-Ministerials, YMCA over Pi Lumbago, and Faculty over 8-balls. The Floogies knocked off the Choir 2-1.

On Friday the Faculty topped the Choir, 2-0, and the Floogies had 2 to Pi Lumbago's 1. YWCA gained forfeit victory over the 8-balls, because six 8-balls weren't at hand. Neither the Freshmen or the Bacas showed up for their scheduled game.

ECHO TRAVELS—

'48 Pigskin Trail As Other Scribes View Highlanders

(Just to let ECHO'S readers in on what other sports pages said during the late football wars, the following were snatched from exchange papers from opponent schools.—The Sports Editor.)

Emory and Henry—"The White Topper," November 1, 1948:

"It looks like the six-point jinx has again struck! Emory lost to Maryville, 12-6. The hard-luck Wasps lost another game in a season marred by one touchdown losses.

"The Maryville team, sparked by Neff, a hard driving halfback, scored twice in the second quarter to spell defeat for our local heroes. Working from a tricky spread formation the Highlanders showed great power in driving around the Emory forward wall to score."

MTSC—"The Sidelines," October 4, 1948:

"The Blue Raiders nailed win number two Saturday night in Maryville as they beat the highly rated Scotties 13-12 before a crowd of some 3000 people."

US—"The Sewanee Purple," October 21, 1948:

"Avenging their only loss of last year, the Tigers came from behind to defeat a strong Maryville squad 12-6 on October 9. The combination of pass interceptions and a hard running of-

Y TIES ALL-STARS IN SOCCER TITLE TILT

Y's soccer squadron tied a 2-2 knot in overcoming All-Stars' 2-0 lead late in the fourth quarter of Thursday's Thanksgiving soccer clash.

Sid Lambert's successful boot gave Y a 1-0 lead by halftime. The first quarter went scoreless as All-Stars took Y's kickoff and the teams battled over the field.

Beasley, a sub in the All-star lineup, scored early in the third period, and All-star's eleven led, 2-0. But Springfield, Y wingman, and Ken Yunker, other Y wingman, came thru with 2 points in the fourth to give the Turkey, day classic a 2-2 deadlock.

Second Round Nears End In PingPong Tourney

The ping-pong tournament swung into its second round this past week with the following results: Chesley Anderson defeated Steve Cowan, F. Farmer bested Harold Hunter, Bill Houdeshel won over Glen Gage, Tom Yeaworth won over Robert Lewis, Bob Boring downed Sid Lambert. bert.

Ben Gearhart won a decision over Dave Grubbs, John Briggs won over Wesley Miles, Gerald Sayres knocked off Dave Yeaworth, Fred Waggoner won by default, Hugh Hamil downed

MC Preparing For Full Winter Sports Program

IN THE POOL

SMS. . . SMS . . . SMS—the call came from Coach K. P. Johnson's pier near the swimming pool. S-end M-ore S-wimmers is the obvious meaning of the code, and that's the thing needed to boost Maryville's hopes in the tank this year.

This week eight swimmers Jim Frost, Branin Boyd, Bo Henry, George Barber, Reed Bell, Curt Barnett, Jack Moore and Dean Risher— composed the group working actively for a swimming team.

However, with nine swimming events plus the diving events to a regular meet, this "faithful eight" will be quite undermanned when the season, which will open next semester, is in full swing.

Risher and Moore are working on diving form, and the remaining six now out are mastering the three basic swim strokes—the crawl, back and butterfly.

Coach Johnson is calling for more swimmers to join the ranks in order that each swimmer will have an equal chance of making the team.

ON THE HARDWOOD

Putting basketball training in high gear, Coach L. S. Honaker is whipping the MC basketball force into shape five days a week in Alumni gym.

A squad of 24 began stepped-up workouts Monday with five letermen of last year to show the way. Although '47 captain Ray Lillard has played his four years of the varsity sport, he's helping his teammates improve their basketball form. Leon Berrong, two year letterman, is helping as a manager this season.

Five '47 Lettermen Back

Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil, the Friendsville aces, Gene Reynolds and Charlie Roberts, forwards, and center Brick Brahams are returning to the Highland court from last year's team. Hap Braham's who was ineligible for the major part of last season, is back with the team.

Eighteen other hopefuls are out, including the following: Charlie Allen, Jim Baird, Benton Baldwin, Jack Buckley, Steve Cowan, L. A. Campbell, B. R. Crisp, Nelson Forrester, George Handley, Galen Johnson, Raymond Keny;

The schedule for the season, almost completed, will be in Echo soon.

ON THE MAT

With the return of eight of last year's wrestling lettermen expected Monday, Coach "J. D." Davis will have a full crew of grapplers on the mat. Twenty-five new men, including some of last year's reserves, began preliminary work-outs last Monday.

Only two of last year's ten lettermen will be absent for the coming season, and the following are expected to be ready to get in trim on Monday: Chesley Anderson, Earl Black, John Briggs, J. A. Cameron, Henry Callaway (captain), Jim Marvin, Hershell Merriman, and Herbert Palmer—all '47 lettermen.

Ten Experienced Men Back

Ten of the 25 hopefuls working out this week were men with previous experience on the Scot mat, including the following: Julian Gresham, Kenneth Newell, Harry Caviston, Orval Wintermute, Delbert Earlsman, Paul McNiel, Charles Mabry, Preston Mulford, Lowell Duffey, and Chester Schieber.

Lettermen wrestlers are to report ready for work (i. e. in gym uniform) Monday at 3:30 p. m. wrestling coach "J. D." Davis announced this week.

Following are the new men out for wrestling: Aubrey Galyon, Clarence Reaser, John Lewis, Jimmy Callaway, James Fraim, Sidney Lambert, C. L. Hager, George Robarts, Tom Yeaworth, Bill Lane, Frank Morton, Bob Brown, and Edward Heershap.

Fundamentals Stressed

Calesthenics, conditioning exercises, and wrestling fundamentals composed the main course of training for the first week with the new men. Starting Monday, with the entire squad out, intensive training for the coming season will begin.

Echo will carry complete details of the coming season, including the schedule, soon.

Scottie Football Teams To Banquet In Pearsons Hall

Maryville's 1948 Highlander football squad, coaches, managers, cheerleaders, and special guests will have a football banquet Monday night at 7:30 in the college dining hall.

David L. McArthur, MC alumni, will be the guest speaker. Mr. McArthur, president of a local department store, is active in the Maryville chamber of commerce.

Dr. Thomas A. Graham, pastor of New Providence Presbyterian Church, will serve as toastmaster. About 85 persons, including guests are expected for the occasion.

Team To Elect Captain

The squad will elect a captain for the 1949 season during the evening. Captain Alan Rock, alternate captain Fred Kluth, Bill Proffitt, and Harold Henry, are graduating players of the '48 squad. James Newman, trainer, and asistant manager, Bill Din-

PRACTICE HOURS ARRANGED FOR I-M BASKETBALL SQUADS

Intramural basketball squads, when properly signed-up on eligibility lists at the intramural office, may now stage practice games three times a week, Coach K. P. Johnson announced this week.

Teams may have practice games on Tuesday and Thursday only from 3:30 to 4:30 in Bartlett, Friday in the Intramural Gym from 3:30 to 5:30, and also on Saturdays.

Managers of intramural basketball teams should see that their eligibility lists are in the intramural office not later than Monday. Practice games will constitute the intramural basketball agenda for the remainder of the semester, and regular play will begin early in January.

POINT SYSTEM

A tournament between the Chillies and Howies in aerial darts, the sport now in practice, will begin this Tuesday. The winners will play for the championship.

Point System girls will end their season with instruction and practice in folk dancing.

Church Magazine Carries Article by Dr. R. W. Lloyd

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd is the author of an article published in the November issue of the "Presbyterian Tribune." The article, titled "We Intend to Stay Together," is about the World Council of Churches which met last summer in Amsterdam, Holland. It speaks of the relation of the Presbyterian Church to the opportunities and responsibilities of the churches in the total world program.

"Serenade in Blue" featured a group of Theta Epsilon girls dancing to a blue serenade ably led by Lois Doebler.

Faculty Performs

The title of the faculty number was "Cotton Pickers," but very little cotton was picked. Center of attraction seemed to be Stanley Phillips, Arthur Bushing, and their oversized dice. Pennies thrown by the audience interested George Howell and Mrs. Margaret Cummings as they did a little "matching" on the side.

Tumbling team members claimed their share of honors as each acrobatic act tried to better the one before, and Joe Poland unexpectedly became a spectator after his first performance.

The "Maharaja of Magadore" was Alpha Sigma's contribution.

Ed Pancoast in the title role was well sporting by Bob Kaye as an American college girl.

High Society girls in black danced through "My Sugar Is So Refined" to the music of a male octet.

Pre-Med Club supplied a corps of medical magic workers with Bernie Welch as the patient. The unexpected appearance of one small kitten all but disrupted the act.

A good night to all was sung by the girls of WSGA led by Ruth Humes and Maureen Owen, soloists.

Johnny Sayre, Mrs. Doris Johnson, and Fred Sieber were the pianists for the evening.

College Orchestra Performs First Concert of Season

Maryville's orchestra performed in its first concert of the season last night to a crowd of 250 in Almni Gym. W. Curtis Hughes conducted the 32-piece orchestra in a program of two overtures, a symphony, and an aria.

The program included Hadyn Wood's "A Manx Overture," Joseph Hadyn's "Symphony no. 101 in D Major ("The Clock")," Antonia Francesco Tenaglia's "Aria," and Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus Overture ("The Bat")."

Members of the college orchestra this year are: Violins—Miss Dorothy Horne of the music department, principal, William Deihl, Nina Gillette, Ruby Jean Harris, Carl Herring, Joy Hickman, ConstanceJeffery, Juanita Johnson, Irvin Kenner, Ruth Ramsey, Dorothy Stater, and Paul Woodbury.

Viola—Joy Hayes. Cello—Doris Summerville. Bass—Charles Huffman. Percussion—Donald Dickinson, Robert Holley. Flute—Barbara Rosensteel, Charlotte Wyman.

Oboe—Thomas Wheeler (guest appearance). Clarinet—Lucy Carrick, Margaret Huffaker, James Latham, Randall Lequire, and Elizabeth Wilson.

Bassoon—Lawrence Thompson. Trumpet—Betty Coates, William Crosley, and Clarence Reaser. Horn—Miss Dorothy Vawter of the music department. Trombone—Walter Menges, Jack Randolph.

HARRIS WINS TABLE CONTEST THURSDAY

Ruby Jean Harris' table was judged best in the Thanksgiving table decoration contest sponsored by the Art Club. She received a box of candy as the prize. The winning table had a large polished pumpkin centerpiece, hollowed out and filled with fruit. Cornstalk candles were on one end of the table and crepe paper was around the plates. Each place had an individual favor.

The tables of Margaret Ann Brown, Bill Carroll, Phyllis Jackson, and Ralph Theisse received honorable mention.

Judges for the contest were Clare Bolton, George Setterfield, Ruth Nicholas and Mary Hammelman.

fense gave the Tigers their second straight victory."

Sewanee's sports columnist gave this view:

Time: 7:30 p. m.; October 20, 1975.

Place: The Tiger Tavern, Sewanee

'Well, son, I guess you showed those guys from Maryville a thing or two about football this afternoon. That Statue of Liberty play did the trick again today. The Highlanders know they're licked now.

'I remember Maryville had beat us in 1946 and 1947; they had marred up two mighty good records; so when they came up to mountain in '48 we were raring to go. We had a good team, but they did too, and they knew we were layin' for them so they were ready, too.

'Well, we 'got our revenge that afternoon and it was a day we swore de'd never forget. We beat them despite the fact that we lost 75 yards on clipping penalties, didn't complete but one pass out of six (and four were nearly intercepted), didn't get off a single good place kick all day, never gave the punter adequate protection, and had our ball carriers running into their interference several times.

'With all that against us, I guess the reason we won was that we were just determined to do it under any conditions. Determination can do great things. Neither our own mistakes nor a Maryville line averaging 194 pounds could stop us. They strictly celebrated in Sewanee that night.'"

TPI—"Oracle," November 9, 1948:

"Tech's wandering Eagles won their first game of the season away from home last Saturday when they defeated the Maryville Highlanders, 20-0. They also kept their slate clean against Maryville, made their record against them three victories and no defeats. . . .Cliff Massa led Tech's offensive with 171 yards in 13 tries. Jim Lancaster had 60 yards in 13 tries. . . ."

Carson-Newman— "Orange and Blue," November 19, 1948:

"'In a rip-roaring affair that sent some 6,000 fans home talking to themselves, Maryville College played hearts with Lady Luck and slipped by the C-N Eagles 20-18. Not even the TVA could have created a more hair raising current than swept the field for a full sixty minutes.

"The first ten minutes looked like an Eagles' walk-away as they pushed across two quick TD's the first period. It ran this way. . . . Leon Berrong, the Scotties' fine little tailback. . . .this time there was no stopping the Scots as they sent Brahams goalward this time on an end-around."

Seniors Meet December 1 Deadline To Complete First Special Studies

Celebrants Burn Papers, Cards; Warn Juniors

Approximately sixty seniors gathered at the bonfire on the athletic field last Wednesday night to celebrate the completion of the first group of special studies. Each made his contribution of first draft and notes to the flames while the group sang a "special" version of the "Funeral March." As the flames died down they formed a snake dance and paraded through the Student Center and the library. Throughout the demonstration they sang their chant to the juniors.

After serenading the juniors in the dorms and ringing the tower bell they returned to the bonfire. Each person in the circle gave the topic of his work, the titles ranging from "Some Sociological Considerations in the Protestant Foreigns Missions with Special Reference to Korea" to "Ferns." After the ashes of the departed knowledge had been collected the seniors dispersed.

The celebration was continued at chapel the next day when the ashes were put on display. The seniors, clad in red, rose to their feet to sing the special studies chant to the juniors who will begin their projects next semester.

S S Program

Special studies constitute a six hour course, three hours for each of two semesters, in which the student does research work on some particular phase of his major subject. The students report their progress at weekly conferences with their faculty advisor. A report of their work in the form of a thesis is made toward the close of the second semester. Two members of last year's graduating class completed work of this type; however, the present senior class is the first class as a whole who have been required to do this work. The editor, Mrs. Wm. Swenson, has received over 100 reports this week.

Psych Class Visits Court, Detention Home, Lyons' View

Dr. David Briggs and 15 of his social psychology class members made a field trip to Knoxville on Tuesday, November 30, in connection with the work they are now studying. They visited the Domestic Relations Court, the Juvenile Detention Home, and Eastern State Hospital at Lyon's View.

At the Domestic Relations Court the group witnessed four divorce cases with Judge H. B. Webster presiding. The main point of contention in these cases was the question of alimony.

Juvenile Home

Next, a tour of the Juvenile Detention Home was made. The Home can best accommodate 20 children but as many as 67 have been cared for at one time. The Home deals with three types of children: delinquent, truant, and dependent. At the end of this tour, Dr. Briggs and his students were told by the superintendent of the Home how it is run and its use to Knoxville and Knox County.

Lyon's View

The last stop of the field trip was Eastern State Hospital. The hospital, commonly known as "Lyons' View," treats the mentally ill. The group was shown cases representing different types of mental diseases and disorders. The psychiatrist in charge of the women's division explained briefly to the students the cause of the illness of each and told briefly the case histories and the present treatment that is being given.

Students Offer Vocal, Instrument Recital Tuesday

Tuesday afternoon, December 7, a student recital will be presented in the YWCA rooms at 4:30 p. m. "Quartet in A, K. 298" by Mozart will be given by Barbara Rosensteel, flute, Dorothy Horne, violin, Constance Jeffery, viola, and Curtis Hughes, cello. Mary Woodard, accompanied by Bernice Blair, will sing "Cradle Song" by Norris. "Have You Seen but a White Lily Grow," Old English, will be sung by Carolyn Rose Burrell accompanied by Bernice Blair.

Mary Lee Snodderly will play "Minuet" (from "Berenice") written by Handel-Munz. Beethoven's "Sonata, Op. 2, No. 1, Allegro" will by played by Emma Lee Czerniawski. Accompanied by Bernice Blair, Stanley Smathers will sing "Caro mio ben" by Giordani. Ruth McQuilkin will sing "It was a Lover and his Lass" by Morley. Evalyn Smith will accompany her. "Sonata, Op. 2, No. 2, Allegro Vivace" by Beethoven and "Le petit ane blanc" by Ibert will be played on the piano by Lena Belle McGaha. Fred Sieber will play Chopin's "Etude, Op. 10, No. 2."

Charles Huffman will sing "My Lodging is the Cellar Here" by Fischer. He will be accompanied by Dan Winter. Accompanied by Dorothy Vawter, Ruth Ramsey will sing Mozart's "Dove Song" (from "Le Nozze di Figaro"). Irma Jean Benedict will play "Etude Op. 25, No. 7" by Chopin. Beethoven's "Sonata, Op. 13, Adagio Cantalicle" will be played by Patty Regan. Dan Winter will play on the piano "Nocturne, Op. 27, No. 1" by Chopin. For the concluding part of the program the Madrigal Singers will sing "I Hear Along Our Street," a French Carol, "Oh the Beautiful Snow" written by Deihl, and "Wassail Song," a Bourchester Carol.

Dr. J. D. Buchanan Leads Vespers Sunday

Dr. J. D. Buchanan will speak at Vespers Sunday evening on "A Priceless Passage from the Sacred Scripture."

The Girls' Choir and Mens' Glee Club will sing two numbers, a Christmas carol by Broadus Staley, "What Can This Mean," and a spiritual by Will James, "Dark Water."

Weldon Hart Conducts Knox Symphony Forum

Roy Harris, noted American composer, who was scheduled to conduct one of his own compositions on the Knoxville Symphony Forum, December 7, is to be replaced by Weldon Hart, a native Tennessean.

Harris was forced to cancel this engagement due to his acceptance of a position in the music department of the University of Utah. Johanna Harris, wife of the composer, will appear with the orchestra in the performance of the Mozart Piano Concerto in A Major.

Plays Violin

Hart was born at Bear Spring, Tennessee. He is an accomplished violinist. His early studies were in Nashville where he was the youngest member of the Nashville Symphony. In 1945, with his Symphony No. 1, he won the $500 first prize in the orchestral composition contest sponsored by the American Broadcasting Co.

Program Rehearsed

The Knoxville Symphony is now rehearsing Hart's overture, "Pennyville." The program will also include the Dream Pantomime from the opera, "Hansel and Gretel," "Dance of the Angels" from "La Vita Nuova" by Wolf-Ferrarri, and Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Mrs. Harris has served as accompanist for the master classes of Leopold Auer and Paul Kochanski.

Art Contest Open Until December 17

Entry blanks are still being accepted for the all-campus art exhibit planned for early next semester. In order that all articles may be catalogued and adequately prepared for exhibition, entries should be turned in to the art studio during December 13 to 17.

Bill Carter, who is planning the exhibition, points out that anyone may enter the exhibit; no participation in an art class of any kind is necessary. Entries may be in any medium—painting, sculpture, paper sculpture, etc. This is the opportunity for those interested in art and having art as a hobby to have work displayed. Following the one-week showing in Lamar Memorial Library, the entries will be judged on the basis of artistic merit and effort, and credit will be given to the best.

Persons interested may obtain entry blanks from a box outside the art studio, and more information from Carter.

Y's Sponsor Season's First Christmas Program

"Christmas in Song and Story," the first Christmas activity on campus, is the program for the joint meeting of YM and YM at 1:30 Sunday afternoon in Thaw Library.

Traditional Christmas carols, grouped by subjects, will highlight the meeting.

Student Art Work Now On Exhibit In Library

Student Art exhibit now on display in Lamar Memorial Library will continue through the 14th of December. Included in the exhibit are charcoal and pastel, as well as water color and oil, mediums. Every student in the art department is represented in at least one of these fields.

The different classes represent different categories of study. The 101 class has been studying the basic principles of design, and is represented in the exhibit in that way. The 207 class has been working with life studies, while the 307 class has concentrated on technique in oil painting.

National President Speaks At Jaycee Banquet Tuesday

Maryville's Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a banquet in the college dining hall Tuesday evening, December 7. Paul Bagwell, president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, is the principal speaker.

Bagwell is one of the youngest professors at Michigan State University where he is head of the speech, dramatics, and radio department. He has been a Jaycee for 11 years and is entering the second half of his 1948-49 tour of JCC organizations in the 48 States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Europe. During December he will appear at meetings of Junior Chambers in Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and Kentucky. Besides the Maryville group, he will visit JCC organizations in Chattanooga and Shelbyville.

Sportsmanship Prize

The JCC football sportsmanship trophy will be awarded to a representaitve of the winning high school team at the banquet. The winner is determined by the sportsman-like attitude of team, coach, and spectators at all games during the season. All city and county high school football teams are eligible. Coach and captain of each team and officers of each school system are invited to the banquet.

Members of the Kiwanis, Lions and Alcoa Rotary Club are also invited to attend.

Plates for the banquet are $1.75, and it is open to the public. Tickets are sold by members of the JCC.

'Uncle Remus,' Stephen Foster Melodies Combine In 1949 May Day Pageant

Plans are under way for the production of next year's May Day pageant, tentatively titled "Plantation Story." Its script adapted from Joel Chandler Harris' "Tales of Uncle Remus," the pageant combines the animated adventures of Uncle Remus and Brer Rabbit with enchanting melodies of Stephen Foster.

The College amphitheatre will be turned into a Southern plantation of pre-Civil War days. Although some three hundred students will be included in the cast and committees, simplicity is to be the keynote of the production. Plans call for expenses to be kept strictly within the budget set for May Day by the Fine Arts division.

Music, Direction

Mrs. Lenore Courtney of the Dramatic department is in charge of the production of the pageant. Music, furnished by the Men's Glee Club, All Girls' Choir, and Orchestra, will be under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, with incidental music by Dorothy Vawter. Mrs. Verton Queener will direct the dancing groups; Charlotte Blair and Elizabeth Jackson of the English department will advise during the writing of the script.

"Plantation Story" will be written and directed by Jimmy Dance, who was author and technical director of last year's May Day production "Over The Rainbow To Oz." Charles Williams will act as coordinating director, and assistant directors will be Bob Holley and Marian Pope for the recorded script, and Ann Jenkins and Ilda Mosby for the acting script.

Sound Effects Recorded

Plans now include the recording of the sound effects of the pageant to be played over the loudspeaking system and synchronized with the action. Donald Whelan and Bill McIlvaine will handle the recording of the "sound track."

Stage Managers Margie Newland and Wally Moore will execute Ruch Nicholas and Walter Chambers' stage design; Lou Masters will manage the properties. Period costmes will be handled by Peggy Brooks, and animal costumes by Ruth Nicholas. Wanda Onifer and Marge Prall will supervise the make-up. Lois Deobler will direct the Hi Society in a dance number and will be featured in a solo dance. Charles Huffman will arrange Stephen Foster's music for the Men's Glee Club and All Girls' Choir, and Fred Sieber is to play the incidental music. Publicity and promotion will be handled by Katherine Carpenter, and Marilyn Edge will supervise the clerical work.

The May Queen and her court will be selected next semester; their coronation ceremony will be directed by Mildred Miller.

Auditions will be held in January for the voices of Uncle Remus, Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, Brer Bear, and the other characters. Time and place of auditioning and casting will be announced later.

Harter Sets Final 'Messiah' Rehearsal

More than 300 members of "Messiah" chorus will practice Handel's famed oratorio for the final complete rehearsal December 11.

Harry H. Harter, assistant professor of music, announces the rehearsal for Alumni Gymnasium at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Harter is directing the "Messiah" for the second year.

Taking part in this 16th annual December program are the College orchestra, Men's Glee Club, All Girls' Choir, and Vesper Choir. Both townsfolk and students are in the chorus.

WGAP Broadcast

Katherine Davies, chairman of the division of Fine Arts, is organist for the production, and Garnet Manges of Maryville, is pianist. Associate professor of music Dorothy Horne is concertmistress.

WGAP, local Mutual network station, is scheduled to broadcast the "Messiah" directly from the College at 3 p. m. on December 12.

Art and music departments are cooperating with YWCA for decorations in the Gymnasium. Charles Williams, representing YMCA, is in charge of ushers. Miss Dorothy Vawter, of the division of Fine Arts, has handled publicity.

Faculty Club Hears Bach Cantata Monday

Bach Cantata No. 65, "All They from Saba Shall Come," will be presented by Miss Dorothy Horne's second year theory class at the Faculty Club meeting Monday evening, December 6, at 7:30 in the home ec rooms. The story was written for epiphany in 1724 and tells about the coming of the three wise men. Soloists are Curtis Hughes and Harry Harter.

Vesper Choir Holds Annual Christmas Party

Vesper Choir members and their guests will have their annual Christmas party December 10 in the Y rooms. A program will feature the appearance of Santa Claus who will distribute presents to the group. After the party the choir will sing carols for Mrs. John Walker at her home. They will continue their traditional caroling on campus.

Maid Shop Founder Undergoes Treatment

Mrs. J. H. McMurray, founder and manager of the Maryville College Maid Shop, is undergoing treatment at the Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio. She will allow doctors to experiment with new methods in their sturggle against cancer.

While there, Mrs. McMurray is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Claire McMurray Howard, 2225 Chestnut Hills Drive, Cleveland. She has been under the care of the clinic for a year.

Mrs. McMurray is not expected back until after Christmas.

YM-YW RADIO

YM-YW's weekly radio program Sunday afternoon at 2:45 will present a condensation of Manley's "Sacrifice." The program is heard over station WGAP.

FRENCH CLUB

French Club will meet Thursday evening, December 9, at 6:45 in the Y rooms. A program of French Christmas Carols is planned, after which a short business meeting will be held.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES CAMPUS CHRISTMAS PARTY

An all-campus Christmas party will be held in Intramural Gymnasium, Saturday night, December 11, at 8 p. m. The party is under sponsorship of the Social Committee.

The Gym will be transformed into a living room complete with a large fireplace. Entertainment for the evening consists of Christmas Carols by the audience, special numbers by a selected chorus, and Christmas stories. Climaxing the evening will be the arrival of Santa Claus. Refreshments are to served.

Ray Packard is chairman of the committee for arrangements and is assisted by Bob Holley, Ray Saunders, Pinky Ahler, Judy Breen, and Dorothy Stater.

Alpha Sig Selects New Sweetheart

Alpha Sig meets this evening at 6:45 to select its 1948-49 Sweetheart from Lois Doebler, Jane McMillan, and Sarah Durant.

Miss Doebler, a junior voice major from Chicago, is vice-president of Theta and has appeared in many campus productions as a ballet and tap dancer.

Miss McMillan, from Acworth, Georgia, is a sophomore edueation major. She has been a cheerleader for two years, is vice president of Spanish Club, was a Nu Gamma leader this fall, and a May Day sponsor last spring.

Miss Durant is a junior elementary education major from Birmingham, Ala. She is secretary of FTA and a former Barnwarming sponsor and May Day attendant.

Twenty-Two Freshmen Model At Style Show

Twenty-two freshman girls will model dresses, blouses, skirts, sport coats, jumpers, evening dresses, pajamas, and gowns in the home economics lecture room at 7:30 p. m., December 10. The projects were made in clothing class, from wool, cotton, and rayon fabrics.

The craft class will have on display knitting, weaving, embroidering, and crocheted designs at the same time.

Invitations will be issued by girls in the department.

Organ Repertoire Class Meets Monday Afternoon

All organ students will participate in the program of the organ repertoire class which will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 at New Providence Presbyterian Church. W. Curtis Hughes, instructor of the class, will talk on teaching organ.

Crews, Reed, Scout Direct Last Plays of Fall Semester

Tonight at 8 in Bartlett Hall Experimental Theater will present two one-act plays in its last production of the semester. Ruthellen Crews is directing Rachel Field's "Londonderry Air," while Booth Tarkington's comedy, "The Trysting Place," is being directed by David Reed and Doris Scout.

Rachel Field, well known for such best-selling novels as "All This and Heaven Too," has written in "Londonderry Air" a charming romantic drama. Set in old New England, the plot concerns a bound-out girl, played by Jane Jessup, who is serving the cruel Widow Boggs, portrayed by Virginia Peters.

Widow Boggs plans to marry her shiftless son Hiram, impersonated by Brandon Boyd, to the bond-servant to keep the hard-working, conscientous young girl in the family. A dark, mysterious stranger, played by Don Winslow, charms her with his fiddle. Appearing mysteriously at nightfall, he eats her cookies, makes love to her, and haunts her memory with the strains of "Londonderry Air."

'Trysting Place'

Booth Tarkington, who created Penrod Schofield, and Willie Baxter, the eternal adolescents, deals again with youth and unrequited love in his one-act comedy, "The Trysting Place." John Mills plays the part of Lancelot Briggs, 'teenage Romeo who is spending the summer at a resort hotel with his domineering mother, acted by Dorothy Stater, and pretty older sister, portrayed by Marsha Beebe.

Lancelot has fallen for a pretty widow at the hotel—June Johnston. While she does not return his affection, in his mind theirs is a perfect love whose only problem is how to stay secret from his mother and sister Jessie. Unknown to Lancelot, his widowed mother is very much intrigued by rich and elderly Mr. Ingoldsby, (Jack Reed) although she would never have her children find this out. Jessie in her turn is trying to keep secret her love affair with young Rupert Smith, played by Joe Claud. The fun starts when the three groups of unbeknownst lovers arrange to meet secretly to discuss their affairs, and select the hotel lobby for "The Trysting Place."

Mrs. Lenore Courtney of the Drama and Speech department is coaching the productions. Sets for the two plays were designed by Jimmy Dance and executed by Ruth Heaps and Bob Kay, while J. A. Cameron is handling the lighting. Bill Carter is publicity director.

It All Happened Here

Maryville's policies haven't altered. The College still stands for the same basic principles that the students pledged to support at registration. And yet, more major changes have occurred than normally occur in one semester.

First, when the student body returned in August, they found the Student Center. Most of the old students had grown accustomed to the crowded conditions in Bartlett and the Chatterbox; the Center has answered very definitely these needs.

The fellows also had the pleasure of welcoming a new house mother to Carnegie. Some weeks after the opening of school, the summer-bulletin announced plan for social dancing was inaugurated and the Intramural Gym became the nightly scene of dancing couples.

Then came the C-N agreement and peace between the rivals. December 1 saw the completion of Special Studies and celebrating seniors danced through the library and Center.

Mixed in with the new was the traditional Barnwarming that out-did itself to transport the Hill to Old New Orleans. In another week the "Messiah" will be sounding from the big gym, and exams follow within another week.

These are but a few of the major happenings here this term. We haven't quite settled for the semester yet, and it's almost over. For a centurian, Maryville certainly has been modernizing.

Student Council

Student Council voted at the meeting Wednesday night, to place money left over from refunds on the Carson-Newman game in the Student Council treasury. This amounted to $10.96.

A temporary committee composed of John Shew, Marguerite Priest, Henry Callaway, and Margaret Rock were appointed to make a study of the attire of students at Sunday dinner and Vesper services. They will give a report of their findings and recommendations at the next meeting.

One Town Nite penalty was ruled for loitering. President Jim Black called attention to the fact that the Town Nite situation was much better this week.

Miss...givings

We're dreaming of a white Christmas—aren't you? The radio gives forth daily with the song and each morning Jack Frost tries his best to give the appearance of snow. That's probably the closest we'll come to snow, too. It's been a long time since Maryville has seen a real snowy Christmas. Oh, well, maybe we'll have a white Easter. At Maryville, anything can happen—and usually does.

Three people we know of are laying very special plans for the trip home for Christmas. Marg Prall, Buffie Carver, and Johnny Sayre will all be heading in the same direction come December 22, so they've thought up a plan to economize on the train fare. Marg will drss as the Mama complete with appropriate make-up and Johnny and Buffie will make like her kiddies. At present they're looking for someone to be the Papa to complete this happy family group. Any offers?

Maryville's Barnwarming seems to have gotten quite a bit of publicity around parts of Tennessee. Several students from Lanier High School came over to get an eye-full of the make-up, decorations, costumes, et cetera.

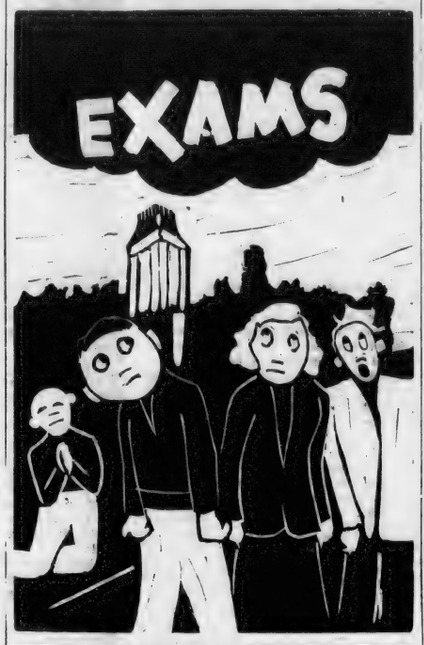
Dunc Bennett could be seen g"nash"ing his teeth Wedensday night. The local radio station called him up and if he had said "Nash" instead of "hello", he would have won $30.

In case you old Maryville students have heard a new announcer with a familiar voice over WGAP, it's none other than Harry "Uncle Bud" Morgan. Last year he was disc-jockey on the Teen Town program. This year as yet he doesn't have a request program but he's trying to set one up. In the meantime he's commercializing such intriguing products as an all steel pogo stick.

Even Miss Grierson suppressed laughter when special studies—mad seniors thronged the library Wednesday night. Led by Jim Black, the group of happy-go-lucky-to-be-alive seniors snake-danced through the part of the library that bears the sign to the effect that "this is the section in which to study, so you'd better go to the other side for your 'social-science' survey." Backed by Kathy Boyer, who hung on last as the group precariously winded amongst the poor underclassmen, the seniors sang their song:

"Juniors, your troubles are just about to start.
We all advise you to keep a good stout heart.
Oh, how you'll hate them;
How you will berate them.
Juniors, your troubles are just about to start—

SPECIAL STUDIES!"



Many have heard the story of the goose that laid the golden egg, but few heard Arthur Bushing tell what a goose the poor egg was who tried to cook it. Writers' Workshop personnel heard the heart-warming, laugh-provoking story that Mr. Bushing read for Workshop Wednesday about his own experience with the china nest egg in Germany during the war. After having boiled the egg for twenty minutes without apparent success, he finally broke it with the butt of his rifle. Humpty dumpty sat on a wall. . . .

Clarice Riedel, ex '50, has finally departed for Florida to resume her beauty course. Hilda Roberts (and Vera Lusk) spent the earlier part of the week recouperating from her visit. The Roberts' room which is directly over the Lusk liar, harbored Clarice for the better part of the week spent back at old M.C. One night, during the wee small hours of the morning, Vera awoke as the ceiling groaned under sudden terrific pressure and threatened to relieve the tension. Just above V's bed had stood Clarice's cot which was no more—the cot had collapsed taking with it all of Clarice to the floor. Bounding up the stairs V entered the Roberts' domicile. No one is quite sure what happened, but "Calm was the Night", for methinks there was a "Bomb in Gilead." Too, someone should warn the midnight phantom typist of third and fourth floor Pearsons.

As a parting word, remember, Children, only 17 shopping days until Christmas. (And only the same number til we depart.)

PLASTIC, DUST, & BELLE

Even if you didn't know Susie, you'd know this plot a mile or a week off: the Capitol's Monday-Tuesday show is "If You Knew Susie." A couple of retired vaudeville hoofers cavort through a few reels of situation gags, old routines, tip-top mugging by Eddie Cantor's and Joan Davis' plastic faces.

Verdict: It's the same again;—Cantor was hardly better 20 years ago.

Dusted off for another spin on Wednesday and Thursday is "The Adventures of Robin Hood." If you like pretty sets, "a cast of thousands," and don't care to quibble over historical data, then this 1938 budget-buster is your meat. Swordplay, a O. De Havilland Maid Marion, and a little-too-clean sets & costumes combine to make a top notch spectacle if only third-rate drama.

Verdict: Mighty purty . . . mighty purty.

History got another kicking around when Hollywood did "Belle Starr" back in 1941. This time, in the Park Theatre's Town Nite "Belle Starr's Daughter," MCers can expect more of the same. Glamorizing outlawry in typical fashion, it must be smoothed over that Belle was no Robin Hood—much less a Maid Marion. Just which bandit was the father of Belle Starr's daughter is a matter of conjecture—the type of event the movies usually try not to mention.

Verdict: Another Western.

SPACE, TIME, & LIFE

Zeke Colvan's "Face the Footlights!" is Lamar Memorial Library's newest dramatics aid. Perhaps the best general book on this subject, producer-director-author Colvan's work attempts to cover nearly every problem of the stage. Naturally, he cannot cover each topic so thoroughly as individual volumes, but "FF!" is very nearly complete in itself.

"Space, Time & Archetecture" does not quite measure up to its superlative title. Mostly a history of architecture since the late 17th century, it is copiously illustrated with rather mediocre pictures for such an expensive book.

Architect S. Giedion, with exceptions, deals little with modern building of homes, office buildings, or factories. He does admire New York's ambitious Rockefeller Center (RCA and Time & Life buildings) and the modern radical school so popular in Latin America.

Another interesting if not too helpful book for most Maryville majors is "Temples In Yucatan." Its text serves as little more than captions, however, for the excellent black and white photographs.

The much-discussed Kinsey Report is now on Lamar Memorial shelves—if that's any comfort. For the statistically uninclined, steer clear. For the curious, read the reviews; they're far more helpful in furnishing sophisticated table talk.

George Seldes, gadfly to the right-of-center, has "1000 Americans" carefully scrutinized to show just who runs this country after all. Harsh indeed on the NAM, big power and press, he's a little too much for most local conservatives.

GOOD, GRAY & ROUGH

The good, gray National Broadcasting Company was having rough going last week. Beset with woes which began with losing its Blue network (now ABC), the nation's erstwhile top chain had come through this in the last few years: terrific competition from its offspring ABC, free speech row that lost its liberal news commentators, gradual slipping of many old standbys and Amos 'n' Andy. Even Sunday night now seemed to be out of the NBC fold. After weeks of undercover scrapping, CBS grabbed the big Benny interests—including rights to the Jack Parr and Phil Harris shows as well as Benny's west coast movie and TV interests.

It looked as if all RCA's voice had left on Sunday was her perennially bad boy, vice-president-baiting Fred Allen.

OOPS!

By mistake this column last week promised some work of last year's art instructor, David Bernard, in the Library's Art Exhibit.

Dr. Lea Callaway will address the Pre-Med Club Thursday evening, December 9, on the subject "Medical Economics." The meeting will be at 6:45 p. m. in the chemistry lecture room in Fayerweather.

Echo Forum

To the Editor of the Highland Echo:

As has no doubt already come to your attention, the Republic of China is expending millions annually in an effort to contain the Yangtze River, the TVA spreads its dams over seven states for the control of floods that once ravaged the area, levees have been raised the length of the Mississippi, Truman got elected partly on his platform of flood control in the West, and plans are afoot for the control of the upper Missouri. A strong sentiment has been developing in this locality that the periodical lakes between Pearsons and Baldwin Halls are a menace to health and an unmerited boon to the pants-cuff-pressing and shoe rebuilding trades. A timid suggestion is that a drainage system, however primitive, be installed so that we might no longer have to slog to supper in our hip- boots or roll our collective britches to our knees.

Scot Cage Season Opens

Sportorial: Null and Void

AT LEAST ONCE each semester the Executive Board of Control, by some spark of necessity, is called into session to tranact some almost forgotten business. This deliberative body, annually elected by Maryville students and faculty under the by-laws of the Maryville College Athletic Association to represent their collective interests toward "cooperating in all practical ways in promoting athletics in Maryville College and in maintaining high standards of sportsmanship and awards," is charged with the primary responsibilities (in conjuction with the director of athletics) of electing managers for the varsity athletic squads, and awarding letters to eligible athletes.

True to form, the Executive Board of Control got an urgency nod last Monday to elect football lettermen in order that they might elect a team captain at their annual banquet that night. In a hurried meeting Monday afternoon, the board duly elected 26 football lettermen for the season past according to the standards listed in the Association's by-laws.

SCARCELY 16 HOURS after Monday's meeting, the board was called back in an effort to give the cross-country squad similar recognition in time for a party planned for Tuesday night. (Coach K. P. Johnson, cross-country coach and one of the two elected faculty members of the board, was inadvertently uninformed of the first called meet.) The board faced a dilemna: present by-laws have no specifications regarding standards for awarding cross-country letters. (In a meeting October 28, the board drew up and approved a points-earned system, which was subsequently modified by collective agreement within the athletic department, to pass to the Executive Council of the Faculty for approval before presenting it to the Association for ratification.)

Accordingly then, it may be presumed, the only way the board could constitutionally make awards to deserving members of the cross-country team was through the recommendation of the director of athletics.The following is the section of the by-laws relating to recommendation powers of the director of athletics:

Section No. 3. The director of athletics shall have the right to recommend for athletic players who for justifiable reasons have not met the minimum requirements; and he may refuse to recommend players who have met the minimum requirements listed above, if in his judgment there are reasons for not awarding letters to the individuals concerned.

It seems that the president of the board had the assurance of the director of athletics (prior to calling of the meeting) that action taken by the board to award cross-country letters would have the good graces of his recommendation. Furthermore, as the meeting opened there was no discussion of the right of the board to consider the question, which indicates the members of the board took it for granted that they were acting in accordance with the prerogative of the director of athletics to recommend players for athletic letters.

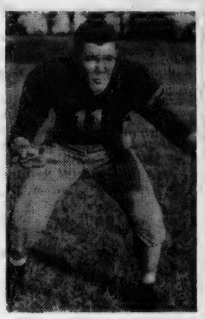
AS THE INCIDENT developed, the director of athletics refused to recommend the group of players that the board in a closed vote passed on, and the board without other alternative found itself being steered into the awkward position of immediately rescinding its previous action. Thus, the board's hand was called, and deserving cross-country runners have to await a future decision of the board for letter awards.

Just what reasons are to be considered justifiable for a player or players, in either a major or minor sport, not meeting the minimum requirements to be blessed with the recommendations of the director of athletics is a moot question.

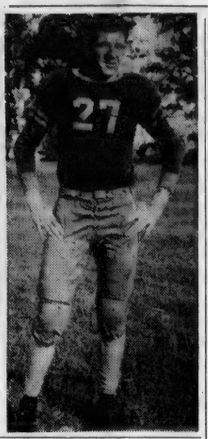
Nevertheless, the director of athletics could justify his action, in part, because of the fact that not all the prospective cross-country lettermen as constituted by the former action of the board measured up to the minimum requirements as previously outlined by the board and later arbitrarily modified by agreement within the athletic department. The board's original proposal was a five points per season scale until the above mentioned collective agreement changed the proposal to a ten point minimum for the season.

IF TUESDAY'S ERRATIC meeting accomplished anything, it was to show flaws in methods of conducting the board's business. Perhaps the major flaw is that the board has not set time to meet so that it can avoid the hasty, haphazard actions taken in the so-so-usual "quickie" sessions. Scheduling a board meeting thus far this year has been a matter of waiting for an opportunity—an "open" chapel period. (Could this be the specific reason the board had not drawn up cross-country regulations before the second month of school was past?) This board is composed of eight elected student members, two elected faculty members, and two permanent faculty members who repersent the entire student body, faculty and staff in certain athletic matters. Should not it have a somewhat uniform schedule of meeting, at a time (possibly at night) when its order of business is unimpeded by the time factor?

While the situation in regard to scheduling its meeting is paramount, other conditions hamper the smooth operation of the board. Not least among these is the contempt implied for the jurisdiction of the board by the athletic director's abrupt reversal during the course of Tuesday's meeting by withdrawing his limited recommendation agreement which amounted to a virtual slap in the face by the injunction of superior powers.



The dogmatic approach of members of the athletic department in such things as insisting on immediate meetings of the board instead of seeking to promote some orderly pattern shackle the effectiveness of the board and smack of flagrant double-dealing. This attitude, it seems, produces a situation where the board is a "push-cart" of the athletic department—used in emergency, and then only for an immediate purpose.



What would almost amount to an abrogation of the board's jurisdiction is found in the instance of arbitrary collective agreement within the athletic department modifying the board's original proposal for a standard of awarding cross-country letters. Thus changed, the board was left to smart—snubbed in a decision which was its immediate concern.

Finally, another feature ordinarily overlooked in the operation of the board is that it is a student-faculty group. In the matter of amendments to the association's by-laws, for insance, the student view on the board may or may not represent the majority opinion. When the amendment reaches the crucial test—before the Executive Council of the Faculty—the student viewpoint is too frequently left in the cold—much to the chagrin of earnest student members of the board who may have constructive opinions on athletic relations.

After Tuesday's muddle, it is evident that the Executive Board of the Athletic Association should make a change in its ways—if only to save face.

Howard Davis, (rt.) Captain-elect, and D. M. Miller, (top) Co-Captain-elect of the 1949 football squad.

Davis, Miller To Lead Scots

Howard "Hardy" Davis, three-year letterman at end, was elected captain of the 1949 Highlanders by lettermen's vote at the annual football banquet Monday night in Pearsons Hall. Another Scot flankman, D. M. Miller, was elected alternate captain for next year's season.

David L. McArthur, local department store executive, was guest speaker for the banquet. He was introduced by Dr. Thomas A. Graham, New Providence Presbyterian pastor, who presided as toastmaster.

The team and special guests feasted on baked ham, and scalloped potatoes with all the trimmings as prepared by Miss Margaret S. Ware, college dietician, and her staff.

Honaker Commends Team

Dr. Graham jovially and jokefully began the speaking turns after the meal by introducing Head Coach Lombe S. Honaker, who commended the team as "a team that has played as good football as most teams I've had, and then played as bad as any team I've ever had.

"Naturally," the Highlander coach continued, "we're just not supposed to play for two successive seasons with but one loss in regular season games and continue to do it . . . considering the type of opposition we have."

Line Coach "J.D." Davis, speaking after Coach Honaker, told the group that this was an unusual season in that six guards, five ends, and four centers lettered— revealing the fact that the line wasn't stacked up as the championship '46 and '47 predecessors.

Easter Appreciated 'Peanuts'

Expressing thanks for the cooperation and work of his "peanut" squad, Assistant Line Coach Ronald "Cotton" Easter, former Scot captain and graduating senior, gave his opinion that "we wouldn't have done nearly as well without their work."

Captain-elect Howard Davis was introduced, after the lettermen's votes were counted, by the retiring captain, Alan Rock. Alternate Captain Fred Kluth introduced his successor, D. M. Miller. Both of the new captains expressed confidence for the '49 campaign in continuing teamwork and spirit.

The coaching staff was honored by gifts of appreciation from the team, which were presented by Captain Alan Rock. Rock also presented Miss Ware a gift in behalf of the boys who were taken care of by her and the dining hall staff during the football training period.

SIXTEEN MEN DIVIDE UP SWIM EVENTS

Coach Johnson's swimmers now number 16 men who report to in which they intend to compete this season. Training includes specific workouts for these events plus general conditioning.

A swimming meet constitutes nine events, the 50 yd. free style, the 100 yd. free style, the 220 yd. free style, and the 440 yd. free style. These are followed by the 150 yd. back stroke, the 200 yd. breast stroke, diving, 400 yd. relay consisting of 100 yds. each of free style, back stroke, and breast stroke.

Men in Events

The 50 yd. free style race shows Dean Risher, Jack Moore, John Baird, and Everett Zabriskie; 100 yd. free style is swum by Curt Barnett, Reed Bell, and Everett Zabriskie, while the 220 yd. free style is taken by Russ Owen, Carmen Revello, Dick Keene, and Everett Zabriskie. Jim Frost and Carl Herring vie in the 440 yd. free style, and Don McDonald, Ed Vanderslice, and Dan Reed work the 150 yd. back stroke. Bo Henry and Bill Godwin display their talents in the 200 yd. breast stroke. Divers are Dean Risher, Jack Moore, and John Morton.

Medley relay and the 400 yd. free style relay teams will be composed of the best men in each of the other events.

PING PONG

As the Echo goes to press the standings in the Ping-Pong tournament are bogged down in the semi-finals with Ches Anderson assured of a place in the championship play-off's, while the winner of the Farmer-McCampbell match will oppose him. So far Anderson has had an easy time of it while Farmer has defeated Briggs and Sayeres. It will be a toss-up as to the winner.

Volleyball

Three teams, the Faculty YMCA, and Mars, are tied for first place in the red-hot volleyball leagues. Each of the above teams have won four games out of four, and with competition getting hotter by the game, intramural vol-

MC Basketball Begins With Carbon-Carbide Game Tuesday Evening At Eight

Varsity basketeers open the Scot 1948-49 season on Tuesday evening at eight p. m. in the Alumni Gym when they meet the independent Carbon-Carbide five from Oak Ridge. With six lettermen back on the team from last year's cage squad, Coach Lombe Honaker is looking forward to giving the Scot opponents a rugged work-out this season.

Scot starters will probably be chosen from the ranks of last season's letermen, two of whom, Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil, made all-state in playing for their high school teams. Both are two year lettermen on the Scot squad. Boring was high-score player in the Scotty quintet last season. B. R. Crisp, freshman guard from Friendsville, Tenn., is another all-state star playing his first game with the Scots this year.

Back With Team

Other cagers back on the Maryville gym floor this season are the brothers Brahams—Brick and Hap, both of whom have earned letters as members of Coach Honaker's quintets. Eugene Reynolds, forward from Alcoa, is back this year after having lettered in basketball and baseball in 1947. Charlie Reynolds is another forward Scot letterman who is back with the team.

New Material

Fifteen other promising basketeers are out for the Varsity team this season. There is some good freshman talent along with older students out for basketball for the first time at Maryville. Men out for forward include L. A. Campbell, Jack Buckley, Dave Yeaworth, Jerry Sayers, Ray Keny, and Jim Lillard; with A. J. Wilson, Galen Johnson, Charles Allen, Ed Butler, and Steve Cowan out for guard. George Houdley, Nelson Forrester, Roger Walters, Ralph Thiesse, and Jim Baird are candidates for the position of center.

C and C Record

The bout with Carbon-Carbide, which opens the season, brings back an independent group who have played the Scots before. Last year the Maryville quintet took Coach Ralph Waddell's Oak Ridgers for a spinning 60-25 loss. Coach "Suitcase" Waddell is an old Maryville graduate who captained the Scot squad in 1930.

TEAM CUT AS SCOT MATMEN GET IN SHAPE

Coach J. D. Davis shaved his wrestling squad down to thirty-two men in the first cut of the season. Here is the way the team shapes up at the present time: In the 121 pound class there are two lettermen, James Marvin and Earl Black. Paul McNeil and Robert Kees round out the 121 pounders.

The 128 pound class has one returning letterman—J. A. Cameron. Harry Caviston may also wrestle in this class. A look at the 136 pound wrestlers finds one leterman, Charley Anderson. Others planning to wrestle in this class are Bill Carroll, Jimmy Callaway, James Frain, George Robarts, Charles Gahagan, and Fred Waggoner.

The 145 pound group is headed by Captain Henry Callaway. He is backed by Kenneth Newell, Charles Maybury, Warren Banks, Tom Yeaworth, and Delbert Earisman.

Although there are no lettermen in the 155 pound group, there is still a promising aggregation. The wrestlers in this group are: Orville Wintermute, Preston Mulford, and Sidney Lambert.

Returning letterman Hershell Merriman heads the 165 pound class. Lowell Duffey, Kenneth Smith, Clarence Hager, and Ralph Willocks round out this group.

The "Heavies" have two returning lettermen, Herb Palmer and John Briggs. Robert Proffitt, and John Lewis also wrestle

26 GRIDMEN LETTER FOR 1948 SEASON

At a meeting of the Athletic Board of Control last Monday, 26 players and a manager of the 1948 Highlander football squad were voted varsity letters. The basis on which the letters were awarded are two, namely: A player must have played in at least 15 quarters during the season, and, in order to receive the letter, the player must have been recommended by the coaching staff.

Scot backfielders who received the coveted letters are James Baird, Leon Berrong, Benton Baldwin, Henry Callaway, Bill Fogerty, Hershell Merriman, and Robert Neff. Linemen lettering this year are Kenneth Andes, A. R. Archer, Harry Brahams, T. E. Boyd, Howard Davis, Ray Holsey, Richard Isenburg, Raymond Keny, Fred Kluth, Roy Kramer, Robert Larson, Allen Law, James Lester, James McKee, D. M. Miller, Bill Profitt, Alan Rock, Don Walker, Ralph Willocks, and team manager Clifford Henry.

Eggleston, Stegall Read At Final Worshop Meet

Barbara Eggleston and Carroll Stegall will read at the December 8 Writer's Workshop meeting. Miss Eggleston's critic will be Hedy Nabholz; Stegall's will be Miss Jessie K. Johnson.

Last week Evelyn Anderson read her lyric poem, "Full Moon," which was criticized by Jim Frost. Arthur Bushing read his humorous story, "Eggs is Eggs," criticized by Carroll Stegall.

This will be the final meeting of the semester and next semester's schedule will be posted.

'Are Our Schools Too Big?'

Note: This is part one of an article condensed from "Business Week".

Is Maryville becoming too large, Crowded classrooms and even more crowded bleachers have been with us for a couple of years now; are they to stay? MC is faced with the alternatives of tearing down its barns and building bigger or limiting the size of future student bodies.

Writing in "Business Week," Clarence Dykstra, University of California provost, with 25,000 on his campus, says crowded classrooms are here to stay. "These are times of transition and Mark Hopkins' ideal system of education—a professor on one end of a log and a student on the other—is as outmoded as it is uncomfortable. The day of the quiet, ivy-covered campus outside the main stream of events is a thing of the past—living only on the silver screen of Hollywood or in the rose-colored nostalgia of The Old Grad."

Dr. Dykstra continues, "Call it an 'educational factory' if you will, but the big, bustling, metropolitan university with its thousands of serious students is setting the pattern of higher education today. Most college and university administrators know these things. . . .

'Crowded' He Says!

"American colleges and universities are almost literally bursting at the seams. The pre-war high of 1,500,000 students has now become 2,100,000—with increases in individual institutions ranging from ten to 500 per cent Student housing is woefully inadequate; classrooms and laboratory space are at a premium; and the struggle to find good professors is almost as keen as competition for winning football coaches.

"To meet these changing conditions, new techniques must be devised. The old formulas won't work any more and college and university administrators might just as well get used to the fact that crowded college are here to stay. . . .All institutions, whether they be educational, religious, industrial, social, or political, yield slowly to new demands of the times.

"The problem of education is, therefore, a determination of what to do and when, what to save of the old and what to accept of the new.

"To create the new-model college student, who wil perform to the credit of himself and his nation, we are going to have to find satisfactory answers to these vexing questions: 1. Who shall go to college? 2. What are the techniques for handling large groups of students? 3. Where shall we get more classrooms and housing facilities? 4. How are we going to maintain large and competent faculties? 5. Which courses and curricula shall be offered to prepare American youth for a future which includes both the United Nations and the atom bomb?

More, Not Less

"Let's turn to the second question which today faces university educators: What are we going to do about large numbers of students? The answer is easy. America needs more, not less, education, and we welcome this army of youngsters. . . . The problem lies not in numbers, but in devising ways to handle skillfully mass education on the college level.

"As university enrollments go up, the opportunity for personal contact between students and professors—which so often flowers into discussion, encouragement and inspiration—begins to diminish rapidly. Large state universities ,such as California, have had pre-war experience with large numbers of students and know pretty well how to handle them efficiently.

"One aid to resolving the dilemna of large numbers is early, expert and frequent counseling of the individual student. When he finds the right niche, both the student and society as a whole will benefit. American business has discovered that scientific cataloguing of skills and personality traits is valuable to production efficiency. Higher education is learning that psychologists and vocational guidance experts can prevent students from wasting time on professions and careers for which they have little aptitude.

Trained Faculties

"However, we can't cope effectively with problems of large numbers of students unless we have adequate classrooms and laboratories, plus highly trained faculties. Both are important if we are to fit colleges and universities into the high-speed, close-knit civilization of 1948 America. Where will they come from?

"All across the nation state legislatures and private donors have provided funds for new campus buildings. But this generous stream must continue to flow until all needs are taken care of. Many institutions face the same building problems as the University of California: costs have doubled and tripled: materials and labor are scarce; equipment is hard to get.

"In addition to classrooms and laboratories, there is real need for adequate student housing on America's campuses where young people often are living in trailers, tents, and sometimes even sleeping in their automobiles. It is estimated that 350,000 prospective students did not enroll last year because they could find no place to live."

Movie Projector Bought For Small Classroom Use

A Devry sound-movie projector bought by the Psychology and Sociology Departments was added to their equipment on Wednesday, November 26. Before this date instructors and professors in the fields of physcology, education, history, and sociology had to use the projector in the chemistry lecture classroom in Fayerweather. The new projector can be adapted for use in either a small or large classroom. A screen has been ordered to be used with it.

Mr. Peterson, agent for the Devry Company in Nashville, instructed Dr. David Briggs, Mrs. A. F. Pieper and Mrs. D. S. Kramer in the use of the machine.

Religion In The News

By Dick Newman

Going Over

Archbishop Athenagoras, Greek Orthodox Chief in North and South America, is the newly-elected head of the whole Orthodox Church. He plans to leave soon for Istanbul to begin the tremendous job of ruling the world's 130 million Orthodox Christians.

International religious circles wondered mainly what Athenagoras' attitude toward the Russians would be. Said the new Ecumenial Patriarch, "I will do anything I can as a spiritual leader to help build world peace."

Going Back

Britain's Very Rev. Hewlitt Johnson, Dean of Canturbury, is about to complete his six-week speaking tour of the U. S. Refused admission when sponsored by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, he is now sponsored by an independent group of prominent American educators and clergymen. Known as the "Red Dean" for his open sympathy toward Russian Communism, Dr. Johnson hasn't created the stir both extreme leftists and rightists hoped he would.

Not Even Coming

Frederick Schweitzer was ready to call out the Un-Presbyterian Activities Committee. President of Bloomfield College and Seminary, he advertised for a professor "committed to the American system as against Communism or Socialism."

Sample reproof came from secretary of Harvard's psych department: "It has long been a canon of academic freedom that a man's political opinions had no bearing on his ability to obtain and hold an academic appointment. I think it is even more basically a principle of our American democracy that every citizen should enjoy freedom of speech and freedom of thought."

Going Up

Protestants raised eyebrows last week at the Roman Catholic hint to make St. Mary's physical assumption, official Roman dogma. Loyal Catholics have accepted it for centuries anyway, but by using his power of infallibility (defined in 1870) Pope Pius XII is predicted to put it on the books next April 2, the 50th anniversary of his ordination.

Protestant objection: no scriptural or historical authority. RC contention: "Don't you think Jesus would have wanted it that way?"

Students, Faculty See Oak Ridge 'Indians'

Nineteen students and professors will travel to Oak Ridge this afternoon to see the Community Playhouse production of "Ten Little Indians." The group includes the cast of the Athenian-Bainonian presentation of the same play. They are returning a visit made by the Oak Ridge cast.

Those making the trip are: Miss Katherine Davies, Dr. Ralph Case, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bushing, Jim Black, Milly Miller, Joe Poland, Bill Starr, Betty Rock, Alberta Ahler, Jimmy Dance, Charles Williams, Carroll Stegall, Marjorie Prall, Bill Nish, Wallie Moore, Ann Jenkins, Ben Paxton, and Ann Gates.

Alpha Sigma Names McMillan Sweetheart

Society Names Georgia Theta In Second Year Honoring Sister Group

Alpha Sigma members named Jane McMillan their 1948-1949 Sweetheart at last Saturday evening's election. Miss McMillan is a sophomore education major from Acworth, worth, Ga., and was a May Day sponsor last semester.

She is vice president of Spanish Club, was a Nu Gamma leader in YWCA this fall, and has been a cheerleader for the last two seasons.

The society nominated candidates for Sweetheart at their November 20 meeting; the election meeting was December 4.

Last year's Sweetheart, Alice Davenport, was the first member of Alpha Sigma's sister organization, Theta Epsilon, to be so honored in what is to be an annual affair.

Unlike last year's selection, which was made by the faculty, nomination and election was by members of Alpha Sigma.

Tau Kappa Chi Members Appear In Public Recital

Members of Tau Kappa Chi will present a public recital Monday, December 13 at 6:45 p. m in the Y Rooms.

Tau Kappa Chi is composed of upper-class women who are studying applied music and who have maintained honor roll standing for at least two semesters. Women members of the music faculty are honorary members of the society.

Grace Ellen Cross will open the program playing the "Allegro con brio" from Haydn's "Sonata in D Major." Patricia Cox will sing "Scene et Air des Bijoux" from Gounod's "Faust." She will be accompanied by Alice Archibald. Jane Martenis, accompanied by Thelma Nelson, will sing two songs by Schumann, "Volkslied-chen" and "Du bist wie eine Blume." "Variations" by Schubert will be played as a piano duet by Peggy and Janet Cummings. "O bona patria" from "Hora Novissima" by Parker will be sung by Peggy Wakefield accompanied by Mary Fowler. Juanita Johnson will play "Lotus Land" by Scott. "Snowdrops" by Prokofieff will be sung by Ruth Ramsey accompanied by Dorothy Vawter. Louise Lloyd will conclude the program by playing "Miniatures" by Turina including "The Marketplace," "The Village is Asleep," and "The Fiesta."

Janet Cummings and Mary Fowler are appearing as guests on the program.

ADULT BEGINNERS PLAY IN RECITAL TUESDAY P. M.

Adult beginners of the music department will hold a recital in the Y rooms at 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 14. The program for the recital is as follows: "Valse Triste" by Sibelius-Thompson, Dorothea Friedrick; "The Butterfly" by Wright, Wilbur Selander; "H.M.S. Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan-Thompson, Kennedy Garrison; "On Green Lake" by Thompson, Martha Jean Hallowell; "Sonatina" (op. 36 no. 2 from Allegretto) by Clementi, Charles Duckett; "Song of the Lark" by Tschaikowsky, Judy Breen; and "Pomp and Pagentry," Rosalba Pascal.

Santa Claus Visits All-Campus Party Tonight At Eight

Tonight the all-campus Christmas party will be held in Intramural Gymnasium at 8. The party is under sponsorship of the Social Committee, of which Roger Cowan is chairman.

The gym will be transformed into a large living room with a fireplace, Christmas tree, sofa, and chairs. Appearing first on the stage Jane McMillan, dressed as a child, will read "The Night Before Christmas" after which she will fall asleep and dream the following events:

Santa Claus, Bob Holley, will arrive drawn in a sleigh by eight reindeers, Ann Higdon, Hedy Nabholz, Marny Mauger, Anne Gates, Betty Carroll, Mary Lyerly, Sally Kemp, Marilyn Edge, who are singing "Jingle Bells." Following Santa, special songs will be sung by the audience.

Four children, Rod Le Van, Wally Moore, Louise Masters, and Margaret Newland appear from behind the Christmas tree. Called out by Santa Claus each child will give a recitation.

The dream is ended with a reading by Jim Black. After the program refreshments of punch and cookies will be served.

JC Prexy Bagwell Cites Townsend For Sportsmanship

MBS Broadcasts Speech Here From Pearsons Hall

Paul B. Bagwell, National Junior Chamber of Commerce president, spoke over a Mutual network hook-up from the Maryville Jaycee annual football sportsmanship award dinner last Tuesday night in Pearsons Hall. Bagwell presented the sportsmanship award to Townsend High School.

John W. Proffitt, president of the local JCC, presided over a crowd of 300. The invocation was given by Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd. Following the dinner, John McKinney of Memphis, president of the Tennessee State Jaycees, introduced Bagwell.

Bagwell's speech concerned the philosophy and program of the JCC. He is a member of the faculty of Michigan State College in Lansing, and is connected with the public relations department of the Ford Motor Company.

Coach, Captain

The Sportsmanship Award was presented by Bagwell to Townsend High School for exhibiting the highest degree of sportsmanship during the football season. There to receive the bronze statue were the coach and captain of the Townsend football team.

Previous to the presentation, H. W. Chaddick, local vice president, spoke of the history of the Sportsmanship Award. A point system is the determining basis of the award, and the school is picked from those in this county.

Representation

Members of the local Kiwanis and Lions Clubs and the Alcoa Rotary Club were present as were Junior Chamber of Commerce representatives from Knoxville, Johnson City, Oak Ridge, and other cities in this part of the state.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is an international organization and has units in forty-two countries. It is made up of business and professional men under the age of 36, and corresponds in interest and function to the Senior Chamber of Commerce.

Vols Set Reconsecration Candle-Light Service

Christmas reconsecration services will be held in the final meeting of Student Volunteers for this year. The meeting is set for 8 p. m. Sunday in Bartlett Hall following the Christmas reading by Dr. Hunter.

A candle-light program is planned for the ceremony, which will recognize those who have made a decision for full-time service or of other personal importance during the semester. A cross, hung with evergreen, will be in the center of the auditorium, which will be decorated in Christmas tradition.

Fred Waring's Glee Club Christmas Carols will furnish background music, and the group will sing carols and share Christmas fun over refreshments after the program. The program is to all students.

MADRIGAL SINGERS PLAN OLD ENGLISH CHRISTMAS DINNER

Maryville College madrigal group, patterned after the 16th Century French carol singers, will carry out a 16th century theme at their dinner in the Y rooms on Thursday night, December 16. Mr. Harry Harter directs the group.

Thirteen singers and their guests will be seated along one side of a long narrow table in front of the fire. The table will be decorated with pines and cedars and tall red tapers. The menu includes rabbit, old English salad, hot punch, and English pudding.

After dinner, the group will join in singing old Madrigals in the traditional style around the table.

The group has invited Mrs. Harry Harter, Mrs. Sam Broyles, Dorothy Horne, and Katherine Davies to be their guests.

Knox Increases Chapel Campaign Fund by $5180

Knoxville Campaign Committee for the Maryville College Chapel reported $5180 of the $60,000 goal at the first report meeting. The final report will be made on December 16.

The executive committee consists of 11 men, with John H. Murrian as chairman and Richard W. Riggins as vice-chairman.

The solicitation committee is divided into two divisions under Max Houston and Will H. Cain, with approximately eighty committee members.

THIRTEEN CRADUATING SENIORS RECIEVE RECOGNITION THURSDAY

EIGHT DEBATERS TRAVEL TO BOONE FOR TOURNAMENT

Eight students participated in the Appalachian Teachers College Forensic Tournament at Boone, North Carolina, December 10 and 11.

Carol Corbett and Roger Cowan entered the extemporaneous and oratory contests. Those who took part in the debate rounds were Judy Breen, Elenor Kramer, Eric Meadows, Carl Lindsey, Stuart Saul, and Jim Torrey. The national debate question for this year is "Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a policy of equalizing opportunities in tax-supported schools by means of annual grants."

The purpose of the tournament was "to raise the plane of speech activities, to stimulate interest in current national and international affairs and to cultivate good relations between the participating schools."

Accompanied by Dr. Verton Queener, the group left Thursday afternoon and will return late this evening.

Group Awarded Diplomas at May Graduation Service

Thirteen seniors will complete graduation requirements at the end of the fall semester and will be recognized in a special chapel service Thursday morning, December 16.

Order of the recognition service is as follows: announcements by Dean Edwin R. Hunter; opening hymn; scripture by Dean Frank D. McClelland; anthem by the Vesper Choir; a general statement and short biographical sketches of the seniors by Dr. Lloyd; prayer by Dean Hunter; anthem by the choir; and closing hymn by the student body.

The official graduation date of the thirteen seniors is December 22, the closing day of the semester. The graduates will be counted as members of the class of 1949 and will not receive diplomas until next spring. All graduating seniors are eligible to participate in the regular exercises May 18 if they so wish.

Graduates

Seniors graduating at the end of the fall semester are: Irma Jean Benedict, physchology major from Weedsport, N. Y.; Bobbie Burris, home economics major from Tellico Plains, Tenn.; Ronald Easter, chemistry major from Loudon, Tenn.

HUNTER READS 'CAROL' AT 7 SUNDAY NIGHT

Dr. E. R. Hunter will read Dickens' "Christmas Carol" Sunday evening at 7 o'clock before the fire place in Pearsons dining hall.

Dr. Hunter's presentation of a Christmas reading is a traditional pre-holiday event.

Students are requested by the Y's to take blankets as they will be seated on the floor. The Y's are co-sponsors of this yearly program.

Bainonian, Theta See Pope's Christmas Play

An original play by Marian Pope will be presented at a joint meeting of Bainonian and Theta Epsilon societies this evening at 6:15 in Bartlett Hall. The program, which will also include speranged by Bainonian Iota, Ann Jenkins, chairman.

Oratorio Given In Alumni Gym; Harter Directs For Second Season

Maryville College's "Messiah" Chorus will sing Handel's famed oratorio in the Alumni Gymnasium Sunday, December 12, at 3 p. m. for its 16th annual presentation on the Hill. For the second year, Harry H. Harter will direct the chorus and orchestra. Garnet Manges will be the pianist and Katherine Davies, organist. Dorothy Horne is concert mistress.

Students selected as soloists are Mary Holly Webb, Lois Doebler, Dora Evalyn Smith, and Peggy Wakefield, sopranos; Jane Martenis and Gloria Measemer, altos; Conrad Eaddy and Herbert Keene, tenors; Dick Ribble and Harold Hunter, basses.

Chorus Numbers 250

The chorus is composed of approximately 250 voice. Members of the Vesper Choir, Girls' Choir, Men's Glee Club, and selected students and townspeople will participate. The orchestra is made up of 35 pieces and has been practicing under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes.

This year for the second time the performance of this well-known oratorio will be given in the Alumni Gymnasium. As last year, the selection of numbers to be presented has been shortened because of poor seating conditions.

Tradition

Annual presentation of George Handel's "Messiah" began in 1933 under the direction of Frances Henry. Directors following her were Ralph Colbert from 1936 to 1941 and Richard Vine in 1942 and from 1944 to 1946. Phillip Jones directed in 1943.

It is also traditional for the women of the chorus to wear all white and for the men to wear dark suits and white shirts.

The electric Wurlitzer organ was loaned to the college by Clark Brothers Piano Company of Knoxville.

Radio station WGAP will broadcast the entire program as they did last year.

Girls' Dorms Nominate New WSGA Officers

WSGA elections will be held on Wednesday, December 15, in all girls' dormitories. At that time, the women will elect vice house chairmen, secretary-treasurers, fire captains, and floor chairmen.

The nominees for Pearsons Hall are as follows: vice chairman, Andy Anderson and Ruth Rogers; secretary-treasurer, Betty Crawford and Delores Green; fire captain, Ruth Heaps and Zan Emery; second floor chairman, Clara Miller and Doris Vinton; third floor chairman, Mary Mills and Ruth Ramsey; fourth floor chairman, Ann Gates and Sarah Durant.

Baldwin Hall

Baldwin's nominees are, vice house chairman, Pinky Ahler and Polly Onifer; secretary-treasurer, Mary Lyerly and Jane Williams; fire chairman, Barbara Blum and Ann Jenkins; first floor chairman, Libby Dunn and Mary Jo Richardson; second floor chairman, Beryel Stewart and Peggy Kettles; third floor chairman, Barbara McNeil and Margaret Ann Brown.

The nominees for Memorial Hall are vice house chairman, Bonnie Stephens and Lena McGaha; secretary-treasurer, Enna Lou Booth and Janet Whiting; fire captain, Joy Hayes and Marianna Brogden; first floor chairman, Cora Anthony and Dorothy Johnson; second floor chairman, Dorothy Downey and Mary Fowler; third floor chairman, Mary James and Lloyd Cornelius.

Workshop Members Vote On Selections For 1948 'Chips'

Five selections from this semester's Writers' Workshop were voted upon for the spring publication of "Chips," the Workshop annual publication. Three short stories, "Eggs is Eggs," by Arthur Bushing, "Auction Sale," by Marian Pope, and "It Was in the Papers," by Martha Cecil Hull were chosen. Two poetry selections were made: "'A Corner of a Foreign Field. . .'" by Marian McBride and "A Bum States His Case," "Sky Flame," and "Love's Souvenir," by Craig Fisher.

At the last meeting of the year on December 8, Barbara Eggleston read a short story concerning a new angel and his lost halo. It was criticized by Hedy Nabholz. Carroll Stegall read "The Substitute," a short story dealing with football and was criticized by Jessie Johnson. The order of next year's assignments was posted.

Lloyd, McClelland Discuss College Association Meet

President Ralph W. Lloyd and Dean of Students Frank D. McClelland reported in Chapel last Thursday morning on the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Dr. Lloyd also attended a number of alumni meetings and the biennial meeting of the Federal Council of Churches during the week of November 28-December 5.

Speaking with Dr. Lloyd in last Thursday's chapel about their trips, Dean McClelland mentioned the Southern Govenor's Compact, an agreement concerning segregation of white and colored students in the South. Plans as he outlined them include developing certain educational centers for advanced and graduate work for both white and colored students in separate institutions.

Lloyd Travels

Dr. Lloyd addressed audiences in Humboldt, Tenn., on November 28 and 29, and spoke on the World Council of Churches, the Presbyterian World Alliance, and the situation in China and India.

While in Cincinnati later in the week ,he attended the Federal Council of Churches assembly and the reorganizational meeting of the Ohio Valley alumni group. Next on his schedule was Louisville, Ky., alumni dinner.

Pi Gamma Sings Carols At Christmas Party

Pi Gamma plans its annual Christmas party for Wednesday, December 22, at 7 p. m. in the Y rooms. The program, under the direction of Mary Watt, will include the singing of Christmas carols.

Final preparations are to be made at a committee meeting after next Thursday's chapel service, president Ann Parris announced.

Echo Forum—

To The Editor, Highland Echo:

During the past semester, there has been something lacking in reverence and prayerfulness during the meal-time asking of grace which has been the custom at Maryville. Of course, we do come into the diningroom in high spirits and somewhat riotously, which is all good—no one would want to change the fun and friendliness of mealtime. However, when only a few moments are spent in the blessing which gives such short recognition and thanks to the Lord who has done so much for us, isn't it possible for us to bow quietly and humbly for only that moment? Surely we can at least avoid snickering and whispering, stealing our hands toward the serving spoon to make first grab for the food, and pulling out the chair before the "Amen" is spoken.

Further, could it not be arranged so that the bell could wait until all have entered the dining room, before it is rung? It is understandable that those who work in the dining room and kitchen want to get it over with as soon as possible, and so would like to speed all the procedures. But when half the student body is still choked up at door, standing in the aisles and thinking only of getting to their chairs as fast as possible, it completely destroys their chance to feel any spirit of prayerfulness. During the entire semester, not a few times but positively every time, fewer than twenty or thirty of those sitting at the tables in the rear have reached them, when the bell is rung. Here again, certainly only half a minute or a minute more would not be wasted if it gave a chance for these people, and all the others as well, to pause reverently before our Giver of every gift, in prayerful thanks.

Sincerely,
Carroll Stegall.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Stegall voices the opinion of many and his suggestions might well be a start toward the Council goal of better dining hall conduct.)

Student Council

Student Council committee to study the Sunday attire of Maryville students made its report at the weekly meeting of Council Wednesday night. They paid particular attention to the dress, noise and manners at meals. The committee recommended the possible institution of a formal dinner once each month and the re-institution of dressing for Thursday night dinner.

Roger Cowan made a report for the Social Board stating the duties of the Board and naming the members of the Social Committee and the sub-committee.

John Poland, acting president in the absence of president Jim Black, stated that representatives from the Student body of Hiwassee were to visit the campus this week to meet with the Maryville Student Council to study the make-up of Council and the Social Board. Jim Black is also planning to attend a meeting at Lees-McRae Junior College in North Carolina to discuss the MC Council.

In connection with the Social Board report, the matrons' statement to the Board was given to Council. Their expression was that since the beginning of social dancing, discipline problems had decreased.

No Town Nite violations were reported.

Miss...givings

Christmas——the time when every girl wants her past forgotten and her present remembered. (And just in case you've forgotten, there are only 11 more shopping days.)

One of the fellows here at the college who drives a taxi for a local company tells of an experience which he had this week. In the course of conversation with a passenger, his northern accent was remarked upon. "Are you from the north?" the lady asked. "Yes," he replied. About that time, the little boy piped up from the back seat "Oh, do you know Santa Claus?"

Quite a few remarks have been made about the somewhat "thin" tree in Baldwin parlor. After one such critical remark was made, Rosemary Gambill came forth with the defending statement that there was absolutely nothing wrong with the tree that a few branches couldn't fix.

You've all heard about the local Scotch prof who convinced his bairns that Christmas was on December 28 so he could take advantage of the after-Christmas sale down at Eagle's five and dime.

Christmas shoppers were amused to see Phyl Jackson standing in front of Santa Claus down at Sterchi's with admiration and awe written all over her face. They wondered how naive college kids can be!

Seems as if the seniors have recovered from special studies. The latest report in regard to them has come from Mrs. Swenson, who tells us that there is a shelf in the library with all the special studies on it. In case you are interested, the only book on that shelf is "Blood, Sweat, and Tears," by Winston Churchill.

In this space I was supposed to write a verse
To take the place of a corney pun;
But try as I may to rack my brain,
I cannot think of one.

One more homely, everyday article has yielded to the modern vogue for style and color, and as a result another national college fad appears to be in the making. The common white work glove, which has remained unchanged in appearance for generations, can now be had in a range of nine brilliant colors. You can buy them in matched pairs, you can mix them to match your school colors, or you can exchange left hands with a boy friend or girl friend and the two of you have corresponding mixed pairs of 'Date Mates' or 'Love Gloves.'

Speaking of hands, we are reminded of another incident from our English history class. According to Dr. Queener, girls in the days of Charles II carried muffs to keep their hands warm, and in these muffs they carried daggers to defend themselves. Girls today have found other ways to keep their hands warm, and with the present attire, no place could be found to conceal such a weapon, he concluded.

Libby King had a hard time finding room on her table for the bountiful fare on which local Jay-cee-ers dined the other night.

"Having trouble," queried one of the men.

"A little," blushed Libby. "You see our tables weren't built for dinners like this."

"Oh?" said the man, "I thought these were left-overs."

"No," replied Libby, resignedly, "but they will be tomorrow."

This week's narrowest escape was made by Dr. Williams during a biology class. When he turned around to wash his hands at the sink, the back of his lab coat caught fire from a Bunsen burner.

Hiwassee Delegation Secures Details of MC Student Government

Thirteen representatives of Hiwassee College were at MC Thursday, December 9, to study the organization of campus student government. They were accompanied by Dean of Students Floyd.

The constitutions and set-up of the Student Body, Student Council, MSO, WSGA, and Senate were discussed at a forum meeting. During the afternoon the delegation toured campus and visited the Student Center.

Hiwassee has no form of Student government or center at present. They have only smaller organizations and a more simplified program.

Fue Installed Tonight As Athenian President

Athenians will meet tonight at 6:15 in Dr. Orr's Anderson classrom to install officers for next semester. Webster Fue will replace Bill Houdeshel as president.

Other new Athenian officers are, vice-president, Jim Lester; secretary, Walt English; treasurer, Jim McKee; program chairman, Jimmy Dance.

"If Men Played Cards As Women Do" is the title of program chairman John Shew's comedy skit. Players in it are Bill Starr, Fred Sieber, Larry Thompson, and Bill McIlvaine.

Maintenance Crew Starts Campus Improvements

Maintenance workers under the supervision of E. C. Brown are making campus-wide improvements. The final fire escape at Baldwin Hall was erected last week. Since then a general clean-up of the campus and college woods is being done by "Brownie" and his crew.

Shrubbery is being thinned and moved to places where it is needed. Among the more noticeable areas in which new shrubs have been placed are in front of Pearsons and at the music annex. During the Christmas holidays more will be planted.

All buildings will be cleaned during the holidays and necessary repairs will be made.

Disc Club Listens To Christmas Music

Disc Club will meet December 16 at 6:45 p.m. in Bartlett Hall. The Christmas program will consist of Fred Waring's "Night Before Christmas," a new record, "Why the Chimes Rang," and other selections of Christmas music. The entire program will be by candle light and there will be no commentator.

Sports Echoes

●THEY'RE OFF! With a dash of dribbles and leaps at the basket, the '48-'49 Scottie cagers took the floor with Carbon-Carbide, three-year-openers for Highland cage seasons. While Tuesday's 63-40 victory is unimpressive in itself, it is significant to look over the three-year record with Carbon-Carbide. When the special studies seniors were sophomores, Maryville took 53-30 and 45-40 games over this independent Oak Ridge team. The closer score is the away game. Last year the record went 68-25 and 64-36, again the closer score is the away game. This all leads us to this: the mean margin of victory in the five above games is 25 points, and tonight in the sixth meeting, at Oak Ridge, the score will be closer than Tuesday night.'s. Simple, huh?

●SEASONED TALENT will again spearhead the Maryville basketball team this year. Captain Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil, entering their third year as Scottie guards, are two Friendsville friends that grew up with a basketball in their heads and hands. Brick Brahams, with his six-foot-four inch frame, begins his last year at center. With comparative newcomers Gene Reynolds and Jack Buckley, both leaders of intramural teams before coming out for varsity, the team has more experienced men. Then there's Charlie Roberts, Hap Brahams, B. R. Crisp, and Raymond Keny to augment the returning player stockpile. Yep, looks like a good year in ahead for Coach Lombe Honaker's basketball forces.

●ACTIVITY AROUND the wrestling room these days is just "no idle chatter." For wrestling mentor "J. D. Davis is usually doing all the chattering—giving a wrestler a hint or helpful criticism—to methodically make wrestlers out of what seems to be a very promising group of athletes. Except for the heavy-weights, (the heaviest man on the mat is still shy of 180 pounds) the squad is well proportioned in each of the other seven weight classes.

●COMPETITION IN the wrestling world will be of the rugged variety, in the main, for our Scot grapplers when the season opens next January. To mention Auburn, Georgia Tech, Arkansas State, and the Southern Invitational Tourney within one season, you've got enough of southern wrestling power to really count. And what's even more than pleasing is the fact that five out of a seven match season will be on the Alumni mat—just one activity card and a bleacher seat away.

●GATHERED 'ROUND & ABOUT: Fred Kluth, Maryville's co-captain at tackle this year, made Sewanee's all-opponent team. . . . (but the Tigermen forgot to name Hampden-Sydney's Lynn Chewing, a back who made Associated Press' first string "Little All-American") . . .Sewanee's student paper, "The Sewanee Purple," headlined their Cross-Country team thusly: "Cross-Country Team Defeats TPI to End Successful Season". . . (Sewanee won by a 22-39 score—wonder how our Scot Harriers would have come out if TPI had accepted Maryville's challenge?). . . . without Moffett & Poteet, Coach "Frosty" Holt's Carson-Newman cagers had trouble in edging out Carbon-Carbide last week, 55-52. . . . Justa Guess: Western Carolina's Wednesday night game will be one of the best of the early season games. Agree? Then come see.

SCOTS OPEN WITH 60-43 WIN OVER C-C

Coach Honaker's Highlander Hoopsters out-classed Oak Ridge's Carbon-Carbide five all the way for a 63-40 victory in the opening game of the 1948-'49 season in Alumni Gym Tuesday evening. A crowd of approximately 500 watched the game.

In the opening minutes, Scotties had trouble hitting the rim and muffed their first chance to score as forward Jack Buckley missed a lay-up shot. Guard Hugh Hamil's two foul shots, both good, was the first scoring of the game.

After a sluggish first period, the MC five took definite command to accumulate a 30-14 lead at half-time.

Starting at guards for Maryville were Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil, for their third year of Scot basketball. Brick Brahams started at center, and Gene Reynolds and Jack Buckley began as forwards.

Before the half, Coach Honaker placed a reserve combination of Charlie Roberts and Raymond Keny, guards; Ralph Thiesse, center; and Hap Brahams and B. R. Crisp, forwards on the floor against Coach Ralph Wadell's independent five.

Captain Bob Boring, elected by basketball lettermen to lead the Scot quint recently, gave the Scots an early margin with long set shots. Boring also topped the scoring department for the night.

'BEE BOYS' DOWN CAMPUS FIVE IN PRELIMINARY GAME

Preceding the opening varsity basketball game of the season, the "Bee Boys" went a round with a campus independent team to a 37-23 outcome for the Bee Boys.

Campus Independents got the drop on the Bee Boys, but the scrappy squad directed by '47-'48 captain Ray Lillard surged ahead to down the odd-lot players. George Handley led the Bee Boys on the back-board, while King starred by the independents.

The Line-ups:

Bee Boys	Pos.	Independents
Campbell (4)	F	King (6)
Johnson (6)	F	Yeaworth (5)
Walters (5)	C	McNeill (4)
Handley (10)	G	Shields

MC TANKMEN HAVE 4 MEETS SCHEDULED

Maryville's 1949 swimming team under Coach J. P. Johnson is well into the preliminary practice in preparation for four scheduled meets next semester. The University of Tennessee and Vanderbilt University will be the tank opponents of the season with alternate return meets scheduled between the challenging teams.

Rigid Training Course

Preparation for the Scot tank competition consists in an eight lap warm-up fololwed by instruction and practice in specific events. All events have been asigned except for the free style relay and the medley relay which wil be composed of the best men in the other swimming events.

The schedule as it stands to date:

Jan. 22—Univ. of Tenn. There
Feb. 5—Univ. of Tenn. Here
Feb. 12—Vanderbilt Nashville
Feb. 26—Vanderbilt Here

Footballers Dine At Whittle Springs

Maryville's football squad, coaches, trainers, and managers attended the third annual banquet given by the business and professional men of Maryville at Whittle Springs Hotel in Knoxville Tuesday evening. Highest point in the program was provided when miniature gold footballs were presented to Harold Henry, Bill Proffitt, Alan Rock, and Fred Kluth, the four members of the Scot squad who are to graduate this spring.

Dr. Lloyd, and Dean F. D. McClelland were guests at the banquet which is held for the college football squad and all senior lettermen and coaches of the county and Maryville-Alcoa High Schools. Speakers for the occasion were Dr. Lloyd, Coach Lombe Honaker, and Coach "J. D." Davis who introduced the Scot team. Toastmaster was Mr. A. M. Brinkley Jr., President of the Bank of Maryville. Mr. Joe Gamble and Mr. Dick Goddard of Maryville were in charge of the banquet which is carried on under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club.

An interesting sidelight was given by Mr. K. E. Steinmetz, who contrasted the 1906 squad, of which he was manager, with the 1948 Highlanders. Talks also were made by Coaches Billy Bevis and Hank Foldberg of the University of Tennessee. Hank Foldberg was All-American end for West Point, and is at present playing for the Brooklyn Dodgers. Moving pictures were shown of the 1948 UT-Carolina football game.

FARMER CAPTURES CROWN IN I-M PING-PONG TOURNEY

CAROLINA 5 INVADES WED.

Next Wednesday night in the Alumni Gym, the season's first intercollegiate basketball game wil lbe played with Western North Carolina as the opponent five. Game time is eight, but the preliminary will open at seven o'clock with a "B" game with Everett High School.

Carolina's Catamounts, under the tutelage of basketball coach J. P. McDonald, lost twice to Maryvile's cage five last year. Both games were close, each resulting in a narrow six point margin for the Scotties. The first was a 45-39 outcome and the second a 59-53 decision.

Most of the Cat quintet is back playing for WNC this year, and Coach McDonald's hoopsters may be expecte d to put on a lively show.

Starters for the Scots will probably be Brick Brahams and Eugene Reynolds at forwards, Captan Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil at guards, and Charles Roberts at cetner.

Tonight the Scottie five play Carbon-Carbide in Oak Ridge. Two additions to the '48-'49 Scot Cage schedule were announced by Coach L. S. Honaker this week. The first is a January 12 game with Gulf Refiners, local independent team; the second is a return game with King College on January 21.

Matmen Schedule 7 Meets For 1949 Wrestling Season

Maryville College Wrestlers will tangle in seven matches and enter the Southern Invitational Tournament at Atlanta during coming mat season.

According to the schedule released by wrestling coach "J.D." Davis recently, the MC squad will open with Knoxville's YMCA wrestlers in Alumni Gym on January 15, 1949.

Arkansas State, strong mid-western wrestling team, will engage the Scot grapplers on the home mat January 22. Other powers in the southeastern wrestling loop who will bring grappling teams to Maryville in the coming season are Georgia Tech, University of Chattanooga, and Auburn.

In the Southern Invitational Tourney, the MC wrestlers will vie with many of the regular season opponents. Auburn's wrestlers dominated the tourney last year, and Maryville and Chattanooga came second.

The schedule:

French Club Names Officers, Members For Next Semester

French Club elected new officers and members at the final meeting of the semester Thursday, December 9, in the Y Rooms. The officers are Anne Childress, president; Margaret Hennemuth, vice-president; Ray Kirby, secretary; Mary Mills, treasurer; Natalie Hart and Charles Williams, program chairmen.

Six new members were elected at the same time. Their names are being withheld until next semester when formal invitations will be extended to them.

The club decided to send a box of food and clothing to a French family near Grenoble, France. This box will be prepared and sent at the opening of next semester.

At the close of the business meeting, Violet Sommerville, retiring president, spoke briefly. A program of Christmas carols followed, and refreshments were served.

Maryville Debaters Break Record In Appalachian Forensic Tourney

Scots Place First In Eight of Twelve Events As Cowan Takes Top Honors

Maryville's varsity debate team took top honors at the ninth Annual Appalachian Mountain Forensic Tournament last week with Roger Cowan top individual scorer. Appalachian State Teachers College sponsored the event December 10 and 11 in Boone, North Carolina. Tournament chairman H. G. Jones has credited MC with a better record than any college has had in the history of the tourney.

Debate plans include participation in a tournament at Sewanee on January 7 and 8. This will include eight rounds of debate for both men and women. MC debaters will be Elenor Kramer, Katie Carpenter, Bill Shields, and Erasmus Fowler.

Eight Firsts

Of the 12 contests entered at Boone, N. C., MC debaters took first place in eight. Cowan led with four first-place citations and two second-place awards. Jones described Cowan as "one of the best speakers ever to participate in the annual event."

Cowan's Record

Cowan placed first in men's orations and extemporaneous, after-dinner, and impromptu speaking. He was second in the other contests he entered—poetry reading and radio address.

Maryville debater Eric Meadows tied for first place in men's debate championship, and Stuart Saul placed third. Carl Lindsay ranked fifth in debating.

In the women's division Carol Corbett took first place in after-dinner speaking and first by forfeit in women's oratory. She was third in women's extemporaneous.

Queener Coach

Other members along on this trip which gave Maryville one of the best records in the history of the tourney were Elenor Kramer and Jim Torrey. Dr. Verton Queener is varsity debate coach.

East Tennessee State College and Lenoir Rhyne College placed second and third in total championships. Most of the other schools participating were senior colleges.

Women's Dorms Elect Officers For Next Term

At balloting in women's dormitories Monday afternoon, officers of WSGA were elected for the coming semester. Those persons elected from Pearsons were vice-chairman of the house, Ruth Rogers; secretary-treasurer, Betty Crawford; fire captain, Ruth Heaps; second floor chairman, Clara Miller; third floor chairman, Ruth Ramsey; and fourth floor chairman, Ann Gates.

Baldwin Hall elected Pinky Ahler as vice-chairman; Mary Lyerly, secretary-treasurer, and Barbara Blum, fire captain. Floor chairmen of Baldwin are first floor, Mary Jo Richardson; second floor, Beryl Stewart; third floor, Margaret Anne Brown.

Bonnie Stephens was elected vice-chairman of Memorial Hall, with Emma Lou Booth and Marianna Brogden as secretary-treasurer and fire captain. Floor chairmen are: first, Cora Anthony; second, Dorothy Downey; third, Mary James.

COUNCIL PRESIDENT HELPS LEES-McRAE ORGNIZE STUDENTS

Jim Black, president of Student Council, visited Lees-McRae Junior College in Banner Elk, N. C., Tuesday and Wednesday, December 8 and 9 for the purpose of helping organize a student government there.

Tuesday night a forum was held at which Black gave the students an idea of student government operation at Maryville. Formation of a Christian council concerning YMCA and YWCA activities and the drafting of a constitution were discussed at the forum.

Wednesday morning Black spoke at the chapel service on the topic "Challenge for Youth for Today."

Orphans, Mission Children See Christmas Pageant

"Everywhere Christmas," a pageant of Christmas around the world, was presented for the children of Home Avenue Mission and the orphanage last Saturday afternoon. The script was written and directed by the members of the religious drama and pageantry class. The cast included college students and the children of several of the veterans living on campus.

Beginning with Sweden, the children saw glimpses of Holland, Germany, France, and Mexico.

Following the pageant, the children were treated to candy canes, apples, nuts, cookies, and chewing gum. This Christmas treat was provided through the contributions of students to the boxes in the dormitories.

California Educator Asks-- 'Are Our Schools Growing Too Large?'

Note: This is part two of an article condsensed from "Business Week."

In the ECHO for December 4 California's Dr. Dykstra listed statistics showing just how crowded our colleges and universities are. To meet the problems, the provost declared, new techniques must be devised.

The problems he discussed were the number of students, the lack of personal contact between students and faculty, the shortage of highly trained faculties, the woes of sky-rocketing costs. Here he continues with a discussion of further student-school relationships.

"This situation is more than just a housing problem. Many of our larger universities are charged with being 'street car colleges.' Students live at home, commute to school via the subway, bus, or private jallopy, eat lunch from a paper sack as they study; return home immediately after classes are over. This provides little time for enjoying the cultural and intellectual riches with which every college and university abounds. Such an institution as the famous 'bull session' is sometimes fully as important as a regular class. In my opinion, colleges and universities need more club houses and places where students and faculty can meet.

"Likewise, the problem of maintaining the large and competent staffs necessary to efficient operation is one that has proved to be a headache to college presidents during the past couple of years—one that will continue for many more. . .

"Good young Ph.D.'s are scarce, partly because we failed to train any during 1941-45 (one of our costliest wartime mistakes) and partly because those with degrees are finding jobs elsewhere. With a greater need than ever before colleges and universities are up against stiff competition from government, business, and industry.

"The efforts of the National Education Association to increase the salaries of all teachers, including those on the upper levels, is already beginning to be effective. In time these salaries may be raised to a respectable level.

"And finally, what to teach on the college and university level? That, perhaps, requires the gravest decision of all, for it will have a profound effect on the political, economic, and social atmosphere in which America will develop. What sort of an education do we want our leaders of tomorrow to have? Do we want them to absorb the distilled wisdom of recorded history? Do we want them to become skilled technical and social mechanics to keep our high-speed civilization running more efficiently?

"We have thought too much, perhaps, of the college as the hand-maiden of the professional and graduate school. We have played down general education in favor of fields of concentration.

"The piling up of facts, however, may be scientific but it is not education. We need both for we have a heritage of culture to transmoit as well as a world to explore. This point of view does not call for a moratorium on science. It asks only that scientific advance and invention shall not dominate the educational system and that time and attention be given to men in society, past, present, and future.

"Colleges and universities, I am happy to say, are coming more and more to place emphasis on the social, economic and human values of living. And students approve.

"The curricula of higher education are being overhauled to train students to live as well as to make a living. . .—knowing the world as it ought to be as

Classes Begin Jan. 12; Dorms Open Day Earlier

Official opening day for the spring semester is Wednesday, January 12. Dormitories will open at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

First class meetings will be Wednesday, and cuts during the first two days will be penalized and treated as holiday cuts.

Bills may be paid any time during the Christmas holidays. With the exception of Christmas week, the treasurer's office will be open throughout the vacation. Bills may be paid until Friday, January 14, after which late payment fees will be added.

Bookstore will open at 9 a. m. Wednesday morning.

MC Book Store, Library Announce Closing Dates

MC bookstore will close Wednesday, December 22 at 5 p. m. All books that are rented are to be returned before that time. To avoid the long line, students may return books following each exam.

Lamar library will be open until Wednesday afternoon. Books dated after December 8 will not be due until after the Christmas vacation.

Christmas Chimes Played From Anderson Tower

Records of Christmas chimes are being played each evening from an amplifier in the tower of Anderson Hall. Bill McIlvaine is in charge of the playing which is under the sponsorship of the Social Board. They are played on weekdays from 5:30 to 6:30 p. m.

Choirs, Quartettes, Madrigals Participate In Traditional Christmas Vesper Service

'Grooms' Course' Gives Formal Dinner Monday

"Grooms' course" students prepared and served a five-course formal dinner in the home economics department last Monday evening. The dinner was the final project in this three-hour course for men in which they study the nutritional value of foods, problems of the family budget, social etiquette, and the care and choice of clothing. The entire meal was prepared by the men who also made the place cards, decorations, cover placements, and silver arrangements. Waitresses from home economics classes served the meal.

YM-YW RADIO PROGRAM PRESENTS CHRISTMAS PLAY

"Lights On," a religious drama related to Christmas, will be presented by the YM-YW over station WGAP at 2:45 p. m. Sunday afternoon. This is the final broadcast of the semester.

FRED HOPE FUND TOTALS $911.60

On Tuesday, December 14, only $258.35 had been paid on the second installment of the Fred Hope Fund pledges. This amount leaves a total of $252.40 outstanding if the complete amount of $582 due on the second pay date is to be met.

The total Fred Hope pledge was $1746 and was to have been paid in three payments of $582 each. The November 18-20 payment period was completed with everyone paid in full to that date.

Total cash payments to December 14 were $911.60.

FUTURE TEACHERS HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY DEC. 10

Future Teachers Association held a Christmas party in Theta Hall Friday, December 10. The entertainment included carol singing and games.

All juniors and seniors who are interested in teaching may join the group.

HOSPITAL TREATS FIVE AS SEMESTER ENDS

Five patients were treated at the hospital during the week of December 10 to 16 inclusive. Those treated were Jane McCullough, ear ache; Lavinia Rodiguez, cold; Marian Pope, cold; Paul McNeil, back injury; and Stanley Smathers, flu.

THETA INSTALLS PRESIDENT TONIGHT

Theta Epsilon will install Virginia Gress as president tonight at 6:30 in the Y rooms. Ada Shay will be installed as vice-president, and Mary Mitchell Woolridge and Betty Emory will officially become secretary and treasurer. The newly-elected sergeant-at-arms is Lynn Willis, and Beverly More and Marilyn Edge are program chairmen.

The program will be a formal candlelight service.

Date Set For Art Exhibit Deadline

December 22 has been designated the last day to turn in entry blanks for the All-Campus Art Exhibit, scheduled for the first of next semester. Entries themselves may be turned in through the end of this semester and during the first week of next semester.

The Art Department calls attention to the fact that enrollment in an art class is not required; this exhibit is intended to display the work of all those who are interested in art but have no other opportunity to have their work presented to the public.

Students Charter Special Buses For Washington

Special student buses will leave Maryville on Tuesday, December 21, and Wednesday, December 22, for Washington, D. C. Final plans are as yet incomplete, but buses are scheduled to leave from the old chapel site at 12 noon.

Those who have not yet purchased tickets have been asked to do so as soon as possible at the White Star terminal in Maryville. The buses will go only to Washington, but it is possible to make bus and train connections from there.

War Department Assigns McIlvaine To Germany

Bill McIlvaine, sophomore sociology major from Bentleyville, Pennsylvania, has made plans to go to Germany next semester. He will be with the War Department and will work with the German people through audio-visual aids.

McIlvaine is accompanying a former chaplain from Virginia, who served with him in Germany during the war. The assignment is to last a year and is concerned with the settlement of War Department claims. They will work in the farming communities.

German Club Elects Morrison President

German Club elected John Morrison president for the coming semester at the final meeting of the year last Monday, December 13. Other officers for the spring term include Ronald Fleming, vice-president, and Grady Carroll, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Lloyd Delivers Message At Program In Alumni Gym

Sunday, December 19, at 7 p. m. the combined Maryville College choirs, string quartette, brass quartette, and madrigal singers will present the traditional Christmas Vesper Service in the Alumni Gym. Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will give the invocation and will also give a meditation entitled "It Is Christmas, 1948."

A Christmas Carol medley by the string quartette will open the service. Following this will be "Silent Night" done by male voices and "Christmas Chorales" by Bach, done by the brass quartette.

First on the program is a selection of numbers by the All Girls Choir under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes. They are "Slumber Song of the Madonna," Michael Head, "While Shepherds Watched," John Holler, "In Bethlehem's Lowly Manger," Williams, and "Carol of the Bells," a Ukrainian Carol.

Log Story

The story of the Yule Log will be presented by the madrigal singers. Their numbers include: "I Hear Along Our Street," a French Carol; "The Beautiful Snow," by William Deihl; "The Red Bird in a Green Tree," by Roy Harris; "Patapan," a Burgundian Carol.

Vesper Choir, directed by Harry H. Harter will sing "O Magnum Mysterium," De Victoria; "All Breathing Life," Bach; "Tennessee Cherry Tree Carol," arranged by Gaul; "The Three Kings," Willan; "The Shepherd's Story," Dickinson.

The congregation will join the choirs in singing several traditional Christmas carols.

National YMCA Program Heard Tomorrow At 8:30

National YMCA Christmas program will be heard over a Mutual network hook-up through local station WGAP Sunday evening, December 19, at 8:30 p. m.

"Christmas Is For Children," the play to be presented, follows the theme of the program, "Children in a Needy World." Starring in the production are Walter Abel and Margo.

Pakistan Teacher Talks In Tuesday Chapel

Seniors Write 101 Special Studies; Library Catalogues Manuscripts

By Dick Newman

With the last paper handed in and the last note card burned, MC seniors finished the first complete set of special studies in the history of Maryville College by midnight December 1. Altogether, 101 research papers were turned in to Mrs. William Swenson who will edit the reports.

The special studies include critical analyses, biographies, and histories; many have diagrams, charts, and pictures which supplement the written material. Only about eight percent were handwritten. The lengths were from 20 to 191 pages, the average about 60.

Special studies manuscripts must be approved by the faculty supervisor, the editor, and the chairman of the faculty committee on special studies. It was announced that papers can be handed back by the editor for corrections.

The papers will remain in the library for three years catalogued as books for regular use. After three years, the best will be selected and kept as permanent library volumes.

Broken down by departments, the papers turned in included physical education, 7; Bible, 3; biology, 15; sociology, 8; history, 4; home economics, 8; education, 6; English, 21; economics, 2; business administration, 3.

Music, 3; philosophy, 2; dramatic arts, 2; French, 2; mathematics, 2; psychology, 5; German, 1; Spanish, 1; political science, 2; physics, 1; and Latin, 1.

Some of the titles were: "The Dialect of the Southern Highlands," "American Philosophies of the Nineteenth Century," "Abraham Lincoln as a Literary Subject," "The Rise, Nature and Extent of Anti-Semitism in the United States," "Color: Its Use and Effect in the Home," "Chaucer's Realistic Method as Demonstrated by the Canterbury Pilgrims,"

"The Origin and Development of the English Congregational Hymn to the Close of the Eighteenth Century," "Mark Twain's Humor," "Minor Political Parties and Their Influence."

It is advised by the faculty that students preparing for special studies check the library to determine whether there will be enough material before deciding on a subject. The library is prepared to provide reference material for most topics.

1949 Coming Up

Another year about to begin, and MC waiting for its arrival. This past year has seen quite a few changes on the Hill—MSO, dancing, Student Center, Special Studies. 1949 will undoubtedly see just as many more.

We've all been making firm resolutions each year to study harder, spred ourselves less thinly, take time to just enjoy being here—but as yet, we've done little about them. For some of us it begins a last chance.

It's a completely new year. We've done nothing yet to regret later. Let's keep it that way, and make it a year worth remembering.

Student Council

Student Council's final meeting of the semester was scheduled for 1 p. m. this afternoon, to pass on the last section of the constitution and to take action on the proposed new methods of election.

The article on committees was to be voted upon this afternoon, so that the constitution will be ready for approval by the student body at the beginning of next semester.

Under the new voting system, nominations would be by petition, for the offices of Student Council president, vice president, and Social Board chairman.

Not Just At Christmas

MC's spirit of Christmas has once again manifested itself. Some ten days ago, small boxes were placed in all dorms for the collection of money for the annual Christmas treat for the children of the orphanage and Home Avenue Mission. Bills for a more than generous treat were paid for from the results, showing that the Hill wants everyone to have a chance to receive on Christmas.

But Maryville has been giving all the time, not just because it's the holiday season. The students are known for their sincere generosity for all worthy causes. Here one can find the "better-to-give-than-receive" attitude at any time.

For two weeks, musical programs have heralded the approach of the yuletide. Much time and work have gone into these programs, but no one begrudged doing that others might have enjoyment.

It's become traditional that Maryville students give of themselves and their property. As another year begins, the tradition continues through those who remain on the Hill.

Miss...givings

Someone borrowed the panels from Herbert Hoover's door and soon after there was an announcement on the Carnegie bulletin board—"Will whoever took my panels please return them." It seems that Herbert needed the panels just a bit more than whoever took them.

Debatable Question

Appalachian College's faculty women must have been surprised when they discovered their suitmates for the night were Carl Lindsey, Stewart Saul, Jim Torry and Eric Meadows. Eric couldn't understand why the boys were moved to the cold gym for the second night but after thinking it over, he did remember that one of the women seemed a little flustrated.

Charles Krueger, junior of University City, Missouri, will be married to Miss Marchie Brooks of University City on January 7, 1949.

The wedding will be solemnized in the sanctuary of the Sutter Avenue Presbyterian Church, University City. The couple will reside at the Kiger home next semester while Krueger continues his studies at the college.

Talk of The Week

BY DONALD REEVES

incidentally, Christmas—week will see a better than average run of films at the Capitol Theatre. Monday and Tuesday Tyrone Power and Anne Baxter will play in "Luck of the Irish," which is supposed to be a quite good vehicle for their respective talents. Wednesday and Thursday will find Deanna Durbin and Dick Haymes "Up in Central Park." Originally a smash-hit Broadway musical comedy, "Up in Central Park" makes an excellent Technicolor movie, embellished with the various attractions of Dick Haymes and Deanna Durbin, who also sing. A firecracker-less Christmas can be partly remedied by attending Friday-Saturday's Roy Rogers' super-shootemup, this week entitled "Under California Stars." Rogers, you recall, recently married Dale Evans, his leading lady, to the chagrin of Trigger. Features, news, shorts, probably a special Christmas cartoon on Friday and Saturday.

Less than a week remains in which to drape a sprig of holly over your tonsils and get in on some of the best Christmas music ever heard at MC. Dormitory rooms have been ringing with the radioed strains of "Here Comes Santy Claus" an d"Santa Claus Is Comin' to Town" for nearly a month, but the last two weeks of this semester have turned out to be weeks of intense concentration on Christmas music. Last Saturday night's All-Campus party featured a selection of carols made by Bob Holley, who planned the excellent YM-YW Christmas service two weeks ago. Little groups of revellers, and even big groups clustered around Dr. Hunter in the darkened dining hall to hear him read Dickens' "Christmas Carol," join in caroling with a great deal of enthusiasm and occasionally the right words for the second verse yet!

Musical Christmas approached a grand climax with the December 12 rendition of Handel's "Messiah" by one of the largest groups of voices yet to present this great oratorio at Maryville. George Frederick Handel dashed his masterpiece off in a few days, which is why the change smade down through the ages were necessary; but MCers heard it in its most popular form last Sunday afternoon in the Alumni Gym.

Last but not least of musical treats will be Christmas vespers tomorrow night, featuring the voices of the choirs and the madrigal singers in an all-carol service.

ABC Votes X-County Awards; Elects Basketball Manager

By Herbert McCallum

The Athletic Board of Control, governing body of the Maryville College Athletic Association, met Thursday at 1 p. m. to award letters to five cross-countrymen, hear a report on proposed amendments to the Association's by-laws, and discuss other current athletic matters.

Principal points of Thursday's meeting included:

(1) a report from Coach L. S. Honaker, director of athletics, that the executive council of the faculty had approved amendments proposed by the board changing requirements for track, wrestling, cross-country, and manager's letters, which will be presented to the Association for ratification early next semestr;

(2) a vote by the board, which was carried, to letter five cross-countrymen of the past season who had met the requirements outlined in the proposed amendments and received the director of athletics' recommendation;

(3) discussion of the advisability of voting, subject to the recommendation of the director of athletics, that a sixth member of the cross-country team who had met four-fifths of the projected requirements be given an e letter;

(4) a decision of the vice-president, Brick Brahams (acting in the absence of president Bob Boring), to refer the matter of cooperation with the pep committee to the president for appointment of a person or committee to help formulate standards for awarding letters to cheerleaders;

(5) a vote of the board, which was carried, to elect Leon Berrong basketball manager for the coming season upon the recommendation of the director of athletics and following his testimony that last year's basketball manager was not interested in serving again this year;

(6) a suggestion by one of the elected faculty members, Miss Jessie Heron, that board should have better continuity of leadership by changing the term of office of some representatives to a two-year period instead of the present one-year tenure;

(7) a decision of the vice-president to refer to the president the appointment of a person to arrange for the use of a public address system at basketball, swimming, and wrestling events;

(8) a suggested proposal by the vice-president that The Highland Echo give the board more publicity in an effort to stimulate student interest in the purposes of the board.

Association vice-president Brick Brahams told the board that copies of the Association's by-laws, complete with the four proposed amendments, would be distributed to all board members early next semester. He indicated that the new amendments would be submitted to the Association, which includes the entire student body and faculty, for ratification as soon as they may be printed in Echo in the coming semester.

On the question of voting to award a sixth member of the cross-country team, the board's opinion was divided, and, although the first five who had met the complete requirements were voted letters, the sixth letter was not voted on by the board.

The following men were voted cross-country letters by the board subsequent to the recommendation of the director of athletics: Del Earisman, Charles Mabry, Paul Kidder, Bill Menges, and Bob Kay. Ten points is the minimum requirement for a cross-countryman to letter, according to the present proposed amendments.

Vice-president Brahams reported that the pep committee and the Athletic Board of Control will work together in formulating standards for awarding cheerleader's letters.

The board plans, pending the appointment of a competent person to operate the equipment, to put in use a public address system at indoor athletic events. The system to be employed, which was reported purchased jointly through athletic and general college funds, is in operation five nights a week during dancing hours in the Intramural Gymnasium and in certain of Mrs. V. M. Queener's education classes.

Members of the board who were present at the meeting included Brick Brahams, Barbara Betholf, Coach K. P. Johnson, Hershell Merriman, Mae Merriweather, Sara Kemp, Miss Jessie Heron, and Coach L. S. Honaker, ex-officio. Absent members included Alan Rock, Bob Boring, Jim Lillard, and Dr. F. D. McClelland.

Tumblers Ready To 'Call It A Day'

Maryville's tumblers are about ready to suspend activity for this semester. The balance-and-twist boys have been seen this year at football games and the Mardi Gras, and may show up for one basketball game.

Individual practice will still go on until vacation. Next semester the bunch will meet again to prepare for regular exhibition work.

Individuals Carry On

Of the tumblers, Bob Kees and Ken Smith are now out for wrestling. Branin Boyd and Ric Rogers are working together on back flips and back handsprings. Others who have displayed their agility this year include George Day, Walt English, Tom Kees and Russ Peters.

There has been some discussion about performances for local Boy Scouts and local schools, but all exhibitions will probably carry over until next semester.

I-M BASKETBALL SLATED TO COMMENCE JANUARY 17

Intramural basketball play will begin January 17, head intramural manager Fred Richardette announced this week.

A definite schedule of play has not been drawn up to date due to wrinkles in scheduling gym time with varsity and point system teams.

Although only three teams had entered official eligibility lists last Monday, the intramural manager expected more to sign-up by today, the deadline for intramural basketball team eligibility lists.

Volleyball Championship Mars Take Intermural

The victorious Mars, undefeated in season volleyball play, took their closest contenders, the Y team, and defeated Faculty to gain the intramural volleyball championship.

Mars and Y were tied seven-all in games as the season entered its final week on Monday. Taking Y in the biggest of the two games on Monday, the Mars men eased by Faculty on Wednesday to close the intramural season.

Final Volleyball Standings:

Team	W.	L.	Team	W.	L.
Mars	9	0	Minist'ls.	4	5
Y	8	1	8-Balls	3	6
Faculty	6	3	Frosh	3	6

Emory, McSween Top Point System Girls

Zan Emery, Ruth McSween, Betty Jo Clemens, and Alberta Gates led the field in individual points in girls' point system this semester according to official listings released this week by Mrs. V. M. Queener.

With 303 points, Miss Emery is five points higher than her nearest rival, Miss McSween, who has 298 points.

Miss Clemens and Miss Gates are tied for third place in semester points with 293 points each.

OAK RIDGE 5 GOES DOWN AGAIN, 67-50

The Scot invasion of Oak Ridge last Saturday evening netted Coach Honaker's Hoopsters another win over the independents by a 67-50 talley. Coach Wadell's five lost their first game here when the Scot quintet upset them by a comfortable 60-43.

This second Carbon-Carbide clash was marked by much better team work among the Scots, especially during the second half of the game when the hoopsters came through with 38 of their 67 points.

Brick Brahams and Hugh Hamil vied for high score—Brick with 16 points and Hamil trailing by one wth 15. Five foul shots were made and eight fouls were called against the Scots.

The starting line-up was Reynolds and Buckley at forward, Hamil and Boring at guard, and Brick Brahams at center.

Intramural Award System Clarified At Meet

Intramural system for awarding of emblems was clarified by Coach K. P. Johnson at the intramural managers' meeting last Tuesday. Intramural emblems are awarded each spring to the men who amass the greatest number of points during the year in intramural sports.

Points may be earned in any of the following ways:

1. Three points will be awarded players on intramural teams, whether touch football, volleyball, basketball, etc., each time their team wins a game. In case of a tie, two points will be awarded.

2. The players on a losing team will be given one point apiece.

3. Winners of tournaments such as table tennis and foul shooting will be awarded three points; the runner-up two points.

The eight players with the highest number of points at the end of the year will be awarded emblems. Teams which finish first in league play will be rewarded with ribbons.

SCOTTIE 'B' SQUAD SINKS EVERETT, 47-31, IN PRELIM

The Scotties' "B" squad downed Everett High 47-31 Wednesday night in a preliminary contest. Led by Campbell, Baird, and Handley, the "Bee Boys" took command early in the first period and coasted through to an easy win.

Maryville's defensive play showed to good advantage as Everett's Bulldogs were held to three field goals in the first half. Campbell was high man for the night with 13 points while Reneau took the scoring honors for Everett with two field goals and six fouls.

The line-ups:

Everett	Pos.	Mayrville
Reneau (10)	F.	Handley (9)
Upton (2)	F.	Lillard (4)
Love (5)	C.	Baird (7)
Gibson (6)	G.	Campbell (13)

Cagers, Matmen, Mermen To Fore In '49 Opening

Rapid is the word to describe the round of events which Highlander cagemen, tankmen, and matmen will enter during the first two weeks of the new semester in '49.

Basketball practice will resume immediately after New Year's with the first game, at Hiwassee, on January 8. On the opening day of school, Wednesday, the Scot cagers challenge the local Gulf Refiners' team and then play a return engagement with Hiwaassee in Alumni Gym January 15.

Tonight the Scot Cagers face an independent five of the Sweetwater VFW at the Alumni Gym. Game time is eight o'clock.

After playing at the University of Chattanoga on January 20, the Scot quint will play a third home game, with Tusculum, on Saturday of the second week of school.

Coach "J. D." Davis announced this week that the wrestling team will begin workouts immediately upon the opening of school on January 12. The first match of the season is slated for January 18 on the home mat, and the Scot grapplers will have a two match schedule in the second week of school with Arkansas State scheduled to arrive January 22.

Scot mermen will begin intensified training when school reopens in preparation for a January 22 meet with UT, there.

SCOT CAGERS TOP CATS, 45-41

Maryville's Scot quints tallied by 45-41 over Western North Carolina's Catamounts in the Alumni Gym Wednesday evening.

McGinn and Pressley of the WNC squad scored first, but a few seconds later Hamil came through with the first marker for the Highlanders.

At half time the Maryville Scotties led by a comfortable 28-18.

High scorers for the evening on the Scot side were Brick Brahams with 14 points, followed by Hugh Hamil and Bob Boring with seven and six respectively.

On the WNC side McGinn scored four field goals and two free throws, putting him at the top of his squad for the evening. Personal fouls by the Scots resulted in a slight lead early in the first quarter for WNC. Total fouls were 17 on Maryville and 13 on WNC.

A Happy Holiday Season To You All

Voices, Masks, Shadows. .

possible by more adequate equipment than MC had, the Oak Ridge performance was a disappointment to those of the audience who had previously seen it done at Maryville High School. Malcolm Miller, who acts as drama critic for a Knoxville paper, found it a "vivid, exciting presentation of . . . . (a) rather obvious mystery drama." It is unfortunate that Miller did not witness the earlier production, and also that he must be so unfar- with Mrs. Christie's original novel and play. This columnist agrees with Miller that the set and lighting were exceptional, but the characterization left, certainly, something to be desired; Director Robert L. Tedder did succeed in giving his play that Hollywood touch, if that was what he wanted.

The excellent setting was backed by a well conceived seascape lighted so that twilight fell very convincingly. The modern interior was set off by sectional furniture, with an antique liquor cabinet made from an old stove base and a plywood box, while the Indians on the mantel were tape-wrapped paper tubing. They disappeared very neatly through holes cut in the top of the mantel—unfortunately they disappeared when no one could possibly have manipulated them.

Mrs. Helen Boden as "Vera Claythorne" wore gowns from Town and Country Shops—and the audience saw quite a lot of the backs of all of them, especially as she served the coffee. Robert Orr shouted his way through the part of "General Mackenzie," and Jack Curts sulked through "Dr. Armstrong." Pearl Goldberg played "Emily Brent" like Zazu Pitts, while lover "Philip Lombard," acted by Rusell McCauley, treated "Vera" like a hot potato with the black plague.

Liquor and profanity were left in for the Oak Ridge show, but a number of meaty lines, especially those explaining just how the murders were committed and why, were chunked completely. One last question: it must have been mystifying to Miller and the others who were unfamiliar with the play when the "General" suddenly turned up with a knife in his back, but the audience remembered, no one going near him. It's perfectly simple—no one did go near him and no one could possibly have stabbed him —except an Indian knife thrower.

SHELVED

Lamar Memorial Library wishes its users a Merrie Christmas with its last bulletin boards of the semester. Third dimensional Christmas shoppers and an angelic choirboy advertise good Christmas reading. The books displayed include the annual "Christmas," volume 18, the latest which contains the Christmas story according to St. Luke and St. Matthew, a charming short story entitled "To Grandfather's House" illustrated by Lee Mero, and several of the most beautiful photographs and pictures yet to appear in "Christmas."

If you're going to have time over the Christmas holidays for some more extra-curricular reading, try these from the library's latest book list: Louis Bisch's "Why Be Shy?" (the author's last book was entitled "Be Glad You're Neurotic"!), the 8 volume Cambridge History of the British Empire, the Portable Plato, Nathan Holman's "Winning Basketball," and Dorothy Kirkland's "Practical Workout for the School Theatre." For a preview of next year's May Day music, glance through "A Treasury of Stephen Foster," which contains a number of lovely but not very well known melodies by the master of Southern song.

SAID

I'd like to give a hearty back-pat to the fellows and gals who did such an excellent job of decorating the dorms for Christmas. Not even Santa Claus had a finer bunch of helpers when it comes to lovely Christmas trees, candles, chimes, and the works. May I take this opportunity to thank all you good readers for getting this far down this column, and to wish each and every MCer a supremely happy Christmas and bright New Year. May all your mistletoes be amply inhabitated! Merry Christmas!

"In the last analysis, money spent on education is not an expenditure at all but the soundest kind of an investment. It is an investment in the minds and hearts of our sons and daughters, who will be taking over our jobs all too soon. In these critical times, when peace and prosperity rest on shaky foundations, a high standard of mass education is the cheapest sort of insurance policy. . . .

Theta-Alpha Sig Selects Greene's 'Papa Is All'

Parts Try-Outs Set Monday In Bartlett

"Papa Is All," a three-act comedy-drama by Patterson Greene, was selected this week as the Alpha-Theta Epsilon play for this semester. Try-outs for the six parts will be held Monday evening at 7:15 in Bartlett Hall by Mrs. Lenore Courtney, who is to direct the play for the societies.

"Papa Is All" is the story of a Pennsylvania Dutch mother, daughter, and son who rebel against a tyrannical father.

Characters

The character leads are Mama and Papa Aukamp, elderly Mennonite couple who manage a farm in Pensylvania. Papa Aukamp also manages everybody's lives, including those of his son and daughter, Jake and Emma. Jake, mechanically minded, would like to improve and modernize the farm with machinery, but Papa thinks that would be "worldly." Emma is in love with a surveyor who wants to marry her, but Papa opposes this and keeps his children in strict isolation.

Mama, a wistful but resigned woman, realizes in a dim way that her husband is misusing the Mennonite tradition for purposes of his own; she comes to know that he resists Emma and Jake's efforts to make their way into the broader activities of the world chiefly because he'd have to hire workers for the farm if they should leave. Mama, too, would like the friendship and neighborly companionship that she's missing through Papa's too-strict interpretation of the Mennonite religion.

Revolt Brings Climax

Emma precipitates the climax by running off to the movies in Lancaster with her surveyor. Papa anounces his wrath and his intention of shooting the fellow on sight; his exit from the stage brandishing his gun starts the action that drives "Papa Is All" dramatically to its conclusion.

The original Broadway production, in 1942, featured such popular stars as Celeste Holm in the role of Emma, Carl Benton Reid and Jeessie Royce Landis played Mama and Papa Aukamp, and Emma Rogers was Jake.

The cast also includes a worldly neighbor, Mrs. Yoder, and a state trooper named Brendle.

Bob Holley will assist Mrs. Courtney in directing the play.

A copy of the play will be available at the library circulation desk for reading Monday.

Dr. Queener Writes Item For Historical Society

Dr. Verton Queener has written an article on "East Tennessee Sentiment and the Secession Movement, November, 1860—June, 1861," in the 1948 East Tennessee Historical Society's Publication. Published annually, it is the oldest historical magazine in Tennessee.

President of the society in 1933 and editorial associate during 1941 and 1943, Dr. Queener has written several articles for this publication. At the present time he is a member of the Executive Committee.

The publication may be read in the magazine alcove of Lamar Library.

Athenian Society Concert Features Spike Jones

Athenian's new meeting time—6:30 on Saturdays—will go into effect this evening. Spike Jones will be presentd in a disc concert recital with his musical group, the "City Slickers."

Carroll Stegall will comment on Jonesiana, while Charles Williams is to act as disc jockey for the program.

January 29 will be the date of an all-society meeting at which Athenian will fill in the missing letters between A B C.

English Staffer On Leave Studies At Columbia

Assistant Professor Jessie Johnson, of the English department, who is on sabbatical leave, is taking advanced study beyond her master's degree at Columbia University.

Miss Johnson graduated from Maryville, and in 1930 received her M.A. at Columbia. She is doing further work in the field of American literature.

In her absence Mrs. Elizabeth Newberry is teaching Miss Johnson's courses in the English department.

Madrigal Singers Prepare Spring Musical Program

Working this semester on choral chamber music, the Madrigal Singers are preparing for a spring musical program.

Their name remains the same, but as is shown by their work this semester, the Madrigal Singers do not always use Madrigal music from the 16th and 17th centuries.

The choral ensemble for this semester are as follows: sopranos, Ruth Ramsey, Evalyn Smith, Peggy Wakefield, and Mrs. Bernice Blair; altos, Gloria Measamer, Katie Carpenter, and Jane Martenis; tenors, Jim Akin, Sam Broyles, Herbert Keene, and Conrad Eaddy; and basses, Bill Delhi, Bill Houdeshel, Charles Huffman, and Curtis Hughes.

The choral chamber music is a cycle of 18 short songs by Brahms and is accompanied by two pianos, which are played by Professor Katherine Davies and Dorothy Vawter.

Rev. H. C. Rogers Speaks In Chapel January 27

Rev. Henry Carter Rogers, guest speaker in chapel on January 27 will use as his subject "Man's First Disaster," the story of the fall of man. For the past five years Mr. Rogers has been pastor of Mount Auburn Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Information for club stories should be turned in to The Echo office in Thaw no later than Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m. If facts will not be available until later, arrangments should be made with the editor.

Dr. Hunter Makes Special Studies Chapel Report

"Sufficient time has lapsed since December 1, to speak a few words concerning special studies to everyone in the college family," said Dr. E. R. Hunter in chapel Thursday.

One hundred and two seniors celebrated the completion of their two semesters' work last month. Twenty-six students are now in the midst of special studies research, and 166 juniors began preparations this week. The total is equal to one-third of the college group.

"Special studies are good because they give the student a period of time to be thoroughly lost in the forest of knowledge and then gain a sense of acknowledgement through self-discovery."

"Many students lack enthusiasm and question the possibilities of special studies, but neither does everyone enjoy castor oil or a visit to the dentist," Dean Hunter pointed out.

He gave Princeton University and Wooster College in Ohio as examples of special studies programs. And, in comparison with Maryville, these schools spend much more time on their individual study curriculum.

IRC Sponsors Subscription Sale

Special Rates Set For 'Time-Life' Group

IRC will sponsor sales of subscriptions to "Life," "Time," and "Fortune" magazines at special student rates starting Monday, January 24. Faculty members are granted the same rates for subscriptions for a year or more.

Orders will be taken in Thaw Hall lobby after first, second, and third periods, and in the lobby of Pearsons Hall after the noon and evening meals. No orders will be taken after the noon meal, Saturday, January 29.

Subscription Rates

Rates for "Time" are four months—$1.70, eight months—$3.33, 12 months—$5.00; "Life," one year—$4.75, two years $9.50, three years—$13; and "Fortune," three months—$2.55, four months—$3.40, five months—$4.25; six months—$5.10, seven months—$5.95, eight months—$6.80; twelve months—$7.50.

Remaining issues of magazines after school closes will be mailed home if subscriber sends a notice of change of address to the publishers four weeks before the end of the semester.

These may be either new or renewal subscriptions.

Inter-Club Council Publishes Bulletin

What, When, Where, an announcement bulletin sponsored by Inter-Club Council, began Friday, January 14. The sheet is an experiment for one month to see what value printed announcements have. With the publication of this mimeographed bulletin, announcements in chapel have been curtailed.

Appearing on Wednesdays, the paper lists time, place, and event of activities occurring between Wednesday and Saturday noon. Its deadline for copy is Tuesday morning after chapel; this material is collected in the box in the Student Center.

Distribution methods have not been definitely decided. At present copies may be secured in dormitory lobbies and the Student Center. They are posted on all bulletin boards.

Sophs Nominate Lyerly, Cummings For Chilhowean

Chilhowean editor for 1950 will be elected by the sophomore class on Thursday, January 27, from nominees Mary Lyerly and Janet Cummings. Student Council elections committee will conduct the balloting.

An English major from Brooksville, Florida, Miss Lyerly was editor of her high school yearbook, managing editor of her high school paper in her senior year and has been on the staff of The Highland Echo for two years.

Miss Cummings, a pre-med student from Maryville, was page editor on her school newspaper and was a member of the staff of her high school yearbook.

The purpose of early voting is so that the editor-to-be will have an opportunity to go over the proofs and other details of the 1949 book, and thus become familiar with the technical work involved.

She will become a member of the 1949 staff as soon as elected.

YM-YW COMBINE TOMORROW FOR MUSICAL PROGRAM

YMCA and YWCA will combine tomorrow afternoon for a musical program in the amphitheater at 1:30. The program is being prepared by YW.

Whelan Appointed Managing Editor

Donald Whelan, sophomore English major from Homewood, Alabama, has been appointed to fill the vacancy of managing editor of The Highland Echo following the resignation of Ruth Ramsey.

Whelan will act as managing editor for the remainder of the semester. He has been a member of the staff for three semesters.

Before coming to Maryville he worked for two years in the city circulation department of the Scripps-Howard Birmingham Post.

Debaters Journey To State Tourney

Team Fails To Place In Sewanee Race

Maryville College team will take part in the Tennessee State debate tournament next February 17 and 18.

Eight members of the team, the maximum number allowed to enter the contests, will make the trip to Nashville's David Lipscomb College, host for the debates.

Federal aid to education is the question the debaters will tackle. There are to be six rounds of debates in two days.

A ten-minute speech followed by a five-minute rebuttal is required from each participant. Teams must be prepared to debate on both sides of the issue.

Other events included in the tournament are extemporaneous speeches, impromptu speaking, original oratory, and peace oratory.

Cowan, Miss Corbett Orators

The Maryville squad will divide into four teams for debates. Men's teams include Roger Cowan and Eric Meadows, and James Torrey and Lewis Evans. Cowan will represent his school in oratory.

Dorothy Stater and Katie Carpenter, and Judy Breen and Carol Corbett are on the women's teams from Maryville. Miss Corbett will also take part in oratory.

Debate coach Verton Queener will accompany the varsity team.

In extemporaneous speeches a topic is picked an hour before the ten-minute speech is made. Contestants in impromptu speaking make a short talk based on an editorial given to them ten minutes before speaking time.

Sewanee, Vandy, USC

During the Christmas holidays Dr. Queener and four varsity debaters from the varsity team went to the University of the South at Sewanee. Sophomores Eric Meadows, Erasmus Fowler, and Elenor Kramer and senior Katie Carpenter were along on the trip.

Debating teams from Vanderbilt, the University of South Carolina, Sewanee, and other schools, the MC team did not place.

Camera Club Conducts Membership Campaign

Camera Club is now conducting a campaign among MC students to enlist new members in the club. Membership in the club entitles the person to the use of the Camera Club dark room and the equipment belonging to the club including a contact printer and an enlarger.

Several lectures of interest by members of the fine arts faculty have been planned as well as instructions in the correct method of taking, developing, and printing pictures.

The next meeting of the club will be Thursday, January 27, at 6:45 p. m. in the chemistry lecture room in Fayerweather.

Music, Drama, Art Departments Cooperate On Humperdinck Work

By Jean Hunt

"Hansel and Gretel," a fairy opera by Humperdinck, will be presented by Opera Workshop in Alumni Gymnasium Friday, January 28. There will be a matinee at 2:30 p. m. for all public school children of Maryville only. The second performance will be given for college students and town people at 8 p. m.

Production is under the direction of Charlotte Johnson, art advisor, Lenore Courtney, drama advisor, and Harry H. Harter, musical advisor. Costumes are being financed by the individual participants and the cost of the opera will not exceed the amount of experimental theatre plays. No admission will be charged.

Hansel and Gretel in act one will be played by Gloria Measamer and Peggy Wakefield. Linnea Johnson, Patricia Cox, Mary Holly Webb, and Lois Deobler will play the leads in acts two and three.

Suporting Cast

The supporting cast includes: Jane Martenis, mother; Conrad Eaddy, father; Herbert Keene, sandman; Ruth Ramsey, dawn fairy; Evalyn Smith, witch. Gingerbread children are Carolyn Burrell, Patricia Cox, Martha Hull, Linnea Johnson, Ruth McQuilkin, Gloria Measamer, Peggy Wakefield, and Margaret Ann Warren.

The flute obligato will be played by Barbara Rosensteel and the violin obligato by Dorothy Horne.

The angel ballet pantomime will be performed by the members of the Hi Society.

Student Directors

Mary Mitchell Wooldridge is the director of the first act which takes place in the home of a broomstick maker. Accompanist for this act is Thelma Nelson.

Act two is under the direction of Bob Holley and is accompanied by Fred Seiber. This act has a forest setting.

Choreography is being done by Lois Deobler.

Ben Paxton directs the third act which is at the home of the witch. Alice Archibald is the accompanist.

Painting and construction of sets were done by the sophomore art class. Members of the stage crew are Ruth Heaps, Bob Kay and members of the art class. Properties are being handled by Marilyn Edge and Anne Gates; Howard Cameron is in charge of the lighting. Bill Carter and Joe Claud are handling publicity.

Editorial Staff Publishes First Echo Style Book

In order to give its readers a better paper, the editorial staff of The Highland Echo has published the first Echo style book.

Maintaining consistent style throughout the paper is the chief purpose of this 15-page mimeographed edition. "The Highland Echo Style Book" is divided into three sections, "Preparation of Copy," "Echo Grammar," and "Proofreading."

Chief sources for newspaper style in preparing the book were "Outline of Journalism," Mott and others, "The Complete Reporter," Johnson and Harriss, and "Editing Small Newspapers," Walter Rae.

Other helpful sources were John Allen's "The Modern Newspaper," "Printing for the Journalist" by Eric Allen, and "Typography and Mechanics of the Newspaper" by Kenneth Olsen.

The book was compiled under the direction of Ilda Mesby, editor, Donald Whelan, managing editor, and Herbert McCallum, sports editor. Jean Hunt, Duncan Bennett, and Jimmy Dance assisted in the stencil-cutting and mimeographing. The facilities of the college printing office were used.

Elizabeth Jackson, assistant professor of English and member of the publications committee of the faculty, assisted in editing the copy.

Copies of the book have been made available to all members of the staff and publications committee.

Students Judge Exhibit At Art Club Event

All-campus art exhibit will be judged Saturday, January 22, at 7 p. m. during an open house in Lamar Library from 6:30 to 7:30. The student body is invited to attend and vote in the judging. Recognition will be awarded the four top winners. Refreshments will be served.

Sponsored by Art Club, the exhibit is under the chairmanship of Bill Carter. Its entries, submitted chiefly by non-art majors, consists of oils, water colors, pencils, charcoals, and pastels. Craft work includes weaving, needlework, collages, and a Ming tree constructed of local materials.

If the project proves popular, the club plans to sponsor another exhibit in the future.

Wet Band, Reporter Welcome 'Paleface' Hope; MHS Gets Credit

By Barbara Wallin

"Thanks for the memories. . . of waiting in the rain, for Bob Hope's special plane. . . ." That, in a nutshell, describes the scene at the airport last Monday afternoon. The Maryville Junior Chamber of Commerce wanted to welcome Bob Hope royally and asked the MC Band to help them do it. I just went along for the ride.

At about 2:30 the band arrived at the airport, just in time to find that Hope's special plane wasn't "anticipated" until 4 p.m. That was just fine.

The airport waiting rooms were too crowded for anvone to find a seat or even standing room, and the rain didn't offer too gracious an invitation to stand outside. Before long, however, the band had taken over the restaurant and just about all other available space and made themselves at home.

Plane Finally Appears

Finally the plane put in its appearance and came gliding in for a landing. Just as the door of the big "Bob 'Paleface' Hope Special" opened, the band burst into Huffman's arrangement of "Thanks for the Memories" which, by an odd coincidence, is Hope's theme song.

As soon as the strains of this familiar melody reached his ears, the famous comedian did a couple of dance steps and polished up Pepsodent smile to show his appreciation.

Photographers of great renown and much experience (and me, of little renown and even less experience) crowded around to get pictures for their respective papers. Hone obligingly posed for a couple and then the rest was up to the ingenuity of the photographer. I got two pictures, need I say more?

Interviews, Autographs

On his way to his transportation, a Cadillac convertible, Hope was stopped by Buddy Morgan of WGAP for an interview. This gave the autograph hounds an opportunity to stick pencils and papers under Hope's well-known nose. (Anyone interested is welcome to trace mine at any time.)

After this ordeal the comedian and his troupe, including Doris Day, Les Brown, and Billy Farrell, made a bee-line for the cars. But they couldn't get away without running into Bob Holley's bass drum, so the funny-man autographed it for Holley. Before he left, Hope had one comment to make to the band: Quote "Well, I'm glad you finished on the same note anyway." Unquote.

Was It Worth It?

The doings were over. Hope had driven off with the singers, band and the rest of his retinue following. The band had played its loudest and best. The people, hundreds of them, were leaving.

As the band bus was loading, someone was heard to murmur, "Was it worth it?" We wondered, but decided it probably was.

On Tuesday we wondered again. For there in the paper was a picture of the band directed by Mr. Hughes. Telling the world the facts, the caption began "The Maryville High School Band was on hand. . . ." Ummm.

We Could Make It Easier For Us—

Books that disappear, chattering students who disturb those trying to study in the library, extra-current users who refuse to pay, chapel beginning at 8:05 every morning—sounds as if we could have made a few resolutions.

Reserve and reference books have been placed where they may be obtained, and returned, with the least difficiulty by the students. Some, however, never seem to find their way again to the shelves. Results: only a few have the opportunity to use required materials. It would take no longer to return them than to get them.

Noise is fun to make, but no fun to hear when you're trying to concentrate. Since there is no other place in the library to collaborate, our suggestion would be to open the Student Center during the evening.

Current restrictions were not placed on us simply to add revenue to the school treasury. The hope was that overloaded circuits could be avoided and fire hazards thereby eliminated. We gripe because of fire dangers, yet we ourselves are responsible for many of them.

Chapel is scheduled for 8 a.m. Why not start then? When we had the old chapel the doors were closed at that time, and those late got there just a bit earlier the next day.

We complain bitterly about some of the administration regulations, but we make them necessary. Before we start wanting to reform the powers above us, maybe we'd better look over our own conduct; then there'd probably be need for fewer rules to complain about.

Student Council-

Student Council's first meeting of the semester was held Wednesday night at 6:30 in the Student Center.

At the last meeting of first semester Council voted to amend article eight, section B of the constitution. This article concerns election of persons to the offices of Council president, vice-president, and social chairman.

In order to be a candidate for any of these offices, a student must have a petition signed by at least 40 names, none of which may appear on the petition of any other candidate for the same office. Those candidates accepted go before the student body at annual spring elections.

The entire constitution will be mimeographed and distributed among students. A student body meeting for the purpose of ratifying it will be held soon after the close of February Meetings.

A play committee has been formed to attempt to bring about a better arrangement of the three major plays of each year.

It was reported that there is one senior vacancy on Council to be filled. Inter-Club Council president, John Morrison, is the only new member of the Council.

One Town Nite offense was reported—that of failure to sign in. The usual penalty was invoked. Attention was called to the fact that only those going to town should sign out on the Town Nite sheet; others should use the regular sign out sheet.

Next Wednesday night the Steering Committee will present the proposed agenda for this semester. —M. L.

Which twin has the Toni? Seems as though quite a few Maryville beauties and would-be beauties succumbed to the lure of the Toni advertisement and partook. The latest to join the ranks is Marge Prall. She couldn't wait to preview her new hair-do, so she brought it to supper Thursday still wet and unset.

'The Snake Pit'

RE-ECHOING DECEMBER 1

Juniors, your troubles are just about to start,
We all advise you to keep a good stout heart,
Oh, how you'll hate them,
How you will berate them,
Juniors, your troubles are just about to start!

This time last year the present junior class was getting quite a laugh out of the present seniors. The reason? Special Studies, of course. But now the shoe is on the other foot. The juniors are just beginning and it's the seniors who are laughing.

Dr. Hunter's talk in chapel Thursday, while being very interesting and quite informative, only magnified the fact that Special Studies are here to stay, and we're stuck with them. Then on top of everything, Jimmy Dance concocted a bulletin board dedicated to the subject. Oh, woe!

'The Paleface'

By now everyone knows that Bob Hope made his presence known in this part of the country last Monday. If you don't, then you didn't read the feature on page 1. It was quite a day. The band played, Buddy Morgan got his interview, The Echo got its story, Knoxville got $1,000 for the polio fund (Hope got $8,000), and everyone lived happily ever afterward.

That is, everyone except those who went to Knoxville for Hope's program Monday night. It lasted so long that they had to take a taxi back to Maryville after the last bus had run.

'If You Knew Susie'

A fourth floor Pe(a)rson was in quite an uproar Sunday night when she came home from Vols to find her mattress missing. The encumbering culprit offed with the linens, too. She slept on the springs until Monday Morning when the cleaning women came across—from the room next door—with the swiped sheets and mattress. (On beds such things are quite a boon!) Sherlock Althouse is still working on the pillow-case.

And a thought for all those (?) who go bursting into Bainonian and/or Theta Halls after 7:15 announced:

"Rap gently, friend,
Whate'er betide.
Supper's o'er,
Don't come inside."

Moral: If you want a book, why not try the library?

'Gentlemen's Agreement'

There are far too many numerous ways in which the word engagement may be used; this one "rings" true to an old custom. Among those who recently planned the trip down the aisle are Grace Gugger, Jean Hunt, Mary Baker, Bob Kribbs and Vera Dockendorf, and Peggy Cummings and Dave Campbell.

'The Boy With the Green Hair'

Carl Lindsay does look different! Must be a cross between a Chow dog, a Persian rug, mohair upholstery, with a Persian cat thrown in for good measure! We thought only things like that grew on the Sahara! All in good fun, Carl; after all, you did get your name in the paper in a prominent position!

'The Night Has a Thousand Eyes'

Ralph!

Camera Club members are wondering what's developing about their darkroom. It seems they're being tossed out of the one in Fayerweather and now they have no place to hang their negatives. Any suggestions? They have had several, but there happens to be rules against such things.

Really now! Dr. Briggs, trying to lead an intelligent discussion in his education class came forth with this one. In discussing the posterity of college graduates, he remarked that after one reaches 30 or 40 years of age, he begins to worry about his posterior. . . .

You're Welcome! Barbara Bertholf returned to the dorm Thursday afternoon to find a potted plant waiting for her. The enclosed card had only one word—"Thanks." At this writing the sender is still a mystery to Bertholf. Why do some people have all the luck? We're Girl Scouts. We do good deeds, but do we ever get flowery thanks? Of course not.

Talk of The Week

BY DONALD REEVES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

MASKS

The nearest any form of culture got to Maryville over the holidays was Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," presented at the Bijou Theatre a few weeks ago by Virginia's Barter Players. The play got rave notices from Malcolm Miller, local dramatic critic, and most other Knoxville playgoers.

Just like in the old days, stars are "made, not born" in the Barter Theatre, the only state theatrical group in our county.

One of the latest to hit the stardust and high-wattage-bulb trail is Patricia Neal, Knoxville girl who was sensational in Broadway's "Another Part of the Forest."

Speaking of plays reminds me that MC is in for a double dramatic treat this semester—full length productions by Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon and by Theta Alpha Phi, MC's own dramatic honor society. At this writing Alpha Sig and Theta had just chosen that clever comedy "Papa Is All" for their spring production. After monkeying around with "I Remember Mama" and "Pride and Prejudice," the play choosing committee picked this entertaining Pennsylvania Dutch comedy.

Rumors are flying about the choice made by Theta Alpha Phi for their commencement month play. Shakespeare, it seems, is out; we who found last year's "The Merchant of Venice" as thrilling as Portia Faces Life regret this.

Thetas themselves won't talk, but your reporter has it from "up close" that the play will be a dramatization of a famous costume novel from 'way back. You will read the name in this column when it's announced.

SHADOWS

Two Town Nites down and 15 to go, I believe, is the count. Skating rinks and bowling alleys notwithstanding, the movies attract the majority of Town Nitters, so here we go to the movies next week:

Monday-Tuesday: The Capitol Theatre is saving you a seat on "Luxury Liner" with George Brent and Jane Powell, plus a host of lesser personages, all filmed in color by Technicolor. The light story is the same thing Jane Powell (or Judy Garland—or Doris Day) always handles, but Jane's fresh exuberance and youthful good looks have brought her to the top in a series of spectacular musicals. Good fun for the evening.

The Park is showing "Red Stallion," a pretty good horse picture with lots of he-man back-to-nature stuff. Zane Grey might well have written the script, but the acting is fairly good, especially that of the horse.

The Capitol finishes the week with "Canyon Passage," starring Dana Andrews, on the screen Wednesday and Thursday, with a Charles Starrett shootemup bringing up the rear. At the Park you can see "Angel's Alley" Thursday and Friday.

VOICES

Two big surprises for '49—Jack Benny switches to CBS and The Journal starts printing the radio clock again! Now we can look up our favorite programs instead of twirling the dial just in time to hear the "Tune in again next time" announcement.

Your reporter was one of the (approximately) 30,000,000 who switched with Jack Benny to CBS on January 2. CBS is throwing a block of featured programs at its Sunday night audience, beginning with Spike Jones & Co. (whose music will be featured at Athenian tonight) at 6:30, brother Benny for LS/MFT at 7, and Amos 'n' Andy at 7:30—an imposing array of stars.

NBC brings its brightest rank to the fore to attempt to keep some listeners—Horace Heidt, in the 7 o'clock-versus-Jack-Benny spot, for example. Heidt's amateur show, a sort of thin Arthur Godfrey production with no talent scouts but lots more talent, may take some of the Benny hearers, but we doubt if it hurts that nice, round figure at the top of the preceding paragraph.

Benny's income, however, may be several zeros less than that when the March 15 people get through with what he thought was his capital gains deal.

Your reporter cheers for the Benny show, whose format remained the same in the change, including (strange praise!) some of the best commercials on the air! Benny's Sportsmen are topped in interest and appeal only by Meredith Wilson's Talking People.

With the usual New Year switch around, you may have to hunt for these top-notch comedy shows: CBS's mr. ace & JANE, a revamp of the old Easy Aces show with a better-than-average script by Goodman Ace himself.

CBS's Our Miss Brooks, Eve Arden as the schoolteacher with troubles; Miss Arden got a top award as a radio comedienne, and she deserved it.

YM and YW are presenting the first in their spring series of radio dramas over WGAP tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Featuring college talent and, for the most part, scripts by students, the fifteen-minute plays are based around a religious theme and are well worth your listening time and pleasure. Tomorrow's play will find Ben Paxton returning to his role of narrator and announcer.

FRAMES

Much publicized last semester was the All-Campus Art Exhibit, which finally appeared this week in the east reading room of Lamar Memorial Library. A number of students commented to this reporter that the selection represents an excellent sample of the "Art Is My Hobby" group; I personally feel that this is one of the best exhibits to be presented through the auspices of the art department.

Students at the afternon tea today will pick the winners and end the "contest" part of the exhibit, but I would like to point out some especially worthy efforts which should be noticed.

ARKANSAS STATE LOOKS TOUGH

KNOXVILLE, Jan. 21—(Special to Echo Sports) A group of Maryville wrestlers dropped around the YMCA tonight to watch Arkansas State whip Knoxville Y, 36-0, and to get a "look-see" to measure up the Arkansasans as mat material for tonight's encounter.

What the MC grapplers saw was a group of hamfed, stout, and conditioned wrestlers—big enough to look tough. But maybe not too smart. Ark. State was satisfied with two decisions in making five pins in the eight events.

State's line-up follows: 121—J. R. Durham (Y forfeited; he's had a rest); 128—Julius Palone (aggressive; likes to slam); 136—Jack Henrich (almost bald—but plenty of spunk); 145—Tom Carmody (really knows how to handle self; likes leg-locks); 155—Walter Wilson (pinned Y's McConnell; tall and well-rounded; nicknamed "Woody"); 165—Michael Evans (short and stubby; has plenty speed); 175—Carl Greenwall (has Merriman's build, plus 10 pounds); Heavyweight—Harry Earche (probably tips scales between 230-240; needs station wagon to himself for comfortable riding).

●GULF'S REFINERS broke both the Highlander record and backs in a close 47-46 victory in Alumni Gym January 12 as Coach Lombe Honaker's five felt defeat for the first time in 1949. Don't sell that Gulf team short. Last year in the Tri-State Independent Tourney at Knoxville they went to the semi-finals in their semi-pro class to fall by one point (40-39) to Knoxville's Glaziers.

●DESPITE ALL the critics say about their floor game, Gulf has amassed a potent group of cage artists. Ray Lillard, Scot 1946-'48 captain, is among them—and perhaps the big reason for Gulf's victory January 12. Their center, a lanky fellow named Glasgow, number 11, finished on Cornell's varsity in '46. The Gregg twins, Troy and Roy, made UT's first string as freshmen and were arch rivals of Boring and Hamil in High School basketball. Manager-player Ken Farmer played at Union College of Kentucky. The Spears brothers, Oliver and Artie are former MC footballers—now turned hoopmen. As familiarity makes a foe harder to conquer, the Gulf-Scot feud may go down as the hottest cage competition of the 1949 season.

●AFTER TWO Gulf victories it seems that the two teams may be finished. Although both Ken Farmer and Coach Honaker informed this scribe that a third meeting was not likely, our hunch is that the Highlanders and Gulf will make a third basketball clash. This contest is too hot to smoulder now.

●JUST TO settle anyone's doubts as to who's currently top scoring man of the top five in the Scot quintet, our compilation through to the Chattanooga game reveals the following:

Player	F.T.	Pct.	T.P.	Av. Per Game
Reynolds	12-33	.571	103	11.4
Brahams, B.	11-24	.458	85	9.4
Boring, B.	15-28	.500	79	8.7
Hamil, H.	7-10	.300	65	7.2
Keny	7-14	.500	42	4.7

Intramurals....

by

Tom Weide

Fifteen basketball teams have completed the first week of intramural competition. The games have generally been close, low-score affairs in an evenly matched league.

Individual high scorers so far include Wilson of the Wholly Rabbies, Davis of the Creamers, and Smith of the PB's. Biggest team scores have been racked up by the Wholly Rabbies.

First week's results

The first day, last Friday, the Freshmen nipped Alpha Sig 17-15, Wholly Rabbies pounded the RAC's 27-18, Cyclops beat the Varmits 22-17, 8-Balls topped the Creamers 17-11, and Ex-Scrubbs drubbed PB's 19-14.

Monday's winners were PB's, 22-15 over the Freshmen; RAC's 16-13 over Alpha Sig; Creamers,

Varsity Swimmers Engage Tennessee

Varsity swimmers are tuning up with a week of gruelling practice in prepartion for a meet with Tennessee Saturday at Knoxville.

Swimming coach Kenneth P. Johnson is giving the team daily drills in calesthenics, basic swimming strokes, and racing form.

While Coach Johnson declined to name probable starters for Saturday's meet, he indicated that by Tuesday the line-up would be pretty well settled.

The following 14 are competing for places on the team for the first meet:

Divers—Dean Risher, Jack Moore.

Backstroke— Don Macdonald, Dick Lane, Ed Vanderslice, and Dave Reed.

Breaststroke—Everett Zabreskie, Bo Henry, Thad Godwin.

Freestyle—Bill Varker, Curt Barnett.

Jim Frost and George Barber are braving the 440 freestyle (17 2/3 lengths).

With the possibility of scheduling a home meet with Berea College of Kentucky here Feb. 18, the Scot swim schedule consists of five meets. (See schedule elsewhere in Echo.)

83-45 Licking For Scots In Chattanooga Game

Maryville's Scot quintet was badly outclassed Thursday evening when the University of Chattanooga hoopsters took an 83-45 decision. Half-time score was 44-25 for U. C. Brick Brahams was high point man for the Scots with 16 points.

P S Girls Begin Basketball Play

Point system girls began basketball practice Thursday. They will play according to the Rocky Mountain Roving Guard Rules, which make basketball a faster moving game.

The first swimming test was given to the girls Friday evening at 7:00p. m. Another test will be given next Thursday at 7 p. m.

Tusculum Cagers, Arkansas State Matmen Meet Scots Here Tonight

With Tusculum's Cagers and Arkansas State's wrestlers on hand, tonight's competitive fare for Highlander hardwoodmen and matmen is expected to be tough. Game time for the double-header is 7:30 p.m. as the basketeers take the floor.

Tonight's wrestling show will be the first true test of the season for Scot matmen after Tuesday's easy victory over Knoxville Y. Arkansas State, a school with a wrestling history, is a mid-south mat power.

In basketball, Coach Honaker's hoopmen meet Tusculum for the first time of the season. Tusculum, who gave Maryville two close wins last seasons (64-53; 62-50), hits the Scot quint after a third consecutive defeat.

Coach "JD" Davis' grapplers will probably line-up in the same order as Tuesday night except in the 155 and 136 classes. Lawrence Major, who re-entered MC after a semester absence, is likely to start in place of Del Earisman in the 155 class.

NEXT WEEK Coach Honaker's cagers go to Harrogate Thursday night to play the "Big Blue" hardwood aces at Lincoln Memorial University. On Saturday, Carson-Newman's Eagle quintet comes in for a one-night stand while Coach Davis' wrestlers and Coach Johnson's swimmers engage Knox Y and UT, respectively, at Knoxville.

The Swim meet is set for 3 p.m. at the University pool and the grapplers start at the YMCA uptown at eight.

Following is the probable wrestling line-up for Maryville tonight: 121—Jim Marvin; 128—J. A. Cameron; 136—Chesley Anderson or Tom Yeaworth; 145—Captain Tubby Calloway; 155—Major or Earisman; 165—Hershell Merriman; 175—Herbert Palmer; Heavyweight—John Briggs.

Probable starters in the Scot quintet are guards, Hugh Hamil and Captain Bob Boring; forwards, Gene Reynolds and Brick Brahams; and center, Raymond Keny.

Scots Play Nine Win Seven To Date For Cage Season

By Duncan Bennett

Maryville's Scot quintet, with two down out of nine for a .777 average, is well into the 1949 cage season. Two games with Carbide of Oak Ridge produced wins with scores of 63-40 and 67-50, and one with Western Carolina Teachers left the Scots holding the field by a 45-41 talley.

Games played and won over the Christmas vacation included a 75-58 marker over Hiwassee, and a 69-46 take-down of the Sweetwater VFW.

Coach Honaker's five suffered its first defeat of the season at the hands of an independent outfit playing for the Gulf Refinery. The Reiners took the Scots on January 12 for a heartbreaking 47-46 loss, and again on January 17 in Everett High Gym by a wider margin of 51-42. A return match with the Sweetwater independent team brought another victory for the Honakermen — this time by a score of 65-51. Hiwassee's return engagement on January 14 resulted in another win for the Scots, but with a much narrower margin in the 56-49 race.

Sweetwater Bounced Twice

The Highlanders two wins from Sweetwater VFW's cagers were both by comfortable margins. The December 18 game, played in Alumni Gym, resulted in a 69-46 win, with Hap Brahams pulling down the high score for the evening when he racked up 12 points for Maryville. Cantrel of the VFW made a total of 13 points in this game, and , in the return meet he piled up 22 points against the Scots. Score at half-time saw the Scots with 29 against the VFW's 13. Cantrel fouled out for VFW

Second win from Sweetwater came on January 13 when Coach Honaker's trusty five brought in a 65-51 victory at Sweetwater. High scorer for the Scots was Reynolds with 19 points for the evening. Half-time score was close, with the VFW trailing the Scots 28-29. Foul-outs were Keny for Maryville, and Williams and Thompson for VFW.

Hiwassee

January 8 saw the Highlanders at Madisonville for a tilt with Hiwassee College. Again the Scots returned victorious with a 75-58 talley. High marks for the evening were set by Reynolds of Maryville with 22 points, and Williams of Hiwassee with 16 points. Brick Brahams fouled-out for the Scots, and Hatley fouled-out for Hiwassee.

The January 14 game in Alumni Gym carried the Scots along for a second win with a 56-49 score. Crisp hit the top for the Scots with 12 points. He was tied for the lead for the evening by Williams of Hiwassee.

Gulf Refiners Defeat Scots

Coach Honaker's total losses for the season to date can be chalked up to this independent five composed of some of Maryville's crack hoop material of the past. Ray Lillard, 1946-48 captain, Gene Hamil, Artie Spears, and Oliver Spears are four ex-Maryvilleites who have been giving the Varsity five a rough time this season.

The January 12 victory for the Refiners by a 46-47 score saw Reynolds as top man for the Scots with 17 points, and Lillard as top man for the Refiners with 18 points.

The second licking of the season came on January 17 when the Scots lost again to the Refiners in Everett High School Gym. The 51-42 score was somewhat worse than the original 47-48. High score for the evening was made by Reynolds for the Scots with 12 points, and Glasow for the Refiners with 16 points. Half-time score was an encouraging 23-23 tie. Boring, captain of the Scot squad, fouled-out for Maryville.

KNOX 'Y' GETS PINNED, 25-8

Maryville's matmen mulched Knoxville Y, 25-8, Tuesday night in their first 1949 appearance on the Alumni mat.

Coach "JD" Davis' charges worked as fast as flashes of powder to make a clean sweep in all but the 155 and heavyweight classes. Captain Tubby Calloway got the first period pin of the season with a 1:34 fall on Knox Y's Lloyd Lucas, 145.

Merriman Masters Ottinger

Hershell Merriman whipped into his third year of Scot mat competition to better Callaway's victory time by 23 seconds in pinning Dick Ottinger in 1:11 of first period in the 165 class.

John Briggs, Maryville's available heavyweight, suffered the worst Scot setback of the night as Dave Bailey, 220 former UT footballer, secured a pin in 2:59 of second.

Y Forfeits In 121 Class

Coach Robert Maier's troupe was short a 121 pound man, and was forced to forfeit in that class. Jim Marvin pinned Bob Crittenden in 36 sec. of second period as a consolation exhibition victory.

President Lloyd Meets Church, Education Groups

President Ralph W. Lloyd has been in New York for two weeks on college and church business.

The first week Dr. Lloyd attended the annual meetings of the Association of American Colleges, the National Commission on Christian Higher Education, and Presbyterian College Union.

During this past week he has been in attendance at meetings of the following groups of which he is a member: the Executive Committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the Department of International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council, and the National Advisory Council of the student YMCA.

In addition to attendance at these conferences, he is looking after various business interests of Maryville College. He is expected to return to Maryville by January 24.

Robert Hunter Marries Lora Nesbitt In Florida

Robert A. Hunter, graduate of Maryville College in 1947, and Lora C. Nesbitt from Arkadelphia, Ark., were married in Altha, Fla., January 14. They are both teachers at Altha Public High School.

Workshop Begins Term Monday For Teachers

Another semester of Workshops for teachers from Blount, Sevier, Loudon, and Monroe Counties will begin Monday, January 24.

Approximately 110 will enroll in the six fields of study to be offered this semester. These courses are designed to cover four-hour periods on Monday each week, with two semester hours of credit which may be applied to either a certificate or college graduation Next Monday will be the last opportunity for registration for this workshop.

Courses Offered

A course in oral and written composition in English will be taught by Jessie Heron of the MC English faculty. Mrs. Thelma Kramer will teach a course in teaching the language arts in elementary school. Charlotte Johnson will teach a course concerning the teaching of arts and crafts.

Harry Harter will conduct a course in teaching elementary school music, and Elsie Burrell, who is superintendent of Blount County schools, will have a course in teaching the social sciences in elementary schools. A course in child phychology will also be offered by Dr. Lincoln Barker.

Class Locations

Workshop classes will meet in Thaw Hall, with the exception of Harter's elementary school music class, which will meet in Anderson.

Dr. Briggs pointed out the potential usefulness and democratic procedure in the workshop, and quoted this from the workshop philosophy:

"The workshop's best usefulness is determined by the extent to which it is geared to and helps solve the functional problems of the workers. These workshops should leave with hosts of plans and ideas that seem to give promise of improved instruction in their respective schools."

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Subscription rates for those desiring to have The Highland Echo mailed to their home addresses will be 50 cents for the semester. Payments and addresses should be turned in to Margaret Weaver, business manager.

Spanish Club Officers Elected Last Thursday

Spanish Club held elections at its business meeting January 20. Lou Masters is now publicity chairman and Jeanne Pelton will be secretary for the remainder of the semester. The constitution was amended.

The following new members were elected to the club: Robert Lynn, Joe McNeill, Carey Parsons, Neal Pearson, Charlotte Sherrod, and June Spaulding.

Alpha Sig Sweetheart Honored At Open House

Alpha Sigma entertained with all-campus open house honoring Jane McMillan, Alpha Sigma Sweetheart, on Saturday, January 15 in the Y rooms.

Guests were received by Miss McMillan and the officers for 1949, Ed Pancoast, Ted Beasley, Frank Russell, and Bob Kay.

Background music was provided by Johnny Sayre, pianist, and soloists Mary Holly Webb and Conrad Eady.

Society officers will be installed Saturday, January 22 in Dr. Orr's classroom.

Dr. Griffitts Arranges Chemical Society Meet

Maryville's Dr. F. A. Griffitts is making arrangements for an American Chemical Society meeting at Oak Ridge, June 10-11. Over 1,000 members from the entire southeastern US are expected.

Dr. Griffitts is president of the East Tennessee section of the society, which has approximately 500 members. All kinds of scientists, teachers, researchers, and professional chemists make up the ACS.

Courses For Swim Ratings Announced

Swimmers interested in obtaining senior lifesaving or instructor ratings under the American Red Cross Water Safety Program should notify Coach Johnson by Wednesday, January 29, it was announced this week.

James Newman, chairman of Blount County's Water Safety Committee, said that both courses in senior lifesaving and instructorship will be offered to students this spring. Harry Anderson, ARC field representative, is scheduled to be here March 14-18 to give instructor swimming tests.

The Senior lifesaving course is scheduled to begin on Feb. 11 for a two-week course under the director of Zan Emery. The class is scheduled to meet every other night for the two-week period.

Newman urged that all students interested in taking this course register with Coach Johnson by Wednesday in order that arrangements can be made for the course.

Atom City Opens; Plants Close To Public March 15

Oak Ridge atomic plants will be closed and the city opened to the public on March 15. One detail being worked on in the meantime is the construction of a fourteen-mile-long fence around the A-Works.

Jaycees Provide X-Ray Unit Free To Public

An X-Ray unit will be in Maryville in front of the post office on January 27-28. This project, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p.m. and is a free service to the public.

SOPHOMORES ELECT LYERLY 1950 CHILHOWEAN EDITOR

Sophomores elected Mary Lyerly as Editor of the 1950 Chilhowean in last Thursday's ballotting. She will immediately join the staff of the 1949 edition to gain experience before tackling next year's book.

In previous years, the elections were held later in the spring and the editor had no opportunity to see any of the actual work done on the book.

Miss Lyerly is a sophomore reporter on The Highland Echo. She is an English major from Brooksville, Fla. While in high school, she worked on the newspaper staff and edited the school annual one year.

Workshop Sings 'Hansel,, Gretel' Opera Here Friday

"Hansel and Gretel," a fairy opera by Engelbert Humperdinck, was presented yesterday in Alumni Gymnasium by Opera Workshop.

Given by the Fine Arts Department, the production was under the direction of Lenore Courtney, adviser of drama, Harry H. Harter, in charge of music, and Charlotte Johnson, art adviser.

An introductory address was made by President Ralph Lloyd. Fred Sieber and Thelma Nelson played a two-piano overture to the first act.

Mary Mitchell Wooldridge was director of the first act, which took place in the home of the broomstick maker, with Thelma Nelson accompanying the act.

Hansel, played by Gloria Measamer, and Gretel, Peggy Wakefield, were sent into the woods by their mother, Jane Martenis, who was very angry with them.

Father, Conrad Eaddy, after finding out what the mother had done, feared that the witch who lived in the woods might kill the children. Mother and Father left hurriedly in search of them.

Act two, directed by Bob Holley and accompanied by Fred Sieer, took place in the woods where Hansel, Linnea Johnson, and Gretel, Patricia Cox, were picking flowers and strawberries.

Frightened at first by noises in the woods, the children were soon calmed by Sandman, Herbert Keene. Wood noises were played by Barbara Rosensteel and Dorothy Horne. An angel ballet pantomime was performed by the Hi Society members.

In the last act Ruth Ramsey, the dawn fairy, awakened Hansel and Gretel, Mary Holly Webb and Lois Deobler. This took place at the home of the witch who was played by Dora Evalyn Smith. Ben Paxton directed the third act and Alice Archibald was accompanist.

Social Board Opens Center To Groups

Cowan Releases Plans For Saturday Nights

Student Center facilities will be available on Monday, Thursday, and Friday evenings for special parties or functions. Roger Cowon, head of the social board, announced new policies and plans of that group for this semester.

In keeping with the general policy of cancelling all club and group meetings during February Meetings, the Board announces that nightly dances will not be held in the Intramural Gym during the duration of February Meetings.

Center facilities may be obtained by scheduling in advance with Dean of Women Frances Massey and the office of the Center. Seasonal decorations will be displayed through the courtesy of Mrs. Carmen Marquis, director, and her assistants.

Chess and checkers may be added to the tournaments planned for the Student Center. The bridge tournament is now under way.

Saturday Schedule Plans

The social board announced the schedule of Saturday night activities for the rest of the semester, starting with the Carson-Newman basketball game tonight. Next Saturday, February 5, will feature swimming (UT), wrestling (Auburn), and possibly basketball, since that date is open for the team.

February 12's program will feature bosketball with Emory and Henry. There'll be wrestling with Georgia Tech and basketball with LMU on February 19.

YWCA Open House will be held on February 20.

Experimental Theatre's first showing will be February 26.

March 5 is the date of the Theta Alpha Phi play.YM Freshmen Talent Show is scheduled for Saturday, March 12, and the Alpha Sigma-Theta Epsilon play will have its second night on March 19. March 26 features an all-societies party.

April, May Activities

April's calendar is open for the first Saturday night. Experimental Theatre presents its second spring show on April 9, and the annual skit contest will be held May 2. YM stag and YW hen parties will be given April 23, while April 30 is the date of the Y retreat.

An Easter play is scheduled for April 16.

Saturday, May 7, is the date of an orchestra concert. The night of May 14 is the second performance of the commencement play.

Athenian Explains ABC; Entertains With 'Club '49'

Athenian will entertain all four societies tonight at "Club '49," beginning at 6:30 in the Intramural Gymnasium. Following the program of music and audience participation, Athenian's closely guarded ABC will be explained.

Suggested by a radio program, "Club '49" will mix musical performances with interviews with members of the audience. Refreshments will be served following the show.

Featured on the program is Gloria Measamer, one of the stars of last night's opera, "Hansel and Gretel." Accompanied by pianist John Sayre, Miss Measamer will sing "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes."

Williams Instrumentalist

Charles Williams will be presented in an instrumental solo, "Gypsy Love Song," accompanied by Ann Jenkins. This baritone solo is arranged from Victor Herbert.

Jim Akin will sing "April Showers," and Katie Carpenter, "One Has My Heart, Another Has My Name." Miss Jenkins will accompany both numbers.

Master of Ceremonies Jim Dance will introduce the numbers and between them will wander among the audience, chatting with people currently in the news and presenting clues about ABC. Dance, program chairman for Athenian, planned "Club '49" with the help of Miss Jenkins of Bainonian, and Webster Fue, Athenian president. Sets and publicity are handled by Jim Lester, Athenian vice-president.

YM Plans Forum On Race Relations

"Sectional Race Relations" will be discussed in an open forum at YMCA at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday in Bartlett Auditorium. The forum is under the general direction of John Poland.

Official participants will be Lincoln Shimomura, representing the East; Brick Brahams, West; Ray Saunders, North; and Herb McCallum, South. The forum will also be open for discussion from the floor.

Knox College Head To Speak At Vespers

Speaker for the Sunday night Vesper Service is President J. Reed Miller of Knoxville College. Dr. Ralph Lloyd will preside.

Vesper Choir will sing "Soon Ah Will Be Donna With De Troubles of De World," a Negro spiritual by William Dawson, and "Nunc Dimittis" by Gretchanioff.

Rock, Wakefield Play Lead Roles In 'Papa Is All'

Carver, Pentz Take Top Supporting Parts

Peggy Wakefield and Alan Rock have been chosen to play the leads in "Papa is All," the Theta-Alpha Sigma production for the year. Rock will star as Papa, Aukamp while Miss Wakefield will play opposite him as Mama.

Miss Wakefield is a sophomore music major from Knoxville, and Rock is a physical education major from Blue Island, Ill.

The supporting cast is headed by Buffie Carver and Wally Pentz who play Emma and Jake. Miss Carver is an elementary education major from Pittsburgh, Pa., and Pentz is a political science major from York, Pa.

Mrs. Yoder will be played by Margie Newland who is a junior English major from Flint, Mich.; Herbert Marks, a dramatic arts major from Philadelphia, Pa., will play Officer Breudel.

Stage, House Personnel

Lenore Courtney, instructor in dramatic arts, will direct the play, while Bob Holley will act as student director. Howard Cameron is stage manager; assisting him is Noble Pribble. Lighting will be done by Chester Schieber, and set deisgn, by Margaret Reid and Ray Kuhn.

Dialogue technician is Ed Pancoast, and make-up chairmen are Dean Risher and Dorothy Stater. In charge of props are Ann Gates and Bill Menges. Costume committee heads are Wilma Robinson and Jerry Hopkins.

Stage crew members are J. A. Cameron, Ed Vanderslice, Martha Kincaid, Alan Fort, Lynn Johnson, Andy Clark, Carl Lazenby, John Mills, Robert Williams, Lauren Fowler, Mary Holly Webb, Sid Lambert, Jack Reid, Jim Townsend, June Johnson, and Lucy Carrick.

House chairmen are Beverly Moore and Charles Flood. Charles Warner and Phyllis Jackson will be in charge of ticket sales.

Program chairmen are Geneva Robinson and Joe Claud, and publicity chairmen are Grace Gugger and Naomi Hoffman. Head ushers for the play will be Janice Landstrom and Bob Kay.

House committee are Ruth McQuilkin, Neale Pearson, Charles Cash, Aubrey Galyon, Norma Boyd, Delbert Earisman, and Bill Carter.

Dr. Lloyd Attends YMCA, FCCCA, AAC Meetings

Delegates of the Association of American Colleges are greatly interested in the recommendations made by Truman's Committee on Higher Education, reports President Ralph W. Lloyd, who attended the AAC meeting in New York City the week of January 10. He was present at YMCA and Federal Council of Churches meetings.

Between 700 and 800 delegates discussed, among other things, the implications of the following questions:

1. If the federal government enters the field of higher education, how will this affect control of schools? financing of schools?

2. What will be the effect of doubling the number of students as Truman's Committee suggests?

3. How do types of higher education proposed compare with old liberal arts concepts?

Religious emphasis in colleges also came in for much discussion at this meeting, as Dr. Lloyd mentioned in chapel Tuesday.

Student YMCA Meeting

January 20-21, Dr. Lloyd moved on to a meeting of the National Advisory Council of Student YM CA's. Adults and students numbering 35 gathered in New York City to discuss the student Y's message and program.

A committee working on a restatement of the message will re-

73rd Series Of Meetings Begin Wednesday Morning

By Mary Lyerly

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, pastor of Tabernacle Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, will open the 73rd series of February Meetings next Wednesday at 9:45 a.m. in Alumni Gymnasium. With Dr. Morgan will be song leader, Dr. Sidney E. Stringham, and Dr. Henry Barraclough. Dr. Barraclough will supply piano accompaniment for the first three days of the Meetings.

Services will be held each day at 9:45 a. m. in the gymnasium and at 7:10 p. m. in New Providence Church. Groups who wish to arrange for forum meetings may speak to President R. W. Lloyd. The committee on interviews will announce the schedule of personal conferences.

Rev. Dr. Howard Moody Morgan

A native of England, Dr. Morgan is returning to Maryville for the third time as leader of the Meetings. He was leader in 1937 and 1941.

Stringham Returns

Dr. Stringham will lead the singing for the 27th time. He is pastor of New McKendree Methodits Church in Jackson, Mo.

A Presbyterian elder, Dr. Barraclough is manager of the Department of Administration of the office of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the USA, and is a member of one of the distinguished discussion groups at Princeton University. He was awarded the LL.D. degree by Bloomfield College and Seminary in 1946.

Barraclough from England

Dr. Barraclough also is from England. He came to America as accompanist for the evangelistic team of Chapman and Alexander. Dr. Barraclough has been choir director and organist in a large church in Philadelphia for many years.

Dr. Lloyd, Vesper Choir Appear In Service At New Providence

Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd will speak at New Providence Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, January 30, in the absence of Dr. Thomas A. Graham, pastor.

Dr. Lloyd's subject for the morning will be "The Meaning of Evangelism," and he will use Acts 1:8 as the theme of his address: "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."

Vesper Choir will sing "Alleluia," by Randall Thompson and "How Brightly Shines Our Morning Star" by Georg Schumann.

YM-YW BROADCAST 'SAMSON, DELILAH'

"Sampson and Delilah" is the title of the radio program which will be presented by YM and YW on Sunday, January 30, at 2:30 over station WGAP.

May Day Auditions Set For Thursday

Auditions for speaking parts for May Day's Uncle Remus pageant will be held at 3:30 on Thursday, February 3, in the Y Rooms. Several types of voices and dialects, mostly southern, are needed.

Voices will be recorded, combined with music, and synchronized with the action of the May Day program. All songs are to be recorded beforehand; the directors are now experimenting with wire and tape recorders.

Voices Needed

The parts open are Uncle Remus, deep bass, heavy southern dialect; Johnny, 12 years old; Brer Rabbit, fast-talking, adolescent southern dialect; Brer Fox, evil, whiny southern dialect; Brer Bear, deep, dumb voice with pronounced drawl; Miss Meadows, flirty southern dialect; Johnny's cousins, assorted children's voices southern dialect;

Animals, southern dialect; Aunt Cindy, Negro mammy, hearty chuckle, rich southern dialect, singing required; John, baritone solo required, southern dialect for spoken lines; Mary, pleasant, strong voice; Letitia and Theodosia, elderly women; southern dialect; other Negro characters, southern dialect.

PAXTON TO READ POETRY AT YW SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Ben Paxton will read poetry at YWCA's meeting tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the Y rooms. The program will also include special music.

Three Take Firsts In Art Exhibit

Chesley Anderson, Arthur Santmier, and Virginia Setterfield placed first in the All-Campus Art contest Saturday night, January 22. The exhibit was displayed in the Lamar Memorial Library.

Santmier took two first places in the contest. From Group I, which included pastels, charcoal, and pencil work, his pastel collage of roses was voted best of the entries. The portrait of his sister in Group III, oils, merited first place.

Anderson's blue heron was acclaimed best in Group II, watercolor, entries.

Mrs. Setterfield's appliqued tablecloth received first place in handicraft, Group IV.

Votes were cast by both faculty and students at the Art Club open house, Saturday night. The contest included entries from both art and non-art majors. It was originated to give non-art students a chance to display their talent and to further interest in the varied phases of art offered at Maryville.

Condition of Dr. Graham Reported Much Improved

Rev. Dr. Thomas A. Graham, pastor of Maryville's New Providence Presbyterian Church, is reported "much improved" from a recent kidney ailment.

Supply preachers at New Providence have been Rev. Earle Crawford, associate pastor of Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Horace E. Orr, MC philosophy professor.

Tomorrow, President Ralph W. Lloyd will speak, and the following week the preacher will be Rev. Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, leader of the February meetings.

Would It Be Possible—

Pearsons has good but inconviently located laundry facilities. The only entrance is outside at the rear of the building. In order to get in, girls must leave the dorm by the front side door and walk around the wing of the building.

In good weather, that's all right, but add rain and cold and the laundry becomes isolated. There's not much use in ironing clothes and then carrying them around the building through the rain. An umbrella helps some, but doesn't afford adequate coverage.

Then, too, there's the problem of catching colds. Ironing isn't exactly a cool occupation, and few girls remember to wear coats to the basement. Coming out into the cold or wet air after an hour's ironing often leads to colds and sore throats. As for this problem of access to the basement, enclosed stairs could be built from the center hall window on second floor, across the roof of the dining hall annex, and down where the present stairs are located.

During the damp spring months, clothes don't dry for four or five days, and in that time some fifty girls try to hang laundry in the basement. In warm weather that's okay; in wet times, specs gives out after a day. Some method of heating the basement could be worked out to dry the laundry in damp weather.

Four-Year Cycle?

Underclass women this week found themselves in much the same position the present seniors were in four years ago when WSGA first started functioning. Those in Memorial suddenly had their light cuts "cut" to one a week; Baldwin fared a little better and came out with two. Pearsons is as yet unchanged.

Some reason must lie behind such action. Reports that WSGA means little in some dorm areas may be partly true. If so, where is the weak spot? Can't college women use enough judgement to see that only they keep the self-applied rules will they be allowed to govern themselves? Or, do only those on the other hand, they should be respected by the controlling forces, and their ideas should form part of any amendments.

Baldwin, of its own choice, now has enforced study hours. But, apparently not of its own choice, are the curtailed light cuts. These two situations may be necessary, but it would seem that one or the other would be sufficient, preferably leaving the former light cut arrangement.

If by choice the group makes better use of the prelights-out period, there should be less concern over the light cuts as fewer will be needed. However, some will need the third cut and should have it available.

As the situation now stands, we've gone backwards. Or, have found the new no longer adequate. Does this mean that every four years, a new generation of students, must see for themselves just how far progress has gone?

Sound & Fury

SUGAR 'N' SPICE. Possibly Don Winslow has lost his taste for gingerbread after that scene with pretty cookie Ruth McQuilken. Winslow was the boy who went up to a perfectly strange girl in the library and cried, "Let's go steady!". . .Ann Jenkins agrees with the little boy's definition of brocoli; she thinks it's spinish too. . .Marty Kincaid is picking up a few extra calories in the College tea room while Mary Holly Webb gets exercise waiting Marty's ravenous table. . . .Irene Tedford is bearing up nicely under the weight of that rock on her third finger, left hand.

* * * * *

INDOCTRINATION? A small boy convulsed the girl's gym class the other day by counting the buttons on his coat this way: Rich man, Poor man, Begger man, Thief; Doctor, Lloyd, Merchant, Chief.

* * * * *

METAMORPHOSIS. In West High's sixth-grade operetta Evalyn Smith played the role of Cinderella. Last night she graduated to the role of the Witch in "Hansel and Gretel," though hardly recognizable behind that putty nose.

* * * * *

WAYS AND MEANS: Has or has not the library gone as far as it can go with a bulletin board a foot thick sticking out from the wall? Little pipe-cleaner figures yet!

* * * * *

ASK 'EM YOURSELF: Ask Nelson Forrester about that telephone call. Ask Ben Gearhart about February 5. Ask Marilyn Edge about little sisters. Ask Ginny Schwartz about long fingernails. Ask Naomi Hoffman about lengthy explosions. Ask Marge Prall about tea parties. Ask Bill Starr about British accents.

* * * * *

LAUGH? WE THOUGHT WE'D DIE! Miss Blair, dealing quite frankly with "Kelly and Sheets," was brought to a standstill when her B prime class turned Keats' famous "Eve of St.—" into "Forever Agnes." We all like brother K's advertising line in aforementioned poem: "Quick Porphyro—Flit!

* * * * *

ART HAAF, explaining to Miss Rodemann the non-educational high schools in Pennsylvania (Pa. that is), remarked that of the three high schools—boys', girls', and coeducational, you could take your pick—and much, much later added "Two of the three."

* * * * *

COAT TALE: Sally Kemp tells it for the truth. Seems last Town Nite she rushed from her table, met her date in the lobby by the coat rack, and helpfully draped the coat and scarf he seemed to be reaching over his arm. Upstairs, she put on her own coat, then spent an enjoyable evening at the movies. On their return he was still carrying the coat, tried to give it to her as she went in. She thought it was his, he thought it was hers! Whose was it, Sally? (Bet the coat had a good time.)

* * * * *

SUBSTITUTES: Evalyn Smith, for a quick photograph of the H & G cast, could find no theatrical putty for her witch's nose, used instead plain old modeling clay from the education department. It worked nicely, but she had to take it off with a chisel—after waiting all afternoon for the picture, which, incidentally, was never made! Bob Holley, for act three of the same production, claimed he brought Heaven over from Thaw attic. Seems the Hi Society descend as angels down golden stairs courtesy of Mr. Holley.

Town Students

Carol Jones before a meeting of Methodist Youth in Blount County was explaining a course soon to be offered to the group. She said, "It consists of dating, and courtship and marriage. . .and Marriage. . .and the FAMILY."

During the same meeting Clifford Smith and Barbara Templin, nominated for an office, were asked to leave the room for the election. Immediately someone from the audience said, "don't let them go too far."

Campus Fellowship: One of the outstanding qualities of Maryville College has been the friendliness and fellowship which the school seems to posess. This fact seems to be confirmed; half the student body have had colds this week.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

SHADOWS

Next week's movie goers have a big treat in store for them with laughs galore. The Capitol Theatre starts the week with a gay, romantic comedy, "Apartment for Peggy," on Monday and Tuesday and closes the week with that heart-warming picture, "Big City." The Park Theatre adds its share in the week of comedies with the production "Sis Hopkins," starring Judy Canova on Monday and Tuesday.

"Apartment for Peggy," a Twentieth Century Production, is the story of a GI student and his bride with their problems of housing, money, and babies.

It all starts when Peggy (Jeanne Crain) and her husband (William Holden) can't balance their budget on an allotment that wouldn't feed a gnat, much less pregnant Peggy. But these young people have more help than most people with the same problems because Socrates and Plato enter the picture to help them out.

Also helping is a retired philosophy professor (Edmund Gwenn). As usual, the men are helpless in tight situations and Holden is about to give up his career and Gwenn is bordering on the brink of suicide, when the brave, gay Little Woman steps in and saves the day.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the Capitol features Margaret O'Brian and Robert Preston in "Big City." Margaret, that accomplished little actress of 12, is at her usual best and is supported by an excellent cast.

VOICES

To add to CBS' growing list of "acquired" stars is comedian Red Skelton. Skelton will be heard next fall over CBS network at 8:30 on Sunday night. He is now heard on NBC at 9:30 p. m. on Friday.

The talent raid on NBC is hinted to continue as Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy announce that they may join the list in the near future. Bergen retired from NBC last year when his "Good to the Last Drop" sponsor dropped him.

But CBS is not the sole raider. When CBS got Benny they also lost Art Linkletter's "Houseparty Show," to ABC. Still CBS can claim the top performers (according to Hooperratings) in every time segment from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Fred Allen, hard hit by the Hooperratings came back with the sandy dig of the week. Allen said "Hooper calls up a few people. . . . and tells you how many listeners you have in the whole 48 states. It's like multiplying the bottom of a bird cage and telling you how many grains of sand there are in the Sahara Desert."

MASKS

Name of the week around Maryville is that of Engelbert Humperdinck. Humpy is the guy that gets all the credit for composing the opera, "Hansel and Gretel," presented by the fine arts department Friday. (May we here add a word of congratulations to the members of the cast and the directors for a wonderful job.

Humpy, as I was saying, gets all the praise while the writer of the words is never mentioned. Perhaps it would interest you to know that the words were written by a woman, his sister in fact.

Adelheid Wette was the wife of a physician in Cologne, and without any thought of fame she wrote the play to be acted out by her children. Humpy later decided to write the music and "Hansel and Gretel" became an immediate success.

Those interested in opera will be pleased to know that the Metropolitan Opera Company is presenting "La Traviata" Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. over NBC.

FRAMES

Orchids to Chesley Anderson, Virginia Setterfield, and Arthur Santmier on their first place winners in the all-campus art exhibit last Saturday.

Santmier's entree was a pastel collage of roses. Anderson's winner was a water color painting of a blue heron, while Miss Setterfield won the award in the handicraft division with an appliqued table cloth.

Hours, New Postal Rates Announced For Book Store

Bookstore and post office personnel call the attention of students to its new business hours. These are posted on the door, and are now in effect.

Here is the schedule:

Weekdays: after chapel (about 8:20)
10:20 to 11:30
12:50 to 1:30
3:30 to 5:30
Saturday morning: same as weekdays
4:30 to 5:30

On January 1, the government abolished the 1½-cent stamp and made US airmail six cents again. Failure to put on enough postage may cause delay in delivery. Parcel post rates are up 25 per cent, and other fees—money orders and COD's—have been upped. Airmail to Europe is still 15 cents per half ounce.

Few Books Too Few

Almost all book needs have been met. Physics books and economics books which had been understocked have recently arrived. A few scattered shortages of one or two books still persist, mostly due to the delay of one large shipment.

Overstocking of books is rarely practiced here because the small percentage of profit makes superfluous books very costly to the management.

GIs may get "anything that would be required of civilians in a similar situation," no more, no less. Thus, a non-required dictionary would not be free, though a 4-h pencil might be.

Rental Losses

The book rental system loses by renting for one-fourth their value books which fall apart after one or two semesters, according to Dr. F. A. Griffitts, manager of the book store for the past five years.

This non-profit institution is essential to the school, Dr. Griffitts said.

Pre-Easter Bargain

Please do not call 2672-J after 6 p. m. unless interested in a sacrifice sale of a 1938 Chrysler Royal. Everything in top condition except the price.

Debaters Journey To C-N For One-Day Contest

February 12, Maryville debaters will travel to Jefferson City to Carson-Newman to participate in a one-day contest. The same debaters who will take part in the state tourney at Nashville will make the trip. They are Roger Cowan, Eric Meadows, Jim Torrey, Lewis Evans, Judy Breen, Carol Corbett, Dorothy Stater and Katie Carpenter.

Spanish Club Program Features Spelling Bee

Spanish Club held its bi-monthly meeting Thursday January 27th. A short Spanish spell-down was followed by an initiation of new members. The next meeting will be the February 10 with the program under the direction of Lou Masters.

THETAS SELECT SWEETHEART AT FEBRUARY 5 MEETING

Thetas will select their 1949 Sweetheart at the February 5 meeting. Framed photos of each girl's choice are to be taken to the program. Results will be announced at the February 12 Valentine meeting.

Cuthill Undergoes Surgery; Five Others Treated In Hospital

Robert Cuthill was taken last week to the Blount Memorial Hospital with a ruptured intestine. His condition is reported as "good"; he will remain in the hospital a few more days.

Cuthill was stricken as he walked home from the basketball game last Saturday night and was sent to the hospital for immediate surgical care.

Others reported on the sick list are Lynn Willis, Jim Black, John Ferris, all suffering from flu. Also treated in the College Hospital during the past week were Claire Bolton and Juanita Johnson.

DR. BARKER LEADS STUDY OF JESUS' PSYCHOLOGY

"Psychology Employed by Jesus" will be Dr. Lincoln Barker's topic at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church College Class tomorrow morning.

On February 6, Mrs. Margaret Cummings will speak on St. Paul and marriage.

It's Scots vs. Eagles 8 p.m. Alumni Gym

Echo Sports

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

●SCOT HOOPSTERS are set to put on a show with our favorite enemy, the Carson-Newman Eagles, tonight. It is said that figures don't lie but liars can figure so we'll try a little figuring—you draw the conclusions and check them at the game. The independent Gulf Refiners took the Scots twice (47-46 and 51-42); they took the Eagles by 72-58. Carson-Newman beat Carbon-Carbide of Oak Rigde 55-52; MC beat Carbon-Carbide twice (63-40 and 67-50). Here's a significant one—Western North Carolina squelched the Eagles badly by 62-39; MC squeezed out a win by 45-41. King College won from Carson-Newman 59-52, Tusculum took King 68-55, and the Scots took Tusculum 63-29. (The Scots play King College here on Feb. 16.) Milligan outplayed the Eagles 54-53, and LMU in turn took Milligan 68-61. Thursday's game with LMU brought the Scots a close 72-68 defeat. Any way you calculate it, it'll be a good game.

●An EX-SCOT BASEBALL PLAYER, Tom Saffell, has realized the baseballer's dream. Saffell has a chance to crash the big leagues with the Pittsburgh Pirates under Manager Billy Meyers. Saffell, who hails from Etowah, has played a lot of ball, beginning with sandlot games in Knoxville and carrying on to semi-pro ball in Indianapolis and Birmingham. As a freshman here at Maryville he played baseball, basketball, and football during the one year he remained a student. Last year Saffell played center field for the Indianapolis Indians, gaining for himself the reputation of a good hitter and a fast man on bases.

●MC'S MATMEN are batting an even .500 with one up and one down so far in their eight meet series this season. The return meet with Knoxville 'Y' tonight ought to yield another victory, but after that the sledding will be a little rougher. Auburn will be no pushover with three southern AAU men wrestling under an expert coach. At any rate, the match scheduled here next Saturday should see some 'rugged restlin' with men like George Sargeant, 121, Phil Smith, 165, and John Bruilovich, 175, paired up with Jim Marvin, Hershell Merriman, Herb Palmer, and John Briggs of the Scot squad.

●AUBURN'S wrestling record is impressive. Last year they bowled down the Highlander squad 26-5 on home grounds. Coach Davis' Scots beat them last in 1946, and they are undefeated so far this season

●FIRST SWIMMING MEET of the 1949 season will take place in Knoxville this afternoon when Coach Johnson's tankmen go up against the UT tankmen. Dean Risher and Jack Moore are entered in the diving events for the Scots, and they looked pretty good during workouts this week. Don MacDonald can set a pace in the backstroke which may prove hard to beat—in competition MacDonald stands a good chance of breaking the MC pool record in this event.

●JAMES NEWMAN, Highlander football trainer, has been appointed to the East Tennessee AAU Boxing Committee, which makes him one of the powers-that-be in the Knoxville News Sentinel's Golden Gloves tournament now in progress at the Lyric Theatre.

Point System Girls Prep For Rocky Mtn. Tests

Point system girls will take tests on Rocky Mountain basketball rules about February 1.

The girls are practicing basketball in preparation for seven scheduled games for the season. The first two games will be preliminary contests between the Chillies and the Howies.

Regular games will begin February 8.

All swimming tests were finished last Thursday.

Scots Face Eagles; After Three Games

Two of Three in Week—

After whipping Tusculum, 63-29, last Saturday, Coach L. S. Honaker's basketball crew took an easy 66-40 Town Nite stand with Cincinatti Bible Seminary, and departed Thursday night for Harrogate.

Lincoln Memorial's cage artists, though out-sped by the Honakermen for the opening minutes, extracted a 72-68 victory with Brownell Bryant accounting for 28 points.

Averaging 58.7 points per game, the MC quint finished its 13th season game with the Railsplitters. Opponents' average per game against the Scots is 50.6.

MARYVILLE BOWS TO SPLITTERS LESS 4-POINT MARGIN, 72-68

In a battle of defense, Maryville's varsity five fell through as Brownell Bryant, the Big Blue center, shot 28 points to put LMU over Maryville, 72-68, Thursday night on the Harrogate court.

Although both teams scored 39 points each in the last half, the Big Blue maintained a 4-point lead which they had sewed up at intermission with a 33-29 count. Maryville was charged with 20 fouls on the defense slate, with center Brick Brahams exceeding the 5-foul limit.

Lincoln Memorial was charged with 19 fouls with forward McCarter getting the referee's thumb for five fouls. The Scots made 16-21 free shots; the Railsplitters took 18-28 from the foul line.

While Brick Brahams topped the Scot quint with 17 points, forward Gene Reynolds, guards Hugh Hamil and Captain Bob Boring each netted an unluckly 13 points. Bryant's 28 was followed by forward Watson for LMU with 16 points.

Scots		'Splitters
Reynolds, 13	F.	McCarter, 3
Buckley, 9	F.	Watson, 16
Brahams, 17	C.	Bryant, 28
Boring, 13	G.	Peters, 10
Hamil, 13	G.	Myers, 9

Subs: MC—Roberts 2; Keny 1; Crisp. LMU Weight 2; Baker 1; Johnson 2.

SMITH SPARKS CBS CAGERS; BUT HONAKERMEN WIN, 66-40

Starting with a 8-0 handicap before they found themselves in the first three minutes, Cincinnati Bible Seminary's student-coached cage outfit finally went down, 66-40, Tuesday night in Alumni Gym.

With their starting center, Smith, CBS' Golden Eagle landed high score laurels for the game with Smith making 9 buckets. Captain Bob Boring and Brick Brahams tied with a 12-all total for Maryville's best work.

In the preliminary "B" contest, Walland High was defeated by the junior varsity, 42-24.

Home Record At Stake—

With a near-perfect home engagement record at stake, the Maryville Hoopmen challenge the C-N Eagle cage contingent in Alumni Gym tonight at eight o'clock.

Gulf Refiners, a Dixie League semi-pro team, thus far is the only foe to give the Scot hardwoodmen a loss on the Alumni floor. Gulf nabbed a 47-46 victory here on January 12.

Carson-Newman, under cagey Coach "Frosty" Holt, has waggered in and out of the scoring column during the current season. (see Sports Echos) Hoping for an "on" night, both rival coaches expect to suffer a nerve-racking see-saw battle as in last year's 37-36 MC victory.

The Scots' record in games won is nine out of fourteen. Gulf, University of Chattanooga, and Lincoln Memorial University have taken possible Highlander victories—all on the road except a 47-46 Gulf triumph.

Currently, center Brick Brahams is leading the Scottie squad in shooting averages with a 10.8 points-per-game average. Forward Gene Reynolds is second with 10.4. Guard Hugh Hamil is top free throw artist with a .750 in 12 hits in 16 attempts.

Probable line-ups:

Scots		Eagles
Reynolds (15)	F.	Netcher (18)
Buckley (12)	F.	Bean (8)
Brahams (19)	C.	Shipley (13)
Boring ( )	G.	J. Wade (20)
Hamil (11)	G.	G. Wade (17)

SCOTTIE HOOPSTERS TRIP TUSCLUM, 63-29, SATURDAY

Scot basketeers opened cage war with Tusculum's Pioneers last Saturday night to scalp the TC quint, 63-29, before a capacity crowd in an Alumni Gym double-header.

Caton, former Hiwassee gridman, plugged eight points to lead the visitors, while Brick Brahams with 12 and Captain Bob Boring with 11 put weight to a more-than-enough victory margin.

Scots		Pioneers
Reynolds, 7	F.	Caton, 8
Buckley, 9	F.	Welt, 11
Brahams, 12	C.	Blake, 6
Hamil, 7	G.	Rathosis, 4
Boring, 11	G.	Sheeler

Subs: MC—Baldwin 2, Roberts 5; Crisp 4; Baird, 2.
TC—Pyle 6.

PALMER TEES WITH BAILEY

Herbert Palmer, 175 class titleholder in '48, will move into the heavyweight line-up to tame YM CA's Dave Bailey, 220, tonight as the Scot matmen wrestle the Y at Knoxville.

John Briggs, 175, whom Bailey pinned in the season's opening match, will swap classes with Palmer. Coach Bob Maier, Y wrestling boss, will probably start Ralph. Willocks, MC letterman of 175 class in '47, to oppose Briggs.

Coach "J.D." Davis indicated that Ken Smith, 155, and Ches Anderson, 136, will likely start in their respective weights in other changes for the Scot line-up. Maryville took Y, 25-8, here January 18.

Intramurals....

By Tom Kelly

Four teams—Wholly Rabbies, Cyclops, Ex-Scrubbs, Deadly Deacons—remain undefeated as intramural basketball enters its third week of play.

Last Tuesday, the Whizzers trounced Athenians 29-9; Ex Schrubbs beat Alpha Sigma 33-8; RAC's took measure of Shlops, 18-8; and Bobcats took a forfeit from Frosh.

On Wednesday Shlops took a close, hard-fought game from the PB's 20-18; Ex-Schrubbs sunk Bobcats 23-9; Cyclops beat Frosh 36-20; and Whizzers took a 19-13 win from the Varmits.

Friday's play was highlighted by one of the closest games of the week in which Varmits eked out a 23-22 win over the 8-Balls. At the other extreme, Ex-Schrubbs piled up a 63-20 stampede over the hapless Athenian team.

In the Ex-Schrubb—Athenian clash, Joe McNeill with 17 and Richard Isenburg with 16 were high-scorers for the game and for the week. Other Friday scores included a 28-7 win by the Wholly Rabbies over Bobcats; Cyclops over RAC's, 29-11.

Athenian was the only team to bite the dust from the undefeated ranks in the second round of play. Otherwise, standings have generally remained static.

Standing for the week follow:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Wholly Rabbies	4	0	1.000
Cyclops	4	0	1.000
Ex-Scrubbs	4	0	1.000
Deadly Deacons	3	0	1.000
Whizzers	2	1	.667
RAC's	3	2	.600
Bobcats	3	3	.500
Varmits	3	3	.500
Eight Balls	2	3	.400
Athenians	1	2	.333
Creamers	1	3	.250
Shlops	1	3	.250
Frosh	1	4	.200
PB's	1	5	.167
Alpha Sig	0	4	.000

Maryville Splashmen Open With Vol's Team Today

Maryville's varsity swimmers will open season after a lay-off since '42 against the University of Tennessee Vols this afternoon at 3 p.m. at UT's pool.

Coach Kenneth P. Johnson is taking an 11-man squad to compete against UT Coach Karl Bahret's experienced tankmen. This afternoon's event will be the first home performance for the Vol swimmers.

Events and participants for Maryville are as follows:

300-yd. medley—Don Macdonald, George Barber, Bill Varker;

Next Saturday Maryville's swimteam has a return meet with UT in the college pool. The meet will be the first of three home engagements for the MC tankmen.

220-yd. free-style—Curt Barnett, Everett Zabriskie; 50-yd. free-style—Varker, Dick Lane.

Divers Enter Meet

Jack Moore and Dean Risher will perform in the one compulsory and seven optional dives in the meet. 100-yd. free-style—Thad Godwin, Lane; 150-yd. back stroke—Macdonald, Ed Vanderslice.

200-yd. breaststroke— Barber, Bo Henry; 440-yd. free-style—Barnett, Zabriskie; and 400-yd. free-style relay—Lane, Macdonald, Godwin, Varker.

Russell Ozanne, Harold Lucas, and Suha Beller, the Turkish lad, are billed as UT's foremost tank material. Pre-meet talk by Coach Johnson revealed that the MC tankmaster believes the Scot swimmers improved over their showing in practice at first of semester.

Scots To Wrestle Auburn Saturday

Maryville's matmen, will meet the wrestling might of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute next Saturday, in Alumni Gym.

Last year the Auburn team under Coach "Swede" Umloch tied down the Scots by a 26-5 final score. The Scots decisioned in the 121 class that meet, and gained a draw in the 175's. Auburn is undefeated this year, having taken Appalachian State and Washington and Lee.

Old Hands Back

Best of Auburn's mat talent back this year are John Bruilovich, Southern AAU heavyweight champ, and George Sargeant, 121. John McKenzie, 155, last year's wrestling captain is also back. He worked the 136 class last year.

Carrol Keller, 145, gave "Tubby" Callaway his only defeat of the '47-'48 season and is back with Coach Umloch this year. Phil Smith will wrestle the 165 against Hershell Merriman, and Orcutt will take the 136. Orcutt was defeated by Anderson of Maryville 5-0 in their previous bout. Two new men will be on the squad in the 128 and 175 matches.

Arkansas Rasslers Pin Scotties, 21-8

Coach "J. D." Davis' grunt and groaners went under to Arkansas State by a 21-8 tailey Saturday night in the Alumni Gym.

Two pins were scored in the matches, both by Arkansas. The first, in the 121 pound class, was by Jake Durham in the opening 32 seconds of the first period; and the second, in the 155 pound class, was by Walter Wilson 43 seconds after the opening of the second period.

Maryville's eight points came as Tom Yeaworth, 136, made an escape for two points, Hershell Merriman, 165, gained a reverse, a take down, and a time advantage for three points. Captain "Tubby" Callaway, 145, scored a take down, near fall, escape, and time advantage for the remaining three team points.

Summary

121 Class—Durham, Ark. State, pinned Marvin in 32 sec. of second.

128 Class—Palone, Arkansas State gained 3-1 decision over Cameron.

136 Class—Yeaworth, MC, won 2-1 decision over Henrick.

145 Class—Callaway, MC, won 5-0 decision over Cornody.

155 Class—Wilson, Ark. State, pinned Major in 43 sec. of second.

165 Class—Merriman, MC, gained 6-0 decision over Elias.

175 Class—Greenwald, Ark. State, won 4-1 decision over Palmer.

175 Class—Laeche, Ark. State, won 4-0 decision over Briggs, MC. Briggs' weight 175; Laeche, 230.

Pressure Bellows Break, Cause Steam Clouds

Steam-clouds which billowed from the ground in front of Carnegie Hall last week-end have been explained by college engineer E. C. Brown as an escape-valve release necessitated by a break in a pressure bellows.

Steam at 150 pound pressure is forced through the main to a temperature regulator which steps the pressure down to 40 pounds. When the old bellows in the regulator gave under this force, all 150 pounds rushed through causing a pop valve to open.

The reason the steam came out of the ground itself is that there was no proper escape pipe. Its escape continued until new parts were obtained.

WSGA Summarizes News For Girls' Dorms

WSGA now posts a daily summary of world news on the bulletin boards of each of the women's dormitories. This project is in answer to a questionaire distributed by WSGA, in which the girls expressed the desire to be able to learn more about world news.

Thursday night Mrs. Margaret Cummings gave a talk to all girls on campus in Baldwin parlors concerning more effective use of study hours. This subject was also on the questionaire.

Plans for publication of this year's 'Chips', which will go on sale March 7, were explained at Writer's Workshop Wednesday, January 26.

Next Wednesday, February 2, Fred Sieber and Rebecca Walton Gresham will read with Arthur Bushing and Martha Hull as critics.

Last week Chester Phillips read a long poem entitled "The Flight of Cassandra" with Elizabeth H. Jackson criticizing. Evelyn Anderson read the prologue to an historical novel entitled "Le Bois du Coeur Noir." Juanita Johnson criticized.

Mrs. Montgomery Joins Lamar Library Staff

Mrs. E. W. Montgomery, formerly of the teaching staff of Consolidated School in Iowa, joined the staff of Lamar Memorial Library this month to help Librarian Ruth Grierson with clerical work.

Mrs. Montgomery, who is the sister-in-law of Dr. Ralph T. Case, graduated as an English major from Parsons College in Fairfield Ill., and has just finished a course in library services at UT.

Pittsburgh is "home" says Mrs. Montgomery, and lists her pet likes as her family, books, and gardening, in that order. Her daughter Jane is a freshman at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., this year, while her two sons attend Maryville High School.

Tennessee Philological Association Meets at MC

Dr. Edwin Hunter has announced that the Tennessee Philological Association will hold its annual meeting at Maryville College March 4 and 5. The association is made up of teachers in language and literature. Approximately 50 delegates are expected to attend the discussions which are to be held in Bartlett Hall. Dr. Joseph Callaway, professor of Greek at the University of Chattanooga, is president of the association. No definite program is available at this time for publication.

Final Hope Fund Pledges Due 10th

Mary E. Smith Forced To Leave Changsha Post

To date $975.61 has been paid of the total $1,749.75 pledged for the Fred Hope Fund for the support of Mary Edna Smith, educational missionary to China. This leaves a balance of $744.14 yet to be paid if the total of the payments last year and this year are to meet the obligations assumed in her support. Third and final payment on the pledges will be due February 10-12.

Miss Smith went to China last summer, and in September began work as a teacher in the Fuh Siang Girls School, Changsha, which is in the inland province of Hanan.

Americans Flee

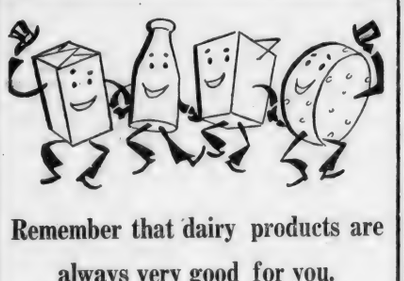
Communist army advances toward Nanking and in the direction of Changsha caused the American consul in that area to decide that all Americans with families and those who could not speak the Chinese language should leave the interior.

A letter from Miss Smith, written at Shanghai on January 15, says, "The word came so fast, and we had to decide what we were doing in such a hurry! None of us who came out, came because we wanted to, but because we thought it was the right thing to do. There are still two of the foreign staff there at the school. They are carrying on and doing as much as they can but they do need extra help.

"It is very difficult to get into Changsha now as it takes so many days by train and there are no planes to Changsha ordinarily. Also I still do not know the language and that is against one when the country is not at peace. If only one could know what is going to happen and when, and what life will be like under the Communists."

Reports From Abroad

Last week while in New York, Presiednt Ralph W. Lloyd talked to Miss Margaret Flory, a secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, who was in Changsha when the order came to evacuate. She said that Miss Smith conducted herself with courage and good judgment.



President and Mrs. Lloyd also received a letter from Miss Margaret Frame, a member of the China Executive Commtitee in Shanghai, in which she says, "Last evening I met Mary Edna Smith for the first time and was delighted with her as have been the Changsha folks. She has been swept down here on the whirlwind evacuation from the interior that the consular authorities are carrying through. We'll take good care of her, but since she hasn't learned Chinese, and since we must send some folks abroad, she may find herself in the Phillipine Islands or Siam or India. She is ready for anything except return to USA!"

Since December 1, Miss Smith has been serving as registrar of the Shanghai American School, an institution for the children of American missionaries, Government officials, and business people.

Visit us and see what good work we can do. Portraits, in black and white or tinted, are an excellent gift for a loved one.

ABC Secret Revealed At 'Club '49'

Six Bainonians On ABCalenders

Athenian and Bainonian revealed their closely-guarded ABC secret at "Club '49" last Saturday evening in Intramural Gym. The societies are jointly publishing a calendar picturing six MC coeds which is to be distributed to Athenian and Bainonian members.

Twelve nominees for calendar girls were "Pinky" Ahler, Barbara Altfather, Claire Bolton, Ellen Collins, Dot Downey, Alice Huddleston, Sarah Kemp, Edith Lancaster, Polly Onifer, Peggy Sangster, Sally Sutton, and Gwyneth Williams.

Selected for January and February was Sarah Kemp, sophomore, who was a '48 Barnwarming attendant. Sophomore Peggy Sangster poses for March and April, and sophomore Alice Huddleston for May and June. Dot Downey, sophomore, and a '47 Barnwarming attendant, represents July and August. Freshman Sally Sutton poses for September and October, and "Pinky" Ahler, sophomore, for November and December.

The calendars, which are expected to arrive soon, measure eight by eleven inches, and the photographs are four by six.

Jim Lester, Athenian vice-president, expressed thanks to those who had aided in the extensive program, which was in connection with the current membership drive.

Athenian and Alpha Sigma will meet jointly tonight at 6:30 in Bartlett to hear Coach "JD" Davis speak on wrestling.

First Piano Quartet Plays Monday At UT

First Piano Quartet will play a concert Monday night, February 7 at 8 p.m. in the U-T auditorium as a part of the University Concert series. The Quartet consists of Adam Garner, Vladimir Padwa, Frank Mittler and Edward Edson.

Special buses will go from Maryville to Knoxville to accomodate MC students who wish to attend the concert.

Enrollment Decreases By 52 Second Semester

College enrollment for this semester is 834 with 465 men and 369 women. This is 52 less than last semester's enrollment of 886 of which 495 were men and 391 women. During and after last semester 81 students left school. Twenty-nine new ones entered this term.

Saul, Lindsay Debate Tennessee Wesleyan

Stuart Saul and Carl Lindsay will debate the negative side in a campus debate with Tennessee Wesleyan on Tuesday, February 8. Debating will start at 7:15 p.m. in Thaw 214 and is open to the public.

Question for debate is "Resolved: the Federal Government should adopt a policy to equalize education opportunities in tax supported schools by means of annual grants."

Yearbook Almost Ready, Goes To Press Thursday

Dorothy Holverson, editor of the 1949 Chilhowean, announced today that the yearbook will go to press by February 10. All photographic work and a large amount of written script have already been sent in.

Over 600 copies were ordered this year, most of which have already been sold. A small number of extra copies will be available.

Although no definite time has been set for their arrival, the book is expected to arrive before school is out.

YMCA Launches 'Books For Asia' Drive February 14

USA Missions Board To Ship Textbooks

YMCA will sponsor a "Books for Asia" project on campus February 14. The project was launched by a group of students at Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn.

To help struggling forces of education in the Orient, the MCA group at Macalester has asked 44 other Presbyterian colleges to join them in collecting textbooks for colleges in Asia.

Macalester Christian Association includes that campus' YM and YW, Westminster Fellowship, the Methodists' Wesleyan Club, Lutheran Student Association, the Baptists' Roger Williams Fellowship, and other organizations.

Working with the USA Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, American colleges are to aid in building and replacing libraries in China, Korea, the Phillipines, Siam, and Japan.

Since English has become the educational language of the Far East, the colleges are wholly dependent on English textbooks.

Professors' Memory

Many collegese report that they often have but one textbook for an entire class; professors have taken to memorizing texts and dictating them to their charges.

Particularly needed are English literature, chemistry, physics, history, and sociology texts. There is a smaller demand for mathematics, but books on special and professional training, such as engineering, medicine, and business, are wanted.

Spanish and French are the only language texts needed, and music, industrial arts, home economics, religion, and ethics books are in demand.

Standard or recent editions are preferred, but any good textbooks will be acceptable because of the urgency of the situation.

Goal of the plan is to foster closer relations between foreign and American schools.

Seniors Fill Out Permanent Record Blanks This Week

Permanent registration blanks, passed out in Chapel last Saturday, are now being filled out by all seniors for the Committee on Recommendations.

A folder is made for each senior from information given, and is available upon request of prospective employers or graduate schools.

Information required consists of six photographs, an introductory sheet, personal data, recommendations from three faculty members, work record from Student Help Office, and the individual's academic record.

Graduation Fee Covers Cost

This record is not to be confused with the official academic transcript from the Personnel Office. There is no charge for the record, but there is a charge for the transcript.

A slight graduation fee, covering the cost of these forms, postage for mailing, and other matters, is charged, however. The services of the committee are free.

Although the filling out of these blanks used to be voluntary, it is now required of every senior. It was found under the voluntary system that more did not fill them out than did, and it was difficult to make recommendations several years after the person had graduated.

These records are kept permanently.

Dr. Morgan Leads Vesper At New Providence

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, leader of the February Meetings, will be the speaker at Vespers Sunday evening in the New Providnce Presbyterian Church. Dr. Morgan's subject will be "Friendship—Human and Divine."

Two numbers will be sung by the Vesper Choir, "There is a Balm in Gilead" by William L. Dawson, and "O Praise Ye God" by P. I. Tschaikowsky.

YWCA All-Campus Tea Honors Meetings Leaders

Dr. H. M. Morgan and Dr. S. E. Stringham will be guests of honor at an all-campus tea given by YWCA Wednesday night, February 9 in the Y rooms. The tea will begin immediately following the last evening meeting at New Providence Church.

This tea is an annual affair of YW in honor of the February Meetings leaders. Dr. Morgan, Dr. Stringham, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Lloyd and representatives of the YWCA cabinet will be in the receiving line.

Vera Lusk and Geneva Robinson, co-chairmen of the YW social committee, are now making the arrangements for the tea.

Eight Participate In Tuesday Recital

Nine classical musical numbers will be presented in a student recital Tuesday, February 8 at 4:30 p.m. in the Y rooms.

The program includes "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves" from "Scipio" by Handel, George Howell with Charlotte Wyman as accompanist; "Nocturne, Op. 15, No. 2" by Chopin, Irene Launitz, "Lauterbach" a German folksong, Margaret Ann Warren accompanied by Peggy Williams.

"Lotus Land" by Cyril Scott, Carol Barnett; "Think On Me" by Scott, Ruth McQuilkin accompanied by Barbara Sandos; "Larghetoo" by Handel, Ruth Ramsey accompanied by Juanita Johnson; "Calm at Sea" by Schubert and "The Friar of Orders Gray" by Shield, Charles Huffman accompanied by Dorothy Vawter; "Nocturn, Op. 15, No. 2" by Chopin, Carolyn Marshall.

METHODIST COLLEGE CLASS DISCUSSES LIFE PLANS

Mrs. D. L. Jones will lead a discussion on "God's Plan for Our Lives—Does He Have One, How Can We Find It?" This discussion will be held at the college class of the Broadway Methodist Sunday School on Sunday, February 6.

Y's Choose 'Cloth of Sedony' As Easter Pageant

"The Cloth of Sendony," an Easter pageant, will bring Biblical scenes to Bartlett auditorium April 16. Sponsors of the drama are YM and YW, who have set production time as the night before Easter.

Bill Starr and Anne Jenkins have main roles of Joseph of Arimithea and his beloved niece, Susannah. Rehearsals begin the middle of March.

This play by Elizabeth Emerson is a picture of the effect of on a small group of people.

Joseph, wealthy dealer in textiles, is selfish and avaricious except in dealing with Susannah. His favorite possession, the Cloth of Sendony, is a symbol of his wealth and pride until the day of supreme test. Then his heart is changed, and the cloth is given as a covering for his crucified Lord Jesus.

Figuring strongly in the play is David, Susannah's suitor, played by David Reed. He may be described as a young man who comes into great wealth. Other characters include Nicodemus—Bill Carter, Jairus—Joe Poland, and Jairus' daughter, Judith—Carol Corbett.

Charles Williams and Ken Newell act in a scene on a work of Thomas Mann's. Leon Berrong plays a servant, and a messenger also appears in the story.

Director of the play is Marge Prall, stage manager, Ruth Heaps and house manager, Joe Claud.

The Highland Echo Tryouts

Students interested in trying out for the business staff of the Highland Echo should report to the Echo office at 8 p. m. Friday evening, February 11.

Theta Alpha Phi Play Stars Black, Wooldridge; Point System Announced

By Dick Newman

"Wuthering Heights" by Randolph Carter, 1949 commencement play selected by Theta Alphi Phi, will star Jim Black as Heathcliff and Mary Mitchell Wooldridge as Catherine Ernshaw. Dates of presentation are May 14 and 16.

In addition to the leads, the all-Theta Alpha Phi cast includes Ben Paxton as Joseph; Marian Pope, Ellen Dean; Roger Cowan, Hindley Ernshaw; Bill Nish, Edgar Linton; Dorothy Holverson, Isabel.

Mrs. Lenore Courtney is director, and Ruth Ellen Crews, assistant director. Mildred Miller will serve as stage manager; Ginny Schwars, house manager.

The story deals with the Ernshaw family into which is introduced Heathcliff, a foundling. The plot is built around the fiercely revengeful life of Heathcliff.

Under ill usage he develops appalling cruelty and an inflexible will. The one redeeming trait in his distorted nature is love for Hindley Ernshaw's sister Catherine, which outlives both her marriage to Edgar Linton and her death.

Heathcliff finally starves himself to death, haunted by the presence of the woman who, despite his cruelty, has always belonged to him in spirit.

Dramatics Point System

MC's Tennessee Delta Chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity, will present its production in Maryville High School Auditorium. Final arrangements are as yet incomplete.

The chapter has revised its membership requirements so that entrance is now based on points. They may be earned in the fields of acting, staging, business, and writing.

The purposes of Theta Alpha Phi, from the national constitution, are ". . . . to increase interest, stimulate creativeness, and foster artistic achievement in all the allied arts and crafts of the theater."

Since membership is limited to one per cent of the student body, upperclassmen who have earned the required number of points are considered by the chapter each spring.

'New Spirit, Not Old-Fashioned Revival'–Morgan

Taking as his theme "Power of Christ in Problems Today," Dr. Howard Moody Morgan last Wednesday morning began the 73rd series of Maryville College's February Meetings.

Dr. Morgan, along with pianist Dr. Henry Barracough and song leader Dr. Sidney E. Stringham, was introduced by Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd in the first meeting of the series. Prayers at these services are offered by students and faculty members.

Prefacing his remarks with the statement that these meetings were to exemplify "not an old fashioned revival, but God's ever new spirit," Dr. Morgan pointed out that "Jesus is the same yesterday, today, and forever," ready with the answer to man's many problems.

"No age is static," said Dr. Morgan. Reading the scripture ending ". . in Whom we live and move and have our being," Dr. Morgan mentioned that a number of otherwise worthy people only live and have being—they just won't move.

"Often the postscripts to the New Testament letters contain the most pith," he suggested in conclusion.

Wednesday night's meeting was built around the theme of Power. Dr. Morgan used Acts 1:8 as his text; he concluded by pointing out that Christ can see our possibilities and through His powers can transform our lives to lives of supreme happiness and service.

In Thursday morning's meeting Dr. Morgan suggested an intelligent and affectionate study of the Bible. He suggested that, even though Maryville was a Church-related college, the tendency might be to leave study of the Bible in the classroom at the conclusion of the class.

"The Bible is to some people no more than a form or a fetish," he said, advocating that one read the Bible always on the lookout for God.

Dr. Morgan used as his theme in the service Thursday night the power of joy as Christ's gift to us. Dr. Morgan stated, "Christ is the despenser of joy. . and we try to satisfy ourselves with worldly things, but we cannot achieve true joy through them."

In Friday morning's meeting, Dr. Morgan stated that prayer is maintained fellowship with God, the whole life of going forward under God. He brought out the significance of the points of the Lord's Prayer: celebration of God, petition for the world, and personal petition.

Dr. Morgan described Christ's call for character in knowledge at the service Friday night. Dr. Morgan pointed out that ecstacy of religion is not sufficient in itself and gave as an example of ideal character touched by God the Sermon on the Mount.

At the service Dr. Stringham sang "Nothing but Leaves," a solo written by Dr. Barraclough.

GRESHAM, SIEBER READ AT WORKSHOP WEDNESDAY

Rebecca Walton Gresham read a short piece entitled "Reveries" at Writers' Workshop, February 2. Martha Hall led criticism.

A short story entitled "One of the Multitude" was read by Fred Sieber. It was criticised by Arthur Bushing.

Workshop will not meet next week due to February Meetings.

February Meeting Speakers Like Music -- 'Be-Bop,' Hymns, Hillbilly

by Davis and Dance

Dr. Morgan—

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan is on MC campus for his third time as leader of February Meetings. "Home" is Philadelphia, says Dr. Morgan, and that's where his wife Margaret and children live. Located there is Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, where Dr. Morgan is pastor.

Born in the US of English parents, Dr. Morgan went to England at the age of three and spent his boyhood there, obtaining his education in British schools. After graduating from Douglas College in Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, he returned to the US at the age of 19.

Since then he has crossed the Atlantic 20 times. Before World War II he returned to England each summer for 12 years, preaching and speaking at conferences. The start of the War found him in England, where he was stranded for some time.

Dr. Morgan has five children, whose ages range from 22 to seven. His oldest daughter Patricia is a graduate of Penn State and now works in the personnel department there. Richard, his oldest son, is a junior at David-

Dr. Barraclough—

Dr. Henry Barraclough, genial guest pianist, received his musical training in Bradford, England, where he spent his youth. He studied under Lawrence S. Hurst, FRGO, and was discovered as a pianist in England by the evangelistic team of Chapman and Alexander. He acted as their accompanist for a year in England and for three years in the US.

"Those were four very happy but strenuous years," Dr. Barraclough remembers, "playing for five services each day."

In addition to his work with the piano and organ, Dr. "Barry," as he is known, is also a recognized composer. Probably his best known composition is his "Ivory Palaces," to which he wrote both words and music.

Some of his other titles are "We Are Going through the Valley One by One," and "Nothing but Leaves," which Dr. Stringham sang as a solo Friday night.

Of the many anthems he has composed, Dr. Barry thinks "Trumpet of God" is his most popular. Although he writes both words and music for most of his compositions, he also has written music for lyrics furnished him by the Hope Publishing Company.

Dr. Barraclough's own favorite music is found in the Beethoven sonotas and the works of Rachmaninoff.

Asked about his hobbies, he mentioned photography and reading philosophy and theology.

Dr. Barracluogh appeared at Wednesday's Thursday's, and Friday's services in this series of February Meetings.

Dr. Stringham—

Dr. Sidney E. Stringham is well known to the MC campus, this being his 27th appearance here as song leader. Dr. Stringham comes from Jackson, Mo., where he is pastor of New Mc Kendree Methodist Church.

Classical, popular—music of all kinds appeals to Dr. Stringham. "Hillbilly? I listen to it whenever I get a chance!"

Dr. Stringham introduced a new chorus, written by Dr. Barraclough, at Wednesday night's meeting. In addition to leading the hymns, Dr. Stringham usually sings several solos during his stay here.

Two-Piano Recital Scheduled Friday

Pupils of Professor Katherine Davies and Thelma Nelson will appear in a two-piano recital Friday evening, February 11, at 8 p.m. in the Chilhowee Clubhouse.

The program is as follows: "Pastorale" by Bach-Maier, Mary Jo Pribble and Katherine Blackburn; "Chorale," Bach-Scionti, Alice Huddleston and Sarah Durant; a Negro spiritual arranged by Triggs, "Death Ain't Yuh Got No Shame," Louise Lloyd and June Hood;

"Gondoleria" by Reincke, Mary Baker and Barbara Stidham; Benjamin's "Jamaican Rumba," Evelyn Smith and Dorothy Downey; "Cakewalk," from "Carnival Suite" by Tansman, Carol Barnett and Jody Richardson;

"Oh Susanna," Foster-Gould, Grace Scruggs and Barbara Rosensteel; Milhoud's "Scaramouche Suite," Caroline Marshall and Irene Launitz.

Teaching and Understanding

Montaigne, in "Of the Education of Children," said "'Tis the understanding that sees and hears, 'tis the understanding that improves everything, that orders everything. . . . And certainly we render it timorous and servile in not allowing it the liberty and privilege to do anything of itself. . . .

"To know by rote is no knowledge and signifies no more but only to retain what one has intrusted to our memory. That which a man rightly knows and understands, he is the free disposer of at his own full liberty, without any regard to the author whence he had it or fumbling over the leaves of his book.

"A mere bookish learning is a poor, paltry hearing; it may serve for ornament but there is yet no foundation for any superstructure to be built pon it. . . ."

At this point the perennial "little Johnny in the back of the room" might ask why teachers do not practice what they teach. Why, Johnny might insist, must there be so much memorizing?

All this was rather ironically pointed up at a recent meeting of the Modern Language Association when speakers deplored the poor preparation in English provided in high schools. But high school teachers responsible for such a situation are college graduates who, apparently, did not gain in college the understanding which, according to Montaigne, is the foundation of a superstructure of true learning.

They had facts poured into them and when they became teachers they did the same thing to others. They had never been taught how to integrate with life what they found in books. They did not take away with them either the understanding or the desire for understanding which makes knowledge dynamic instead of a poor, paltry grasp of details.

This is looming up as a grave problem. We are advancing with respect to teachers' pay and schoolhouses, but we are not doing so well in training men and women to be good teachers. How to re-establish the prestige of the teacher is a major task of the future. How to attract eager minded people to the profession is another. But how to make them purveyors of understanding, in the sense that Montaigne used the term, is the hardest job of all, because it involves such a drastic alteration of values in our scheme of education.

Religion, College, and Students

In the hurry of present-day college life, religion too often becomes the most easily left-out part of an overloaded schedule. We here at Maryville have a definite place in our curriculum and in our lives for worship and meditation.

Once each year the college sets aside one week when we may take a little extra time to view our lives and religion. Some carefully selected speaker directs our thoughts toward God and our relationship to Him. This time, if we but use it, can help us toward more complete integration and more satisfactory lives.

Attention Ralph!

"Sure am hungry," said Phyl Jackson after a rough basketball work-out.

"Well," answered Nikki Hart, "I've got some crackers and cheese in the room and my honey's out on the fire escape." (We think Nikki has solved the problem of keeping tabs on Roger.)

Urgent!

Just overheard on the campus: an MC couple is looking for an apartment, just large enough so that the bride won't go back to Mama and just small enough so that Mama won't come to see the bride.

Jean Leister: "You just had it."

Unpsychologically speaking: an idiot is the fellow who is coming down the right side of the stairs when you are going up the wrong side in a hurry.

Survival Summary. . . .

Anyone wishing to get all his sports in summary form should take half an hour some afternoon to watch the combination football, wrestling, boxing, what-have-you affairs known as intramural basketball. It's an education in itself as one realizes what an extensive vocabulary has the human male, and how quickly he reverts to his animal instinct of "the survival of the fittest."

And speaking of guests—

Dr. Stringham must have felt right "to home" when the choir sang a welcome to him Thursday morning. What else but "Beyond the Sunset."

While we're on the subject of songs—we've discovered that Dr. "Barry" wrote "Ivory Palaces" during a ten-mile drive from Montreat, N. C., to Black Mountain. Montreat is certainly lovely enough to inspire such a beautiful song (P S—We're U S).

How absent-minded can one get? Margaret Rock, standing in line for cream in the dining hall, kept talking away, waiting her turn. When she finally got there, imagine her confusion at finding that she didn't have her pitcher!

The sick list for this week was filled with faculty names—just can't understand why none of our instructors ever get sick?

And now the weather report for the vicinity—(stop me if you've heard this) snow, followed by small boys on sleds.

On Responsibility

Carnegie Hall's first fire drill in a semester, we're told, went according to plan last week. In an operation like this, absolute cooperation of those affected is no more than what should be expected. Students who are quick to criticize college officials for alleged fire hazards in other buildings would do well to take care of their own responsibilities.

Student Council

Student Council plans to publish the entire Student Body Constitution so that each student may have a copy. It will go before the Student Body for ratification shortly after the close of the February Meetings.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

THE POPCORN CIRCUIT

Town Nite gives way, as do all other evening activities this week, to February Meetings. However, for those who might have a free afternoon to kill, here are the features showing downtown this week.

"The Noose Hangs High," one of the latest Bud Abbott—Lou Costello comedies, spends Monday and Tuesday at the Capitol. At the same time Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, and Dorothy Lamour are cavorting down the "Road to Rio" at the Park.

Well received by movie reviewers of Life and other magazines, "Unfaithfully Yours" shows Wednesday-Thursday at the Capitol. Linda Darnell, remembered for her Amber performance, shares top billing with British star Rex Harrison. The comedy itself is a clever new treatment of wife-jealous—husband-third party theme. For a ridiculous farce which batters the eternal triangle all out of shape, see "Unfaithfully Yours."

Hopalong Cassidy in "Strange Gamble" finishes the week at the Capitol.

THE PEANUT GALLERY

Theta Alpha Phi's spring play, "Wuthering Heights," marks selection of the last dramatic production of this year.

We weren't surprised (see The Echo of two weeks ago), but we were possibly a little disappointed in their choice of a talky, bulky, costume drama. However, if anyone can make "WH" boxoffice, Theta Alpha Phi can.

Refreshing our knowledge of the play, we found that Emily Bronte wrote the original novel (the play's a dramatization by Randolph Carter) barely a year before she died at the age of 28. How a reserved, secluded, old maid daughter of a country parson could write such a walloping novel of mixed emotions and haunting love is a $64 question.

The plot concerns an orphan boy, Heathcliff (Jim Black), who falls in love with the lovely daughter of his rich benefactor. Catherine (Miteh Wooldridge) returns his affection, but her brother Hindley (Roger Cowan) hates the strange, darkly handsome youth.

Catherine turns from her childhood sweetheart when she meets the ritzy neighbors next door, Edgar and Isabel Linton (Bill Nish and Dot Holverson). Heathcliff runs away, returns a handsome man with money and influence to find Catherine in his absence married to Edgar Linton. In a fit of revenge on them both he woos and weds Edgar's sister Isabel only to drive her mad. (Just how this is revenge on Cathy and Edgar is rather vague.)

Hidden in the character parts of elderly servants are Ben Paxton as Joseph and Marian Pope as Ellen Dean.

THE LISTENING POST

New and good in the detective mystery field is Mr. Chameleon, heard over WNOX at 8 p. m. on Wednesday nights. Mr. Chameleon lives up to his name by disguising his identity (The Man of a Thousand Faces) to solve startling cases of crime and murder.

Mr. Chameleon is the brain child of Frank and Anne Hummert, radio prodigies who produced last year 3,640 scripts—6,000,000 words for the 14 daytime serials they write and produce. Anne hits the ears of countless housewives with Just Plain Bill, Stella Dallas, Romance of Helen Trent, and Young Widder Brown. Frank puzzles with the American Melody Hour, Waltz Time, and Manhattan Merry-Go-Round.

The Hummerts hire 14 writers to stick dialogue onto the plots they outline. Mr. Chameleon, for instance, has dialogue by Marie Baumer.

Percy Faith, Jane Froman, and Roger Pryor appear in the last performance of The Pause That Rfreshes on the Air, over CBS at 10:30 p.m. February 11. This final broadcast will feature music by Kern, Porter, Morales, Rodgers, and Gershwin.

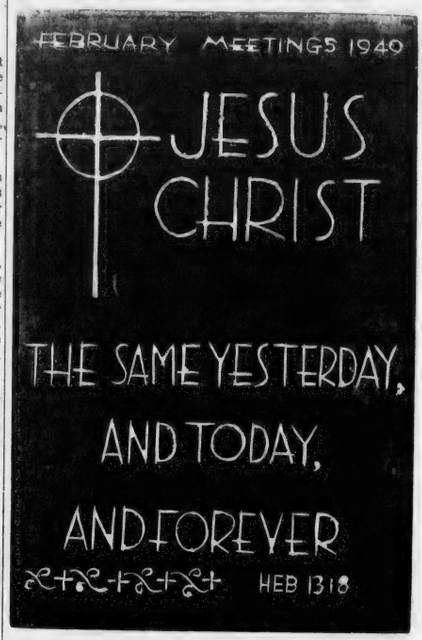
Miss Froman will be featured in "So In Love," from Cole Porter's Broadway musical "Kiss Me, Kate," "They Can't Take That Away From Me," from Gershwin's "Shall We Dance?" and "Begin the Beguine," from Cole Porter's "Jubilee."

THE PRINTED PAGE

New on the library shelves this week are Winston Churchill's "Blood, Sweat, and Tears," and "The Saint and the Devil," Francis Winwar's new novel about Joan of Arc and her world.

Fiction recently added include "Dark Hazard," Burnett; "Sigh for a Drumbeat," Doncaster; "Martin Eden," London; "The Ticker-tape Murder," Propper.

The library also has "Danger! Curves Ahead!" by Lincoln, which you might think dealt with reckless driving but is actually about the dangers of uncontrolled eating habits.



Sherwood's new book, "Roosevelt and Hopkins," is available now, as is Miller's "Town with the Funny Name" and "The Selected Verse of Ogden Nash."

While the library adds an unusual number (for a college library) of new books each week, and while the shelves are screened fairly often for out-of-date issues, we somtimes wonder about some volumes on the shelves.

For instance, the library has two copies of a book on How to Write Scenarios for Silent Motion Pictures on its shleves, while a number of duplicate copies of currently read books are neatly tucked away in the basement stacks.

BADGETT'S

Sports Echoes

By Herbert McCallum

●WHEN COACH Arnold Umbach cut out his Auburn wrestling squad, particularly last year's championship team, he chose the choicest stock of material. Which makes us believe that the Auburnites can endure crude treatments of strain and stress accompanied by brute force. Minus four stellar performers of the past season, the Auburn coach brings three, possibly four, of the South's best wrestlers to pit against the Scots tonight.

●AS A HEAVYWEIGHT, Auburn's John Burnilovich is literally (both sidewise and upright) the most lethel foe on the mat—sick 'em, Davis or Briggs! In the 165 lineup Hershall Merriman's and Phil Smith's round may be the fastest and most gruelling of the night. Smith is, as yet, undefeated. Carrol Keller, Captain "Tubby" Callaway's foe is no stranger on the mat. John McKenzie, 155, is Auburn's threat number four.

●TO DATE Coach Umbach's grapplers have whacked out an impressive record. After losing their opener to Washington & Lee, 26-8, they've trounced in succession Appalachian State, 15-11 (no mean mat power here), and Vanderbilt by the whale-of-a-score, 30-4 (just like MC used to do!) If they passed Georgia Tech last week (which they undoubtedly managed), the Auburn Plainsmen are looking for their fourth straight win tonight.

●TO HANG WITH the handicaps! That's the attitude of twelve swimmers in Maryville's varsity after last week's ducking at Knoxville. As to the matter of scoring, upon their arrival home they put their heads together and recomputed the rating in the diving events. Due to a slight divergence from the official swimming guide, the judges last Saturday assigned the wrong degree of difficulty to one or more of Dean Risher's and Jack Moore's springboard feats. Result: final score probably should have read something like 42-32 instead of the declared 50-25.

●POOL OBSERVATIONS: When it comes to backstroking, Don Macdonald hasn't found competent competition yet. Same way with Everett Zabriskie in the 440 free style. Macdonald's got the finesse; Zabriskie's got the endurance and strength. Dick Lane's free style is probably the smoothest on the team. Turns, which may hold a swimmer for costly seconds each lap, are the big question marks for much of Maryville's speed—or lack of it. Practice, the old adage goes, makes perfect.

●A WEEK OF IDLENESS, which the basketball squad almost has, may help the team catch a second wind while Coach Honaker busies himself with making Jekylls out of the present forwards, Hydes. Forwards, he stoutly maintains, should be the "shots" of the team—not just positions in the lineup and fixtures on the floor. For the last three games—C-N, King, and E&H—the guards have carried the weight of the scoring burden. But however magnificently this is done, it seems that Coach Honaker's gonna put the forwards back (with accurate shots) in the scoring department. The recipe: Balance the four, add plenty of pivot in the center, and floor a good-all-around team.

Scot Matmen Challenge Auburn

A FRIENDLY TANGLE

JUST FOR FUN—Herbert Palmer, 175 (right) and Hershell Merriman, 165, (left) posed for Chilhowean's camera, but tonight the two will mean business when they meet Auburn's Jep Whitespunner, and Phil Smith, respectively.

VOL TANKMEN MEET SCOTS IN HOME POOL

If two days of intensive swimming will tune up the team enough, Maryville's varsity swimmers under Coach Kenneth P. Johnson are set to give UT's Vols a better race in this afternoon's meet at 3 p.m. in the college pool.

Saturday, the Scot mermen dropped to UT by a 50-25 count, but with a reshuffled line-up, the Maryville tankmen expect to place higher against Coach Karl Baheret's touted Tennessee swimmers

Practice Shortened

Monday and Tuesday temperature conditions at the pool prevented extended practice and Coach Johnson doubled up the training program Thursday and Friday.

Major changes in the Scotties' line-up today include substituting Bo Henry and Thad Godwin in the 50-yard free style for Dick Lane and Bill Varker, who move to the 150-yard backstroke and the 200 breaststroke, respectively. Godwin and Henry will do the 100-yard free style as Lane drops out to support Macdonald in the 150-yard backstroke and serve as finish man in the 400-yard relay.

Events and Maryville participants follow:

300-yd. medley relay—Macdonald, Varker, Lane; 200 free style—Barnett, Zabriskie; 50-yd. dash—Godwin, Henry; Diving—Risher and Moore; 100 free style—Godwin, Henry.

150-yd. backstroke—Macdonald, Lane, Vanderslice; 200 breaststroke—Varker, Barber; 400-yd. relay—Henry, Godwin, Varker, Lane; 440 free style—Zabriskie, Barnett.

MARYVILLE FIVE THROTTLES KING'S TORNADO, 78-69

Setting an even pace, the Scot hardwoodmen put a 78-69 stop to King College's Tornadoes Monday night at Bristol.

Ahead at halftime by 31-22, Coach Honaker sprinkled liberal substitutions in the line-up as the Scot basketeers romped handily over the KC quint.

King's Lambert, 6'3" pivot man, and Tornado captain, took first place in the scoring column for the game with 11 buckets and a charity toss for 23 points. Center Brick Brahams paced the Scots with 18 points.

Scots	Tornado
F—Reynolds 6	Johnson 16
F—Buckley 7	Gray 4
C—Brahams 18	Lambert 23
G—Boring 15	Deweese 6
G—Hamil 10	Harr 8

Subs: MC—Roberts 11, Handley 5, Keny 4, Crisp 2, Allen. KC—Patteson, Gillespi 8, Stone

E. & H. WASPS DERAIL SCOTS WITH LATE RALLY, 71-66

Emory and Henry's Wasps, flashing a second half rally, capped a 71-66 victory over the Scot cagers Tuesday night at Emory, Virginia.

Neither team found an opportunity to take the lead during the first half as the intermission whistle split the game with a 32-32 tie.

After the half, the Scottie hoopmen bounded ahead with a narrow lead, but Emory and Henry put on the steam to clinch a 58-58 scoreboard lock with eight minutes to go.

Harkins, Wasp forward, broke the tie with a field goal, and Emory commanded a final lead.

Scot Captain Bob Boring and fellow guard, Hugh Hamil, tied with 21-all for scoring honors.

Scots	Wasps
F—Reynolds 3	Harkins 11
F—Buckley 11	Cline 19
C—Brahams 7	Adkins 6
G—Boring 21	Dixon 20

DEFENDING SOUTHERN CHAMPS TO GRAPPLE ON ALUMNI MAT

Auburn's Tigers, defending Southeastern AAU Champs, tangle with Maryville's wrestling power tonight in a feature contest in Alumni Gym.

Knowing the Auburnmen, coached by Anold Umbach, come loaded with power and prowess, Coach "J.D" Davis has made shifts in the Scot wrestling card to bolster the MC might.

Davis vs. Burnilovich (?)

To thwart the efforts of Auburn's big John Burnilovich, Coach Davis will likely start Howard Davis, captain-elect of the '49 football squad, in the heavyweight class. Davis weighs 192; stands 6' 1". If Davis, a newcomer to the mat team, does not get the nod for heavyweight competition, John Briggs, 175, will keep his role as Maryville's "available heavyweight."

Major May Start

A toss of a coin may decide whether Chas Anderson or Tom Yeaworth will enter the 130 class against Jack Orcutt, probable Tiger starter in this class. Both Lawrence Major and Del Earisman are groomed to enter the 155 class against Auburn's John McKenzie. A shoulder injury has slowed Major down.

Two Auburn wrestlers, Phil Smith, 165, and John Burnilovich, HV, are undefeated in competition to date in which Auburn has taken three victories in four starts (see "Sports Echoes").

Maryville College Declines Bid To Reenter Conference

Maryville College is not entering negotiations at present to re-enter the Smoky Mountain Athletic Conference, a statement from the president's office revealed this week.

The subject came up following an article in The Knoxville News-Sentinel last Sunday concerning a Smoky Mountain Conference meeting the previous day at Tusculum. Representatives of the five member colleges (Tusculum, Carson-Newman, Lincoln Memorial University, Emory and Henry, and Milligan) elected conference officials for the coming year, denied Milligan's appeal for lifting of a suspension for playing an ineligible player last fall, and considered bringing in new members to the SMC loop.

The News-Sentinel story said in part:

"Dr. George K. Davies, president of Tusculum College, who served as spokesman for the group, said King College of Bristol sent word that it hopes to expand its athletic program and join the SMC next fall.

"It is hoped that East Tennessee State College and Maryville College will also become members at that time."

President Ralph W. Lloyd in a statement to Echo Thursday, clarified Maryville's position concerning the Smoky Mountain Conference. His statement follows:

"Maryville received a letter from the secretary of the Smoky Mountain Conference asking us to be represented at the recent meeting. We decided not to send a representative and the question of reentering the conference has not been given recent official consideration."

Maryville A Charter Member

Maryville was a charter member of SMC at the time it was formed in 1926. The late Dr. J. H. McMurray, faculty chairman of athletics, served as president of the conference for ten years.

Resigning in 1942, the college did not feel it could support certain policies of the conference covering subsidization and eligibility of athletes. The conference went into a war-time lapse in 1943 and was reestablished in 1946 with five member schools.

Dr. A. L. Warringer of Emory and Henry College was elected SMC's incoming president at Saturday's meeting. Dr. A. L. Crozier of Tusculum College was elected vice-president, and Prof. Jack Bowling of Lincoln Memorial University was re-elected secretary - treasurer.

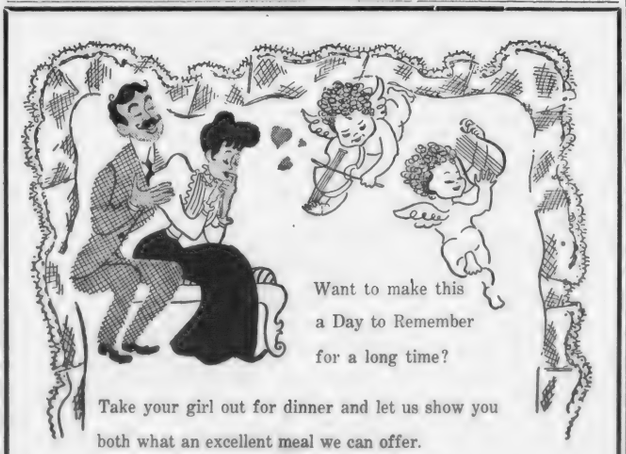
The conference basketball tourney was voted to LMU at Harrogate for March 11-12, and the next annual conference meeting was scheduled for LMU in December.

EAGLES RALLY, TAKE 55-53 WIN

After Captain Bob Boring's desparation shot from mid-floor as the final five seconds clicked off the clock, Carson-Newman kept a late lead to capture a 55-53 victory over the Scots last Saturday night in Alumni Gym.

Eagle Center Joe Shipley's free throw tied the score 49-49 with six minutes' time on the clock, and the Carson-Newman Eagles pulled ahead with Guard Jim Dew's timely bucket and subsequent additions by Netcher and Bean.

Tied four times before the half, the Highlanders had knitted a five point lead by intermission with a 31-26 count. In five minutes with Bean getting eight points single-handed, the C-N Eagles approached a 36-39 score as the second half sped on.



Scots	Eagles

INTERVIEW WITH DR. MORGAN

son College, Davidson, N.C. Mary, 17, graduates from high school this spring and plans to enter a Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia for nurses' training. Howard, 13, is in junior high now; he wants to be a preacher like his father.

Seven-year-old Johnny, youngest son, is bearing up well under the weight of his illustrious ancesters, laughs Dr. Morgan. When his Sunday School teacher asked Johnny whether he intended to follow in the footsteps of his grandfather and father and be a preacher, Johnny replied, "No! I'm going to work!"

"Be-bop? Yes!" said Dr. Morgan when I asked him whether he played boogie o rnot for his own enjoyment. Music, which he loves and plays by ear, is one of his favorite hobbies. Tennis and golf are his sports. He reads, biographies mostly, and remarked that the modern novel he felt was "too heavy, too long, and too much on the sordid side."

Comparing the English educational system to that of America, Dr. Morgan said, "English schools do not have such a wide scope, but they are more thorough."

"What do you think about the future of Maryville and its fellow church-related colleges?" I asked Dr. Morgan.

His reply was emphatic. "Colleges like Maryville will play a tremendous part in forming the leaders of the world of the future—not only in the field ot religion but also in every walk of life. Church-related colleges rate highly over purely academic ones, because of emphasis on Christian foundation. Christian emphasis is the important phase in education."

LIFE-SAVING COURSES START NEXT FRIDAY

Senior life-saving course will begin in the college pool Friday, February 11 under the direction of James Frost and Suzanne Emery. Three Red Cross swimming courses are planned for this spring and Miss Emery and Frost will have charge of two of the three.

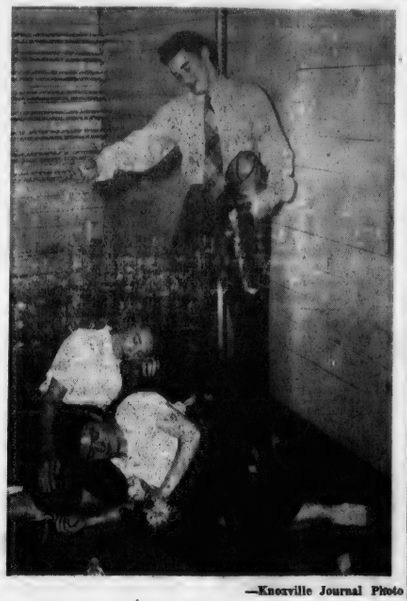
The class in senior life-saving will continue until Wednesday, February 23, meeting every weekday night to fulfill the 15 required hours. The course of instruction will cover all necessary groundwork needed by lifeguards, such as holds, escapes, and rescues. Also included in this course are the nine fundamental strokes of swimming.

Swimmers who have already signed up for the course are Nannette Enloe, Jane Minton, Nancy Robertson, Mary Ann Chandler, Don Macdonald, Alan Fort, Loren Fowler, Bob McKean, and Reed Bell.

A pre-instructors course begins Monday, February 28. This course is designed to give the swimmer (1) a rehash of his previous swimming courses, and (2) a series of conditioning drills in preparation for the instructors course.

Qualifications for this class are senior life saving certificates. Dot Downey, Paul McNiel, Al Chiles, and Bob Brown are signed up for the pre-instructors course.

The instructors course is scheduled to begin March 14, with instructions under the tutelage of Howard Anderson who is Red Cross Field Director for the southeastern states. The class will meet every night for a week.



Kenneth P. Johnston, Maryville swimming coach, said that anybody interested in taking the swimming courses should sign up on the sheets provided for that purpose in the Intramural office.

IRC Sends Three Students To Southeastern Meeting

Herbert McCallum, Caroll Stegall, and Neal C Pearson, Maryville IRC representatives, will attend the conference of International Relations Clubs of the Southeastern Region, Northern District, February 11 and 12 at Vanderbilt University, Nashville.

Dr. Waldo Chamberlain, who is now directing graduate studies in International Affairs at New York University, will be the chief speaker at the conference.

Sabred Robin Hoods . . . Duelling At Maryville ?

By Tom Weide

One athletic activity apparently extinct at Maryville is that classical old college pastime called fencing.

Fencing, you know, is the sport where a couple of men in iron masks dance around poking long, skinny swords at each other.

When heroes used to hack themselves to pieces with real swords, some skill was necessary to keep from becoming nothing but bloody ribbons. Seeing this, some bright 14th-century German thought duelling should be a sport as well as a private slaughter. From then on, sword-play gradually became a game.

Menke's "Encyclopedia of Sports," authority for all facts given here, is loaded with information on the subject. Here is a little data:

What Fencers Need

Standard equipment consists of a mask, padded vest, gloves, a sword—usually a foil, and some native agility. The foil is shaped like a hatpin three feet long, though its point is covered in friendly competition.

The whole object of the sabre-dancing is to touch the opponent with the point of your sword while keeping yourself out of danger of his attack. Eight different positions of attack each have different parries, and manuevering is the big consideration. Both individuals and teams compete.

Robin Hoods who work at this game need real finese. One critic, Roy Finney, goes so far as to say, "It demands greater power of analysis than any other sport."

Duelling at Maryville?

What brings on all this talk about fencing is the news that Royal Derick, Jim Hetherington, and Earl Shellkopf are trying to start the activity, but are short on equipment. Their present outfitting is Coach Johnson's foil and about eight masks, which are college property.

The boys have a foil or two ordered, due to arrive early in February. Anybody, male or female, who can get some swords and would like to fence should see Shellkopf.

One more activity might as well be this; maybe the medieval flavor of duelling will fit right in at the old Alma Mater.

UT Shows Saidenberg Art At Audigier Gallery

Original paintings and drawings from the collection of Eleanor B. Saidenberg of New York, will be shown at U-T's Audigier Gallery through February 18.

The exhibit contains original works by Picasso, Ligee, Rodin and Chagale and modern American works by Steinberg, Lee, Rieti, Grafton, and others.

The gallery, on first floor of University Library, is open from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Saturday, and from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Intramurals....

By Maynard Noble

At the end of this week's play in the intramural basketball league only one team remained undefeated as three teams dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten.

Under-dog Alpha-Sigma upset the Deadly Deacons 15-12; the Ex-Schrubbs bettered the Wholly Rabbies 23-14; and the Creamers, by virtue of weight literally crushed the Ex-Schrubbs 16-15. This left the Cyclops on top with no defeats.

Monday RAC's downed varmits 24-8; Eight-Balls battered Athenians 19-9 as Athenians made points by foul shots; and Whizzers trounced Freshmen 28-6.

Tuesday saw the Whizzers zip over PB's 41-24; Cyclops swamped Shlops 35-8; and Deadly Deacons beat Bobcats 25-13.

Wednesday Cyclops creamed the Creamers 16-13 in a game which was reffed by at least 30 others; Athenians again went down to defeat—this time at the hands of RAC's 18-9; and Wholly Rabbies pocketed Eight Balls 24-11.

Friday Ex-Schrubbs slowed Whizzers down by beating them 31-11; Wholly Rabbies topped Alpha Sigma 27-6; Deadly Deacons eked out a 24-17 victory over the Varmits; and Athenians won their second game of the season by an 18-12 score over Schlops.

Next week's schedule follows: Note: (1. is 3:30-4:00; 2. is 4:00-4:30; 3. is 4:30-5:00; 4. is 5:00-5:30)

Wednesday, February 9, (Intramural)

1. P.B.'s vs. Alpha Sigma; 2. Creamers vs. Whizzers; 3. Cyclops vs. Athenians; 4. Freshmen vs. Deadly Deacons

Friday, Feb. 11, (Intramural)

1. Freshmen vs. Schlops; 2. RAC's vs. Bobcats; 3. Alpha Sigma vs. Athenian;

(Alumni)

1. Ex-Schrubbs vs. Eight Balls; 2. Creamers vs. Varmits; 3. Cyclops vs. Deadly Deacons; 4. Wholly Rabbies vs. Whizzers.

Scot Grapplers Trounce Y, 30-8

Maryville's wrestlers pinned six opponents in re-defeating Knoxville YMCA Saturday, 30-8. Marvin, Cameron, Anderson, Callaway, Merriman, and Briggs did the pinning for the Scots.

John Briggs and Herb Palmer exchanged weight divisions this time out. Both weigh 175, but this time Palmer tried heavyweight work while Briggs went to his normal 175-pound class.

Palmer and Ken Smith, 155-pound neophyte, absorbed the lone Scottie losses, to Bailey and McConnell, respectively.

Maryville split even in two exhibitions with Earisman outgrappling Ottinger and Lewis losing to Castleberry.

Season's records show the Scottie matmen with two wins, both over Knox Y, and one loss, to Arkansas State.

Summary

121—Marvin (M) pinned Crittenden (Y), in the third minute of the second round;
128—Cameron (M) pinned West (Y), in the first minute of third round;
136—Anderson (M) pinned S. Smith (Y), in two and one-half minutes of the third round;
145—Callaway (M) pinned R Smith (Y), in one and one-half minutes of the first round;
155—McConnell (Y) pinned K. Smith (M), in one and one-half minutes of the second round;
165—Merriman (M) pinned Brady (Y), in one minute of the second;
175—Briggs (M) pinned Reddick (Y), in two-forty of the second;
Heavyweight—Bailey (Y) decisioned Palmer (M).
Exhibitoins—Earisman (M) decisioned Ottinger (Y); Castleberry (Y) decisioned Lewis (M).

UT SINKS SCOTS, 50-25

Maryville's fledging swimmers fell to UT, 50-25, last Saturday at Knoxville as Maryville mermen re-entered the collegiate swimming arena for the first time since 1942.

Everett Zabriskie in the 440 yard free style, Curt Barnett in the 220 yard free style, and Don Macdonald in the 150 yard back stroke, each captured first places in their respective events for the Orange and Garnet.

Zabriskie High Point Man

Dick Lane took second in the 100 yard free style, Dean Risher and Jack Moore placed a disputed third and fourth, respectively, in the diving events (see "Sports Echoes"). Zabriskie, Maryville's high point man, followed Barnett close for a second in the 220 yard free style for other Maryville points.

Splash in collegiate competition for Maryville's first entry in the aqua sport since '42 under Coach George F. Fischbach.

Summary

300 yd. medley—UT, Andy Abernathy, Lowell Hardy, and Bill Harrison defeated Maryville's Don Macdonald, George Barber, and Bill Varker; time: 3:51.8.
220 yd. free style—Curt Barnett, M, Everett Zabriskie, M, Baxter Ragsdale T; time: 3:14.2.
50 yd. free style—Bob Smith T, Suha Beller T, Dick Lane M; time: 26.5.
Diving—Harold Lucas T, Russell Ozene, Dean Risher M, and Jack Moore, M.
100 yd. free style—Bill Harrison T, Dick Lane M, Baxter Ragsdale T; time: 1:06.

Dr. Morgan Cites Oneness In Church In Last Group Of February Meetings

Services Conclude With Thursday's Chapel Service

February Meetings for 1949 concluded Thursday morning with chapel service. Dr. Howard Moody Morgan of Philadelphia was leader of this year's meetings.

Last week's Echo carried a summary of the sermons through Friday night, February 5. Summaries of the succeeding sermons are as follows:

Saturday morning using the topic, "The Living Christ and His Chuch," Dr. Morgan pointed out that God can speak through ritual and simplicity. "There is more than one way to enter into the presence of God," he said, "and there is a oneness in the church despite different governmental and theological views. Once the church withdraws itself from the common way of life, it ceases to be a church."

"A friend is one to whom you may tell your inmost thought," Dr. Morgan said in Vesper Service Sunday evening using the topic "Friendship—Human and Divine." He listed all the characteristics of a true friend and concluded that Christ is man's greatest friend.

Freedom of Choice

Monday evening using the scriptural text, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve," Dr. Morgan spoke on "The Call Before Us." He pointed out that there is a center or object of worship in every rational being. To whatever we give our devotion, we become like it. God gives us the choice and we must choose today whom we will serve.

Spirituality in Industry

"Christ summons spirituality in industry" was the general theme at Monday evening's service. "Christ calls for more than conformity to custom." In using examples of our present day situations, Dr. Morgan stated that the employer owes his employee a decent living wage but his employee also owes his allegiance to his employer.

Tuesday morning taking his scripture from Hebrews 3, Dr. Morgan said, "God is calling the spirits of men to a rich and meaningful life. God is calling each of us in a special way, and pleading with us not to harden our hearts, but to answer his call.

Worship Without Sacrifice

The topic for Tuesday evening was "Worship Without Sacrifice." God calls for complete surrender to him which involves sacrifice and service. "Lose your life in him and you will find it in the joy which comes from serving him." Dr. Stringham sang as a solo, "The Stranger of Galilee."

Wednesday morning Dr. Morgan used as his theme, "Speaking Face to Face." He urged that we as Christians have a first hand knowledge of Christ. "Only by knowing Him face to face can Christ have a deep meaning to us. Sin and pride separate us from seeing Him face to face.

Christ Touches Lives

"The Power of Jesus in Touching Lives," was the topic for Wednesday evening. Dr. Morgan stated that Christ touches us physically, morally, and spiritually. The Vesper Choir sang as a special request of Dr. Morgan "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

In the concluding service Thursday morning, Dr. Morgan used the text, "He that is not with me is against me; he that gathereth not with me, scatter-eth." "This is the supreme statement of Christ which is presented to all of us. We cannot be neutral in the presence of Christ. We must either accept him or reject him." At the end of the service devotion cards were handed out to the students.

Library Exhibits Group of Paintings By Local Artists

Art Institute Originals On Display Feb. 14-28

Paintings by local artists will be on display in an exhibition in Lamar Memorial Library February 14-28.

Included in the exhibit will be an oil landscape by Norman Davis, and a landscape in oil by Thea Pflanze. Fairy tale illustrations in pen and ink will be exhibited by Faye Lequire Kenat.

Louise Lasseter Lequire will exhibit a composition in watercolors and an oil landscape. Portraits in oil by E. A. Nicholls, Frances Patterson, and Virginia Speckman will be shown.

Others in the display are a western landscape in oil by Frances Patterson, an oil landscape by Virginia Speckman, an an iris watercolor by Mrs. John Walker.

Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Speckman are former members of the college art faculty.

Coming Exhibitions

The next exhibition, set for March 15-30, will be a group of originals from the John Herron Art Institute Museum in Indianapolis, Ind. During the April 1-15 period a series of color reproductions of the 19th Century leads of modern painting will be displayed. Work of art classes will be displayed May 1-14.

UT's Audiger Art Gallery is displaying during February a private collection from New York of Picasso and other modern artists. Plans are being made for interested groups to visit this exhibition; Charlotte Johnson, instructor in art, is making arrangements for the trip.

Baird Selected Theta Sweetheart

James Baird, 1949 Theta Epsilon Sweetheart, will be presented to the society this evening at 6:30 in Theta hall.

Baird, a junior, was elected last week by judges Coach and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson and Mrs. Margaret Lemaster, Memorial housemother. All Thetas submitted their individual selections at last Saturday's meeting.

A business administration major from Chicago, Illinois, he lettered in both baseball and football, and is active on the basketball team.

Drama Society Lists Point Plans, Requires Work In 2 of 4 Fields

Theta Alpha Phi, MC dramatic honor society, announced this week its new point system for admission to the society. A total of 20 points is required for membership, points to be earned in two or more of the four major fields—acting, staging, business, and writing.

For acting in major plays leading role, ten points; supporting role, five points; minor role, three points; walk-on role, one point.

Assistant directors, stage managers, and house managers get ten points. Heads of committees get three points, while committee members are given one point each.

A total of five points is the maximum for Experimental Theatre work. Points in this field are accumulated from work on five different Experimental plays.

Those who wish to obtain points by writing plays must have their plays approved by the committee and produced by either Experimental Theatre or as a major production.

Juniors and seniors who have earned 20 points will be considered by the members of the MC chapter each spring. Since membership is limited to one per cent of the student body, new members are first voted in the Tennessee Delta chapter, then approved by the national headquarters.

Y's Give Lincoln Play As Sunday Broadcast

"When Lincoln Comes to Pittsburgh" is the title of the radio play scheduled by the Y's for tomorrow afternoon's 2:30 program over WGAP. The play is an adaptation by Jim Black of a short story about the president.

Joe Poland, Bill Starr, Walt English, Dave Campbell, Ann Jenkins, and Jim Black will be heard in the production.

The story concerns one of Lincoln's trips to Pittsburgh to make a speech. Among the thousands who come to hear him are two young lads whose mother could not accompany them as planned, due to illness. They talk Lincoln into going home with them to see her.

The ending of the adaptation does not follow that of the original play.

Lyerly Appoints Four To Chilhowean Staff

Mary Lyerly, newly-elected editor of 1950 Chilhowean, announces the following appointments to the editorial staff for the coming year:

Wallace Moore, from New Orleans, La.; Jim Dance, Knoxville; Ruby Jean Harris, Knoxville; Carol Corbett, Jacksonville, Fla.

Each appointee is a rising junior, since the Chilhowean is a junior class project.

Future Teachers Association Joins MC Educators-to-be With Nation, State

By Elenor Kramer

Newest organization on campus is the Future Teachers of America Chapter which belongs to a nation-wide organized group. Virginia Hand is president of the Maryville College Chapter.

Future Teachers of America is a name which carries three ideas. "The Future belongs to youth and is full of hope, opportunity, and promise for those who prepare themselves for it. Teachers are the builders of civilization. Next to the mother who passes on the unending stream of life comes the teacher who preserves, enriches, and transmits the ideals and purposes of the race. America is peculiarly the home of the Future and of the Teacher."

First of a Series On Campus Organizations

Origin of FTA

In 1937 this organization grew out of the Horace Mann Centennial and has increased from 14 active chapters in 1938-39 to 217 chapters in 1947-48. Horace Mann, in whose honor the FTA was developed, established the first public normal school in America in Lexington, Mass., July 3, 1839.

FTA, which is closely connected with the National Education Association and various state associations, "is the only organization in colleges that gives or has the possibility of giving students the opportunity for active participation in both state and national education associations with which they will be associated during their professional careers."

There are six purposes of the FTA Movement.

(1) To develop among young people preparing to be teachers an organization which shall be an integral part of state and national education associations.

(2) To acquaint teachers in training with the history, ethics, and program of the organized teaching profession.

(3) To give teachers in training practical experience in working together in a democratic way on the problems of the profession and the community.

(4) To interest the best young men and women in education as a lifelong career.

(5) To encourage careful selection of persons admitted to schools which prepare teachers, with emphasis on both character and scholarship.

(6) To seek thru the dissemination of information and thru higher standards of preparation to bring teacher supply and demand into a reasonable balance.

WINTER PRESENTS JUNIOR RECITAL NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Dan Winter will play a group of six works in his junior recital Friday, February 18, at 8 p.m. in Chilhowee Clubhouse.

The program for the evening is as follows:

"French Suite No. 5 in G Major" by Bach, in four parts, Allemande, Courtane, Loure, and Gigue; "Sontata Opus 31, No. 3 in E-flat Major" by Beethoven, in four parts, Allegro, Scherzo, Minuet, and Trio, and Presto con fuoco:

"Nocturne in C-sharp Minor" by Chopin; "Fantasie Impromptu" by Chopin; "Esquisse V, melodie populaire roumaine" by Bartok; "Esquissee VI a la manniere volaque" by Bartok; "Danse Roumaine" by Bartok.

Rehearsals Begun For Concert Band

Rehearsals are being held and plans are in progress for the first concert band at Maryville since before the war.

Curtis Hughes announces that players are needed in all sections. Clarinet, brass, and horn players are, however, especially needed. All persons interested are asked to see Hughes soon.

The band rehearses each Friday at 4:30 p.m. and will present a concert later this spring.

News Capsules—

By Donald Whelan

Ex-Chief

By a large majority the US House passed the executive reorganization bill based on reports of the Hoover commission. Appointed and supported by Truman, the commission is headed by a former GOP chief executive.

Recommended were broad new powers for the president to consolidate and alter government agencies. Amid protest from both sides of the political fence, six agencies and the military were exempt from the act.

Chief Roman

Defense for Josef Cardinal Mindszenty has filed appeal to higher tribunals after conviction of the prelate on treason charges.

Observers saw clever strategy on the part of the government in giving Hungary's chief Catholic a life sentence rather than the death penalty. Thus opponents of the Communist regime could not hail Mindszenty as a martyr.

Outspoken against land reforms, he had been cited on counts of conspiracy and currency speculation.

Ex-Chief-To-Be

Denying he was a "me-too" candidate, erstwhile President-to-be Tom Dewey called on Republicans who oppose "liberal, progressive" policies to get out of the party.

In a much more vigorous attack on the administration than ever was seen in his campaign oratory, the New York governor especially chided Democrats for China's predicament. Just what he would have done was not announced.

Chief Sitting Out

Denmark was expected to join Norway in beginning talks that might lead to that little nation's signing the North Atlantic Security Pact.

Sweden, however, announced her intention of sitting out the cold war—probably influenced by Moscow hinting that that agreement was not a healthy one for Scandinavian countries.

Redskin?

William Remington, former state department employee, was cleared of Communist activity last week by the top executive department loyalty board.

After receiving the usual treatment from the nation's headline-crashing "spy" hunters, Remington again came under fire from congressmen. They demanded another investigation into his cooperation with our wartime allies.

YMCA SEES 'SHADOWS' TOMORROW AFTERNOON

YMCA members will see "Shadows," a short play about vocations, tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in Bartlett auditorium.

'George,' President Wilson's Valet, Has Served College For 18 Years

By Frances Moore

(George is the genial cleaning man so familiar to dorm residents.—Editor)

He set the bucket to one side, hung the rag carefully over it, got up off his knees and looked at me. "Yuh mean y'all wanna know sumpin 'bout me? Yassah, Ah'll tell yuh." Little beads of perspiration ran down his brown forehead as his mouth broke into a winning grin.

"Wul, mah name's George Griffiths; Ah was born in Greeneville over heah on a big big farm dat mah father owned." George went on to tell me how he was "one of ten chillun, but dey is all dead now but me."

A wistful look came to his eyes as he went on to speak of the fun he had had with his brothers and sisters on that farm in riding the horses, feeding the chickens, milking the cows; yes, and even the routine chores were fun with nine other kids there to joke and fool around with.

George went on to speak of days in Michigan where he worked for the Kellogg food factory and days in Ohio where he "finished seement" and "built buildings" for the government.

"Den in 1931 Ah decided Ah'd come home, an' Ah put mahself to work wid de Buildin' an' Loan. It was President (of MC) Wilson's son-in-law what was dehead of dat, an when de President got sick, he done ask me to come be his nurse. Dat's how come Ah got connected wid de college."

So President Samuel T. Wilson was looked after and nursed for a little more than three years by the gentle and kindly colored man known as George. He did some work in the dining room at the same time, but President Wilson's bedside was his place—and the place he loved.

He reached into his vest pocket and drew out a large gold watch. Gently he caressed the face. "Yassuh, an', y'know, his daughters gave me this after he died. An' see what it's got on it?" He held it up for me to see the engraved words "from S. T. to George."

"But, y'know, it's got to go to de repair shop—for de first time." He looked at me; a light came into his eyes. "But de man said it's only got a little dirt in it—dat's all."

MC Students To See Olivier Drama 'Hamlet' At Pike On February 22

Bus, Theatre Tickets Discounted, To Go On Sale February 14

Students who wish to attend the February 22 evening performance of Lawrence Olivier's "Hamlet" at the Pike Theatre may purchase both bus and theatre tickets from the office of the Dean of Curriculum next Monday and Tuesday.

Transportation will be by bus to and from the College campus, with tickets specially priced at 50 cents. Theatre tickets will give students a 20% discount, with prices ranging from $1—$1.50—$2.00.

This motion picture production of "Hamlet" is Lawrence Olivier's own cutting of the Shakespeare play which proved so popular with the men of the armed forces during the War. In black and white, the photography has been called excellent, and the production has gotten excellent reviews in all national magazines which have covered it.

Olivier Directs, Stars

Lawrence Olivier directs and also plays the title role of the gloomy young Dane. Jean Simmons plays the distressed Ophelia, Hamlet's sweetheart, whose love drives her to madness. The cast of characters includes world famous Shakespearean actors and also GI discoveries of Olivier.

Students who wish to purchase both bus and theatre tickets at Dean Hunter's office should be prepared to pay for them at the time of reservation. The picture is playing at the Pike Theatre for the entire week, but only the one group attendance is planned.

For those who want a more thorough knowledge of the plot and background of "Hamlet," Dr. Hunter announced a discussion session to meet Monday afternoon at 4:30 in Thaw 214. It is suggested that interested students bring copies of the play, although this is not required.

Varsity Debaters Meet Carson-Newman Today

Eight varsity debaters go to Carson-Newman today for the Smoky Mountain Tournament. Roger Cowan, Lewis Evans, Eric Meadows, James Torrey, Elenor Kramer, Dorothy Stater, Carol Corbett, and Katharine Carpenter will debate the question of Federal aid for education.

February 17 and 18 MC's debate squad will go to Nashville for the state tournament. The same question will be debated with David Lipscomb College's team.

Judging the Smoky Mountain Debate will be Dr. V. M. Queener and Miss Arda Walker, plus the coaches and professors from the other college participating.

Inter-Club Council Posts News Sheets

Inter-Club Council decided at a meeting last Monday to post 25 copies of their announcement sheet on major bulletin boards and to discontinue supplying them to individuals. This plan will be tried for a month.

The group discussed financing the sheet and voted to assess each member club 50 cents to pay for publication. From now on Council members will do stencil-cutting and mimeographing in order to reduce costs.

Deadlines for information to be placed in the box in Student Center are Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m. for the Wednesday edition and Thursdays at 3:30 p.m. for The Echo.

Information turned in for the newspaper should be on forms supplied to each club by The Echo. Additional news may be turned in at The Echo office until 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

The duties of treasurer were added to those of the secretary by vote.

Phillips Talks Inflation At Faculty Club Monday

Stanley Phillips, assistant professor of economics, will speak at Faculty Club Monday at 7:30 in the home economics rooms. Phillips' speech entitled "The End of the Boom," is concerned with significant facts of present inflation and the likelihood of continued inflation or of depression.

Camera Club Meets, Uses New Dark Room

Camera Club will hold its next meeting Thursday, February 17 at 6:45 p.m. in Fayerweather chemistry lecture room.

The new darkroom has been set up in Bartlett Hall for the use of Camera Club members. The room being used is the room adjoining the gym which was formerly used as a stockroom for the old recreation center.

Knox Presbyterian To Speak At Vespers

Rev. Henry Moore of New Prospect Presbyterian Church in Knoxville will speak at Vespers tomorrow night.

All Girl Choir under the direction of Curtis Hughes will provide the special music. The numbers which they will sing are "Sanctus" by Schesnokoff and "Jesus Our Lord We Adore Thee" by James.

GERMAN CLUB SPONSORS VALENTINE PARTY MONDAY

German Club's second meeting this semester will be a Valentine party held in Bartlett auditorium Monday evening at 6:45 p.m. "Lamour la 'deutch,'" a short romantical play, will be presented. The remainder of the program will be musical numbers. This meeting is open to all those who wish to attend.

ARDA WALKER CONDUCTS EPISCOPAL DISCUSSION

Arda Walker, assistant professor of economics, will lead a discussion on the division of church and state at the college class of St. Andrew's Episcopal Sunday School on February 13 at 9:30 a. m.

'Books For Asia'-Have Any?

One of the finest projects we've heard of in some time is the "Books for Asia" campaign sponsored on this campus by YM and YW. Originated by Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., the drive has been expanded to include other schools in the hope of securing a greater number of books and of creating better understanding between American and foreign students.

When a textbook is a few days late in arriving at the Bookstore here in Maryville, we complain for weeks afterward. Even those of us who seldom crack a book would fare poorly indeed without textbooks—and with no chance to borrow—for one semester. Many students in the Orient are faced with the even greater problem of having no textbooks during their entire college careers. They must depend on professors' memories and a few—almost no—textbooks.

The immediate aim of the campaign is to provide better education for these students by sending them cast-off textbooks we no longer use. Our books are valuable to them as most of their classes are taught in English. Many of us have been forced to buy books when they were to be discontinued for use in a particular course or for some other reason. We no longer use them, and have kept them in case we might want to brush-up later. Our brushing-up may never occur, and in the meantime some group of Oriental students labors along without necessary books.

Look over your bookshelves. Any books there that you're not using? Then add them to the Y collection at the Bookstore depot. Give some student in Asia a small degree of the chance you have for an education. —D. W., I. M.

Student Council

Student Council will hold a meeting of the Student Body after chapel next Thursday for the purpose of ratifying the Student Body Constitution. The spring formal was discussed at Student Council Wednesday night and the date of the dance recommended for May Day night, May 2.

The Student Body Constitution has been edited and was to be handed out to each student in chapel. Student Council voted to add to the section on the Social Board the rules and regulations, and time and scheduling of dancing.

Since all Friday and Saturday night dates are filled for the remainder of the semester, Roger Cowan, chairman of the Social Board, suggested May Day night as a possibility for the dance. If this cannot be arranged, then Cowan suggested that the dance be held on some Town Nite because students can go to town on that night if they don't care to attend the dance. March 15 was a suggested possibility.

At the last meeting of the Council part of the agenda for the semester as recommended by the Steering Committee was brought before the Council. They hoped to clarify and study these points and then recommend them to the Student Faculty Senate or drop them.

These points were (1) point system for extra curricular activities, (2) possibility of organizing a student bank, (3) an honor system to be instigated at MC, (4) possibility of the student body taking over the school for one day, a Student Day, (5) how the Executive Council feels about MC becoming a member of the National Student Association, (6) a petitioning system for elections rather than a nominating committee, and investigating campaign rules, regulation and ethics.

Peter Marshall

"O Lord, save us from hot heads which would keep us from acting too quickly and from cold feet which would keep us from acting at all." So prayed Senate Chaplin Peter Marshall, pastor of Washington's New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, whose recent death was a terrific shock to the church and to the nation. His power-packed prayers stirred not only the Senate but the country as well and once caused Arthur Vandenburg to remark, "I never know whether Dr. Marshall is praying for me or at me."

A Scottish immigrant, Peter Marshall dug ditches and worked in a New Jersey foundry, but, wanting to become a minister, he finally attended Columbia Seminary at Decator, Ga. In 1947 he became Senate chaplain of the Republican 80th Congress and his popularity was proven when the Democratic 81st Congress reelected him. A chain smoker and usually informal in tweeds and bright ties, he often startled some of his flock. He kept the Scotch burr which fascinated his hearers.

Peter Marshall will be remembered longest for his powerful prayers. "O Lord, our God," he prayed one day in the Senate chamber, "Where we are wrong, make us willing to change, and where we are right, make us easy to live with. . . When we have the truth, let us not hit each other over the head with it, but rather as a lamp to light darkplaces."

In the midst of the European Recovery Program discussion he said, "O God, our Father, let us not be content to wait and see what will happen, but give us the determination to make the right things happen. While time is running out, save us from the patience which is akin to cowardice and give us the courage to stand for something lest we fall for anything." "We confess, O Father," he prayed on another occasion, "that we know we need Thee, yet our swelled heads and our stubborn wills keep us trying to do without Thee. Forgive us for making so many mountains out of molehills and for exaggerating both our own importance and the problems that confront us. . . ."

He prayed, "Save us from the sins of worrying, lest stomach ulcers be the badge of our lack of faith." "When we do not know what to say, keep us quiet." "Help us to care, as Thou dost care, for the little people who have no lobbyists, for the minority groups who sorely need justice."

Two days after his death, the last prayer he had written for the Senate was read aloud: "Where we cannot convince, let us be willing to persuade, for small deeds done are better than great deeds planned." —R. N.

Sound & Fury

MYSTERIOUS CASES OF SCOTLAND YARD OR THE MACKENZIE REPORT

This week we present some of the startling and baffling mysteries unearthed by Inspector MacKenzie of Scotland Yard. Disguised as a night watchman and using the name "Ralph," Inspector MacKenzie uncovered these strange cases on the MC campus.

The Case Of The Wayward Canary

Margaret H. (Mehit) was even more startled than her canary when an egg appeared in its cage last week. Mehit had named the canary "Dickie" in all good faith. She rushed to Ruth R.'s room, where it was discovered that a blessed event had also happened to "Sweetie," Ruth's canary. Mehit, who had been planning to play Cupid for Dickie and Sweetie, should be less confounded when she reads this, It was a clever trick for Ruth to play, but we never guessed she was a canary stork.

The Cace Of The Wayward Bee

Charles Blalock didn't have time to write Emily Post on What to Do when a Bee Goes up Your Pants Leg in Church. This happened Sunday at Bill Elzey's church, where Charles made quite an interesting interruption during the sermon. Said an elderly member of the congregation, "Most exuberant demonstration I've ever seen."

The Case Of The Solitary Riser

Newest member of the Lone Riser's Club (MC branch) is Sid Lambert, who alone of the congregation rose with the choir at Vespers Sunay night.

The Case Of The Crowded Coupe

Don't worry when Brooksie Maddux tells you about riding to Sunday School with Dr. Stringham. She and he were amply chaperoned by six Carnegie fellows—all occupying the Stringham coupe. Apparently deserted by her six protectors, she showed up in the library the other day carrying a butcher knife. We are sympathetic, Brooksie; after the way Bob Holley accosted Phyllis Jackson Wednesday morning outside Thaw it is even doubtful if anyone is safe!

The Case Of The Concealed Rabbit

Al Chiles' table presented him with a new and unique piece of dinner wear—a bright yellow bib with a blue rabbit and his first name in blue. Al wore it happily the first night, not even complaining that it didn't match the rest of his ensemble.

The Case Of The Whistling Sophomore

Partly to make up for a short letter, one of Jim Townsend's home-town girl friends sent him a picture of her on her Florida vacation, attired in the latest Florida bathing suit. Remarked an interested onlooker, "It looks as if they were pouring her into it and said 'when' too soon!"

The Case Of The Disillusioned Freshman

Conrad Eady: "Honestly, can you think of anything duller than being a bachelor?"

Morna Wright (resignedly): Yes—an old maid!

The Case Of The Meandering Pianist

Two nights ago Fred Seiber finished his piano practice about 11 o'clock and returned to the dorm. As he opened the door, he heard low voices in the room, but no lights were on.

"What the heck," he wanted to know of the darkened room, "is going on in here?"

No one replied.

Fred repeated his question.

Out of the dark George Ogle replied, "We're having a prayer meeting—won't you join us?"

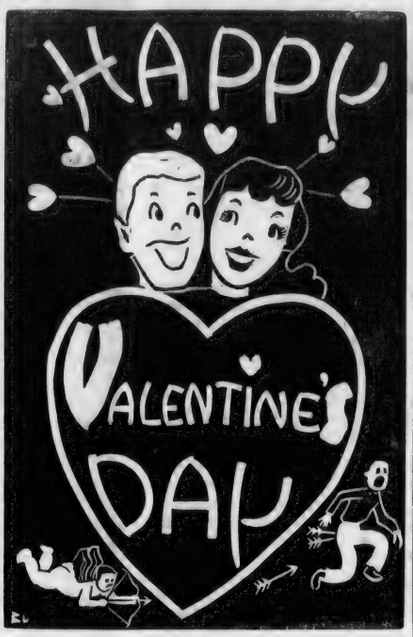
The Case Of The Wrong Address

Tish Plowman pulled it in the English 206B prime class. "Fra Lippo," she suggested, "was hurrying down that alley because he was in a hurry to get back to his convent." Miss Blair is planning a series of lectures on Catholic institutions.

The Case Of The Housemother's Keys

Someone in the crowd in front of us the other day leaving chapel dropped a Yale key. We rushed up ahead and managed to return the key to Miss Hallock and Miss Harwood.

"Did we lose that?" exclaimed Miss Hallock. "That's they key to the front door of Baldwin!"



"Well," we remarked regretfully, "if we'd known that we'd have kept it."

"Oh, that's all right," consoled Miss Harwood. "Just knock three times and we'll let you in anyway."

MOVIES IN MARYVILLE

There's scenery on them thar hills, folks— technicolor, too. "Hills of Home" cover(s) the Capitol screen Monday and Tuesday and stars one of Holywood's most beautiful actors—Lassie.

Tom Drake, Janet Leigh, Edmund Gwenn, Donald Crisp, and possibly Joseph Doak help fumble the plot along. Lassie has been in so many of these showy shows that soon we may see some full-color epic titled "Road to Lassie."

While we are waiting for that one, we might (or might not) go back to the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday for "Deep Waters." This thriller shows plenty of Dana Andrew's profile, and plenty of Jean Peters. Jean, you know, is the Cinderella who hit the big time fresh out of Ohio State University.

Park Theater's offering for Tuesday and Wednesday is "Sitting Pretty," the picture in which Clifton Webb babysits while even reviewers laugh and applaud. As a matter of fact, this yere show won a couple of magazine awards as the best screen entertainment of 1948. If you missed it before, you might take a hint.

"Wildfire," a horsy movie in cinecolor, is on Monday at the Park, and both local theaters end their weeks with a bang! bang! bang!

MUSIC IN KNOXVILLE

Campus music-lovers have recently been turning out in large numbers to attend the classical concerts in Knoxville. The First Piano Quartet pleased the audience kuite well last week with its vibrant fortissimos. This Thursday, February 17, the Pittsburgh Symphony should draw many back again.

MEGOCYCLES EVERYWHERE

Golden boy Herb Marks, freshman dramatics major, has a golden voice, too. Herb rolls that voice out over WGAP's air waves every afternoon from one to five. Modest Herb is disc-jockey mayor of Teen Town, a 3:30 presentation, and acts as a regular station announcer during his prescribed hours.

Marks is moving right along in the radio world, for he began only a short while ago as a nervous neophyte.

Speaking of drama, a good radio playhouse is Helen Hayes' Theater, which runs up the curtain every Sunday night at 9 on CBS. "Suspense," CBS, 9 p. m. Thursday, isn't bad horror, either. If you want some really low-grade fare, we suggest the women's audience - participation shows, exemplified by "Ladies Be Seated," ABC's 3-in-the-afternoon selection every weekday.

MODERN LITERATURE HERE

"Help, help! The Commies are coming! In Fact is here in the library!" That, friends, is the view of the rabid, raving Right towards the weekly bundle of news facts which is now available here.

In Fact may be found buried in miscellany at the very tail-end of our magazine section, under the Yale Review. It gives readers potent news which the newspapers do not print, and arouses red-baiting galore as it turns its spotlight on big business, press freedom, and prejudices.

Editor George Seldes, wrote the recent book "1000 Americans," which details his views and which may be obtained here. Student subscribers to this periodical are high in their praise of it, and urge truth-seeking news-readers to look it over.

Besides In Fact, the library has received several excellent new books lately. . . . of which is Ike Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." Saturday Review of Literature considers it exceedingly well written and worthwhile reportage of Eisenhower's donings in the ETO.

SRL also blesses "Politics in the Empire State," by Warren Moscow, an authority on the politicking done in the Dewey region.

An ex-Texas coach of no mean standing, Dana X. Bible has written his football bible and sent it to us. He calls it "Championship Football," and hopes it helps us know the game, while bringing him some royalties.

The best way to find out what is new over at Thaw is to look around, especially at the new book table and lists. A few recent acquisitions, however, are mentioned here: "Great Paintings in America"—yes, pictures; Sobel's "Theatre Handbook"— real help for drama students; "Essentials of Selling"—essentials of selling; "Woman's Inside Story"—anatomy and physiology, probably; "Fire"—fiction; "Overweight is Curable"—eat at Pearsons.

To the Editor of The Echo:

On behalf of the YWCA, we the social committee would like to take this opporutnity to thank most heartily those who helped to make the February Meetings Tea a success. We feel that special thanks should go to Ruth Ramsey and her committee—composed of Betty Jo Smith, Margaret Pritchett, Loretta Crawford, and Doris Vinton—for their time and efforts spent in the preparation of the refreshments. We are also grateful to George Gress and Buffy Carver for the lovely floral decorations. Such capable assistance is none too common and we thank you all.

●SCOT MATMEN will be up against a tough opponent Saturday evening when they challenge UC's talent on home grounds. Coach Ken Carpenter's grapplers will be out to down the Scots after losing to Georgia Tech (17-11) and Auburn (25-5). The Scots lost to Auburn 19-9 last Saturday evening, and comparative scores between these two meets say the coming tussle will be close. Georgia Tech is slated as a Scot opponent on the Alumni mat February 19, with a return engagement here with UC on February 25.

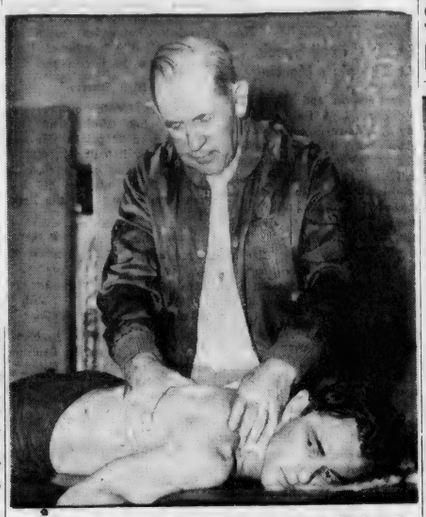
●THERE IS, as yet, no word about the proposed baseball game between Michigan State and the Scotties. It is possible that Michigan will bring a team down to play UT in which case Coach Honaker's '49 team may get a crack at them.

●WATCH FOR NEXT WEEK'S Echo in which there should appear the revision of the constitution of the Athletic Board of Control. Could this possibly be the result of a recent "Sportorial" in the Echo?

●CARSON-NEWMAN will be on the baseball roster again this year for the first time in several seasons. Four games are definite with Western North Carolina, and the schedule is filling up with return engagements for Emory and Henry, LMU, Tusculum, East Tennessee State, TPI, and Middle Tennessee State. Practice for the coming baseball season ought to get under way about March 1 as the spring sports follow hard on the heels of the basketball season.

●TRACKMEN can start to unlimber their muscles any day now, too. A schedule of track meets is in the process of organization.

●THE GULF REFINERS, a Maryville independent team who have topped the Honakermen twice this season, are sponsoring a basketball tournament February 24, 25, and 26 in Everett High School gym. Vasco Lawson, business manager for the Refiners has announced that the Refiners will furnish officials and equipment for all games. Four trophies are to be presented to the four winning teams, and an award will be made to the most valuable player.



●ELIGIBILITY RULES state that each team must have at least seven players and not more than 12. Entries must not have played for high school or college A or B teams this year. Entries for the tourney may be left at the sports office of The Maryville-Alcoa Daily Times.

Maryville's re-entry into the Smokey Mountain Conference has been a recent subject for discussion on the campus. Here is a survey of the situation with regard to Maryville's stand in particular, and the subject of subsidization in general.

PRO—

Maryville is apparently going to stay out of the Smokey Mountain Conference for the time being. President Ralph W. Lloyd and the Athletic Committee have decided that, since the conference permits certain forms of subsidization of players, and, since Maryville's traditional policy is one of "no subsidized athletics," this college will keep out of the conference.

Back in 1926 the SMC was organized with Coach Honaker of Maryville as one of the leading lights, but during the war the conference became a "war casualty" and on December 2, 1940, we resigned with regret. The reason for our reisgnation, given then, is the same reason given February 7—that Maryville refuses to be part of an organization which permits subsidization of players.

The subject of whether Maryville would or would not rejoin the SMC first came up for discussion in an editorial by Thomas Parkinson in The Echo for March 1, 1947. More recently, the question was brought to light in a news item in The Knoxville News-Sentinel last January 30 which recounted a meeting of the SMC at Tusculum with the other four members of the conference (Carson-Newman, Lincoln Memorial, Emory and Henry, and Milligan).

CON—

Seventy-five years ago last fall, a group of Cornell University students asked their president if they might be excused from classes to play football against the University of Michigan. His answer was, "I will not permit thirty men to travel 400 miles to agitate a bag of wind."

Present-day football fans often quote that famous remark, but with the superiority of amused tolerance—expecting, and usually getting, the laugh they feel the decision merits.

A few more thoughtful citizens, however, are sometimes assailed by the suspicion that perhaps he came far closer to putting a just value on college football than his critics.

Gone are the heroic overtones that once marked amateur athletics. Certainly the Cornell president of 1873 would have been appalled by accounts of what happens to coaches who have the effrontery to produce losing teams.

Taken by itself the story of a coach being literally fired for losing games can sometimes be passed off as an amusing account of the tribulations of the profession. Some "Good-bye, Coach X" Clubs have played funny tricks.

But the humor of this situation is not all. Rather, it is still another manifestation of the moral paralysis which has made college football at most institutions a frankly professional enterprise. How else can one explain such facts as these?

. . . For more than ten years every literate American has known that college football stars, despite purity codes and pious protesta-

Scot Teams In Two Events Today

Auburn Matmen Down Scots 19-9 With Two Pins

Scottie matmen under Coach "J.D." Davis lost the second of four matches this season to the wrestlers of Auburn University by a 19-9 tally. Coach "Swede" Umlock's men scored two pins in the 165 and heavyweight classes with no pins recorded for the Scot underdogs.

Maryville's total of nine team points were earned by James Marvin, '121, J. A. Cameron, 128, and Herb Palmer, 175. Marvin pulled off two escapes to outwrestle his opponent Jack Gray. Cameron made one escape against no points for his opponent Sonny Dragoin, and Palmer reversed once, escaped once, and gained time advantage.

Scots Pinned

Both pins of the Auburn meet were scored in the first period. Hershel Merriman went down under Phil Smith in two minutes, 19 seconds in the 165's, and Howard Davis was caught by Southern AAU champion John Bruilovich in one minute, 55 seconds. Tom Yeaworth lost to John McKenzie in the 136 class, Henry Callaway dropped to Carroll Keller for the second time in two years in the 145's, and Lawrence Major lost to Robin Baker in the 155's.

Auburn Twice Winner

Last year's wrestling record with Auburn saw the Scots losing by a slightly larger 26-5 margin.

Summary

121 Class—Marvin (M) decisioned Grey (A).
128 Class—Cameron (M) decisioned Dragoin (A).
136 Class—McKenzie (A) decisioned Yeaworth (M).
145 Class—Keller (A) decisioned Callaway (M).
155 Class—Baker (A) decisioned Major (M).
165 Class—Smith (A) pinned Merriman (M) in 2:19 of the first round.
175 Class—Palmer (M) decisioned Whitespinner (A).
Heavyweight— Bruilovich (A) pinned Davis (M) in 1:55 of the first round.

Coach Ken Carpenter's matmen of the University of Chattanooga will play host to Scot wrestling talent in the UC gym this evening at 8 p.m.

Tonight's meet will be the first of two scheduled with the University of Chattanooga—the second meet is to be fought on home grounds February 25.

Scots Meet E-H For Second Tilt

With ten wins out of 17 games played, Coach Honaker's hardwoodmen tangle with the Wasps of Emory and Henry tonight in the Alumni Gym. The first Emory and Henry game, on February 1, netted the Wasps a close 71-66 win over the Scots.

Wasp Lineup

Probable Wasp starters will be Harkins and Cline at forward, Adkins at center, and Dixon and Robertson at guard. Dixon accounted for 20 points, and Cline for 19 in the previous Scot-Wasp tilt. Scot starters will probably be Reynolds and Buckley at forward, Brahams at center, and Boring and Hamil at guard.

UT Mermen Again Take Scots 50-25

In a 50-25 repeat performance in the home tank last Wednesday afternoon, Maryville's varsity swimmers went under to the tankmen of the University of Tennessee. Barnett and Macdonald for Maryville took firsts in their respective events.

Rusell Ozene of UT placed first in the diving events, followed by Dean Risher and Jack Moore of Maryville.

Summary

30 yd. medley—UT, Bill Harrison, Lowell Hardy, and Ken Brummitt defeated Maryville's Don Macdonald, Bill Varker, and Dick Lane; time: 3:42.5.

220 yd. free style—Curt Barnett, M. Donney T, Everett Zabriskie, M, Baxter Ragsdale, T; time: 3:07.6.

50 yd. free style—Bob Smith, T, Suha Beller, T, Bo Henry, M, Thad Godwin, M; time: 27.3.

Diving—Russell Ozene, T, Dean Risher, M, Jack Moore, M, Harold Lucas, T.

100 yd. free style—Bill Harrison, T, Dick Lane, M, Lowell Hardy, T, Bo Henry, M; time: 1:09.

150 yd. back stroke—Don Macdonald, M, Ken Brummitt, T, Ed Vanderslice, M; time. 2:05.3.

220 yd. breast stroke—W. C. Cowan, T, Gluch, T, George Barber, M, Bill Varker, M; time: 3:13.

440 yd. free style—Andy Abernathy, T, Everett Zabriskie, M, Curt Barnett, M, Downey, T; time: 7:6.2.

400 yd. free style relay—UT, Ragsdale, Hardy, Smith, Beller defeated Maryville's Henry, Godwin, Varker, and Lane; time: 4:41.5.

The Mocs of Chattanooga lost both their wrestling meets in college competition this year. In a meeting with Georgia Tech on January 15 they went down under a narrow 17-11 margin after leading the rambling wrecks 11-6 in the first five matches.

Their second meet, with Auburn, resulted in a 25-5 defeat on home grounds February 4.

Lineup

The probable UC lineup will have George Owens wrestling in the 121-pound class, with John Berg or Tom Lotspiece in the 128's. Bill Smith will square off in the 136's, and Frank Williams in the 145's.

Louis Braly will wrestle at 155, and William Watts or Bill Van Shafts at 165. Captain Bill Berg will take care of the 175's, and Luther Worsham will hold down the heavyweights.

Top Men

Louis Braley, 155 pounder, is a highly rated wrestler and was formerly a Baylor mat star. He built up an impressive record in prep school wrestling.

Team captain Bill Berg is a UC football star who will be matched against Herb Palmer in the 175-pound class. Luther Worsham, doing duty in the heavyweights, was alternate captain of the UC football team last fall.

SWIMMING POOL

Coach Johnson announced this week that the swimming pool would be closed daily to all except the swimming team until 4:30. After that anyone may use the pool.

Maryville received an invitation to rejoin the conference January 19. This bid has been officially rejected, and Maryville has, at present, taken the position that if the conference will alter its stand on certain points of eligibility and subsidization it would consider an invitation to return.

An alternative, which was suggested in The Echo article previously referred to, was the idea that Maryville and several of the other small colleges in the Southeast form their own conference with athletic policies to suit themselves. Sewanee, Centre, Mississippi College, and Southwestern plus a few more, are the colleges which, along with Maryville, desire to see a "pure" association formed. Such an organization would be sound in principle but difficult to put into practice. The few colleges left in the Southeast who hold to the "no subsidization" rule are widely scattered, and the expense of sending teams back and forth, coupled with the time element, makes the idea impractical.

At present Maryville is a member of no conference. We schedule all the teams of the SMC, but the official attitude is that since Maryville is not in accord with the philosophy of subsidized athletics we cannot conscientiously support an organization which permits subsidization.

Centre College of Kentucky is another small school faced with the same dilemma. They do not subsidize athletics, and it is becoming increasingly difficult for them to find opponents of comparable caliber. The schools which subsidize are, in the long run, going to seriously outclass those which do not, thus leaving schools such as Maryville and Centre with opponents who are either far above them or far below.

The motive behind the refusal of Maryville to join the SMC is a worthy one, but if the proposed conference adds enough small colleges in this general locality to the five who already belong, or, if through some unfortunate misunderstanding, the conference blacklisted Maryville, the next few years could see the Scots hard put to find opponents.

It appears that for the next year at least Maryville will go its own way, refusing to subsidize and refusing to support the SMC while it permits subsidization—meanwhile standing ready to form its own conference or back an attempt to form a "pure" organization among the small colleges in this area.

tions to the contrary, are paid for their services either by the college or by alumni groups. Almost without exception, institutions that deny the charge are either woefully ignorant, painfully sanctimonious, or non-participants in big-time football.

. . . For more than 20 years at least 50 football factories have been little more than carnival hustlers — frankly commercializing their "amateurs."

. . . For almost as long colleges have hired coaches, not to "build character," but win games. Losing coaches, no matter how good their reputations or influence on players, have been fired at the end of "disastrous seasons."

The "loyal alumni," of course, have long been party to the professionalization of college football. They were among the first to realize that a social stigma is cast on everyone associated with a losing eleven.

Now apparently even studnts have been infected by the same virus. They are willing "to die for dear ol' Podunk" only during winning seasons. Football is no longer a game in their eyes, but a yardstick by which their school is judged.

Perhaps, considering attendance records, these symtoms of moral delinquincy are unimportant. Perhaps it's too late to examine what led to million-dollar stadia, conniving for players, bigger salaries to coaches than to physics professors, bowl games and souvenir hawkers, gambling syndicates, and exaggeration of the importance of football triumphs to higher education.

Maybe so. But from where The Post sits, it appears that college football has grown too big for its britches. We can't turn the clock back 75 years, but it does seem odd that institution supposed to instruct, to teach integrity of thought, should lend their names and resources to the kind of chicanery that seems to go with Saturday agitation of a bag of wind.

Jenkins, Prall Speak At Thespian Meeting

Ann Jenkins and Marge Prall will speak to a state-wide meeting of Tennessee collegiate thespians being held at Crossville, Tennessee today. Miss Jenkins will speak on the value of high school dramatics to college dramatics, and Miss Prall will demonstrate the correct method of applying make-up.

Also at this meeting five students will present the experimental theater play "Pipes of Dunbar" for the second time. It was first given here last spring. Margaret Newland plays the lead role as Mary, Queen of Scots. Also in the cast are Ken Newell, Wallace Moore, Joe Poland, and David Reed.

This trip was arranged by Dr. E. R. Hunter and Professor Katherine Davies. Frances Massey and Mrs. Archibald Pieper will be chaperones for the trip.

MC Students Appear At Everett High Chapel

Everett High School Chapel service last Friday morning had seven Maryville College musicians as guest performers.

Patricia Cox, soprano, sang "The Jewel Song" from "Faust" by Gounod. Soprano Linnea Johnson sang "I'll see You Again" from "Make Believe" by Romberg. The two then sang "The Evening Prayer," a duet from "Hansel and Gretel." Fred Sieber accompanied them.

The male quartet composed of Jim Aiken, John Morrison, John shew, and Bill Houdeshel sang several selections.

Athenians Burlesque "Romeo And Juliet"

CAGERS LOSE 67-57 TO ADAMS PARKERS

Coach Honaker's Scot hoopsters dropped their seventh game Saturday evening when they lost to the Chapman Park Five 67-57. The winners, an independent semi-pro team from Adams Parking Lot in Knoxville, led the Scots by a close 30-28 at the half, but under coach Joe Adams steadily lengthened their lead during the second period.

High Scorers

Top man for the evening was forward Bob Hoshey of the Parkers with 22 points. He was followed by Bob Boring, captain of the Scot team, who racked up 15. Watkins, playing at left guard, fouled out for the Parkers.

MC Polled; 99% Want Better Chapel Programs

Student Participation, More Variety, Current Interest Programs Seen Need

By Jean Hunt

Widely discussed on campus recently is the fact that students are not satisfied with the present program being followed in chapel service.

A number of these complaints are about things that cannot be helped at the present. Holding chapel services in a gymnasium is certainly not desirable, but is the best that can be done at this time.

Some of the things which now exist can be improved, however. Using the public address system would remedy the situation of students not being able to hear the speakers.

Hymns used in chapel could be eliminated from use in Vesper services where a wider selection is possible. Students can do their part by getting to chapel on time so that chapel leaders can have time for comments in addition to scripture readings and prayer.

Poll Results

In a poll made during the past week, results show that the majority of students feel the need of having more effective services. Following are the questions asked and the percentages:

	Yes	No
1. Are you satisfied with the present programs presented in chapel?	1%	99%
2. Would you be in favor of students participating in chapel?	75%	25%
3. Are you in favor of the time being changed from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.?	50%	50%
4. Do you think the quality of Thursday morning speakers can be improved?	90%	10%
5. Would you like to see more variety in programs?	99%	1%

Variety in Programs

Leading the list is the fact that the students want more variety in programs. Suggestions offered were to have student participation forums and devotionals, musical programs, and more speakers in secular fields.

Carson-Newman College has tried to improve their chapel services with a new system inaugurated December 1. On Monday the service is conducted by faculty members; Tuesday by the Baptist Student Union and the faculty alternately; Wednesday, student activity meetings; Thursday, guest speakers; Friday, musical programs.

As the present Maryville set-up stands, there are only four or five times during the year that students can participate in chapel services.

Student Participation

Students like the idea of having the faculty conduct chapel since students are introduced to the professors of departments other than their own. They realize that the faculty have worked hard to bring good devotional services, but still students would like to hear those of their own group lead occasionally.

Such a plan, would however, bring up the problems of which students would lead, how they would be selected and who would be responsible for securing them. as one student put it, "We want student speakers, but we want good student speakers."

More Secular Speakers

Another improvement suggested is to have more Thursday morning speakers in the secular fields.Students like to hear speakers from the mission board and visiting ministers occasionally, but not exclusively. Informative, current interest, lectures upon various subjects would be welcomed by the majority of students.

Arguments for and against the time of chapel were given. The main argument for the present time is that an early chapel frames the mind in the right attitude to start the day, while the chief argument for having chapel in the middle of the morning is that it would serve to break the morning into two equal parts.

The first step in progress is realizing the need for a change. Students are beginning to feel the need, and with the co-operation of the faculty and student body, the majority of students feel that programs could be worked out to make chapel more effective and beneficial.

MC Students Fail To Meet Pledges To Hope Fund

Maryville students are, at present, $448.25 short of their $1780.-25 goal for the 1948-49 Fred Hope Fund. In order to meet the amount pledged, students must complete their individual payments.

President R. W. Lloyd recently received a letter from Mary Edna Smith, dated January 29 at Shanghai, China. Miss Smith is Maryville College's personal representative now working in China. She graduated from Maryville in 1948 and is supported in her mission work by the Fred Hope Fund.

Her letter reads as follows: "I am happy to say that, at least at present, I will be remaining in China. I am leaving Shanghai on February 8 for Canton. There I will be teaching in the True Light Middle School.

"Fuh Sian needs me quite badly and Miss Bayless sent a telegram to Miss Frame about it. But at least at present that doesn't seem to be the thing to do. Transportation in and out of China is very poor and takes so long. And I still do not have enough Chinese to get around by myself.

Works In Shanghai

"While here in Shanghai, I have been working as the Registrar at the Shanghai American School. It certainly has been grand to have a job to do and something to keep me busy. But it will be nice to be back doing the kind of work that I came out to do.

"Mrs. Johnson wrote me about Fred Hope Fund after the first payment. It was indeed thrilling, to read about the giving. It is wonderful to be supported by students and faculty of Maryville College and I certainly appreciate their spirit and gifts."

President Lloyd visited True Light Middle School when in China two years ago. He describes it as one of the most important mission schools in China, with about 450 Chinese girls in attendance. Most of its buildings remained standing during the Japanese invasion and are located on high ground overlooking the river on the outskirts of Canton, a city of about one million population on the south coast of China.

C-N PRESIDENT FITE TO SPEAK HERE THURSDAY

Dr. Harley Fite, recently inaugurated president of Carson-Newman College, will speak in chapel Thursday, February 24.

(The following is the correct list of local artists and their paintings which are now on display in Lamar Memorial Library. The Highland Echo regrets the publishing of an incorrect list in last week's Echo. Editor)

Oil landscape and flower pieces, Norman Davis; oil landscape, Rosemary Davis; pen and ink fairy tale illustrations, Thea Pflanze; water-color composition and oil landscape, Faye Lequire Kenst; oil portraits, Louise Lasciter Lequire.

E. A. Nichols, western landscape and portraits, oil; Frances Patterson, oil portraits and landscape; Virginia Purinton Speckman, iris watercolor; Mrs. John Walker, flower piece.

Judge Pat Quinn, MC Alumnus, Dies

Circuit Judge Pat Quinn died at his home in Maryville on February 13th at the age of 59.

Judge Quinn was born in Morgan County, the son of Charles A. and Rachel Walt Quinn. He spent his early boyhood working in his father's saw mill and clering in a store.

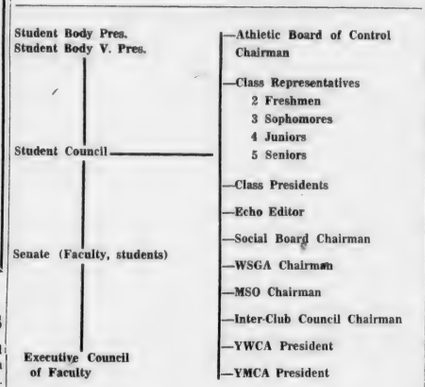
Former Maryville Student

He attended Roane County schools and Maryville College. By delivering papers, working in a restaurant, and operating a laundry agency, he earned enough money to put himself through college.

After completion of his work at Maryville, Quinn entered Cumberland Law School where he received his B.A. and his LL.D. He took post-graduate work at the University of Chicago.

During World War I he rose from the rank of private to that of lieutenant.

Judge At 37



Backed by the American Legion, Quinn was Democratic candidate for judge of the Fourth Circuit in 1926. Elected at 37, he was one of the youngest judges in Tennessee.

After the war, he practiced with the law firm of McTeer, Kramer, and Quinn of Maryville.

ATHENIAN MEETS ALPHA SIG IN BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Student Body Adopts New, Broader Campus Constitution

ORGANIZATION OF CAMPUS GOVERNMENT

Social Board, Club Council, Dancing Added

"Student Government is only going to be as effective as the student makes it," said Jim Black, Council president as he opened the meeting Thursday morning at which the Student Body voted approval of its new constitution.

"Now there is a closer working unit with the faculty through the comparatively new Social Board. Already they have been able to sponsor dancing, Student Center, and supplement Saturday night programs when necessary."

Copies of the Constitution, published by Council, were distributed to all students previous to the meeting. Questions concerning the new amendments were settled.

Present student government organizations includes Student Council, Men's Student Organization, and Women's Student Government Association.

New Election Procedure

One of the major changes was that of the new election procedure. The three all-campus heads, president and vice-president of the the Student Body and the social chairman, must be nominated by petitions bearing the signature of 40 students. In addition the signature of the nominee, signifying his willingness to serve if elected, must be on the form.

Petition blanks may be obtained after March 15 and must be filed with the Elections Committee chairman by the first Monday in April.

The Elections Committee will also conduct the annual spring elections. This re-organization is to create more interest i nvoting and thereby bring about a larger percentage of student participation at the ballot boxes.

Another newly-formed body is the Inter-Club Council through which the small campus organizations not already represented on Student Council may have a voice in government.

Experimental Sets February 26 Date For Next Plays

Two Performances Slated For Both Productions

"The Captains and the Kings" and "Where but in America" are Experimental Theatre productions to be given Saturday, February 26. There will be two performances of each play. The first starts at 7:15 p.m. and the second at 9 o'clock.

"The Captains and the Kings," by Channing Pollock is a one-act play whose title is taken from Kipling: "The tumult and the shouting dies,

The Captains and the Kings depart. . ."

In the play, George Day will star as the General, Herbert Marks as the Prime Minister, and Bob Holley as the Bishop.

The senator will be played by David Reed, and the secretary by Gerald Wheat. Joe Claud is cast as the rich man with Ruth Heaps as his wife. Anne Gates plays the part of the child; Dorothy Stater, the part of the revolutionist. Tom Kennedy and Alan Fort are the guards.

Student directors for the play are John Mills and Carroll Stegall. Mary Mitchell Wooldridge is set designer for both plays.

Wolff Comedy

"Where but in America," by Oscar M. Wolff, is a comedy in three acts. The plot centers around a young married couple who wish to purchase a home. They find that the particular house they want to buy was built by the sweetheart of their Swedish maid.

Bill Starr plays the part of the young husband with Wanda Onifer starred as his wife. Carol Mitchell is the Swedish maid.

"Where but in America" will also be given at the home of Mrs. David H. Briggs Tuesday, February 22 at a DAR reception. Ann Jenkins is student director.

McCallum, Pearson Report To IRC Group Monday on Conference

Herbert McCallum and Neale Pearson will report to IRC Monday evening on the regional conference they attended in Nashville last week. Club meeting time is 6:45 p. m.; place is Thaw 214.

"Security in an Atomic Age" was the theme of the two-day affair, sponsored jointly by Vanderbilt University, Fisk University, one of the country's largest Negro universities, and Scarritt College, all of Nashville. Delegates came from 31 colleges, including seven Negro schools. Total number of colleges in the Northern District of the Southeast, made up of Tennessee, Virginia, and North Carolina, is 58.

Highlighting the proceedings was a banquet at Fisk, featuring a talk on "Russia and the United States in the UN," by Dr. Clyde Eagleton. Dr. Eagleton is a former State Department expert, who was Assistant Secretary of the Dumbarton Oaks Conversations, and who has taught at the University of Chicago, Yale, and currently NYU.

Roundtables were the main program the day following the banquet. McCallum sat in on a forum on "The European Economic Crisis and World Recovery" and Pearson heard "The United States and the Soviet Union in the UN" discussed.

Fall Class Schedule

Schedule of classes for next semester is now in the hands of faculty for approval. Early next week copies will be available to students.

Y Presidents To Lead Vespers

Bill Nish and Margaret Rock, as presidents of YM and YW, are the speakers at Vespers tomorrow night. Occasion for the student organizations' participating in the regular weekly services is World Day of Prayer.

Maryville's YWCA is represented at Tennessee Student Christian Conference, meeting in Nashville Friday, today, and Sunday, by Geneva Robinson and Betty Jo Smith.

Glee Club, Choir Sing To YM-YW

All Girls Choir and Men's Glee Club will present a musical program to the combined Y's in the library tomorrow at 1:15 p. m.

Their program consists of the following numbers: "We Come Unto Our Father's God," 16th Century; "Jesus, Our Lord, We Adore Thee," James; "O Lord Most Holy," Franck, solo by Gregory Howard; "Sanctus," P. Chesnookff; "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," Gounod; "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," Mueller; "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," Hageman, solo by Maureen Owen; "Lost In the Night," F. Melius Christiansen; "Beside Still Waters," Hamblen; "The Good Shepherd," Van de Water, solo by Betty Field; "Dark Water," James; "My God and I," Sergei; "Praise My Soul," Goss.

The choirs are directed by W. Curtis Hughes.

Pre-Meds Choose Comps In Biology or Chemistry

Pre-med students will be allowed to choose between the fields of chemistry and biology for their comprehensive examinations this year. This plan has been followed for the past two years.

Beginning next year all pre-med students will be required to take a pre-med comprehensive examination which includes both chemistry and biology. Special studies advisor for next year will be Professor George Howell.

MC Students Share Campus Government Through Council, WSGA, MSO, ABC, ICC

YM Limits Bartlett Use, Adds Drapes, Furniture

Students have been active in campus government for 26 years—ever since 1923 when the first Student Council was organized. Since then there have been a great number of improvements.

With the advent of Student-Faculty Senate, the faculty began to give students an even greater part of the controlling force on the Hill.

Another group has developed to give women students direct control over their own actions and daily life in dormitories. Through the efforts of Council, MSO, WSGA, and the Student Center have been added to the Campus.

Student Council

Student Council has 28 members besides the president and vice-president. These officers are elected by the Student Body. Other members represent the classes, YM and YW, The Highland Echo, MSO, WSGA, ABC, Inter-Club Council, and the Social Board.

Council meets weekly in the student Center at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday evenings; its meetings are open to any one interested in attending. Matters which are beyond action of the Council are recommended by it to the Senate, which is composed of both Council and faculty members.

Clubs, Sports, Social

Athletic Board of Control includes all students and faculty members on campus. Inter-Club Council and the Social Board are two of the newest campus organizations. The I-CC includes the presidents of all groups on campus not represented otherwise on Council; their president is a member of Council. Through this group, all club activities are co-ordinated and provided with a centralized place to keep constitutions and financial reports.

Social Board activities are those of scheduling activities so that there will be no clash, and providing all-campus programs. Its chairman is elected by the entire student body.

As a result of Council work during a number of years, WSGA was formally adopted in January, 1946. Since that time the women have had the governing of dormitory life in their own hands. Through WSGA and Council, senior privileges were adopted last spring giving to senior women certain rights not available to other women students. In time, graded privileges may be worked out.

MSO, Town Night—Council Projects

MSO was voted into existence last March. Its purpose is to give the men direct representation on Council and to organize them for their own advantage.

Town Night is but five years old, having been adopted in the 1943-'44 school year. Through its provisions students may go to town on Tuesday evenings to attend movies, visit drug stores, and restaurants, go bowling or roller skating. It gives students a chance to leave the Hill for recreation one evening a week.

The regulations are under the control of Council, and the privilege can be revoked at any time the student body ceases to live up to these provisions. For several years during its trial period, Town Night was voted on each semester by the students to determine whether or not they were willing to abide by the terms.

Student Center

Until the year 1944-45, Maryville College had no student recreation center. In that year, the Y's got together and equipped a couple of rooms and the gym in Bartlett. These served until this fall when the Student Center building was opened. The Y store, formerly housed in the Chatterbox, was moved to a new building to locate refreshment and recreation in one spot.

All of these advancements have been possible only through the cooperation of students and faculty. As the student body has assumed responsibility and proved its ability to guide itself, and faculty has relinquished more and more control to it.

240 MC Students To Fill Eight Buses For Tuesday 'Hamlet'

Two hundred and forty Maryville College students will attend the Tuesday night showing of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" at the Pike Theatre in Knoxville.

Eight special busses will leave the campus at 7:30 p.m. from the old chapel site.

Sir Lawrence Olivier is both director and star of the British film, which has been mentioned for several academy awards.

No more tickets are available according to the Dean of Curriculum's office.

Knowledge vs. Indifference

Echo staff members were jolted the other evening when a freshman asked just what WSGA was and how it functioned. Questioning disclosed that neither its organization nor personnel were known to many underclassmen. Further inquiry showed that student governmental organization as a whole—Student Council, WSGA, MSO, ABC—was vague to a number of students. Information concerning these and similar groups is given each student through the M Book, but often written material is insufficient explanation.

Interest in student government on campus must increase if that government is to continue to function and grow in the interests of the entire student body. At present a large number of students are interested and take time to find out what is happening, and then vote in elections because they want to vote for or against a candidate or proposal. But then there are others who seem quite indifferent. They vote as they see their neighbor voting just to end the meeting faster.

Why? Well, some would never be any more interested regardless of how much they knew. There are some, however, like the freshman mentioned above, who would like to know the situation but never seem able to find out the facts. They would like to vote intelligently on matters before the house meeting, or the Student Body, but they aren't even sure whether they are supposed to be interested in such matters or not. No one bothered to tell them so, or else it was tossed at them as incidental to some dozen other things, or in the hurry they just plain missed hearing it.

Last fall a student-led orientation program was attempted. It was not completely successful for it was an added, and unrequired, series of lectures beside those included in the regular college program. In addition, these talks were given to one large group, making it difficult for actual discussion. In a group of several hundred, new students hesitate to ask questions when something is not completely clear.

Several student-led talks on the various organizations would help to clarify them for newcomers. There would be more freedom of discussion in smaller groups such as the regular college lecture General question and answer periods when new students could ask old for information on Town Night, Student Center rules, senior privileges, dating, campus etiquette—in other words, organized bull sessions.

Student government will be a success only if students are interested and students will be interested only when they know what is going on and what their part in the set-up is.

An orientation program that would inform them would be part of the solution. Such a plan could be successful only if students and faculty cooperated in instituting it.

Student Council—

Student Council held a last-minute discussion Wednesday night of the Student Body Constitution, before it went to the students for approval on Thursday morning. The final draft of the constitution will appear in the next year's M Book.

President Jim Black emphasized the need for more complete understanding of, and backing of, all student government organizations on campus if they are to be successful.

Two slight alterations were made in two sections of the constitution, one concerning the membership of the publications committee, and the other, the financial reports of individual clubs to Inter-Club Council.

The term of president of I-CC will be studied before further discussion. Under the present set-up, the president holds office for one year. However, this year the president left council at the end of first semester as his club presidency lasted only one semester. Some definite plan will be worked out later.

Sound & Fury

Vanderbilt Style?

Ann Jenkins reports that Vanderbilt's dean of women called the girls of that institution together and told them that they had been seen sitting on the grass kissing fellows. "It isn't the kissing we mind," she said, "but the grass has to grow!" MC deans please note.

"Let Me Call . . ."

A new twist in dining hall singing came when Jim Baird, newly-selected Theta sweetheart, was serenaded with "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," which is usually reversed for other situations.

Union Makes Allowance

The reverend gentlemen of New York City's Union Theological Seminary know what the score is in other fields besides theology. Union's current catalog lists expenses for unmarried students and doubles them for married students except for "allowance for other expenses" where it not only doubles but adds $100 per year.

From the Greatest

Admitting to be the "World's Greatest Newspaper," Bertie McCormick's Chicago Tribune pulled a good one recently in its "How to Keep Well" column. Dr. Theodore Van Dellen really went to town with: "H. S. writes: Whenever I rub my eyes I see bright flashes of light . . . . Reply: So do I. . ."

Valentines and Hearts

Boxes of candy and valentines are the usual tokens remembering the saint and the heart. Not for Peggy Sangster—she got gold fish. Any relation to Flopsy May, Peggy?

Niagara Falls

Some people throw snow balls, some throw basketballs, but Ella Swift throws water. At least she did until she found the torrents upon her—and who else, Ella? How 'bout some bath salts to go with it?

There weren't torrents of water but almost torrents of something when Jerry Hopkins slid down the Baldwin banister and nearly didn't stop.

Midnight Serenades

It was a beautiful nite for a fire drill, and the Baldwin vocal ensemble added much to the fullness of the moon.

They call it ad libing

Tom Kelly, after many perplexing questions from his opponent, rose to give his rebuttal at the Maryville High School debate and found himself with no notes. Nice job of ad libing, Tom.

Nitegown and Loafers

Of course you didn't know, Evelyn (Odell), but next time look before parading through Baldwin lobby in a nitie and greased face.

Sardines, no?

How about the five fellows and three girls who rode home in a little coupe from the Maryville debate. Ever read your "M" Book?

Kittens? Yes!

People talk about having kittens. Beverly Musick was caught in the act when one walked out from under her chair during lunch the other day.

Tomatoes

Tomaties were on the menu the other day when Bob Brown stood up just as Wilma Davis lifted a tray over his head—and two dishes of tomatoes, too, shame on you, Wilma.

Sparkle Plenty

Lois Doebler is shining a sparkler as of this week—Charles Parvin is the guy.

Corbett Tidbits

Carol Corbett is forming a corporation—the men get in line and draw a number. "First come, first serve" is her slogan.

Carol never dreamed what this institute would do for her wisdom—teeth that is. Instead of the pulled tooth having two roots, it had four.

Carol, by the way, is debating Federal Aid to Education. Lindsey is debating whether. . . !

A Greek Breather

Why does Dr. Davis keep the windows open in Greek class? Could it be so Mr. Cook and Mr. Shellkolpf won't slip into dreamland?

Obituary

Recently deceased with unpleasant odors—a cat made its last stand in the Intramural Gym two nites ago. Amen.

Talk of The Week

WALLACE MOORE

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

ITCHY TRIGGER FINGERS

Cowpokes' corpses and cattle carcasses litter the trail between MC and the theatres next week. Six solid days of western films are scheduled for the Capitol and the Park, after which time the bodies will be collected, the lobbies ventilated of gunsmoke, and the next features announced.

Beginning Monday for a four-days stand at the Capitol is Howard Hughes' epic western, "Red River." One of the new super-westerns on a bigger shooting budget, "RR" boasts good photography, some pretty poor dialogue, some excellent casting and action.

Borden Chase and Charles Schnee adapted the film version from a Saturday Evening Post serial but were apparently stymied somewhere between passion and powder burns.

John Wayne stars as the ruthless cattle baron who cares nothing for the lives and limbs of his employees, less for those of his enemies; but we are supposed to like him at the end. Wayne adopts Montgomery Clift as a sort of son-partner, and this good looking newcomer turns in some fine acting in the scene where he coldly sees through the older man's (double) dealings.

Producer Howard Hughes discovered, you will remember, Jane Russell for "The Outlaw." In "Red River" his heroine is pretty— and talented— Joanne Dru. Miss Dru turns out to be quite a good actress, and we may see a lot of her—but not as much as we did of Miss Russell.

Walter Brennan, John Ireland, and a large supporting cast have to write, talk, and fight tough to keep up with the action, which ranges through hard riding, fist fights, Indian battles, and cattle stampedes. Never a dull moment; if you see "Red River" you'll sit glued to the edge of your saddle.

At the Park Tuesday and Wednesday there's gold, gunplay, and Victor Mature in them thar hills, all of which leads to "Fury at Furnace Creek." From the dialogue, dimly heard over the shots and hoofbeats, we gather that Mature is out to get his brother, who is also out to get him, and some Indian is out to get them both. There are also several people who just shoot everybody on general principles.

Colleen Grey is the lass in this technicolor western.

HAPPY OSCAR CANDIDATES

Sir Lawrence Olivier's "Hamlet" will show at special prices for MC students at the Pike Theatre on February 22. Though opportunities for getting theatre and bus tickets through Dr. Hunter's office have passed, this reviewer hopes everyone who can will want to see this exceptional film, not only because it's culture with a capital C but because it is one of the greatest dramas ever written.

Sir Lawrence Olivier comes up as a candidate for an Oscar in Hollywood soon for his fine acting and directing. Jean Simmons, who supports him as Ophelia, may get a nod for her role. Bill Shakespeare, who wrote the original script, wasn't mentioned for an Oscar for "Hamlet's" present version.

ARTISTIC BRUSH WIELDERS

Two former art instructors at MC, Mrs. Frances Patterson and Mrs. Virginia Speckman, are represented in the exhibition of paintings by local artists now displayed in Lamar Library.

This reporter especially enjoyed Mrs. Patterson's two oil portraits of a Negro man and woman; these pieces showed character and ability. Mrs. Speckman's watercolor of an iris was very tastefully executed and was the sort of painting BH&G loves to build a modern bedroom around.

E. A. Nichols was represented by a western landscape which featured two of the most discomfited looking quadrupeds ever to be captured in oil.

PROPOSED BOOK PURCHASES

Let us reiterate what we said last week about the library's suggestion notebook. If you've a special book—or magazine—you'd like to see MC have, enter author, title, date, and publisher (in that order) in the little black notebook at the circulation desk. If you don't know the date and/or publisher, ask an assistant to help you or look it up yourself in one of the big indexes back of the main desk.

The library is eager to make available books which its users want. However, please don't put a title down till you've checked it in the card catalog to see if it's already shelved. Lots of new titles are listed in the library's big list of book purchases from October 1948 to February 1949, soon to be posted.

Sports Echoes

By Herbert McCallum

●WHATEVER HAS happened to defense in basketball? A mid-South sports scribe poured over the question last week and reasoned thusly: "Instead of awarding a solid slice of the practice period to defensive techniques, too many coaches spend the entire time beating the blood out of the bucket—trying to put extra zing on the fast break. . . .working on defense is dull stuff, (but) it pays off such obvious dividends that neglect is smashingly disastrous." That a defense complex is of inestimable value the scribe goes to prove in citing statistics to show that defensive leaders in basketball get bounced considerably less than box-car scoring teams among the big bucket-busters. To bring it home: Forty minutes' hoop capping may be the shortest road to victory tonight over Brownell Bryant and the Big Blue.

●POINTEDLY PERSONAL: Regardless of the way the score ran, Harvey Overton, '46, and the CTS five had a jolly time Wednesday night as Overton got a sum total of two points to Leon Berrong's four (Thiesse had 13). . . Right now we're wondering how hefty Georgia Tech's heavyweight is. . . . Before signing ex-pro mentor Bill Edwards, Vanderbilt sent out a large number of feelers—one of which was received by Maryville's Line Coach, John A. Davis. . . . John Briggs did it! That's a significant report from Saturday's mat meet with Chattanooga. . . . .Yipee! The swimmers shouted on word of another meet—Berea, here, March 5.

●DUSTING OFF his baseball cap, Coach Honaker called for potential pitchers 'n' catchers Thursday—some 12 prospects showed up. With a restless rush, Coach'll be polishing off the cage season with an eager eye toward joining the boys on the diamond when the weather gets right. We hear he's got a new-fangled batting practice pitching machine on order with extra-brittle plastic bats (in five colors) to match.

●JUST THIS & THAT: ABC's almost put their house in order what with a new round of regulations designed to clarify and coordinate the letter-award system. Good thing. News that Maryville's wrestlers will get a shot at nine other teams in the Atlanta AAU tourney gives the boys chance to meet the South's best. Chances are that the MC team will be tourney-bound without an undefeated man, but the chances for medals shouldn't be so remote. End of the line: Cage & Mat campaigns end Friday with Chattanooga's double-barreled attack.

Scot Tankmen Off To Vandy Splash

Maryville's swimmers departed this morning at 6:30 for Nashville to a swim meet with Vanderbilt's Commodores this afternoon.

Gloom was in evidence Thursday as the Scot mermen went through their daily stint—Don Macdonald, leading scorer and mainstay of the squad was shackled with a sore throat. Without Macdonald, a vital backstroke link, the Scot swimmers' power could be considerably weaker competing with a team that twice beat UT last year.

Ed Vanderslice is the number two backstroker and man to fill Macdonald's lane if he's unable to swim. Coach Kenneth P. Johnson switched Everett Zabriskie, the Scot distance swimmer, into the 200 breast stroke as Bill Varker went to the 440 freestyle in another change from the last meet.

Vanderbilt's swimmers will return today's engagement with a meet in the college pool next Saturday at 3:00.

Coach Johnson announced this week that Berea College, Berea, Kentucky, will swim here with Maryville's varsity on March 5.

Scot Matmen Plan Trip To Tourney

Maryville's wrestlers received official application blanks this week for the Southern AAU wrestling tourney in Atlanta March 4 and 5. Georgia Tech is to be the host team, and Coach "J. D." Davis and his squad are planning to go to the tourney.

Teams invited to compete are as follows: Chattanooga, Vanderbilt, Auburn, Georgia Tech, Pensacola Naval Station, Memphis NATC, Atlanta YMCA, Emory University and Maryville.

Athletic Board's Powers Given Official Once-over

(Editor's note: For some time Echo's sports pages have attempted to bring the activities of the Athletic Board of Control closer to the college family interested in maintaining the highest degree of fair play in athletics on the hill.

Herewith follows an interpretation, which The Echo believes represents the prevailing opinions of the student members of the board concerning the functions of the Athletic Board of Control. The writer is a member of the present board).

There has been criticism leveled at the Athletic Board of Control in the past few months on various accounts. Rather than single these out and consider them one by one, it seems proper and necessary to clarify again the theory behind the letter award system, and the powers of the Board.

Powers of the Board

First of all, concerning the Board and its powers. As governing organization, the Athletic Board is under the jurisdiction of the Executive Council of the Faculty. Any matter coming before or passed on by the Board must be finally passed by the Executive Council before it can go into action. Also, any letter recommendations etc., must be made by the Head of the Athletic Department of the College. Further restriction is found in the by-laws, where it is stated clearly and authoritatively what may and may not be done by the members of the Board.

Main source of contention in the past has seemed to be the awarding of letters for varsity sports. The Board has the power to grant letters on recommendation of the Director of Athletics, and can refuse to grant a letter which he has recommended.

Letter-Award Theory

The theory behind the awarding of letters is rather complicated and difficult for someone unfamiliar with athletics to understand. First of all, there are, and have been for some time, four major sports: football, basketball, track, and baseball. The minor sports at Maryville are: tennis, swimming, cross-country, and wrestling. There are many who participate in the minor sports who will strongly contend that they should be accorded major sport position, but, their arguments notwithstanding, the general national college opinions seems to stay with the four major sports and the rest minor.

Thus, the first division is made and the difference is found here at Maryville in the size of the letters. Furthermore football in the South is generally considered one step higher and so we have 8" block letters for football, 6" block letters for the other three major sports and 5" block letters for the minor sports.

As far as the awarding of letters is concerned, the same condition of the status quo is evident. The by-laws, recently revised, state that those receiving a letter must fulfill certain requirements which are, generally, 50% of the playing time in football and basketball, and 10 points in track, cross-country, and wrestling.

Because each of these sports is of a different nature, the letters are given on slightly different bases. For example, football letters are awarded strictly on the basis of playing time, while in

Students Ratify Athletic Changes

Amendments to the Athletic Association's By-laws ratified by the student body in Thursday's meeting change the existing conditions in the following five ways:

1. Wrestlers may now letter by scoring a total of ten points—5 for a fall, 3 for a decision in regular intercollegiate bouts.

2. Cross-country letters will be awarded to runners who score ten points within a ten-point scale (i.e.: first place gives ten points, tenth place, one point).

3. Trackmen may letter either by scoring a total of ten points, or by taking first place in the state meet.

4. Concerning varsity team managers, article VI, section 2 was amended to read, "All managers shall receive letters who have served one year as apprentice and one year as regular manager in the same sport."

5. Concerning election of board officers, article II, section 1 was amended to read, "The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice President, and Secretary, who shall be nominated each year at the regular annual meeting, and elected by the general Student Body ballot."

The amendments were submitted to the student body for vote by James Black, president of the student body, in the absence of Bob Boring, association president.

The above amendments were approved by the Executive Council of the Faculty on November 23, 1948.

MARYVILLE TAKES CLOSE VICTORY OVER CAROLINA

Maryville's varsity basketeers broke a February meetings lull to retrounce Western North Carolina's Catamounts, 61-59 on the latter's home court last Friday night.

Lady Luck seemed to have travelled with the locals, for despite the fact that starting forward Gene Reynolds was benched with a sprained ankle and the Cats held eight points' sway at half time, the Scots managed to set the game in Orange and Garnet ice.

A combination of Brahams, Brahams, Hamil, Roberts, and Boring melted the opponents' lead, took an eight point lead, and froze the ball during the final minutes as the buzzer proclaimed a two point Scottie victory margin.

SCOTS CAP 3 STRAIT WINS

With a second win over King, 59-52, Wednesday night, Coach Honaker'sHighland Hoopsters hit off with their third straight victory to hold a record of 13 wins in 21 attempts in the current season.

Last week, Maryville topped Western Carolina, 61-59, for a second time and mauled Emory and Henry's Wasps, 69-54 in a home showing. Following is the week's resume:

SCOTS CAP KING, 59-52

Using a fast break to best advantage, Mayrville's Scotties stopped King's Tornadoes a second time, 59-52, in Alumni gym Wednesday evening.

Center Brick Brahams led the wayfor the Scot Cagers with 27 points, 18 of them coming in the first half. Lambert, De Weese, and Johnson were high for the Tornadoes with 12, 12, and 11 points respectively.

King's attack featured some fancy passing, but it was to no avail as Boring and Hamil frequently broke up Tornado passes and converted them into fast breaks.

The Scots, putting on a passing exhibition featured quick lay-ups and side shots in the first half, polished up a 34-22 lead by intermission, and retired the starting team for most of the second half. King's rally in the waning minutes was promptly snuffed as the subs matched basket for basket.

SCOT HOOPMEN WHIP WASPS IN HOME REVENGE MEET

Returning to Alumni Gym for a second meeting with Emory and Henry, Maryville left no doubt of superiority in the minds of spectators when the Scot Quint turned back the Wasps, 69-54, last Saturday night.

Emory took a 71-66 victory when the Highland Five entered Virginia, and Saturday's victory marked a significant comeback for the Scots.

Double-header Features Georgia Tech, L M U

Tonight Maryville's wrestling and basketball forces set the stage for a second big doubleheader—the cagers start at 7:30 with Lincoln Memorial Univrsity's "Big Blue" outfit, and the wrestlers top the night with Georgia Tech's grappling squad.

It's the next-to-last doubleheader of the current season, for Chattanooga's two-team entry in Alumni Gym next Friday night will cap the home schedule for the Scot cagers and grapplers.

Experienced Rassling Foe

Scottie grapplers meet the mighty mat might of Georgia Tech. Coach R. N. Miller is expected to have some good men with at least four of last year's men back—in the 155, 165, 121, and heavyweight classes.

Tech Record Good

Tech lost a meet with Auburn this year by a 25-11 score, and beat the University of Chattanooga 17-11. Last year's Tech-MC record resulted in a 17-17 tie in the first meet, and a 19-10 win for Tech in the second meet. .

No lineup for the Tech meet is available since a report is that several of the Techmen have received badly battered ears in recent meets, and Coach Miller does not know whom he will substitute in the MC bouts.

Four Probable Starters

It is probable, however, that Batten for Tech will wrestle against Major of MC in the 155 pound class, with Basler vs. Merriman in the 165's. Matheus will hold down the Heavyweights for Tech, and Tom James will tangle with Marvin of Maryville in the 121 pound class. These four men are holdovers from last year's Tech squad.

'Big Blue' Powerful

Lincoln Memorial's Railsplitters, who downed the Scot cage machine 72-68 at a Harrogate showing stand square in the way of the Honakermen spurting in the homestretch of the current cage campaign which ends next Friday.

For if the Scottie hardwoodmen can overcome the Splitters tonight, take Tusculum on the road Tuesday night, and rally forces to crush the Chattanooga Moccasin Tribe on Friday evening, the season will be done up with strawberries and cream.

Target for tonight in the cagers' book of strategy is to stop one Brownell Bryant who tossed in 28 points during the first meeting of the teams in the current season. Bryant, with a forward, Watson, tallied 44 of LMU's 74 in the four point margin of victory in the previous game.

With Forward Gene Reynolds shelved with a bad ankle, Coach Honaker will probably send a Roberts - Brahams - Brahams - Hamil - Boring combination against the Big Blue featuring McCarter and Watson at forwards, Bryant at center, and Peters and Myers at guards.

At the end of 20 games (through King game Wednesday), the big four in scoring for the Scottie cagecrew stood as follows: Brahams, B. held 14.0 average per game; Boring second with 13.0; Hamil third with 10.6 followed by Reynolds (18 games) with 8.4.

SWIMMING POOL

Coach Johnson announced this week that the swimming pool would be closed daily to all except the swimming team until 4:30. After that anyone may use the pool.

ATHLETIC BOARD . . .

track a man must place or win in order to gain a letter.

Base For Qualifying Differ

This difference lies essentially in the fact that the two sports are very different in makeup. Anyone can run in a race no matter how good or bad he is, but not every one who goes out for football gets to "run in the race" so to speak. In other words, in place of "winning" in track is substituted in football "winning" to play on the first string or enough to make a letter.

In the final analysis the whole letter award system is based on the fact that letters are not awarded merely for participation, but rather for outstanding ability. And this is not true only at Maryville College.

Although the Athletic Board usually follows the by-laws closely in awarding letters, there are times when a small deviation is made in unusual cases. On the recommendation of the coach, an injured player who would have earned a letter is given one. Also, those who are one quarter or one point under the requirement and who have lettered before or are upperclassmen, are given one one by the Board.

A senior who has met even half of the requirement and who has been out three or four years is usually considered for a letter. It is very seldom that anyone under normal circumstances receives a letter who has made less than one unit under the requirement.

Board Open to Suggestions

It is not presumed that this article will satisfy all questions, but it is an attempt to explain the "theory" under which the Maryville award system is set up and operates. The position of the students on the Board is not an enviable one, for in a sense they are passing judgment on fellow students, and in some cases on fellow teammates. To the knowledge of this writer, there have been no instances of personalities being brought into the discussions, but rather only the principles involved.

The Board needs and seeks the cooperation of the students, as well as their constructive criticism and help. Any suggestions or questions would be welcomed by the Board, and would be acted on with thought and consideration.

Intramurals....

By Intramural Dope

Intramural basketball tides brought two defeats to the mighty Cyclops this week and the last vestige of an undefeated team vanished.

Wholly Rabbies put down the Cyclops, but found rough sailing with Deadly Deacons in a Friday meeting. Ex-Schrubbs, with Joe McNeil paving the way, eased by Frosh to rule the Intramural roost for the week. RAC's jumped from sixth to third place in standing by waylaying Whizzers in a Wednesday struggle.

Way down in the celler, PB's moved over to let the Shlops fall through to number one spot—from the bottom.

Wholly Rabbies handed Cyclops their first defeat of the season, 16-13, in Alumni Gym Wednesday.

RAC's squeezed by Whizzers, 12-10, in a "sudden death" overtime period. Varmits set Athenians down, 23-18, and Eight Balls forfeited to Deadly Deacons.

In Intramural Gym, Joe McNeil scored 23 points as Ex-Scrubbs smothered Frosh, 49-9. Bobcats eased by Shlops, 25-22, and Creamers defeated PB's 32-23.

Friday's frays found four fives on top with Wholly Rabbies nosing out Deadly Deacons, 22-20; Whizzers bouncing Cyclops handily, 23-18; and the lowly PB's advancing out of the celler by accepting a forfeit from 8-Balls as Alpha Sigma dumped Shlops, 18-12 to create a vacancy in the basement.

Next week's schedule follows:

(Note: 1 is3:30-4:00; 2. 4:00-4:30; 3. 4:30-5:00; 4. 5:00-5:30.)

Tuesday, Feb. 22, (Alumni)

1. Frosh vs. Varmits; 2. RAC's vs. Eight Balls; 3. Shlops vs. Wholly Rabbies; 4. Creamers vs. Athenians.

Wednesday, Feb. 23, (Intramural)

Friday, Feb. 24, (Intramural)*

1. Shlops vs. Eight Balls; 2. Bobcats vs. Athenians; 3. Whizzers vs. Alpha Sigma.

Friday, Feb. 24, (Alumni)

1. Wholly Rabbies vs. Frosh; 2. Cyclops vs. PB's; 3. RAC's vs. Deadly Deacons; 4. Varmits vs. Ex-Schrubbs.

*Friday's games in the intramural gym will start fifteen minutes later than customary, with three half hour games starting at 4:45.

Standings for the week follow:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Ex-Schrubbs	8	1	.889
Cyclops	8	2	.800
Wholly R'bies	8	2	.800
RAC's	7	2	.778

MC Matmen Down UC For Third Win

Matmen of the University of Chattanooga lost their third straight bout Saturday evening when the Scots downed them on home grounds, 19-11.

Maryville scored two pins against UC's grapplers. J. A. Cameron, 128, pinned Cornielius of UC in 1:37 of the first period, and John Briggs, heavyweight, pinned McCoy in 8:35 of the third period.

Scots Pinned Once

UC's only pin came in the first bout when 121 pound George Owens held Jim Marvin in 1:47 of the first period. Tubby Callaway, 145, outwrestled Bill Smith for three team points, Hershel Merriman, 165, took his opponent Bill Berg for three more points, and Herb Palmer decisioned Luther Worsham in the 175's for the remaining three points.

Tankesly whipped Tom Yeaworth in the 136's and Louis Braly won over Lawrence Major in the 155's.

Summary

121 Class—Owens (C) pinned Marvin (M) in 1:47 of the first period.

128 Class—Cameron (M) pinned Cornielius (C) in 1:37 of the first period.

136 Class—Tankesly (C) decisioned Yeaworth (M).

145 Class—Callaway (M) decisioned Smith (C).

155 Class—Braley (C) decisioned Major (M).

165 Class—Merriman (M) decisioned Berg (C).

175 Class—Palmer (M) decisioned Worsham (C).

Heavyweight—Briggs (M) pinned McCoy (C) in 8:35 in the third period.

YW Holds Silver Tea For Students, Faculty

YWCA has invited students and faculty to a Silver Tea Sunday, February 20, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Y Rooms. The "silver" is to finance replacements and additions for equipment in the kitchen.

In the past most of this responsibility has been taken by YWCA alone. This year YW felt that everyone who enjoys the use of the rooms might like to share in their upkeep.

Besides making these plans, the House Committee has purchased new furniture for the Rooms. This includes two sofas and two easy chairs.

YM Limits Bartlett Use; Adds Drapes, Furniture

Because of the conflicts in scheduling events and of misuse of equipment, YMCA is setting up rules to govern the use of Bartlett Auditorium. Those wishing use of the auditorium will be required to sign up for it in advance.

Starting Monday, February 21. the sign-up calendar and rules for use will be found on the back wall of the auditorium.

The Y has recently secured stage furniture and a backdrop for use in their Sunday meetings. The maintenance department of the college is extending the stage to the west wall.

Maryville JV's Down Overton's Preachers 65-45

In a preliminary Wednesday night, Maryville's JV's marched to an easy 65-45 victory over manager-player Harvey "Pappy" Overton's Columbia Seminary Five.

At the outset of the game, the JV's under Leon Berrong with Ray Lillard absent, ran up a quick 10-0 lead on five straight baskets. Fast breaking with George Handley, 6'2", in the pivot spot, the JV's edged to a 35-18 lead at half.

Toward the end of the first half, substitutes poured in for the JV's with Ralph Thiesse leading the aggregation, and shared much of the play for the remainder of the game.

WEDNESDAY WORKSHOP HEARS CARROLL STEGALL

Carroll Stegall will be the reader at next Wednesday's meeting of Writers Workshop. His critic will be Duncan Bennett.

At the February 16 meeting, Juanita Johnson read a short sketch "Southbound." Leader of the criticism was Rebecca Gresham. Harold Hunter criticized a short stoy called "Invictus," written by Ed Pancoast.

Social Science Class Visits Loudon, Watts

Mrs. A. F. Pieper's social science survey class has arranged a tour of two dams on Tuesday, February 22. This tour is the result of a class study of TVA.

Arrangements have been made at Watts Bar and Fort Loudon Dams for a guided tour to visit the power houses and steam plants. At Fort Loudon a demonstration will be given showing the working of a lock.

The group, accompanied by Mrs. Pieper, Dr. Case, Arda Walker, and Howard Schwam will leave immediately after dinner in order to get back in time to attend "Hamlet." Seven cars have been secured for the trip.

This trip will cover about 120 miles going down by Madisonville and returning by Knoxville.

TENNESSEE PHILOLOGISTS, PUBLIC TO SEE 'BEGGARS OPERA' FRIDAY

MC Students, Orchestra In Gay Work Friday

Dr. Edwin S. Lindsey, head of the English Department at Chattanooga University, will direct John Gay's "The Beggar's Opera" here March 4. Two performances are scheduled for Bartlett Auditorium, at 8 and 9 p. m.

Members of the Tennessee Philological Association, at Maryville for their 43rd annual convention, will see the first showing; the nine o'clock performance is for the general public.

Friday's opera, which was first produced in 1728, will be a shorter version, lasting about 25 minutes. Voice students at the college will take all parts except those of Mr. and Mrs. Peachum, which are to be taken by faculty members of the University of Chattanooga.

The opera, originally a satire on Italian opera, will star Conrad Eaddy as Captain Macheath, leader of a gang of highwaymen.

Macheath's wife, a pretty young girl who loves her husband, will be sung by Evalyn Smith.

Others in the cast are Gloria Measamer as Lucy Lockitt; Father, sung by Charles Huffman; Matt of the Mint, George Howell; and Filch, Herbert Keene.

A small group from the College Orchestra will accompany the opera. Curtis Hughes is director of the orchestra and Dorothy Horne is concert-mistress. Harry Harter is in charge of rehearsing the students taking part. All three are members of Maryville's music faculty.

Townwomen in the opera are played by Lois Deobler, Mary Holly Webb, Patricia Cox, Linnea Johnson, and Peggy Wakefield. In Macheath's gang are Jim Akin, Charles Parvin, Herbert Hoover, Herbert Keene, George Howell, and Charles Huffman.

Enjoying music is his avocation, Dr. Lindsey has directed productions of this kind for many years. An opera version is "Hamlet" is one of his achievements.

Student Council Meeting

Student Council will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday evening in the Student Center. Following the meeting, the group will have refreshments.

Tennessee Philological Association To Meet Here Friday, Saturday

Maryville College plays host March 4 and 5 to members of the Tennessee Philological Association in their 43rd annual meeting.

Beginning at 8:45 in Bartlett Hall Friday members of the association from all over the state will register, be welcomed by President Ralph Lloyd of the College, and attend to business matters.

Reading of papers and discussions will follow the first session in the Auditorium. Three members of MC's division of languages and literature, Arthur Bushing, Paul Cooper, and Dr. Edwin Hunter, will read papers to the groups.

Other colleges represented here will be Southwestern at Memphis, UT, Chattanooga, Carson-Newman, TPI, and Vanderbilt.

The philological society is a group of college faculty members interested in the study of civilization as revealed in language, literature, and religion.

99 Teachers Enter Workshop Courses

Teachers Workshop has enrolled 99 in the term which began January 17 and will close March 21.

The following are courses offered with the name of their instructor: elementary school music, Harry H. Harter; arts and crafts, Charlotte Johnson; child psychology, Dr. Lincoln Barker; teaching social science in elementary school, Elsie Burrell; oral and written composition, Jessie Heron; and language arts, Mrs. D. S. Kramer.

Four counties, Blount, Sevier, Loudon, and Monroe, are represented in this workshop.

Each workshop has 40 hours of class work for which two semester-hours credit are given. This credit is used to meet certificate or graduate requirements and is accepted in any college as resident hours.

The next workshop will begin on March 28.

Frosh Show Talent In March 12 Follies

Talented freshmen will have their chance to appear before an MC audience on Saturday night, March 12, when YMCA presents its Freshman Follies of '49.

Harold Hunter and Jim Dance, acting as talent scouts for the Follies, are interested in finding singers, instrumentalists, dancers, comedians, and novelty acts which have not previously appeared on many student programs.

Interested freshmen may apply to Hunter and Dance before March 4 for information regarding the show. Auditions will be held in Bartlett auditorium at 3:30 on February 28 and March 1, Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

Cross, Owens Give Recital March 3

Maurine Owens, vocalist, and Grace Ellen Cross, pianist, will present a music recital in Chilhowee Clubhouse at 8 p. m. on March 3. Accompanying Miss Owens will be Ruth Helen Bird.

Miss Owens will sing the following:

"Il mio Ben Quando Verra" by Paisiello; "Should He Upbraid," Bishop; Handel's "Oh, Had I Jubal's Lyre", "Der Hirt auf rem Felson" by Schubert; "Apres un reve" by Faure.

"Passepied" by Delibes; La Farge's "The Nightingale"; "O Mistress Mine," Quilter; "This Little Rose" Roy; "Cara Nome Cheil Mio Cor" by Verdi.

Following are the pieces to be presented by Miss Cross:

The Allegro, Largo, and Presto movements from the "Sonata in D Major" by Haydn; "The Deserted Cabin" and "Magnolias" from the "Magnolia Suite" by Dett; "Fantasy in F-sharp Minor," for two pianos, Federer.

Sarah Durant will accompany Miss Cross at the second uiano. Neither Miss Owens nor Miss Cross is a music major.

SQUARE DANCE

Square dancing will replace the usual informal dance from 6:30 to 7:15 next Monday evening. It will be held in the Intramural Gym.

Howard Lamon, Jr., an MC alumnus, will be caller.

Faculty Survey Agrees With Poll; Varied Thursday Chapel Wanted

By Jean Hunt

Last week a survey was made of students to determine whether they were satisfied with the present program being followed in chapel services.

This week the survey has been among faculty members in a similar manner to register faculty opinion toward this subject. Out of the 16 members of the faculty polled the results were as follows:

	Yes	No	Opinion
1. Are you satisfied with the present chapel programs disregarding Thursday's programs?	62%	38%
2. Would you be in favor of students participating in chapel services?	84%	8%	8%
3. Are you in favor of the time being changed from 8 a. m. to 10:30 a.m. or between 2nd and 3rd periods?	46%	54%
4. Would you like to see more variety in Thursday morning programs and speakers?	92%	8%

Differing greatly from the student poll of last week, a large percentage of faculty members are satisfied with the present programs presented in chapel on days other than Thursdays.

Devotional Service

Those polled voiced the opinion that in 20 minutes alloted for chapel, little more could be done than scripture reading and prayer. Some felt that since the primary purpose of chapel is a devotional service, a more elaborate service would detract rather than add.

Results of changing the time from 8 a.m. to between 2nd and 3rd periods were almost identical with percentages of students last week.

A few professors feel that the schedule should be worked out to allow more than five minutes to go to and from chapel services. One great advantage of having it in the middle of the morning would be to divide the day into a schedule of two classes and then a break.

Others feel, however, that since the primary purpose of chapel is a devotional period, it should come the first thing in the morning.

Student Leaders

However, it was almost unaminously agreed that they would like to see student participation under certain conditions. Since Maryville trains many of its students for work in the ministry, social, and educational fields, the faculty agree that experience would be individual would receive would be valuable.

One faculty member suggested that perhaps students could lead on special occasions as National Education Week, Home and Foreign Mission Days, and holidays. It was felt that students have shown in the little participation that they have had in the past that they are capable of presenting programs which would prove helpful and interesting.

Student-Faculty Committee

Another suggested that a student-faculty committee might be appointed to arrange chapel programs. Such a committee could work together to select student, faculty, and outside speakers. This plan would eliminate the problem of selecting of students for the programs, and the students would have a voice in selection of outside speakers.

Southwestern at Memphis uses a joint faculty-student committee to select speakers for its religious emphasis week. They also use the plan of students presiding over chapel services during the week. Such a plan where students have a voice in the program, serve to make students feel that services belong to them rather than something required of the college.

Students who have not made up their minds as to what they wish to do might be helped greatly by lectures given by someone outstanding in various fields.

Other College Programs

Last week at Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone, N. C., the chapel leader was Dr. Luther Gable, internationally known military engineer and atomic scientist. He gave a lecture demonstration on "Taking Atom

Scots Split Doubleheader As Cagers Tramp Moc's 67

Honakermen Trip 'Noogamen, 69-49 As Boring Leads With High Of 27

By Duncan Bennett

Highlander cagers, pouring on steam all the way, gained sweet revenge over the University of Chattanooga last night in the Alumni Gym as they racked up a 67-49 talley to win their last home game of the season. The previous game with Chattanooga played at UC, brought an 81-43 loss to the Scots.

Coach Honaker's Scots led the UC contingent from first to last. Half time score saw UC trailing by eight points with a 39-31 score. In the last minutes of the game UC tallied again and again to run the score from a narrow seven point lead up to the final 67-49.

Captain Bob Boring sparked the Scot Squad for the entire game. He scored the first basket for MC in the first two minutes of play, and went on to score time after time with mid-floor shots. His 27 point total was highest for the game.

15 Wins, 8 Losses

Last night's tilt marked the fifteenth win for the Highlander Hoopsters this season. Of 23 games scheduled only eight have been lost to date. Last night also marked the end of the basketball career of Brick Brahams at Maryville. Brick will graduate this spring after four years of varsity basketball and football.

Individual Scores

Bob Boring's high of 27 points was 11 points above that of the closest rival. Brick Brahams came in second with 16 points, followed by Hugh Hamil with 10 and Hap Brahams with 9.

Moccasin Rasslers Gain Narrow Edge For Wee 14-13 Win

By Herbert McCallum

Burly Don McCoy, heavyweight, stalled out a 3-2 decision over John Briggs last night to give the Chattanooga matmen a wee one-point edge over Maryville, 14-13.

The score stood 13-11 for Maryville as Briggs and McCoy took the mat. Briggs managed to gain two escapes before the third period to match McCoy's two points for a take down. In the last 35 seconds of the match McCoy pulled a reverse to win the match.

The Chattanooga heavy, according to refree Julius Nicely, mistakenly thought he (Nicely) had called a "break" as his left foot went over the mat. Mcoy drove in with scarcely 20 seconds on the clock to win the decision with a reverse.

J. A. Cameron got the only pin of the night with a neat 2:35 first period fall over Chattanooga's Haskins in the 128. Captain "Tubby" Calloway, and Hershell Merriman supplied decisions for the Scot score. Both men allowed their opponents no points.

Palmer took a near-fall for two points in the 175 over Worsham and the Moc wrestler retaliated with a takedown to lock a 2-2 decision.

Chattanooga's Owens, Tankesly, and Braly won wide decisions over MC's 121, 136, and 155 representatives—Marvin, Yeaworth, and Major, respectively.

Scot grapplers bested Coach Anderson's "Big Bend" boys 19-11 two weeks ago at Chattanooga. Briggs pinned McCoy in a 2.35 third period fall in their first meeting.

Score by bouts:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Scots	0	5	0	3	0	3	2	0
Mocs	3	0	3	0	3	0	2	3

128 class — Cameron, M, pinned Haskins, C, in 2:35 of the first.
136 class — Tankesley, C, decisioned Yeaworth, M, 6-2.
145 class — Calloway, M, decisioned Smith, C, 4-0.
155 class — Braly, C, decisioned Major, M, 7-0.
165 class —Merriman, M, decisioned Berg, C, 6-0.
175 class — Palmer, M, drew with Worsham, C, 2-2.
Heavyweight class — McCoy, C, decisioned Briggs, M, 4-3.

BULLETIN

In a meet with UT last night, Vandy's Wilson took firsts in the 50 free style, 150 backstroke, and 440 free style as the Commodores dropped a 43-34 decision to Coach Karl Bahret's Vols.

The meet was tied 34-34 on the eve of the last event, the 400 free style relay which UT won by a yard.

MC swimming Coach Ken Johnson said last night that Bill Varker, starting breaststroker will be on the sidelines today—doctor's orders. Johnson said it was indefinite whether Don Macdonald, ace Scot backstroker, would be in the line-up since he wrenched his back in a senior life saving swimming class Thursday night.

C-N's Dr. Fite Says Second Fiddlers Needed

Dr. Harley Fite, president of Carson-Newman College, used as his topic in chapel Thursday, February 24, "Being Found Faithful in Little Things."

Dr. Fite introduced his speech by saying, "The hope of the world is in our young people. Young people with a vision make one world, while young people without a vision make another world." Then he quoted, "Where there is no vision the people perish."

He told of three kinds of people. First, those who sponge off relatives and Uncle Sam, second, those who do their own work, and third, those who do their own work and in addition have extra time which they give freely to their church and community. He emphasized the need for youth's giving extra time and services in fields such as Church School teachers and Boy and Girl Scout leaders.

Saying that not all people can become mayors, he brought out the importance of people's doing small things. Although others excel you in a field, no one can take your individual part.

Dr. Fite concluded with the thought that we need more second fiddlers today.

May 2 Named Date For Spring Formal

Open House, Tuesday Dance Class, Student Center Teas Discussed

Social Board Chairman Roger Cowan announced the spring formal, Maryville's first, for May 2. A volunteer student orchestra is to provide music for the affair, it was revealed at last week's regular monthly meeting of the board.

WSGA will sponsor Open House in the women's dorms March 5. The program is to follow the same pattern as of former years—beginning the visiting in Memorial, proceeding from there to Baldwin, and ending the evening in Pearsons, where refreshments will be served by hostesses.

The following afternoon, March 6, is the day set for the MSO-sponsored Open House in Carnegie and Bartlett from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. MSO council pointed out that both town students and faculty are invited.

Dancing Class

Margaret Rock, for the Social Board, is investigating continuation of Tuesday night dancing classes. Mrs. Carmen Marquis, director of Student Center, is to look into possibilities of securing a local caller for proposed semi-monthly or monthly square dances.

Money will be made available for Mrs. Marquis to serve tea from time to time to certain groups making arrangements for the Center.

Radio Workshop Sponsors New Y Radio Program

YM and YW present the first of a series of regular Monday evening programs on March 7 from 8 to 8:30 p.m. over WGAP. Sponsored by Radio Workshop of Maryville College, it will supplant Sunday afternoon broadcasts.

This program will include drama, special music and guest stars, interspersed with news of campus interest.

RUBENSTEIN PLAYS IN NEXT U-T CONCERT

Artur Rubenstein, renowned pianist, will play at U-T Alumni Memorial auditorium Wednesday, March 2 at 8:15. This is the first in a series of three extra performances sponsored by University Concert Series.

Debaters Travel To South Atlantic Tournament In NC

Team, Individuals Place In Recent State Meet

Five MC debaters and speakers leave Thursday for Hickory, N. C., to participate in the South Atlantic Tournament there March 3-5. Directed by Dr. Verton Queener, the teams, one women's and one men's, are composed of Carol Corbett, Katie Carpenter, Stuart Saul, and Carl Lindsay. Roger Cowan will not debate but will enter only individual contests.

The tournament is limited to 60 debate teams and will have representation from all Southeastern states. This is the largest tournament Maryville has entered this season.

State Tournament Results

In the Tennessee State Tournament, which was held February 17 and 18, one of Maryville's women's debate teams composed of Katie Carpenter and Dorothy Stater tied with Carson-Newman for first place. In men's debate, Louis Evans and Jim Torrey tied with TPI for second place.

Maryville entered four debate teams in the tournament. Out of 24 debates, the teams lost five and were in the finals in all 24. Forty-six debate teams were enterd in the tournament.

In individual contests, Katie Carpenter won second place in impromptu, Carol Corbett received second place in after dinner speaking, and Cowan took third in peace oratory.

In finals were Miss Carpenter and Torrey for extemporaneous, Evans and Miss Corbett, after dinner speaking, Miss Stater for peace oratory, and Miss Corbett in original oratory.

Smoky Mountain Tourney

Four Maryville teams were entered in Smoky Mountain Tournament held at Carson-Newman February 14. Maryville's teams won eleven out of 16 debates, but due to a mix-up in the balloting, information has not been received as to which school won. Seven schools participated.

Carol Corbett won first place in impromptu, and Roger Cowan won first in after dinner speaking.

May Day Pageant Final Auditions Set For March 3

Final auditions for speaking parts in "Plantation Story," '49 May Day pageant, will be held Thursday, March 3, at 3:30 in Bartlett auditorium.

Complete scripts of dialogue will be available at that time, and prospective players may practice lines from selected scenes before recording their voices on wire.

Although students who auditioned two weeks ago will be considered for parts they tried out for then, they are to audition this second time also in order that scenes involving two or more characters and balancing of voices may be recorded experimentally.

Recording of dialogue will take place during March. Recorded voices will be "dubbed in" at the pageant, while an entirely different group of actors impersonate the Uncle Remus characters. Students interested in taking part in May Day either as cast members or on one of the staging crews, should discuss this with Mrs. Lenore Courtney or Jim Dance.

Days of Our Childhood

Way back, when some of the older students were mere freshmen and the chapel was still in existence, a few of the more frolicsome youngsters were wont to toss set alarm clocks back under the choir risers. Some suddenly startled professor usually finished his devotional service to the accompaniment of a staccato. And, usually did a very graceful job of it.

Well, it seems that junior has grown-up—in size only, for he still can't control the urge to harrass some sincere leader during the morning devotional period.

There has been much talk of wanting better devotionals. The ones who try haven't received much in the way of courtesy. There's no one who shouldn't be able to control himself for the few minutes spent in regular chapel. Why don't we all grow up and act as though we meant our suggestions for chapel services.

Of Human Frailty

Recently this newpaper has come under fire from several directions for alleged inaccuracies, omissions, and lapses from the narrow route of pure fact. Refusing to deny that we have a human staff committed to the errors of humanity, we apologize for treading on pedal digits wherever we have unjustifiably done so.

But in acknowledging our guilt, we do not admit sole blame. Writing on "On Accuracy" The Lamar (Mo.) Democrat had this to say:

> Newspapers make mistakes, but when you consider the utterances of even a reasonably careful paper, and then listen to the way things are told in ordinary conversation on the streets, across back fences, and in classrooms, you are forced to conclude that the newspaper is an immortal paragon of truth and accuracy.

We do not endeavor to present the program for revamping Maryville of every irked student or irate board, but we do strive toward representing accurate campus thought. The same care is taken in "reporting" opinion as in reporting fact. No amount of grumbling can be influential unless others know about it.

If there are needs to be met, wrists to be slapped, or deeds to be commended, The Echo would like to know where its readers stand. Telling one's roommate or mentioning it to an instructor are not the most direct ways to accomplish a worthwhile end.

Echo Forum still carries no "closed shop" sign. —D.W.

Student Council

Town Night loitering is one recurring problem that MC students either must curtail or have privileges suspended. President of Council Jim Black has issued warning that unless the situation is improved, students will find themselves with penalties applied.

It is Council members' duty to enforce the loitering rules. But, it is also the responsibility of each individual to see that he himself, as well as his best friend, observes the rgulations. The offense is not primarily one of underclassmen, but involves upperclassmen as well.

Clarification of Town Night boundaries might help those who seem to stray from the prescribed routes. On Tuesday night, students going to town must use one street, either Court or College, and not switch to the other at any point along the way. The bowling alley is the limit on Harper Street.

Hear Dem Belles--

by Davis and Wallin

To be or not to be

Laurence Olivier presents. . . Hamlet! After previews of the coming J. Arthur Rank attractions, these words flashed on the screen accompanied by rolling drums and dramatically parting, shadowy curtains. But no comedy! 240 Maryvillians watched breathlessly for three hours the handsomely blond Shakespearean Hamlet and the maddening beauty of Ophelia, then ran to waiting White Star Liners for the return home.

Make-up committees for "Papa is All" could well note the make-up job in the British technicolor, "The Red Shoes." (Maybe a take-off on the Ballet Russe?)

To fite or not to fite

Carson-Newman's head certainly put a certain "young man" in his proper place which, at the moment, seemed to be behind the piano. He placed Dr. Lloyd in the same catagory with ones with long flowing beards and Mr. Hughes in the catagory without beards. May be "Pop" Hughes could get Junior to bite him!

To tea or not to tea

Words (much less this column) cannot express the amazement on Mrs. Butcher's face when she emptied the hot water bottle Marge Prall and Katie Carpenter had been using and found it contained hot tea and tea leaves. (Something's wrong in Denmark!)

Too soon or not too soon

It's never too soon to start on English comps apparently thinks Don Taylor. He brought his eight weeks old baby to comps session last week. Thoughtful father with his eye on the future. . . .

To go or not to go

Quite a few Maryvillians were debating whether or not they should further deplete their financial situation by returning to Knoxville this week to attend the extravanganza "Joan of Arc". Several succumbed to the lure and went, legally, others just went. It was quite worth the while and the expense.

To hope or not to hope

At the risk of competing with our feature this week, here's one more word on chapel programs. Saturday morning chapel recently at Berea featured the following: selected short features and news reels plus Margaret Mitchell's saga of the South, "Gone With the Wind" starring Gable and Leigh. Oh, that we too could have chapel programs like that. On second thought, though, who wants to sit through three hours of anything on those bleachers.

Two pi or not two pi

Art for Art's sake. . . . . Barbara Eggleston, art appreciation student, was found in the middle of Pearsons third floor hall frantically measuring the distance between one side of a circle (which had sides) to the other, trying to find the relation of the diameter to the circumference. Barbara is an English major and probably thinks Pi-D is another organization on campus.

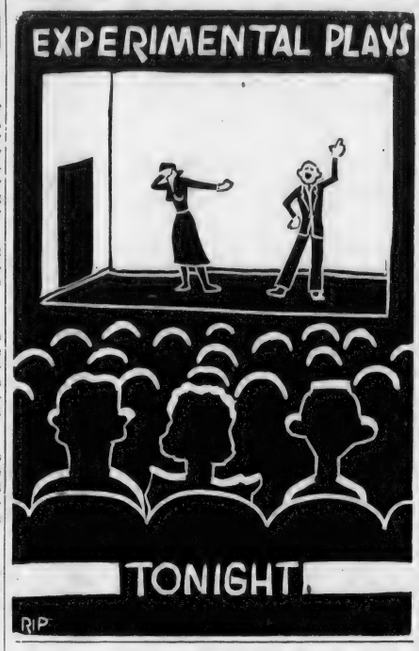
To bed or not to bed

"Tommy" Thomas's "measles" caused quite an uproar last week when she was confined to the infirmary with what everyone except Tommy thought was measles. An epidemic might be welcome before mid-semester exams but not before "Hamlet." While she was recovering from strep throat Tommy read "Hamlet" and worked physics problems for amusement.

To dance or not to dance

Now that Cowan and his Social Board committee have finally announced the date of the spring formal, more and more couples can be seen frequenting the evening dancing in the gym. We like the idea of having the dance on May Day night. It's fine for everyone except those poor souls who will have worn themselves out dancing around the May pole.

To trance or not to trance



It seems that other people besides physchology students are interested in the fine art of hypnotism around MC. Sunday night Zan Emery decided to practice on her roommates. Roommate No 1, Alberta Gates, didn't respond; No. 2, Mary Katherine Hendricks, was more cooperative. She went from door to door on third floor Pearsons asking all the roomers therein if she could "take a bath in the sink". When permission was granted she proceeded to do so, but the cold water woke her up. Mae Meriwether was Zan's next subject. Under the spell, and at Zan's instructoins, Mae, clad in a manner unbecoming a lady on MC campus, went from Pearsons to Memorial to pay a visit to Mrs. Scott. How she did it no one knows, but it might be interesting to find out.

To see or not to see

Jim Kren seems to be having rabbit trouble lately. It seems that the mythical rabbit named "Harvey" crept into the conversation at his table the other day and now is there to stay. He has a permanent place at the table but no one seems to know wher. Maybe it's in Jim's lap.

Talk of The Week

DONALD REEVES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

OLIVIER'S HAMLET

"The play's the thing." It was for Hamlet, and it was this week, for the 250 MC'ers who saw Lawrence Olivier's brilliant production at Knoxville's Pike Theatre last Tuesday evening. "Hamlet" is near perfection. Olivier himself is suberb, doing every type of line with flawless mastery.

Producer J. Arthur Rank's two million was well spent; probably "Hamlet" is the brightest star yet in the crown of that British movie magnate. Especially good is new Jean Simmons as Ophelia who, a mere 18 when "Hamlet" was filmed, shows promise of even greater roles.

Director-Actor Olivier was limited by time, but he worked a miracle. Cutting a four-and-a-half hour play to two and a half hours is no easy job, especially with Shakespeare purists kibitzing.

Unfortunately, some of the best had to go. Noticeably missing were Fortinbras, Rosencrantz, and Guildenstern, and two of the soliloquies, "O what a rogue and peasant slave am I" and "How all occasions do inform against me."

Critics winced, but the cutting had to be done, and Olivier did it as skillfully as he directed and acted. Minus technicolor and without elaborate costuming, Olivier's directing allowed the whole emphasis to focus on the lines of what has been called the world's greatest drama.

Probably the younger generation will associate Olivier with "Hamlet" as they associated Don Ameche with the telephone. He brings Shakespeare to the public without the public's realizing it. That may not be completely good, but he does bring Shakespeare. And that's quite an accomplishment.

CARMEN'S LOVES

Quite a let-down, but showing at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday is "The Loves of Carmen" with Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford. It's not the opera but Prosper Merimee's novel. Perhaps they should have taken it from the opera.

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday is "Command Decision" and on Saturday, Eddie Dean gallops across "Westward Trail."

The Park drags out a "Night Wind" for Monday; some "Fabulous Dorseys" Tuesday and Wednesday; a "Smart Woman," Thursday and Friday, and Roy Rogers in something on Saturday.

The life of Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey played by themselves on Town Night may inspire young horn players but probably no one else. It's the typical Hollywood version of The Rise to Fame: no plot, a little good music; consolation: Janet Blair.

LAMAR'S ADDITIONS

New at the MC library is "FDR: His Personal Letters 1905-1928." It's the second volume of a three volume set of the late president's personal letters edited by son Elliot Roosevelt. Especially good are pictures from the family album.

"Magazine Article Writing" by two Columbia profs seems to be complete for that field, yet it doesn't begin to fill the Library's serious need for some good books on journalism. Also on the new book list are "The Burns Mantle Best Plays for 1947-1948" edited by John Chapman; "Dictionary of Word Origins" by Joseph Shipley;

"Representative American Speeches 1947-1948" selected by A. Craig Baird, "American Jewish Yearbook 1947-1948," "Labor Problems in America," "Major American Poets," and "The Metropolitan Opera Guide."

New on Lamar's periodical shelves is The Christian Register, official publication of the American Unitarian Association.

LAMAR'S ADDITIONS?

The suggestion book at the library desk contains everything from S. H. Kraine's "Therapy of the Neuroses and Psychoses" to The New Yorker. If there's something you think the library needs, add it. It's a better-than-good method of giving MC students an opportunity to help select new library volumes.

ATHENIAN MEETS IN THAW FOR QUIZ SESSION TONIGHT

Athenian Society's regular 6:30 meeting tonight will be held in Thaw 214 instead of Bartlett Hall, owing to Experimental Theatre's performances there. Highlight of the evening will be a quiz program. Details of Athenian's new contest will be explained.

McCurry Gives Carnegie Dormitory News, Plans

Carnegie residents met in Bartlett Auditorium Wednesday evening to discuss rooms, painting, and rumors. Dormitory head E. E. McCurry opened the meeting by announcing there was no news concerning the proposed open house and by commenting on the poor attendance.

Dorm room walls ar enot to be painted with dark colors, according to McCurry. Some rooms that have already been colored may have to be repainted. For the present nobody may paint walls at all. Students may paint floors however they choose.

McCurry plans to start next fall's room assignments May 5. Men desiring rooms they now have will be given priority. Basement apartments, occupied by married GI's the past four years, are to be opened to regular students next semester.

Dr. Queener Elected Speech Group Official

Dr. Verton Queener of the Maryville faculty has recently been elected secretary-treasurer of the Tennessee Tournament Association, a state-wide organization of junior and senior colleges which engages regularly in speech contests.

Other officers were elected from Martin Junior College and the University of Tennessee.

The executive committee is responsible for planning the tournament to be held at Clarksville next year. Future plans of the association call for a series of speeches on the topic "Peace."

By Herbert McCallum

●PACKING THEIR BAGS 'bout Thursday, Maryville's wrestling contingent will be off to Atlanta and the Southern AAU tourney to show 'em how it's done. It's like moving out of the creek into the big river as the Scot grapplers enter this meet. Compare it with Chattanooga's invitation of last year in which Auburn, Maryville, and Chattanooga were the big three—in order named.

At Atlanta Scot matmen will face in tourney competition the combined power of Tech, the host team, Auburn, Chattanooga, and Vanderbilt. Pensacola & Memphis Naval have entered a separate to y—with little noticeable difference in the thi ness of competition.

●MOST HIGHLANDERS cage followers will consider the current campaign, which ends tonight at Jefferson City, extremely successful if the Scotties quietly subdue C-N's Eagle Quint. We say "quietly subdue" because another heated 55-53 rage as the recent Holt-led storm might again be fatal.

For last year's Eagle-Scot finale, Bob Boring quietly (although bedlam reigned in the bleachers) mastered two perfect free throws from the foul line to put MC in front 34-32 for frantic seconds before the whistle and clear victory. Scot cage record to Chattanooga game: 14 won, 8 lost in 22 games.

●LITHE, SWIFT Don Macdonald carved himself a niche in the official Maryville College swimming records at the Vandy meet last week by tieing Burckhatler's 1935 record of 2:02 minutes in the 150 yard backstroke. Cross your fingers as Macdonald goes into action today—the odds are better that he'll break Burckhatler's mark. Without practice for three days due to a cold, he had additional troubles in turns at Nashville as Vandy's pool is five yards shorter than the College pool. To date, Macdonald just hasn't met his class in the backstroke.

●' GAW-GUH' TECHMEN went home Saturday with that "let down" feeling. After all, the grappling engineers had whipped everything in the south—Auburn, Duke excused. To wit: Tech 17, Chattanooga 11; Tech 28, Vanderbilt 2 (don't overlook that draw); Vanderbilt then came back for a closer 20-13 loss while Duke toppled the Tech men, 16-11, and Auburn burned 'em with a 19-9 brand. Maryville's 21-10 loks good beside all that, huh?

STUCK TO THE LAST—Eight cheerleaders have braved good fortune and bad to carry through cheering during that mat & cage seasons just past.

Assorted tumblers and clowns, led by Ric Rogers and George Day, planned a final on the tumbling traps along with basketball and wrestling closings last night. Joe Poland, Walt English, Tom Keyes, Rus Peters, and Brannin Boyd (last seen with a red suit on) are the remaining springs of the tumbling troupe. We understand the organization is not dissolved.

●ROUND ROBIN (Spring-type title for This 'n' That): Tops for MC's wrestling roster are Captain Callaway—four wins, one loss—Hersh Merriman, and J. A. Cameron wtih equal records as of bout-time last night.

With wrestlers Atlanta-bound next Thursday, mention was made of possible entrance for Maryville swimmers, via same transportation, to the Southeastern swim meet concurrently convening there. Agreed it is a feasible and sought entrance, but one hitch: Scottie swimmers close season Saturday with Berea.

Alabamians will tell you not to be fooled by Gergia Tech's seemingly weak wrestling power because injuries had shelved two top-flight welterweights. Tech's swimming is on the up&up as the marine engineers handily defeated Vandy, 51-24, in a recent meet.

SCOTS DROP TO LMU, 55-54

LMU's Railsplitters dealt the Scots a second close defeat last Saturday evening with a heart-breaking 55-54 talley.

The Honakermen held a four point margin with a half-time score of 26-22, but the Scots could not compete with the scoring of Railsplitters Bryant and McCarter.

High Scorers Tied

Brick Brahams and Bob Boring tied for Scot high score with 13 points each, closely followed by Hugh Hamil with 12 points. On the LMU side of the book Bryant, playing at center, piled up 23 counts aginst the Scots, with team mate McCarter at forward accounting fo r16 more points.

SWIMMERS LEARN LIFE-SAVING ART

Twenty-six swimmers, including college and town residents, entered their second week of training Monday under the direction of Zan Emery, Jim Frost, and Coach Ken Johnson.

The course, regular Red Cross Life Saving training, is designed to teach nine fundamental swim strokes, various life-saving carries, and a thorough knowledge of water safety and sanitation.

Fifteen hours of instruction are required before the participants receive tests to qualify as Senior Life Savers. Later this spring Howard Anderson, Red Cross Field Staff Representative, will conduct a pre-instructor's course followed by the instructor's course. Anderson will give the instructorship tests.

Scot Track Team To Start Workouts

Guided workouts for the '49 Scot track team will start March 1 under the supervision of Coach Johnson.

About April 1, Coach "JD" Davis will take over to finish whipping the team into shape. Time trials are to start as Coach Davis takes the helm.

Meets are arranged with the University of Chattanooga and the University of Tennessee—pending are Roanoke College and TPI. The track team will also go to the state meets, held each year on May 14, and to the Milligan Relays.

Racquetmen Rally To Roll Request

About twenty prospective tennis players rallied to Coach Kenneth P. Johnson's initial call Tuesday morning to give the MC racquetmaster a look at potential court material for the coming seasons.

Johnson indicated that official drills will begin soon—probably next week. Meanwhile, eager players are limbering up on Memorial courts and in Bartlett hall. Kenneth Newell is leveling up the courts.

Last fall's tennis ladder lists Chesley Anderson, Wesley Miles, Clyde McCampbell, Harold Hunter, Ben Gearhart, Andy Clark, Charles Williams, George Setterfield, Glen Knecht, and Craig Fisher as men to watch.

Other laddermen are Glen Gage, Noble, Pribble, Lewis, Ed Pancoast, Evans, Jerry Sayres, Bill Moerschel, Arch Swarztrauber, Jim Callaway, and Bob Brown.

Most of these are out this spring, along with five newcomers. More may still join the group before long.

Scheduling is still incomplete, for LMU, Carson-Newman, and Tusculum have not arranged dates for matches.

Games carded to date are as follows:

April 9 Milligan Here
April 12 East Tenn. State Here
April 19 Tenn. Wesleyan There
April 29 Milligan (Pending) There
April 30 East. Tenn State There
May 2 Tenn. Wesleyan Here.

Honaker Issues Call For Baseball Prospects

"All baseball candidates will report Monday at 3:30 in Alumni Gym," Coach L. S. Honaker announced today.

Prospective pitchers and catchers are now in their second week of conditioning exercises, and everybody down to the bat boy is to report Monday for preliminary training.

Varsity basketball players may be given a week's layoff, the MC diamond dean explained.

Pioneers Suffer Second Scot Win

Tusculum's Pioneers came out on the short end of a 70-63 score as the MC five "did it again" Tuesday night at Greenville. The Scotties won on the home court, 63-29, previously.

Intermission found the Scots trailing by ten points—38-28. After the half, the Honakermen began to develop steam, 45 points worth, as Brick Brahams and Bob Boring wrung the nets.

Raymond Caton, Pioneer center, led the locals who were swamped with B. Brahams' 23, Boring's 18, Hamil's 13, and Hap Braham's 12 total efforts.

Vols Invite Scots To Regional Swim

Maryville's mermen received official invitations last week to UT's "Good Neighbor" Invitational Swimming meet to be held in Memorial pool April 2.

Since Maryville's closing swim meet of the season (Berea—Here, March 5) is nearly a month before the meet, Coach Johnson told individual swimmers that they could take part providing they kept training.

E T Schools Invited

Eleven East Tennessee schools have been invited to enter either a team or individuals in the meet, which will consist of seven individual rounds and diving. No team scores are to be kept, Coach Karl Bahret, UT's tankmaster and official host, announced.

SCOT TANKMEN LOST FIRST COMMODORE MEET BY 60-17

Vanderbilt's powerful Commodore swimming crew invades College pool this afternoon at 2:30 for a return meet with Coach Ken Johnson's thrice-downed tankmen. Vandy took a 60-17 victory at Nashville last Saturday.

Chances for leveling up a whop-sided score by the Scots depend upon strengthening the Orange and Garnet race in the 200 free style; the 440 free style, and the 200 breast stroke in particular to cache more number one or two places. (See results of last meet elsewhere in Echo.)

Vandy Star Back

Wilson, Vanderbilt's star dash-splasher, was sidelined last week. He is exepcted to see action in Vandy's two-meet foray in East Tennessee. The Commodores met Coach Karl Barret's UT team last night at Knoxville.

Time trials, five in a row, this week gave Coach Johnson a view of Scottie swimmer's weak points. The line-up is unchanged, and team condition was reported OK Thursday afternoon.

Maryville's swimming squad will close the '49 season next Saturday with Berea College, Berea, Ky., in the College Pool.

CAGERS END SEASON TONIGHT WITH C-N

Coach Honaker's Scot hoopsters go up against the basketball talent of Coach Frosty Holt of Carson-Newman College this evening at Jefferson City. The January 29 tilt with the Eagles netted them a close 55-53 win after the Scots led them with a 31-26 count at half time.

The game this evening marks the end of the official 1949 basketball season and heralds the coming of baseball and the spring sports.

MATMEN ROUT TECH, 21-10

Coach Davis' MC matmen racked up win number four last Saturday by upsetting Georgia Tech, 21-10. Cameron and Callaway pinned Engineer battlers as the Scots won five bouts, lost two, and drew one.

Yeaworth rode out a decision in the 136-pound group by gaining a reverse and two points on time advantage; Merriman threw enough to bag two takedowns, two escapes, and two points time advantage.

Palmer took the 175-pound set-to with a reverse, a takedown, and maximum time advantage. Major got the remaining points by fighting to a draw in the 155's, his two escapes balancing the opponents' reverse.

Miller-coached Techmen took honors in the 121-pound and heavyweight divisions. Marvin's two escapes were not enough to win the light-weight scrap, and Davis held out till late in the last period. Callaway and Cameron both outpointed their adversaries before securing second period pins.

121 Class—Scott, G, decisioned Marvin, M, 4-2.
128 Class—Cameron, M, pinned Ivey, G, in 2:33 of the second.
136 Class—Yeaworth, M, decisioned Mazanti, G, 4-0.
145 Class—Callaway, M, pinned Oglesby, G, in 2:12 of the second.
155 Class—Major, M, drew with Hodges, G, 2-2.
165 Class—Merriman, M, decisioned Franklin, G, 6-3.
175 Class— Palmer, M, decisioned Zell, G, 6-0.
Hv. Class—Matthews pinned Davis, M, in 2:17 of the third.

Maryville Matmen To Enter Tourney

Coach "JD" Davis plans to take eleven varsity wrestlers to Atlanta Thursday for the Southern AAU Tourney, sponsored by Georgia Tech this coming Friday and Saturday. Preliminary matches will begin Friday, and finals will be held Saturday night.

The classes will be regulation-AAU size consisting of bouts in the five's from 115 through 175 and heavyweight divisions. Davis will put minute Paul McNeill, 115, in the flyweight division.

In the regular classes, the main string, Marvin -Cameron -Yeaworth -Callaway -Major -Merriman -Briggs -Davis, will represent Maryville. In addition, Ches Anderson, 136, and John Lewis, 175, will be Orange and Garnet competitors.

Prep Cage Tourney Opens Here Night

Campus basketball fans will have an opportunity to join those of Blount County following the annual seventh district high school tournament starting Monday night in Alumni Gym.

All week, excluding Wednesday, Blount County's ten prep cage squads will stage three games nightly leading to the finals on Saturday night, March 5.

Tournament Director L. S. Honaker announced that admission prices will be as follows: Monday and Tuesday—50 cents per person; Thursday, Friday and Saturday—75 cents per person. These prices hold for both adults and children alike.

Alcoa High, undefeated in regular season play, has been seeded number one in the boys division, while Townsend was given the number one spot in the girls group. Townsend girls and boys are defending champs in both divisions.

Rated behind Alcoa boys are Everett, Friendsville High, Maryville and Townsend. Everett, Maryville, Greenback and Porter are seeded behind the Townsend girls.

Tournament play will open Monday with Friendsville and Walland girls clashing at 6:00 p. m. Maryville vs Friendsville Academy boys at 6:50 and Walland vs Greenback boys at 7:40 will complete the first night.

DAVIS ANNOUNCES PIGSKIN PRACTICE

Coach "JD" Davis announced Wednesday that spring football drills will open Monday afternoon, March 7.

Sessions will last about five weeks, and scrimmage will begin after one week. Coach Davis stated that all men who are out for spring sports—baseball, track, tennis—will be excused, but that all others who intend to play football next fall will be required to report.

Along with new men, Davis expects 35-40 men to report.

Maryville College Grad Sponsors M Club Party

Marian Henderson, former Maryville College student now attending UT, will sponsor a party for all M Club members, Monday, March 14, at the home of Mrs. V. M. Queener on Montvale Road. Helping on the food committee are Vera Lusk and Barbara Bertholf; on the decoration committee, Ruth Rogers and Mae Meriwether.

On Saturday, April 2, all physical education majors and M Club members are invited to attend the UT Play Day. Further announcement will be made later.

Vandy Dunks MC Tankmen, 60–17

Vanderbilt U's tankmen splashed to a 60-17 victory over the Scot swimmers at Vandy's pool last Saturday. The Commodores captured seven firsts out of nine events, with only Jack Moore and Don Macdonald placing first for Maryville.

Jack Moore and Dean Risher, by placing first and second, respectively, in diving, garnered Maryville's largest total points in any one event. Don Macdonald has yet to be beaten in the backstroke.

Maddin was the big noise for Vandy, taking first in both the 60 yard free style and 100 yard free style.

Summary

300 yd. medly—Vandy, Wilson, Newell, and Davis defeated Maryville's MacDonald, Varker, and Lane; time: 3:25

Musicians, Program Chairmen Reminded

Applied music students must give their instructors three days' notice before any public performances, according to an annoucement made recently by the division of fine arts. The ruling applies to both credit and non-credit students.

The regulation is not a new one, but has been overlooked lately by some campus musicians. Program chairmen would do well to plan their musical programs accordingly, the department stated.

CHAPEL POLL OF FACULTY

Bombs for Peace." Berea College in Kentucky frequently has movies including "News of the Day" in chapel services.

Maryville debators coming back from David Lipscomb College in Nashville have made many remarks on the outstanding chapel services held there. The following is taken from an article in The Babbler, David Lipscomb's student publication:

Lipscomb Plan

" . . chapel service is the highlight of the day. In the middle of the morning when you begin to feel tired, the devotional period gives you inspiration to go on to the rest of your classes. There are not so many other schools where so many of the boys are able to participate in making talks, leading singing, and leading in prayer. Not only is this inspirational to the other students but it is wonderful training for the boys. When they are out in the world, they will be able to take a leading part in the church. This is the kind of training that Lipscomb gives, so that its students may be a service first to God and then to fellowmen."

These are just a few of the examples that can be given as to what other colleges are doing to make chapel more beneficial.

Chapel programs are a tradition, but the tradition alone won't hold up the quality. Maryville's 890-odd students and 56 faculty members have a common five-day a-week interest. Echo survey of the past two weeks has definitely shown that a need for a change exists. Could not the powers that be, preferably both faculty and student, work toward a plan for more effective chapel programs? (Editor's note: Echo Forum is open for written, signed comment.)

JVs Trounce VFW; Lose To Prep Five

Maryville's JVs split a matinee and night feature this week—taking Maryville VFW, 53-38, on Tuesday night and dropping to Everett High in a 50-48 upset Wednesday afternoon. Both games were in Alumni Gym.

With VFW, Ray Lillard's junior varsity swung loose from a close 20-19 for JVs at halftime to pile up a decided margin in the final half. George Handley, JV center, made 17 points as the collegemen took the decision over VFW five coached by Tom McDaniel.

Dave Love's field goal in the last fifteen seconds of play put Everett High Cagers out in front for a 50-48 nose-out over the JVs.

Everett jumped to a quick 7-0 lead before Leon Berrong caged a field goal as the Renfromen maintained a 17-7 first quarter headway. Led by Jim Lillard, JVs rallied for a 20-19 halftime lead.

Love undid a 48-all tie as the clock ran out to clinch the game for Everett after a tit-for-tat last half.

VOLUME 34 | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, MARCH 5, 1949 | NUMBER 23

MC Artist Series Chapel Features Concert Pianist

Dr. Gabriel Fenyves Visits Maryville Campus March 10-12, Presents Concerts, Class Lectures

Dr. Gabriel Fenyves, renowned musician, will be guest pianist in a concert presented in chapel Thursday morning, March 10. Dr. Fenyves, who is appearing in this artist series concert, will be on campus Thursday, Friday, and Saturday mornings. While on campus he will lecture to classes and small groups.

Acclaimed in Europe before he came to the United States twenty years ago, he has had a long and distinguished career as a concert pianist. Born in Hungary, he studied piano and composition at the Royal Academy of Music in Budapest with the famed Professor Thomas, pupil of Liszt and teacher of Donhnanyi, Fritz Reiner, and composer, Bela Bartok.

European Career

His European career included a tour with Eugene Ormandy and solo appearnces in Vienna, Amsterdam, Prague, London and other music centers of the Old World. Dr. Fenyves made his American debut in New York's Town Hall, and in addition to many solo performances, has given concerts in this country and Canada with Piatigorsky, the Russian cellist.

Dr. Fenyves has held important positions as a music educator. In 1929 he was engaged to conduct Master Classes at MacPhail School of Music in Minneapolis. In the same year, he joined the staff of the Music Department of Macalester College, in St. Paul, and later was appointed Professor of Music and head of the Piano Department. Prior to that time he was president of the Minneapolis College of Music and has held the position of professor of piano at Wooster College.

Some years ago, at the invitation of Salzburg Festival Association, he conducted Master classes at the Salzburg Mozarteum Academy of Music. Participating in the Festival at that time were Toscanni, Bruno Walter, Mengelberg, and Richard Strauss.

Educational Broadcast

Dr. Fenyves is one of the first artists in the Northwest to undertake presentation of educational broadcast recitals of piano music. These programs have been heard in a series of twenty-seven weekly concerts over Mutual System on a coast-to-coast network. His most recent series, carried by 300 stations in 36 states, can be heard on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. (EST) over the same network. In recognition of his service to music and education, honorary Doctor's degrees were conferred upon him by Boguslawsky College of music in Chicago and Huron College.

College Residents Open Dormitories Tonight, Sunday

College dormitories will hold open house this evening from 7 to 10 p.m. and tomorrow from 2:30-3:30 p.m. This is the second year women's residences have been opened, but the first for Carnegie.

Sponsored by MSO and WSGA, each residence will be open for public inspection at specified hours. The three girls' dorms will open this evening; Bartlett and Carnegie, tomorrow afternoon.

Memorial Hall will be open from 7:15-8 p.m. This evening, Baldwin from 8-9 p.m., and Pearsons from 9-10 p.m. Pearsons will serve refreshments with Marty Kincaid and Hilda Roberts as hostesses.

Carnegie Hall will be open tomorrow, Sunday, from 2:30-3:30 p.m. A receiving line in Carnegie loby is to be composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McCurry, Mrs. Katherine Kolter, and an MSO council member. Refreshments will be served.

Carnegie committee chairmen are Bob Neff, finance; Jim Townsend, decoration; Bob Holley and Joe Claud, refreshment; and Tom Keyes, clean-up.

Dancing Class Resumes Tuesday

Dancing classes for beginners will start next Tuesday evening from 6:30-7:15 p.m. in Intramural Gym, and will continue for a three-week period.

The following girls and men have volunteered to dance with beginners to teach them fundamental steps: Mary Mitchell Wooldridge, Geneva Robinson, Buffie Carver, Sarah Durant, Eunice Pancoast, Alan Rock, Fred Kluth, Sam Broyles, Dick Sprague, Johnny Sayre, Ed Pancoast, Frank Farmer, and Bob Larson.

Others who are willing to help with dancing instructions should contact Mrs. Marquis.

Hope Fund Nears Goal; Final Payments Due

To date only $1359 of the $1748.25 pledged by Maryville students to the Fred Hope Fund has been turned in at fund headquarters. This leaves $389.25 yet to be paid before the pledges will be completed.

Notices have been sent to those who had not completed their payments. A table will be set up in Anderson Hall, March 10-12 for those wishing to contribute then. Payments may be made any time at the printing office in Anderson.

'Beggers Opera' Entertains TPA, Public Last Night

Blackmail, beggers, and bigamy provided the action in the plot of John Gay's "The Beggar's Opera," last night. Both performances in Bartlett auditorium, at 8 and 9 were well attended by MCers and TPA members.

Dr. Edwin Lindsey, in making his arrangement of the opera, simplified the plot considerably by cutting out part of the rising action. Robert Anacker and Jean Petitt, faculty members of University of Chattanooga, played Mr. and Mrs. Peachum and were supported by MC voice students.

Plot of the opera revolves around affairs of one Captain Macheath, a highwayman (Conrad Eaddy) at a time when he becomes involved with two beggars —the Peachums—by marrying their daughter Polly (Evalyn Smith).

The Peachums object to this because they are afraid their new son-in-law will uncover their traffic in stolen goods and turn them in for the reward. To prevent this, they arrange to have him arrested for highway robbery.

Polly pleads with her new husband to flee. He tells he can't bear to be away from her, but his real reasons are affairs with several other young ladies of the neighborhood. One of these. (Linnea Johnson) is persuaded by the evil Peachums to turn Capt. Macheath over to Lockit, gaoler of Newgate prison (Charley Huffman).

Macheath, in prison, sentenced to be hanged, has hopes since Lucy Lockit, the gaoler's daughter Gloria Measamer) is another of his wives. Lucy claims priority over Polly, and both plead for Macheath's life. Not even the appearance of five other wives can convince the goaler that the rogue should live.

But, the beggar tells us, such an opera should end happily, so Macheath is given his life and his five wives. Virtue is its own reward, and an appreciative audience was amused if not morally confounded by "The Beggar's Opera."

Frosh Debaters Place In Tourney

Maryville's freshmen debate squad went to Knoxville last Monday, to participate in a Freshmen Debate Tournament. Other schools represented were East Tennessee State, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, and the University of Tennessee.

Robert Lynn placed first in the individual negative speaker contest and Delores Greco placed second in the individual affirmative speaker contest. Thomas Kelly and Doris Scout tied for first place in the after dinner speaking. Robert Cuthill won first place in oratory and Doris Scout received second. The team of Delores Greco and Barbara Templin stood first in affirmative debate.

ALCOA Gives College $100,000 Endowment

President Ralph Lloyd receiving Check from Dr. O. C. McCreery

Money Establishes Chemistry Chair

By Frances Moore

R. M. Ferry and Albert D. Huddleston of the Aluminum Company of America confirmed the gift of $100,000 to the College at Chapel service Friday morning, March 4. This gift is to establish a professorship in chemistry "on the Aluminum Company of America Foundation."

President R. W. Lloyd made a brief introduction and acknowledgement in which he pointed out that it is only by such endowments as these that colleges like Maryville can continue as institutes of higher learning and high ideals.

Ferry, head of the Aluminum Company in this area, stated that success depends not only upon mastering the basic field of study, in the company's case, chemistry, but upon the ability to live together as neighbors.

Alcoa and Maryville

Huddleston, former Maryvillian and present regional manager of public relations, emphasized Maryville College's soundness as an institution and gave a short history and development of the Aluminum Company of America.

He pointed out the basic purpose of the company is to make aluminum cheaper. He also reaffirmed the excellent relationship between ALCOA and the College.

In a summary of growth of the local plant, Huddleston stated that since its founding in 1910, it has expanded to one of the largest in the country. If it were not for Aluminum Company of America, the goal in aluminum in the recent war would never have been met, he said.

Dr. Lloyd closed the program with a devotional service.

Announcement Previously Stated

An announcement was issued Thursday stating that this gift is in recognition of the worth of the College to industry at Alcoa and of another basic need of the College.

"This gift is evidence, not only of Aluminum Company of America's belief in fostering education, but of value it places on an institutions like Maryville College," Ferry's statement said.

He pointed out that the project "expresses interest of the Company and its employees in the Eastern Tennessee community which the College serves so admirably."

President Hunt Writes Dr. Lloyd

Here are excerpts from the letter of ALCOA President Roy A. Hunt to President R. W. Lloyd.

"We have always been impressed with the soundness of educational policies practiced by Maryville College in the preparation of its students for citizenship; more so because not all educational institutions have seen their objectives as clearly nor adhered as closely to their ideals in the achievement of these objectives.

"We hope that, not only through this grant but by reason of our long established confidence and understanding, our relationships will continue to be mutually beneficial to your fine college and our organization. We wish for you continued success in your leadership at Maryville College." "Sincerely yours, (signed Roy A. Hunt."

Dr. Lloyd Accepts Gift

In accepting this gift, Dr. Lloyd commented as follows:

"Maryville College is profoundly grateful for this magnificent gift of $100,000 by the Aluminum Company of America. It helps to meet an essential need of the College. Also it indicates a confidence in the work of the College on the part of the Company, which is a near neighbor, that is

Y'S BEGIN WORLD STUDENT SERVICE FUND DRIVE TOMORROW; RADIO SHOW MONDAY

World Student Service Fund drive starts Sunday, March 6, with a joint meeting of YM-YW in Bartlett Hall at 1:20 p. m. A movie, "This Is Their Story" will be shown. The movie concerns the need for money to further the work of WSSF.

Pledge cards will be passed out after the movie for those who wish an opportunity to contribute to this fund. Payments can be made in two installments, on March 10-11 and April 10-11. Tables will be set up during the week of March 7 to collect either the pledge cards, money, or both Tables will be in Thaw lobby first period every day and before and after meals in Pearsons lobby. A table will also be set up all day on Thursday in Anderson Hall.

A radio program sponsored by YM and YW will be presented Monday night from 8-8:30 p. m. over WGAP by Maryville College Radio Workshop. A drama entitled "Memorandum to Civilization" will be given. The program will be concluded with a short interview with Irene Launitz, MC student who recently came to the United States from Europe.

World Student Service Fund, through channels of World Student Relief, offers students and professors in American schools and colleges opportunities to help insure education of students abroad. Funds received are not adequate for building reconstruction, but relief given has fallen int five main fields, foods, clothing, medical aid, books, and housing. WSSF campaigns annually in American colleges for funds to aid universities abroad and it is the only national agency organized for this purpose.

Students Organize Radio Workshop

Radio Workshop, newly organized group interested in radio work, will present its first Monday evening broadcast March 7 at 8 p.m. over station WGAP. Ben Paxton is director.

Each week a play will be dramatized, outstanding Maryville personalities will be interviewed, and music will be vocal solos by Jim Frost.

Any student interested in radio work is eligible for membership. Plans are for the group to function in a similar manner to Writers' Workshop where the group offer criticisms of each others work.

Dr. Gillespie To Speak To Student Vols March 6

Dr. Richard T. Gillespie, candidate secretary for the Presbyterian Church, U.S., will speak at Student Vols on March 6. All who wish to talk with him personally Sunday afternoon should contact either Lois Johanson or Anna K. Knapp.

E. H. Johnson, General Secretary of the National Student Volunteer Movement, spoke on February 27. A native of Montreal, Canada, and graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, he has studied in Edinburgh and travelled extensively in Russia.

Maryville College Societies Provide Members Education, Entertainment

MC has never permitted organization of fraternities or sororities but instead provides four literary societies. These clubs were established for the dual purpose of education and entertainment.

On F bruary 14, 1868, nine students met to organize a debating group. They adopted a constitution elected officers, made the old owl their emblem, and called themselves Athenian Literary Society.

Athenian, through the years, has had on its roll quite a few outstanding Maryville men. Among them are Samuel Tyndale Wilson, Dr. Clinton H. Gillingham, former MC Professor Bassett, E R. Hunter, John Crawford, Jr., Maryville mayor, Verton Queener, assistant professors John Kiger and Arthur Bushing.

Soon after the men had their society working actively, one of the girls remarked that she didn't see why girls didn't have a literary society too. This brought an old-fashioned "Pshaw" and a reminder of the fact that "girls wouldn't know how to draw up a constitution, and if they did, they couldn't debate."

Girls Organize

In spite of opposition the girls did organize in 1875 and took the name, Bainonian, suggested by Professor Lamar, which means "Going Forward." A few of their notable former members are Viola Lightfoot, assistant professor Elizabeth Jackson, assistant librarian Mary Miles, and associate professor Catherine Wilkinson.

In March of 1882, nine men decided that a new organization was essential to the welfare and success of MC. So began Alpha Sigma with the motto "Onward." After organizing, they were given rooms on third floor Anderson Hall. At the first meeting there was but one piece of furniture—an old chapel seat. Meetings were held before the sun went down due to an electrical shortage. Some former members are associate professor Archibald Pieper, Dr. David Briggs, and president Ralph Waldo Lloyd.

Theta Epsilon

By 1894 another group of girls felt that Bainonian needed competition. They put on blue and white ribbons, adopted a constitution and set to work to draft new members for Theta Epsilon. Their meetings were similar to Bainonion's. One of the early programs was, "An Evening with Dickens."

These literary events have now been replaced by the annual plays produced by the society groups.

Several prominent former Thetas are Dean Frances Massey, Mrs. Archibald Pieper, and Mrs. George Brown.

An organization similar to the present Inter-club Council used to exist—the Adelphic Union. It was composed of the four socities and provided the annual Com-

SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1949

Student Council

Dancing regulations were first on the agenda at Student Council last Wednesday evening. After some discussion as to the value of incorporating them in the Student Body Constitution, Council decided that they should be placed there only after this year's trial to see whether the present ones are adequate.

Election committee members were reminded of a meeting Saturday morning to discuss plans for campaigning since petitions will circulate March 15.

Shortage of hours of the present junior class was considered and referred to the class president for discussion at the next class meeting.

After much debate, Council passed a motion whereby Council will recommend to Senate and I-CC that the What, When, Where bulletin be discontinued.

Town Night sheet checkers were reminded to place some type of heading on the Town Night sheets so that there will be less chance for girls to use the wrong sign-out sheet on Tuesdays.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Carmen Marquis, director of Student Center, and her assistants, Mary Watt, Winnie Schaumberg, and Virginia Gress, served refreshments to Council members.

Future Security

World Student Service Fund campaigning begins this week on a limited scale. The more we can do to alleviate critical conditions of foreign students, the better opportunities they will have to be educated to promotion of world peace. When they realize our sincere interest in their welfare, they will see that we are for equal rights for all men, whether in the United States or in Europe.

Our future and theirs is undeniably closely related, and, as today's students become international negotiators, mutual understanding will be greater if they have a common bond from student days.

Maryville as a Christian College has always helped liberally those who had less and needed that help. Once again we have been given that chance. If each gives only a little, the total will be worth the effort.

Just For Today?

All during the week before open house arrives Maryvillians can be found frantically making their dorm abodes presentable. When the big day finally arrives everyone oh's and ah's and makes the expected comments and everyone is satisfied. Then things revert to their usual state of havoc. Beds left unmade, rooms swept once a week, once a month or not at all, desks piled high with the accumulation of work done and yet to be done, and clothes hung conveniently over the nearest chair.

No one denies that open house is a good idea. But wouldn't it be an even better idea if Maryville students would take enough pride to keep ready for private open house every day and not just on special occasions when the public is invited in to see the sights? —B. W.

About the weather

With this beautiful spring weather we've been having, you'll just have to excuse a few lines of seasonal poetry:

Spring, spring, beautiful spring,
When all the birds is on the wing,
Durndest thing I ever heard,
I thought the wings was on the bird!

Debaters Again

Lindsey is still debating—after no less than three alarms and one roommate were provided to wake him to go off to Hickory at 5 a.m.

Never thought to see the day when Cowan woud be speechless. Recounting his many feats of valor on a recent debate trip, he was stopped by an innocent inquiry from friend Packard—"Have you been away?"

Concerning Carnegie and Open House

"The biggest bunch of hypocrites in the world, and I'm one of them."

Aluminum paint has a variety of uses. Besides painting radiators, bedsteads, window locks, transom lifts, oor knobs, and lamps, roommates Proffitts and Holley have now created economical indirect lighting by dipping light bulbs into the paint.

Fourth floor hall, usually dull and drab-looking, now has one redeeming spot of color—peacock blue, extending from 409, wherein Neff and Taylor have gone "hog-wild" with blue paint, new floral drapes, linoleum, and—aluminum paint.

"Hope the pinups are decent," worry Baldwinites.

About Open House In General

Dempsey Jones won't be outdone with this open house business. No sir! Just because he lives off campus is no reason why he can't scrub his floor and open his door like every one else. So you all are invited to visit him at 115 Goddard Avenue this evening.

And Baldwin cleaners find dressers and other sundry items pushed from the hall into some other unsuspecting person's room. Culprits are always unknown.

It's love, love, love—

Miss Wilkinson's second semester class seems to find that Les Oberle doesn't live up to the regular type of French novel. One student reported, "Huh, some book. He gets her up on a mountain, asks her to marry him, and then all he does is hold her hand." Perhaps Monsieur Kees would enjoy outside reading in the two new French novels recommended in "Voices, Masks, and Shadows."

Everybody's favorite couple, McKee and Kettles, weren't daunted by Jim's recent illness. She waved to him from the back-door, and he answered with flashes from a flashlight.

Things in general

Along with other innovations on campus, a 'burger-eating contest should be sponsored for girls. So believes a New York uncle of Judy Breen. To start things off with a bang, he sent a can of said meat, plus bread, and one raw onion.

We're sorry you're going away, Herb Marks, but at the same time we'd like to congratulate you on your promotion to a full time mike-operator at WGAP.

Student activities cards may be the key to the kampus kingdom, but the bus company won't let you use them as fare to Knoxville, Marilyn Schnee.

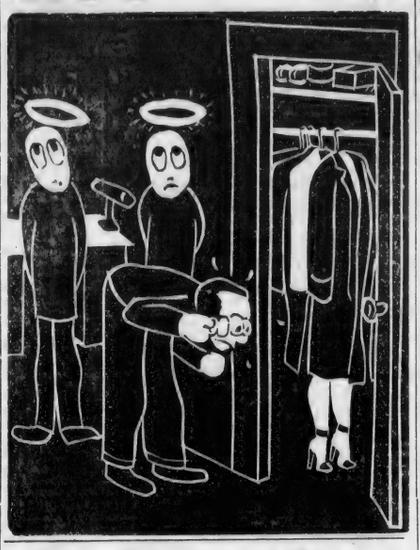
Maryville students are noted for their quick thinking, and, following this tradition, Carl Lazenby was awarded a can of Hormel meat when he recognized a Hormel girl in the grocery store the other day. We may deduct Lazenby knows his girls for what they are!

Disconcerted would describe Mrs. Pieper the other day when she was attempting to decide whether it was for her first or second count that Barbara Hutton gave up her American citizenship. "She"—began teacher, "lost count," finished Robert Holley—Which one? Does it really count?

Another debate item—our favorite topic

Tom Kelly last week bemoaned the fact that he'd surely have to buy a toupee if his crew-cut didn't grow out before the debate tourney in Knoxville. But you can't get a good man down. Did Tom let a little thing (and it was little!) like no hair down him? Instead, he wrote an after-dinner speech about haircuts and tied for first place.

It's a Hard Life



"I could fall for you," said Roe Smith as he tumbled down Thaw stairs. But it wasn't Roe who suffered. . . . . it was the bannister, in case you haven't noticed the two missing rail posts.

The End

That's all, folks, but listen in next week, same time, same station. We'll be seeing you (we hope not).

Talk of The Week

DONALD REEVES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

AT THE MOVIES

Town Nite at the Capitol features Jane Powell and Wallace Beery in another of those technicolor straight-from-Broadway hits, "A Date with Judy." Judy thinks her father is carrying on with an exotic dancer (Carmen Miranda), who is really only teaching him to rhumba. Her efforts to untangle her family make lively fun, and if you haven't seen the play put on by high school actors you might be surprised by the plot too, maybe.

Roy Rogers carries on in one of the better Westerns Friday and Saturday at the Capitol. This one's titled "Nighttime in Nevada." As usual, Trigger carries the brunt of the heavy acting.

Showing March 14 and 15 will be Jack Carson and Janis Paige in "On a Sunday Afternoon," remake of an oldie.

PRESAGED

YM&W's new radio program, MC Radio Workshop, will be heard on Monday nights over WGAP from 8-8:30. Under the direction of Ben Paxton, this program will have the opportunity to become one of the best presentations of MC. Students interested in associating themselves with either acting or technical aspects of Radio Workshop are advised to discuss their interests with Paxton or Jim Black.

March 7's Workshop, built around a theme of the Y's WSSF drive, features a radio fantasy entitled "Memo to Civilization." Starred will be Ann Jenkins, Bill Starr, Joe Poland, and Black. In this dramatization need for aid for European education purposes is rather forcibly brought out.

Songs by Jim Frost are to be a regular feature on Workshop. On March 7's show Geneva Robinson will accompany Frost in "Thine Alone" and "Without a Song."

STAGED

Experimental Theatre dolled up in its new equipment—curtains, lighting, extended stage—last Saturday night and presented two of the most artistic and best conceived productions in its history here.

Under the direction of Ann Jenkins, John Mills, and Carroll Stegall, on a stage tastefully designed by Mitch Wooldridge, "The Captains and the Kings" and "Where but in America?" played to two well filled houses of appreciative MCers.

"Where but in America?" was a Blondie-Dagwood farce set not in '48, as the program started, but in '43, when jokes about ration books, C cards, and the servant problem would have been a little funnier. However, Wanda Onifer and Bill Starr as the sedately slap-happy couple delivered their lines in a manner calculated to provoke the most laughter.

Carol Mitchell as the maid preserved her clever Swedish dialect throughout the play, contributing much to its success.

"The Captains and the Kings" was a complete innovation for the MC stage. The characters were abstractions, the plot was "New Thought," and the leading character, a Hitler charicature ably acted by Jack Reid, went so far as to mutter "Damnation!" in the heat of the action.

Cast in C&K were several talented actors we'd like to see oftener. Playing the Fisherman was Bill Carter, who gave a beautifully restrained characterization which should prove to all would-be actors that you can emote without using your hands. Herbert Marks as the Prime Minister and David Reed as the Senator contributed well conceived personifications.

Bob Holley played a completely different role from anything he has yet attempted, as the Bishop; he played it well. Ruth Heaps proved that she can handle not only staging but also acting as the Rich Man's Wife. Dorothy Stater presented an excellent dislikable characterization as the Revolutionist, except that punctuating one's speeches with staccato raps of a flag pole is not the most artistic attention-getter.

Worth comment was the excellent costuming done by Mary Taylor Hicks and her crew. The Bishop's realistic costume was complete with rosary and mitre. Make-up by Marilyn Edge and Dean Risher was well done. Lighting by J. A. Cameron was perhaps a little too obvious in C&K but considerably better than heretofore.

Judging by the comments of the rather large number who were turned away from the first performance, Experimental Theatre would find it well worth the time and trouble to distribute tickets next time. A balanced audience helps put a play over.

PAGED

Lamar Library's quarterly book list—ten pages this time—will be published next week listing additions to the library since last October.

This week's additions include J. E. Drewry's "Book Reviewing," said to be an excellent work on the subject; "T. S. Eliot and the Lay Reader," a slim yellow volume saying too much about T. S. Eliot by E. M. Stephenson; Max Ernst's "Beyond Painting," a book of arty daubs which make Dali's scribbles look as sensible as a photograph.

Libretto and music of "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan's clever comic opera of the town of Titipu, has been added. Other books dealing with play production are John Dolman's "Art of Play Production" and Henning Nelms' "Primer of Stagecraft."

The library now has Helen Clarke's "Browning's Italy" and two French novels by George Sand.

In response to many requests in its "Student Suggestions" notebook, Lamar Library is ordering immediately that clever magazine The New Yorker. Lovers of Peter Arno cartoons and the little magazine's other fascinating features will be able to see the first issues on the magazine rack sometime this month.

ATHENIANS HEAR BLACK MAGIC, GLORIA MEASAMER

Athenian Society will entertain its members tonight at 6:30 in Bartlett Hall with a program of fantastic and supernatural experiences. True tales of unexplained mysteries will be discussed.

Visiting Bainonian Gloria Measamer, will sing "That Old Black Magic."

MC Alumni Duggan, Hoglan To Wed In May

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Ruth Elizabeth Duggan to Charles Bagnall Hoglan, Jr. Miss Duggan is a Maryville graduate and former member of the faculty. Hoglan, who graduated last spring, was president of his senior class.

The bride-elect has just completed work on the degree of Master of Music at Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y. She is now doing extension work in music at the University of Tennessee.

Hoglan is a student at the University Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va.

A date in late May will be chosen for the wedding.

ART CLUB VISITS U.T. EXHIBIT TUESDAY NIGHT

Art Club is sponsoring a trip to an art exhibit at University of Tennessee next Tuesday evening. All interested in attending are asked to sign up on the sheet outside Room 23, Anderson Hall, before that time.

SOPHOMORE TREASURER SAYS CLASS DUES DUE

Sophomore class dues—fifty cents per semester—will be collected from class members beginning March 11. Treasurer Bob Proffitt announced that he will be assisted by several class members who, with chapel monitors' lists, will see each Sophomore individually.

BUSHING READS ON NOVEL AT FACULTY CLUB MARCH 7

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

●SUMMARY TIME rolls around once again, and it's time to compare totals and tally points for the winter sports. Basketball stacks up very favorably with the '47 and '48 totals. In 1947, 12 games were won and six lost; 1948 showed the Scots a little better off with 13 wins to 9losses. This 1949 season which ended a week ago is the best for the three years with 16 won to eight lost.

●HIGH SCORERS for the past two seasons show Brick Brahams on top for this year with a total of 13.2 points per game. Bob Boring trailed close behind with a 12.5 total, and Hugh Hamil comes in third with 9.8. Last season's totals place Boring in the lead with 10.7, followed by Ray Lillard, 10.2, and Brick Brahams, 9.6. 1947 season was Lillard with 11.0, and Brick Brahams with 9.6.

●SCOTTIE WRESTLERS won four of seven meets for the '49 season. Georgia Tech, University of Chattanooga, and Knoxville YMCA were downed on the mats. Arkansas State, Auburn, and Chattanooga accounted for the losses. The two meets with Chattanooga resulted in a split, with the scores going 19-13 for MC in the first meet and 14-13 for UC in the second. Knoxville YMCA was beaten both times, once 30-8 and again 25-8. Scots took the wrecks of Georgia Tech 21-10. Auburn bounced MC 19-9, and Arkansas State took a 21-8 victory.

●TOTAL POINTS for the matmen give Maryville 125 team points against the opponents 91 team points. 1948's wrestling ticket shows a total of ten matches with three on the down side and seven wins.

●SCOT MATMEN pinned their opponents 13 times in the seven meets, and were themselves pinned eight times. J. A. Cameron, wrestling in the 128's, is top man for the year with four pins. Henry Callaway follows with three, and Hershell Merriman and John Briggs each pinned an opponent twice. Jim Marvin and Chesley Anderson, respectively, pinned an opponent once for the total of 13 pins.

●SWIMMING RESULTS cannot be fully tabulated until the Berea meet is swum this afternoon. Up to now the tankmen have been sunk in four contests. Return meets with Vanderbilt and UT brought scores of 60-53, 17-22, and 50-25, 50-25 respectively. Backstroker Don Macdonald managed to tie the 2.02 pool record this season however.

●WORD COMES that the finals of the Southern AAU wrestling tourney, now in progress at Georgia Tech in Atlanta, will be televised. Coach "JD" Davis left Thursday with the Scot contingent for Atlanta.

●EX-SCRUBBS take fourth place in Gulf Tourney (headline). Six teams were entered in the event from the college. The Weak Spots managed to stay in the running past the first game, but all the others were out in the first play-offs. The RAC's, Cyclops, Wholly Rabbies, and Ramblin Wrecks were the other four representatives from Maryville. George Stanfill of the Ex-Scrubbs team, received an award as the most outstanding player, and he and Joe McNeil were voted places on the all tourney team. Stanfill scored 72 points in play, and McNeil scored 56.

The tournament was won by Wildwood and the Reduction-Mechanical team from Alcoa.

I-M Mat Tourney Opens Wednesday

Mat Coach "JD" Davis announced Tuesday that an intramural wrestling tournament will begin Wednesday.

Signup sheets, for names and weights, are posted in the training rooms in Bartlett. Davis urged the 28 or 30 who have already showed up to begin training and invited other participants.

Finals In Alumni Gym

Matches will be arranged by weights, and will be held in the wrestling room. Finals take place in Alumni Gym, date to be announced —probably at night.

The tournament, sponsored by the intramural staff under Coach Johnson, will be supervised by the varsity mat squad. All male college students are eligible to enter the tourney except letter-men wrestlers.

Berea's Fennmen Close Maryville's Tank Season

Hopeful Scots Prep—

A depressing lack of reserves was the bogey man for Coach Johnson this week in putting the Scot swim team through final paces in preparation for Berea's sea-going mountaineers today at 2:30 in the college pool.

With Bill Varker's retirement on doctor's orders last week, the 200 breaststroke and 440 free-style race for the Maryville merman were considerably weakened. Everett Zabriskie moved from the 400 free style relay to the 440 this week to plug a hole in the starting line-up.

One optimistic note for Johnson's swimmers was the return of Don Macdonald, 150 backstroker, to practice this week after missing the Vandy splash because of a wrenched back.

In the 200 breast, George Barber is slated to be the sole MC competitor in the absence of Varker. Barber entered the 400 free style relay this week to relieve Zabriskie for work in the 440.

Today's meet closes the five-meet Scot swim schedule. Berea's swimmers, under Coach Norman Fenn, vied with Coach Karl Barhet's Vol tankmen last night in a meet at UT's memorial pool.

Although Berea's starting line-up is unsettled, the following men comprise the squad: Jimmy Pigg, Irving Thorton, Bill Evans, Herbert Shadowen, Richard Parker, Glenn Thompson, Dan Ball, Bill Arrowood, Olin Wilson, Conett Jones, Bob Camper, Bill Bishoff, and Sherlie Dekick.

Maryville's starters are as follows:

300 medley relay—Vanderslice, Barber, Lane; 220 free style—Zabriskie, Barnett; 50 dash—Godwin, Henry; Diving—Risher, Moore.

100 free style—Lane, Henry; 150 back—Macdonald, Vanderslice; 200 breast—Barber; 440 free style—Zabriskie, Barnett; 400 free style relay—Henry, Godwin, Barber, Lane.

Berea's Beck Fast—

KNOXVILLE, March 4—(By special wire)—UT's vaunted Vol swimmers submerged Berea's tankmen here tonight at memorial pool, 58-17.

Coach Karl Bahret's mermen took all the free style events, diving, and the relays to dominate the meet with the visiting Berea swimmers.

Maryville observers report that Berea's backstroker, Jimmy Prigg, will be out to break a pool record in MC's pool today in speed battle with Don Macdonald. Prigg negotiated the 150 back stroke race in 1:59.4 in Memorial pool last night. Macdonald holds a tie on the Maryville record at 2:02.

Berea's Beck took a second in the 200 breast stroke with a time of 3:09.5. Parker, another of Coach Norman Fenn's mainstays, made a second place in the 440 free style wit ha 7:05 time.

Berea's sole diver, Jones, placed third with UT's Lucas and Ozane taking top diving honors.

BASEBALL DRILLS ENTER 2ND WEEK

"Honaker's Homely Hitters and Hind-stops" as one frosh styled the baseball candidates, now numbering 24 who are working out daily in Alumni gym, will enter their second week of practice Monday.

All the regulars, principally those who served with the cage crew until last week, are expected back Monday afternoon on the diamond—a la alumni gym until the approach of favorable weather.

This week Coach Honaker hinted that there is a possibility of the Highland diamond team playing an early season game with Miami University of Ohio, and the University of Tennessee before commencement time. Scheduling for either of these is not definite as yet.

Potential Runners To Report Monday

Kenneth P. Johnson, acting track coach, announced this week that all potential trackmen are to report "ready to run" at Wilson Field Monday at 3:30 p.m.

Maryville's 1949 track schedule, as it stands to date, follows:

April 16—Miligan Relays
April 22—dual meet with TPI*
May 8—dual meet with Chattanooga, there
May 14—State meet, Knoxville

*Place of meet undecided

Tennis Candidates Will Compete In Ladder

All candidates for the tennis team this spring will be picked on the ladder system, Coach Kenneth Johnson announced Tuesday. Each man out for tennis will have to supplant those above him till he is among the first six before he will have a chance to play. This was the same system used last year at Maryville.

Coach Johnson also said that the schedule for this year is still not full and that several games are still pending.

Meet Sigma Delta Psi- National Athletic Society

By Duncan Bennett

Maryville athletes, announces Coach L. S. Honaker, are eligible for membership in a national athletic society. Sigma Delta Psi has been maintained here on the hill since before 1930, and not a few of our athletes have become members over the years.

Rigid qualifications are set up for membership, but anyone may become a member provided he can meet the requirements and successfully pass the tests for admission.

MC Alumnus Heads Society

Maryville was recently honored in having one of its alumni elected as President of Sigma Delta Psi. Professor Earl N. Riskey of the University of Michigan was a student here in 1923-24, and he now holds the position of Director of Intramural Athletics at Michigan, Professor Riskey, in his student days, played football, basketball, and baseball on Scot squads. The retiring president, W. R. Smith, admitted four Maryville men to the rolls of the society during the past three years.

'Body—Servant of Mind'

Sigma Delta Psi's name signifies that "the body is the servant of the mind," and its purpose, according to the constitution, is as follows: "The object of the society shall be to promote physical, mental and moral development of college students."

Chapters of the society may be established in any accredited college in the United States which offers a full four year course. Indiana University is National Chapter Headquarters for the society.

Head Coach L. S. Honaker is the Faculty Patron of the Maryville Chapter of Sigma Delta Psi. He has charge of the certification of students who wish to try out, and he recommends those who qualify for the gold key which is worn by all members.

The initiation fee for membership in any chapter of the society is ten dollars. This fee includes membership in the national organization, the gold key, and the certificate of membership.

Athletes Must Pass 14 Tests

In order to achieve membership in Sigma Delta Psi it is necessary to successfully complete a course of 14 athletic events. In addition, the scholarship requirements state that the applicant must be eligible for varsity competition. Only three tests may be passed in any one day, and only three official trials are permitted in any test at one time. A posture requirement is also included.

The requirements, as given in the constitution of Sigma Delta Psi, are as follows:

1. 100 yd. dash—11 3-5 sec.
2. 120 yd. low hurdles—16 sec.
3. Running high jump—5 ft.
4. Running broad jump—17 ft.
5. 16 lbs. shot put—30 ft.
6. 20 ft. rope climb—12 sec.
7. Baseball throw—250 ft. or Javelin throw—130 ft.
8. Football punt—120 ft.
9. 100 yd. swim—1 min. 45 sec.
10. 1 mile run—6 min.

FOUR SCOTS ADVANCE WITH DECISIONS; PALMER TAKES PIN

ATLANTA, March 4—(By special wire)—Eight of Maryville's 11-man wrestling crew remain in the race here at the Southeastern AAU Tourney through first round and partial second round bouts.

McNeil, Marvin, Cameron, Calloway, Merriman, Palmer, Briggs, and Davis will see action in Saturday's semi-final bouts in the afternoon here in Georgia Tech's gymnasium preceding the night finals.

Herbert Palmer pulled down a first period pin in second round action tonight. In addition, Marvin, Cameron, Calloway, and Merriman have decisioned their respective ways into places in the semi-final realm. Other MC wrestlers drew byes and have yet to see action.

Tom Yeaworth and Lawrence Major both pulled through first round contests, Major via fall route, only to be decisioned in second round proceedings. Ches Anderson lost a first round decision.

Following the Maryville matmen by classes:

115—Paul McNeil drew a bye for the first round.

121—James Marvin wrestled to a draw with Chattanooga's Cornelius and Marvin received the referee's decision.

128—After drawing a bye in the first round, J.A. Cameron decisioned Georgia Tech's Garner Ivey with a 4-3 count in second round action.

136—Chesley Anderson was decisioned by Chattanooga's Smith in the first round.

136—Tom Yeaworth pinned Auburn's Bill Mazanti in 2:15 of the third in the first round, but lost by default to McKenzie, another Plainsman grappler in the second round. Both Maryville 136 pounders are out. A pulled rib resulted in Yeaworth's loss by default.

145—Captain "Tubby" Callaway, having drawn a first round bye, clipped into the second round for a 6-4 decision over Chattanooga's Williams.

155—In a first round meeting, Lawrence Major pinned Atlanta Y's Dunton in 2:15 of the third. Major then advanced into the second round, only to fall to Chattanooga's Braly by a 8-5 decision.

165—After a bye first round, Hershell Merriman took a decision over Tech's Franklin, 5-4, in a second round encounter. Merriman suffered a sprained ankle in the tussle and it is expected that the 165 pounder will not be up to par for semi-final action.

175—Herbert Palmer pinned Auburn's Bottom in 1:12 of the first period in a second round battle. Palmer drew bye for the first round.

191—John Briggs caught a first round bye.

Heavyweight—Howard Davis was awarded a bye.

ABC Plans; Board To Award Winter Sport Letters Soon

Athletic Board of Control discussed an "annexation" of the pep committee in a short meeting Monday morning. Formerly under the Student Council constitution, the pep committee is "unattached" at present, awaiting proceedings to bring it under the cover of Athletic Association's by-laws.

The board, according to board president Bob Boring, is expected to reconvene soon to award basketball, wrestling, and swimming letters. Further business the board may take up includes a change in the system of electing cheerleaders, once the pep committee comes under ABC jurisdiction, and means of making the board more effective through rewriting and publicizing its governing rules—the by-laws.

CAGERS WHIP EAGLES, 67-39

Maryville's basketballers whalloped Carson-Newman, 67-39 with the tailwind of an end-of-the-season scoring spree to pour on revenge over Coach Frosty Holt's Eagles Saturday night at Jefferson City.

A previous meeting in Alumni Gym found the Scots on the short end of a 55-53 score. This time, with Brick Brahams, Bob Boring, and Jack Buckley to lead in turning the scoring tables, the Scotties held every Eagle cager under ten points.

Maryville grabbed the lead in the first few minutes and was never headed. The Scots held a 31-20 halftime lead.

Saturday's game topped a 24 game season with 16 wins, 8 losses. For center Brick Brahams, it marked the end of his performances as an Orange and Garnet cager.

Earisman Accepts 'Papa Is All' Role; Tickets Sell Mar. 14

Formal Dinner Precedes First Night Performance

Del Earisman, sophomore from New Cumberland, Pa., has been elected to play the role of Brendle in the Theta Epsilon-Alpha Sigma play "Papa Is All" which will be given March 18 and 19.

Friday, March 18, the traditional first nighter's formal dinner will be served in the dining hall. Ticket sales for Maryville students will begin March 14.

In the previous announced cast Herb Marks was slated to play Brendle. Marks, an announcer at WGAP, resigned from the cast because his other duties took up his time.

"Papa Is All," Patterson Greene's Broadway play, was originally produced by the Theatre Guild and concerns the life of a Pennsylvania Dutch family of the Mennonite faith. Action centers about the tyrannical father who "misuses the Mennonite tradition for purposes of his own."

Hex signs such as Pennsylvania Dutch farmers use to protect themselves from evil spirits were placed around the campus by the publicity committee

Student director Bob Holley said, "With rehearsals progressing at a rapid clip and preliminary production problems largely solved, 'Papa Is All' bids fair to meet with the success and favorable reception at Maryville which has been characteristic of its performance elsewhere."

very encouraging.

"The relationship between Maryville College and Aluminum Company of America and its officers and employees has always been most cordial. Both College and Company play important parts in making this territory a most desirable place to live. By this gift the Company shows further evidence of its vital interest in the community and in so doing helps the College to increase its community and national service.

"This is similar to the generous and civic minded interest which was shown by the Company through its donation of large funds in the Blount Memorial Hospital and its subscription of stock in the proposed new hotel. . . .

"We at Maryville College have long held the Aluminum Company of America in great respect not only because it makes these great contributions to all this area, but also because in its operations it has consistently maintained high ethical standards. Its dealings are fair dealings. Its support of our community ideals has been widely marked. . . .

"Church colleges, like Maryville, can be great community assets, and have helped make America great, only when supported by gifts of people and business firms that believe in freedom and necessity of Christian education. There can be no support from taxes. The present gift of Aluminum Company of America is therefore cause for our deep gratitude. At the same time it reveals the high interests and generous purposes of this great Company in our midst."

Dr. Hunter Appears As Workshop Guest

As guest reader at Writers' Workshop March 2, Dr. Edwin Hunter read "Jephthah's Daughter," a short story.

Set in a Carolina mountain background, it dealt with the effect of religious fanaticism among mountain people.

Next week's readers will be Marion Pope and Harold Hunter. They will be criticised by Ilda Mosby and Dorothy Holverson.

Scottie Cagers Win Two-Thirds Card

Hitting two straight 67 scores—67-49 over University of Chattanooga and 67-39 over Carson-Newman—Maryville's Cagers closed out a 16 win, 8 loss season last week. The Scottie five won an even two-thirds of all engagements this year.

The Scot hoopsters won more games this year than in any year since before the war. In '47 the record read 12 won, 6 lost in 18 games while '48 put 13 wins 9 losses in a 22 game season.

Scot wins were over Carbon Carbide (2), Hiwassee (2), Western Carolina (2), Sweetwater VFW (2), Tusculum (2), King (2), University of Chattanooga, Cincinatti Seminary, Carson-Newman, and Emory & Henry.

Scot losses were to Gulf Refiners (2), Lincoln Memorial (2), University of Chattanooga, Carson-Newman, Emory & Henry, and Adams Parking Lot. Gulf Refiners and Adams Parking Lot were independent, semi-pro teams.

In three tight games, the '49 cagers dropped to Gulf Refiners, Carson-Newman, and LMU by less than two-point margins with the respective scores of 47-46, 55-53, and 55-54. Western Carolina was edged out in a close battle on foreign court by a scant 61-59 Scot margin. Perhaps the worst defeat of the season was a 83-41 defeat at Chattanooga, but then the Honakermen amazed the local basketball fans with a brilliant 67-49 victory to knock out that Moccasin dent.

The Highlanders rolled up a season total of 1,474 points for an average of 67 points per game. Scot opponents scored 1,291 for a 59 average.

Center Brick Brahams led the scoring for the year with a total of 317 points. Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil were next with 302 and 237 points respectively.

Bainonians To Hear Constitution Changes

Bainonian Society will hear its new constitution at the weekly meeting tonight at six. Approved this week by the executive committee the constitution incorporates membership requirements, rush week procedure, chapter responsibility, and other by-laws covering changes in and additions to the society's organization.

Copies of the constitution, which will be ratified at a later meeting, will be available for reading by any member of the society.

Commodores Debunk MC TANKMEN, 53-22

Vanderbilt's mighty Commodores overwhelmed Maryville's swim team again last Saturday, 53-22, at the College pool. The Highlanders improved over their previous showing at Vanderbilt, when the Nashville men rolled up a 60-17 win.

Relay teamers Henry, Godwin, Zabriskie, and Lane hauled down seven points in the 400-yard free style, Jack Moore got five points for being the best diver, Zabriskie took second in the 440-yard free style, and six Scotties placed third in their events.

Macdonald Out

Don Macdonald, ace backstroker, did not compete. A back injury kept the undefeated "backwards-boy" from contributing to the MC cause and from attacking the school record.

Dash-master Maddin led Vandy's victory march by churning home first in both 50- and 100-yard events. Wright, Wilson, Tevell, and Holland also helped the Commodores take seven out of nine events.

Summary

300-yd. medely—Vanderbilt's Wilson, Newell, and Davis defeated Maryville's Vanderslice, Barber, and Lane. Time: 3:37.

220-yd. free style—Wright, V; Troxell, V; Zabriskie, M. Time: 2:42.2.

50-yd free style—Maddin, V; Davison, V; Henry, M. Time: 28:0.

Diving—Moore, M; Bell, V; Risher, M.

100-yd. free style—Maddin, V; Troxell, V; Lane, M. Time: 1:05.5.

150-yd. back stroke—Wilson, V; Reeves, V; Barber, M. Time: 2:09.

200-yd. breast stroke—Tevell, V; Davison, V; Barber, M. Time: 2:42.6.

440-yd. free style—Holland, V; Zabriskie, M; Barnett, M. Time: 6:53.6.

400-yd. free style relay—Maryville's Henry, Godwin, Zabriskie, and Lane defeated Vanderbilt's Maddin, Wright, Troxell, and Wilson.

Mrs. Pieper, Dr. Briggs Speak at PTA Meetings

Mrs. A. F. Pieper will be a speaker on a Mental Hygiene Forum Monday night, March 7, before the Blount County PTA at Maryville High School.

Last Monday Dr. David Briggs spoke before a PTA group at Maryville High on "Helping your Child Gain and Maintain Mental Health."

Mrs. Pieper has spoken before two other civic groups. On February 23 at Fort Craig PTA, Mrs. Pieper spoke on "Social Adjustment of Children." "Social Condition of Maryville" was a forum which Mrs. Pieper lead before the American Association of University Women. Those participating in the program were Nancy Hunter, Dorothy Horne, Mrs. Dan Jones, Mrs. George Howell and Mrs. Howard Schwam.

Substitutions Permissable

Certain substitutions may be made for the above requirements. A candidate who holds a letter in any varsity sport except swimming may use the letter in place of any one of the above qualifications. Substitutions may only be made once for each sport, and a limit of two substitutions is the outside requirement. For example, a letter in football, and a letter in basketball may be used in place of any two of the above requirements, which means that twelve events in addition to the scholarship requirement must be successfully completed.

Tests are conducted at the student's discretion, and on his own time. The procedure is to obtain a card from Coach Honaker which lists the events in order. This card is kept in the Athletic Office, and, as each test is passed, the date is recorded. The tests are taken in the presence of at least one faculty member or the authorized director of the certification committee.

Coach Honaker states that here is a chance for those who are interested to gain recognition for outstanding athletic ability. If you believe that you can meet the requirements, Coach Honaker will see to it that you have the opportunity.

Boyer, Launitz, Chase Speak In IRC Panel

Intramurals....

By Intramural Dope

Ex-Scrubbs, with a 13-1 win-loss record, staked down the championship of the intramural basketball loop for the semester as final games were played yesterday.

Monday, Deadly Deacons tripped Athenians, 26-15. Creamers accepted a forfeit from Frosh in the other game of that day.

Tuesday, Ex-Scrubbs drubbed Cyclops, 27-20 in a game that decided championship of intramural basketball play. With George Stanfield scoring 14 points, ExScrubbs were never in trouble. Bo Henry was high for Cyclops with 8. Frosh collected a forfeit from Eight Balls; Whizzers walloped Bobcats 34-13; and Wholly Rabbies whipped Athenians, 36-19.

Wednesday's action found Cyclops toying around with Alpha Sigma, 14-7; Varmits defeating Shlops, 24-16 with Frank Farmer's push of 11; Bobcats losing out to Creamers behind a close 13-11 affair as Sam Taylor rode high on 7. Additional Wednesday scores follow: Eight Balls forfeited to Whizzers; Ex-Scrubbs took win number 12 in a 24-18 victory over Deadly Deacons; and Wholly Rabbies topped PB's 33-23.

Thursday's contest saw Alpha-Sigma eking out a 16-15 squeeze from Bobcats; Deadly Deacons slaying PB's by a 30-23 count as Stewart Urban sank 13; Joe McNeill paving the way with 24 as the Ex-Scrubbs put number 13 in the victory column at Shlops' expense, 49-25; and RAC's scalping Creamers, 31-21.

VOLUME 24 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, MARCH 12, 1949 NUMBER 20

Student Talent Appears In '49 'Freshman Frolics'

Reed MC's Program; Music, Dancing, Opera

YM-YW sponsored Freshman Frolics, presented tonight in the Alumni Gym at 8 p. m., will feature a group of talented freshman performers who are newcomers to the MC entertainment world.

Dave Reed will act as Master of Ceremonies for the program, which will be a succession of acts in the traditional Follies Revue manner.

Musical numbers will be offered by the following: Carol Barnett, pianist, who will play Chopin's "Military Polonaise;" Gracie Scruggs and Jody Richardson, duet, who are to sing "April Showers;" Jim Akin, tenor, who will sing "When Spring Comes Back To Vienna;" and Irene Launits, who will play as a piano solo, Rachmaninoff's "Humoresque."

Joan Platt will play a xylophone number, and Ric Rogers will enlist the aid of sophomore Joe Poland to present a balancing act.

Follies audience will be treated to the world premier of Earl Shellkopf's opera, "Carmen," written, he says, "with tongue in cheek and apologies to Bizet."

Dolores Greco will present a ballet number, and Margaret Shields will be accompanied by Mary Lee Snodderly at the piano in her tap dance routine.

Harold Hunter and Jim Dance have arranged the program, which is under the sponsorship of YMCA and YWCA through the cooperation of the social board.

State Philologists Elect President

Associate professor Catherine Wilkinson of Maryville's French department has been elected president of Tennessee Philological Association.

She was named head of the statewide language and literature group at its 43rd annual meeting held in Bartlett Hall here March 4-5.

Dr. Jared E. Wenger of Southwestern at Memphis was elected vice-president and Dr. Arthur H. Moser of UT, secretary-treasurer, at the same time.

Three MC faculty members read papers to the assembled philologists in the two-day meeting. Two sections met simultaneously March 4 in Bartlett classrooms, one group to hear papers on the classics and literature, the other on modern languages.

Arthur S. Bushing, assistant professor in English, discussed transcendentalism in his paper to the former group. Paul Cooper of the French faculty spoke before the modern languages group.

Hunter On Adjectives

Both groups heard Dr. Hunter, MC languages and literature division chairman, read March 5 on the use of adjectives in poetry.

This was the 43rd annual meeting of TPA since the association was first organized by a group of college faculty members interested in the study of civilization as revealed in language, literature, and religion.

Representaitves from Southwestern at Memphis, UT, Chattanooga, Carson-Newman, TPI, and Vanderbilt attended.

Miss Wilkinson announced that next year's meeting, at which she will preside, is to be held on the campus of Southwestern at Memphis.

Rev. James Smith Speaks At Vespers Tomorrow

Rev. James R. Smith of Graystone Presbyterian Church in Knoxville will be the speaker at Vespers Sunday night. A Maryville graduate, Rev. Mr. Smith was formerly Alumni secretary at the college.

Vesper Choir will sing "Salvation is Created" by Tschesnokoff, from Rusian liturgy, and "Jerusalem" by Darius Milhaud. The latter is the third part of "Two Cities," a choral work.

Varsity Debaters Win Tourneys

MC debaters returned last Saturday after winning two firsts, two seconds, and a third in the South and Southeast Tourney at Hickory, N. C., in competition with 22 colleges and universities.

The team of Carol Corbett and Katherine Carpenter ranked first among girls' teams having won five out of seven debates.

In individual contests, Roger Cowan placed first in Men's Standard Oratory, second in Men's Extemporaneous Speaking, and drew a third in Radio Newscasting. Carol Corbett ranked first in Women's After-Dinner Speaking and a second in Women's Oratory.

Carol Corbett, Roger Cowan, Eric Meadows, and James Torrey will represent Maryville at the National Pi Kappa Delta Meet to be held in Peoria, Illinois, from April 10-14.

Election Petitions Available Tuesday

Beginning Tuesday, March 15, students may obtain petition blanks for spring elections from John Poland, chairman of Elections Committee. Recent revision of Student Body Constitution established this new procedure.

Petitions must carry signatures of forty students, and must be filed with chairman of Elections Committee by midnight of April 4. Nominee must also sign, and acknowledge his nomination and willingness to serve if elected.

President of Student Council must be a rising senior; vice-president and social chairman may be chosen from junior or senior class.

Elections will be held during second week of April.

Theta Alpha Phi Sees 'Heights,' C-N Version

Members of the cast of Theta Alpha Phi's spring play, "Wuthering Heights," visited Carson-Newman College's presentation of the same play last Thursday night. Also in the group were Mrs. Lenore Courtney, drama instructor, stage manager Millie Miller and assistant director Ruthellen Crews.

MC actors kept a professional eye on acting, stage business, and set and returned with several impressions of the Bronte play. Carson-Newman's version was produced in three weeks of intensive work; the date for Theta Alpha Phi's production has been set for May 14 and 16.

Senior Class Meeting

Seniors will have a class meeting after Chapel on March 17 for the purpose of hearing information about Federal and State Employment Services and services that they have to offer.

Present will be James Moore of the Knoxville office and A. T. Hawn of the Maryville Employment Office to give information concerning their services.

Duke Federalist Wants Union Now

Ralph Fleming, Jr., Duke University junior, proposed federal world government at a special meeting of Maryville's IRC Wednesday afternoon.

Fleming, student chairman of United World Federalists, led a small group in a discussion of international peace. The 22-year-old Navy veteran is one of several students who are taking a year from their schooling to travel and speak for the federalist movement.

Explaining that his group proposed working through United Nations, Fleming said their plan was to amend the organization as provided in the charter to set up an international body to deal with the individual.

He asserted that world peace is highly doubtful if major nations—this one included—continue to arm to the teeth, meanwhile proclaiming peaceful intentions.

Many of the group agreed that world government was in the future—and soon. The question was, they felt, whether it would be by agreement or conquest.

WSSF Drive Nets $90; Y's Plan Minstrel Show

Over $90 of the pledges for $215 were collected for the World Student Service Fund, Monday through Friday of this week.

WSSF, which campaigns annually in American colleges for funds to aid universities abroad, is the only national agency organized for this purpose. YM and YW sponsor it here as one of their annual projects.

Profits from Barnwarming and the Minstrel Show go towards this fund. Students will be given opportunity again in April to make donations.

Mrs. McMurray Died Late March 11

Students and faculty of Maryville College mourn the loss of Mrs. J. H. McMurray, founder and director of the College Maid Shop, and lifelong friend of the college.

Mrs. McMurray died in Cleveland, Ohio.

Y Radio Workshop Airs Play Monday

Radio Workshop is presenting a version of "Three Lepers of Suk-el-Garab" over Station WGAP at 8 p. m. March 14. Dramatization is by Bill Starr, Andy Clark, and Jim Black. Jim Frost will sing "This House" and "Stouthearted Men."

The play, written by Colin C. Clements, has a setting in Casablanca and deals with Mohammedan society. The plot is about three lepers, youngest of whom vainly tries to adapt himself to his new life.

After the play, there will be an interview of the cast of "Papa Is All."

Although Radio Workshop presented its first program only last week, it has already received a response from its audience.

One listener wrote: "Your curtain-riser Radio Workshop show last night was one of the best things to come on the air in Tennessee this winter.

"This idea and plan by your students will produce results of far reaching effect for the college as well as for yourselves. Your field is unlimited. You have a professional in the voice of Jim Frost...."

Artists Series Sponsors Dr. Fenyves; Students Attend Recitals, Lectures

Dr. Gabriel Fenyves, piano department head at Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn., entertained the campus this week-end with two recitals, a piano clinic, and a lecture on style as an aspect of the arts.

On Friday night his program included Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in F-Minor," two sonatas by Scarlatti, Beethoven's "Sonata in A-Flat," and works by Dohnanyi, Albeniz, Respighi, & Turina. Dr. Fenyves also played two preludes by Gershwin, Schumann's "Arabesque. "Etude in E-Major" by Paganini-Liszt, and two Chopin pieces.

Dr. Fenyves' recital in chapel on Thursday morning, March 10, took the form of his weekly radio program. Bill Starr announced the program, which began with the theme of "Our World of Music."

Included in his chapel recital were Debussy's "Claire de Lune" and selections from Mozart, Bartok, Grainger, and Dett. Dr. Fenyves' two encores were "Music Box" and Chopin's "C-Sharp Minor Waltz."

Music Clinics Held

At the music clinic held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in Alumni Gym, Dr. Fenyves commented on the styles and interpretations of different composers. Louise Lloyd and Dan Winter illustrated his lecture with piano selections.

At his four o'clock clinic Dr. Fenyves gave music teachers of Maryville hints on how to get children to practice. Several pre-college-age students performed.

Pianist Fenyves believes that "in the postwar world in which both time and space have been compressed, Americans have left their insular status to rub elbows with other freedom-loving men all over the globe. This international experience requires a more complete understanding of these peoples, their culture, their spirit, and their dreams. Music is the most acceptable medium through which we may achieve this end."

Cast Readies 'Papa' For Friday Premier

Traditional Formal Dinner Precedes Opening; Curtain Rises At 8:15

By Dick Newman

Final preparations for Theta Epsilon-Alpha Sigma play "Papa Is All" which will be given March 18 and 19 in Maryville High School auditorium have been announced by student director Bob Holley.

The traditional formal dinner will be served in the dining hall Friday, March 18. Play tickets will continue to be on sale in Pearsons lobby and may also be purchased at the door. Curtain time is 8:15 instead of the usual 8 o'clock.

Cast

Peggy Wakefield and Alan Rock play the leads as Mama and Papa Aukamp. Buffie Carver and Wally Pentz are Emma and Jake; Margie Newland is Mrs. Yoder, and Del Earisman plays Officer Brendle, the role originally taken by Herb Marks.

"Papa Is All" by Patterson Greene deals with a Pennsylvania Dutch family which rebels against a tyrannical father. Papa's too strict interpretation of the Mennonite faith results in continued hardship for the Aukamp family. The plot reaches a dramatic climax when daughter Emma attends a movie and Papa threatens to shoot her escort.

Mrs. Lenore Courtney, instructor in dramatic arts, is directing the play with Bob Holley as student director. Howard Cameron is stage manager assisted by Noble Pribble. Lighting will be done by Chester Schieber; and set design by Margaret Reid and Ray Kuhn.

Play Committees

Dialogue technician is Ed Fancoast, and make-up chairmen are Dean Risher and Dorothy Stater. In charge of props are Ann Galee and Bill Menges. Costume committee heads are Wilma Robinson and Jerry Hopkins.

Beverly Moore and Charles Flood are house chairmen. Charles Warner and Phyllis Jackson are in charge of ticket sales.

Geneva Robinson and Joe Claud are program chairmen, and Grace Gugger and Naomi Hoffman are publicity chairmen. Head ushers for the play will be Janice Landstrom and Bob Kay.

House committee are Ruth McQuilkin, Neale Pearson, Charles Cash, Aubrey Galyon, Norma Boyd, and Bill Carter.

Director Holley also announced that messages expressing hope of success had been received from the Eaves Costuming Company, the Stein Company, which is supplying make-up, and David Harkness of the UT drama department.

Juanita Johnson Gives Organ Recital Thursday

Juanita Johnson, senior organ major from Marinette, Wisconsin, will present an organ recital Thusday, March 17, at 8 p. m. in First Baptist Church.

She will play the following three compositions written by Bach: "A-Minor Prelude"; chorale prelude, "Wachet Auf"; and "Fantasia Fugue in G-Minor."

Franck's "Pastorale," "Four Baroque Miniatures" by Karg-Elert, and "Thou Art the Rock" by Mulet also will be played by Miss Johnson.

Kiger Joins 25-Year Club Ranks at March Faculty Club Meeting

President Ralph W. Lloyd added the name of John Herbert Kiger to the roll of MC Twenty-five Year Club at March 7 meeting of Faculty Club.

Assistant Professor Kiger received his B.A. from Maryville College in 1919. Since his graduation he has studied at Oberlin College, Duke University, University of N. C., University of Cincinnati, and Ohio State University, among other colleges and universities.

He received his Master's degree in English from the University of Cincinnati and his Master's in History from Ohio State University.

His first years back at MC were spent teaching Bible and English. Later he started teaching in the history department.

Southern Area Y's Name Nish Officer

Bill Nish, one of Maryville's YMCA representatives to the Southern Area Student Council of YMCA, was elected secretary-treasurer for the coming year at a meeting held in Atlanta March 5 and 6. This group represents all the student Y's in ten southern states.

Others attending from Maryville were Ken Newell, student representative, and Dr. J. D. Buchanan of the advisory board. While in Atlanta they stayed at the Atlanta University Graduate Dormitory. President Lloyd, who is a member of the National Committee of YMCA and a member of executive council of the Southern Area, was also present at the meeting.

Sessions were held in the More House College Library. Plans were made to integrate student work of YM with general work of YM's in the southern area. A new set of by-laws was adopted, budget plans and summer conferences discussed, and student survey reports were made.

Directors Pick 'Plantation Story' Speaking Cast

Speaking parts for "Plantation Story," 1949 May Day production, were announced this week by Mrs. Lenore Courtney of the dramatics department and Jim Dance, student director.

Freshman Dave Reed is to play Uncle Remus in the recording of May Day action. Aunt Cindy is Carev Parsons; Jean Hunt's voice is Johnny; Charles Parvin, Brer Fox; Ray Holsey, Brer Bear; Miss Meadows is to be played by Barbara Stidman; John by Carl Lazenby; and Mary Holly Webb is Mary.

Other speaking parts include Miss Tish, Mary Lyerly; Miss Theodosia, Mary Taylor Hicks; Brer Coon, Carrol Stegall; Rastus, Phil Murray; Brer Bullfrog, Herbert McCallum; Sis Duck, Dorothy Stater; Brer Tarpin, Don Winslow; Suzy, Judy Breen, and Elizabeth, June Johnston.

The voice of Brer Rabbit has not yet been selected; it will be announced next week, as will rehearsals of the spoken part of the pageant.

All sound in the May Day program is planned to be wire-recorded; stage action is then to be synchronized with the sound.

Recital Students Play Chopin, Mozart, Grieg

Participating in the March 15 student recital at 4:30 in the Y rooms will be June Hood, Alice Huddleston, Carolyn Burrell, Bernice Blair, and Louise Lloyd. Miss Lloyd is fulfilling requirements for her sophomore recital.

Miss, Hood will play Mozart's "Fantasie in C Major." Miss Huddleston will play "Waltz in E Minor" by Chopin.

Bernice Blair will accompany soloist Carolyn Burrell in Grieg's "With a Water Lily." Miss Lloyd will play both Mozart's "Sonata in D Major" and Chopin's "Scherzo in C Sharp Minor," Op. 39.

All-Girl Choir Holds St. Patrick's Day Party

All-Girl Choir members are holding a party Monday, March 14, in the Y Rooms from 7-10 p.m.

A St. Patrick's Day theme will be used throughout the evening. Anne Higdon is in charge of the program; Betty Jo Smith, decorations; and Ginny Schwarz, refreshments.

Kappa Alpha Mu, an honorary fraternity devoted to photography in journalism, has announced April 30, as the deadline date for submission of prints in its Collegiate Photography Exhibition.

The exhibition is for college photographers of accredited colleges or universities throughout the world, and entries are judged by well-known news photographers during Journalism Week at the University of Missouri, May 3-7, 1949.

There are five classes under which entries are accepted. Classes are news, pictorial, feature, sports, and industrial. Prints may be any size 8 x 10 or larger, and must be mounted on standard 16 x 20 photo-mounts. Entries must have been taken between April 1, 1948 and April 30, 1949. There is no entry fee for the exhibition. Each photographer is permitted to submit as many as ten prints, with a maximum of five in any one class.

Fifty prints are to be chosen for a traveling exhibit. One of these will be chosen "best of show," and a prize will be awarded for it. Prizes will also be awarded for the winners of each of the five classes.

More Of The Same

It's very refreshing to have something different from the usual run of speakers and the Artist Series chapel featuring Dr. Fenyves furnished the refreshments. MC students and faculty have missed the Artist Series a great deal since the chapel burned two years ago

Those students who were not here while the chapel was haven't had the opportunity to see some of the excellent programs scheduled for the yearly Artist Series. Outstanding artists came to Maryville each year to present the type of program UT has in its University Concerts. They were looked forward to eagerly and were always well-attended.

However, everyone can see the inadvisability of having guest artists here now when we have no adequate auditorium and stage. It was good, nevertheless, to have a well-known musician like Dr. Fenyves here this week and no one can deny that those who heard him enjoyed it.

It worked this time. Why not again?

It Wasn't Fun—

Tuesday evening irate Town Night goers condemned Student Council for enforcing regulations which are part of Town Night Provisions in the Student Body Constitution. All loiterers and those out of bounds were apprehended and told to appear before a special meeting of Council on Wednesday. At that time Council President Jim Black explained in detail all regulations and boundaries and answered questions concerning them. No penalties were applied.

Students have severely criticized Council members for their action without stopping to realize that what happened then theoretically should happen every time that violations occur. So far it has been a Council policy to warn students and give them another chance.

This warning has not been sufficient. Students do not seem to realize that Town Night can be revoked if provisions are not adhered to. In signing out for town on Tuesday, a student accepts the responsibility of obeying the rules.

Student Council members do not like to turn in fellow students, but in accepting Council positions, they accept the responsibility of enforcing Town Night.

—I. M. M.

Student Council

Students were urged to cooperate with the Council in improving the Town Nite situation in a special meeting held Wednesday afternoon in Bartlett. Jim Black pointed out to the Town Nite offenders and other students present the seriousness of the situation in regard to loitering and using the wrong entrances and streets.

Mimeographed sheets bearing rules of Town Nite were distributed and various rules interpreted. No penalties were imposed.

Black emphasized that loitering, consisting of hesitating or stopping, applies in front of dorms, on porches, and in downstairs lobby of Pearsons. Dorm lobbies are opened from 9:30 to 10 p. m. and dates may be asked in during this period. Stressed also was that Town Nite ends at 10 p. m. and not at 10:15. The 15 minute period is allowed in cases of emergency.

Streets to be used from the campus to town are Court and College Streets. The only entrances to be used are the main gate on College Street and Carnegie steps. In town, north and south limits are the bowling alleys and theatres. East and west boundaries are Broadway and Harper Streets.

Sound & Fury

HELP WANTED

Wanted: New members for Student Council positions. Old members are rapidly being reduced by "occupational hazards."

UP IN MABEL'S ROOM

Not to be outdone by the excellent job of hostessing done by Memorialites, Baldwinonians, and Pearsonites, the Carnegie crew prettied their dwelling up till it shone—and smelled—like a paint can.

Jim Townsend was responsible for the floral atmosphere achieved in the Carnegie lobby. "Tongue in cheek" describes his approach to local florists, and we see a brilliant political career ahead for such a persuasive talker.

It's a cinch the ten fellows we found in Mitch Wooldridge's room that night didn't come up to see her press clippings.

It seemed that Suzy Parker was just looking for a chance to turn out the lights, but we soon discovered her indoor stars that shone phosphorescently from the ceiling. Suzy's room must be lovely at night with the stars overhead, but we'd think she'd like at least a pup tent over her bed.

Speaking of beds, you no doubt noticed the lovely color Ray Kirby and Ray Kuhn painted theirs. Passion Red, we'd say; and it must have taken a lot of nail polish.

THE HALL DORM GANG

Carnegie decorators showed a penchant for ladies' fashions, we noticed. Bobby Neff and Sam Taylor subscribe to both Esquire and Modern Photography, perchance Bill Chalker, perhaps with thoughts of entering the "Faraway Places" Perry Como contest, tastefully plastered his room with travel posters. Sun Valley, here we come.

Galyon and Gearhart chose a bizarre theme for their room—it was decorated to suggest an old Scandinavian barn. The coffin in one corner may have given another impression, but Gearhart—who received his guests playing cards in another room—hopes not. Roger Cowan was also nonchalant in an electric blue dressing gown.

But open houses were successful both days, and MCers, going home to wash dirty thumbs with which they'd tested door tops and mirror backs, hoped we'd have it again next year.

INTERFLOOR COMMUNICATIONS

It was suggested to Mrs. Worley that instead of the buzzer system, with both the upstairs telephone and Mrs. Butcher, she substituted an automatic lift affair by which the gentlemen's cards could be delivered to the young ladies. "Oh no," exclaimed that good lady. "You forget this is Pearsons—we have enough dumb waiters here already!"

IT MUST BE, LOVE

Edna Burkins certainly fell for Dean McClellan and in a big way Sunday night as the All Girl Choir marched into Vespers—right into the middle of a wastebasket. The Strawberry Blonde turned pink.

CHARGE OF THE RIGHT BRIGADE

One poor girl even went so far as to breathe a sigh of relief and think in defiance against the SC as she came back on campus Tuesday night. "Well I guess you didn't catch me loitering this time," as SC members caught her for being out of bounds.

Then there's the little fellow who got caught on his first date of the semester. Should there be a minimum speed limit on opening doors?

ORCHIDS TO HOLLY

Mary Holly Webb awoke like Abou Ben Adhem one night from a deep dream of peace, and saw within the moonlight of her room that she had emptied a vase of flowers into her bed. Why, she doesn't know! She came fully awake when she realized that she and the bed were floating away on a flowery barge. No Shakespearean sleep the rest of the night for Mary Holly!

FOOL'S NAMES & MONKEYS' FACES

The resemblance between Harry Caviston and the silhouette on the WSSF poster is most remarkable. Have you noticed?

LAST BUT LEAST

Gene Carden is probably the only guy on campus who can take his girl to the movies on Tuesday night for fifty cents. This little freshman girl might look young but Gene, methinks, doesn't spend the evening baby-sitting!

Echo Forum

To the Editor of The Highland Echo:

Through your column may we voice our thanks for splendid and earnest work?

To the casts of our two plays, to the stage designer, to the stage manager, to all chairmen of crews, to all backstage workers, and to all who so graciously lent us stage properties, the Experimental Theatre would convey its deep appreciation for earnest and sincere effort contributing to a successful presentation of our plays on February 26, 1949.

Lenore Courtney,
Director of Dramatics.

To the Editor of The Highland Echo:

Piously protesting necessity and good will, Council took action earlier this week which many students feel unwarranted. A dim view is taken of Council's arbitrary interpretation of the word loitering—"lack of motion, hesitating."

Clearly, lengthy discussions, of no doubt great personal concern in the bushes are violations of the Town Night privilege, which, we all recognize, is a very limited one. On the other hand, doorway pausing to respect the mores of polite society is not contrary to even the letter of the law.

Perhaps the time has come for more forward-looking, student-trusting social legislation where, it must be admitted, progress has been so rapid as at sister institutions. Certainly the time has not come for etiquette to be called "tarrying, lingering."

(Name withheld)

To the Editor of The Highland Echo:

You've heard the accused child say, "He does it, why can't I?" That's what a few people are saying after Tuesday night's Council escapade. It is true that some of the students are unjustified in their remarks regarding action taken by Council (which, we are told, was brought about by "the faculty") but there are some who have more than reason to gripe—about certain council members who wouldn't think of loitering.

If students are to be treated like children, and at Maryville College they are apparently to be so treated, why don't we try President Jim Black's estimable advice and bring our gripes to Council on Wednesday evenings instead of to shenanigans like last Wednesday's kangaroo court? Very well Mr. Black—but if it takes as long to revise Town Night as it took to get it in the first place, perhaps the class of 1950 will benefit. We sincerely hope so!

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

The Popcorn Circuit

It's a week of fun and frolic at the Capitol Theatre this week. Opening Monday for two days is "One Sunday Afternoon;" starting Wednesday is "Julia Misbehaves;" and ending the week is "Six-Gun Law."

"One Sunday Afternoon," the—you should pardon the expression—Town Nite attraction, is a technicolor remake of a story which first appeared on Broadway in 1933; that same year Paramount filmed it with Gary Cooper. That seeming quite popular, Warner Bros. did it again in 1941 with Cagney, Hayworth, and de Havilland. They called that one "The Strawberry Blonde," and apparently it did so well they tried it this third time.

As you will see if you go, third time is not charm; even with such charmingly paired couples as Dennis Morgan and Dorothy Malone, Don DeFore and Janis Paige, the action bogs down somewhere between the spot where one fellow becomes a jailbird and the other an alderman. Oh, of course, each fellow gets the girl; we'll give 'em the bird in addition.

Our pick-ture of the week is "Julia Misbehaves," Greer Garson's starring vehicle made from Margery Sharp's witty novel "The Nutmeg Tree." It was sister Sharp, you'll recall, who authored the priceless "Cluny Brown;" and much the same sort of shenanigans are carried on by Miss Garson and Walter Pidgeon in this'n.

Seems that pretty Elizabeth Taylor is getting married. Mom Garrison left Pop Pidgeon while little Liz was pretty young, but she gets word of the impending wedding in time to hitch-hike her way there with a troupe of traveling acrobats. Mom Garson has rather unconventional methods—exampels: receiving her creditors in a bubble-bath, appearing in tights in the acrobatic number—but her whirlwind actions seem to fan the flame of love in the Pidgeon breast.

Our personal laurels go to charming Elizabeth Taylor, who shows more talent and more Taylor in each new picture. Though she's just seveneeen, this brunette beauty has gone a long way from "National Velvet"—which she grew two inches to star in—to her present role of leading lady of distinction.

The Listening Post

A host of new detective radio serials are springing up and following in the shoveled footsteps of Sam Spade, it seems. Created by Dashiell Hammett and portrayed by Howard Duff, Sam Spade and the weekly CB Sunday night at 8 reports on his capers now several rather smudged carbon copies.

Alan Ladd appears weekly in one such steal. Advertising in Box 13, Ladd gets the same rough going over as our boy Spade. Several other detectives have taken to dictating reports or sending itemized (and narrated) expense accounts. Even Lurene Tuttle, who plays dumb secretary Effie to Sam, has twin sisters who secretary to lounging Private Eyes.

On the musical side of the dial, local disc jocekys are plugging a new "sedimental" ballad pleasingly entitled, "I Met My Baby at Macy's in Gentlemen's Underwear."

The Bookworm Digest

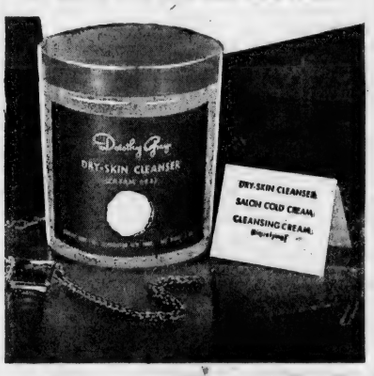
A quick glance over Lamar Library's new book list reveals several new fiction titles we'd like to recommend. Thomas Mann's latest novel, "Dr. Faustus," places the old Faust legend in World War II Germany. There are quite a few well-filled pages to the book, but it's unquestionably big literature.

We've been partial to Charles Tazewell's story of "The Littlest Angel" ever since we heard Loretta Young's recording of it. Now the library has the little book, and we think even Scrooge would be melted by reading it; makes good telling to your Sunday School class at Christmas time, too.

Almost a classic is John Kendick Bangs' "A Houseboat on the Styx." What happens when the departed souls of famous heroes gather on Charon's ferryboat to discuss their wives is a funny tale you shouldn't overlook.

Added to the shelves this week have been libretto and music to Gilbert & Sullivan's "The Gondoliers," a clever operetta about switched babies, though not in the usual sense of the word, and also "The Fortunes of Falstaff," a perusal of Shakespeare's jolly character by John Dover Wilson.

Coming Attractions



Tonight: YM&YW present the Freshman Follies, a revue of talented newcomers to the campus entertainment world. Eight o'clock Alumni Gym.

●NOT A SCRATCH—That's how Maryville's matmen fared in the Southeastern Tourney last week in Atlanta. Yeaworth's and Merriman's injuries were most unfortunate, but the Orange and Garnet grapplers inflicted three pins and suffered only one. Callaway's 2nd period fall to Auburn's Carroll Keller was the third time the Auburn 145 had defeated MC's wrestling captain. In Auburn's match here February 5, Keller took a decision over Callaway. It's tough going, grapplers.

●BASEBALL BLOTTINGS— Thirty-seven guys with gloves and a baseball eye are now shaping up for the coming diamond season. Seems that King Berrong, starting second basemen last year, is the only misisng cog in the hold-over squad. Speedballer Leon Berrong, who cracked an elbow bone pitching snowballs the winter of '48, may be seriously handicapped in pitching skill as a result of an operation to his right arm last December. Counting Berrong, there are ten potentials working for the mound spot this year.

●WITH THE TENNIS ladder solidly stuck with snowy ice this week, the top four—Chesley Anderson, Wesley Miles, Bill Dinges, and Clyde McCampbell—had a breathing spell. Some say that the "fight" for position on the ladder this season will center around the third and fourth rungs—even with six spots to fill.

●BROKEN-DOWN wrestlers, cross-country-men, etc. . . . have begun to grind the ruts along the track oval with steady footwork. A nucleus of the '48 cross-country team, consisting of Earisman, Mabry, Menges, Kidder, Kay, and Thurston, will be a big boon to reviving the cinderburning art this spring. Question: What about the field event contenders?

●TIME WUZ—Echo's sports scribe lamented in the spring of '39: "If we ever were short of returning lettermen in any sport, baseball must be it. Only one infielder returns this year, J.D. Hughes—and J. Q. Wilburn, Short, and Scott Honaker are the only two pitchers left from last season. There is plenty of room for any ambitious ball player this year. We'll have some more dope on this next week when the weather warms up, we hope."

Next door in an adjoining column the story read, "The track squad, Smoky Mountain Champs, has an excellent chance to annex the title again this year, and perhaps an opportunity to win the State Championship." Time wuz. . . .

●WANTED: A track manager. Any interested, healthy, energetic, and slow college youth apply to Coach Davis. Fast men need not apply—except with track shoes on.

A pat on the back. To Don Macdonald for his brilliant race in breaking the college 150 backstroke record last week with a 1:59.0 second place win against Berea's speedshow—Pigg.

Counsel. To those who are flying into the ordeal of qualifying stints for Sigma Delta Psi, the national athletic society Echo presented last week. It's harder in the field than on paper.

Baseball dates with U-T. Coach Honaker has offered April 11 and May 16 as open dates, but the Voles are holding out. . . .

Sunny weather. For baseball, tennis, & track.

Eight Mat Champs Crowned In Finals

Don Macdonald, Dick Jones, Jimmy Callaway, Dick Hamilton, Joe Poland, John Lewis, Hap Brahams, and Bob Proffitt were winners in their respective weight classes in yesterday's heated finals of the I-M wrestling tourney before a capacity crowd in the Bartlett wrestling room.

Perhaps Joe Poland had the toughest way up to the top because he successively defeated three opponents to reach the pinnacle of the 155 class. But Macdonald, Jones, Hamilton, Brahams, Lewis, and Proffitt had plenty of work in two days to capture first places with two victories in the other classes. Callaway's 136 class was light, and he met but one opponent, Carroll, in the finals for the championship.

Finals—Summary

121—Macdonald pinned Reuter in 41 seconds of the second period.
128—Jones decisioned Barber, 4—3.
136—Callaway won by default over Carroll—by a nosebleed in the third.
145—Hamilton decisioned Frain, 5—4.
155—Poland decisioned Ladner, 4—1.
165—Lewis decisioned Earisman, 8—6 in overtime.
175—Brahams pinned Newell in 48 seconds of the second period.
HV—Proffitt pinned Isenburg in 1:44 of the second period.

Tennis Team Adds Squadman, Match

The varsity six replaced the varsity five in tennis this week according to the latest shift in Coach Johnson's plans for the coming racquet campaign.

LMU's tennis squad was officially added to the Scot tennis schedule this week as Johnson announced that a game at Harrogate, April 1, has been scheduled with a tentative return match here May 10. Seven opponents are listed to date.

Commenting on the new change in the number of players making up the varsity, Johnson stated that it would serve to encourage those on the ladder to try harder for the top six.

Tusculum's and Carson-Newman's court squads may be added to the schedule if meets can be arranged.

Zabriskie, Moore Lane–Top Mermen

Zabriskie, Moore, and Lane scored highest in total points during this year's recently-ended swim meet. Five straight losses were the lot of MC's squad, the first aquatic team here since 1942.

UT measured out a 50-25 victory there and another 50-25 here, Vanderbilt won 58-17 there and 53-22 here, and Berea beat the improving Scotties here, 46-29. Total team's scores were opponents 256, Maryville 119.

Individuals stood out for MC in diving, 150 backstroke, 220 and 440 free-style. Moore took four firsts (one disputed—with UT, there) and one second in diving.

Macdonald got three firsts and a second, plus a new record, in the 150 backstroke. High-point man Zabriskie had three firsts in in the distance races, plus three seconds, two thirds, and a place on a winning relay. Barnett had two 220 firsts plus six other points.

Unofficial individual point totals are as follows: Zabriskie 33; Moore 23; Lane 21; Barnett 16; Macdonald 16; Risher 11; Henry 10; Godwin 8; Barber 6; and Vanderslice 2.

Softball Slated To Start Monday

Intramural staff is preparing for the start of softball play beginning Monday.

Opening day for league play in intramural softball has been delayed for a week to allow practice time, the intramural office announced today. Six teams are signed up, and it is hoped that, with the sign-up time extended to noon, Thursday, more teams will move into the I-M softball league.

A practice schedule for the six teams now signed for the coming week has been arranged for the field next to court street. The schedule follows. (note 1 is 3:30-4:30; 2 is 4:30-5:30) Monday: 1—BOB's vs. Hotshots; 2—Athenian vs. Alpha Sig. Tuesday: 1—8-Balls vs. Y; 2—Creamers vs BOB's.

Wednesday: 1—Athenian vs Hotshots; 2—Alpha Sig vs 8-Balls. Thursday: 1—Creamers vs Y.

League play will start Monday, March 21 but meanwhile the intramural office invites fellows to form a team to enter by Thurs-

Honaker Schedules Baseball Opener With Hiwassee

Baseball, according to a schedule released by Coach Lombe S. Honaker this week, will begin for Maryville's diamond nine here on Monday, March 28, in a game with Coach Al Thomas' Hiwassee nine. The game will inaugurate what now seems to be a 21-game season.

Until then, Coach Honaker is putting some 37 potential starters through baseball routines in Alumni Gym awaiting the warmth of spring and favorable winds. Practice for baseball candidates will continue on a five-times-a-week basis until the opener with Hiwassee.

Five Games Opening Week (?)

Following the opener with Hiwassee, the Highlander baseball club may have four other games in the same week. Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, will land in Maryville for a possible two-day round on March 31-April 1, Thursday and Friday. Western North Carolina Nine invades the following day, Saturday, for a double header.

The schedule, as it stands to date, follows:

Athletic Board Approves 21 Winter Sport Letters

Executive Board of Control, governing body of Maryville College Athletic Association, voted Thurs day to award seven letters each in basketball, wrestling, and swimming for the past winter sports season.

Brick Brahams, Hap Brahams, Bob Boring (captain), Jack Buckley, Hugh Hamil, Gene Reynolds, track manager was raised at the and Charlie Roberts were the meeting, and in absence of a seven cagemen voted by the recommendation for a manager board for letters with recommendation of director of athletics. the matter was left for later action. (Track managers, according Three other players in the '48-'49 to the by-laws, are to be elected season were discussed as among by March 1.) the number qualified to receive a letter, but the board decided to investigate the standing of the three in question before taking action.

Requirements in basketball for a letter, according to the Association's by-laws, are that a player shall have played in one-half of the regularly scheduled intercollegiate games and shall be recommended for a letter by director of athletics.

Seven wrestlers who had earned the required 10 points and who had received recommendation of director of athletics were voted letters by the board. Lettermen wrestlers for the 1949 wrestling season are as follows: John Briggs, Henry Callaway (captain), J. A. Cameron, James Marvin, Hershell Merriman, Herbert Palmer, and Tom Yeaworth.

Swimmers on the varsity team who had earned ten points and who had received the recommendation of the director of athletics were voted to seven by the board. Those lettering in swimming are as follows: Curt Barnett, Clifford Henry, Dick Lane, Don Macdonald, Jack Moore, Dean Risher, and Everett Zabriskie.

President Bob Boring presided at the meeting, which was held in Bartlett Athletic office after Thursday's chapel. Other officers present were Brick Brahams, vice president; Barbara Bertholf, secretary. Coach L. S. Honaker, Dean F. D. McClelland, Jessie Heron, Kenneth P. Johnson, Sara Kemp, Mae Meriwether, and Jim Lillard were board members present.

43 GRIDMEN START SPRING PRACTICE

Forty-three men, including nearly twenty rookies, reported to Coach John A. Davis Tuesday as the first week of spring football practice started. Scrimmage in passing and tackling, combined with a round of calisthenics were the order for the first day.

New men out include Mike Kay, Tarpley Poole, Chester Schieber, Lou Hofflerth, Harold Everett, Hobie Reneau, Hub Upton, Bob White, J. King, Don Winslow, Bill Stinnett, George Day, Don Benton, Walter Lange, Bill Grinstead, Gene Reese, Frank Morton, Herb Leonhardt, Tex Schwenke, and Paul Toothman.

Callaway, Merriman End In AAU Tourney Finals

By Duncan Bennett

Captain "Tubby" Callaway and Hershell Merriman are two Maryville matmen who held out to the final bouts in Southern AAU Wrestling Tournament held in Atlanta last week. Both were defeated, however, in the finals, leaving the Scots without a winner in the meet.

MC Matmen Pull Through 90 Bouts

Maryville's matmen wrestled a grand total of 90 bouts this season in seven meets and the Southern AAU Tournament. Of the 90 bouts, 18 were won by pins, 31 by decision, and one by forfeit. Two bouts ended in draws, and the Scots were forced to forfeit in the 136 class at the Tournament.

Split Season—3 Up

Georgia Tech, University of Chattanooga, and Knoxville YMC A suffered defeat on the mats at the hands of the Scots, while Arkansas State, Auburn, and Chattanooga took the matmen of Maryville.

Total points gained on the mats show Maryville with 125 against opponents 91, exclusive of the Southern AAU Tournament.

Individual Points Listed

The Echo's unofficial individual points taken show J. A. Cameron out in the lead with four pins, six decisions for a total of 38 points. Captain "Tubby" Callaway and Hershell Merriman were evenly tied—each with seven decisions and two pins totaling 31 points.

Herb Palmer follows in third place with 25 points gained in five decisions and two pins. Tom Yeaworth has 16 points from two decisions and two pins, while Jim Marvin trails closely with 14 points from three decisions and one pin. Lawrence Major and John Briggs stand at ten points each gained by two pins each.

Four Scots Get Pins

Four of Maryville's 11-man crew scored pins in the meet. Tom Yeaworth, 136, pinned his opponent in first round in 2:15, and later lost by default because of a pulled rib. Lawrence Major, 155, pinned his first opponent in 2:15 of third round, only to lose his next two bouts by decisions. Herb Palmer, 175, scored a pin in 1:12 of the first round early in the meet, and Paul McNeil, 121, took a pin in 3:25 of his first match in the semi-finals.

Scot matmen suffered no pins throughout the meet, losing all their bouts through decision and forfeit. Forfeitures were forced in the 136 class because of Tom Yeaworth's pulled rib. Hershell Merriman went on to wrestle in final bouts in spite of a sprained ankle suffered in second bout with Tech's Franklin.

Summary

115—McNeil won by a pin in 3:25 in first match; lost by decision in second match of semi-finals.

121—James Marvin won by decision in first match; lost by decision in second match of semi-finals.

128—J. A. Cameron decisioned Tanksley of UC and Scott of Tech in quarter finals; lost to Auburn's Sonny Dagoin in semi-finals.

136—Chesley Anderson and Tom Yeaworth lost by decisions in quarter finals.

145—Captain "Tubby" Callaway took a decision in semi-finals; lost by a pin in finals.

155—Lawrence Major lost by a decision to Braly of UC in quarter finals.

165—Hershell Merriman won by a decision in semi-final bout; lost by a decision to Phil Smith of Auburn in finals.

175—Herb Palmer won by decision in first bout; lost by a decision in second bout of semi-finals to Berg of UC.

191—John Briggs lost by decision in both bouts of semi-finals.

HW—Howard Davis lost by decision in both bouts of semi-finals.

Intramural Swimmers To Compete March 23

Coach K. P. Johnson announced this week that an intramural swimming meet will be held in the college pool Wednesday night, March 23.

Events will include the following: 100 yard free style, 100 yard breast stroke, 100 yard back stroke, 50 yard free style, 75 yard medley, and diving. Four dives will be required—front flip, jackknife, back jack, and plain front.

Further announcement will be made later for those who wish to participate.

BEREA SINKS MERMEN, 46-29

Berea College's swimmers captured five out of nine events here last Saturday in downing Maryville, 46-29.

Relays made the difference in this encounter, lost by the closest score of the season, and the Kentuckians took both 300- and 400-yard efforts.

Don Macdonald's sterling performance broke the pool's record for 150-yard back-stroke by three seconds. Ironically, Pigg of Berea was hot enough to slide past Macdonald for the win, in a great race.

Maryville's Moore firsted in diving, Lane swished home in front in the 100-yard sprint, and Zabriskie boiled through to two first places, in the 220 and 440 free style.

Berea's Mountaineers finished only one man in three events, yet the ones in the water made most of the competition close. Capps in the 150-yard free and Brown in the 200-yard breast round out the list of winners for the Mounties.

Summary

300-yard medley—Berea, Shadowen, Beck, and Schraeder defeated Maryville's Macdonald, Barber and Lane. Time: 3:49.

220-yard free style—Zabriskie, M; Parker, B; Barnett, M. Time 3:02.

50-yard free style—Capps, B; Thornton, B; Henry, M. Time: 27.4.

Diving—Moore, M; Jones, B; Risher, M.

100-yard free style—Lane, M; Capps, B; Schraeder, B. Time: 1:04.6.

150-yard back stroke—Pigg, B; Macdonald, M; Vanderslice, M. Time: 1:55.

200-yard breast stroke—Brown, B; Beck, B; Barber, M. Time: 3:09.1.

440-yard free style—Zabriskie, M; Thompson, B; Barnett, M. Time: 6:43.2.

400-yard relay—Berea, Capps, Thornton, Parker, Schraeder defeated Maryville's Macdonald, Godwin, Zabriskie , and Lane. Time: 4:36.

Junior Members Edit Echo During Tryouts

Junior associate editors of the Highland Echo will each edit one paper this semester, beginning this week and continuing for four weeks. Editor of this issue is Barbara Wallin. Duncan Bennett will edit March 19 paper; Ruth Davis, March 26. Final junior tryout editor will be Herbert McCallum, week of April 2.

This is an annual policy in order that each junior will have had experience in being responsible for putting out one newspaper.

Bennett, Cowan Read At Writers' Workshop

Duncan Bennett and Roger Cowan will read at next week's Writers' Workshop. Craig Fisher and Carroll Stegall will criticize.

At last Tuesday's meeting, Marian Pope read a one-act Christmas play, "Star in the East." Dorothy Holverson led the criticism. Harold Hunter read three poems, "Eclipse," "Pathetique," and "Tschaikowsky," with Ilda Mosby criticising.

ATHENIAN, ALPHA SIG SEE 'PAPA IS ALL' PREVIEW

Athenian Society will meet with Alpha Sigma at 6:30 this evening in Bartlett Hall to see a preview of "Papa Is All." Alan Rock, Peggy Wakefield, and the rest of the cast are to present scenes from the play, which will be given in its entirety by Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon next week.

day noon and to use the Court Street field at times other than on the above schedule for practice.

Over fifty dollars worth of new softball equipment has been purchased for the season. Catcher's mitts, masks, and bats and balls will be available.

Play On Two Fields

Games will be played on two fields—one on the athletic field under the large oak, the other on the golf course opposite the hospital. Two games a day will be played on each field. Five days a week will be set aside for games as often as possible. Game times are 3:30 and 4:30. Teams must have at least seven men ready to play by ten minutes after the scheduled time or forfeit.

It was decided to have two umpires for each game; one to call balls and strikes, and the other to umpire the bases. A man from one of the teams will act as score keeper.

Official Rules Prevail

Games will be played according to official softball rules with this exception—a player may steal home only on a catcher's return throw. One extra base will be allowed on a wild throw over first. Stricter attention will be paid to the legality of various styles of pitching.

All the team lists are not in at this writing, so the number of teams is as yet unavailable.

Bainonian-Theta Meet Tonight In Alumni Gym

There will be a combined meeting of Bainonian and Theta tonight at 6:30, in the Alumni Gym. The program, a basketball game, will decide the championship between the two groups.

SQUARE DANCE PLANNED FOR MONDAY; TAYLOR CALLS

Square dancing will replace round dancing at Intramural Gym on Monday from 6:30 until 7:15 p.m. Sam Taylor will call. Dancing Class will continue on Tuesday evening.

Farm Bureau Members Hold Banquet Thursday

Blount County Farm Bureau members and their wives will banquet Thursday, March 17, in Pearsons dining hall at 7 p. m. Guest speaker for the meeting is President C. E. Brehm of the University of Tennessee.

Program for the evening also includes a business session for election of directors and music by a Maryville College quartette. Six men and three women directors-at-large and seven district representaitves will be elected.

Committee members expect approximately 425.

VOLUME 34 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, MARCH 19, 1949 NUMBER 25

Upperclassmen Suggest 7 'Studies' Modifications

More Credit, Completion Within Year, Greater Library Sources Called Needs In Echo Student-Faculty Advisor Survey

By Ruth Davis

Last year at this time the present senior class had begun a project so new to Maryville that not even the participants knew exactly what it was all about. This project was called Special Studies. Even after one season of special studies has been completed, there is still some uncertainty about this project.

In a recent poll conducted by The Highland Echo results show that the majority of the junior class have not 'fully grasped the meaning of special study. There is much speculation and "skepulation" among the students. Almost all agree that as a whole it is a good thing and that much can be gained from special studies, but they do not know enough about it—either its overall purpose or its specific requirements.

According to the college bulletin, special studies is defined as follows: "In the second semester of the junior year and the first semester of the senior year each student is to carry through, under the supervision of a faculty member in the major field, a program of independent study which will take the place of one full subject in his program of work and will be given a credit value of three semester hours each semester. . .

Investigation or Experimentation'

"The work may take the form of a coordinated program of reading, or the project may represent investigation or experimentation. The primary aim is to give students the threefold values of (1) the freedom for individual study, (2) the direct benefit of personal faculty guidance, and (3) the practical discipline of the processes and usages of scholarly method and a more intimate and extensive acquaintance with books.

"The visible product of this work is a written paper or thesis in which the project is reported and in which the method and form of the formal paper are observed. This report will conform to certain specifications as to format and style which will be set down from time to time."

In Echo's special studies poll the four specific questions were asked two hundred people, including juniors, seniors, and faculty advisors. Questions and percentages based on a Yes answer are as follows:

1. Do you think special studies should be a requirement 43.5% an elective? 54 %
   undecided 2.5%
2. Do you think special studies should be in the major field alone? 89 %
   in any field? 11 %
3. Do you think special studies studies should be a two semester course? 68.5%
   a one semester course? 29 %
   undecided 2.5%
4. Do you think three semester hours is enough credit for special studies? 26 %
   Do you think special studies should be given four hours credit? 71 %
   undecided 3 %

From these results it seems that most agree that special studies should be in the major field for two semesters with four hours credit each semester. In a number of cases those interviewed specified that the work be done in one semester with four hours being given in that case alone. Some agreed that too much time is spent in getting started and most of the first semester is spent drifting form one source of information to another without any show of progress.

Library Facilities Limited

Library facilities are another pitfall to the special studies program. Although many subjects are fully covered by library materials, others, as important and in as much demand, are hardly to be found. Much of the material too is, out of date for special studies in anything asking for recent coverage.

In many fields the supply is so limited that a student may have to change his topic as many as three times. Another factor is the dwindling supply of resources that the library has. Within the next few years the present information in certain fields may be almost exhausted by previous special studies.

Because of these reasons many students and advisors think that this program should be abandoned until the library has amassed sufficient material. Another suggestion toward this end is to limit the program so that it would not be quite so extensive in that the range of material covered will not be too wide. Limiting the field would also mean that the student could become more familiar with the materials he does employ and could tend more toward originality.

Too Much Material. . . Too Little Value

This fault of the special studies program is witnesed by the advisors more than by students. On the basis of only one year's work, it has been noticed that students give too much time to too much material and receive too little actual value from it. With the vast field that some students find necessary to cover there is too little thought toward or time for originality.

A number of those polled feel that a project of work would be better in some fields than research alone. An example of this is shown by work done in the chemistry department. Students are given definite work to do in the field of chemical analysis and most of the written work is the students' own conclusions. Laboratory work is required and more credit is given for special studies. Then, some students and faculty feel that the two semseters work in special studies would be bet-

Indiana Students Seek Prize Plays

Dramatics students of Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind., are sponsoring a playwriting contest which is open for entries until June 30, 1949. One-act plays are acceptable in this first of an annual series of contests; prizes include awards of $200, $100, and $50, with a special sum of $300 as first place award for a full length play if one of sufficient merit is entered.

Purpose of the contest is "to stimulate original thinking in playwriting and to encourage experimentation in dramatic forms." No restrictions have been made by the sponsors as to theme or form.

Judges are Lee Norvelle, Chairman of the Department of Speech and Director of the University Theater at Indiana University; Robert Masters, Chairman of the Department of Speech and Director of Dramatics at Indiana State Teachers' College; and Earl Harlan, Director of the University Theater at Purdue University.

General rules may be obtained from Mrs. Lenore Courtney, instructor in dramatic arts.

New Co-managers Reopen PR Office

Mrs. F. A. Griffitts and Mrs. J. W. Horne are now managing the College's Alumni and Public Relations Office for the rest of the school year. Their office will be open during its previous regular hours, with Mrs. Griffitts and Mrs. Horne handling the many duties connected with the job—correcting mailing lists, compiling the Alumni issue of the MC Bulletin, and their especially important task right now, collecting the student records.

Senior Information Needed

According to Mrs. Griffitts, only about one-half of the seniors have turned in the information blanks, six photographs, and other material necessary for Alumni office file in connection with its recommendation service and other activities. This material is needed immediately, for the "Here and There" column of the Alumni issue, the new managers stated.

Mrs. Griffitts is the wife of Dr. F. A. Griffitts, MC chemistry professor, and Mrs. Horne is the mother of Dorothy Horne, music professor.

ROSA PAGE WELCH, mezzo-soprano, will sing here Thursday and Friday of next week.

Deobler, Regan In Junior Recital

Lois Doebler, coloratura soprano, and Patty Regan, pianist, will present their junior recital Monday, March 21, in the Chilhowee Club House at 8 p. m. Miss Regan is a special student.

Miss Doebler will sing "O wie gross is doch der man" by Albert, "Quell ruscelletto" by Paradies, and "Una voxe poco fa" from Rossini's "Barber of Seville".

Here second selections include "The Nightingale and the Rose" by Saint-Saens, "Even as a Lovely Flower" by Bridge, "La Flute enchantee" by Ravel, and Bishop's "Lo, Here the Gentle Lark". On the last two numbers Zan Emery will play the flute obligato.

Miss Regan has chosen for her selections "Adagio Cantabile" by Beethoven, "Toccato in E flat minor" by Kachaturian, and Schumann's three-part "Concerto in A minor".

Curriculum Office Releases Schedules

Tentative class schedules for 1949-1950 were released for student inspection at the Curriculum office yesterday.

According to plan, Dr. E. R. Hunter, dean of curriculum announced, the schedule-making process has passed the stage of review by faculty members and is now ready for student inspection.

The Curriculum Office released the following statement concerning the schedule:

"Copies of the schedule for both semesters are posted outside near the door, and also just inside the Curriculum Office, where interested students may consult them. If you find conflicts or if questions arise as you endeavor to fit your next year's plans to the schedule, either see Dean Hunter personally, or leave a signed note stating your point, beneath the office door, or with Virginia Schwarz, Dean Hunter's secretary.

"Obviously changes to meet individual cases are difficult and an adjustment to help one situation may throw confusion into a dozen others, but we shall earnestly try to serve as many needs as possible.

"The schedule should be considered set and final by Monday, March 28."

YMCA Committee Picks Candidates

The YMCA nominating committee reported to Y president Bill Nish this week in preparation for the April 1 YM elections.

The following were nominated for YM offices:

President— Bill Chalker, John Shew; Vice-president— Henry "Tubby" Callaway, Ray Holsey; Secretary—Jim Lester, George Ogle; Treasurer—Jack Buckley, Jim McKee; Advisory Board—Robert Cuthill, Dave Reed.

The nominating committee was composed of John Poland, chairman; Jim Black, Bill Proffitt, George Ogle, Glen Knecht, Bob Edgar, Lincoln Shimomura, and Bill Nish, ex-officio.

Soprano Rosa Page Welch To Sing Here Next Week

Mission Board's Elizabeth Turner, Thursday Chapel Speaker, Arranged Singer's Appearance At Maryville

By Hazel Holm

Rosa Page Welch, Negro mezzo-soprano, will be guest soloist at chapel Thursday morning and will be presented in a concert Friday at 8 p.m. in Alumni Gymnasium. Elisabeth Turner, regional secretary for the Board of Foreign Missions, will speak at Thursday's chapel and remain on the campus, available for personal interviews until Sunday.

Miss Turner, who is east central area secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, Presbyterian Church USA, arranged the appearance of Mrs. Welch. The Fine Arts Division, YM and YW, and Student Volunteers are sponsoring the guest vocalist.

Two-Part Program

Dividing the Friday concert in two sections, Mrs. Welch will sing the first group of secular numbers accompanied by Alice Archibald. The second sacred section, in which she sings Negro spirituals without accompaniment, is considered by critics to be outstanding in interpretation.

Mrs. Welch, who studied with Alexander Nakutin at Kimball Hall in Chicago and with B. Fred Wise, eminent teacher at the American Conservatory of Music, has also done special work in religious education at the University of Chicago. She has appeared in recitals in Chicago loop.

Talents Towards Goodwill

The vocalist, a native of Port Gibson, Miss., was graduated from the Southern Christian Institute, a mission school at Edwards, Mississippi. She has taught academic and music courses in southern schools and faced a brilliant career as a concert artist ten years ago when she chose to devote herself to the field of religion and inter-racial goodwill.

The Woman's Association is sponsoring a concert in New Providence Church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

IRC To Hear Kwok Discuss Democracy

"The Dilemna of American Democracy" is the topic which Benjamin Kwok, a native Chinese and Knoxville citizen, will use in an address to Maryville's International Relations Club Monday night.

Kwok, who first came to America in the 1920s for graduate study, wrote for the New York Times on Chinese conditions while in graduate school. He is now manager of a Knoxville book store.

IRC's meeting place is Thaw 214; time, 6:45 p. m.

Board Offers $50 Catechism Award

Westminster Shorter Catechism College Scholarships for 1949 were announced this week by the Board of Christian Education. Four scholarships of $50 each are available to Maryville students.

The awards are payable to college freshmen or upper classmen enrolled for the first time in one of the Presbyterian colleges approved by the board. Competitors must know perfectly the 107 answers to the Catechism, and the recitations are to be judged by some faculty member designated by the college.

Awards on Competitive Basis

Since the number of scholarships is limited, the awards will necessarily have to be made on a competitive basis. Students who are interested in competing for one of these scholarships should register as soon as possible in the Student Empolyment Office.

The announcement of time, place, and administrator of the recitations will be made later in The Echo. The date will probably be about the first of May in order to give interested students as long as possible to learn the Cathecism and still complete the procedure before the close of school.

Copies of the Westminster Shorter Catechism may be had at any Westminster Book Store. Copies will be available at the Student Employment Office as soon as a recent order to Philadelphia can be filled.

'Papa Is All' Opens To Near-Capacity, Enthralled Crowd

From the time the curtain rose on the premiere performance of "Papa Is All" till it fell after rounds of applause some three hours later Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon's Pennsylvania Dutch cast held the audience in the palm of their collective hand.

A near capacity crowd saw Patterson Greene's play in Maryville High School uditorium last night.

As Papa Aukemp, Alan Rock successfully made an unlovable character real to the audience. He showed professional restraint in making the Mennonite tyrant hated when he could so easily have been hammy.

Peggy Wakefield shone as Mama Aukemp. One wondered how she managed to put up with Papa through 20 years and three acts. Miss Wakefield's musical training has given her the charmingly expressive voice which adapted itself nicely to the difficult German phrasing.

Praises Pentz

Duplicating Celeste Holm's successful Broadway impersonation of Emma; the daughter, Buffie Carver displayed a vivid dramatic imagination as her brother Jake, Wally Pentz, contributed the best-conceived characterization in the production.

Margie Newland may be no Jeanette MacDonald, but her caroling scene was a comedy high spot in her role of red-headed Mrs. Yoder, the talkative neighbor. Del Earisman made a great deal of his supporting role as officer Brendle.

Mrs. Lenore Courtney and Bob Holley, her student assistant, gave the play the well-rounded directing which helped to make it a success. Excellent work was done in a realistic farmhouse setting and realistic costuming and make-up.

Tonight's performance will close the run of the play; curtain is at 8:15.

—Jim Dance.

YWCA MEETS THURSDAY; PLANS APRIL 1 ELECTIONS

Active YWCA members will meet next Thursday, March 24, after chapel for the presentation of the nominating committee's report. Additional nominations may be made from the floor. Elections are scheduled for April 1.

Lists of nominees will be posted on all bulletin boards today.

Mrs. J. H. McMurray—

Founder, The Maid Shop

By Barbara Wallin

(Editor's note: The death of Mrs. J. H. McMurray, founder and director of the College Maid Shop, last week was a distinct loss to the college. Here Echo traces the history of the Maid Shop and Mrs. McMurray's project of "helping girls earn their way through college.")

Mrs. Kathryn Romig McMurray joined the faculty of Maryville College in September, 1920. She came as head of the department of home economics, at the same time her husband, Dr. James H. McMurray, joined the faculty as professor of political and social science. She and her husband remained as the respective heads of these departments until pressure of other duties led Mrs. McMurray to give up her teaching in order to give more time to the College Maid Shop which she founded in 1921. Dr. McMurray remained in his position until his death on April 6, 1938.

Mrs. McMurray had been in college work before coming to Maryville, first at Lincoln College in Illinois, then at Oberlin College where she remained as director and teacher of food conservation courses while her husband was engaged in war work with the Red Cross during World War I.

Experience . . . Earnings

Soon after coming to Maryville, Mrs. McMurray began to develop a program of making and marketing of clothing articles in connection with the home economics department. Her purposes were two-fold, to give students experience and to provide a means for them to earn money toward the payment of their college expenses.

The College Maid Shop was the result of this. It grew and expanded rapidly under the tireless direction of Mrs. McMurray who served as production manager, sales manager and general manager. When one method did not pay she would devise another. It was in order to be able to carry these responsibilities that she resigned her teaching work in 1927.

Skill and Enterprise

The name College Maid Shop became famous largely because of her skill and enterprise. It grew and expanded to impressive proportions. Through years of both economic boom and depression, through war years and peacetime, it has steadily increased with orders streaming in from all parts of the world. Uniforms for factory workers, choir gowns, gym suits, and nurses' uniforms have been produced in recent years. Of particular interest is the fact that many Army and Navy nurses during the war wrote to Mrs. McMurray from wherever they might be stationed with more orders for uniforms. Their measurements were always kept on file for future reference.

Without Mrs. McMurray the College Maid Shop would probably never have become a reality. Through it young college women have received a means of help through encouragement and growing self confidence. Mrs. McMurray's energy, ingenuity, and particularly her unfailing personal kindliness and sympathy were always the center around which the College Maid Shop and a part of Maryville College revolved.

On Individual Thinking and Group Responsibility

When election time is at hand, be it club, council, or campus, most voters sincerely desire to nominate and elect independent thinkers—students who think with their own head, act with a purpose, and stand on their decisions. With all personal feelings unweighted, the voter prides himself in selecting or electing a self-reliant, courageous person to a responsible position.

But what of the individualistic trends of the elected? Does his independent thought, once in power, melt at the heat of his desire? Independent thinkers may also be powerful individualistic thinkers.

Perhaps a sense of individual responsibility—that which, in the final analysis, makes a man a man—should be the outstanding quality sought by both candidate and elector. Once elected, the chosen leader represents one of two parties, the governed or the governors. As a group, it becomes group responsibility to themselves or to itself. Hence even greater should be the responsibility of the governors to the governed. Therefore, the lected must remember that the office does not exist for himself, but that he might better serve his fellow man.

Then we each might ask ourselves how far apart does our sense of group responsibility exist from our conception of individual responsibility? Do we feel in any measure as responsible for group attitude as for our own? Greater yet, do we as individuals, feel that our council represents us—or the 20-odd members on council? Do our Y's represent us—or the membership on the cabinet? Do the leaders of any other campus organizations represent us—or their offices?

Independent thinking is most fruitful toward the overall good of a group when it is girded with a sincere spirit of individual responsibility, which is the only basis for sound group responsibility.

Student Council

Council Hears Club Banking, Student Electioneering Reports

Banking and elections committee reports were made and discussed in Council's regular 8:30 meeting in Student Center last Wednesday night.

Glen Knecht reported provisions drawn up to reorganize finances for student groups. YM-YW excepted, all recognized organizations on campus would have their finances handled by a finance committee of the Student Council. On this committee would be the treasurer and two other Council members.

A single banking account would be set up with all groups' monies going into the central fund, in the summer to be administered by the College Treasurer and Dean of Students.

At times to be designated the Treasurer's Office would accept deposits and withdrawals by club treasurers or other authorized persons. A requisition slip, properly signed and countersigned by the president and treasurer of the organization, would be necessary to get money from the account. In special cases money could be withdrawn at other times than those regularly scheduled.

If Inter-Club Council accepts these reports, all member clubs of that group would be obliged to join.

John Poland reported for Council's elections committee on campus campaign ethics. Under the code drawn up last week no campaign publicity will be made at regular student meetings—chapel, classes, or dining hall.

Campaigning periods are to begin after midnight on the first Monday in April. Publicity ends the day before balloting starts. A report of campaign expenditures, not to exceed five dollars, is to be submitted to the committee by 6 p.m. the first day of balloting..

Elections committee will be judge of any infraction of their rulings. Announcement of violations would be made to the student body prior to balloting.

General good sportsmanship is expected of each candidate and his manager, the person who secured a nominating petition for him, according to Council's committee report.

Talk of The Week

WALLACE MOORE

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

COMING PICTURES

Flash bulletin— Maryville is showing a good movie this week. But don't get excited. It won't be here on Town Night—it comes Wednesday. We are beating the tom-toms for The Paleface, supersatiric Western starring Bob "Scared green" Hope and "Calamity Jane" Russell.

Jane is an old hand at drawing drool from her fans while acting in a horsey setting, her first big movie effort being "The Outlaw." Remember, men? Or did Maryville show that one?

Hope is in his element, too, in this unabashed slapstick job featuring Indian massacres, gunfights with villians, blood, mud, good jokes, duds, and some of those inimitable Hopeian chases. He is as good at his clowning here as in some of his old classics (that means good!) and he is better than he has been in one or two recent "Roads".

The least important part of the picture, of course, is the plot. In it, Hope plays Painless Peter Potter, a pretty hopeless dentist. Somehow he meets up with Calamity Jane, some outlaws, some Indians, and plenty, plenty trouble.

Jane fends off the badmen in a bath-house, Bob sings "Buttons and Bows," and ushers who stand in the aisles get knocked head over heels by rolling patrons.

Tuesday

Now, what is on Monday and Tuesday? None other than "It Had To Be You," a psychoanalytical fantasy of sorts starring Ginger Rogers and Cornel Wilde.

Ginger walks out on three prospective husbands while Cornel, dressed in an Indian suit and playing her Subconscious, follows her. There is an ending, I guess, and some folks may even like it. Some.

They never quit

The assault Bob Hope made on Westerns ought to make them hide away for a while, you would think, but No. The Capitol's courageous manager has booked Gene Autry for a Fri-Sat screen appearance, complete with guitar twanging and cap pistols. "Drop dead, you villain, you!" "Nay, nay."

Anyone wishing cinema schedules for the Park may find them in the ads on the theater's marquee.

LOVELY MUSIC

VMS views with interest the efforts of local music lovers to form a Blount County Civic Music Association. Artists being considered include Magaloff, Lorenz, Luboschutz, Nemenoff and John Charles Thomas. Say, are some of those men Russians? Oh! But could be; that Thomas guy looks especially suspicious. . . .

College Talent

Serious again, we announce our looking forward to hearing Rosa Welch Thursday and Friday. Another coming attraction of a different nature is H.M.S. Pinafore next week. On April 22, the choir is giving "Springtime Serenade," which gives promise of sounding mighty fine. We can report more later.

Poor Gabriel Fenyves, last week's big name guest musician, left us a little sick. His illness affected his playing here, but he sounds better on his Saturday sereis, at 2:30 p.m., on Mutual. Get well, soon, Gabe!

Show Me!

Phil Saint brought song, pictorial artistry, and a speech against evolution along with him on his visit here Tuesday. Mr. Saint remarked that evolutionists could convince him of their theory only by showing him the Missing Link.

OBTAINABLE LITERATURE

The US War Department was the heaviest contributor of new books to the library last week, sending approximately a dozen volumes on World War II. Guam, Papua, Cherbourg, Bizerte, Salerno and many other campaigns are treated. War fiction now here includes Mailer's famous "The Naked and the Dead," acclaimed as a modern masterpiece. Thaw Hall wall display is on the same theme; is titled "We Can't Forget."

Valuable boks for word-handlers are Skillin's "Words Into Type," and Shipley's "Dictionary of Word Origins," both available now.

Literati should be interested in "The Literary History of the United States," a many-authored work praised by Saturday Review. Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales"—with pictures—may also tickle the palates of some. Philander Johnson's poems, on the other hand, may tickle the back of the throat of many of its readers.

New books of interest to special groups are these: three volumes of Maupassant's short stories—in French; "Psychology Applied," by G. W. Crane—for readers of Crane's newspaper column; "Phychological Statistics"—for psych majors and math minors (lots of graphs and drugged-looking algebra); "India Shall be Literate"—manual for missionary teachers; "How to Know the Mosses"—for somebody, surely.

—Tom Weide

PRESIDENT LLOYD CONCLUDES TRIP

President Ralph Lloyd returned by plane to Maryville on Tuesday, March 15 after a week's tour speaking to college and church groups. At his first meeting, March 9 in Philadelphia, he presided at a senior annual meeting of the Presbyterian Department of Church Cooperation and Union. From Philadelphia he went to New York on college business.

In Washington he attended the Conference of National Office of the Association of American Colleges. Upon leaving Washington, he went to Charlotte, N. C. where he spoke at a church men's banquet of the city and at Queen's College.

Five Students Featured In Music Recital Tuesday

Five music students were presented in a recital last Tuesday in the Y Rooms. June Hood played "Fantasie in C major" by Mozart, and Alice Huddleston gave as her selection Chopin's "Waltz in E minor." Carolyn Burrell, accompanied by Bernice Blair, sang Grieg's 'To a Water Lily".

Louise Lloyd played selections by Mozart and Chopin in fulfillrequirements for her sophomore recital.

Fisher, Holverson Read At Writers' Workshop

Craig Fisher and Dot Holverson will read at the next meeting of Writers' Workshop on March 23. Their critics will be Hedy Nabholz and Marian Pope respectively.

At the March 16 meeting, Duncan Bennett read a short story entitled, "The White Rocks." He was criticisced by Carroll Stegall. Roger Cowan read "The Missing Link," an oration which was criticised by Craig Fisher.

Paul Cooper of the French department was elected a member.

JUANITA JOHNSON GIVES SENIOR ORGAN RECITAL

Juanita Johnson presented her senior recital March 17 at the First Baptist Church. She played the following selections for the organ: "A-Minor Prelude," "Wachet Auf," and "Fantasia Funue," all by Bach, Franck's "Pastorale;" "Four Baroque Miniatures" by Karbelert; and "Thou Art the Rock" by Mulet.

I-M Softball Begins Monday

The Intramural Softball league is all ready to start Monday with eight teams. Games will be played at 3:30 and 4:30 on the Court Street diamond and teams have to start their games within ten minutes of the specified time or else they will have to forfeit. No cleats will be allowed on shoes, according to Fred Richardette, senior Intramural manager.

Teams, Managers

The teams and their managers are: Alpha Sigma managed by Charles Trotter; the B.O.B.'s (Bored Old Batchelor's) run by Sherman N. Lester; the Hotshots coached by John A. Bender; the Eightballs led by A. J. Wilson; the YMCA entry piloted by Brick Brahams; the Athenians captained by Archie Swartztrauber; the Happy Warriors led by Orval Wintermute; and the Creamers run by Fred Kluth.

The Schedule for the week of March 21: 1. 3:30; 2. 4:30.

Monday, March 21: 1. Alpha Sigma vs B.O.B.'s. 2. Hotshots vs. Eight Balls.

Tuesday, March 22: 1. YMCA vs. Athenian. 2. Happy Warrior's vs. Creamers.

Wednesday, March 23: 1. B.O. B.'s vs. Eight Balls. 2. Alpha Sigma vs Hotshots.

Thursday, March 24: 1. YMCA vs. Happy Warriors. 2. Athenian vs. Creamers.

I-M Award Change Becomes Effective

The intramural award system for men has been revised with several changes and Coach Johnson announced Tuesday that the the new system all men amassing immediately.

Formerly emblems were awarded to the eight men who had the highest totals of points. Under the new ssytem all men amassing 300 points or more will receive intramural medals.

Former System Based on Wins

Under the old system three points were awarded to each player on intramural teams whether touch football, basketball, etc. when they won a game; two points were awarded in case of a tie and one if he was a member of a losing team. Winners of special tournaments such as golf, ping-pong, and tennis, were awarded three points for winning and two if they were runners-up. Teams which finished first were given ribbons.

Now, any student who participates in an Intramural sport will be given 50 points, and, if his team wins the championship, he will be given 50 more to make a total of 100 points. The sports in this group include touch football, soccer, volleyball, basketball, and softball.

Varsitymen Credited

Men who have made the team in a varsity sport that year will be given 50 points for each sport to add to their total.

Then there are other meets by which a person can gain 50 points. A first or a second in the golf tournament gives 50; a first or second in the ping-pong tournament gives 50; a first or two seconds in the track meet gives 50 points as does a first or two seconds in the swimming meet.

Ribbons For Victor Teams

There is no change in the awarding of ribobns to the winning teams, and Coach Johnson has received ribbons for this year's winners in touch football, soccer, volleyball, basketball, and swimming. The members of these teams can see him in order to get theirs.

Thus, any man who participates in all five of the team races has a very good chance of getting one of these medals just by entering one of the other meets and winning it, placing second, or gaining two seconds, as the case may be.

Football Squad Has Srimmage Session

By Maynard Noble

After being rained, snowed, and frozen out of practice all week, Wedensday afternoon the team went through their first scrimmage session.

With less than a week of practice the team showed up pretty well with Charlie Allen's running probably being the highlight of the afternoon. In the line Larson, Lester, McKee, Isenberg, Clendennon, Andes and Davis were to be seen, battling for a starting birth.

Seven Swimmers Enrolled In Course

Every Wednesday night under the tutelage of Howard Anderson a pre-instructor course is being taught in the college pool.

Anderson, district representative of the American Red Cross, is teaching how others should be taught the various strokes of swimming and diving.

Three girls and seven boys make up the class, which upon completion will make them eligible for an instructor's rating. Those enrolled are: Ed Butler, Dot Downey, Janice Lindsey, Bo Henry, Tubby and Jimmy Callaway, Reed Bell, Moose, Zabriskie, and George Barber.

MERMEN KEEP TRIM FOR APRIL 2 EVENT

Divers Jack Moore and Dean Risher, along with ace backstroker Don Macdonald and Everett Zabriskie, who swims the 220 free style, the 440 free style, and the 400 yard relay, are staying in shape at the pool in preparation for the University of Tennessee invitational meet to be held on April 2.

More of the team is expected to report for last minute brushups after the completion of the instructors course, now being given by the Red Cross.

Baseball Prospects

By Charles Williams

After three weeks of work-outs Coach Lombe Honaker has a 37 man squad from which to field his '49 baseball team. Honaker pushed the team through batting practice on the diamond in the second out-door practice Wednesday.

Prospects appear good for this year with only one man gone from last year's team. King Berrong will be missed at second, but a replacement should be found among the four or five men trying for that position.

Bob Boring, Hugh Hamil, Gene Reynolds, and Leon Berrong, all of whom played on the Maryville CIO team which won the National CIO Tourney at Pittsburg last fall, will all be back to form an experienced nucleus for the team. Several men with high school experience are noticeable in the squad and should be fighting for a regular berth before long.

Here are how positions stack up for the 1949 season:

PITCHERS: Leon Berrong, Erasmus Fowler, Ross Honaker, Ray Lillard, Dick Rowley, and Leaky Campbell are all back from last year and will give the Scots an experienced and dependable mound staff, especially if "Moe" Berrong can get his arm back into shape after that operation.

Freshmen Jim Hawkins, Jim Kren, George Lowe, Russell Peters, and William Waters should really be a help in another year. Hawkins and Kren earned high school baseball letters; Hawkins at Maryville, and Kren at Pitcairn, Pennsylvania, High School.

CATCHERS: Gene Reynolds and Jim Baird, number one and two men last year, are back again this year and will bear most of the catching burden. Freshmen Neal Pearson and Stewart Urban have each had high school experience at this position and will be ready to step in if need be.

INFIELDERS: Woody Thomas, Bob Boring, and Jack Buckley are the returning regulars. Four men, Harry Trotter, Charles Blalock, K. V. Anderson, and Jerry Campbell are trying for the open second base job and others may enter the race before long. Campbell and Blalock are sophomores, while Trotter is a freshman and Anderson is a junior. Trotter earned his baseball letter at Everett High in Maryville and Anderson earned his at Arthur Hill High School in Saginaw, Michigan.

This second base scramble is about the only job open to all

Timed Runs For Track

By Duncan Bennett

Eighteen men are out for varsity track to date this season. Monday of next week is set by Coach Johnson for the beginning of work-outs against a stop watch, and a tentative list has been drawn up for events.

Lettermen from last year's track and cross country teams include Bob Kay, Paul Kidder, Charles Mabry, Bill Menges, Ric Rogers, James Thurston, George Robarts, and Willard Rahn. Mabry, Kidder, and Menges are old hands who will hold down the fort in the mile and two mile run, while Thurston will run the 440 and work on broad jumping Robarts is entered in the 100, 220, and 880 yard events. Rogers is running the 880, with Rahn taking the 120 yard high hurdles.

New Men Out

Coach Johnson's tentative sign-up sheet shows the following men listed by events:

Mile run—Del Earisman, Charles Mabry, Paul Kidder, and Bill Menges. 440 yard dash—Walter English, Danny Sheffield, Neal Moerschel, James Thurston, and Jim Martin. 100 yard dash—George Robarts, Tom Kees, and Bill Lenoir. 120 yard high hurdles—Hap Brahams, Bob Kay, and Willard Rahn.

880 yard—Ric Rogers, Danny Sheffield, Bill Lenoir, and George Robarts. 2 mile run—Bill Carroll, Del Earisman, Charles Mabry, Paul Kidder, and Bill Menges. High Jump—Craig Fisher, Brick Brahams, Danny Sheffield, and Neal Moerschel.

Javelin—Harold Ammons, Joe Poland, Richard Gerke. Shot Put—Al Springfield, Brick Brahams, Alan Rock, Fred Kluth, Richard Isenberg, and Howard Davis. Broad Jump—Tom Kees, James Thurston, Bob Proffitt, and Richard Gerke.

Schedule Revised

Scot track schedule to date includes four meets, one of them tentative. Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, The University of Chattanooga, Milligan Relays and the Tennessee Intercollegiate Conference are scheduled. The TIAC meet may conflict with final examinations however, and may be cancelled.

Opening meet is with Tennessee Tech, here, April 22, followed the next day by the Milligan Relays at Johnson City which the Scottie Sprinters will enter. On May 6 the University of Chattanooga will stage a dual meet with the Maryville runners at Chattanoga. Then May 14 is the date for the state meet at Knoxville.

Cold Freezees Tennis

By Tom Weide

Cold weather froze out a lot of tennis practice this week as MC's net team continued regular drills for the season beginning April 1.

Three members of last year's team, namely Bill Lawrence, Bill Uthlaut, and Fred Waggoner, have departed from the present squad. Wes Miles, Chesley Anderson, Bill Dinges, and Glenn Knecht will form a nucleus of veterans for Coach Kenneth Johnson to work with, along with exleterman Hunter, ('45-'46) and the other men highest on the ladder.

Miles was number one man much of last year, and Anderson and Dinges were consistently high. McCampbell has shown up well this spring, and Gearhart and Fisher have moved up rapidly among the other varsity hopefuls.

Johnson has announced that the six highest-ranking players may challenge anyone among themselves. Lower-ranking laddermen may meet only those one or two above themselves.

A victory places the winner above the defeatee on the chart, while the men in between remain in their same respective positions. Once a date for a ladder match has been set, failure to meet the opponent counts as a loss by forfeit.

Maintenance Crew Works On Grounds

College engineer E. C. Brown and his crew have given the grounds a spring cleaning during the past two weeks. Work was done on the baseball diamond, golf course, new athletic field, and college woods were being cleared near the new athletic field.

Showing the most improvement is the baseball diamond. It has been levelled, and base lines, pitcher's mound, and home plate, from which grass has been removed, have been resurfaced.

Three backstops, two on the athletic field and one on golf course have been set up for intramural softball. New athletic field was reseeded with Bermuda and blue grass. Several white pine trees were set out in the southwest corner near the new athletic field. Included in "Brownie's" plans are dragging and rolling the track course for spring practice.

Student helpers are clearing the golf course for spring golf. The tennis courts by Baldwin were cleared and scraped by Branin Boyd.

Hughes Presents Recital In Clinton Tomorrow

W. Curtis Hughes, instructor in music, will present an organ recital at Memorial Methodist Church tomorrow in Clinton, Tennessee. He will share the program with Maurine Owen, soprano.

Hughes will present selections by the following composers: Handel, Bach, Brahms, Faulkes, Edmundson, Weinberger, Gaul, and Fletcher.

Miss Owen will sing the following: "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain," Harker; "The Lord is My Light," Speaks; "Ballad of the Trees and the Master," Chadwick; and "The End of the Sabbath," Speaks.

Swimming, Track Meets Planned For Intramurals

The Intramural swimming meet has been changed to Saturday afternoon, March 26, Coach Johnson announced this week. An I-M track meet is also being scheduled.

There will be eight events open: 50 yard breast stroke; 100 yard breast stroke; 50 yard freestyle; 100 yard freestyle; 50 yard backstroke; 100 yard backstroke; diving and a 150 yard medley race composed of 50 yards each of the breast, back, and crawl or freestyle strokes.

Coach Johnson announced Tuesday afternoon that an Intramural Track meet will be held this spring, but no date has been set. It will be on the same order as the Intramural wrestling and swimming meets with most track and field events to be on the program.

Special Studies—

ter spent in two four-hour classes.

Present Juniors Pinched

The number of credit hours is another disagreement. Those students who are not able to carry five subjects are finding it difficult to amass the required amount of hours for graduation. Since the new system has been introduced the present juniors who have taken no extra subjects find themselves with the exact number of hours or one or two short.

The most agreed disagreement among students is the lack of correlation among the departments as to grading, requirements, and work. Almost all English majors agree that while English special studies should be graded more rigidly on context there should still be a more comprehensive grading system between the departments.

Requirements Vary

Requirements vary with the different special studies advisors; requirements are different even in the same department. Some advisors advocate spending a definite amount of time each week, ranging from three to ten hours; while others maintain that the projects is entirely dependent on the student. Conferences are another variation.

Since the special studies program has been tried for such a short time, some of the collective criticism hardly seems acceptable on such a trial. While most agree that improvements should be made immediatley, the whole program should be considered on a trial basis and continued as such.

Much speculation has been made on the fact that special studies should not be split by the summer vacation but should continue thoughtout one year, preferably the junior year. But with this arrangement there would be less preparation of the student before going into special studies, and some feel that even with the first semester of the junior year as background this is still not enough preparation. If the program were continued through the two semesters of the senior year the last semester would collide with comprehensives. It has been suggested that the program might be extended to eliminate comprehensives altogether.

Better Suited to MA Work

That only those planning to do master's work should take special studies has been an object of discussion throughout the poll. A large number of students and faculty feel that there is too much specialization for an AB degree, and it would be most beneficial to those who write a master's thesis. Another element is that only the upper 25% of the class should take special studies in that those students would be more interested in specialized work and they would be more capable than the rest. Of course, this would mean that special studies would revert to practically the same standards as honor's work has been in the past years.

Seven Suggestions Noted

It is agreed that special studies is on an individualistic basis good for the pupil in that it develops originality, promotes research, and increases knowledge in the particular field in which special study is undertaken. In summing up, some of the suggestions for changes are:

1. That studetns and faculty have a clear understanding as to what is expected from each;
2. That library resources be strengthened;
3. That each semester of special studies be given four hours credit;
4. That the individual fields be narrowed so as to be covered effectively;
5. That there be correlation among the depatrments in grading, requirements, and work;
6. That the work be extended over two consecutive semesters;
7. That only those planning to do master's work or the upper 25% should take special studies.

Joe Doaks' Faltering Five Foul Up Basketball Play

By Charles Williams

Joe Doaks, 613 Carnegie Hall, awoke with a start. Gad, this was the day! Poor Joe had known for some time this day was coming, and he had made plans. He was ready to go.

After the day's classes were over, he returned to his room. He wrote his parents and girl friend (the one back home) a letter, propped a will leaving his suit to his roommate on the table, donned his gym clothes and sallied forth. Today, Joe's Faltering Five basketball team was starting the intramural season against the Muscle-bound Maulers.

At the gym, Joe was met by his team captain who welcomed him with a what-a-pity-and-so-young-too expression on his face. "Joe," he said, "You're new at this game, so you'll guard their smallest man. His name's Sluggo McGurk. That's him over there. Go on over and get acquainted."

Joe ambled over, looked at Sluggo's seven-foot, eight-inch, 267-pound frame, and promptly regretted his part in the whole thing. He shook hands and went back to his team, absently counting his fingers.

Game Time

It was game time! The teams lined up and the referee tossed the ball. As the ball went up, Joe went down before Sluggo's body block. He picked himself up, murmuring, "I thought they outlawed the flying wedge," and returned to the fray.

Up the floor! Down the floor! Ride the backboard! Switch off! Block that man! Once Joe was squeezed between two opposing men, but returned to the struggle thinking, "Oh well, I could use a few more inches in this game anyway."

Hit 'em, bite 'em, smash 'em, crash 'em, y-e-a team! Our hero was in there on every play. For 28 minutes the battle raged. Just as the final whistle blew, Joe was fouled. "O. K., Joe, here's your chance to be a hero!"

Foul Shot Wins

He staggered up to the foul line. With bleary eyes he sighted on the rim. With every bit of his waning strength, he tossed the ball. It was good! The game was over and the Faltering Five had won! The score was 113 to 112—all the points being scored on foul shots.

Later, Joe was visited in the infirmary by one of his friends. As the friend surveyed Joe's black eye, his bruised ribs, his skinned knee, and his sprained ankle, he was moved to ask, "Joe, why do you do it?" Our down-but-not-out hero smiled bashfully and replied, "Aw shucks! I just figure a fellow owes it to himself to keep in shape!"

Marine Officer Visits Campus To Explain PLC

Marine Capt. Robert A. Byrne will visit campus March 21-22 to acquaint MC students with Platoon Leaders Class.

Platoon Leaders Class is an officer candidate program which offers freshmen, sophomores and juniors opportunity to earn reserve commissions by attending training during the summer vacation months.

Those chosen for PLC training are enrolled in the Marine Corps Reserve (Inactive). With this classification they are subject to call to active duty only during a national emergency or at their own request.

No previous military training is required for freshmen and sophomores, but juniors must be honorably discharged veterans of one of the armed forces with at least 12 months active duty.

ABC Letters 11; Elects Manager

The Athletic Board of Control met Thursday morning to approve eight cheerleaders' letters, three basketball letters, and to elect a track manager.

Cheerleaders' letters were awarded to the following: Alan Fort, Beverly Jacobi, Richard Jones (Captain), Peggy Knox, Clyde McCampbell, Jane McMillan, Gracie Scruggs, and Archie Swartztrauber.

John Keely, senior biology major, was recommended to and voted by the board as track manager for the coming season.

Three members of the '48-'49 basketball squad, Charles Allen, B. R. Crisp, and Raymond Keny, were voted letters by the board with the recommendation of the director of athletics.

A vote on the three basketball letters had been postponed from last week's meeting.

Pep committee chairman, John Shew, reported to the board on proposals affecting the manner of election of cheerleaders.

Mademoiselle Sponsors Short Story Contest For Undergraduates

Mademoiselle Magazine is sponsoring a short story contest for undergraduate women which will close April 15. Five hundred dollars each will be given for the two best stories. The magazine reserves the right to buy other acceptable stories at their regular rates. The winning stories will be published in the August 1949 Mademoiselle.

Only women undergraduates are eligible to enter their manuscripts in this contest. The stories are to be from 3,000 to 5,000 words in length and should be typewritten, double-spaced, on one side of the paper.

A contestant's name, address, college address, and college year should accompany each entry. They should be submitted to College Fiction Contest, Mademoiselle, 122 East 42 Street, New York 17, New York.

comers. Other infielders include sophomore Ed Bennett and freshmen Ken Smith, Tom McClendon, Ken Yunker, and Tom Jones. Both Smith and Yunker earned high school baseball letters.

OUTFIELDERS: Returning veterans are Hugh Hamil, Walter Pentz, Bob Neff, Benny Baldwin, and Babe Keny. Ready to step in will be Bill Anderson, Carl Lewelling, Gene Payne, and Earl Valentine. Anderson earned his baseball letter at Everett.

Local Music Fans Plan For Concerts

County music patrons last week formed Blount Civic Music Association in Maryville.

David L. McArthur is president of the new organization, which will work with Civic Concert Service of New York City. Two College faculty members are vice-presidents—Curtis Hughes and Professor George Howell.

A talent committee will select the artists available through the Concert Service, but any members of the Association may suggest their choice. Available this season are John Charles Thomas, Max Lorenz, Nikita Magaloff, Sidney Foster, Astrid Varney, Josephine Antoine, and Luboshutz and Nemenoff.

Membership is open to anyone in the county, according to the Association headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce. Season tickets are priced at six dollars for adults, three for students.

The first three concerts of the season are guaranteed by the concert service, regardless of the number of subscribers.

Dan Winter Places First In Auditions At Memphis

Pianist Awarded $1000 Scholarship

Dan Winter, junior piano major and pupil of Katherine C. Davies, won the $1,000 scholarship award in the finals of the Memphis and Mid-South Piano Scholarship Association auditions March 18-19. Scholarship money can be used in studying piano at any school approved by the committee.

Competing in the group of pianist 18-22 years old, Winter was one of four finalist chosen from 12 other participants. The finals were held Saturday evening at 8 in the WMC auditorium of the Goodwyn Institute in Memphis. Charlotte Trewolla of Winona, Miss., and a student at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus won the second prize of $500.

Preliminaries, Finals

One of four finalists chosen from played "French Suite No. 5," by Bach, which is composed of four dances, Allemande, Courante, Loure, and Gigue; "Sonata Opus 31, No. 3," by Beethovan (required of all participants); "Nocturne, Opus 27, No. 1 in C Sharp Minor;" by Chopin; and "Fantasie-Impromptu," by Chopin.

For the finals Winter played "Danee Roumaine," by Bartok and all the numbers played in the preliminaries with the exception of Chopin's "Nocturne."

Judges for the competition were Herman Ostheimer of Dayton, Ohio, Bruno Glabe of the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, and Margaret Grubb of Denton, Texas. They remained unknown to the contestants and to each other until the final auditions were over.

Judgement Basis

Judgement was made on the following basis: Musicianship 20%, Poise, Stage Presence, 10%, Technique, Rhythm, Accuracy 20%, Natural Music Endowment 10%, Tone, Pedaling, Phrasing, Interpretation 25%, Memory 10%.

Tests were also given in composition, analysis, harmony, ear training, and difficult rhythm problems.

While in Memphis Winter was the houseguest of Louis Mercer, president of the association. All contestants were housed in homes of the associaiton members. He was accompanied to Memphis by Miss Davies.

Musical Activities

Winter has been outstanding in music activities on campus. He has been a member of the band for two years, and has given two formal college recitals. He was presented in a private recital at the Chilhowee clubhouse last spring and another at the home of Mrs. John Walker in January. Last year, he played before the Tennessee State Music Club Convention, and accompanied the Vesper Choir in presenting Faure's "Requiem," which he will again accompany this year. He is soloist with the orchestra this year and has appeared before various womens' clubs and civic organizations.

Musical Education

Starting his piano career at the age of four under the direction of his mother, who is also an outstanding musician, Winter continued under her guidance until he was 12, at which time he began studying at Iowa Wesleyan College in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

He has been a pupil of Miss Davies for the past three years. Last summer he studied under Cecile Genhart at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York.

His immediate plans are to return to the Eastman School of Music again this summer and to do graduate work upon his graduation from Maryville.

Rosa Page Welch Sings In Concert In Alumni Gym

Rosa Page Welch, mezzo-soprano from Chicago, presented a concert last night in Alumni Gym. Mrs. Welch was sponsored by the Division of Fine Arts, Student Volunteers, YMCA, and YWCA.

Mrs. Welch, well-known negro singer, also appeared in Thursday's chapel service and was speaker and guest soloist at a negro-white federation meeting of town church women held at New Providence Presbyterian Church in the afternoon. That evening she sang at YM-YW sponsored all-campus prayer meeting, and later broadcast over WGAP. Friday she spoke on race relations to education classes.

Last night's concert included classical, sacred, and spiritual songs. The first part of the program was as follows: "Where'ere You Walk," Handel, "Lungi dal caro bene" by Secchi; "Voce di donna" from Ponchielli's "La Giaconda"; Schuert's "Abode"; "Thou Art an Angel Earthward Bending"; and "Over the Steppe," Gretchaninof; "The Hills of Gruzia" by Mednikoff; two selections by Charles, "When I Have Sung My Songs to You" and "Clouds"; "Iris" by Wolf; "Lullaby," Scott.

Following intermission she sang "Come Unto Him" by Handel, Homer's "Sheep and Lambs," and "The Holy City" by Adams. The last four numbers on her program were spirituals. Included were "The Crucifiction," "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" arranged by MacGimsey, "I Wonder as I Wander," Niles, and "Ride on King Jesus" by Burleigh.

IRC Speaker Relates Democracy's Dilemma

Benjamin Kwok told IRC members Monday night that the dilemma of American democrary is that, while the US has attained the pinnacle in military, economic, and cultural leadership, it is showing a grave weakness in international leadership.

Kwok cited the US' kinship with Britain, which he condemned for its imperialistic colonial policy, as a detention from promoting international democracy. He pointed to the Yalta agreement, attitude with the League of Nations, and the recently -signed North Atlantic Security Pact as examples of our upholding economic domination as the British-led group intend.

Grave Internal Problems

The US also has grave internal problems, the native Chinaman stated. "While we cannot give civil rights to the minority in the US," Kwok continued, "How can we hope to give true democracy to the world?"

AAUW Entertains MC Senior Girls

Maryville branch of the American Association of University Women will give a reception for all MC senior women at the home of Mrs. R. W. Lloyd on Monday, March 28, from 8 until 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Joe Phillips, Tennessee state president, will be present at the reception. Mrs. Phillips is from Athens, Tennessee, and a graduate of Maryville.

Purpose of the reception is to acquaint senior girls with the AAUW and to inform them of their eligibility in the organization.

President of AAUW's Maryville chapter is Mrs. Fred DeLozier, formerly of Maryville's Home Economics department.

Choir Inaugurates Annual Tree-Plant

Graduating seniors of the Vesper Choir are sponsoring a tree planting ceremony to be enacted by the Vesper Choir on March 28 at 5 p. m.

The purpose of this program is to beautify the college grounds with trees. The planting is intended to be an annual event by the Vesper Choir. At the base of the tree will be a plaque inscribed with "Vesper Choir 1949."

Dr. George Davies Leads Vesper Service Tomorrow

Dr. George E. Davies will speak on "Becoming a Sophomore in the School of Christ" tomorrow evening at Vespers at 8 p.m. in the library.

Debaters Climax Season With Trip To Mid-West Forensic Convention

By Frances Moore

Four Maryville debators will attend the Sixteenth National Convention of the Forensic of Pi Kappa Delta at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill., April 10-14 as a climax in the 1949 debate season. Jim Torrey and Eric Meadows will compose the debating pair; Roger Cowan, individual speaker; and Carol Corbett will take oratory and extemperaneous speaking.

The current question is Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Adopt a Policy of Equalizing Education Opportunity in Tax Supported Schools by Means of Annual Grants.

Debate tournaments which Maryville entered during the current season are as follows: Appalachian Mountain Forensic Tournament in Boone, N. C., a practice meet at Sewanee, Smoky Mountain Forensic Tournament held at Carson-Newman, State Tournament at Nashville, and Southern Forensic Tourney at Hickory, N. C.

Jim Torrey, Eric Meadows

Jim Torrey, a senior from Hallowell, Pa., debated at Appalachain and Smoky Mountain. He placed second in individual debating at the State Tourney. He and Lou Evans won three out of four debates. Torrey's particular phase of interest is straight debating.

Eric Meadows, a junior from Beaver, Pa., debated at Sewanee and Smoky Mountain, and placed first in individual men's debating at Appalachian. The team of Meadows and Torrey won five out of six at the State Tournament. Meadows, also prefers straight debating to any other phase. Referring to the federal aid to education, he feels that ". . . if the need is great enough, it should be given but only to those states which do need it and are willing to make necessary improvements on the state and local levels."

Roger Cowan

Roger Cowan, junior, who will be the individual speaker at the National Tourney, is from Woodbury Heights, N. J., and was high school American Legion Oratory Contest winner three years, county winner twice, tri-county winner once, and placed second in the State in his senior year.

At Hickory, Cowan placed first in Oratory, second in extemporaneous and third in radio announcing. Besides placing third in peace oratory at Nashville, he has placed first seven times in radio announcing, poetry reading, oratory, extemporaneous, after dinner, impromptu, all at Appalachian, and after dinner at Carson-Newman.

Cowan is still wondering how he and Stuart Saul paid $1.25 for two bottles of ginger ale ("it was ginger ale," quoth Roger) at Hickory. He also relates the time Torrey made an apt reply to the opponent who had pointed out his own ignorance as an excuse for not aiding education. Said Jim, "There are osme people you just can't educate!"

Carol Corbett

Carol Corbett, sophomore from Jacksonville, Fla., debated in high school for a year and a half. At Appalachian, she made first place in after dinner speaking, third in extemporaneous, and third place in oratory. She placed first in extemporaneous at Car-

'Pinafore' Embarks Tonight At 7 Bells

Box Social Auction Follows Opera; Societies Combine For Production

"H.M.S. Pinafore" curtain will rise tonight at 7:30 in Alumni Gym on Gilbert and Sullivan's nautical but nice comic opera. MC's four societies are to sponsor the program, which is the first Gilbert and Sullivan opertta to be done here since 1939 when the combined glee clubs gave "The Sorcerer."

Following the operetta, Bob Holley will act as emcee and auctioneer at a Box Social. Girls are to bring box suppers—fancy or plain—to be shared with the highest bidder for the box. Fifteen cents has been set as the limit for bidding.

MCers will see a one-hour cutting of "H.M.S. Pinafore" which includes all but four of the musical numbers and most of the dialogue; the plot is complete. Sir William Gilbert's script is adapted and directed by Jim Dance. Sir Arthur Sullivan's gay tunes will be played by Fred Sieber and Ann Jenkins.

Lass Loves Sailor

"Pinafore's" plot concerns the tangled love affairs of a sailor and the captain's daughter, the captain and a traveling saleswoman, and a British lord and his first cousin.

As Act I opens, the crew of the Pinafore are scrubbing the deck and explaining that "We Sail the Ocean Blue," but are at the present time anchored in Portsmouth Harbor. Little Buttercup, sung by Gloria Measamer, a traveling saleswoman who rows among the ships selling her wares, enters and introduces herself to the sailors in the well known aria "I'm Called Little Buttercup."

Buttercup tells the Boatswain (John Shew) that a hidden secret is bothering her; she won't tell what the secret is. Ralph Rackstraw, sailor hero of the piece (Harold Hunter), has a secret too, but he tells his—he's in love with the captain's daughter, "A Maiden Fair to See."

Dick Deadeye, the villian (Craig Fisher), thinks this is terrible but the sailors form ranks and salute their gallant captain, who sings "I Am the Captain of the Pinafore." Captin Corcoran (Charles Williams) is worried about his daughter, Josephine (Ruth Humes), whom he plans to marry to Sir Joseph Porter (Art Haaf).

Josephine Unwilling

But Josephine is unwilling. "Sorry Her Lot Who Loves Too Well," she sings and confesses her secret love for Ralph. The Captain points out the difference in their stations, and she promises to consider more seriously her other suitor.

"I Am the Monarch of the Sea," claims Sir Joseph, and his claim is supported by Cousin Hebe (Wanda Onifer) and his chorus of admiring sisters, cousins, and aunts. Sir Joseph knows nothing about the sea, but "When I Was a Lad" he had a lucky break which netted his his high position.

Meanwhile Ralph makes known his love to Josephine. "Refrain, Audacious Tar," she tells him, but when he threatens to shoot

Magazine Includes Maryville in Survey Of Small Colleges

Maryville was included in a list of fifty representative small colleges in an article entitled, "Is the Small College Your Answer?" in April issue of Good Housekeeping Magazine.

The basis for selection of the fifty representative colleges, as prepared by James W. Hampton, were as follows:

"1. Each college operates normally with the optimum small-college enrolment;

"2. Each college can be attended for approximately one thousand dollars per year (exclusive of clothing, personal items, and traveling expenses);

"3. Each college is fully recognized not only by the proper regional accrediting agency, but also by the Association of American Universities."

Of the fifty colleges charted, Maryville ranked second lowest in amount charged each student by the college, with a $525 per year figure quoted from the catalogue. Lowest priced was Millsaps in Jackson, Miss., at $495.

The article stated that there are over 700 liberal arts colleges in the United States with slightly over half fully accredited. All schools supported either by states or municipalities were not included in the group. In addition to Maryville, two other colleges in Tennessee were in the list, Sewanee and Southwestern-at-Memphis.

Measamer, Smith Present Recital

Gloria Measamer, contralto, and Dora Evalyn Smith, soprano, will present their sophomore recital Tuesday, March 29, in the Y Rooms at 4:30 p. m.

Miss Measamer will sing 'Slumber Beloved" from the Christmas oratorio by Bach; "Ardent Longing," Ahle; and "Bright Phoebus," Hook. "Chanson Espagnol," Ravel; "L'Invitation au voyage," Dupac; "Obissons Quand leur voix," from the opera "Manon" by Massenet; and "Twilight Dreams," Sibella.

Miss Smith will sing "Voici Noel," "Eho, Eho!" and "Maman, dites moi," all Chansons arranged by Weckedlin; "Je suis Titania," from the opera "Mignon" by Thomas. "Wallpaper," Kingsford; "Knock on the Door," Crist; "Dawn," Hall; "Iorana," Dett; and "Musetta's Waltz," from the opera "La Boheme" by Puccini.

Dr. Donald Grant Visits Campus, Speaks Thursday

Donald Grant, famous British lecturer on international affairs, will be guest on MC campus this coming week and will speak to student body at chapel service Thursday, March 31. Dr. Grant has been a world traveller, visiting and working in four continents—Europe, Asia, Australia, and America.

A graduate of the University of Edinburgh, he holds academic honors from several European universities, one of them being a Gold Medal conferred on him by the University of Vienna in recognition of his outstanding work of constructive relief among professors and students in Europe after World War I.

Student Relief Organizer

Dr. Grant was one of the organizers of the European Student Relief, later known as the International Student Service. This work took him into France, Switzerland, Austria, Russia, Germany, and the Balkans. He spent four years in New Zealand as the General Secretary of the Student Christian Movement.

Student Body Candidates File For Campus Offices

Petitions for student body offices to be filled in April 11 and 12 elections have been obtained for ten candidates. Five are for Student Body President, two for Vice-President, and three for Social Chairman.

Petitions for president are for Bill Nish, John Baxter, Charlie Parvin, Roger Cowan, and Bill Chalker. Vice-presidential petitions are out for Joe Poland and Mae Meriwether, Jim Dance, Ben Gearhart, and Wanda Onifer are the social chairman aspirants.

All of these petitions have not yet been returned to the elections committee. Other candidates may still obtain petitions.

Hughes Directs Annual Serenade Friday, April 22

Final date for All-Girl Choir's and Men's Glee Club's production of "Springtime Serenade" is Friday, April 22. Curtain will rise on the music program at 7:30 p. m. in the Alumni Gym.

Director and organist for the performance is Curtis Hughes. He will be assisted at two pianos by John Sayre and Carolyn Marshall.

"Springtime," originated last year by the two groups, is the only thing of its kind on the campus. It affords a program of secular music appealing to all types of persons, whether young or old. The program is financed entirely by the sale of tickets.

Popular Musical Program

Last year's program included works of Kern, Romberg, Youmans, and Herbert. Soloists were Edwin Goddard, Bill Fogarty, Mary Hicks, Maurine Owens, and Ruth Humes.

Musical selections for this year's production are taken from operettas such as "Oklahoma" "Great Day." Soloists will be announced at a later date.

Howard Cameron is stage manager for the program; Marlene Mauger, business manager; and Ben Gearhart, publicity manager.

YW Hears Report On Christian Conference

Betty Jo Smith and Geneva Robinson report on the sixteenth annual State Student Christian Conference at YWCA, 1:30 p.m., Sunday in the Y Rooms.

The Conference, held at Scarritt College in Nashville, was based on the theme "Christianity In World Outreach."

Betty Field will furnish special music.

Student Council

Spring vacation formed the first topic for discussion at Student Council's regular meeting last Wednesday evening in the Student Center. The proposal was made that Easter week-end from Friday until Monday be given as a spring vacation. After discussion it was decided to take the matter before the Student Faculty Senate for consideration Friday. President Jim Black reminded Council that this was a more or less perennial subject, but that it could do no harm to try again.

The question of election ethics was brought up for brief discussion and John Poland re-read the election regulations as published the The Highland Echo last week.

Roger Cowan next brought up the matter of the placing of ballot boxes on the campus during elections. After prolonged discussion it was moved, seconded, and carried that election procedure should be carried out this year as in the past.

The meeting ended after Bill Proffitt questioned the subject of the discrepancy with respect to excusing final examinations for seniors with honor grades. Graduating seniors who finish their work in summer school are required to take finals while those who finish here with honor grades are not. No action was taken on the matter, and Council adjourned.

Lest We Forget–

Just two years ago today one of the worst tragedies in the history of Maryville College occurred —the loss of Vorhees Chapel. Since then the college has carried on without it, realizing and suffering the loss, but still carrying on in full capacity.

Problems confronted all, but the greater loss was experienced—and continues to be experienced —by the music department, who faced almost total loss of facilities. Townspeople came to the aid by volunteering pianos, records, and organs for use by the students—aid which the department received thankfully. Although there was and is a very apparent inadequacy in the department it still ranks very high in comparison with music departments of other colleges. Such a record is certainly commendable to the department—to the students who make the department and especially to the excellent faculty who maintain it.

Even though the gymnasium was not the suitable place for devotional services students accepted it with very few complaints. Looking ahead, the hardness, blackness, and crowdedness of the bleachers can be more easily forgotton—at least borne. Now, with the fine arts center and chapel almost a realization instead of a promise, cooperation has become voluntary instead of dutiful.

Both seniors and freshmen look at the planned chapel—one thankful, one thoughtful.

Appeal Re-Pealed–

Before every election the same appeal comes out to student body through some medium or other to vote. The same thing happens in national elections —"You are urged to go to the polls and vote!" With the all-campus and Y elections coming up you are again urged to vote—to support the nominees of your choice. An orgnaization must have capable leadership, and it's up to you to provide that leader!

Sound & Fury

By Newman & Wallin

Still Yet Awhile

Have you noticed how many phrases have been added to the campus vocabulary since "Papa" arrived and then departed? For a few days following the play, collegites were conspicuous in their use of words like "still, yet, today," "yes, well" and words to that effect. But Al Springfield, from Atlantic City, yet, has them all beat. He's been talking like that since the day he arrived here.

Dark Was The Night

Carnegie's Mrs. Kolter was almost caught in the act the other night when a light fuse blew in the wing where she was guest at a party some of the fellows were throwing. While the hall was still dark, Mrs. Kolter slipped down the back stairs so she wouldn't be blamed for the deed.

Comfort Plus Style

Rosie Gamble doesn't like to walk in high heeled shoes. That explains her conduct on the way to the play Saturday night. She was seen wearing a pair of comfortable loafers on the way but when she arrived she was wearing heels. The mystery was solved after the play when she pulled a paper bag out of the bushes beside the auditorium, pulled out her lofaers, put them on and carried the high heels home in the bag.

Oh, My Aching Back

Ruth McQuillken is sure someone pushed her. She would be positive except that there was no one around at the time. She was walking down the back stairs of Baldwin Sunday night when she suddenly found herself on the way down bumping on her back. Could be ghosts.

Spring is Here

There's one positive way of telling when Spring has arrived at Maryville College. When the gals find their way to Baldwin Beach attired for sun bathing, then Spring is here to stay.

What, Men are These?

During Vesper Choir practice the other day, Mr. Harter was lecturing the tenors. Said he, "Why can't you sing like the men." Of course he was comparing them with the basses, but the comparison applied just the same.

Turn-About

Star of Tuesday night's waiter-waitress party in the dining hall was Miss Ware, who parodied the "typical" MC waitress. Serving a table, she went through all the "don'ts" of good table-waiting technique. Biggest laugh came when she answered Al Springfield's complaints about the food with an indignent, "Well don't blame me! I don't plan the menu around here!"

Bob Brown MC'd the waiter-wairtess party and introduced a male quintet by saying that they had planned to have six members, but Ben Sheldon had reminded him that this was Maryville, and we just couldn't have a sextet.

Don Winslow must have felt like a knight of old as he wielded the garbage can cover over the popcorn he was popping.

In The Still of The Night

Brick Brahams really left the library with a bang one night this week. In a more-than-dramatic exit, he tripped over one of the library's many complex light cords and sent a lamp crashing to the floor. Librarians winced as the "Silence Please" sign was violated more loudly than usual.

Dog-gone!

No one was quite sure of the lineage of the little brown dog on campus Wednesday, but it was one of the friendliest of all the MC canine inhabitants. After following Ye Echo Editor into the office, it attended classes of higher learning in Thaw until noon. Many were the would-be owners, but the real owners finally took possession that afternoon much to the dismay of "Debby" Deobler.

Boxes, Boxes, Boxes

If you need any cardboard boxes, don't ask the All-Girl Choir for them. If you have any to get rid of, they'll welcome you with open arms. They have been collecting all shapes, forms, and fashions of boxes for the last two weeks in preparation for the forthcoming "Springtime Serenade."

Music Depriciation

Or, what Miss Davies doesn't know won't hurt Marg Prall's grade. "Grandma" Prall turned white with rage, or rather chalk-dust, when Hap Brahms and Jack Bailey teamed up against her. Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" remained unfinished as the three battled for supremacy of a very chalky eraser. Marg came out a-head—full of chalk dust.

The back row of same class kept time to Liszt by crunching Fritos. A huge bag passed down the entire length of the row to some unknown destination. It has been suggested that a drinking fountain be placed in the room or means be taken to remove some of the extra salt from Fritos before packaging.

Joke of the Weak

One of Miss Blair's apt (to do anything) pupils has come up with a very original, in the sense of primitive, riddle: How is a debate like a prison library? Answer? They both have pros and cons. Get it —prose and cons! Don't read it again.

Talk of The Week

WALLACE MOORE

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

AUNT MARTHE

How not to make money is the topic for next week's Town Night movie at the Capitol. In "T-Men" Dennis O'Keefe and Alfred Ryder are out to catch would-be Gutenburgs who compete with Treasury Department printed lettuce.

In the fact-fiction style Hollywood has been better than usually successful within the last few years, "T-Men' has no love interest, no ex-hoofers making a vaudeville comeback—not even a new song hit.

It's simply a good semidocumentary, unlavishly told, easily financed.

Richard Dix, who thrilled Aunt Marthe almost as much as the theatre's piano-player, is back in Park's Tuesday film. "The Thirteenth Hour" should be just the vehicle for a star who's seen his time.

PAPA

Lamar Memorial has one of the best new book selections this week it's had in some time. The Library seems to have agreed with Book-of-the-Month Club on several of its latest choices; at least seven have been added here recently.

"Cheaper by the Dozen" is another one of those "Papa Was a Mortician," "Papa Was a Taxidermist" type of family stories; in this one a brother-sister team, Gilbreth & Carey, tell what Papa did.

Except for "The Seven Storey Mountain," a long novel in a black binding, all the other BOMClub selections are non-fiction and of a bit more serious nature than "Dozen."

More light—this time from a more sympathetic source than the ex-New Deal clique—on the Roosevelt myth is Robert Sherwood's widely hailed "Roosevelt and Hopkin's." For both the lunatic fringe and the standpatters who are still haggling over this controversial figure, this a must.

Winston Churchill, now leader of the paradoxical "His Majesty's Loyal Opposition," is telling his version of the last ten year's history in "The Gathering Storm." This is volume one; five more are to come.

The Meek

William Vogt is newest to frighten the meek as he foresees just how soon they'll inherit this old sphere. Well introduced by elder statesman Bernard Baruch, "Road to Survival" worries at length about man's wastefulness of his natural resources.

SHAEF commander Eisenhower's memoirs are the Book Club's recent "Crusade in Europe," said to be one of the better-written accounts of the War.

The longer, dryer story of another war is told in the newly added, long-ago-published memoirs of U. S. Grant—in two thick volumes. It was not, by the way, a book club choice.

'TOP-NOTCH'

Good Housekeeping, Hearst's fat-with-ads home magazine, managed to squeeze an article on small colleges among its 338 pages of the April issue.

Next to Mississippi's Millsaps at Jackson, Maryville has the lowest costs of the 50 colleges represented. Each of the colleges, 40% of which are south of the Mason-Dixon, is fully accredited by the regional associations and by the AAU.

MC is described in the article: "A top-notch small college (in Maryville, Tenn.)."

Among other colleges listed are Muskingum and Southwestern-at-Memphis for their working honor systems.

BLUE AIR

The country's newest teapot tempest is the Zenith vs. the rest of the industry television brawl. In a scramble that TVless MCers hardly need to worry over just now, Admiral Radio counter-charged Zenith with misrepresentation after the latter had loudly come out with a new product.

Heart of the matter is Zenith's UHF gadget—supposedly to make it easier for telefans to switch their sets to UltraHighFrequencies if and when stations do. Admiral contends their machine is out of date with its VFH (Very HF) since there has been no indication of stations chinging any time soon.

Anyway, only the public stood to lose in either case.

Echo Forum

Dear Editor:

I wish to express my appreciation of the study your staff made of the mind of the Campus as to Special Studies. I thought it very well worked out and very fair in its approach.

I should like to say just a word in reply to one impression that the article may have seemed to leave as to the inadequacy of our library. Among liberal arts colleges our library holds high rank both because of its resources and because of its organization. It is true that not all fields are equally well provided; that, in some cases, is because of the newness of the field. When I visit a college or university campus I try always to see its library as thoroughly as possible, and I come away invariably feeling that our library is highly creditable.

Part of the confusion seems to be in the viewpoint that our library is not adequate for research. And, of course, that is true if the word is being used in the sense of advanced investigation into primary source materials. No undergraduate college library is equipped for that. But our Special Studies program is not a research program; it was not conceived and it has been said from its beginning that it is not a research program. Many of our studies may, it is true, lead to interesting and even original findings, and that will be fine, but that is not the object. The object is to introduce the student to and familiarize him with method: how to find and use books and articles, how to limit and control a subject, how to organize and write a report of the materials gathered, and how to provide the paper with the apparatus of notes and references which are the usage of scholarly writing. All of this has special usefulness for those who go on to graduate and professional schools, but it has, also, very practical values for every educated person.

Thank you for space and patience.

Sincerely,
Edwin R. Hunter

Sports Echoes

●HIT AND RUN plays carefully executed under the all-seeing observation and crisp, clear criticism of Coach Honaker, Maryville's masterman of baseball, formed the testing program this week for the soon-to-be-in-action Scottie baseball squad. Throttling the fire-ballers down to a steady, straight throw, Coach Honaker lined up his batsmen. This was Monday.

Things looked good as Raymond "Babe" Keny socked a long one in centerfield for a homer. Up stepped a freshman, angled hit bat out, took a stance, and swung. The ball ricocheted off the bat like water out of a nozzle, ripping straight by Coach's shins through a line of players into the wall of Alumni gym. Holding hot words at bay, Coach Honaker kicked at the ground and stolidly announced, "Two more like you. . . .and I'll quit baseall."

●BUT THE SUN shone a bit hotter and brighter Wednesday as Coach Honaker, pacing before the bat line, again waxed epigrammatical. McClendon, promising second baseman, had just smote a fireball toward centerfield which cut through Bob Boring's legs, allowing McClendon a one base hit. "Awful hard, McClendon. . . .went through Bob's legs a mile a minute or better", the Scot ball captain commented in half-praise fashion.

Anxious for Valentine to do an acceptable bunt, Coach allowed him five tries, calling back each third strike on grounds that "the Pope annulled that one." But Erasmus Fowler, presiding umpire, finally boomed forth, "Sixth strike, you're out!" After the inning changed, Neff cleared the bases with a three base hit, and attempted to come home on Smith's "signal"—an unintentional movement which found Neff redfaced midway between third and home looking amazedly at Coach Honaker. After that, Boring's bat connected for a homer, L. A. Campbell took a lucky blow, and Baldwin blasted a homer to top the afternoon. "That's enough. . . pitcher's getting tired," Coach declared as he retired the side in his "play it this way, situation game."

●JUST ANOTHER week and Coach Johnson's tennismen will be opening the coming season on the road—tentatively next Friday at Carson-Newman. Until then, the first six will be busy players attempting to hold down the ladder subordinates. With the team split wide-open in the absence of a majority of last season's first line, the up-and-comers should place heavily in the varsity line.

●A NOTRE DAME shift, a systematic swing from T formation into the old reliable single-wing is the newest thing on Wilson field. If the team spirit can hold up until the final grudge battle next Tuesday or Wednesday, the pigskin may rest in peace until autumn leaves fall. Most welcome signal: "Six minutes' intermission, get some water." That was Coach Davis' orders during a scrimmage routine Thursday until a blistering sun.

●DISCUS, SHOT, AND JAVELIN enthusiasts—predominately first-day-outers—gave bystanders, if nobody else, an indication that some field events may not be overlooked in coming track outings. At near week's end, track managers' records gave indications that Bill Proffitt, discus, and Richard Gerke, javelin, were the only men definitely out to compete in these respective field events.

Y DOWNS ATHENIAN, 16-9

Y stomped Athenian, 16-9, on a 17-hit batting attack in a game played Tuesday on the Court Street field. Don Hyatt and Dave Yeaworth lashed out homers to get Y off to a 10 run lead in the first two innings. Hyatt led both teams with four hits followed by McNeil who garnered three; Charles Williams aided the Athenian's cause by smashing two triples in successive times at bat and scoring three runs in a well fielded game.

CREAMERS BOP WARRIORS

Creamers scalped Happy Warriors, 29-8 in a game with 18 men stampeding across home plate in the fifth inning. Jumping off to a quick 7-0 lead they were never headed as they took advantage of the misplays of the green Warriors.

Every man on the Creamers team scored at least three times with Sam Taylor crossing the home base three times. Nelson Forrester pitched good ball as did his opponent, Warren Banks, but the former had good fielding behind him as support while the latter's outfield managed to catch only one ball during the whole fray. Pigskin Practice Ends Wednesday In Squad Tangle

On Wednesday afternoon spring football practice will come to a climax with its annual inter-squad game. The team has been split up into two squads of equal strength each led by a captain who will be chosen later.

Up to now two high school boys, Upton and Reneau, have been giving regulars a great deal of competition in putting on an excellent show of running and blocking. On the other hand, Tubby Callaway and Charlie Allen have been backfield headliners also while Lester, Isenberg, Davis, Larson, Andes, Palmer and McKee have been the mainstays in the line.

King-Birds of Local Sports Scene Enjoy Talk, Kibitzing

By Tom Weide

Ordinary birdlife at Maryville features plenty of brilliant, tufted cardinals and bluejays, rainloving robins and loud-mouthed sparrows.

The king-bird of the local sports scene, though, is the garrulous, gregarious "railbird", the kibitzing onlooker at varsity practices. A more or less enterprising Echo legman has been watching the watchers a little bit lately and has some trivia to report, viz:

1. In general, students watching athletic practice find the sport itself less interesting than personal conversation.

2. The observers usually seem to know a gub-rate deal about "how Czschglowczaj should have played that last one."

3. The onlookers are as interesting as the athletes.

Diamond Dust

Picture yourself now at the baseball field Wednesday afternoon at 4:30. Twenty railbirds are behind the screen back of the plate, and a few more are near the player-packed bench.

Future ball stars, diamonds in the rough, are scattered all over the rough diamond. Coach Lombe Honaker is also all over the field, saying, "All right, now let's say there is one out. I know there are two out, but go ahead. Let's get it right this time." Spectators are amazed now to see a freakish "triple play," which of course doesn't count when two are out.

Meanwhile Tom Cramer is behind the screen, holding forth in a very interesting manner about the old Pittsburgh Pirate stars.

"Pound for pound the Waner brothers are the best ballplayers ever," he says, to agreement; then we all look up as Boring hits a home run.

Pole-Vault Pit

Well, that does it; we move on to the pole-vault pit in deep right field. On the way we watch Eugenia Rice dodge a high foul ball—bling commotion.

At the pit a railbird is ribbing Coach Kenneth Johnson thus: "Hey, Coach, ya got anybody that can do seven feet?"

Johnson replies, "Yeah, I can do seven feet," and he proves it. Danny Sheffield and some others go a little higher than that then, as we smile approval and move on, through air filled with advices, comments, and jokes.

Corniest wit of the day nearly floors Jim Thurston just about now. Jim Allison says (among other, better remarks) that he might go out for track if he got steak dinners like Thurston did at the state meet. The puns come up here on words like steak, state meat, etc.

Tennis stars usually play to an audience, too, but we can't print a lot of the kibitzer's individual comments. Most onlookers are wanting to play themselves, or are watching some particular player with admiring eyes. We might well use a few more tennis courts, according to many weary waiters.

Well, folks, nothing startling happens on a typical spring day of athletic practice, but we do invite you all out. If you don't like the sports, there are always the spectators. And all the world is a stage.

Diamond Team Opens With Hiwassee Monday

Coach Lombe Honaker put the finishing touches on his probable starting nine yesterday and set the Highlander diamond sights toward the opening of a 23 game schedule Monday with Hiwassee on the home field.

Within next week, the Scot baseball club, weather permitting, will challenge opponent nines five times on the home diamond beginning with Hiwassee Monday, Miami University of Ohio Thursday and Friday, and closing Saturday with a double-header against Western North Carolina State Teachers College. Probable game time Monday is 3 p.m.

Second Base Indefinite

Except for a question mark over second base, 1948's nine, which took 11 wins, 8 losses and a tie, will be stationed on the Highlander diamond for the re-

Following is the probable starting batting order for Monday's game with Hiwassee:

Neff, rf
Buckley, 3b
Hamil, cf
Boring, ss
Thomas or Pentz, 1b
Baldwin, lf
Reynolds, c
Thomas, 2b

With this order Pentz may move from right field to first base to be replaced by Bob Neff. The starting pitcher will bat last in the line.

feree's call. At second, a number of possibilities are open for Coach Honaker. Harry Trotter, Everett High luminary, Tom McClendon, and Bob Neff are possible starters. McClendon and Trotter are freshmen and Neff is a veteran of two seasons, having served as reserve outfielder and auxiliary man last season.

Woody Thomas, w ohstepped in at first to win a letter last year, will guard the first sack. Bob Boring, considered Maryville's heaviest batsman, starts in his third year at shortstop. Jack Buckley will return to open a second year at third base.

Probable outfielders to start Monday include Benton Baldwin, left fielder with previous experience last season; in center field, Hugh Hamil, leading batter last year, will begin watching the garden fo ra third year while Walter Pentz, another three-year player, takes up again at right field.

Pitchers Plentiful (?)

On the mound, pitchers—at least for the early part of the week—are plentiful. With an eye to saving pitching power until later in the probable five-game week, Coach Honaker may start one of five veterans—Eramus Fowler, Dick Rowley, Ross Honaker, Ray Lillard and Leon Berrong—and use any of the other four as relief with five rookies in reserve. Jim Hawkins, Jim Kren. George Lowe, Russell Peters, and William Waters are the frosh material.

Hawkins and Kren may see early action.

Behind the plate, catchers Gene Reynolds and Jim Baird will shoulder the home plate responsibilities with Reynolds receiving the opening nod.

The Hiwassee nine, under Coach Al Thomas, is known to have a number of hold-overs from the team that whipped the Scots 6-2 in a second meeting after rain settled a 2-2 tie on the opening game. A pitcher, Mitchem, responsible for last year's upset, will likely start on the mound for Hiwasseemen. Other hold-over starters include shortstop Burns, Hatley, first baseman, North, centerfield, and Turpen, catcher.

Trackmen Toil Thru Tribulations

Scot trackmen in their second week of organized practice went through five days of conditioning and calesthenics in preparation for time trials when Coach John A. Davis takes over on Thursday.

Coach Johnson put the team through their paces this week stressing a minimum of 12 laps around the oval with prescribed "high knee action" to develop power in the legs. Davis will take charge of the potential runners as soon as spring football practice is over, probably by Thursday of next week.

Track Being Repaired

The track is undergoing an extensive "face-lifting" under the supervision of Ernest C. Brown, college engineer. New screened cinders are being spread on the track, and the course is due for a scraping and rolling job before the season's first meet with TPI here, April 22.

Potential field men—pole vaulters, jumpers, javelin, and shot men—made every afternoon a field day this week. Danny Sheffield led the pole vaulting parade joined by "Tubby" Callaway, 47 performer, in football togs. This was the first week of organized practice in the field events

Echo learned this week that the Scottie track squad may enter a duel meet with the University of Tennessee, according to Coach Davis. Negotiations are in progress for arranging a suitable date, but a meet is by no means definite.

Questioned on the possibility of the track team being unavailable for participation in the TIAC meet in Knoxville May 15 because of possible exam conflicts, Coach Davis stated that so far nothing has been cleared through the curriculum office.

I-M Staff Adopts New Rule Changes

Meeting in extra session, the intramural staff took steps this week to improve regulations governing softball play and policy in the recently-revised award system.

Two new softball rulings were made at the I-M manager's meeting this week—1. each team in the softball league will have to have eight players on the field before it may start a game, and 2. baseball shoes will be permitted.

I-M Handbook Proposed

The intramural staff, headed by senior intramural manager Fred Richardette, began to work this week on a proposed intramural handbook under the direction of Coach Kenneth P. Johnson. The handbook, planned for publication next September, will set forth the rules and requirements for the individual and team intramural activities. The point system, which was recently revised, will be set up and rated in the publication.

Winning teams—that is, individual team members—will not be awarded points toward an intramural award other than what they as team members received for participation in tallying total individual points for the season, according to a statement by Coach Johnson this week. This is a change from the ssytem inaugurated a week ago which awarded winning teams both points and ribbons.

Emphasis On Participation

The new change is designed to place emphasis on participation while according recognition to winning teams. "Each intramural participant should check the tally board posted in the intramural office to see if his participation in varsity and intramural sports is recorded correctly," Johnson urged.

It was further pointed out that individuals who may be in line for an award this spring, but who lack a few necessary points, will have opportunity to gain needed points by placing in the intramural track and swimming meets.

DEBATE TRIP . . . .

son-Newman, second in after dinner at Nashville, first in after dinner and second in oratory at Hickory. She and Katherine Carpenter placed first in individual women's teams.

Miss Corbett prefers individual speaking to other phases of debating. On the current question, Miss Corbett states "Both sides have plenty to argue!"

Katherine Carpenter

Katherine Carpenter, a senior Pi Kappa Delta member from Memphis, Tenn., started debating in her junior year. She and her colleague, Dorothy Stater, won three out of four debates at the Smoky Mountain Tourney and made first place in the State Tourney. Miss Carpenter placed second in impromptu at Carson-Newman. She also took part in the South Atlantic Debate.

Miss Carpenter likes to tell about the time, after a stirring and convincing argument in favor of federal aid to education, she summarized her case by stating that the Federal Government should adopt a policy of federal world government (last year's proposition!)

Lindsay, Evans

Carl Lindsay, junior from Honesdale, Pa., has been a member of varsity debate for three years. He debated at Hickory and ranked fifth as individual speaker at Boone. "The affirmative side is, DEBATE—Con't. by far, the proper one," says Lindsay.

Lewis Evans, a sophomore from Binghampton, New York, debated at Smoky Mountain Tourney and Nashville where he and James Torrey ranked second in the debate. Evans likes to relate the incident in which their opponents based their whole case on statistics, and in reference to Evans and Torrey's few statistics, stated that Mark Twain classed lies in three categories: lies, damn lies and statistics. The negative reply was "all right then, if that's the case, you have no case and we win by having half a case."

In reference to the current question, Evans states that "one might say—it's debatable!"

Kramer, Breen

Elinor Kramer, a sophomore from Maryville, debated two years in high school and was a member of N.F.L. She took part in debates at Appalachian, Sewanee, Carson-Newman and Nashville. Ten victories are to her credit. Miss Kramer is particularly interested in debate and enjoys the fellowship as well.

Judy Breen, sophomore from West Palm Beach, Florida, participated in the Appalachian Tournament and received first place in impromptu speaking, in which she is especially interested. Debate itself and oratory, but most of all meeting the students from other schools, are her special interests.

Miss Breen is still trying to forget the time she found herself in the middle of a practice speech minus half her note cards. On the current question Miss Breen states "I believe that the schools of the U. S. are in need of aid, but I don't believe that this aid should be given by the federal government in the form of grants. Such a federal program is too vast an undertaking to prove efficient."

Saul, Fowler

Stuart Saul, junior from Mt. Holly, New Jersey, debated at Hickory, N. C., and placed third in debate at the Appalachian Tourney. Saul believes that "a careful study should be made of the states' progress and ability to finance an improved educational system before any federal aid is granted."

Eramus Fowler, sophomore from Fort Gaines, Georgia, debated in high school and was on freshman debate here. When asked whether federal aid to education should be granted, Fowler replied, "No."

Dorothy Stater

Dorothy L .Stater, junior from Trenton, Michigan had two years debating experience in high school. This season, she debated at Carson-Newman where two out of four debates were won, and at Nashville where six out of seven were won.

Miss Stater is particularly interested in oratory. Pertaining to the current question, Miss Stater ventures the opinion, "the difficulty in the question of federal aid to education is the responsibility of answering yes or no."

INTRAMURALS—

CREAMERS FELL ATHENIANS,

Creamers let up on their opponents, the Athenians, 17-9, as they won their second game of the week after winning their first 29-9. No score was kept at this game, thus no information can be given on the individual notes.

Batteries: Creamers— Forrester and Taylor.

Athenians—Kees and Thiesse.

Intramural softball schedule for the week of March 28-April 2 follows:

Tuesday: 1. BOB's vs. Hotshots
2. Alpha Sigma vs Eight balls

Wednesday: 1. Alpha Sigma vs Y.
2. BOB's vs Athenian

Note of games: Varsity baseball— Monday with Hiwassee, Thursday with Miami University —foreclosed the I-M softball schedule for those days. Games originally scheduled for those dates will be played later when the field is open and will consist of five inning double-headers.

Number 1 games start at 3:45 on the field adjacent to Court Street; Number 2 games start at 3:45 on the golf course. Games must last at least seven and one half innings before they can be counted.

BALLS BEAT HOTSHOTS, 8-2

Harold Ammons lashed out a triple with two men as he led the Eightballs to their second win of the week walloping Hotshots 8-2 Friday. Giving up only four hits, Ammonds was never in trouble in the well fielded game.

Y Minstrel Show Date Set For Next Saturday

YM-YW will sponsor a minstrel show April 2, at 8 p.m. in Alumni Gymnasium. The script, written by Jim Lester and Bob Larson, will be directed by Ray Holsey.

Jim Black, Bill Nish, Bob Larson, and Jim Lester are the End Men. Ray Holsey is the Minstrel's Interlocutor.

Divided into acts the following events will take place. There will be songs by the End Men, the Interlocutor, June Holsey, and the Four Black of Spades Harmony composed of Dave Yeaworth, Hap Brahams, Wesley Miles, and Dick Dosker.

Also in the performance will be the Mills Brothers, Alan Rock, Fred Kluth, and Bob Neff, and a dance by Lois Deobler.

All male chorus is composed of members of the Men's Glee Club. Dick Ribble will play the piano.

Bulletin Board Theme Built On Echo Activity

Day-by-day analysis of The Highland Echo's activity forms the library wall display this week. Since Tuesday one Thaw bulletin board has explained work done each weekday by campus journalists and has shown samples of written work and pressroom materials.

Simple explanation accompanies examples of first-copy yellow-paper work, printed proofs, a photographic cut, and ad mat, a linoleum block (Talk of the Week), a story set up in linotype, and a copy of The Echo.

Elizabeth Turner To Speak To Vols Sunday

Elizabeth E. Turner will be the speaker at Student Volunteers Sunday night, March 27. As East Central Area Foreign Missions Secretary of the USA Presbyterian Church, she will be prepared to answer any questions students may have regarding the mission field.

himself, she relents and promises to elope that night.

Act II finds the Captain explaining to Buttercup that, owing to their different ranks, they can never be more than friends. "Things Are Seldom What They Seem," she warns him mysteriously. Sir Joseph tells Josephine that in his official opinion love levels all ranks. He thinks he's persuaded her to marry him, but his arguments only strengthen her intention to run away with Ralph, "Never Mind the Why and Wherefore."

Deadeye Squeals

"Kind Captain, I've Important Information," Dick tattles to the Captain. When the elopers enter, "Carefully on Tiptoe Stealing," the Captain confronts them with outraged dignity. Sir Joseph, apprised of the situation, furiously orders Ralph dungeoned. "Farewell, My Own," the lovers sing; but Buttercup steps in to solve the mystery and reunite all the loving pairs.

It seems that Buttercup was baby-sitting the Captain and Ralph when they were babies and she a young nurse and, being flighty, she mixed the babies up. So the Captain is really the common sailor, and Ralph is the Captain.

Production is supervised by Don Whelan, and the set is constructed by Jim Townsend. Costumes, make-up and properties are handled by Wilma Robinson, and J. A. Cameron is lighting engineer. Beverly Moore is managing publicity.

Dramatic Fraternity Initiates New Member

Ruthellen Crews, Maryville senior, has been initiated into Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity. She completed requirements for membership in December, and has just finished her week of initiation.

Names of additional students who have been accepted for membership will be announced later this spring. Membership in MC's Delta Chapter of this fraternity is based upon number of points earned in the fields of acting, staging, business, and writing.

The cast of the Theta Alpha Phi spring production, "Wuthering Heights," began rehearsal this week.

Y's Sponsor Minstrel Show Tonight At 8 P.M.

GIVEN TO WORLD STUDENT SERVICE FUND ENTIRE PROCEEDS OF MINSTREL SHOW

YM-YW sponsored Minstrel Show curtain will rise tonight at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Gymnasium with the singing of "Maryville Minstrels" by the entire chorus. The script is the original work of Jim Lester and Bob Larson and will feature Ray Holsey as Interlocutor.

This year's performance will include many specialty numbers. The Mills Brothers of "Gospel Boogie" fame will stage a comeback with "I've Got My Love To Keep Me Warm". "Cotton" Easter will be welcomed back into the original quartet by Bob Neff, Alan Rock, and Fred Kluth.

A mystery-shrouded novelty number will be done by the team of Newlley and Holland. The twosome of Jody Richardson and Gracie Scruggs will harmonize on "Sewanee" while Jim Frost readies "Short'nin' Bread."

Ray Holsey will render "Temptation" and Lois Doebler dances to "Josephine." A second quartet composed of Jim Akin, John Shew, John Morrison, and Bill Houdeshel will combine their voices on "The Old Songs."

Accompanists will be Dick Ribble and Johnny Sayre on the piano. End men will be Jim Black, Bob Larson, Bill Nish, and Jim Lester.

Background music will be provided by an all male chorus of the Men's Glee Club and the Vesper Choir.

The whole production will be under the direction of Ray Holsey assisted by Bob Holley as House Manager. Stage Managers are Howard Cameron, Ruth Heaps, and Dave Campbell. Property Committee is Laurie Dale and Judy Breen; make-up, Wanda Onifer and Wally Moore. Ushers are Roger Cowan, Nikki Hart, Craig Fisher, and Phyl Jackson.

The entire proceeds of the Minstrel Show are to go to the World Student Service Fund.

Societies Present 'H.M.S. Pinafore'

500 See G&S Comic Opera In Alumni Gym

Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore," was given by the four societies to an audience of about 500 people last Saturday night.

The program was sponsored by the Social Committee. Production was adapted and directed by Jim Dance. The cast itself was almost entirely composed of comparative newcomers to MC's stage.

As the play began, the crew of the Pinafore sang "We Sail the Ocean Blue." From then on, the audience was treated to the popular comic musical numbers by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Gloria Measamer, as Little Buttercup, sang the well known "I'm Called Little Buttercup" and "He Loves Little Buttercup." Charles Williams as Captain Corcoran sang "I Was the Captain of the Pinafore" and with Gloria sang "Things Are Seldom What They Seem."

Harold Hunter, portraying Ralph Backstraw, sang "A Maiden Fair To See." Ruth Humes as Josephine sang "Sorry Her Lot Who Loves Too Well." Together, Josephine and Ralph sang "Refrain, Audacious Tar."

Arthur Haaf, portraying Sir Joseph Porter, sang "When I Was a Lad" and "I'm the Monarch of the Sea." Wanda Onifer as Hebe, Sir Joseph and his relatives sang "Never Mind the Why and Wherefore."

First Since '39

Craig Fisher, as Dick Deadeye, and Charles Williams sang "Kind Captain, I've Important Information" and together with the sailors and relaitves sang "Carefully On Tiptoe Stealing." "Farewell, My Own" was sung by Ralph, Josephine, Sir Joseph, Boatswain, Dick, Hebe, Butercup, and Chorus. "Let's Give Three Cheers" and "For He Is an Englishman" were sung by the Company.

As the audience entered, they found themselves looking over the deck of "H.M.S. Pinafore," the setting of the opera, and toward the shore. Off to one side was another battleship and farther rearward was a glimpse of Portsmouth. Rising behind our town was Anderson Tower from which proudly waved the Union Jack. Programs were distributed by Chorus members.

This production was the first Gilbert and Sullivan opera since 1939 when the combined glee clubs presented "The Sorcerer." Plans are underway to sponsor another Gilbert and Sullivan opera next year.

ART CLUB PLANS TRIP

Art Club will not have its usual meeting on Monday, but is planning instead a sketching trip to the mountains on April 10.

Recital Features Smith, Measamer

Student Recital, Tuesday, March 29, featured five music students in vocal and piano numbers. Mary Holly Webb played "Toccata and Fugue in D minor," by Bach. Two Chopin numbers were given: "Waltz in E flat minor," presented by Mary Lee Snodderly; and "Nocturne," played by Carol Barnett.

Evalyn Smith and Gloria Measamer each presented a two-part vocal program, fullfilling requirements for their Sophomore recitals. Miss Smith, accompanied by Louise Lloyd, sang "Three Chansons," arranged by Weckerlin; "Je suis Titania" from the opera "Mignon" by Thomas; "Knock on the Door" by Crist; "Dawn" by Hall; "Lorana" by Dett; Kingsforth's selection, "Wallpaper"; and "Musetta's Waltz," from "La Boheme" by Puccini.

The selections presented by Miss Measamer were "Slumber Beloved," from Bach's Christmas Oratorio; "Ardent Longing," by Ahle; "Bright Phoebus," by Hook; Ravel's "Chanson Espagnole"; "Obessions quand leur voix," from "Manon," by Massanet; and "Twilight Dreams," by Sibella.

Dr. Baird Speaks In Tuesday Chapel

Head of Presbyterian Church On Tour

Dr. Jesse H. Baird, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, USA, will speak in chapel on Tuesday, April 5. Chapel will be at 9:45 and morning classes will meet according to the schedule used during February Meetings.

Dr. Baird has been speaking throughout the United States and Europe this past year, and will be in the South for three days this week. On Tuesday he will speak here and in Knoxville, Wednesday he goes to Birmingham, and on Thursday he will be in Atlanta.

CLASS SCHEDULE

Now president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, Cal., Dr. Baird has been a minister in the West for a number of years. He was elected moderator of the General Assembly last May at the meeting in Seattle. This is the highest elective office in the Presbyterian Church.

He was a delegate to the World Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian Churches in Geneva, Switzerland, and the World Council of Churches in Holland.

Teachers And Guests Banquet In Pearsons

Over 250 Blount County Teachers were present at their banquet last night in Pearsons Dining Hall. Invited guests included the PTA presidents of Blount County, members of Blount County School Board, and other members of the education association.

Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr., Pastor of First Methodist Church, was the guest speaker.

Students representing various schools in the county presented a musical program. Some of these were a trio from Lanier High, three numbers sung by the Everett High A Capella choir of about 50 voices, a solo by Don Brakebill from Porter High, and some Al Jolson imitations given by Miss Tipton from Townsend.

C-N Inaugurates President Fite

Dr. Daniel Harley Fite will be inaugurated president of Carson-Newman College Saturday morning, April 2. Dr. Fite is the 18th president of Carson-Newman.

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will speak at the morning inaugural ceremonies. At noon a luncheon will be given, and in the afternoon there will be a reception.

Johnson, Sieber Join For Recital

Fred Sieber, pianist, and Linnea Johnson, soprano, presented their Junior Recitals last night at 8 p.m. in the Chilhowee Club House.

Miss Johnson sang the following numbers: "La Musette" by Rameau; "O del mio dolce ardor" by Gluck; "La Fortuna" by Scarlatte, "Widmung," "Sonntags am Rhein" by Shumann, and "Abschenlicher! wo eilst du hin?" by Beethoven, in German. She concluded her program with "None He Loves But Me" by Eckert; "To the Queen of Heaven" by Dunhill; "Evening Song" by Harris; "Ma Little Banjo" by Dichmont; and "Dawn Shall Over Lethe Break" by Hazemant.

Sieber played Beethoven's "Sonata"; "Etude" by Chopin; and with Miss Alice Archibald at second piano, the first movement of "Concerto in B flat minor" by Tschoikowsky.

Fine Arts Center Status Clarified By President Lloyd

Construction on Maryville's new Fine Arts Center will begin late this summer according to the building schedule announced this week.

President Ralph W. Lloyd has released to The Highland Echo the following statement:

"Preliminary plans for the Fine Arts Center have been approved and working drawings are being prepared by Schweikher and Elting, of Chicago. The time schedule now calls for completion of the working drawings by early June and the submission of bids about July. If building conditions are satisfactory we hope that construction can be started in late summer. There is still considerable economic uncertainty in our country and no one can forsee conditions of materials and labor, but we are aiming at this schedule.

"The Fine Arts Center will be located on the open ground which now constitutes part of the golf course at the north corner of the campus, across the roads from Baldwin Hall and the Chapel site, toward the Southern R. R. station. The building will be of brick with extensive use of plate glass on the north and east sides and in the foyer of the auditorium. Selected woods will appear in several interior uses.

"The design is distinctively contemporary and functional. Overall length of the building from southwest to northeast is about three hundred feet (the length of a football field) and there are three perpendicular wings. The height will be one and two stories.

"The plans provide teaching studios for Music and Art, classrooms, music practice rooms, an art gallery, art work rooms, a fine arts library, offices, a lounge with kitchenette, radio control room, band and orchestra rehearsal rooms, a small auditorium seating about 275 for music recitals and concerts, and an outdoor theater. The facilities for dramatic art and choir rehearsal will be on the ground floor of the Chapel, which is to be a separate building.

"The Fine Arts Center will be a memorial to Ann Baldwin Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Lloyd of Chicago, who died sudenly the day after our Chapel burned two years ago."

Fred Hope Fund Lacks $238.00

$1489.70 has been paid to the Fred Hope Fund, leaving $238.30 still to be turned in. Payments will be received at the Printing Office on the first floor of Anderson any time during this week and next.

Mary Edna Smith, recipient of the current fund, is now located at the True Light Middle School, Canton, China. Following are excerpts from a recent letter.

"Canton is a large capital city, being the capital of Kwangtung province. Paak Hok Tung is an island. We take a launch to go back and forth to the mainland. The school is on Paak Hok Tung, so I only go over to the city to shop, English Church, see some of my friends, etc.

"The True Light Middle School is a very fine school. I am not sure how many students we have, but believe it is in the neighborhood of 600. I am teaching 14 hours of English a week, also have an hour each of volley ball, baseball, and basketball, plus a half hour of calisthenics and games at Shung Kui, which is a Bible training school for women who are going to be what we might call a form of D.R.E. (Director of Religious Education). All of these things give me more contact with the students. I also have a Christian Fellowship group on Sunday evenings. Last week I had nine in the class, only one of the group already being a Christian. The language here is the Cantonese dialect, so the few words I had learned in Mandarin aren't doing me any good. However one of the Shung Kui girls knows a little English and so can interpret for me."

Workshop's 'Chips' Soon Forthcoming

Chips, annual publication of Writer's Workshop, will go on sale soon. Actual date of sale will be announced later.

This year's Chips contains short stories by Marian Pope, Elizabeth H. Jackson, Thomas Wheeler, Martha Cecil Hull, and Arthur Bushing; poetry by Anna Sakaizawa, Craig Fisher, and Marian McBride; and a character sketch by Esther Cornelius Swenson.

MC Represented At TCA Meeting

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, Dean Frances Massey, and Mrs. Thelma Kramer will represent the College at the annual meeting of the Tennessee College Association in Nashville, April 7. Andrew Jackson Hotel is headquarters for the meeting.

The Association discusses problems of Christian and secular colleges and universities throughout the State. David S. Lockmiller, head of the University of Chattanooga, is president of the group.

Cowan Announces Dance Committees, Skit Contest Rules

Roger Cowan, president of the Social Board, appointed Margaret Newland as Chairman of Committees for the Spring Formal at the last meeting of the Board. Those heading sub-committees are Katherine Carpenter, tickets; Helen Hair, refreshments; William Holt, publicity; and Alan Fort, decorations.

The Dance Band under the direction of Charlie Huffman is now rehearsing.

Skit Contest Rules

Cowan has also announced a set of four rules to be followed concerning the Annual Skit Contest on April 23:

1) No society shall spend more than five dollars. 2) Skits to be presented shall be presented to and approved by the Student-Faculty Committee on Programs. 3) Skits must not exceed the 15-20 minute time limit. 4) Participants must be members of the society presenting the skit.

Judges will be representatives of the Faculty and townspeople. A Social Board sub-committee will furnish the background scenery on which the society may elaborate.

Board members will hear the new Y presidents discuss plans for Student Center Concessions agreements at the next meeting.

Experimental Theatre Picks Classics 'Frogs,' 'Katharine, Patruchio'

Experimental Theatre raises its curtain on "Katharine and Patruchio" and "The Frogs" next Saturday evening at 7:15. Both are to be produced in Bartlett auditorium.

A second complete performance of the plays will be presented at nine o'clock.

"The Taming of the Shrew" is the source of the first play— an adaptation of the Shakespeare comedy with all plots except that of K & P removed. Bill Starr is director.

Aristophanes' "The Frogs" is an adaptation of two English translations of the early Greek comedy by its director, Jim Dance.

Mary Mitchell Wooldridge and David Reed are the Katharine and Patruchio team. In the cast are Jack Reid, George Day, John Mills, Mary Taylor Hicks, and others.

Wallace Moore is Bacchus in "The Frogs," and Charles Parvin is the overburdened Xanthius. In addition to the traditional Greek chorus are characters played by Don Reeves, Joe Poland, Joe Claud, Bill Carter, and others.

Watt, Calloway Succeed To Vice-Presidential Positions For 1949-50

Dorothy Holverson and Bill Chalker were elected in yesterday's YM-YW elections to head the two organizations for next year. Ballotting also put into YW offices Mary Watt as vice-president, Janet Cummings, secretary, Mary Wills as treasurer, and Judy Breen, Nu Gamma leader. YM electees are Henry "Tubby" Callaway, vice-president, Jim Lester, secretary, Jack Buckley, treasurer, and Dave Reed, advisory board member

These officers will form cabinets for next year before the annual Y Retreat, and will be installed before the end of this semester.

President Dorothy Holverson is an English major from Monticello, Ind. She is 1949 Chilhowean Editor. Miss Holverson has been active in Radio Workshop and was secretary of YW this year. A member of Theta Alpha Phi, she was in the cast of "Merchant of Venice."

President Bill Chalker is a philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala. He was a member of the Druids at the University of Alabama, which he attended his freshman year. He is now president of the junior class and is a member of Student Council, and the Student-Faculty Senate.

Vice-president Mary Watt, education major from Maryville, is social chairman of Pi Gamma, and publicity chairman of the High Society.

Henry Callaway, vice-president, is a chemistry major from Maryville. A three-year letterman in football, he was captain of this year's wrestling team. Present president of MSO, Callaway is on Student Council and was Y treasurer for '48-'49.

Secretaries, Treasurers

Janet Cummings, secretary, is a pre-med student from Maryville. A Nu Gamma Leader, Miss Cummings is a member of Vesper Choir and Pi Gamma.

Jim Lester, secretary, is an economics major from Birmingham, Ala. Lester is a guard on the football team, has taken part in the Y minstrels for two years, was a last year's May Day attendant. A sophomore, he is a member of Student Council.

Treasurer Mary Virginia Wills, sociology major from Baltimore, Md., secretary of the freshman class here, is an active member of Student Vols. This past year she has served as program chairman of Bainonian.

Treasurer Jack Buckley, a biology major from East Butler, Pa.,

Soloists Named For 'Serenade,' Annual Musical

Six soloists have been chosen for "Springtime Serenade," big pop music show to be presented April 22 by All-Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club.

Maureen Owen, Mary Taylor Hicks, Don Hyatt, Kennedy Garrison, Wallace Moore, and Betty Field will handle solo work, with Moore and Field also scheduled for a duet.

This "Serenade" is the second annual show of its kind to be given here. W. Curtis Hughes, director and organist, says, "We'd like to make it a big event in secular music, comparable to the Mesiah in religious music."

Show-time is 8 p.m. Friday, April 22, in Alumni Gym. Admission will be 50 cents.

Choir and Glee Club have selected their program of songs from some of Broadway's best-known musical shows of past and present. Tunes from "Bittersweet," "Naughty Marietta," "Oklahoma," "The Desert Song," and "Great Day" will all be represented. Famous song-writers whose works will be used include Sigmund Romberg, Vincent Youmans, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Victor Herbert, and Jerome Kern.

Soloists

Soloists are all members of either All-Girl Choir or Men's Glee Club, and were selected from among 17 tryouts from Choir and Glee Club.

Experience of the six varies from maximum to minimum. Miss Owen, senior from Tennessee, is a 4-year choir veteran. Miss Hicks, also from Tennessee, is in her second year of choir work here.

Hyatt is a junior from Virginia; Garrison is a sophomore from Tennessee. Moore, sophomore, comes from Louisiana, and Miss Field, freshman, is a Pennsylvanian.

'49 CHILHOWEAN ARRIVES; HUFFMAN, ROCK COP HONORS

By Ruth Davis

Chilhowean mysteries were lifted Wednesday morning when the first year book was given out after chapel. Maragret Rock and Charles Huffman were proclaimed Girl and Boy of the Year, while "Angus" and a new Scotch plaid cover introduced the annual.

Margaret Rock is a senior English major from Ontario, Oregon. She is an honor student who has filled many campus offices. An active member in YWCA, she served as president this year. She was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and is a member of student council. "Margaret is the culmination of the qualities desired in the most outstanding women students. She is. . . .a sincere religious leader and a conscientious worker in all undertakings. . . ."

Charles Huffman is a music major from Maryville. An outstanding student in the music department, he has written many original compositions and has made musical arrangements for many campus programs. He has been a member of the Vesper Choir and orchestra for four years and the band for three years, the last of which he was drum major. He is also a Madrigal Singer. Huffman is director of the newly-formed dance band.

Early At Last

For the first time since the war Chilhoweans have arrived and have been distributed early. The date for distribution in the years before the war has usually been about April 10. This year with all Chilhowean copy in early and printing conditions favorable the books arrived on pre-war schedule.

Benson Publishing Company, who have printed the Chilhowean for many years, have set February 10, as the date for all copy to be in to the company offices. Because the deadline was met this year the Chilhowean received a discount of 9%, which amounted to over $260.

Total Cost

The total cost of printing this year's annual amounted to over $4000. Chilhowean is paid for by sale of page space, sale of books, and advertisements. With a total of 615 annuals printed, the proceeds from the books were about $2500.

Some itemized expenses for the year book are as follows: photo engraving—$1147; printing, $2600; photography, not including individual portraits, $150; miscellaneous, $75; freight, $16. Plain covers cost about $.60 per annual, while padded covers are about $.85. An expensive grade of paper, enameled 100 lb. per ream, is used.

The number of copies ordered determines the page rate. For 600 copies the cost per page of one color is about $14. Added color in th '49 Chilhowean cost an additional $100.

A bulletin board built around the production of the Chilhowean has been made, paralleling the preceding board about The Highland Echo.

Some People's Children–

Three letters to the editor of The Echo this week all of them dealing with the same subject—are clearly indicative of a general feeling on campus with respct to certain childish goings-on in recent Chapel services.

Echo policy has been consistently in support of better, more interesting, Chapel services; and most students will agree that our programs are much improved, especially with the introductoin of informative secular programs for the long service Thursday mornings.

The Administration is to be commended for recent programs such as those of Mr. Fenyves, Mrs. Welch, and Dr. Grant. It is time now for us of the student body to lend our whole-hearted cooperation to make Chapel something to be enjoyed instead of something to be borne five days a week.

—D.C.B.

The Right Idea In Chapel–

The recent visit of Dr. Donald Grant to our campus is a manifestation of the better Chapel program about which we spoke above. Dr. Grant's views, though eminently his own, seem to have been fair and unprejudiced. His formal talks in Chapel and his informal discussion periods were informative and enjoyable. The American people, especially those in colleges and universities, need some viewpoint on international affairs other than the strictly American one. Our compliments to Dr. Grant for a fine program.

—D.C.B.

Letters—and Letters–

Once again it becomes necessary to clarify the policy of The Echo with respect to letters to the editor. The four letters appearing on this page this week are letters dealing with subjects needing to be brought to the attention of the general student body, and for that reason they are willingly printed. The Echo reserves the right, however, to reject letters which, in the opinion of the editor, are not written on subjects of general interest. The editorial columns of any newspaper are not the place to air purely personal and private grudges against individuals or organizations, and for this reason letters of this nature will not be printed. We reiterate that The Echo gladly prints signed letters on any subject of general interest, without partisanship or bias.

—D.C.B.

Traffic Control–

The subject of Easter Sunrise Service is being talked on the campus again, and the biggest criticism of last year's service had nothing to do with the program in the ampitheatre in the college woods. Frequent comment concerns the fact that those who rose early for the service last year were crowded off the narrow road leading to the ampitheatre by townspeople and a few of the more fortunate students with automobiles. The Echo suggests that some form of pedestrian and traffic control be instituted for the forthcoming Easter service.

Sound & Fury

Maryville, April 1—(PU)

With the recently declared Easter holiday we decided to take a poll and find out just what the students planned to do with unexepcted spare time.

The following percentages were obtained by means of a thorough investigation:

23.7% plan to go home.

5.8% plan to hike to Kalamazoo, Mich.

40.6% are going to register at UT in order to continue studies without interruption.

10% intend to spend the holidays as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd and Louise.

.2% are remaining on the campus in order to receive their full money's worth out of the dining hall fee.

25.7% will spend their vacation searching for lost alarm clocks.

Of the students polled, some voiced particularly interesting arrangements. We are offering some of them for your consideration.

Dot Holverson will journey to Nashville to discuss plans for a special corrected edition of the 1949 Chilhowean in which Delmas Watson will become a senior.

Jim Lester and Bob Larson will spend the entire time in the college pool attempting to remove black make-up.

Paul Woodbury, Jr., plans to go to New York to cover a Life scoop on the famed Fifth Avenue Easter Parade.

Curtis Hughes will fly to Hollywood to complete arrangements for the filming of his musical extravaganza, "Springtime Serenade."

Dr. Lloyd and Dean McClelland are completing plans to spend all week in nearby FBI laboratories checking for fingerprints on the prodigal hymnbooks.

Margaret and Huffy will be in charge of Western Union temporarily in order to take care of the overflow of congrats.

Carroll Stegall will be busy developing prints of Gerry Hopkins' "Date Nite" picture for drooling Carnegie inhabitants.

The Choir Tree will still be trying to grow up to its rival which "Duz Did."

Pearsons waiters and waitresses will sigh sadly thinking of no extra trips to the kitchen for one whole week.

Ralph Thiesse probably will continue his ballet instructions, hoping for "bigger and better" performances next year.

In the poll taken, many students brought out suggestions for future Easter vacations. Some ideas and comments were:

Sid Lambert: "Longer Easter vacations would keep down college expenses."

Mae Meriwether—"No tests two weeks before and after holidays."

Jimmy Smith—"It should be celebrated with an all campus chili supper the night before we leave. Dr. Hunter and me can make the chili!"

Ruth Mason—"I think this desire is the result of over frustration on the part of the students."

Dr. Briggs—"These Spring holidays are fine because students come back with readjusted minds, ready for a fresh start on the "Marriage and Relations' Chapter.

Beverly Jacobi—"I think it would be swell next year if we had an Easter vacation at Thanksgiving too."

Dr. Grant—"One day off for Easter is a holiday. Two days off for Easter is a vacation, Three days off for Easter is incredible."

(All quotations are entirely concidental and any resemblance to pure fact is no fault of the reporters.)

Student Council–

Rejection of the Easter vacation recommendation was discussed at the Student Council's regular weekly meeting. Report was made that the faculty felt that it was unadvisable because of the lack of time and money on the part of the students. Another reason suggested was that many of the years' outstanding campus programs are presented during the Easter season.

Jim Black announced that the social board was investigating the matter of some organizations being allowed to have banquets while other requests are being refused.

Discussion was made of the advisability of limiting the number of concerts and programs held in Knoxville that students are atending. This matter was referred to the group by the Student-Faculty Senate. After discussion a committee was appointed to investigate the matter and report at the next meeting.

Black announced that the Town Night situation has improved greatly and pointed out that the loitering rules go into effect at 7:15 on campus and at 5:00 in town if you are signed-out on Town Night sheets.

Talk of The Week

DONALD REEVES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

DISNEY TAKES CAKE

Town Nighters this Tuesday at the Capitol will see Gary Cooper and Ann Sheridan in a sparkling comedy, "Good Sam." Racy dialogue and some pretty active comedy performances by its stars make the situations in "Good Sam" good entertainment for the evening.

Cake of the week is taken by Walt Disney's latest feature-length cartoon film, "So Dear to My Heart," showing Wednesday through Friday at the Capitol. Following the huge success of "Song of the South," Disney has produced this other film which mixes live action and animated cartoon characters. Based on a popular book, the film has lots of excellent photography and some of Disney's best cartooning.

Stars of "So Dear to My Heart" are cute Luana Paten and Bobby Driscol, who appeared in "Song of the South" and "Melody Time." Burl Ives gibers his way through a number of "ballads" but does right well as a sort of Western Uncle Remus.

CHILHOWEAN HITS BULLS-EYE

Next biggest thrill of the week came when Business Manager Joe Claud announced that Chilhoweans would be distributed. Biggest thrill came when they were.

Boasting excellent taste of Editor Dot Holverson and top-notch art work by Stuart Saul, the '49 Chilhowean became the campus best-seller in 20 minutes. The Adventures of Angus were more closely followed by MCers than Dick Tracy. Whether your cover was padded or not, up'n'coming '50 staffers will have to beat something to match the—you fill in the superlative—'49 Chilhowean.

BOOKS WIN OSCARS

Lamar Library's newest display features books that were made into movies that won Academy Awards. It's surprising how many Oscar-winning motion pictures first appeared on best-seller lists, especially "Gone With the Wind," which made nearly a total scoop in the 1939 race.

Sir Lawrence Olivier made quite a good haul with "Hamlet" in the '49 runnings. He was best actor, it was best pictures, etc. Poor old Bill Shakespeare didn't get an Oscar, though Larry remarked, "Bill puts out some pretty good scrips."

Olivia de Havilland, who starred in Mary Jane Ward's "Snake Pit," lost out to Jane Wyman for the leading actress of 1949.

Both "Hamlet" and "Snake Pit," as well as winning novels of previous years, are displayed in the library.

CULTURE HITS HIGH

Huge chunks of culture have been tossed at the campus in recent weeks. Following a poll-expressed wish for livlier Thursday chapels, MC administrators imported Gabriel Fenyves, pianist, Rosa Page Welch, soprano, and this week Donald Grant, British lecturer.

These personalities, especially Mrs. Welch, were indications of really talented specialists and only goes to show what fascinating chapels and programs can be planned. It's to be hoped that more appreciative listeners will act in better taste than planting alarm clocks, even for our own faculty members.

Worth more attention than they are given are student recitals, such as the Measamer-Smith recital last Tuesday in the Y-rooms. Some excellent musicianship, often unheard elsewhere, is presented in student recitals, and it is interesting to hear such well-performed classical numbers as Miss Measamer and Miss Smith did in addition to their work in operettas and student programs.

ECHO FORUM

To the Editor of The Echo:

It is disgusting and disgraceful when college students cannot mature in personalities and attitudes. The two incidents of chapel on Tuesday are conclusive facts of this lack of character on someone's part.

It is wrong enough to disrupt a speaker, but it is even worse when the subject is of a religious nature. Certainly one would not do a thing of that nature in a church or chapel.

Just because the services are held in a gym is no excuse that the same spirit of reverence should not prevail. More reverent happenings have taken place in more lowly places.

It is time some students stop trying to be "smart" and become intelligent. "When I was a child. . . . I thought as a child. . .; now that I am a man, I am done with childish ways."

Marian McBride

To the Editor of The Echo:

Are we attending chapel to praise God and obtain His blessing for each day as it begins or do we attend to be entertained by some few wits as at a three-ring circus?

If we go to chapel each morning to glorify God and seek His blessing, then these "Community children" are falling only slightly short of blasphemy. Christ tells us that "where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." think of such antics as are being performed in His presence. However, I do not condemn these few we have in mind, for they are merely the manifestation of a larger and more widespread spirit of indifference toward God.

Witness the recently well publicized demands for secular activities in the place of spiritual and worshipful activities in our chapel services. What has happened to that great spirit of Christianity which has come down through history and was held high by the Maryville College student body in the last century?

John A. Baxter

To the Editor of The Echo:

Last year after the class officers elections when I knew that I was going to be responsible for choosing the Daisy Chain this year, I started thinking about whom I would select. This summer I thought about it a lot, and I realized that the choice was going to be a difficult one.

When I came back to school last fall, I felt more and more that I was incapable of choosing the girls alone. Finally I decided to get a committee to help me. I felt that the other three class officers were the best representation of you, since you had elected them, and so I asked them to be my committee.

We spent many hours trying to make a good selection. Finally, this week, only too sorry that we had to leave out so many, we came to a decision by a vote of the four of us. We think that the girls who have been selected are a good representation of the class, and we hope that you too will feel that way.

I appreciate the opportunity I have had to serve the class in this way, and I am going to do all that I can to make the Daisy Chain this year one which the class will be proud of.

Sincerely,
Sarah Durant
Vice-president of the Junior Class.

To the Editor of The Echo:

May we be the first to recommend an innocent practical joke like burning down the administration building at Carson-Newman in celebration of a football victory, or frosting the diving board in the swimming pool with ground glass before the next meet, but let us maintain that a practical joke must have some finesse.

The worm-eaten old chestnut of alarm clocks in chapel has been in the fire too long. It has, may we say, all the finesse of a cold soup sandwich.

Perhaps last Tuesday's odious episode which provoked widespread disapprobation among chapel attenders was a manifestation of the expressed opinion of the student body that we need better chapel programs. We seniors, however, having been infused with tradition, find this latest assault upon society too revolutionary.

The steps taken by the faculty in recent weeks to improve the services have been considerably more effective; Mr. Fenyves and Mrs. Welch rendered programs of high quality educationally and inspirationally.

Honorable mention for fine short devotions in the past few weeks goes to Mr. Ainsworth and Professor Walker. Since the faculty are trying to meet the requests of the students, may we suggest they be given at least an even chance.

Lest we be further alarmed by another occurence of such as that occasioned by the asinine puerility of this week's self-ap-

●DUAL DOUBLE-HEADER DAYS—Starting at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the Highlander baseball nine began baseball's fashion of seven-day bicycle riding. And with the first inning of the first game with Miami of Ohio over, Coach Blue Foster had expended a pitcher. Hugh Hamil had knocked out a two-base hit and Wally Pentz had nailed down an amazing base hit on a pitch-out. And the Scots were in the lead, 4-0. By this time, Bob Boring approached the baseball manager, George McMahon, for a new bat. (Hamil split the last Louisville slugger number 35 on the aforementioned hit.) The two-day run, it seemed, would be successful if the Miamians' pitchers could last and Coach Honaker's bat supply were ample.

●TWO UP—Despite rain-soaked courts for most of the week, two men, Harold Hunter and Jerry Sayres found time to take a couple of notches on the ladder in first six placings this week. Hunter by-passed Dinges while Sayres moved up to number six in winning over Glen Knecht. With good weather for practice and playable home courts Coach Ken Johnson's varsity six will prepare for a trip to Tusculum Thursday.

●U-T's INVITATIONAL SWIM attracts six Orange and Garnet mermen for an afternoon and night run in Knoxville today. The Vols, Berea, and Eastern Kentucky Teachers of Richmond, Ky., will probably dominate the ribbon races, but Maryville's representation should have a good time splashing with Sewanee, Carson-Newman, and Milligan—three of the lesser powers. Jimmy Callaway, who last week broke the 50-yard free style for the varsity this year, is one of Maryville's six. Callaway wrestled out the winter sports season—allowing his aquatic talents to rust in the sweat of the wrestling room.

●BACK TO TRACK was the spirit Thursday as Coach J. A. Davis opened the handicaps in jumping. Footballers Alan Law and Charlie Allen, probably the fleetest backs of the past season, began to prime for the dashes along with other gridmen crossing over to the oval. Time will run heavy until April 22 when the Tennessee Tech track squad arrives for a dual meet on the Highlander home course. Meanwhile, weather or no weather, Coach Davis intends to have the Scottie ciderburners in shape.

●MUSINGS—Varsity tennismen took Thursday's pre-game 'holiday' working on the ping-pong tables, while nearby three Miami baseball players were finding tough going with Hal Wallace's table tennis tactics. . .Over at Knoxville today Coach Cy Anderson frosh baseball squad was to play Hiwassee in a preliminary to a Milligan-Vol feature—with Mitchem on the mound, the Vols may need their varsity to quel the Hiwasseans. . . . Down at Sewanee, star grid back, Duff Green was welcomed out for track after the halfback spent a weary winter with a bad knee from football. . . . And speedball merchant Leon Berrong looked like his old self on the mound for the first time yesterday. . . .

MARYVILLE TENNIS SQUAD BLANKS RAILSPLITTERS, 8-0

Maryville's varsity tennis string, six men strong, took six singles and two doubles games over Lincoln Memorial University's Railsplitter squad at Harrogate yesterday in an 8-0 triumph.

Wesley Miles and Ches Anderson, veterans of last year's team, opened with victories in the number one and three places respectively. Clyde McCampbell, Harold Hunter, and Jerry Sayres won initial single sets as varsity players and Glen Knecht, who had experience last year, completed the six straight singles victories in number six spot.

Warren, Peer, Blair Frick, Sam Collier, and Joe Carr are holdovers on the LMU net squad.

Only one match, the number one doubles, went into the third set as Miles and Anderson came from behind to drop the prime Railsplitter doubles team.

SUMMARY—

Singles

1—Wesley Miles over Warren Peer, 6-2, 6-2;
2—Clyde McCampbell over Blair Frick, 7-5, 6-2;
3—Chesley Anderson over Sam Collier, 7-5, 6-3;
4—Harold Hunter over Joe Carr, 6-3, 6-2;
5—Jerry Sayres over Stewart Anderson, 6-1, 9-7;
6—Glen Knecht over Ed Salyers, 6-1, 6-1;

Doubles

1—Milesc-Anderson over Peer Frick, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3;
2—Anderson-Hunter over Collier Carr, 6-2, 7-5.

Creamers, Eightballs, and YMCA tied for top spots the second week of softball play ended Wednesday this week.

Only three games were played this week, all five-innings games on Wednesday, and of these, one was played in a pouring rain which drenched out the fourth.

Y DUMPS A-E, 10-2

YMCA continued its winning ways in the game played on the Court Street by stomping Alpha Sigma 10-2 behind the two-hit pitching of Joe Poland. Brick Braham's team ran up a quick 10 run lead in the first three innings and let the Trotter-team have its last three turns at bat without taking theirs, a practice they inaugurated last week because of the long drawn out game. This week rain caused them to forego their bats. Charlie Allen led the winners with three for three while manager Brahams garnered two for two.

8-BALLS TAKE WARRIORS, 13-5

Eightballs scalped the Happy Warriors 13-5 after scoring 10 runs in a big first inning. Harold Ammons took it easy after the first inning depending upon his support while the Warriors swung ineffectually at his offerings.

CREAMERS WAYLAY HOT SHOTS, 10-5

Playing for five innings in a drenching rain, Fred Kluth's Creamers outsplashed the Hotshots by a 10-5 score. Nelson Forrester and John Bender weren't able to put anything on the ball after the first inning and had to be content with just lobbing the ball up to the plate and letting their fielders made the putouts.

REVISED TEAM LISTS DUE

All revised team lists for intramural softball will have to be in by Wednesday, April 6. Only 12 men will be allowed on a team and only 12 will be allowed to play. If this procedure is not followed the guilty team will have to forfeit the games wherein it has committed the error according to an intramural staff ruling.

Starting this coming week, there will be only one schedule sheet posted for the softball games—in the Bartlett intramural office—because of the tampering with the sheets posted in Carnegie. Coach Johnson also stressed the need for more co-

Scottie Swimmers Compete At U. T.

Six Scottie swimmers will compete at UT'spool Saturday in an invitational tank meet for 11 East Tennessee schools. Heats begin at 3 p.m. and finals at 8 p.m. First place winners, seconds, and thirds will receive medals.

Maryville's George Barber is entering the 150-yard medley, the 150-yard backstroke, and the 200 yard breaststroke. Jimmy Callaway is to swim 50 and 100-yard dashes.

MC team members entered in their specialties include Don Macdonaid in the 150-yard backstroke, Everett Zabriskie in 220—and 440-yard freestyle races, and Jack Moore and Dean Risher in the diving.

Hiwassee Takes Baseball Opener With 5-3 Victory

A ninth inning attempted bunt by third baseman Jack Buckley went haywire Wednesday in an effort to stem Hiwassee's 5-3 victory over the Scot ball club in the 1949 opening game.

After the Scots took an early lead with Boring's two-base hit paving the way for a two-run first inning, the Hiwassee nine chalked up four runs in a four hit third inning to take the lead—not to be stopped. Hatley, Tiger first baseman, stole home in the fifth with two on base to provide Hiwassee's fifth run.

Fowler's one-base hit brought Trotter, who had singled also, home in the second for Maryville's number three run. Mitchem, Hiwassee's big pitcher, held the Honakermen to two hits, no runs for five innings.

Mitchem, the winning pitcher, worked nine innings, while Coach Honaker used three moundsmen—Fowler, Hawkins, and Kren—in that order against Coach Al Thomas' visiting nine.

Redskins Capture Two; Catamounts Visit Today

MIAMI COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN OPENING GAME; HAMIL HITS HOMER

Miami's Redskin baseball squad won a double-header over the Highland baseball squad yesterday, 10-4 and 3-2, in the opening day of a colossal two-day double-header series for Coach Lombe Honaker's diamond nine. Western North Carolina invades today for a double-header starting at 2 p.m. on the college field.

Next week, the Scots play Hiwassee at Madisonville on Tuesday and entertain Lincoln Memorial at home on Friday afternoon.

REDSKINS IN FRONT, 10-4

In the opening game the invading Redskins defeated the Scots 10-4 behind the three-hit pitching of John Saunders who relieved Ritchey in the first inning.

Hugh Hamil and Walley Pentz led Maryville by smashing out hits in the first inning to score four runs for game score. They also garnered another hit apiece to split the Scotties hits between them.

Leon Berrong worked smoothly through five innings till he was replaced in the fifth inning after giving up six hits. Jimmy Hawkins came in and gave five hits to the enemy batsmen in three inning of relief.

Quattrone, Imfeld, and Schwegman led the Miami attack with two hits apiece. Quattrone's smashing triple to center in the third being the big hit of the day for the Tribe by bringing three of the five runs he batted in. Imfeld, and Mowrey rapped out a triple and double respectively to lead the extra-base hitting. Saunders held the Scots steadily, giving up only one hit after the third and struck out nine men.

Score by Innings:

Maryville	4	0 0 0	0-4
Miami U	0	1 4 1	1 0-10

Winning Pitcher: Saunders. Losing Pitcher: Berrong. Struck out: By Ritchey—0; Saunders—9; Berrong—2; Hawkins—2. Walked by: Ritchey—2; Saunders—1; Berrong—6; Hawkins—0. Left on Bases: MC—4; MU—6. Stolen Bases: MC—0; MU—3. Two-base hits: MC—Hail; MU—Mowrey. Three-base hits: MC—0; MU—Quattrone, Imfeld.

Hits off: Ritchey—1 in 1/3 innings; Saunders—3 in 6 2/3 innings; Berrong—6 in four innings; Hawkins—5 in three innings.

MIAMI WNIS NIGHTCAP, 3-2

In spite of Hugh Hamil's two-talley homer, Miami skinned the Scots 3-2 in the nightcap to sweep Friday's doubleheader.

Boring scored ahead of Hamil on the blow, a deepy to center which broke Maryville's hitlessness for the game, after six innings without a bingle.

Miami scored two in the fourth without registering a hit. Walks to Quattrone and Bickett combined with errors by Baird and Boring gave the Ohioans their first pair of arkers.

Hero Quattrone crossed the plate in the sixth with the clincher after a walk. Errors by Trotter and Buckley sent him home.

Earned runs were scarce, with MC getting one and Miami none.

Peticka received the win for Miami, allowing only one hit in 5 2/3 innings after replacing Schimbeckler in the first. Coach Foster of the tribe sent Timberghin into the game in the seventh to muzzle the Maryville attack that fizzled save for Hamil's mighty swat.

Box Score:

Miami	0 0 0 2 0 1 0-3
MC	0 0 0 0 0 2 0-2

Winning pitcher: Peticka; Losing pitcher: Honaker; Struck out by: Peticka—5, Timberghin—3; Honaker—4; Walked by: Schimbeckler—3; Peticka—2; Honaker—5; Hit baseman: Honaker—2; Balk: Schimbeckler; Left on bases: MC—4; Miami—4; Stolen bases: MC—2; Miami—4; Home run: Hamil.

12 Gridmen Join Track Ranks; Davis Begins Cinderwork

Coach "JD" Davis, in shifting from spring football to track, brought 12 of the gridiron lads to the oval to supplement the group that has been working for the past three weeks under Coach Johnson.

Dashmen, broad and high jumpers got initial attention as the combined squads began work Wednesday.

New men include Hap Brahams, Don Walker and Tubby Callaway. Brahams will be remembered for his hurdling performances in 1947. Both Callaway and Walker are working on the pole vault.

Scot field events should be strengthened by the addition of several football men. Among these are Jim Lester, Dick Isenberg, Ken Andes, Bob Larson, and Bill Proffitt.

Following are the events with the latest list of men trying for each:

HIGH JUMP: Fisher, Lillard, Eubanks, Kay, and Holsinger.

BROAD JUMP: Walker, Thurston, Lambert, Kees, and Spratt.

POLE VAULT: Day, Walker, Shetfield, and Callaway.

JAVELIN: Ammons, Walker, and Andes.

SHOT PUT: Moreshal, Lester, Isenberg, Proffitt, and Larson.

DISCUS: Kay, Rahn, and Walker.

2 MILE RUN: Kidder, Earisman, Menges, and Packard.

1 MILE RUN: Menges, Packard, Earisman, Mulford, Mabry, and Kidder.

880 YARD RUN: Earisman, Rogers, Lenoir, Mabry, Robarts, and Day.

440 YARD RUN: English, Moreshal, Rahn, Lambert, Kees, Robarts, Frost, Eubanks, and Thurston.

220 YAR DDASH: Thurston, Kay, Lambert, Reedy, English, Holsinger, Eubanks, Kees, Robarts, and Frost.

100 YARD DASH: Reedy, Eubanks, Lenoir, Kees, Law, and Allen.

Dr. Grant Gives Lecture Series On Current Events

Thursday-Friday Chapel Address To Student Body

Dr. Donald Grant, noted world traveller and lecturer, visited Maryville campus Thursday and Friday and gave a series of lectures on both days. Dr. Grant is a graduate of Edinburgh University and holds several academic honors from European universities, among them a Gold Medal from the University of Vienna.

At Thursday chapel, Dr. Grant spoke on "Germany, the Question Mark of Europe!" He said that the people were the question marks for three reasons—they are the most numerous people of Europe, they are in the most central position in Europe, and they have that capacity and ability to lead. Sometimes, they get overambitious with this ability and it is then that they are to be feared.

Dr. Grant went on to say that the Germans are encouraged by the fact that Western Powers are willing to let them get back on their feet provided they adopt a democratic form of government.

Europe—East and West

At his 10:30 lecture Thursday morning, Dr. Grant spoke on "Europe—East and West". He expressed the opinion that the East—West split would be a permanent thing but that it would not lead to war. His lecture contained much background material on East-West history such as migration and development, and also dwelt on the Balkans and the break-up of the Austrian-Hungarian empire.

Cold War

"The Cold War" was the subject of Dr. Grant's 3:30 lecture. He said that he didn't expect the Cold War to turn into World War III but that "the atomic bomb is there and the danger is there."

Dr. Grant spoke of tension between two nations, U.S. and U.S.S.R., and commented that this tension has been greater these past two weeks than at any time since March 1946.

He gave four solutions to the tension problem: war, which many people think is the only way, take the problem to the United Nations, concede to the Russians, to which most people say an emphatic no, and Cold War. Since we are already conducting a Cold War, Dr. Grant feels the other solutions will not be resorted to.

Churchill, Atlee

At his Thursday address to IRC, Dr. Grant discussed the comparative merits of Winston Churchill and Clement Atlee. Dr. Grant gave the impression that, although he thought Churchill was a great man, he didn't care for Churchill's party. He expressed again his opinion that the labor party would win the election in 1950.

At Friday chapel, Dr. Grant gave a brief outline of how the Marshall Plan works. Using Great Britain as an example, he showed how war disrupted national economy of a nation and how the Plan would enable countries to produce necessary imports.

Dr. Grant spoke to the English classes Friday morning on the subject "Dialects of the British Isles." His discussion covered English, Scotch, Irish, and a little of the Welch peoples.

Friday afternoon, Dr. Grant spoke on "The British Commonwealth" which he said was no longer British.

Dr. Grant closed his stay here with a Friday evening lecture on tions in Great Britain.

This was Dr. Grant's fifth visit to Maryville campus.

Maintenance Crew Erect New Bleachers, Posts

Posts have been set in the ground behind Pearsons to prevent cars from crossing the lawn over to the Trailer Park because of the tearing up of the grass, Louis Black, Director of Maintenance, announced Tuesday. Too many people have been using it as a roadway and the posts were put in to stop them.

New hedges were planted around the Student Center and bleachers were raised around the baseball field in work done by E. C. Brown's crew this week. Brown, college engineer, also announced that lawn mowers were being put into shape for spring. Badly-needed coal will roll onto the siding soon to restock the dwindling supply at the steam plant.

Oranges Cop 18-6 Football Victory

Orange topped the Garnet team, 18-6, Tuesday on Wilson Field in a regulation game to end spring football training.

Scoring for the Orange were Miller on a 60 yard pass play, Hitch through the line, and Fogarty, who skirted right end for the final counter. A pass from Schwenkie to Talbott netted the Garnet's touchdown.

While most of the Orange group were experienced men, the Garnets, sparked in the backfield by Tubby Callaway and Charlie Allen were principally non-lettermen and freshmen.

"Springtime Serenade" Ticket Sale Opens

Experimental Theatre Ends Season With 'Frogs,' 'Katherine, Petruchio'

Tonight In Bartlett Hall Starr, Dance Direct Two Performances At 7:15, 9

Experimental Theater's final program of the semester will be two classical plays, "Katherine and Petruchio" and "The Frogs," presented tonight in Bartlett Auditorium at 7:15 and 9. Free tickets are still available before and after supper in Pearsons lobby.

"Katherine and Petruchio," a single plot adaption of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," is directed by Bill Starr. It is the story of a rich young man of Verona, played by David Reed, who comes to the city of Padua to win the hand of Katherine, the shrew, played by Mary Mitchell Wooldridge.

They are supported by Jack Reid, as Baptista; Gerald Wheat, as the Music Master; George Day, as Biondello, servant to Baptista; and John Mills, as Grumio, servant to Petruchio. Lucentio will be Paul Kidder; Hortensio, Ben Paxton; Bainca, Lucentio's wife, Martha Hull; and the widow wife of Hortensio, Ann Gates. Petruchio's other servants are: Curtis, Mary Taylor Hicks; Nathaniel, Alan Fort; Gabriel, Bill Lane; Gregory, Don Winslow; the cook, Arthur Haaf; and the tailor, Ed Vanderslice.

Aristophane's 'Frogs'

"The Frogs" by Aristophanes is an adaptation by Jim Dance, director of the play, from two English translations, Frere and Rodgers. It is built around the story of god Bacchus who goes to Hell, disguised as Hercules, in order to bring back a real dramatist.

Wallace Moore portrays Bacchus and Archie Swartztrauber his servant, Xanthius. The remainder of the cast is Hercules, Don Reeves; Charon, Joe Poland; Aeacus, Charles Williams; Dead Man, Donald Whelan; Euripides, Joe Claude; Aeschylus, Bill Carter; Pluto, Charles Parvin; Proserpine's maid, Carolyn Miller; Hostess, Lois Deobler; and Plathane, Beverly Jacobi. The Frog chorus is Janice Landstrom, Tish Plowman, Walt English, Del Poling, and Stanley Lange. Donald Whelan is assistant director.

Production staff for both plays includes Howard Cameron and Jim Townsend, stage managers; Mary Mitchell Woolridge and Jim Dance, stage designs; Ray Kuhn, house manager; Joe Claud, publicity; Mary Taylor Hicks, Rosalba Pascal, and Rosa Law, costumes; Al Shakely, stage properties; Lois Lehr, hand properties; and Dean Risher and Wanda Onifer, make-up. Mrs. Lenore Courtney is faculty advisor.

two scarves, red silk and blue flowered; two student record books; coin purse and billfold, both containing money; three glasses; one pair of glasses in a case on which the name "Fred E. Casper, Optician, Montclair, N. J.," is stamped; pair of sun glasses; two key rings containing keys, one a small pen knife; two rhinestone bracelets; white V-neck sweater, medium size; mother-of-pearl pen-knife;

Two rings, one with a stone, one man's wedding ring containing the inscription JB to MR, 8-30-47; an Esterbrook fountain pen; boy's wool cap with ear muffs; three notebooks, two blue and one black.

Moderator Baird Addresses Chapel On Need For Love

Dr. Jesse Hayes Baird, president of San Francisco Theological Seminary and moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, USA, said in chapel Tuesday that love was the only blueprint by which nations, business, and people might successfully get along together.

Also present at the service were Dr. Clifford Barbour, pastor of Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church and vice-moderator of the General Assembly; Dr. Thomas Graham, pastor of Maryville's New Providence Presbyterian Church; David W. Proffitt, vice-president of the Southern Area of the National Conference of Presbyterian Men.

Moderator Baird spoke here and in Knoxville on Tuesday, addressed a group here interested in church vocations on Wednesday morning, and was scheduled to visit Birmingham and Atlanta Wednesday and Thursday.

In his chapel talk, Dr. Baird pointed out that we are living in an age of great transition and that the things wrong with the world are effects, not causes. "The answer," he said, "is the one Jesus gave to life: that we live not for aggression but for service."

SECOND WSSF PAYMENT DUE APRIL 11

Student Musicians Perform Tuesday At Chilhowee Club

Student Recital will be held Tuesday afternoon, April 12, in the Chilhowee Clubhouse at 4:30 p.m. Herbert Hoover will begin the program singing "Ombra mai fu" from Handel's "Xerxes". Carol Barnett will accompany him.

Elizabeth Wilson and Wilbur Selander will play "Serenade" by Toselli-Hull-Howe. "Andante" by Chaminade-Adams is Betty Jo Smith and Elizabeth Dinkle's selection. Carol Mitchell and Wayne Shelton will perform Bach's "Sheep May Safely Graze."

Betty Field will sing "Pierrot" by Rybner, accompanied by Bernice Blair. Low-Adams' "Allegro Brilliante" will be played by Mary Holly Webb and Susie Martin.

Tschaikowsky's "Trepak" will be played by Lena Belle McGaha and Jessie Lou Emerson. "Marche" by Tschaikowsky will be performed by Fred Sieber and Jack Reed. Ruby Laster and Margaret Paylor are to play "Floods of Sprig" by Rachmaninoff-Babin.

Conrad Eaddy, with John Sayre as accompanist, will sing "I Attempt from Love's Sickness" and "New Phoebus Sinketh in the West" from "Comus," both by Purcell. Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" is to be played by Margo Huffaker and Lois Layton. Mary Lee Snodderly and Peggy Williams will play Arensky's "Suite for Two Pianos, Op. 15" and "Waltz." Milhaud's "Scaramouche Suite" and "Modere" will be played by Irene Launitz and Carolyn Marshall.

Dr. Lloyd, Faculty Lead Holy Week Chapel Services

Good Friday services April 15 will bring to a close the Holy Week Chapel program at Maryville. Dr. Ralph Lloyd will preside on Tuesday, and Dr. Ralph Case will lead the Wednesday morning service. Thursday Dr. Edwin Hunter will preside, and Saturday, Dr. John Buchanan. Scripture appropriate to the day will be read and Vesper Choir will sing special music each day.

The hymn "In the Cross of Christ I glory" will begin the Good Friday Service after routine announcements. Following will be read the account of the crucifixion from the scriptures. The choir will then sing "Go to Dark Gethsemane" by Noble.

Meditations upon the seven words from the cross is the theme of the service. Rev. David Englehardt will lead a five-minute meditation on "The First Three Words." "The Fourth and Fifth Words" will preceed the meditation and silent prayer by Miss Massey. Dr. H. E. Orr is to lead meditation after the "Last Two Words."

The choir will sing "Come Soothing Death," followed by the hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," and the benediction.

Eleanor Hawley Speaks At Sunday YW Meeting

Eleanor Hawley will speak at YWCA meeting Sunday in the YW Roms at 1:30. Since the first of March Miss Hawley has been a part-time director of religious education at New Providence Church where she works with junior and senior high Westminster Fellowship groups.

Irene Launitz will play special music.

Students Elect Officers, May Day Court April 11-12

Radio Workshop Presents Pre-Easter Play Monday

"The Terrible Meek," starring Ann Jenkins, Bill Starr, and Jim Black, will be presented Monday night on YM-YW Radio Workshop. The play concerns three persons, a woman, Roman Centurian, and English soldier. These characters represent the mother of Christ, and the Roman and present world.

They are all witnesses to a crucifixion, and through their reactions and observance of the woman, the two soldiers are converted. They come to realize that power and might of man is unimportant; that the only thing worth obtaining is peace.

Originally a stage presentation, this drama is easily adapted to pre-Easter play.

Because of the length of the dramatic portion of the program, there will be no guests interviewed. Jim Frost will sing two numbers; Ben Paxton will be the announcer.

Commerce Group Sponsors H S Day On Campus, 29th

Blount County Chamber of Commerce, with cooperation of Maryville College, will sponsor High School Day on Maryville College campus, Friday, April 29.

Each high school in the county is sending its senior class and such faculty members as the principal may designate to participate. At 9:30 a.m. the group will meet in Alumni Gym for a short program and explanation of further events of the day.

Following the general meeting will be a series of group meetings to discuss vocational opportunities. Each of the groups will be led by an outstanding person from Maryville or Knoxville.

Barbecue

Barbecue will be provided for all seniors and their teachers. The afternoon features a baseball game between Maryville College and Emory and Henry College.

In urging the schools to co-operate, Dr. Wilbur S. Johnson, committee chairman, stated: "We are looking forward to having the seniors and teachers with us. We sincerely believe it will be a valuable experience for all whether or not they plan to attend college or university."

Concerning High School Day, Dr. Frank McClelland stated "We hope our students will enter into the spirit of the event, and receive seniors with a hearty welcome and a genuine interest. We want to leave with them a good impression of the College"

Hand, Eggleston Compete For Queen

Virginia Hand and Barbara Eggleston are nominees for the 1949 May Queen, elections to be held Monday and Tuesday of next week. The two girls were nominated by the entire Student Body but only seniors will vote. The queen will select two attendants from the senior class.

Class attendants will also be elected next week, with the following nominated:

Volunteer Woodsmen Work on Picnic Shelter

"Operation Rustic" is the objective of a group of volunteers who will meet Monday at 3:30 in Carnegie Lobby for a mission. Paul McNiel will lead the expedition.

McNiel has issued a call for all sturdy men, six foot-two and under, to assemble for the foray ito the forest.

Sam Broyles, assistant leader, expressed hope that the party, through meritorious service, might win the Y medal for faithfulness. As juncture time approaches, the men are hopeful of obtaining a number of handpicked operatives for the assignment.

"Operation Rustic," first action in the area this spring, will be a constructive project, aimed at completion of a picnic shelter in the college woods.

Y Leaders Review, Plan At Mountain Retreat

YM-YW's annual retreat will be held at Miller's Cove, April 29 and 30. The group, composed of incoming and outgoing officers, cabinet members, and faculty advisors, will leave campus at 4:30 p.m. on Friday and return the following night.

Two days will be spent in reviewing the past year's activities and planning next year's program. Special attention will be given to problems of Y work.

Guest speakers are Rev. Edward Dahlstrom of Shannondale Presbyterian Church in Knoxville and Rev. James Beard of the Erin Presbyterian Church in Bearden.

Committees of the two associations are now at work on details of the retreat.

Nish,Cowan,Parvin In First Campus Election Campaign

Climaxing the first year of petitioning and campaigning at Maryville, Student Body elections for president, vice-president, and social board chairman will be held Monday and Tuesday, April 11 and 12. Polls will be open all day in Thaw, except before and after meals when the table will be in Pearsons. Student Council elections committee is in charge.

Candidates for the office of president are Bill Nish, Charles Parvin, and Roger Cowan. Joe Poland, Mae Meriwether, and Del Earisman are campaigning for vice-presiednt. Social board chairman candidates are Wanda Onifer, Ben Gearhart, and Jim Dance.

This is the second year that the entire campus has elected these officers; previously they were selected from Council members.

Comps, Soph Tests Slated April 13, 14

Senior Comprehensive examinations will be held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, April 13 and 14. All seniors who expect to graduate in May will take these tests. Graduate Record Examinations cannot be taken as an equivalent as was true last year. As before, also, failure to pass the Comprehensive Exam will bar a student from graduation although the exam may be repeated within a year.

Grading system of the examination will be the same as before with each half grade above C adding twenty grade points, and each half grade below subtracting twenty grade points.

At the same time the seniors are taking Comprehensives, the sophomores will take the English achievement test and the contemporary affairs test. These tests are used to compare the Maryville sophomore class as a whole and as individuals with sophomores throughout the United States.

Also at this time, freshmen will attend lectures given by Dean Frank McClelland on choosing a major field.

Former MC Professor Visits In Maryville

Former MC professor, Dr. Ralph P. Collins, now State Department official, and his wife are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Verton M. Queener.

Dr. Collins, ex-professor of German, left the College in 1944 to join the State Department, and one year later was sent to Germany. Mrs. Collins finished the school year for him, and in 1946 she and their three children joined Dr. Collins in Berlin. Since their return to the United States in the spring of last year, Dr. Collins has been enrolled in Columbia University, New York. Collins expects his next assignment to be a two-year term to Moscow.

MAY DAY ACTORS TRYOUT THIS WEEK

Those who are interested in trying out for acting parts in May Day are to see Mrs. Lenore Courtney or Jim Dance this week.

Recording will start next week on those parts of the program that are to be transcribed.

Springtime Serenade Tickets Sell April 15

Tickets for Springtime Serenade will go on sale Friday, April 15, in Pearsons and Thaw Halls.

Bill Starr has been selected as commentator, with Fred Sieber as continuity director for the April 22 performance.

The prologue and epilogue are being written in poetry by Roger Cowan.

Y's To Present 'Cloth of Sendony' As Easter Pageant

"The Cloth of Sendony," an Easter play is to be presented by YM-YW in two performances April 16 in Bartlett Auditorium. First performance will begin at 7:30 p.m., and second at 9.

The play takes place during Passion Week in the home of Joseph of Arimathaea, just outside of Jerusalem.

Directed by Wallace Moore, following people are in the cast:

Bill Starr—Joseph of Arimathaea, a wealthy Jew in the prime of life, a collector of rare cloth, a member of Sanhedrin; Ann Jenkins—Susannah, niece of Joseph, of marriageable age:

David Reed—David, a Pharisee, a friend of Susanah's, who comes into great wealth; Joe Poland—Nicodemus, a Pharisee, member of the Sanhedrin, an old man; John Shew—Jairus, a synagogue ruler from Galilee;

Judy Breen—Judith, his 12-year-old daughter; Dorothy Berrong—servant in the house of Joseph; and the Temple Guard is Charles Williams, First Priest; Arthur Haaf, Second Priest; and Ken Newell, Third Priest.

Managers are Joe Claud, House Manager, and Ruth Heaps, Stage Manager. Dick Ribble is music consultant.

Vesper Choir Opens Spring Concert Series Sunday In Alumni Gymnasium

By Carolyn Miller

Maryville College Vesper Choir will present the first program in its spring concert series tomorrow night in Alumni Gym at 7. This program will replace regular Vesper services.

Second performance of the choir in its tour will be given Good Friday, April 15, in Oak Ridge High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. On May 8 the choir will perform at Greystone Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, and the same concert will be presented May 11 at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church, Maryville, for people of Maryville, Alcoa, and surrounding communities.

Presentation tomorrow will usher in Holy Week to Maryville's campus. The choir will sing at Good Friday chapel service, and also at Sunrise Service Easter morning in the amphitheatre. Special music for Easter Vespers will be presented by this 60-voice a cappella choir.

Tomorrow's program will be a four-part presentation. First group includes the following numbers: "God Goes Up On High" by Gallus; "Ave Verum" by Mozart; "Come Soothing Death," a chorale by Bach; and "All Breathing Life Sing and Praise Ye the Lord," the finale from Bach's motet, "Sing Ye to the Lord".

Selections in the second part are "God's Son Hath Set Me Free," by Grieg; "How Brightly Shines Our Morning Star" from the Choral Motet by Schumann; "Salvation Is Created" by Tschesnokoff; and "Nunc Dimittis" by Gretchaninof.

In the third part are "Jerusalem" by Milhaud; "Trois Beaux Oiseaux du Paradis," one of the few a cappella works by Ravel; Cut's "Cloud Messengers" and "Madame Jeanette" by Murray. Soloists in the Ravel work are Peggy Wakefield, Evalyn Smith, Gloria Measamer, Conrad Eaddy, and Dick Ribble.

The program will be concluded with three numbers: "Soon Ah Will Be Donna Wid de Troubles of de World," a spiritual arranged by William Dawson of Tuskegee Institute; "There Is a Balm in Gilead"; and "Entrance Scene" from Schreck's "Advent Motet."

The choir is composed of 58 college students from 15 states and 2 foreign countries.

Director Harry Harter, who came to Maryville two years ago to direct this choral group, received his master's degree from the University of Nebraska. While there he was awarded Alpha Rho Tau scholarhip to study composition under Roy Harris, noted American composer, at Colorado Springs, Col.

Harter completed his undergraduate work at San Jose State College in California.

Teachers, Officers Attend Music, College Meetings In Nashville

Professor Katharine Davies attended a conference of Tennessee Music Educators Association held at Hermitage Hotel in Nashville on April 7, 8. Dr. Ralph Lloyd, Dean Frances Massey, Mrs. Thelma Kramer, and Dr. Frank McClelland also attended meetings there in connection with the Tennessee College Association.

Thursday meetings consisted of organization and Special Projects. Miss Davies was a member of the curriculum committee of the college group. On Friday, conferences were held on teaching piano. Dr. Raymond Burrows of Columbia University conducted the classes. Friday evening there was a concert of band and chorus music.

Fourteen Junior Class Girls Form Traditional Graduation Daisy Chain

Sarah Durant, vice-president of the junior class, has announced 14 members of the 1949 Daisy Chain. Girls selected represent a cross-section of the junior class, vice president is automatically in the Chain.

Leading will be Betty Crawford and Virginia Schwarz dressin rose. Miss Crawford, a biology major from Maryville, was on the YWCA cabinet this year. She was associate editor of 1948 M Book. Miss Schwarz is a psychology major from Glennside, Pa. She was Nu Gamma leader, Student Council member, and was vice-president of Theta Epsilon last year.

Next in line are Peggy Cummings and Dorothy Holverson wearing aqua. Miss Cummings, English major from Maryville, is a member of Pi Kappa Delta. She was treasurer of YWCA and of her freshman class. Miss Holverson, an English major from Monticello, Ind., was editor of the '49 Chilhowean. She is newly elected president of YWCA and retiring secretary.

Sarah Durant and Ruth Rogers will follow in yellow dresses. Miss Durant, who made the selections, is an education major from Birmingham, Ala. She was sophomore class sponsor and May Day attendant last year. She is a member of BG club. Miss Rogers is an education major from Reading Pa. She is secretary of junior class, M club member, and secretary of Student Volunteers.

Next will be Betty Jo Clemons and Mae Meriwether in green. Miss Clemons is an M club member and was a cheerleader last year. Miss Meriwether is a member of the Athletic Board of Control, and was secretary of sophomore class and Baldwin house chairman last year. Miss Clemons, from Maryville, and Miss Meriwether, Montgomery, Ala., are physical education majors.

Following are Alice Davenport and Winnie Schaumberg dressed in pink. Miss Davenport is a sociology major from Marietta, Ga. She was selected as sweetheart of Alpha Sigma last year. She was Nu Gamma leader and program chairman of Theta Epsilon. Miss Schaumberg was a Nu Gamma leader last year and chairman this year. She was also a Student

I Don't Know, Do You?

If you don't know the answer to a history question you usually find you're told "to go look it up." But when you simply want to know when the collage began having a daisy chain lead the graduation processional, the first person you ask starts you on a round of all faculty members, townspeople, and old Chilhoweans and Echos.

Once in a while you can find one of these sources with the desired information, but usually they don't know any more than you do

A college as old and with as many traditions as Maryville needs some sort of record file with the history of organizations, events, and traditions.

Vote! Vote! Vote!

MC voters go to the polls Monday and Tuesday to cast their ballots in a hot election. Echo policy supports no candidates, but we hope you vote. Don't forget to vote!!!!

Student Council–

At its Wednesday meeting, Student Council discussed Thurday's Student Body meeting and next Monday's elections. Other matters were chiefly in the committee stage and not yet ready for group action.

President Jim Black explained nomination procedures for May Queen and class attendants. Ballot-box work for student elections Monday and Tuesday was lined up by John Poland, and the group talked over the questioner. Consensus was that naturally one did not have to vote for a man whose petition he had signed, but that ethical custom did decree a follow-through on the vote after original indication of support.

Black stated that there had been no Town Nite violations for the week.

AGATHA CHRISTIE discovers mystery.

It was during the Watts Bar Dam trip that it happened. When Willard Rahn took the Kodacnrome snapshot of Marian MacBride asleep on Bill Holt's shoulder, he neved dreamed of the stark consequences. But the picture was gone—where? Did Marian steal it? And if so, why? (to be continued)

Other candidates are stooping to such minor publicity as flashing neon lights, paper streamers, and torch light processions. Ah me—for the good old days when all they did was buy the votes!

Jim Lester loaded his water pistol with water water water water. Council was dull drab uninteresting. Bang—water water water water. Finis.

(Sequel in the dining hall: Lester's loaded lethal weapon was discharged by Kluth at Rock, who chased him from the dining hall with a glass of water. Not as modern as the water pistol, but just as effective!)

"SOON AH WILL Be Donna Wid De Troubles Of De World."

This paragraph dedicated to seniors only. Remember the song you sang last semester dedicated to us juniors. . . well . . ."Seniors, your troubles are just about to start. . ." Seriously, though, we wish you the best of luck in comps. We extend a shaking hand to you, remembering that next year we, too, must face the music and hoping that it won't be a funeral march.

Luck to the sophs, too. "It wasn't so bad."

Talk of The Week DONALD REEVES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

EXPERIMENTAL THEATER

First on this week's calendar of what-you-should-see are the two Experimetal Theatre productions at the first showing tonight at 7 or the second at 9.

"Katharine and Petruchio," a single plot adaptation of "The Taming of the Shrew," by William Shakespeare, stars David Reed at Petruchio and Mary Mitchell Wooldridge as Katharine. Director for this production will be Bill Starr.

"The Frogs," written in 405 B. C. by Aristophanes for the Lenaean Festival, is a humorous satire arranged and directed by Jim Dance. It took first prize at the fesitval and we are sure it will rate tops with you also. The part of Bacchus is played by Wallace Moore and his servant Xanthias by Archie Swarztrauber.

CAMPUS CONCERT

Vesper Choir, under direction of Harry Harter, will present its first full length campus concert of the year Sunday evening at 7 in Alumni Gymnasium. Both sacred and secular musical numbers will be sung.

Glancing at the theater program this week we find "Relentless" playing at the Capitol on Monday and Tuesday, starring Robert Young and Marguerite Chapman. Filmed in technicolor, it is the story of a man-hunt beginning high in the Sierras, and promises to be a full evening of excitement and entertainment.

Lassie adds another hit to her growing list in "Hills of Home," showing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Capitol. M-G-M has combined the story of fine, faithful Lassie and a lovable crusty old country doctor (Edmund Gwenn) in a 19th Century medical crisis with a Scottish highland setting. Framed in a pretty mountain background, beauty is preserved by technicolor.

NEW BOOKS

In looking over the new book list in the library, one of the new books we noticed is the much-talked-about "Naked and the Dead," by Norman Mailer. One library worker has informed us that the reserve list is already long and growing fast. Another which is sure to be popular with those who are struggling through Chaucer, is a modern English prose translation "Commentary to General Prologue to Canterbury Tales" by R. M. Lumiansky. It is published together with the original Middle English text of the General Prologue and the Nun's Priest's Tale.

On display in the library through the 15th of April is an exhibition of Modern Painting of Nineteenth Century leaders. This exhibition, circulated by the Museum of Modern Art in New York, is one of the best we have had. It features such outstanding artists as Manet, Renoir, Cezanne, vanGogh, and Ganguin.

ECHO FORUM

To the Editor of The Highland Echo:

The top of Anderson Tower will soon be known as Senior Suicide Leap if one more professor assigns a paper, report, test, or notebook to be due before comprehensives next week! Obviously seniors do not expect to be excused from daily assignments (although it's a nice thought) but why does this week have to be the focus of all extra work? Seems to us it would not interrupt the teaching schedule too radically to postpone all such superfluities until the week after the exams.

Of course no one is so naive as to think seniors study for comps, but at least we like a few spare minutes to add up our grade points again!

Yours in misery,
Carol Jones,
Anna Stevens

What About Team Captains?

By Charles Williams

(Editor's note: Often in the long saga of Highlander athletic teams, a chosen leader, the captain, has meant a great deal to the success of both maojr and minor sports seasons. Faced with the apparent lag in elections of captains nowadays, Scottie sports fans are inclined to ask why—no captains elected since the war in baseball, track, tennis, cross-country and swimming. Are captains necessary any more? Charles Williams, sophomore try-out for Echo, looked into the subject this week, viz:)

On any athletic team, a captain is an almost essential cog in the machine. He is above all a leader, and holds the respect and friendship of all his team-mates. He is the team's representative to the coach. Any player's gripe should be taken to the captain who would then present it to the coach. It increases team spirit and morale when the fellows know they have a leader who will stick up for them.

The captain also serves as a talent scout. Many a valuable player has been discovered because some captain was on his toes during some dorm bull-session and talked to men he thought were prospective players. Again many a good player has been left to hide his light under an academic bushel just because no one thought of encouraging him. Some fellows require prodding because they feel they aren't good enough. The captain is the logical person to fill this position as good-will ambassador for the team.

Most important, the captain is a leader, both on the field and off. He is a steadying influence for the more inexperienced players, and is able to encourage his more experienced teammates.

With the exception of the swimming team which was handicapped in selection of a captain because of its one-year existance, there seems to be no reason why any varsity sport on the hill should be without a captain. But why no recognized leaders? Coaches are quick to disclaim any credit for the lack of team captains. Interested letermen squad members are the responsible ones to elect a captain.

Perhaps the best suggestion here is that the Athletic Board of Control should have some system set up so that there would be a uniform way to elect captains. There is no mention of this in the present by-laws or policy of the association.

As it is now, those teams that do elect captains, do it just any time or fashion—when or if the fancy strikes them. While their fancy might strike very well, it neverthless seems that there should be a uniform policy.

Scottie Nine Wins Carolina Twin Bill

Scot baseball nine moved into the win column for first time in the season by capturing a doubleheader from Western Carolina last Saturday, 4-3, 10-8.

After suffering an opening defeat with Hiwassee, 5-3, and dropping a twin bill, 10-4, 3-2, to Miami, Highlanders booked two victories over the Catamounts as Jim Kren and Jim Hawkins were credited with initial wins for the mound.

Trailing 3-2 going into the last of the seventh, the Scots seemed lost until Hugh Hamil blasted out a double with Trotter and Boring on board to win the game, 4-3.

Scotties scored first when Baldwin singled to left; Kren sacrificed moving Baldwin to second and Trotter singled to center field scoring Baldwin. In the fourth Buckley tripled to right field and scored on a ball hit by Boring and fumbled by the shortstop.

Carolina tallied in sixth when Selzer walked, stole second and third, and scored on an error by Boring. In the seventh, McKenzie, Carolina right fielder, singled to right field. Gayle, pitcher, doubled to left scoring McKenzie; Selzer tripled scoring Gayle. Pressley, next man up, flied out to Baldwin retiring the side and giving Carolina a one run lead over Maryville.

Hankins Starts No-Hitter

In the second game Hawkins, Scottie's starting pitcher, had the makings of a no-hitter until he was relieved by Rowley and Fowler in the fourth because of a sore arm.

In the first few innings of this game Scotties seemed to explode. Buckley, Neff, and Hamil crossed the plate in the first inning Baird and Baldwin scored in the second, while Trotter, Boring, Pentz, Baird, and Baldwin tallied in the third to give Scotties a 10-0 lead.

Varsity Trackmen Take Timed Drills

Varsity track practice hit full stride this Thursday as Coach John A. Davis sent some 34 men through their respective events.

Topping off the running work with a seven-man quarter mile relay event, Charlie Allen's group went the seven lap distance in 7:03 to down the runners on Clarence Reaser's team who broke tape at 7:09.

In the mile, Del Earisman was timed at 4:54 while Mabry, Menges, and Kidder came in pushing as Mabry made it in 4:60.5 for second. Lambert's 54 seconds was tops in the quarter, with English and Rahn closely trailing.

With the hurdlers, Hap Brahams, Bob Kay, Brick Brahams and Charles Holsinger began work Wednesday afternoon. Harold Ammons and Don Walker are launching the javelin, while Will Rahn, Brick Brahams, and Al Springfield are hurling the discus.

Don Walker's 22'-10" shot put was longest on Thursday trials in a group including Jim Lester, Bill Proffitt, Richard Isenburg, and Bob Larson. Ray Lillard was high man among the broad jumpers—Craig Fisher, Greg Eubanks Kay, and Holsinger.

Dan Sheffield's vaulting topped that of Henry Callaway, Don Walker, and George Day in Thursday trials. Lambert; Kees, Thurston, and Walker are lined up as broad jumpers.

Risher Top Diver At UT Tank Invite

Dean Risher, Maryville diver, took first place in the Invitational Swimming Meet held at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville last Saturday. Russell Ozane of UT came in at second place followed by Jack Moore of Maryville in third.

Nowling of UT took the race in the 320-yard free style event, with Zabriskie of Maryville placing third. The 150-yard backstroke was won by Pigg of Milligan in a close race with Don Macdonald of Maryville. Pigg's time was 1:58 while Macdonald came in one second behind in a 1:59 race.

The 50-yard free style event was won by Harrison of UT with a time of 2:56. Jimmy Callaway took second place followed by Butler of Maryville.

Schrader of Berea took the 440-yard event with a time of 6:35, with Pigg and Zabriskie of Maryville placing second and third respectively. The Individual medley relay was won by Hardy of UT, followed by Brummitt of UT, Barber of Maryville, and Hardy of UT in that order.

MC Netmen Drop Tusculum, 7-0

Maryville's varsity tennismen steamrolled Tusculum's Pioneers Thursday at Greeneville, 7-0. It was the second blanking within a week administered by the Scot racquetmen after opening the '49 season last Friday with a 8-0 shellacking of LMU's Railsplitters at Harrogate.

Coach Ken Johnson took five men on the trip and used practically the same line-up again as in the opener. Glenn Gage, however, took number five spot over from Jerry Sayres in ladder play to start as fifth man.

Milligan's net team, who defeated the Scots twice in '48 with successive 6-3 scores, will test the Highlander racquet power this afternoon on the Milligan's court. Matches will be called at 2 p. m.—weather permitting.

Tusculum's girl tennis star, Priscilla Watts, took Tusculum's only set of the match with one 6-4 set decision over Harold Hunter, MC number four man. Miss Watts, an amatuer tennis player who has vied for national honors, played in the Pioneer number four position.

Summary:

1—Miles over Post, 6-3, 9-7;

2—McCampbell over Nichel, 6-1, 6-4;

3—Anderson over Larsen, 6-3, 11-9;

4—Hunter over Watts, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4;

5—Gage over McLaughlin, 6-3, 6-1;

Doubles

1—Miles-McCampbell over Post-Nichels, 6-0, 6-3;

2—Anderson-Hunter over McLaughlin-Coretski, 6-4, 6-1.

MC Diamonders Whip LMU 12-3

By Tom Weide

Maryville's diamond crew took its third straight win yesterday, chopping down LMU here, 12-3.

Bob Boring's four master to the track in left-center climaxed a four-run outburst in the third, clinching the game early. In that frame Honaker led off with a triple just inside the left field foul line. Smith's grounder put him on when the third baseman tried unsuccessfully to pick Honaker off. Buckley's clothesline single to right pushed Smith in; then "Buck" rode home on Boring's blast.

Every MC starter got a hit as the winners out-hit and out-stole the losers, 12 to 5 and 7 to 2 respectively. Maryville added runs in the fourth, fifth, seventh, and eighth to leave the Railsplitters far behind in the dust. Hawkins and Lillard rested starter Honaker the last three innings by blanking the Harrogate-lads during their tenure on the mound.

In blue will come Ellen Collins and Ruth Davis. Miss Collins is an education major from Montgomery, Ala., and was freshman May Day attendant. She is vice-president of Bainonian and is a member of BG club. Miss Davis is from Maryville and is a Pre-med major. She has been a member of the Echo staff for two years and was on the staff of the '49 Chilhowean.

Last are Wanda Onifer and Mary Watt in orchid. Miss Onifer, a home economics major, is from Maybeury, W .Va. She is a member of Student Council and YWCA cabinet. She is also Bainonian program chairman. Miss Watt, town student, is an education major. She is the new vice-president of YWCA and social chairman of High Society. She was elected junior sponsor this year.

Dresses, Tradition

Dresses this year are dotted swiss in the individual colors mentaffeta. They are styled with a V neckline from which a wide collar is extended to the shoulder. Skirts will be full with a wide sash of the same color taffeta at the waist tied in the back to form a large bow.

The traditional daisy chain will be carried, with the girls themselves picking the daisies and making the chain. This group will take its traditional part in the graduation exercises in May. They will form two lines to lead the processional and then stand on either side of the aisle while the seniors march between them. After the srvice the same procedure will be followed, after which the Daisy Chain will go out to the middle of the campus to form a large MC.

Nish Heads Student Body; Dance, Social Board; V-P Runoff Set For Monday

FirstPetition,Campaign Year DrawsRecordVote

Bill Nish, psychology major from Santa Cruz, Cal., was elected president of the student body in elections held last Monday and Tuesday. Jim Dance was elected social board chairman. Student body vice-president will be decided Monday in a run-off between Joe Poland and Delbert Earisman.

An active participant in all types of student functions, Nish is YMCA president for 1948-49, and was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Southern Area Student Council of YMCA for the coming year. In his sophomore year, he was president of his class, and has been a member of Student Council and Student-Faculty Senate.

Interested in dramatics, Nish has appeared in several Experimental Theater productions, the Athenian-Bainonian play, "Ten Little Indians," and is a member of Theta Alpha Phi.

Nish Platform

His aims for the coming year, as stated by president-elect Nish, are "To conduct an effective and beneficial student government guided always by student sentiment as expressed through council representatives, to represent opinion of all students to administration and faculty through Student Council and Student-Faculty Senate, and to attempt always to bring about a mutual understanding between college policy and student opinion with a view toward over-all improvement of our college life."

Newly elected social board chairman Jim Dance is an English major from Knoxville. He is Athenian social chairman, and is well known for his production of several campus-wide programs.

Outstanding among these were last year's May Day pageant, the sophomore class Hallowe'en program, and "HMS Pinafore." He is, at present, working on his second May Day production, "Plantation Story."

Dance is a member of the editorial staffs of the Highland Echo and the 1950 Chilhowean.

V-P Candidates

Vice-president candidate Poland is sophomore class president and a member of the Student Council. Poland also was a member of the casts of "Ten Little Indians," "The Merchant of Venice," and has appeared in several Experimental Theater productions.

His opponent, Earisman, a sophomore English major from Harrisburg, Pa., is a member of the Vesper Choir.

This year is the first time that the newly installed method of student elections has been used. Vigorous campaigns carried on by candidates and their campaign managers brought out the largest number of students to vote in the history of Student Council.

Complete election results are as follows:

President, Nish, 467; Cowan, 131; Parvin, 124.

Vice-president, Earisman, 269; Poland, 240; Meriwether, 218.

Social Chairman, Dance, 426; Onifer, 185; Gearhart, 110.

A total of 722 persons voted for president, 727 for vice-president, and 721 for social chairman.

FOR MAY DAY

Virginia Hand Elected Queen; Attendants Named

Virginia Hand was elected May Queen by the senior class last Monday and Tuesday. Following tradition, senior class president Chester Phillips, will be crowned king of May Day. Miss Hand is an education major from Alcoa, and Phillips is a Bible major from Fargo, N. D.

Miss Hand has chosen for her attendants Margaret Andrews, English major from Maryville, and Barbara Eggleston, English major from Marinette, Wis.

Junior class attendants will be Hilda Roberts, escorted by D. M. Miller, and Jack Buckley who will escort Martha Kincaid. Miss Roberts is a home economics major from Marianna, Fla. Her escort is a physical education major from Knoxville. Buckley is a business major from East Butler, Penn., and Miss Kincaid is a dietetics major from Grove City, Penn.

The sophomore class chose as their attendants brother and sister Barbara and Joe McNeil from Townsend. Miss McNeill, an education major, has selected George Stanfill, philosophy major from Shelbyville, to escort her, and her brother, a math major, will escort Pat Love, education major from Oak Ridge.

Freshman attendants are Sally Sutton and Jim Kren. Miss Sutton, from Chevy Chase, Md., will be escorted by Al Springfield, Atlantic City, New Jersey. Kren, from Pitcairn, Pa., will escort Polly Onifer from Mambeury, W. Va.

Queen Virginia and King Chester, attended by the class sponsors, will reign over the pageant, "Plantation Story," after their coronation.

MAINTENANCE CREW WORKS ON AMPHITHEATRE GROUNDS

Under the direction of E. C. Brown, college engineer, the campus crew made a few minor repairs this week on the amphitheatre in anticipation of the Easter sunrise service and May Day.

One bridge was repaired, and a new one built. The crew also checked the power lines, and mowed the grass.

Nabholz, Corbett, Greco Compete In Alexander Oratorical Contest

T. T. Alexander Oratorical Content will be held publicly Thursday evening at seven o'clock in Bartlett Hall. Competing for the prize this year are Hedy Nabholz, senior from Greenbelt, Md., Carol Corbett, sophomore from Jacksonville, Fla., and Delores Greco, freshman from Trenton, N. J.

The oratorical contest is under the supervision of Bible and religious education faculty. Donor of the reward remains anonymous in this contest named in honor of one of Maryville's foreign missionaries. The prize, amounting to $100, is divided between two finalists, on a sixty-forty basis.

Manuscripts are first judged by a committee before the public oration is given. Each manuscript is submitted without identification and the name remains unknown to the judges until the winning one is chosen.

Contest is open to men and women in alternate years. Next year it will be open to men students. Last year's winner was Roger Cowan with Carroll Stegall in second place.

Workshop Broadcasts Dramatic Fantasy

Radio Workshop presents "Letter to Mrs. Stewart," a dramatic fantasy by Tom Wheeler, Monday night at 8 on WGAP.

The plot is based on one of the many post-war problems that mothers of veterans face.

The cast includes Bill Starr, Dot Holverson, Joe Poland and Jim Black, director of the play. Jim Frost will sing two popular request numbers and a guest artist from the campus will also sing.

1949-50 YWCA Cabinet Announced

Dorothy Holverson, newly elected president of YWCA and English major from Monticello, Ind., has announced the new Y cabinet for 1949-50.

Co-chairmen in charge of Barnwarming are Virginia Schwarz, psychology major from Glenside, Pa., and Sarah Durant, education major from Birmingham, Ala.

Alita Bryant from Wilmington, N. C., and Winnie Schaumberg from San Antonio, Texas, will be co-chairmen for Devotions. House chairmen are Beverly Musick from Shelbiana, Ky., and Elaine Smith from Philadelphia, Pa.

Missions department is divided into three parts: Orphanage, Margaret Ann Brown from Laurel, Md.; Negro, Marian McBride from Washington, D. C.; Home Avenue, Joy Parker from Ripley. Ann Gates from Fulton, Mo., will be in charge of publicity.

Ruth Davis and Wilma Robinson, both of Maryville, will be on the M Book staff. Social committee chairmen are Louise Lloyd from Maryville and Betty Jo Smith from Greeneville. Mary Holly Webb from Harrisburg, Pa., and Peggy Cummings from Maryville are chairman of the Worship committee. Ann Jenkins from Jamestown is Radio Chairman.

Judy Breen from West Palm Beach, Fla., has been chosen Nu Gamma chairman. She with the co-operation of the cabinet has chosen the Nu Gamma leaders for next year. They are Cora Anthony, Katherine Blackburn, Barbara Blum, Marianna Brogden, Lucy Carrick, Betty Carroll, Nannette Enloe, Edith Lancaster, Susie Martin, Ruth McSween, Judy Matterson, Agnes Patterson, Ella Swift, and Sally Sutton.

Pi Gamma chairman and the Y Store representative are to be announced later.

Curtain Rises Friday On Spring Serenade

Hughes At Organ, Men's Glee Club, Girls' Choir Join In Pops Concert

Springtime Serenade of 1949 will be given Friday night, April 22, in Alumni gym at 8 o'clock. Serenade, directed by Curtis Hughes, features the combined choirs, Men's Glee Club and All Girl Choir. Soloists are Kennedy Garrison, Wallace Moore, Betty Field, Don Hyatt, Mary Taylor Hicks, and Maurine Owen. Tickets are .50 and have already gone on sale.

Curtis Hughes will direct from the argon with John Sayre and Carolyn Marshall accompanying at the piano, and Fred Sieber, continuity.

Program

Program will open with the theme, Romberg's "Serenade" from the "Student Prince," sung behind a transparent curtain which will rise at the end of the number to present the first selection of Springtime Serenade. Borrowed from '48 Serenade is "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" also by Romberg. Following are "Great Day," Youmans, and "It's A Grand Night for Singing" by Rodgers.

Kennedy Garrison will solo Porter's "Night and Day," after which the group sings Victor Herbert's "Toyland" and Irving Berlin's "Easter Parade."

Wallace Moore and Betty Fields will sing Friml's "Sympathy" in duet for the next number. "All the Things You Are" by Jerome Kern is the following selection by the choirs. Men's Glee Club will sing "Wiffenpoof Song" by Pomeroy with Don Hyatt tenor soloist, followed by the All Girl Choir's rendition of Herbert's "Kiss Me Again."

Mary Taylor Hicks will then sing "I'm Falling in Love With Someone," also by Herbert. "Make Believe" by Kern, "Deep Purple," DeRose, "Tea for Two" and "Without a Song" by Youmans follow her solo.

Maurine Owen sings next "Romance" by Romberg followed by choir selections from Rodger's "Oklahoma": "Oh, What A Beautiful Mornin'," "People Will Say We're In Love," "The Survey With the Fringe on Top," and title song, "Oklahoma."

Serenade will end with "This Is My Country" by Jacobs with patriotic lighting effects similar to last year's "Your Land and My Land."

Connsonata organ is by courtesy of Knoxville Music Center; stage set is the work of Howard Cameron, stage manager, and crews under his direction.

Set, Costumes

Set for '49 Serenade will be more elaborate than the previous one. It will be built on the idea of a picture frame employing two curtains. Second curtain will not rise until after the theme.

Girls will be dressed in white evening dresses and men in white coats and dark trousers.

Chicago Nursing School Caps Ex-MC Student, Welcomes Applications

Betty Baumer of Maywood, Ill., a former MC student, was among 53 freshman who received nurses' caps at impressive exercises conducted by the School of Nursing of Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago, in March.

Being "capped" signifies that a student has successfully completed the preclinical course given during the first six months, and has been accepted into full standing in the nursing school for the remaining two and one half years required to qualify for State registration as a professional nurse.

Students in the Presbyterian nursing school receive clinical instruction and nursing experience in a 480-bed hospital and an out-patient dispensary which together provide care to more than 24,000 different patients annually. Graduate nurses give classroom instruction and supervise nursing assignments.

Instruction in the classroom, at the bedside, and in the outpatient clinics is given also by the medical staff of Presbyterian Hospital and other well-known medical men on the faculty of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, with which the hospital is affiliated.

Announcing that applications are now being received for the September 1949 class, Miss Henrietta Froehlke, director of the school, states that inquiries will be welcomed from Maryville College students who are interested in considering nursing careers.

Applicants holding college degrees will be allowed a time credit up to eight months toward the three-year course required for State registration, the director added.

Sophs To Nominate; Frosh Hear Dean

Sophomores will hold a short meeting after Chapel next Thursday for the purpose of nominating next year's class officers and Student Council members.

A brief meeting of the freshman class was held last Thursday after Chapel. Dr. Frank McClelland explained the use of Student Record Books, major cards, and details concerning spring registration.

Dean Announces Course Changes For Next Semester

Schedule of courses for next year has been completed, Dr. E. R. Hunter, dean of curriculum, announced this week. The following changes in course offerings were made.

In art two majors are to be offered, one with emphasis on art history and one with emphasis on applied art. Introduction to Art Expression, the beginning course, is common to both majors. This 101-102 course is part history and part studio. Remaining years, the studio major will take courses consisting of four hours a week of scheduled studio work and two additional hours to be arranged with a total of two hours of credit each semester. In addition the studio major will be required to take 12 hours in art history and the six hours of special studies.

A new Bible course is added, Religious Education Organization and Administration. This course and Bible 306, Story of the Bible and Studies in Aprocrypha, are second-semester courses.

In biology Genetics and Histology are to alternate, Genetics being offered next year in the second semester and Histology being given in 1950-51.

Education Requirement

Because many states require special methods training for teachers rather than general, the former course Education 302 first semester will be changed to Education 305, Special Methods in High School Subjects.

For Elementary Education 342, School Music: Materials and Methods, the music course numbered 1, called Fundamentals of Musicianship or an equivalent in terms of advancement in music knowledge will be a prerequisite.

In English the two "sweep" courses in drama, 328 and novel, 327 will be taught in that order in spite of the sequence of numbers. The present 340 course, which includes literature of the romantic and Victorian periods, is divided into two courses. Course 339 is English Literature of the Romantic Movement and 340 is English Literature of the Victorian Period. Twentieth Century English and American Literature, formerly numbered 321 has the number 342, indicating better its order in the chronology of the period courses.

In French, course 304 is changed in scope and has the new title French Drama of the Seventeenth Century, and course 305 is changed to French Literature of the Eighteenth Century. A second intermediate French course, 202, is set up to be called Intermediate French Reading and Conversation. It will give some special emphasis to phonetics. French 312 will be discontinued.

In German, the number of course 313 is changed to 202. It is still called Classical German.

New Home Ec Course

In home economics a course called Advanced Dressmaking, 316 is set up. Prerequisite is course 101 or 313. However it is a sort of additional elective beyond the so-called "Bride's Course," and may be taken without prerequisite with special permission of the instructor.

There is no special change in music except that at least a technical separation is established between the regular music major sequences and the program of training in school music. The requirements for the degree in school music are left practically unchanged, but those completing

Civil Service Teachers, Children's Books Jobs Announcement Revealed

U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for teachers and teacher-advisor, from which positions in the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior, will be filled. The positions are located in various sections of the country where Indian schools are situated.

Students interested may obtain information and application forms at most first and second class post offices, from civil-service regional offices, or by writing direct to the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until further notice; however, persons who wish to receive early consideration should have their applications on file not later than April 26, 1949.

Anyone interested in selling Childcraft books for children at a commission this summer may receive information about this job at the Alumni Public Relations Office.

Cowan Wins Superior At Speech Tournament

Roger Cowan, junior from Woodbury Heights, N.J., won a superior rating in men's oratory at the Pi Kappa Delta's four-day speech tournament's close. The speech event was held in connection with the national honorary intercollegiate forensic society's sixteenth biennial convention.

Three other students who participated in the event are Eric Meadows, Beaver, Pa.; James Torrey, Hallowell, Pa.; and Carol Corbett, Dr. Verton M. Queener, debate coach, accompanied the group.

IN HOLY WEEK

'SENDONY,' SUNRISE SERVICES CLIMAX LENT

In Amphitheatre—

At 6:01 tomorrow morning, the twelfth annual Easter Sunrise service will be held in the College amphitheatre. A brass section from the band will awaken the campus with Easter music played from the tower of Anderson Hall, and students are to join the procession through the college woods.

President Ralph Lloyd is the minister, and the Vesper Choir will furnish the music. Programs to be distributed give the words to solos, responsive readings, and anthems, so the audience can follow the service.

The choir, dressed in black with white neck scarfs, will sing "Christ is Arisen," Hirsch; "Alleluia! Christ is Risen," Kopolyoff; Palestrina's "The Lord's Prayer" and "Alleluia! The Strife Is O'er"; "How Brightly Shines Our Morning Star," Schumann; Grieg's "God's Son Hath Set Me Free"; "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," Williams; and "God Goes Up on High," by Gallus. Following the benediction, the choir will sing the "Sevenfold Amen."

Preceding the service the choir, brass section, and faculty members will be breakfast guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd.

Easter Vespers, Sunday evening at 7 in the library, will be a devotional service with the President speaking and choral music.

Anthems for the service are "Go to Dark Gethsemane," Noble; "Were You There," a Negro spiritual arranged by H. T. Burleigh; "Salvation is Created" by Tschesnokoff; "O Praise Ye God," Tschaikowsky; and Thompson's "Alleluia."

For the past week, chapel speakers have taken the daily devotion from scripture corresponding with the last days of Christ.

Speakers were Dr. Ralph Lloyd, Dr. Ralph Case, Dr. E. R. Hunter, and Dr. J. D. Buchanan. Music was presented each morning but one by the Vesper Choir.

On Wednesday morning, Peggy Howell, '48, sang the introduction to "The Seven Last Days of Christ" by Dubois.

On Friday the service was meditations on the seven words from the Cross. Following the congregational hymn and scripture reading of the account of the crucifixion, the choir sang "Go to Dark Gethsemane" by Noble.

The first three words were given by David Engelhardt, the fourth and fifth words by Dean Frances Massey, and the last two words by Dr. H. E. Orr. Each meditation was followed by silent prayer and a choral response.

Under the sponsorship of the Pre-Ministerial Association, a devotional program has been held each day from 1 to 1:20 in Bartlett Hall.

Carrying out the theme of the week, "Our Life and Christ," Carroll Stegall spoke Monday on "Our Life and His Betrayal." Music was by the Conqueror's quartet.

Del Earisman spoke on Tuesday, using the topic, "Our Life and His Suffering." Dick Ribble played special piano selections.

"His Death and Our Life," was

Easter Play—

YM-YW present this year's Easter play, "Cloth of Sendony," tonight in Bartlett Auditorium. The first performance is at 7:30 p.m., the second at 9.

Setting of the play is the home of Joseph of Arimathaea, just outside Jerusalem. The time is Holy Week.

Characters turn out to be well-known Bible figures who have been acquainted with Jesus at one time or another during His ministry, and who eventually meet at the home of Joseph (Bill Starr).

Joseph's niece, Susannah (Dot Holverson), is sought in marriage by David (Dave Reed), the rich young ruler whom Jesus instructed to sell all he had and give to the poor.

Nicodemus (Joe Poland) is Joseph's best friend and member of the Sanhedrin who speaks in Jesus' behalf.

Jarius (John Shew) is the father of Judith (Judy Breen), the twelve-year-old whom Jesus raised from the dead. Dorothy Berrong is a servant in Joseph's house.

As these people meet in Joseph's home, they express concern at the outcome of Jesus' visit to Jerusalem. As it turns out, they were right.

Three priests of the temple (Charles Williams, Arthur Haaf, and Ken Newell) have plotted with Judas to betray Jesus. David almost falls in with their plans, but comes to his senses with the death of Jesus. Joseph realizes the true meaning of Jesus' life and offers his family tomb for His burial.

Wally Moore is directing the play. Joe Claud is House Manager, Ruth Heaps, Stage Manager, and Dick Ribble, music consultant.

Progress Report

MC's election turnout seems to vindicate the petitions, campaign, popular election system inaugurated this year. Council's plan for more democratic student government and the voting 78% of the student body are both to be commended for this forward step.

Compared to the 50% throughout the nation who voted in the last US Presidential election and the handful of clubwomen and court house hangers-on who struggle to polls in city-county elections, Maryville's government-mindedness is almost phenomenal.

Next step is for a change in traditional after-election attitude. Council members would feel a lot better about their jobs of representing if their constituents gave a few more of the proverbially ungiven hoots when issues of interest are before Council. That distinguished legislative body, it might be reiterated, has few sessions which are not open to anyone, especially those who claim they never know what Student Council or its officers will do next.

There is, we believe, some justice to the charge of an unrepresentative campus governing body in only one particular. The Council is weighted with upperclassmen—especially seniors. This situation is not due to the senior class' having proportionally and actually more representatives, but to the preponderance of seniors in other campus posts which carry with them a seat on the Council.

Whether this overbalance of representation from the smallest class is bad is debatable. Worthwhile consideration of this matter of reapportionment, which plagues so many of our state governments, might be in order.

On Taking Sides

Our College has not been faced with the problems of what to do with dissenters. Some of Maryville's sister colleges—Bloomfield, for example—have, and, we believe, have dealt with them unsuccessfully in that their only solution was dismissal of those who could not agree with their political standards.

Fortunately or not, most of us are never beset by anything contrary to freedom of thought. Indeed, the question is sometimes so remote as to leave us without definite ideas at all. There should be no interpretation of this freedom that lets it slip easily into taking no sides or into the other, noisier extreme of destructively condemning everything. The perpetual "a plague on both your houses" is seldom ucational terms. But being content just because "things have always been done that way" is no answer.

We feel we are doing nicely in many fields of endeavor—and in economic, religious, political, and educational terms. But being just because "things have always been done that way" is no answer.

It is the small mind content with almost anything once used to it; it is the small mind which enjoys a freedom from, not of thought.

APOLOGIES TO THOMAS MOORE

Oft in the stilly night,
Ere' Baldwin's chain has bound me,
Bad delusions bring the light,
Of a visitor around me;
The screams, the tears,
Of wierd fears,
The skirts held off the floor;
What do I see,
Amid debree,
Scamper and skid towards the door?
Thus in the stilly night,
Ere' Baldwin's chain has bound me,
Bad delusions bring the light,
Of a visitor around me.

When I remember all
Of what I saw that nite,
I refuse to stall
And be prey of such delight;
I feel like one,
Who treads alone,
Late to dinner's call.
From what I see
I must flee—
It is a baby cock roach.
Thus, in the stilly night,
Ere' Baldwin's chain has bound me,
Bad delusions bring the light,
Of a visitor around me.

HERE'S A BIT OF LORE

They were playing the andante movement.
I didn't even know she could dance, this
Aunt Dante of yours.
Have you any idea what andante movement is?
Sure—she's an Italian lady and her father was an Italian Poet.
He wrote a famous poem.
You mean Dante's Inferno?
He's where?
Not where. Dante's Inferno.
I didn't know that—when did he leave?
He's been dead over a hundred years.
Is that so? I didn't even know he was sick.

Talk of The Week

WALLACE MOORE

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

CAPITOL CAPERS

William Bendix shifts his uproarious "Life of Riley" from radio to movies for Monday-Tuesday showing at the Capitol next week. Bendix' weekly radio show has gained a great deal of popularity during the years it has been on the air, but movie reviewers have not been very kind to the screen version of Riley's troubles.

Among the rather unnecessary changes made from radio to screen was a switch from the Riley's own home to a boarding house. This change brought in a new character, a managing landlady, whose comedy touch is not deft and adds little if anything to the picture.

Least changed is Digger O'Dell, John Brown's conception of the Friendly Undertaker, who appears practically as you've imagined him. While the comedy in this movie is not up to brother B's talents on the air, if you like his radio show you'll like his movie and vice versa.

CHASED BUT UNCONQUERED

When C. B. deMille makes a technicolor spectacle, he makes a technicolor spectacle! "Unconquered," showing Wednesday through Friday at the Capitol, stars Gary Cooper and Paulette Goddard and is easily the pic of the week.

Color brings out the best in Paulette, and she brings out the best in Coper. She plays a luscious bond-slave who's sold to Cooper, then stolen back by the cruel slave-trader who imported her from England. The resulting chase results partly from Indian insurrections and include Cooper, Goddard & Co. canoeing down the rapids and over a huge waterfall.

The photography is excellent, and the costumes and make-up, especially those of the characters playing George Washington and Mason and Dixon, are extremely authentic.

Miss Goddard's costume throughout most of the picture is a heavy-duty lace petticoat which she is nearly burned at the stake in, flees the Indians in, goes over the waterfall in, and finally has very little left of.

Saturday's showing is the usual Western.

FROGS AND SHREWS

For its last appearance this semester, Experimental Theatre produced what were perhaps the most experimetal plays ever to be done on its stage.

Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" was cut down to "Katherine and Petruchio" for 45-minute running time. Excellent characterizations were given by Mitch Wooldridge as the too-hot-to-handle Kate and Dave Reed as asbestos-gloved Pete.

John Mills did an excellent job of scene stealing with his very mobile face and well-timed delivery.

Aristophanes' "Frogs" featured more bare backs and legs than we've seen in a coon's age. An almost entirely amateur cast kept well the pace set by veteran actor Wally Moore as fat and jolly Bacchus.

Perhaps a program note on Greek mythology would have been helpful to those who found the comedy amusing but plotless.

DIAL SPINNING

Seniors, "comps" completed, are now fit subjects to go on radio quiz shows. The air waves are still crowded with them, tho their popularity has waned since the ban on huge prize giveaways.

Ralph Edwards, whose party quiz show places less emphasis on Truth than on Consequences, is emceeing a clever new show called This is Your Life. Half-forgotten buddies of people who appear on this show pop up to rehash old memories.

Altho the interviewed persons are not particularly famous, their old friends sometimes turn out to be, and Ralph Edwards is at his best on this completely heart-warming show. Check the time and station in local papers.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

And we do mean attractions!

"Cloth of Sendony," coming tonight in two performances, is the YM-YW—produced annual Easter pageant. Bill Starr and Ann Jenkins head the cast of a Biblical drama.

Springtime Serenade, coming April 22, features 80-some voices singing excerpts from popular operettas on one of the most elaborate sets yet to be constructed for a College performance. Tickets to this second annual presentation will go on sale soon at 50c—get yours quick, as we predict a quick gobble-up of best seats.

Skit Night, coming April 23, will see one of the four competing societies win for a year the "Skit Oscar" for a clever, original, 15-minute skit.

"Wuthering Heights," coming May 14 and 16, is Theta Alpha Phi's production of the Bronte novel. Big question now: Bill Nish bleach his hair for his role? Annual commencement play will be given at Maryville High School, tickets to go on sale early in May.

Mynatt Heads Pi Gamma Officers For Next Year

Tommie Mynatt, of Knoxville, was elected president of Pi Gamma at a call meeting Thursday morning after Chapel. Charlie Spencer, Alcoa, is the newly elected vice-president, and Mary Lee Snodderly, Maryville, secretary-treasurer. All three are freshmen.

Pi Gamma is sponsored by the YWCA for all town girls to promote friendship between town students and dorm girls. Ann Paris, Alcoa, is the outgoing president.

Newell Elected Head Of Ministerial Group

Ken Newell was elected president of Pre-Ministerial Association in a meeting Thursday evening to elect officers for the new year. Working with Newell will be John Shew, first vice-president; Orval Wintermute, second vice-president; and George Ogle, secretary-treasurer.

The organization is for those planning to enter the Christian ministry. David Campbell is the retiring president.

LOCKMILLER TO SPEAK AT THURSDAY CHAPEL

President David A. Lockmiller of the University of Chattanooga is to be guest speaker during chapel service, April 21. He will also make public recognition of 13 seiors, newly elected to Alpha Gamma Sigma. Members of the honorary scholastic society are chosen from upper ten per cent of the graduating class.

ECHO FORUM

To the Editor of The Echo:

The students here at Maryville made their choice for president of the Student Body by secret ballot Monday and Tuesday. They voted in greater numbers than ever before, and thus assured all that the president would be the choice of the majority of the students, not merely the choice of a few. This was one of the aims of the new system for elections and the turnout of voters those two days has helped to prove that we needed such a system.

On behalf of Chuck Parvin, his supporters, and myself, I wish to extend to Bill Nish my sincere congratulations and best wishes for a successful year as president of the Student Body. It is my hope that he will have the unqualified support of every student, whether they voted for him or not. His job will be difficult, and he deserves the support and encouragement of the entire Student Body in all his actions.

I would also like to express my gratitude and that of Chuck to all who voted for him and helped in his campaign. I hope that they will work as fervently for continued good student government in the coming year as they have in this campaign.

Carl M. Lazenby.

To the Editor of The Echo:

May I extend my warmest congratulations to Jim Dance, our new Social Chairman. Once again the voice of the people has spoken. I am pleased that such a large number of students voted, giving us a truly representative result.

To those who voted for and supported me I offer my sincere thanks. I am confident that we will all back Jim and thus enjoy another year of successful and well-planned social life.

Benson Gearheart

To The Editor of The Echo:

Again, through your columns, we would express thanks for work well done. To all who in any way contributed to the productions of the Experimental Theatre on April 9, we would voice appreciation for every effort put forth to make the experiment of lasting value.

●TUFF STUFF—Perhaps the stiffest competition about now for the Highlander diamond nine will be afforded by the Tennessee Tech team which are hosts to the Scot club today. Last year Tech fell, 7-6 in the first game here, but at Cookeville the Highlanders were barely able to scratch as the Techmen tromped to a 14-3 victory. Squadmen voted TPI as the third strongest team faced in the '48 season. Indications are that Coach Wilburn Tucker, Tech baseball mentor, has a veteran team back. If bingles are scarce today for Scot basemen, therell be another time to strike in next Wednesday's game with TPI here. And next week'll be another four game baseball week—Tusculum, there, Monday; Tennessee Tech, here, Tuesday; Lincoln Memorial, there, Thursday; and Carson-Newman in town on Saturday.

●PITCHING AND HITTING—critical parts of any baseball machine—are still the turners of the tide for the locals, too. What with Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil slugging out homers and only one-fourth of the season by, things are looking up. And on the mound, Jimmy Kren & Hawkins, freshmen headliners, are shutting out in pace with veterans Berrong and Honaker. There's plenty of spark in Coach Honaker's '49 edition that hasn't spit yet, too.

●WITHOUT SWINGING out on a limb in tennis predictions, one can safely say Maryville's racquetmen have astonished local fans with successive blanks in the opening meetings of the season. Milligan, however, fell with a little more trouble, but up to this writing, Wes Miles, Clyde McCampbell, Ches Anderson, and Harold Hunter—the top four—were holders of perfect records. Sid Rice's LMU racquet squad, who visit this afternoon, retained the 3, 4, 5, and 6 men of the '48 squad. Coach Rice, an LMU grad, formerly at Milligan as football end and track coach, is new to the Railsplitter tennis team. The squad is predominately sophomore and junior material. LMU is building from the bottom.

●A RECORD BREAKING year may be in store for the Orange and Garnet track outfit. One of the first records that will be broken is the eight year old string of trackless springs on the MC oval. It'll hardly be a year like 1939 when the squad set six high marks in the track and field records. With Hap Brahams' hurdling skill back in the eligible side, the ace Kay-Brahams one-two over-the-top routine comes back in style. Danny Sheffield's pole vaulting, Harold Ammons' javeling, and Ray Lillard's high jumping are taking notice in the field events. For the dashes and middle distances, the competition hasn't leveled out, but Charlie Allen, Brick Brahams, Walt English, Sid Lambert, and Jimmy Thurston are counted as contenders. For the milers, the running of Del Earisman, Charles Mabry, Bill Menges, and Paul Kidder will dominate.

SCOT RACQUETEERS DUST C-N FOR FOURTH COURT WIN

MC's Top Four Still Undefeated in Singles

Six Scottie tennis teamers dusted off Carson-Newman's netters here yesterday, 8-1, for MC's fourth straight spring court win. All six singles matches and two out of three doubles pairings went to Maryville, as Coach Ken Johnson's proteges dropped only three sets.

No set scores went over the minimum six-games-won tally. Johnson's first six men, the same now as in the last two matches, all won quickly in their solo stints on the dusty memorial courts.

Highland racqueteers meet LMU tennismen this afternoon at 2 p.m. on Memorial courts. MC took first match from LMU, 8-0, on April 1.

Joe Gibson, number one C-N netman, played well in losing to Wes Miles, while Brasher and Prevost got the lone point for the opponents in a hard-fought duel of duos.

An extra doubles match, Miles-McCampbell versus Bean-Johnson, was put on toward the close of the day's activities purely for entertainment and served its purpose well.

Icy winds chilled players, spectators, and judges alike. A starting time of three o'clock instead of two took the matches right up to suppertime.

Miles, McCampbell, Anderson, and Hunter have yet to lose, each having bagged four straight. Anderson sparkled most brightly for Maryville's singles efforts yesterday, though all Scotmen picked up points.

SUMMARY

Singles

1—Miles over Gibson, 6-4, 6-0.
2—McCampbell over Bean, 6-1, 6-3
3—Anderson over Brooks, 6-0, 6-0.
4—Hunter over Parker, 6-0, 6-2.
5—Gage over Johnson, 6-3, 6-3.
6—Sayres over Brasher, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles

1—Miles-McCampbell over Gibson Bean, 6-0, 6-2.
2—Anderson-Hunter over Brooks-Parker, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.
3—Brasher-Prevost (C-N) over Gage-Sayres, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Intramurals....

By Neal Pearson

Eightballs Cop Pennant

Eightballs clinched the Intramural pennant yesterday by swamping Creamers in the feature game of the season, 18-4, behind "Ham" Ammon's 2-hit pitching. Babe Keny and "Leaky" Campbell led a 12-hit batting attack against Fred Kluth and Bob Larsen, who took Nelson Forrester's place on the mound, by bashing out two homeruns in the fifth inning. Bill King, erstwhile pitcher playing shortstop for the champs, was not to be outdone, for every time he got on the basepaths he scored a run, coming across the plate four times. Ammons pitched steadily all the way, and was never bothered save in the fifth when Fred Kluth and "Ike" Eisenburg scratched singles off of him.

Eightballs	650 25	18	12	0
Creamers	002 02	4	2	0

Batteries—Eightballs: Ammons and Roberts.
Creamers:—Larson, Kluth (3), and Taylor.

Special to The Echo

Highlander baseballers toppled Middle Tennessee State's nine, 7-5, yesterday on the Murfreesboro diamond. Jim Hawkins led the Honakermen to their fourth straight victory with his pitching, slugging and a spectacular steal of home in the second inning.

Speedy, alert baserunning was a big factor in the win, with Buckley and Pentz swiping a pair of sacks apiece. The Scotties made their hits count, racking up seven tallies on seven blows with Hawkins' two-bagger the only extra-sack rap.

Scots Run First Home Meet Since '41, Travel to Milligan Relays Saturday

Maryville's 1949 track season opens Friday afternoon with the Highlander track squad host to Tennessee Tech's cinder team, and the following morning the Scot thin-clads shove off for the Milligan Relays to enter dash and distance competition with 23 regional colleges.

Not since '41, when Coach John A. Davis sent a Scot track crew to third place in the state meet has the MC oval been visited by an intercollegiate track contest. Last of the memorable varsity to third place in the state meet, with LMU April 13, 1940, when the then defending state champions under captain Joe Etheredge and Doug Steakley led the Scot squad during the fatal illness of Coach Bob Thrower, pioneer power in track and wrestling at MC.

Although severely hampered by incessant April showers, Coach Davis has hopes for bright weather and an opportunity to find leaders early in the coming week for the week-end's heavy work. At Echo press time, however, no definite choice could be made for Scot starters, but likely starters are indicated below on the basis of early showings.

Yesterday, Coach Davis guided the 32 track men through time-trials for the first time within the week. Rolling and leveling the cinders on the track will come under attention within the next few days.

100 yard dash—Walt English, Allen Law, Charles Allen, Bob Kay, 220 dash—Sid Lambert, Allen, Brick Brahams; 440—Lambert, English, Jimmy Thurston, Kay; 880—George Robarts, George Day, Ric Rogers.

One mile—Del Earisman, Charles Mabry, Bill Menges; Two mile—Earisman, Paul Kidder, Menges; 120 high hurdles—Kay, Hap Brahams, Will Rahn; 220 low hurdles—H. Brahams, Kay.

High jump—Ray Lillard, Craig Fisher; Broad Jump—Don Walker, Thurston, Lambert; Pole vault—Danny Sheffield, "Tubby" Callaway, Walker; Javelin—Harold Ammons, Kenneth Andes, Walker; Shotput—Jim Lester, Al Springfield; Discus—Walker, Rahn, Springfield.

Additional men out include Bob Larson and Richard Isenburg for the shotput, Bob Frost, Bill Lenoir, and Gregg Eubanks in the middle distances, Ray Packard in the mile, and Bob Kees, Clarence Reaser, and Charles Holsinger in the dashes.

The TPI trackers, under Coach Calvin Frey, have already tested their strength—losing by a low score to Vanderbilt's Commodores. The Tech Squad follows:

440 relay team—Albert McCall, Wade Odom, Roy Minton; Milers—Theron Davis and Marvis Cunningham; 880—David Gray, Roy Minton; 440—McCall, Minton; 220—Jamie Warden, Bill Boyd; 100—Warden, Robert Crownover.

Javelin—Don and Wade Odom; Shotput—Harold Brewer; Broad Jump—James Elam; High Jump—W. Burgess, Paul Crick, Thompson; Pole Vault—Thompson, Crick.

MC Team Downs Milligan, 6-3, Miles Elected Captain

At an election held this week, Wesley Miles was elected captain of the Maryville College tennis team.

An English major from Huntington, Long Island, N. Y., he is a sophomore and a letterman from last year's squad. Currently, Miles is number one man on the team.

Maryville netmen continued their winning streak when they journeyed to Milligan and downed them, 6-3, last Saturday.

Miles, McCampbell, Anderson, Hunter won their first two sets, while Gage won two out of three. Sayres lost two out of three. In the doubles Gage and Ayres, and McCampbell lost; Hunter and Anderson won.

I-M TRACK MEET SET FOR APRIL 28

Coach Johnson announced this week that Hap Brahams will direct an intramural track tournament Thursday week, April 28. All men of the college are eligible except varsity track lettermen.

Events included in the meeting are as follows:

One mile, two mile, 880 yard run, 440 yard run, 220 dash, 100 dash for the running events. The 120 high and 220 low hurdles and the mile relay for special events, and field events consisting of competition in the shot, javelin, discus high jump, pole vault, and broad jump.

Societies Match Skits To Win Annual Trophy In Contest Next Week

Four campus societies compete in Alumni Gym next Saturday night in the College's annual skit contest.

The winning society will receive a loving cup to keep until next year's contest. Bainonian now holds the cup.

Co-chairmen for Theta Epsilon are Buffie Carver and Judy Breen. Grace Gugger and Naomi Hoffman wrote the skit, which is termed "terrific" by committee members.

Beverly Moore and Marilyn Edge, Theta program chairmen, are also working on the skit. All that can be said at the present time is that Angus is a dominating character.

Bainonian's skit, titled, "A Bit of Scandal," was written by Marian McBride. Dolores Green is working with her on the program. Theirs is a you-name-it concerning five old maids (a hostess, a widow, and three old hens).

Jim Dance is in charge of the Athenian program which concerns Town night carryings-on. Ben Gearhart is planning the Alpha Sigma skit.

The Social Board is sponsoring the contest in cooperation with the four societies.

Warriors on Warpath

Happy Warriors went on the warpath blasting Hotshots, 10-4, on a 13-hit outburst. The Tribe's batting attack came to life against the cellar occupants and after the third frame Charles Blalock had nothing to worry about as his fielders scooped up everything in their reach in making three double plays which broke the back of said number of rallies. The game was marked by absence of long hits; fifteen of the game's twenty blows were singles—exceptions being a blast by Andrew Johnson of the losers which went for four bases and a triple by "Bud" Garrison; doubles made up the rest of the extra base smacks.

Teams	Innings	R	H	E
Hotshots	202 00	4	7	0
Happy Warriors	108 1x	10	13	0

Batteries—Hotshots: Bender and Newell, Gresham (3).
Happy Warriors: Blalock and Pearson.

BOB's Bob Two

BOB's won two games yesterday on the Golf Course, defeating Alpha Sigma in the opener, 7-4, and Athenian, 9-8, in the nightcap.

Making nine singles count, Sherman Lester's men racked up five runs in three innings to give manager Lester sufficient lead to hold down the Trotter-team. Bruce and Don DeNagy contributed two singles apiece in another game whose hit-run production consisted of the proverbial "Texas Leaguers"—Everett Zabriskie's homer in the third being the only extra-base hit of the game.

Teams	Innings	R	H	E
BOB's	221 02	7	9	0
Alpha Sigma	001 12	4	6	0

Batteries—BOB's: Lester and Wainer.
Alpha Sigma: Zabriskie and Godwin.

Coming back after a short rest, Bored Old Bachelors eked out a 9-8 win over Athenian, fellow-organization of Alpha Sigma. With both teams making as many runs as hits, BOB's ran off to a quick nine-run lead in the second inning to solidify a tie with Y for third spot in the standings—a position which will go one way or another to the winner of the game between these two on Monday. Bruce DeNagy, George Ogle, Don DeNagy, and Frank Farmer, first four men in the lineup, did almost all of the Lester-team's hitting by garnering two hits apiece and tallying seven of their nine runs. Bill Shields got two base-raps to score two runs to lead the losing cause.

Teams	Innings	R	H	E
Athenian	222 02	8	8	0
BOB's	540 0x	9	9	1

Batteries—Athenian: Shields and Thiesse.
BOB's: Lester and Wainer.

Four Societies Compete For Trophy In Annual Skit Contest Tonight

Social Board Sponsors Program In Alumni Gym

Four campus societies compete tonight at 8 in Alumni Gym in the annual skit contest for the loving cup now held by Athenian Society.

Programs, under the sponsorship of the Social Board, will be judged by a committee of three faculty members and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed, donators of the original cup. Each skit will last from 15 to 20 minutes.

Alpha Sigma will present "The Typical College Newspaper in Action," planned by Ben Gearhart. In the cast are Aubrey Galyon, Paul McNiel, Bob Cuthill, Andy Clark, Neale Pearson, and Ed Pancoast.

Theta's skit is a history of dancing beginning with the founding of Maryville College. Angus will be played by Beverly Moore and narrator is Margie Newland. They will be supported by a cast of 30 Theta girls. Sets will be done by Jerry Hopkins and Wilma Robinson.

Bainonian will give a skit written and directed by Marion McBride, using the theme of a ladies-aid meeting. Cast includes Rosie Pascal, Clara Miller, Doris Vinton, Louise Masters and Barbara Altfather.

Athenian has a skit planned by Jim Dance and Archie Swarztrauber. Its plot concerns Town Nite.

This is the third year of the contest. Bainonian won the trophy the first year. Athenian has held the cup since last spring.

Nominations Made For Athletic Board Control Members

Neff, Lester, Miller, Hamil, Kemp, Emery On Officer's Ballot

Thursday morning following chapel Jim Black, president of the Student Body, announced that a special committee had nominated the following students for Athletic Board of Control ballot: Bob Neff and Jim Lester, president. Hugh Hamil and D. M. Miller, vice-president; Sally Kemp and Zan Emery, secretary.

At the same time the student body nominated the following students to serve on the board as committee-members: Del Earisman, Bo Henry, Howard Davis, Jim Kren, Ken Smith, and Jim Baird for the boys; Edna Burkins, Mae Meriwether, Jean Davis, and Peggy Sangster for the girls.

Faculty members nominated for the board were Mrs. A. F. Peiper, Miss Jessie Heron, Dr. L. L. Williams, and Mrs. B. H. Brown.

In the final balloting students will vote for one of those running for the three offices, four of the boys and two of the girls nominated for committee positions, and two of the faculty for committee positions.

Earisman Wins V-P In Close Run-Off

In a run-off election held last Monday, Delbert Earisman from Harrisburg, Pa., was elected vice-president of the Student Body for the year 1949-50.

A sophomore English major, Earisman has been a member of Vesper Choir for two years, and was a member of Alpha Sigma-Theta Epsilon play, "Papa Is All." Earisman also holds the school's record for cross-country.

The run-off was a close one, with Earisman winning by only 22 votes. Final results of the race for vice-president were Earisman, 260 votes, Poland, 248 votes.

Herbert McCallum Heads IRC During 1949-50

Herbert McCallum, Sports Editor of The Highland Echo, was elected IRC President at the election meeting Monday night. Other officers are Paul McNeil, Vice-President; Frances Postlethwaite, Secretary; Lincoln Shimomura, Treasurer; and A. E. Galyon, Publicity Chairman.

Helen Gentry has been this year's president and Mrs. A. F. Pieper, faculty sponsor.

Hughes Writes Conducting Item For Magazine

Music instructor Curtis Hughes has an article titled "This Business of Conducting" published in the April edition of "The School Musician." A representative of the magazine wrote to him before Christmas asking him to write the article and he completed it during Christmas vacation. It was sent in early this spring and published this month.

"This Business of Conducting" is a comprehensive review of the qualifications necessary for becoming a well qualified conductor. Some of the points Hughes stresses are 1. conducting principles are the same for both choral and instrumental groups; 2. the young conductor should obtain every chance to see other people conduct, to study their methods and technique and ways of getting results with their groups; 3. a knowledge of the periods of musical history is essential so he may understand style and interpretation;

4. the conductor's ear must be keen, sensitive, and true so he can accurately listen to a rehearsal and hear the entire group play or sing a composition; 5. the conductor should be able to look at a score and hear the chord simply through sight; 6. a quality that should never be overlooked in a good and effective conductor is his personality.

Also included in the article were pictures of Hughes, and of his musical groups, the All Girl Choir, Men's Glee Club, concert band, and orchestra.

YM To See 'Amos' Film

YMCA will meet Sunday at 1:30 in Bartlett Auditorium to see a movie entitled "Amos, The Shepherd of Tekoa," based upon the Old Testament book and dealing with eternal social and economic problems.

Radio Workshop Airs Frost, 'Bennet's Prayer'

Radio Workshop will broadcast "Bennet's Prayer" over WGAP Monday night at 8 p.m.

The story deals with a man's vain attempt to find himself, and the evolution of his little faith into a greater belief which, in turn, changes his whole nature.

Jim Frost will sing "I Love You Truly" and "Through the Years."

Hedy Nabholz Wins Oratoricals

Greco Places Second, Corbett Takes Thrid In Alexander Contest

Hedy Nabholz, senior English major from Greenbelt, Md., was chosen winner of the T. T. Alexander Oratorical Contest Thursday night. The contest, sponsored by the Bible and religious education departments, is held each year, alternately for men and women.

In second place was Dolores Greco, and third, Carol Corbett. Miss Greco is a freshman Greek major from Trenton, N. J., and Miss Corbett is an English major from Jacksonville, Fla. Both are prominent debaters on campus.

Miss Nabholz was vice-president of YWCA this year and was Y cabinet member last year. She has participated in Parish project work for three and a half years, and has been a member of Writer's Workshop for the last two years, and edited the '49 Chips. She was a member of the 1948 daisy chain, German Club president, and vice-chairman of Pearsons last year. After graduation Miss Nabholz plans to continue study at Presbyterian College of Christian Education in Chicago.

Miss Nabholz chose as her subject "The Deity of Christ." Miss Greco's topic was "The Atonement", and Miss Corbett spoke on "The Resurrection."

The Echo last week printed that the prize would be $100 and would be divided on the basis of 60 and 40 per cent between the two winners. The total amount this year is $80 and will be divided among the three, the percentages not having been decided.

Members of the religion department judged the manuscripts while judges for the oratorical section of the contest were Mrs. Clinton Gillingham, whose husband was head of the department at Maryville for many years, Mrs. Hamilton Traylor, and Mrs. Martin Badgett.

Next year the contest will be open to men. Topics for the contest are "The Deity," "The Atonement," and "The Resurrection."

Dramatic Society Elects Members

Eight new members have been elected to Theta Alpha Phi, National Honorary Dramatic Society. They are Bill Star, Ann Jenkins, Joe Poland, Howard Cameron, Margaret Newland, Carl Lazenby, Marjorie Prall, and Milly Miller.

For membership each person is required to have twenty points in dramatics and be voted into the society by its present members. After their qualifications are approved by the National Committee, they are invited to join Theta Alpha Phi.

Initiation week for new members will end May 6, with a banquet at Badgett's. The banquet will be followed by the formal Theta Alpha Phi initiation.

Kay, Edgar Replace Kren, Buckley In May Day Court

At meetings held Tuesday morning after chapel, Bob Kay and Don Edgar were elected May Day attendants for the junior and freshman classes. Both men replace previously elected attendants Jim Kren and Jack Buckley who will be unable to attend due to a baseball game held away from home on May 2.

Kay, business administration major from Morristown, New Jersey, is a member of the business staff of The Highland Echo and the 1949 Chilhowean, a member of the track team, and drives the Parish Station wagon. Edgar, from Princeton, Ind., is vice-president of freshman class. Kay will escort Martha Kincaid; Edgar, Polly Onifer.

Recital Features Chamber Music

Chamber music program will be presented Friday evening, April 29, at 8 p.m. in the Chilhowee Club house.

Mozart's "Quartet" for strings and flute will be played by Barbara Rosensteel, flutist, Constance Jeffery, violist, Miss Dorothy Horne, violinist, and Curtis Hughes, cellist.

A Quintet by Schubert will be presented by Misses Horne, Jeffery, and Doris Sommerville, cellist; Dan Winter, pianist; and Charles Huffman on bass.

Louise Lloyd, pianist, and Miss Horne will play the sonata for piano and violin by Franck.

Brahm's "Liebeslieder Waltzer" is the selection to be sung by a vocal ensemble consisting of Ruth Ramsey, Evalyn Smith, Peggy Wakefield, sopranos; Katherine Carpenter, Jane Martenis, Gloria Measmer, altos; Sam Broyles, Conrad Eaddy, Herbert Keene, tenors; and William Houdeshel, Charles Huffman, basses.

HS Day Sponsored By C of C, College

Blount County Seniors Visit MC Friday, 29th

Blount County Chamber of Commerce, with cooperation of Maryville College, will sponsor High School Day on Maryville College campus, Friday, April 29.

Each high school in the county is sending its senior class and such faculty members as the principal may designate. At 9:30 a.m. Dr. Wilbur S. Johnson, chairman of Chamber of Commerce Committee, will preside over the assembly of seniors and sponsors. Dr. Frank D. McClelland, Dean of Students at Maryville College, will address the group on "Purpose and Plan of Vocational Discussions."

At 10:45 each senior will attend one of the following discussion groups: "Agriculture and Home Economics" led by Dean N. D. Peacock, University of Tennessee College of Agriculture, in the Alumni Gym; "Legal Vocations" led by Prof. Archibald Pieper, Associate Professor of Political Science, Maryville College, in Bartlett Hall; "Social Service Vocations" led by Dr. E. E. Wiley, pastor of First Methodist Church, Maryville, in Intramural Gym.

Three more discussion groups will be held at 11:45 a.m. D. W. Proffitt, Maryville merchant, will lead a discussion group on "Business Vocations" in Alumni Gym. Dr. Lea Callaway, Maryville physician and surgeon, will discuss "Medical Vocations" in Bartlett Hall. Dr. David H. Briggs, Professor of Education and Psychology, Maryville College, will lead a discussion on "Elementary Vocations" in Intramural Gym.

At 11:50 D. W. Poage, Personnel Director of Fabricating Division, Aluminum Company of America, will discuss "Industrial Vocations" with the group in Alumni Gym.

Barbecue lunch will be provided for all delegates by Chamber of Commerce and Maryville College at 12:30 p.m. Following this, at 1:30, there will be a tour of campus. Delegates may watch Maryville play Milligan in tennis at 2 p.m. and Maryville play Emory and Henry in baseball at 3 p.m.

Committee Completes Plans For MC's First Formal Dance, Night of May Day

Chairman Margie Newland has announced that final arrangements are being completed for Maryville's first spring formal, which will be held in Alumni Gym on Monday, May 2, from 8 to 11 p.m.

The dance is restricted to couples, but invitation may also be by girl's bid. Tickets are $1, and, by arrangement with local florists, corsages may not cost over $3. Tuxedos are preferred, but suits will be acceptable; girls will dress formally.

The grand march will be headed by the May Court, which will also have taken part in that day's May Day activities. Dance sponsors are to be three faculty couples and six or eight student couples who will alternate in the receiving line. Charlie Huffman's orchestra will provide music.

Committee heads, which have been chosen from all four classes, are Helen Hair, refreshments; Katy Carpenter and Johnny Sayre, tickets; Bill Holt, publicity; and Alan Fort, decoration.

The formal's first ten dances will be by program and may be exchanged. Private arrangements may be made, however, for exchanging the following dances.

Chairman Margie Newland stated, "A great deal of preparation is going into Maryville's first formal dance; we are anticipating it to be a success in every way. We urge you to attend the spring formal."

Sprague Appointed OSU Assistant; Scholarship Awarded Brahams By UC

Richard Sprague, mathematics major from Cincinnati, Ohio, has accepted an assistantship at Ohio State to teach a three hour freshman mathematics course for three quarters.

At the same time Sprague will be able to take 12 hours of graduate work.

Brick Brahams, history major from Laguna Beach, California, has been awarded a scholarship from University of Colorado.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Accepts 13 Seniors Into Membership

Hope Fund Still Nearly $200 Short

Missionary To China Mary E. Smith Sends Gift, Letter To MC

Payments on Fred Hope Fund are still $197.50 short of the $1726 goal. Officials in the Printing Office voiced the desire that this small amount would be paid before the close of the school year.

Mary Edna Smith, this year's recipient of the Fund, recently sent an embroidered hanging to the College. Lamar Memorial Library is now displaying the hanging in the Library reference room.

In an accompanying letter to College friends, Miss Smith writes concerning the gift and her work in China, "I am sending Maryville College a gift from the Fuh Siang School at Changsha, where I first was located upon my arrival from the States. This gift is but a token of the friendship that they and I feel for Maryville. I am most grateful for your support, not only through your contributions to the Fred Hope Fund, but also through your prayers.

"I hope that some of you are seriously considering the mission field for your life work. Dr. John Corbin, regional secretary for Board of Foreign Missions in Kansas City office, was here three weeks ago. He had just completed a visit to the missions in Korea and Japan, and spoke particularly of the complete lack of any young missionaries in Korea. The situation in Japan and China is somewhat better, but many more missionaries are needed if Christianity is to be brought to the millions of the Far East.

Vesper Choir To Sing At Knoxville Tomorrow

Journeying to Knoxville Sunday morning, Vesper Choir will sing at the regular worship service at Second Presbyterian Church. Dr. Clifford E. Barbour is minister.

Three anthems will be sung: "Lord Hosanna," from the entrance scene of "Advent Motet," by Schrech; "Salvation is Created," by P. Tschesnokoff; "There is a Balm in Gilead," by Dawson.

Buses will leave at 9:15 in front of Anderson Hall.

Annual choir banquet will be held Wednesday evening, April 27, at Chilhowee Inn. Sophomores Janet Cummings, Gloria Measemer, and Dorothy Downey are in charge of program and arrangements. Buses will leave at 6:15.

Spectacular Set, 'Serenade' Acclaimed By Capacity House

On a picture-frame stage, Girls' Choir and Men's Glee Club presented a striking tableau through a transparent curtain as Springtime Serenade 1949 opened in Alumni Gym last night.

An enchanting set and well-chosen semi-classics pleased a capacity crowd. Special mention went to Howard Cameron and crew who erected one of the most spectacular settings made for any college production.

Especially effective were colored lights playing on silver streamers and the girls' white gowns.

Hughes, directing from the Consonata electronic organ, was aided by John Sayre and Carolyn Marshall at the two pianos. Soloists were Kennedy Garrison, Wallace Moore and Betty Field, Mary Taylor Hicks, and Maurine Owen. Bill Starr read commentary written by Fred Sieber.

After a slow beginning the show reached a high point in the Field-Moore duet of "Sympathy." Latecomers in the corners would have appreciated a little more volume, however, on this one.

Don Hyatt and the Men's Glee Club produced a Whiffenpoff Song that would have done credit to Harvard's old Temple Bar itself.

Organ work was superb this year as last; there was proof that a college professor can be a showman too.

PRE-MED GROUP SLATES PICNIC FOR APRIL 28

Pre-Med Club has selected Thursday, April 28, for their picnic at college picnic grounds. Dues must be paid before then, and can be given to Argyle King.

Anne Cress is committee member in charge of food preparation, and Bernie Welch will have program.

Sign-up sheets will be posted in dormitories Tuesday. Further announcements will be made in chapel.

Ramsey, Eaddy Selected Soloists For 'Requiem'

Two soloists for the performance of "Requiem" by Gabriel Faure have been announced as Ruth Ramsey, soprano, senior voice and music education major, and Conrad Eaddy, baritone. Eaddy is a freshman music major.

W. Curtis Hughes will be organist; Dan Winter is to be guest pianist; Harry Harter will direct Vesper Choir in this performance, May 1 at 4 p.m. in New Providence Church.

May Day Amphitheatre Becomes Ante-Bellum Plantation Scene

Maryville College's amphitheatre will become a Southern plantation of pre-Civil War days for the May Day pageant, held this year the afternoon of May 2.

Queen Virginia Hand will rule over the proceedings, escorted by Chet Phillips, senior class president and King, and their court of class attendants. Processional down the path and over the bridge will begin at 2:30, followed by coronation service and pageant.

Titled "Plantation Story," '49 May Day production combines Joel Chandler Harris' tales of Uncle Remus with the music of Stephen Foster. Bob Larson will portray kindly Negro storyteller on the stage, with Dave Reed's voice recorded on the "sound track."

Uncle Remus Tales

Several Uncle Remus tales are included which were not in the recent Walt Disney picture also based on these stories. The May Day audience will see dramatizations of Brer Rabbit Tricks Brer Bear, Miss Meadow's Taffy-Pull Party, the famous race between Brer Rabbit and Brer Tarpin, and of course the ever-delightful tale of Brer Rabbit and Tar-Baby.

Uncle Remus' stories are set in a framework plot concerning a small boy who hears the tales. Twelve-year-old Johnny, acted by John Mills, with voice by Judy Breen, comes South for the first time with his parents to his father's old plantation house.

Ridiculed by his country cousins on account of his city clothes, homesick, he determines to run away. Then Uncle Remus tells him stories of Brer Rabbit and persuades him to stay.

"Plantation Story" was dramatized and its continuity directed by Jim Dance, author and director of last year's pageant, "Over the Rainbow to Oz." Charles Williams is coordinating director, and Donald Whelan is recording director. dialogue is directed by Marian Pope and Bob Holley.

Previously May Day pageant themes have included "Adventures of Robin Hood," "Rip Van Winkle," and Shakespeare's "As You Like It."

Dr. Lockmiller Addresses Chapel Service Thursday

Thursday's chapel service was held as a recognition and initiation service for 13 members of the graduating class who have been elected to Alpha Gamma Sigma, Maryville's scholastic honor society.

President Ralph Lloyd introduced Arda Walker, AGS president, who read requirements for membership in the organization. Miss Walker is assistant professor in MC's social science's division.

Dean Edwin Hunter introduced the newly elected members, and Dr. Lloyd recognized them in a short address. After this service, he introduced the speaker, Dr. David Lockmiller, president of the University of Chattanooga.

Dr. Lockmiller emphasized the present lack of and need for individual thinking in our world today. He opposed "regimentation of thought, cast-iron thinking—either on the right, the center, or the left—, and intellectual conformity and 'canned thinking.'"

He said that the student must not dose his mind and ideas no matter where those ideas originate. "Colleges must realize that the world is not static, and they must champion differences of opinion through quality of performance, not by refusal to recognize them.

The new members are as follows: Irma Jean Benedict, psychology major from Weedsport, N. Y.; Grace Ellen Cross, philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala.; Barbara Leigh Eggleston, English major from Marinette, Wis.; William Joseph Elzey, Bible major

TCPA Adopts New Constitution, Elects Officers

McCallum, Bennett, Green At TPI Talks

TPI played host to the Tennessee College Press Association for its April 15-16 meeting. Among the editors and staff members of Tennessee college newspapers represented were sports editor Herbert McCallum, junior associate editor Duncan Bennett, and business staff member Dolores Green of The Echo.

McCallum was a member of the Board of Governors, which opened the conference Friday morning with a meeting. Thomas L. Passons, Tech English department head, who founded TCPA in 1934, addressed a general session of delegates Friday afternoon.

In its business session TCPA adopted a permanent constitution for the association. Included in its terms after some discussion were sections giving Negro colleges the right to belong to TCPA and attend its functions.

At the banquet held Friday night Tech President Everett Derryberry spoke on "The College Press and the College." Representatives also heard from Robert Battle, Nashville Banner reporter, on "School and College Papers and Training for Newspaper Work." Staff of the Tech Oracle presented a skit for further entertainment.

At the Saturday morning general session Nancy Grace, former Tech Oracle editor and now staff member of the Louisville, Ky., Courier Journal, spoke informally about newspaper work. Julian Harriss, UT director of public relations, discussed annual awards for Tennessee college news publications.

In the concluding business meeting for the purpose of electing officers, Bob Witt, TPI, was chosen president; Don English, TPI, was elected business manager; and Julian Harriss became director for the coming year.

Delegates attended the baseball game between Tech and Maryville Saturday afternoon as guests of the Tech Athletic Association.

They Also Serve

Last night's "Serenade" was one of the best and most enjoyable examples of an organization throwing themselves wholeheartedly into something and making an outstanding success of what would have been otherwise an average college musical show. The professional quality of the stage and lighting effects was the result of hard and long work by a group of students working only for the pleasure and satisfaction to be gained from the experience. Springtime Serenade has become something to be looked forward to as a part of life on the hill.

On This And That

Friday will find seniors from all of Blount County's high schools roaming about on Maryville campus. Most of them will be here for the first time, and our treatment of them may influence their choice of a college. A word of greeting or answer to a question will take only a minute of our time and may make the day pleasanter for them.

Easter's trek to the amphitheatre was a lot more enjoyable than in the past because there was no need to dodge the cars usually wending in or out. . . .

Planned holidays are just as enjoyable as surprises and give more people the chance to take a vacation—or catch up on back work. . . .

Big productions are a credit to the campus but are they worth the time and efforts of stage crews and casts who work nearly all night in order to present the programs? Each year Barnwarming and similar presentations get bigger and better, but also take more time and money. . . .

Somewhere in the future a terraced amphitheatre would be a welcome change for those who must use anchors to sit through services there. . . .

Student Council

Attendance at UT concerts was again brought to the attention of Council at last Thursday's meeting. After discussion, it was decided to recommend to Student-Faculty Senate that the Student Body be allowed to attend all of the UT regular series, and that attendance at programs other than those be by special permission.

Plans for Council party were shelved until the calendar could be consulted for an open date. The loitering situation after Student Center hours in the evening was discussed. President Jim Black stated that the problem had improved and that a committee was working on it.

'GREAT DAY'

There's an old saying that goes "What is so rare as a day in June," but here at MC it's a little different. The saying is "What is so rare as a holiday any month." But it came at last and were we glad to get it! Everyone had his own idea of how to best spend those precious hours, but everyone spent them and that was the important thing.

'OH, WHAT A BEAUTIFUL MORNING'

No one knew quite what Dr. Lloyd was going to finish up with when he started his speech in chapel Tuesday morning, but it was a well-worth while speech. Sometimes people don't stop to realize just how much is involved in getting a holiday. From now on they will appreciate them even more—and even more would be appreciated.

One of the happiest persons on campus when the holiday was announced was Dr. Briggs. He'd had his worms ready for weeks just waiting for a chance to go fishing.

'EASTER PARADE'

Most people are glad that Easter is at last gone but not forgotten. Everyone was looking forward to it with wonderment. What to wear was quite a question, for no one—not even the weather man—seemed to know what the weather would be. The snow on Saturday didn't help much either. But everyone survived, and the Easter Parade was a big success.

'IT'S A GRAND NIGHT FOR SINGING'

Speaking of the Easter Parade brings to mind last night's "Springtime Serenade." It was one of the kind of "annual affairs" that we like to see. Of course, were prejudiced, but didn't you like it as much as we did? It looks as if we have another Nelson Eddy-Jeanette Macdonald team in Wally Moore and Betty Field. Much thanks from the Serenade group and the rest of the campus as well should go to Howie Cameron and his staff of stage and lighting crews. It looks as if their motto is "On to bigger and better shows."

'PEOPLE WILL SAY WE'RE IN LOVE'

Spring has sprung and love is in the air. Barbara Bertholf and Harold Hunter finally decided that this was it; Eric Meadows gave Naomi Hoffman her ring just before he left for a debate trip, leaving her to be congratulated alone; Bobby Boring decided that Easter was the day for the ring presentation; and Wally Moore brightened the stay of his girl from home with a sparkler.

Of course, we can't forget the gem Sarah Durant got from Billy Chalker via the five and dime store. It looked real, anyway, Sarah Du.

'MAKE BELIEVE'

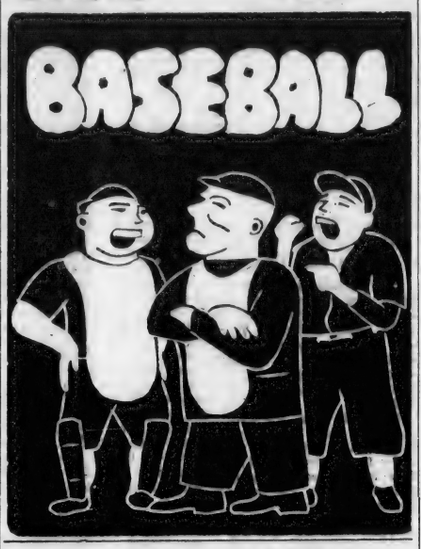
Bill Starr enlivened the Pre-Ministerial Banquet with his interpretation of a country preacher. Taking his sermon from the Fifth Chapter according to Mother Goose, he left his audience in howls.

'WHEN I GROW TOO OLD TO DREAM'

The coming dance promises to be quite a dreamy occasion. Who would have dreamed this time last year that on May Day we would be having a Spring Formal at Maryville College? Margie Newland and her crew have been working like beavers to make it a success and to every indication it will be. We hear it's to be a girl bid dance as well as a fellow-bid. So come on gals! Ask the man of your dreams and show everyone how glad we are to be having a formal dance at last.

WHIFFEN POOF SONG

Or "Little Sirocco" which might well be the trade name of the perfume Dolores Green used in a curling process earlier this week. Take a tip, girls—in case you're in need of some quick curls, try dipping them in cologne (but sparingly, mind you) before doing your hair up in pin curls, etc. Cologne dries much faster than water and it works—but—also take another tip from "Do," or rather Don deNagy, and don't be too eager with the cologne bottle. Dolores still smells good!



And while we're on the subject of hair and whiffs, put the two together and get the whiff of hair that points to Mary Taylor Hicks' Toni. Each Toni should come equipped with several clothes pins and a bottle of air-wick Hicks' Toni almost overcame the first sopranos and second altos during Serenade practice.

Talk of The Week —A REPRINT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

RADIO

Tennessee is especially rich in the culture of the mountain folk ballad. Fortunately, all the local radio stations devote some time to mountain music for the benefit of both ballad students and those who just like to hear them. It seems, though, that the big names in the business have somehow lost the touch which identifies the truly representative folk singer.

About the best we've heard yet is Molly O'Day, who does especially well with "I Heard My Mother Weeping" and "Sweeter Than the Flowers." She's made several excellent recordings which turn up occasionally on the folk music type of radio show. Listen for them; they're really worth hearing.

Let the scoffers remember that America's cultural contributions are not yet so great that the simple mountain folk ballad can be disregarded or even passed over lightly. They constitute a definite part of our culture, and they ought to receive the respect they are rightfully due.

CINEMA

Robert Mitchem of marijuana fame joins Lorettta Young at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday for a pretty fair picture: RKO's "Rachel and the Stranger." Action concerns William Holden who buys and marries bondwoman Rachel (Young), and takes her to the frontier country of Ohio in the early 19th century.

Things get pretty tough for Rachel, for Holden apparently doesn't think she's worth the $22 he paid for her. Then real trouble comes along with Mitchem, an old friend of Holden's, who looks Rachel over, likes what he sees, and offers Holden more than list price for his bride. Some warpathing Shawnees break up the wooing for a top-notch climax.

Conspicously and pleasantly missing is the usual Hollywood superduper treatment of historical films. "Rachel" is just an amusing story; the hoopla scenes with thousands of screaming Indians and miles of stampeding cattle are, for a welcome relief, absent.

Capitol's Wednesday and Thursday showing is "Ramrod," a better than-average western with a couple of really good scenes. Friday and Saturday horse opera lovers will see hard-riding, fast-shooting "Whirlwind Raiders."

The Park Theater is having something of an unusual arrangement this week. On Monday is "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid." Mr. Peabody moves on, but the mermaid is held over for Tarzan on Tuesday and Wednesday when "Tarzan and the Mermaid" is showing. By Thursday and Friday the mermaid is exhausted and finally gives up to "Smuggler's Cove."

NEW BOOKS

New in the library is Robert Penn Warren's terrific "All the King's Men." It's the best of several recent novels based on the life of the great Kingfish: Louisiana's fabulous Dictator-Governor Huey Long. Good, too, is "Religion of a Scientist," selections from Gustov Fechner edited and translated by Walter Lowrie. Packed with deep thinking, it contains Fechner's fascinating ideas concerning the souls of plants.

Also on the new book list are "Afoot in England" by W. H. Hudson, "Rats, Lice, and History" by Hans Zinesse, "Story of Human Progress" by Leon Marshall, "High Barabree" by Nordhoff and Hall, "Sharecroppers All" by Arthur Raper, "Pictorial History of the Movies" by Deems Taylor, and a whole flock of foreign language books which we hope will get more use than we expect they will.

CHAPEL

Maryvillians heard a day of oratory Thursday, with the best chapel speaker of the season and the T.T. Alexander oratory contest in the evening. Dr. David Lockmiller, University of Chattanooga president, urged individual thinking and said that "it is difficult for modern man to think apart from the group and impossible for him to act apart from the established pattern of life.

"Colleges must realize that the world is not static," he continued. "We must champion differences of opinion."

If more of our chapel speakers had the spiritual vision, the command of English, and the insight into our social, political, and economic problems of Dr. Lockmiller, chapel would truly be the most inspirational part of our school day. —DN

ECHO FORUM

To the Editor of The Echo:

We wish to express our gratitude to the Student Body for placing us in office in the recent election. We thank especially all those who have actively worked in our behalf. We also appreciate the good spirit shown by our opponents.

We challenge the Student Body to maintain throughout the year the high interest shown in student government during the campaigning. It is only through your suggestions as expressed through your Council representatives that we are able to carry on an effective and representative student government.

We hope that with your cooperation we may be able to add to all phases of our college living during the coming school year.

Sincerely,
Bill Nish
Del Earisman
Jimmy Dance

To the Editor of The Echo:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt congratulations and best wishes to our new Vice-President!

Now is the time for the student body to make great strides in reorganization of government and in obtaining more privileges. The right choice having been made, all of these things will come. A team such as ours—of Nish, Earisman, and Dance—can't be beat.

Good luck to you all, but especially to you, Del.

Mae E. Meriweather.

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

●SCOTTY THIN CLADS in their first meet of the season came off very well against TPI. The tally shows that Maryville took first and second place in all track events—a record of which we may well be proud. Yesterday's meet shows MC to be tied with the University of the South for third place in Tennessee small college track. Counting all the schools in the state UT would probably be first, followed by Vanderbilt; Southwestern, ETS, MTS, and TPI all would rank below the Scots. We draw the above conclusions from the fact that in a recent three way meet in which TPI, MTS, and Sewanee participated, Sewanee came off with 112 points, followed by TPI with 26 and MTS with 22½.

●WITH ONLY FOUR GAMES lost out of 11 played, Coach L. S. Honaker's diamond nine takes on Carson-Newman this afternoon at 2:30 on home grounds. C-N is likely to be a tough nut to crack, but any way it goes we should see a good game. After the slow start and schedule foul-up due to the weather, the diamonders are rolling at last. None of the defeats have been bad, with the score even-up in the rivalry with TPI. They took us the first game, 9-5, and we took them the second 11-5. The second game with Miami almost allowed the Scots to recoup the first loss, but those two games both ended in defeats with scores of 10-4 and 3-2. Hiwassee's 5-3 edge over Maryville may be paid back when the teams meet for their second bout.

●ON THE WEST SIDE of the ledger, WNC has gone down twice by scores of 4-3 and 10-8, as have LMU and TPI under scores of 12-3, 6-2; 9-5, 11-5 respectively.

●THE ECHO TOOK occasion this week to tally up the unofficial record of the Scot mound staff with the following results:

Pitcher	Innings	Walks	Hits	SO
Hawkins	28	4	24	16
Honaker	20	16	18	8
Kren	18	4	12	11
Fowler	13	10	15	7
Berrong	5	5	6	4

●HAWKINS HAS STAYED the limit in two games, pitching nine innings at MTS, and nine innings in the second LMU tussle. Kren was winning pitcher for all nine innings in the second TPI game. Kren, Fowler, and Hawkins are each listed twice as winning pitchers, while Honaker is credited with one game, and Berrong with none. Most strike-outs go to Hawkins, although averages show Berrong and Kren best in strike-outs per inning. Totals show that Scot pitchers struck out the opponent 46 times, allowed 75 hits and 39 walks in 11 games to date.

●MC NETMEN, with six meets down the road, have not been defeated to date. Only close match was with Tennessee Wesleyan in a close 4-3 racquet battle on TW's courts. May 2 should see another stiff fight between the two teams when the Methodists come up here for a May Day frolic. Three members of the squad have yet to lose a match in competition. Chesley Anderson, Glen Gage, and Harold Hunter make up the list of MC's undefeateds, but with the schedule half completed we wonder who, if anyone, will remain on top at the end.

●COMPETITION is pretty keen on the tennis ladder too. "A good way to get the team in shape," says Coach Ken Johnson, and the boys must believe him. Present ladder standings put Ches Anderson in top place, with Captain Wes Miles and Clyde McCampbell on second and third rungs.

Highlander Nine Seeks Fourth Straight Win

With Carson-Newman's diamond team on deck this afternoon, Coach Lombe Honaker's Scot nine will aim for their fourth consecutive win—four within the week. Season record to C-N game follows: Won 7, Lost 4.

After evening out on a week-end road trip—7-5 win over Middle Tennessee and a 9-5 setback at TPI—the Highlanders blasted Tusculum, Tennessee Tech, and Lincoln Memorial in consecutive games on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The baseball week follows:

Splitters Downed 6-2

The Scot ball club licked LMU's Railsplitters on the Harrogate diamond, 6-2 Thursday. LMU suffered a 12-3 loss in the first game, here.

The Lincoln men collected seven hits on the Scot winning pitcher, Jimmy Hawkins, in nine innings. Centerfielder Hugh Hamil and second baseman Jack Buckley banged two-base hits—one each—for tops in Scot batting.

The Blue's field play fell through in the fifth as Baldwin and Hawkins broke home on steals. Hamil's two-bagger drove in third baseman Ken Smith in the same inning.

Baldwin, Lewelling, in for Neff at rightfield, and Pentz singled in the seventh as MC pulled definitely ahead with two runs to clinch the game.

MC	000 130 200—6
LMU	000 000 110—2

Errors: MC — 2, LMU — 5; Earned runs: MC—1, LMU—0; 2-BH: Hamil, Buckley; DP: Hamil to Buckley, Smith to Buckley to Pentz; SB: MC—8, LMU—1; BB: xDoss—6 in 9 innings, Hawkins—2 in 9; Doss:—8, Hawkins—6; Winning pitcher: Hawkins, Losing pitcher, Doss.

SPORTS COMING UP

Baseball games scheduled next week include East Tennessee State there on Monday, Emory and Henry there on Tuesday, East Tennessee State here on Wednesday, and Emory and Henry here on Friday.

Tennis games are Milligan here on Friday, and a "B" team game on Monday with Maryville High.

Scots Stomp Tech, 11-5

Maryville's baseball nine trompped Tennessee Tech, 11-5, in a second meeting of the squads here holiday Wednesday.

Jim Kren went the distance on the mound for the Scots, allowing six scattered hits and sawing out five batters. Kren pitched for two innings in last Saturday's showing at TPI when the Techmen snapped a 9-4 victory.

Starting a tight game, the Scotties went to the third inning before piling in five runs for a substantial lead. Wally Pentz led the local at bat, singling three times in four trips to drive home three runners. Boring clouted a three-bagger and stole home while Kren made a three base hit for two stings of the Highlander's 11 hits.

Tech's centerfielder, Henderson, and first baseman, Murphy, each got homers.

Maryville Nine Shuts Out Tusculum With 15-0 Score

Driving 15 runs across on 12 hits, the Maryville College nine scored a 15-0 shut-out over Tusculum at Greeneville, Tuesday afternoon.

Pentz led the blasting aggregation by smashing four hits, while Boring, Hamil, Reynolds, and Baldwin had two each.

Tech Blasts 9-4 Victory In Opener At Cookeville

Tennessee Tech's baseballers put a stop to Maryville's win streak last Saturday at Cookeville by a score of 9-4.

Ross Honaker started for the Scots and was relieved in the seventh inning by Jim Kren. Don Cook started for the Eagles and was credited with the win. Honaker was charged with the loss.

A six-run second inning proved to be the Scots downfall. With that lead, the Techmen were never in trouble. Pickering's double, which drove in three runs, was the big blow of the inning.

Maryville	000 100 021—4
Tech	060 002 10x—9

Errors: Pearson, Smith, Buckley 2, Boring 2, Pentz 2, Honaker. RBI: Highers, Harrison, Pickering 3, Hamil 2. 2BH: Pickering DP: Henderson to Murphy. SB: Hamil, Baldwin. Winning pitcher: Cook. Losing pitcher: Honaker.

Highland Racquets Score 7-0 Shut-out Over LMU

Coach Ken Johnson's tennis squad brought in its fifth straight victory last Saturday with the defeat of LMU's Railsplitters 7-0 on Scot grounds. LMU netmen copped only two matches—one each in the two doubles events.

This is the second and final defeat for the Lincoln men as the Scotties won an 8-0 match at Harrogate, April 1.

Summary:

Singles

1—Miles over Pearce, 6-2, 6-3;
2—McCampbell over Blair, 6-3, 6-0;

Intramurals....

By Neal Pearson

Eightballs won first-half honors in intramural softball play. BOB's made a comeback from early-season defeats to displace YMCA from third position by defeating them, 10-6, thereby going into a two-way tie with Creamers.

BOB'S OVER Y, 10-6

BOB's pushed over six runs in the fourth frame to sew up a 10-6 win over YMCA after scoring three in the third to overcome Y's one run lead.

YMCA	020 04	6	4	1
BOB's	103 6x	10	6	2

A'S CAST DOWN A-E, 10-9

Athenian gained revenge for a 10-9 defeat handed them last Saturday in the annual "beer bottle game" in trimming Alpha Sigma, 8-4, in the last game of the first half. Curt Barnett's line smash off shortstop Johnson's knee brought in two runs in a fifth-inning uprising to nail down the victory.

Maryville Captures 13 Firsts; Team Enters Milligan Relays

By Charles Williams

Maryville's 1949 track season began rolling with pre-war vigor as the Scot Thin-clads scored an overwhelming 110.5 to 20.5 victory over Tennessee Tech yesterday afternoon in the first home meet since '41. Coach John A. Davis' tracksters captured 13 firsts in the 15 events.

The Kiltie Klads really hogged the road in the running events, copping first and second place in all nine of the oval runs. Tech's Thompson and Odom first in the pole vault and discus for the visitors' major pointage.

Allen Law in the 100 and 220, Charles Mabry in the mile, Walt English in the 440, Bob Kay in the high hurdles, Bill Menges in the 880, Delbert Earisman in the two mile, Hap Brahams in the low hurdles, and the mile relayers—Lambert, Thurston, B. Brahams, and English strode to decisive firsts on the track—frequently in heated runs with teammates.

In the field events, Harold Ammons' javelin, Alan Rock's shot, Ray Lillard's high and Jimmy Thurston's broad jumps were tops for the Orange and Garnetmen.

Tech was minus a contestant for the broad jump, and forfeited. In what amounted to an intra-squad meet in that event Jimmy Thurston took first honors with Sid Lambert, Craig Fisher, and Clarence Reaser following in that order.

SUMMARY

MILE RUN: Mabry, M, 4:49.9; Earisman, M; Menges, M; Davis, T.

440-YARD DASH: English, M, 52.8; Lambert, M; Thurston, M; McCall, T.

100-YARD DASH: Law, M, 10.2; Allen, M; Brahams, M; Billingsley, T.

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES: Kay, M, 16.6; Brahams, M; Senay, T.

880 YARD RUN: Menges, M, 2:09.2; Day, M; Robarts, M; Gray, T.

220-YARD DASH: Law, M, 22.2; Allen, M; Brahams, M; Mitchell T.

2 MILE RUN: Earisman, M, 11.00; Kidder, M; Cunningham, T.

220 YARD LOW HURDLES: Brahams, M, 27.3; Kay, M; Senay, T.

MILE RELAY: Maryville—Lambert, (3:37.2), Thurston, Brahams, English; TPI—Odam, Minton, Gray, McCall.

Field Events

DISCUS: Odam, T, 104' 10", Walker, M, Morris, T, Brahams, M, JAVELIN: Ammons, M, 151' 8", Odam, T, Proffitt, M.

SHOT PUT: Rock, M, 36' 1", Walker, M; Morris, T, Brahams, M.

POLE VAULT: Thompson, T, 10' 9", Shiffield, M, Brugess, T, Callaway, M, Walker, M.

HIGH JUMP: Lillard, M, 5' 7", Fisher, M, Burgess, T.

BROAD JUMP: Thurston, 18' 43/4"; Lambert, 18' 0"; Fisher, 17' 2 3/4"; Reaser, 17' 3/4". TPI forfeited.

Off To Milligan

The Scottie Track crew left this morning at 7:30 for the Milligan Relays at Johnson City to enter field and track events in the college division with 23 regional schools. Coach Davis took 18 men on the trip.

Principal relays will be the 440, 880 and the mile with the sprint medley and distance medley plus the hurdles as major sidelines for the third annual track and field day at Milligan.

Among the top squads entering the meet are Wofford, East Tennessee State, Milligan, Roanoke and UT's freshman squad. Milligan has been title-holder for the past two seasons. Maryville finished fifth at the relays last year for one of the two meets in the schedule.

Scots Hit T-W, 4-3, In Net Meet

Despite upsets in 1 and 2 singles, Maryville's young tennis team tripped Tennessee Wesleyan, 4-3, at Athens Tuesday to cop win number six without a loss.

Wesleyan's Voges and Toomey mesmerized MC's Miles and McCampbell respectively, thereby handing the two Scottie top dogs first set-backs of the season. Chesley Anderson, Harold Hunter, and Glen Gage brought home the bacon to remain unmastered in individual competition. Maryville's first rank fell in both singles and doubles.

So far the Scots have conquered five different teams, and styles of play, in winning over Tennessee Wesleyan, Carson-Newman, Milligan, Tusculum, and Lincoln Memorial (twice). Yet to be met is ETSC.

SUMMARY:

Singles

1—Voges, T, over Miles, 6-2, 6-3
2—Toomey, T, over McCampbell, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1
3—Anderson, over Wayland, 6-3, 6-2
4—Hunter, over Lawler, 6-1, 6-2
5—Gage, over Bacon, T, 6-2, 6-4

Doubles

1—Voges-Wayland over Miles-McCampbell, 6-1, 6-2
2—Anderson-Hunter over Toomey Loder, 7-5, 6-4

Further nominations may be made by petitions with at least 20 signitures presented to the president before tonight's meeting.

Big-Little Sister Program Planned For Next Semester

Sign-up sheets will be placed in women's dormitories for those who would like to participate in the big and little sister program next fall. The program is sponsored by YWCA to help new girls get acquainted with Maryville.

First choice is given to those who have not been given a little sister before for there will not be enough new girls for all those who would like to participate in the program.

During the summer, those who have been given little sisters will be sent their names and addresses. First requirement for the big sister is to write the new girl to tell her about Maryville and what will be expected of her in college life. Correspondence should serve to introduce the big and little sisters and answer any questions the new girl may have.

Qualities for a big sister are friendliness and an interest in helping new girls in getting adjusted to college. Dot Hovlerson, Y president, reminds big sisters not to consider the big-little sister party the culmination of the program but continue the relationship throughout the year.

Letter From The President

To All Our High School Guests:

We at Maryville College are glad to have you on the campus today. You are our neighbors. Your high schools share with Maryville College the responsibility for providing advanced educational opportunity in Blount County. It is good for us to know each other better.

Maryville College has been conducting an educational program in Maryville for 130 years and on the present campus for 80 years. The campus has grown in size from time to time until it now contains 385 acres and about 30 large and smaller buildings. We operate a dairy on that part of the campus along the Walland Highway and produce part of the milk used in the College Dining Hall, located on the first floor of Pearsons Hall.

This year our enrollment is 916, of whom 510 are men and 406 are women. They come from 35 States and 5 foreign countries. There are 209 from Blount County. The freshman class this year has in it graduates from 185 high schools in 24 States, including the high schools represented here today. We turn away many applicants each year because we do not wish to be larger. We think our present numbers give us a chance to do most of the things that the larger institutions do and small enough to have a real campus community life where most people know each other.

Maryville College is on all the principal accredited lists of the nation and its graduates are found all over the world. Yet to attend Maryville probably costs less than to attend any other available college of similar standing in the United States.

You who are our guests today are most welcome to the campus, and we hope you will feel at home.

Ralph W. Lloyd
President
Maryville College

Student Body Welcomes Seniors

To Our High School Friends,

The students of Maryville College are glad to welcome you to our campus. To many of you, perhaps, a visit to Maryville College is not a new experience but a familiar one, since you have come here frequently to attend conferences, athletic programs, and the like. However, some of you may be on our campus for the first time. We sincerely hope that for all of you, this may be a worthwhile and a pleasant day.

If there is anything that we as a student body can do to help in this college-day program, we hope you will let us know, for many of use are only a few years removed from high school days and are still familiar with the problems and questions that confront those that are graduating.

Jim Black

Ramsey, Martenis Present Senior Recitals May 5, 6

Two senior recitals, featuring Ruth Ramsey and Jane Martenis, will be given next week, Thursday and Friday, May 6 and 7. Both recitals will be in the Chilhowee club house at 8 p.m.

Ramsey Sings Thursday

Miss Ramsey, lyric soprano, will sing as her first selection "Jesu, deine Gnaden Blicke" from "Lobet Gott in seinen Reichen" by J. S. Bach. Second part will be "Devo Sono" from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart and Rossini's recitative, "Eccolo a voi l'affido" and aria, "Ciel pieteso, ciel clamente" from "Zelmira."

Next part of the program features four songs from Schubert's "Winterreise": "Erstarrung," "Die Post," "Der Leierman," and "Muth." For the last number Miss Ramsey will sing "Pastorale" by Stravinsky, "Snowdrop," Prokofieff, "The Little China Figure," Leoni, "Moon Marketing" and "This Day is Mine" by Ware.

Martenis Recital Friday

Jane Martenis, mezzo soprano, will also sing as her first number a Bach selection "Deep Concealed in His Wisdom" from Cantata No. 188, "In God I Place My Trust." Next will be four folksong arrangements of the British Isles by Britten: "Come You Not from Newcastle?," English; "O Waly, Waly," Scottish; "There's None to Soothe," English; "The Foggy, Foggy Dew," from Suffolk.

Three songs from Schumann will complete the second part of the program: "Ich kann's nicht fassen, nicht glauben," "Ich wand're nicht;" "Volksliedchen."

Next Miss Martenis will sing "Isolde's Libestod" from "Tristam and Isolde" by Wagner.

Last are "If Love Hath Entered Thy Heart" by Marx, "en dorset.," Toye, and "Fate of the Flim Flam."

Miss Martenis is from Elkton, Md., and Miss Ramsey's is from Cedarville, Ohio. Both are music majors.

County Seniors Discuss Vocations, Hear Educators

Seniors from Blount county and city high schools are visitors of the college today under sponsorship of Chamber of Commerce. This visit is for the purpose of helping students plan their vocations as well as for those who intend to go on to college.

After a tour of the campus at 1:30 p.m., the group will see the tennis match with Milligan College at 2 p.m. At 3 p.m. they will see the baseball game between Maryville and Emory and Henry College.

Dr. Wilbur Johnson, chairman of Chamber of Commerce Committee, presided at the opening assembly this morning at 9:45 a.m. After the general meeting all seniors divided into three groups for discussions on various vocations. Following the group meetings, D. W. Poage, Personnel Director of Fabricating Division, Aluminum Company of America, spoke on "Industrial Vocations."

The barbecue served at noon was given by the Chamber of Commerce.

Choir In Requeim Sunday Afternoon

Sunday afternoon at three o'clock Vesper Choir will sing Gabriel Faure's "Requeim" in New Providence Presbyterian Church. The program is dedicated to Mrs. J. A. McMurray, founder and director of the College Maid Shop.

Harry Harter will direct the choir, with Curtis Hughes at the organ and Dan Winter at the piano. Soloists are Ruth Ramsey, soprano, and Conrad Eaddy, tenor.

Mrs. McMurray died March 11, at Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio.

Worship Services, Reports Planned For Y Retreat

Cabinets of YM and YW will leave this afternoon for the annual Y retreat in Miller's Cove. Both cabinets will meet at 4:30 in front of Pearsons.

Theme of retreat this year is "Get the center right." Purpose of the retreat is to make reports on the work completed in the year and to make plans for the coming year.

Friday's plans include president's review and evening worship service with the Rev. Edward Dahlstrom as guest speaker. Saturday morning the program will consist of morning worship serivce and cabinet and committee meetings with annual reports and suggestions. After lunch, problem study groups will meet. First will be the welcoming and orientation program with Dean Frances Massey leader. Rev. D. L. Engelhardt will lead the second part, spiritual areas of Y. After study group summaries, recreation, and supper, the Rev. James Beard will lead the last worship service. After closing, the group will return to college about 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Committees for the retreat are: food—Betty Jo Smith, Martha Kincaid, and Ray Saunders; recreation—Barbara Bertholf and Brick Brahams; worship—Vera Lusk and Ray Holsey; transportation—Harold Hunter, Herb Parsons, and Peggy Cummings; agenda—Geneva Robinson and David Campbell; toastmaster—Jim Lester; song leader—Bob Holley.

Student Vols Elect Baird New President

John Baird was elected next year's president of Student Volunteers at a business session in Bartlett Hall last Sunday evening. Although Baird is not now enrolled at Maryville, he will be back next semester.

Other officers elected are Dick Ribble, vice-president; Betty Jane Greenwald, secretary; Alita Bryant, treasurer; and Ruth Mason, program chairman. A special induction ceremony is planned for the last Sunday of this semester according to Carroll Stegall, current president.

Home Ec Fashion Show Displays New Styles

Clothing classes of MC Home Economics Department will present "Fashions on Parade" Monday, May 9, at 8 p.m. in Intramural Gym.

Newest colors, designs, and materials in dresses, suits, coats, blouses, skirts, and formals made from cottons, rayons, woolens and silks will be modeled.

Students and faculty are invited.

Court Procession Opens Program InAmphitheatre

Annual May Day festival will be presented May 2 at 2:30 p. m. in College amphitheatre under the general direction of Jim Dance. Ruling over the festival will be Virginia Hand and Chester Phillips, king and queen of May Day.

May Court procession will enter the twin piano music of Fred Seiber and Ann Jenkins. The king and queen will be crowned by senior attendants, Barbara Eggleston and Margaret Andrews.

Miss Hand will wear a white gown and senior attendants will wear identical gowns in pink. Junior class attendants, Hilda Roberts and Martha Kincaid will wear blue gowns. They will be escorted by D. M. Miller and Bob Kay.

Barbara McNiell and Pat Love, sophomore attendants, will wear lavender gowns and will be escorted by George Stanfill and Joe McNeill. Completing the May Court are Sally Sutton and Polly Onifer in Nile green gowns. Al Springfield and Don Edgar will be their escorts. Flower girl will be Judy Wainscott. Susan Callaway and Ann Ross are traincarriers. Crown bearer will be Judy Oliver.

Based upon the tales of Joel Chandler Harris and music by Stephen C. Foster, this year's May Day program will tell the story of life on an old plantation in the pre-Civil War days.

Plantation Setting

As the scene opens, Aunt Cindy (Margaret Weaver) comes from the plantation home with her arms full of clothes and joins the chorus in singing "Old Folks at Home." She is joined by Uncle Remus (Bob Larson), and they begin talking about the coming home of Marse John (Bill Starr) from the north. With him John is bringing his wife (Mary Holly Webb) and their little boy Johnny (John Mills), who have never been in the south.

Uncle Remus and Aunt Cindy are interrupted by a group of pickaninnies who want Uncle Remus to tell them a story, which he promises to do later. They are joined by a group of slaves coming on the scene singing "My Old Kentucky Home."

Before the Negroes can disperse, a little colored boy, Rastus (Phil Murray), arrives bringing the news to John's mother, Miss Tish (Mary Lyerly), that Marse John and his family have arrived. Also on hand to welcome them home is Theodosia (Mary Taylor Hicks) John's sister.

Johnny, who has been raised in the North, is ridiculed by the other children because of his fancy clothes. Left to play alone, he decides to run away, but meets Uncle Remus who tells him a story. As the story progresses, the animals take on life and the characters appear on the stage.

Animal Tale

Brer Rabbit (Ray Kuhn) is at his usual pastime of playing a trick on Brer Bear (Branin Boyd). The love interest is added by Miss Meadows (Carol Mitchell), who flirts constantly with Brer Rabbit when she isn't flirting with the third member of the animal group, Brer Fox (Ric Rogers).

Miss Meadows holds a taffy-pull at her house where the animal friends enjoy singing and dancing until Brer Rabbit discovers that Brer Fox has run off with Miss Meadows. To prevent a fight Miss Meadows suggests the group play games. Someone suggests a race, which proceeds with great spirit.

Following this tale is the Tar Baby sequence. By the time Uncle Remus has finished this tale, Johnny decides he likes the South and would like to stay. The children come back and find that Johnny is really a regular guy and are eager to be his friend.

May Pole Dance

Since the story takes place on May Day, neighbor children gather around for the May Pole dance to a Foster melody. The animal characters come out and join members of the cast in the finale, "Ring, Ring, de Banjo."

Additional voice characterizations are done by Marilyn Edge, Don McDonald, Jane McMillan, Carey Parsons, David Reed, Mary Holly Webb, Carl Lazenby, Judy Breen, Alan Fort, Charles Parvin, Ray Holsey, and Barbara Stidham.

Jim Dance, who is director of this year's production, adapted the story. Dance was in charge of last year's May Day program and is the newly elected social chairman. Charles Williams is the coordinating director and Donald Whelan is in charge of programs and recording.

Costumes are under the direction of Mary Taylor Hicks and Peggy Brooks. Wanda Onifer and Dean Risher are in charge of make-up. Charlotte Johnson's art classes are executing the setting with designing done by Walter Chambers.

Dancers for all numbers except "Beautiful Dreamer" are members of the freshman girls' gym classes under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Queener. For the Maryville's first spring formal will be held Monday night, May 2, from 8 until 11. Tickets went on sale Tuesday at noon at $1 per couple.

Programs for the 24 dances will be given to the fellows at the ticket table on Saturday. It will be necessary to show tickets in order to receive the programs. Each fellow will be given two programs, one for himself and one for his partner.

Plans for the evening include a grand march besides the 24 dances. This will be led by the May court, which will reign over May Day festivities Monday afternoon in the amphitheater. Refreshments will be served from 8 until 10.

Bulletins have been placed in prominent places around the campus with information concerning proper dance procedure. These bulletins are especially for the men, but girls might profit from reading them.

Alan Fort is in charge of decorations, which will consist partly of complimentary flowers presented by the town florists.

Dance chairman Margie Newland urges again that "suits are quite suitable" for the fellows and that tuxedos are not required. Girls will dress formally.

Regarding men's attire at the spring formal, last week's Echo stated, "Tuxeos are preferred, but suits are acceptable." The social board announces that the correct and suitable attire for men will be suits, but tuxedos are acceptable.

It Takes More Than Talk-

Tuesday's chapel talk by Dean McClelland voiced the thoughts of many of the students and faculty. It is true that such situations can best be taken care of through group disapproval and action. However, that alone has not been sufficient in some of the cases which have occurred in the past few years. Too often definite proof can not be obtained by students against the offenders. In such cases college oficials can take necessary action.

It is an unmistakably recognizable fact that past offenses have not been satisfactorily terminated. As with many other perplexing situations that cannot be decided, action proceeds so far and then ceases without an end result.

Climax-

Less than a year ago the first sanctioned dancing was done on Maryville campus. Next Monday evening the first formal dance in the history of the college will take place in Alumni Gym.

There was much skepticism at the time of the inauguration of the program. Some felt that dancing might supplant some of the traditional and original forms of recreation. Now, near the end of the second semester of dancing, we find that it has assumed its proper place and in the proper manner. Not as many are dancing each evening as formerly, but those who enjoy it may be found in Intramural gym after supper. Instead of taking over, dancing has become just another pastime. Once again MC has taken a change in its stride.

School Days

Many other colleges have, for some time, held annual high school days in order that high school seniors could gain an insight into college life. Blount County Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Maryville College has now instituted such a program for the seniors of the county. Maryville's senior day is designed primarily for vocational guidance rather than an introduction to higher education. Ordinarily college routine has not been changed in order that those seniors interested in Maryville will see the college under normal conditions.

Such a program ought to be of real value to those who do not know exactly what they wish to do in the future. It is to be hoped that another service both to the community and the college, has been instituted for the benefit of both.

Miss...givings

Jaxon and Newman

And now with the beautiful spring weather we were having up until yesterday, we can't help remarking that nature can't jump from winter to summer without a spring, or summer to winter without a fall.

On Daffynishuns—A wolf is a guy who thinks he's entitled to life, liberty, and the happiness of pursuit.

On Thrifty Lads—That Bob Brown! It seems he was boasting the other night that he had more money saving ideas than any other boy on campus. He's come to the right place.

On Kissing and Such—Who's face was any redder than Jackie Lenderman's when Dempsey Jones and Al Chiles each planted a you-know-what on her cheek. The occasion?. . . .her 20th birthday.

On Sunburns and Tans—Baldwin Beach is crowded to overflowing these days while girls are taking every opportunity to get rid of that winter pallor in time for the spring formal.

On Kid Stuff—Along with those who are receiving recognition for achievements in various fields is Al Chiles. Al has been accepted into the membership of the Lone Ranger Safety Club. Listeners heard his name on the nation-wide broadcast Monday night. Nice going, fella!

On Observant Frosh—Edie Lancaster stopped dead in her tracks and stared at the wall in the dining hall.

"How long has that been there?" she asked Hedy Nabholz.

"How long has what been where?" returned Hedy.

"How long has that clock been on the wall. I've never seen it before." That's all right, Edie, it takes some people four years to find some things out.

On Cracking Up—George Barbour has broken the outdoor swimming record, according to them what was thar when it happened. It seems that George swam the length of the Y pool at Montvale in less time than it takes to tell it. Of course, here was no any water in the pool but does the public have to know that?

On Water Warfare—The water pistol industry has announced a new high in sales for the past two weeks. We at MC know the reason too. George Ogle reports that it just isn't safe to go outside his door unless you have a raincoat on. Jim Lester is official distributor of pistols in the south.

On Advice to Co-eds—Be careful of the tennis man. He's harmless but he enjoys a good racket. Also beware of the football captain. He's quick to go into a huddle.

On College Education—The over-animated senior says, "To be college bred requires a four year loaf with plenty of dough and a lost of crust.

On Money—Some students speak of their money as cold cash because it makes them shiver to think of it. We never mention ours because we were taught early in life that it isn't polite to speak about the absent.

On Gangsters—"I'll fill ya fulla lead," snarled would-be ganster, Greg Eubanks, as he filled his automatic pencil.

On the table

Like a scene from an old Max Sennett comedy was the action in the dining hall the other night when Alice Davenport and Dean Risher started tossing custard pie around. After a series of threats, Alice finally had the last throw and neatly sent a piece into the laps of Johnny Sayre and Marge Prall at the next table.

On Saturday

Show-stealers at the annual society skit contest last Saturday night were the Thetas who did the "We are the girls of the Ziegfield Follies" routine. Rally terrific as 1920 showgirls were Jessie Dye, Marianna Brogden, Joyce Lenderman, Janice Landstrom, and Betty Lester. Current male opinion is that we ought to have more of the same.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

MAGIC LANTERN

Brought to life Monday at the Park Theatre are famous comic strip characters Jiggs and Maggie, trying to follow in the steps of Blondie and Dagwood. "Jiggs and Maggie in Society" seems headed for no sequels, even with Mickey Rooney's father coming from vaudeville to play genial, henpecked Jiggs. Of course, it's always a disappointment when the movie people look too little like the comics, but this flicker does as well as possible in both photography and plot.

Wednesday night's Capitol Theatre offering stars Betty Grable as "That Lady in Ermine." It hardly needs to be repeated that Grable pictures invariably stress the same two-point formula ,those two points being Betty's game. The Grable legs and the Grable voice are publicized much more than you'll notice either in this flicker, but as long as "beauty is its own excuse for being," Grable pictures will keep the bo-office open.

Plot concerns the coming to life of a famous pictured ancestress who, in present-day America, finds it difficult to adjust herself to modern living even with the help of a handsome leading man and some nondescript writers.

Town Night at the Capitol is the second night of a two-day showing of "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" with Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelly, and Esther Williams. The Park will show "Berlin Express," a thriller adapted from the book of the same name.

Finishing the week at the Capitol is "Whirlwind Raiders," featuring Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette, one of the better western comics. May 5 and 6 at the Park has "Raw Deal" scheduled, another "toughie" film you may like, and the usual Western, this time "Rangers Ride" with Jimmy Wakely on Saturday.

PLANTATION STORY

Remember last year when May Day producers wanted to paint the road to the amphitheatre yellow for "Over the Rainbow to Oz"? This year they're having trouble getting Negro greasepaint on actors. It seems the Spring Formal musn't find the girls with shades of chartreuse clinging to their complexions. But cold cream will take it right off, according to DA majors.

Several new techniques are planned for this year's May Day, to be held in the gym in case of rain. Recorded music and dialogue will be "dubbed in" as actors pantomime the action on the stage.

Music this year is adapted from Stephen Foster's voluminous works. Listen for the sprightly "Some Folks," a clever but little known Foster song.

Mrs. Queener's freshman gym classes have developed some very effective dances, including the traditional May Pole dance at the finale. The High Society will appear as dream girls in the ballet number, "Beautiful Dreamer." Lois Deobler's solo dance will be a novelty pickanninny number.

Theme colors this year are to be white and pink. Maypole streamers will be in those colors, and the set and costumes are planned in matching shades.

HILLTOP SHIVVERS

There's still time to read "Wuthering Heights" in the library before you see Theta Alpha Phi's spring production of the play. Notwithstanding the losses due to the change in medium and the necessary cutting done by the play committee, we hope much of sister Bronte's tempestuous story of violent loves and hates remain. We'd hate to see Jim Black playing Heathcliffe like Caspar Milquetoast or Mitch Wooldridge failing to match her Katherine (Shakespeare) with her Cathy (Bronte).

RADIO OPPORTUNITIES

Once again may we urge you to save Monday-night-at-8 for "Radio Workshop," Y-sponsored broadcast featuring college students. Bill Starr, Y-cabinet member in charge of radio for next semester, announces that plans include dramatizations of famous stories in addition to various "guest stars" from the campus.

If your interests lie in radio acting, announcing, sound effects, or writing, we strongly recommend your getting in touch with Starr to make your interests known.

MC NINE CHALLENGES CIO TEAM HERE TODAY

Back from a semi-successful road trip to East Tennessee State and Emory and Henry, the Maryville College baseball squad sets today up for the local CIO independant team. Originally, Emory and Henry College of Emory, Virginia was scheduled for the date, but the Wasps found it necessary to alter their road plans. They'll play the Scots here tomorrow. Game time this afternoon is 3 p.m.

Erasmus Fowler, Scot right-hander, will likely receive Coach Honaker's nod to start on the mound; Gene Reynolds is the probable man to go behind the mask to complete the battery.

After Saturday's tiff with Emory an dHenry's nine, the Highlanders will be off Monday for a double-header with Western North Corolina at Culhowee.

Fast Game With ETS Gives Scots 7-3 Victory

Scot moundsman Leon Berrong held the visiting East Tennessee State nine scoreless for seven innings Wednesday as the Scots ripped through a 7-3 decision. In a pitcher's battle, Berrong's seven strike-outs bettered the State pitcher, Vest, by almost two to one. Vest was credited with three.

Backed by accurate fielding, the Berrong-twirling held the Bucs hopeless until the eighth when errors and walks gave them a scoring opportunity as Hester, third baseman, lashed out a double—the mighties blow of the game.

Maryville ran up an early initial inning lead as Hamil, Boring, and Reynolds connected for successive singles in the first. No batsman managed over one hit in the fast game, and the Scots had to settle for singles in the nine innings. Smith's single in the fourth put spark into the Scot scoring hopes as Berrong and Smith crossed the plate with the timely help of two State errors.

MC	410 200 00x—7
ETS	000 000 3—3

Errors: Buckley, Smith (2); White (2), Bird, Hester, Jorganson; Earned runs: MC—5, ETS—2; Left: MC—3, ETS—2; RBI: MC—4; ETS—2; DP: Boring to Buckley to Pentz, Boring to Pentz; SB: MC 4; ETS—0; 2 B hits: Hester; SO: Berrong—7; Vest—3; BB: Berrong—3; Vest—8; Winning pitcher: Berrong; Losing Pitcher: Vest.

MC Nine Deflates Emory's Diamonders, 8-3

Lightly tramping Emory and Henry's diamond nine, the Highlanders walked away with a 8-3 count in Tuesday's meeting of the squads at Emory, Virginia. Jimmy Hawkins went the distance for the Scots on the mound, averaging a strike-out an inning.

Hamils three-bagger in the second and a two-bagger by Boring in the sixth topped the afternoon's batting as the Wasps failed to knock over a one-base blow. The Emory team used four pitchers, Cyphers, Davis, Speurgon, and Taylor, in that order in attempting to slow the Scot attack.

MC	011 100 221—8
EH	100 001 001—3

Errors: MC—Neff, Pentz, (2), Hamil; EH—Pippin, McConnell, (2), Payne; RBI: EH—1; Earned runs: MC—3; EH—1; Left: MC—5; EH—8; SB: MC—6; EH—3; 2 B hits—Boring; 3 B hits—Hamil; SO: Hawkins—9 in 9 innings, Cyphers—2 in 3, Davis—1 in 2; Speurgon—1 in 2; BB: Hawkins—4; Cyphers—1, Speurgon—1, Davis—1; Winning pitcher: Hawkins; Losing pitcher—Cyphers.

Maryville Falls To State In Overtime Battle, 8-7

East Tennesse State's Buccaneer baseball crew scored an 8-7 victory over Lombe's Lads at Johnson City Monday in a ten-inning battle. The Bucs, who collected 12 hits to the Scot's 10, put on the steam with Gene Quarles' pitching and the batwork of third baseman Hester and rightfielder Reed to take the overtime decision.

With Reed's three-base hit in the first, the State squad broke into an early 4-0 lead and Maryville first hit solidly in the third with Kren's and Buckley's first base raps, and error aid by the Staters for three runs. The score was knotted six-all in the sixth as Boring, Kren and Smith came home with the help of Smith's two-bagger, Bornig's single and base-steals around the line.

James Kren started on the mound for Maryville and was relieved by Berrong in the eighth. Berrong went the rest of the way and was nicked for the winning run. Quarles took the mound for State in the ninth, struck out three in a row, and held the Scots to one hit in the final two innings.

8-BALLS FIRST IN TRACK; HAMPERED BY WET COURSE

The first Intramural Track Meet in many a day ran off successfully yesterday despite a muddy track which hampered progress in the special events.

Eightballs, master-minded by A. J. Wilson, picked up a few baseballers and romped off with the high team score for the event by garnering 67 points; a combined Alpha Sigma - Athenian team pooled 28 points while the erstwhile track team of Pi Lumbago grabbed 19; and Independants managed to snare only seven points in the meet which was run off in two and on-half hours.

Directed by Hap Brahams under the tutelage of Coach Kenneth Johnson, the teams did their best on the wet track. Summary of events:

One Mile: Day, Rogers, Yeaworth, Proffitt. Time: 5:12.

440 Yard Dash: Rahn, Henry, Dosker, Yunker. Time: 58:1.

100 Yard Dash: Baldwin, Boring, Reaser, DeNagy. Time: 10:5.

880 Yard Run: Day, Rogers, Le Noir. Time: 2:154.

220 Yard Dash: Baldwin, Boring, Reaser and Eubanks in a tie for third. Time: 23.4.

120 Yard Low Hurdles: Holsinger, Callaway, Rahn, Berrong. Time: 15.6.

Mile Relay: Athenian-Alpha Sigma (D. Yeaworth, Dosker, Rahn, Day), Pi Lumbago, Eightballs. Time: 4:7.2 minutes.

FIELD EVENTS

Shot Put: Walker, Kluth, De Nagy, Andes. Distance: 33' 6".

Discuss: Walker, T. Callaway, Isenberg, Kluth. Distance: 112'.

Victorious Highlander Netmen Hope To Continue Wins---Milligan's Expense

Scottie Trackmen Tie For Top Spot In Milligan Relays

Kay Scores In Hurdles; MC Relayers Win Mile

Highlander hurdlers and relaymen took blue ribbons, and second places flowed like wine Saturday at Johnson City as Maryville tied Wofford in the Milligan Relays 56-56.

Bob Kay hurdled home ahead in the 200 yard low-leap run, and Lambert, Thurston, Brick Brahams, and English relayed the quickest Milligan mile. Although a pulled muscle rendered him unable to finish, Blondie Law was ahead for a time in the 100-yard dash after a qualifying time as good as the one that won. Charlie Allen wound up the 100 with a second.

Four Relay Places

Kay was second in the high hurdles, followed by Hap Brahams, and Brahams himself was second in the low hurdles. Earisman and Mabry finished three four in the mile. Four MC relay teams pulled down second-place honors, with Allen, Lambert, Thurston, and Menges running the sprint medley; Rahn, Day, Menges, and Earisman doing the distance medley; Allen, Thurston, Brick Brahams, and Law working the quarter-mile relay; and Allen, Lambert, Brick Brahams, and English dashing through the half mile relay.

Schools represented in the college division of the relays included the following: Maryville, Wofford, Roanoke, East Tennessee State, Milligan, Mars Hill, Emory and Henry, and Tusculum.

Red Rebels Conquer MC 'B' Tennismen, 4-3

Maryville High's tennis team defeated the MC 'B' squad, 4-3, on the college courts Monday.

Number four man on the 'B' string, Jerry Sayres, won easily over Jeny King, but Ben Gearhart in one spot was pushed

Summary

Gearhart over Andersen, 12-10, 6-4;

England over Pribble, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5;

Watts over Williams, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5;

Sayres over King, 6-0, 6-2;

B. Miller over Pancoast, 6-4, 6-2;

Doubles

England-Bill Miller over Gearhart-Pribble, 6-2, 6-4;

Williams-Sayers over King Bob Miller, 6-2, 6-2.

Anderson, Hunter, Gage Have Undefeated Records To Date

Maryville's undefeated tennis team, victors in seven straight matches of the season's play, are host to Milligan College's netters today on Memorial courts at 2 p.m. The Scots won the first match, April 9, at Milligan, 6-3.

Ches Anderson, starting at number one position for Maryville will be aiming for another kill. McCampbell, Wesley Miles, and Harold Hunter—in that order will be gunning for another sereis of triumphs. At Milligan, the Scots lost the number one doubles, the number three doubles, and the number five singles.

With much improvement in doubles action, the number one team of Miles-McCampbell are likely picks for a victory—Milligan's finest duo, John Walker and Paul Williams.

The complete probable line-up follows:

1—Ches Anderson vs John Walker;
2—Wesley Miles vs Paul Williams;
3—Clyde McCampbell vs William Stanfield;
4—Harold Hunter vs Carl Shepard;
5—Glen Gage vs Walter Mathes;

Doubles

1—Miles-McCampbell vs Walker-Williams;
2—Anderson-Hunter vs Stanfield-Shepard

Maryville, heavy favorites in today's match, are accepting the season's eight encounter. Anderson, Hunter, and Gage, the 3-5 clogs in the MC net machine, are still unconquered in singles play.

Four Shut-Outs

Season's results to date include four shutouts in seven outings. The Scot court masters routed Lincoln Memorial University 8-0 and 7-0; conquered Carson-Newman 8-1 here last Saturday and 7-0 there, Monday; blanked Tusculum, 7-0; downed Milligan 6-3; and edged by Tennessee Wesleyan, 4-3. The Wesleyan crew gave the Scots their closest scare, resulting in the loss of number one and two undefeated singles positions.

In total, the Scots have lost but three singles decisions to date, along with four doubles matches. Total scoring: Maryville—47, Opponents—7.

Scot Netmen Take C-N, 7-0

Scot racquetmen racked up their seventh straight win of the season Monday afternoon against Carson-Newman by a score of 7-0. The match, played at Jefferson City, brought the Eagle netmen a defeat on home courts as Coach Ken Johnson's men scarcely allowed C-N a look-in.

Summary

Singles

Anderson over Gibson—6-1, 6-2;
Miles over Bean—6-3, 6-1;
McCampbell over Brooks—9-11, 6-0, 6-3;
Hunter over Frazier—6-1, 8-6;
Gage over Johnson—6-1, 7-5;

Doubles

Anderson-Miles over Gibson-Bean—6-1, 6-2;
Hunter-McCampbell over Parker-Prevost—6-0, 6-1.

20 Co-eds Tally In Point System Awards For Term

Point System, women's intramural athletic organization, has completed its semester activities with the track test of April 19, and now announces individual point totals and award winners. Twenty girls received awards.

Since women at Maryville do no intercollegiate competing, this intramural work makes up their athletic program. Girls achieving point totals of 500 or above receive a letter and a sweater; those gaining 400 points receive a letter and automatic membership in the "M" Club.

Every point system girl walks the seven-mile loop twelve times a year, swims twice a month, and exercises an hour daily. Participation in basketball, soccer, indoor baseball, and volleyball gives 30 points. Observation of health rules may be worth as much as 25 points, and sportsmanship, membership on a squad, managership, and perfect attendance all are considered in tabulation.

Award Winners

Those awarded letter-sweaters for getting over 500 points this semester are Zan Emery, Ruth McSween, Cora Anthony, Betty Jo Clemens, Ruth Rogers, Marianna Brogden, Barbara Blum, and Peggy Sangster.

"M"-Clubbers getting 400 points this semester are Mae Meriweather, Gracie Scruggs, Alberta Gates, Betty Carroll, Sally Kemp, Nanette Enloe, Eanie Nelson, Janice Landstrom, Beverly Musick, Gwladys Moose, Wilma Robinson, and Edna Burkins.

Scotties Pound Eagles; Baldwin, Hamil Hit Runs

Sparked by home runs by Benton Baldwin and Hugh Hamil, the Scot baseballers swatted Carson-Newman's Eagles, 13-4, on the Home diamond Saturday to stretch a win streak to four within the week for victory number eight.

The Eagles jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first with four hits on the starting Scot moundsman, Ross Honaker, and shortstop Griffin's two-base blow was deepest scar. Maryville tallied six times in the second with catcher Gene Reynolds' three bagger starting the parade. Once behind, the Eagles were subdued until the seventh centerfielder Shipley and shortstop Griffin landed consecutive one-base hits, the latter driving home his mate.

Scoring for Maryville were Hugh Hamil, Benton Baldwin, and Gene Reynolds with three runs each, followed by Bob Boring with two and Ken Smith and Jack Buckley with one each. Reynolds led at bat, taking a triple and two singles in three times at bat.

Honaker, winning pitcher, allowed seven hits in as many innings on the mound, and Leon Berrong, his releif, was nicked for one in the final two innings. The Scots collected 11 hits at bat.

VOLUME 34 — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, MAY 10, 1949 — NUMBER 33

College Graduates 111 Seniors In 130th Annual Commencement

300 Attend First College Formal

Over 300 students and faculty attended Maryville's first formal dance Monday night, May 2. Margaret Newland was chairman for the Spring Formal, and Alan Fort was in charge of decorations.

Charles Huffman directed a special student dance band for the occasion. During the course of the three-hour evening of dancing, "Huffman's Harpists" played 24 numbers in dance tempo. At intermission Wilbur Selander, who played saxophone the rest of the evening, was a boogie clarinest as Huffman aided him at the piano.

Alumni gymnasium, proved many times the most versatile building on campus, was transferred into a ballroom festively decorated with crepe paper streamers in spring hues. Scattered dim light emphasized a galaxy of dress colors.

Alice Davenport and Bob Boring led a grand march to Huffman's "On, Highlanders!" Because of May Day postponement the May Court did not lead the Grand March as scheduled.

"Goodnight, Sweetheart" ended the evening of dancing and was followed by the Alma Mater, in which everyone joined.

Margaret Rock Awarded Danforth Scholarship

Margaret Rock has received a Danforth Foundation scholarship of $1500. She will attend camp at Shelby, Mich., for a five-week period beginning August 1. After this she will be placed on a college campus where she will help with religious emphasis for a year.

Every year 15 young women are chosen from different colleges over the country to work on college campuses. Miss Rock is one of the 15 chosen for 1949-50.

Music Club Announces All-Mozart Program

Harry Ulenill will present a program of all Mozart music, Saturday, May 14, at 4 p.m. in Chilhowee Club House. Mozart's "Fantasia and Fugue in C major" will begin the program. "Sonata in B flat (Kochel, 498 A), Allegro moderato, Andante, Menuette and Trio, Rondo" will follow.

Ulenill will continue, playing "Fantasia in D minor," "Rondo in D major," and "Gigue in G major." Closing, he will play Mozart's "Variations in C major" ("Ah, Vous dirai-je, Maman").

This is a regular Maryville-Alcoa music association program to which the public is invited.

Pi Kappa Delta Elects

The results of Pi Kappa Delta elections are as follows: Eric Meadows, president; Carol Corbett, v. president; Lewis Evans, secretary-treasurer; Elenor Kramer, reporter.

NOTICE

Refunds of $10.00 deposits will be made by the Treasurer's Office at the close of school. Students rooming on campus will get clearance tickets when keys are turned in at dormitories, and all students will get tickets at the Book Store. These tickets must be presented at the Treasurer's Office in order to receive refunds or renew deposit for the fall semester.

May Day Pageant Tells Remus Story

"Plantation Story," 1949 May Day extravaganza by Jim Dance, was given in college amphitheatre Tuesday, May 3, after postponement from Monday because of unfavorable weather conditions. "Plantation Story", based on Uncle Remus' tales of Brer Rabbit, was interwoven with Stephen Foster melodies to form on ideal of pre-Civil War South.

King and Queen, Chester Phillips and Virginia Hand, reigned over a colorful court seated informally in front of a simulated mansion with high white columns. The queen and her attendants ascended the traditional path and were met at the bridge by their escorts and were not heralded this year by the usual flourish of trumpets. Court direction was conducted by Mildred Miller whose name did not appear on the program.

Fairy tale climax was the culmination of May Day festivity when pink and white children from a neighboring plantation came to dance around a May-Pole of the same color scheme. Over a thousand spectators viewed the picture-book ending as the last scene ended with all the colorful cast on stage for the finale.

"Plantation Story" marks the second May Day record for Jim Dance, a sophomore from Knoxville, who adapted and produced "Over the Rainbow to Oz," last year's May Day pageant. Dialogue and most of the music for this year's program was wire recorded, a new idea in May Day procedure.

Swiss Churchman Gives Final Vesper Address Sunday

Commencement Vespers will be held in Alumni Gymnasium at regular Vesper hour next Sunday evening, May 15. Speaker this year is M. le pasteur Marcel Pradervand, of Geneva, Switzerland, a church leader of world-wide influence.

M. Pradervand is a native of Switzerland where he is Executive Secretary of the World Presbyterian. Alliance. He has come to America to speak at Presbyterian General Assemblies and to fill a number of other appointments.

M. Pradervand was on the staff of World Council of Churches for two years with special responsibility for European relief work. Prior to that he was pastor of the Swiss Church in London. He has a fluent knowledge of several languages, and was chairman of interpreters at the Amsterdam Conference.

President Lloyd met him in Geneva and invited him to be at Maryville this Commencement season.

Students To Apply Now For Fall Work

Student Help Office is now receiving applications for work for next year. Persons now employed by Student Help are reminded that appointments are made for one year only and that reapplications should be made by end of this semester.

At present there have been approximately 200 applications for next year about equally divided between men and women. This number does not include advance applications made through the mail by prospective freshmen.

Campus Crew

In view of increasing numbers of men applying for work, tentative plans are being made to reorganize a campus crew for next year. This was discontinued during the war due to the small number of men then attending Maryville. This work includes outdoor jobs on golf course, athletic fields, central campus, and in College Woods. Boys who would like to do this kind of work are asked to indicate their choice on application blanks in order that more definite plans may be developed.

Seniors Give Music Hour At New Providence

Senior music hour will be held Sunday afternoon, May 15, at 4 p.m. at New Providence Presbyterian Church.

Program includes, "Concerto in E Minor Andante" by Mendelssohn, Ruth Ramsey accompanied by Juanita Johnson; a scene from "Der Frieschutz" by Von Weber, Jane Martenis and Ruth Ramsey accompanied by Thelma Nelson;

"Thou Art the Rock" (Esquisses Byzantines) by Mullt, Juanita Johnson; "Morte d'Arthur" by Huffman, Chamber Chorus and Orchestra directed by Charles Huffman.

Vesper Choir Sets Final Concert Date

Maryville College Vesper Choir, under direction of Harry H. Harter, will present its last concert of the school year tomorrow night in First Baptist Church at 7:30. The concert will bring together the church's in Maryville for their mid-week services.

The evening's program ranges from the classic work of Gallus to the contemporary work of Milhaud, includes "God Goes Up on High" by Gallus; "Ave Verum," Mozart; "Come, Soothing Death," Bach (arranged by Christiansen); "All Breathing Life" (from "Sing Yet To the Lord"), Bach; 'God's Son Hath Set Me Free," Grieg.

"How Brightly Shines Our Morning Star," Schumann; "Nunc Dimittis," Gretchaninof; "Jerusalem," Milhaud; "Trois Beaux Oiseaux du Paradis," Ravel; "Cloud Mesengers," Cui; "Madame Jeanette," Murray; "Soon Ah Will Be Done," Negro spiritual arranged by Dawson; "There is A Balm in Gilead," arranged by Dawson; and "Lord Hosanna" (from the Entrance Scene to "Advent Motet"), Schreck.

CHAMBER MUSIC PROGRAM GIVEN TONIGHT AT EIGHT

Chamber Music Program will be held today at 8 p.m. in Chilhowee Club House. The following program will be presented:

"Minuet" and "Rondo" movements from "Quartet in A Major," for flute and strings, by Mozart; "Allegro Vivace" and "Finale" movements from "Quintet Oqua 114, for piano and strings, by Schubert; "Allegretto" movement from the "Sonata," for piano and violin, by Franck; and the "Liebesleider Waltzes," for small chorus and two pianos, by Brahms .

Barbara Rosensteel will play flute; Dorothy Horne, violin; Constance Jeffery, viola; and Curtis Hughes, cello for the first selection.

The second selection will have Dan Winter at the piano, Miss Horne playing the violin, Miss Jeffery, viola, and Hughes, cello.

Louise Lloyd plays the piano, and Miss Horne the violin on the third selection.

The last number will feature Madrigal Singers directed by Harry H. Harter, and accompanied at two pianos by Dorothy Vawter and Professor Katherine Davies.

Fleming, Hickman, Packard Win Awards

Louise Packard, Ronald Fleming, and Joy Hickman, all freshmen, were awarded Westminster scholarships last Thursday night upon successful completion of the required work.

Four $50 scholarships were made available to Maryville College freshmen or upperclassmen enrolled for the first time in a Presbyterian college who recited perfectly 107 answers of Westminster Shorter Catechism. These scholarships are given by Board of Christian Education and are available to all Presbyterian USA colleges.

Honorary Degrees To Be Conferred On 2 MC Grads, Swiss Pastor; National Vols Prexy Is Speaker

In Commencement Exercises Wednesday morning, May 18, at 10:30 in Alumni Gym, 111 seniors will be granted degrees; three honorary degrees will also be presented. Address to graduates will be given by Dr. Edward Fay Campbell, on the theme, "Therefore."

Alumni Association Banquets Tuesday

Graduating Class of 1949 will be inducted into membership at the annual dinner-meeting of the Alumni Association Tuesday evening, May 17, at seven o'clock in Pearsons Hall. Fifty and twenty-five class will also be honored. Earl W. Blazer, '30, of Maryville, president of the association, will preside.

Reports on chapel campaign to be conducted among alumni this summer will be given . There is no guest speaker; program will consist of reports and greetings from guests present.

Dinner will be over at nine o'clock so that those present may attend the band concert to be held on the golf course.

MC Concert Band Ends First Year With Concert

Maryville College Concert Band will climax its first year with a concert Tuesday, May 17, at 9 p.m. on the golf course opposite Pearsons. Curtis Hughes is band director.

Included on the program are the following marches and overtures: "On the Mall" by Goldman; "El Capitan," Sousa; "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa; "Semper Fidelis," Sousa.

"Echos of the Metropolitan Opera," Moses-Tobani; "Hillbilly," Gould; "Tales from the Vienna Woods," Strauss; "Desert Song," Romberg; "American Patrol," Meachum; and "Malaguena" (from "Suite Espagnole") by Lecuona.

Senior Class Receives "Living Endowment"

On April 28 "Living endowment" pledge cards were given to the senior class. This money is used the same as interest from endowment investments.

The "living endowment" is carried on by many colleges and was started at Maryville by the graduating class of 1941.

Each senior is asked to pledge a definite amount to be paid annually—the suggested amount is ten dollars. However, it is understood that the pledge may be withdrawn at any time the person finds it necessary.

Maryville College Board of Directors will meet at 8:30 a.m. May 18 to award degrees to graduating seniors, and then take part in the commencement processional.

Honorary degrees will be conferred upon Lois C. Wilson, '16, of Nabotiyeh, Lebanon, daughter of Dr. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, M. le pasteur Marcel Pradervand, of Geneva, Switzerland, and Rev. Edward W. Lodwick, '09 of Seville, Ohio.

Fifty-Year Certificates will be awarded to the three living members of the Class of 1899. They are Mrs. Mary Carnahan Hill, of Felton, Del.; Mrs. Ethel Kennedy McKenna, of Mt. Vernon, Wash.; and Samuel Duffield McMurray, of Bristol, Va.

Dr. Campbell is Executive Secretary of the Division of Higher Education of Presbyterian Board of Christian Education. Before entrance into his present work he was director of religious work at Yale University. He is president of the Student Volunteer Movement and is on the executive committee of the National Protestant Council on Higher Education. In 1943 he was editor and co-author of the book "To Glorify God."

Dr. Campbell received his AB degree from Yale in 1918 and his STB there in 1922. In 1942 he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Washington and Jefferson College and in 1944 Tusculum College also awarded him this degree.

President Lloyd will preside at the exercises and will be assisted in awarding degres by Chairman of the Board of Directors, Judge S. O. Houston, and by Dr. F. R. Hunter and Dr. F. D. McClelland.

Seniors Required To Fill College Activity Records

Seniors are required to hand in a record of all college activities; a report which must include six pictures, three faculty recommendations, and a record of all college courses and grades.

This requirement is made by the Committee on Recommendations and no senior will receive his diploma or graduate until his record has been completed.

Theta Alpha Phi Presents 'Wuthering Heights' Commencement Play In MHS Auditorium May 14,16

"Wuthering Heights," Theta Alpha Phi's commencement play, will be staged at Maryville High School Auditorium, May 14 and 16 at 8 p.m.

Co-starring in it are James Black as Heathcliff, and Mary Mitchell Wooldridge as Catherine Ernshaw. Other supporting members of the cast are Marian Pope as Isabel Linton, Bill Nish as Edgar Linton, and Roger Cowan as Hindley. All cast members belong to Theta Alpha Phi.

Mrs. Lenore Courtney is director with Ruth Ellen Crews, assistant director Mildred Miller is stage manager, and Virginia Schwartz is house manager. Formal dinner on Saturday night will precede the performance.

The play, "Wuthering Heights," is an adaption by Randolph Carter from the novel of same name by Emily Bronte. With a setting in two neighboring estates of English moorlands, it involves a strange passion between a man and a woman, tragically including four other people. Savagery dominates the family at Wuthering Heights, where its cruel master, Hindley, faithful servant, Ellen Dean, and Joseph, a fanatical retainer, are entangled in emotional struggle between impulsive, young Catherine and Heathcliff, an adopted gypsy, who is degraded to estate's handyman. Although in love with each other, Catherine and Heathcliff are too affected by the electric atmosphere about them to be happy.

The Grange, beautiful neighboring manor, is given a dull gentility by Edgar Linton and his silly, romantic sister, Isabel Linton. It is for this type of life that Catherine longs. During a thunderstorm and a fit of temper, Catherine angers Heathcliff by accepting Edgar's marriage proposal. Heathcliff then disappears in the storm, leaving Joseph to curse Wuthering Heights as a house of death.

Returning years later, Heathcliff finds Catherine at Grange, unhappy in her loveless marriage to Edgar. Catherine and Heathcliff now find that they are still in love with each other. To spite Edgar and hurt Catherine, Heathcliff elopes with Isabel, now slavishly infatuated with him.

Finally realizing the futility of their spite marriages, Heathcliff and Catherine decide to go away together, when Edgar arrives untimely. The ending fulfills Joseph's prophecy of years before.

Theta Alpha Phi is the national dramatic fraternity to which the Delta Chapter of Maryville College belongs. Recently revised membership requirements are based on the point system. Points may be earned by participating in fields of acting, staging, writing or business.

The purposes of Theta Alpha Phi stipulated in the national constitution are ". . . to increase interest, stimulate creativeness, and foster artistic achievement in the allied arts and crafts of the theater."

Upperclassmen who had earned the required points are considered by the chapter each spring since membership is limited to one per cent of the student body.

Adult Beginners Present Recital In Y Rooms

Adult Beginners' Recital will be held today at 4:30 p.m. in the Y Rooms. Joy Parker, opening the program will play "Home on the Range", a cowboy ballad arranged by Thompson. "Harmonious Blacksmith" by Handel-Felton will be played by Laurence Thompson. Dorothea Frederick will play "Twilight Song" by Thompson and "March of the Sages" by Felton.

Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Young Prince and Princess" from "Scheherazade" arranged by Thompson, will be played by Frances Moore. Randal LeQuire will play "Sonatina Op. 36 No. 1" by Clementi. "Moccasin Dance" by Thompson will be played by Bruce DeNagy.

Rosalba Pascal will play three numbers: Verdi's "La Donna e Mobile," Humperdinck's "Evening Prayer," and Wagner's "Pilgrim Chorus." Beethoven's "Sonatina in F major, Allegro Assai" played by Conrad Eaddy, will close the program.

Last Issue

Each year a new editor takes over the old office and equipment, gets a lot of ambitious ideas, and starts harassing the staff. And each year, that editor makes a lot of mistakes, learns a lot, complains bitterly, works hard, and enjoys it all. The Echo, as the only record of activities of Maryville campus, takes a beating from a lot of perturbed people, makes a few happy, gets some of the facts straight and others a bit lopsided. It tries to reflect student opinion and sometimes succeeds. When it doesn't it's because the staff is quite human, and even when trying hard to be impartial, may seem to take sides. It can be truly representative when the entire student body is interested and offers constructive criticism, and freely gives with the facts needed by deadline-and editor-hounded reporters.

The 1948-49 staff has worked hard and willingly and to them the retiring editor wishes to say thanks. As has been said before, no editor can do anything unless his staff is with him, and this year's has certainly made the paper possible.

Change of Viewpoint

Alumni banquets and receptions seem distant and not particularly inviting to freshmen and other underclassmen, but when one is a senior and about to attend his first alumni occasion, his attitude changes. Next year, and from now on, those functions may be the only times he ever sees his former classmates and campus. Call it nostalgia or something similar, but the feeling is there. This year it's with a different viewpoint that we say welcome to the commencement season visitors, knowing that the next time we'll be in the visiting line with them

—IMM

'Ring In The True'

Not all that should have been done has been done this year. That we all recognize. Causes, naturally, are Legion, but usually it is because of opposition from one group or another.

Those who eternally oppose change are, like those who perpetually advocate it, subject to endless criticism. Their positions are not pleasant ones; they are equally convinced of their own foresight, reason, and righteousness. Yet, evidently, one side is wrong.

Without taking sides in any specific campus row, there are generalities that can be made on most if not all situations. There is no good reason, it will be granted, for closing one's mind on any matter. Difficulty arises, however, in the definition of the open mind. If that which is contrary to what has been our particular philosophy, custom, or method is considered inherently wrong, the open mind—which everyone claims—has been abandoned.

If we refuse to admit the potentialities of different methods, systems unproved but with sincere proponents, and original thinking not our own, we are not being intellectually honest with ourselves—or basically just with others.

Let it not be said that we are unalterably convinced of anything, but that we are always willing to recognize value wherever it may be found.

Student Council—

Student Center Regulations

Last Council meeting of the 1948-49 group will be in combination with the newly elected Council tomorrow evening.

At last week's meeting the problem of loitering before, during, and after evening Student Center hours was discussed and referred to Senate for further investigation. At the time of the signing of the Student Center agreement last fall, Council agreed to be responsible for that period if fellows and girls were both allowed in at the same time instead of the former segregated plan. So far no rules have been adopted. There is the additional problem of whether Council would be responsible for all loiterers or only those going to the Center. Suggested plan was suspension of Center privileges for one week.

Point system will continue unofficially for one year on a trial basis to test its workability.

May Day Bits

We all enjoyed the May Day Program tremendously, especially the antics of the three Brers—Rabbit, Fox, and Bear. The final performance ran smoothly, but those of us who saw the Tuesday morning rehearsal found many laughs. Remember when Brer Rabbit was thrown into the briar patch? In rehearsal the problem of how to cross the creek was discussed. Two husky boys picked up Ric Rogers and hurled him across to see if he could make it. He couldn't. Ric picked himself up from the center of the stream, eager (?) to try it again. We wondered why Ric seemed so unconcerned about his wet feet as he waded back and forth. Maybe it was because he was wearing Joe Poland's shoes at the time.

Ray Kuhn then took his turn at flying across the creek. After several rough landings he was heard to remark: "At least they'll only do this once this afternoon."

Walt English was only trying to be helpful when he removed a rock from the "briar patch" and heaved it upstream. But the girls standing on the bridge didn't seem to appreciate the impromptu shower.

The old jeer "get a horse" could have been applied Tuesday afternoon. Mules can be very stubborn at times. "It" found it to its advantage to retreat into the woods, carriage and all, at the moment of its desired arrival on stage.

* * * * * *

Tsk Tsk

Bob Boring must have been practicing up on his basketball shots the other night in the Student Center, when he pitched a dime down the dress of an unsuspecting freshman girl. Hard to tell which was more embarrassed.

* * * * * *

WANTED:

The culprit who started a round of coughing after an exceptionally quiet period in the library recently.

* * * * * *

Dance Ballerina

The first spring formal was a great success, but some complained that the last dances were cut too short. "Oh, my aching feet" was the universal comment. Which brings to mind the comparison: "My gown is simply ravishing; yours is becoming, if you like that style; hers looks like a moth-eaten feed sack."

* * * * * *

PARISIAN FASHIONS

One Baldwin girl was stopped three times on an excursion down the hall and received three compliments on her "charming formal." The well-wishers were nonplussed when they learned it was not the formal, only the taffeta slip she was wearing at the time.

* * * * * *

Not Really!

Who was the Baldwinite who forgot her date's name at the last minute, and desperately inquired if anyone knew him?

* * * * * *

What Kind of Attire?

Dave Campbell certainly tries to keep up appearances. He warned the members of Writers' Workshop that they should "dress respectably" for their annual picnic. What constitutes "respectable" attire, Dave?

* * * * * *

Sweet Tooth

Gene Reese must like candy. He is slowly eating his way through a huge lollipop. In the two years he has been nibbling, he has progressed about half way through the striped confection.

Speaking of candy, Dr. Barbour of Knoxville was very generous in sending twelve pounds of candy to Vesper Choir. The food was demolished in two seconds flat. Bob Holly, with his mouth and hands full of chocolates, warned: "Remember, we must watch our figures, now."

* * * * * *

To Kiss Or Not To Kiss

Social behavior must be bothering Art Haaf. In chapel the other morning he asked Ann Childress if it would be proper for him to kiss his g.f. at the station when she comes down to visit. For ten cents and a self-addressed envelope Emily Post will answer that a la Bostonian etiquette.

Sorry, No Hair

"Carey snipped here" is the slogan, originated by Marty Mauger, among hair-cutted gals. Yup, Carey Parsons is still a cuttin' hair. "Hey, watch it, your ears are showin'"!

* * * * * *

Skeletons In The Closet

The sophomores on third floor Baldwin were quit unprepared for the deluge of freshmen investigators as the drawing for rooms grew near.

* * * * * *

Painted Lady

We can't quite decide whether Miss Greco is turning gray from Greek, or whether it's the "skunk" costume still lodged in her hair from May Day.

Thwarted Thespians

We're all looking forward to the Commencement Play, "Wuthering Heights" by Jim Black—plajarized by Emily Bronte. Incidentally, the cast is thinking of changing the name to "Wettering Hights" because of Bill Nish's free play with the water pistol.

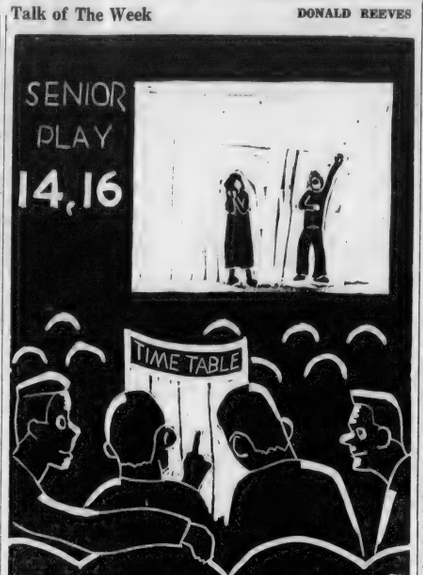
Tempus Fugit

Three days till exams! (Just thought you people might like a reminder.)



A week and we leave for home! (No reminder needed.)

And here is a gem from the Tennessee Tech Oracle with which we close this year of miss-givings:

School gets the name,
Printer gets the money,
Staff gets the blame!

Talk of The Week

DONALD REEVES

Echo Forum—

To the Editor of The Echo:

We'd like to thank through The Echo all the people who worked with us so splendidly on "Plantation Story" for May Day. Much time and effort went into the production of the acting, dance routines, stage setting, and recording of the pageant; we wish we could thank each one personally for the grand cooperation he gave.

Particularly we appreciate the wire recorders so graciously lent us by John Baxter and Delmas Watson; the amplifiers lent us by Dr. Lloyd and the Alumni Office; the work of Milly Miller as director of the processional (we regret that her name was not included on the program); the cooperation of the newspapers, WGAP, and the administration in successfully postponing the show for one day; the best efforts of the Weather Man in getting us a beautiful May 3!

Thanks, too, to the wonderful audience which dug its collective heels and responded appreciatively to the pageant.

Sincerely,
Jim Dance
Charles Williams
Donald Whelan

To the Editor of The Echo:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to those who helped with the decorations for Maryville's first formal dance. Without the help given by those people our first dance could not have been successful as it proved to be.

Special thanks goes to my assistant chairman, Bill Faulkner, the electricians, the other decorators, and the clean-up crew. All of whom gave up time and other activities to help.

Again, on behalf of the student body, I wish to express my heartfelt thanks.

Theta Alpha Phi Takes In Six After Initiation

Theta Alpha Phi's banquet was held at Badgett's on May 6. Formal initiation, which was the conclusion to the one which was actively held on campus, was held at Student Center.

Those initiated were William Starr, Margaret Newland, Carl Lazenby, Howard Cameron, Marjorie Prall and Joe Poland.

Mary Watt To Head Hi Society Next Year

Mary Watt was elected president of High Society at the last meeting of the year to replace Clara Miller, retiring president. Secretary-treasurer is Charlotte Wyman, program chairman, Frances Postlethwaite, and new publicity chairman, Lois Layton.

High Society, or tall girls' club, is directed by Lois Deobler. During the year girls have performed in Barnwarming, Hansel and Gretel, and May Day.

Four Maryville Seniors Named UT Assistants

Four seniors, Harold Hunter, Carol Jones, Marian Pope, and Charles Robinson, have been appointed to graduate assistantships at the University of Tennessee for the coming year.

A number of Maryville students hold such appointments each year.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

SCREEN

"She was only the innkeeper's daughter, so she told them when to check out."

Apparently this was not the case in the Capitol's Town Nighter tonight—H. Bogart, L. Bacall, and E. G. Robinson in "Key Largo." Out-of-the-'20's gangster Edward G. & friends are practically holding Lauren and her hotel-keeping papa hostage just off the Florida coast. The gang plans to dash back Stateside whenever the time is ripe.

Bogie, it seems, is a WW2 vet who finally summons enough of his just-about-used-up courage to do something about the mobsters.

Though Maxwell Anderson would hardly know his ten-year-old play, director John Huston has skillfully updated the story, made the best of the Courage theme, and eliminated some unfortunate type casting. For this third item, Bogart, at least, should be grateful.

Said Huston: the gunman was supposed to represent "a sort of evil flower of reaction." The talk of "the good old days," he insists, is wrong, for we cannot afford to, we must not return to the '20's, prohibition, and all that went with them.

Just how strongly this was to be said brought on the squabble which marked "Largo" the last picture Huston will make for Warner Bros.

* * *

The virtue (sic) of "An Innocent Affair," Madelaine Carroll and Fred McMurray, at the Capitol tomorrow and Thursday, lies in its kidding the worn comedy theme that has been reworked so often—though not always so successfully—since Bocaccio.

The beauteous Miss Carol, suspects hubby McMurray. Her plot to make him jealous elicits some very funny material—and some these two could have made a lot funnier than it is with a better script.

The week end at both locals has its usual flavor—"The Strawberry Roan," starring Trigger & Co., at the Capitol Friday and Saturday and the equivalent at the Park Saturday.

For those who would like to get away from exams to pleasanter thoughts, the Capitol's next Monday-Tuesday showing is Cary Grant, obviously without the title role, in "Every Girl Should Be Married."

The Park's "Embraceable You" tonight and tomorrow has a bit of a do on this original theme: chauffeur for gunmen's getaway car hits pedestrian, keeps going; driver later finds the downtrodden gal in the hospital, but won't mention whodunit.

Things become persistently more touching as they fall in love without her knowing how serious her bruises are—the kid may drop dead any minute—so they have a sentimentally gay time of it for the remaining reels.

BOOKPAPER

Sociology and theology are prominent in this week's new books added to Lamar Memorial. Probably the most arresting of the whole lot is "The Invasion from Mars," containing the as-yet unpublished Orson Welles radio script that sent a good many Americans into too-late resolutions about ten years ago, when they thought our spacial neighbors had attacked NYC via CBS & the Mercury Theatre.

The rest of the book is a report and analysis by the Rockefeller Foundation - sponsored Princeton Radio project sociologists on the effect that broadcast had.

On religion are the new "Christian Apologetics" by Canon of Durham Alan Richardson, a formidable-looking "The Psalms" by Leslie, and "A Compend of Luther's Theology" by Princeton's Hugh Kerr.

For the less convential of our deeper thinkers there is a new little volume adequately entitled "Existentialism." Ralph Harper writes on a school of thought we've heard much, but know so little about: Jean-Paul Sartre, Keirkegaard, and others.

Another book dealing with "other sides to the question" is from the Viking Press' Portable series—"The World Bible," with selections from the scriptures of Judeo-Christianity, the Hindus, Buddhism, the Moslems, and Confusianism.

SHEEPSKIN

Columbia University, handing around Pulitzer Awards last week, cited young (late 30's) Arthur Miller for his new Broadway drama, "Death of a Salesman." The fiction award went to little-known "Guard of Honor" by James Gould Cozzens.

New Dealing author-playwright Robert Sherwood took a Pulitzer for his weighty, BOMC-selected, sympathetic "Roosevelt and Hopkins," subtitled "an intimate history." The Library has it on reading room shelves now for those who want a carefully documented picture of the '30's and early '40's by one of the country's best qualified.

And, while we're mentioning the bended knee, it's of note that "Blondie" artist Chic Young was picked the year's best cartoonist by the National Cartoonists Society.

Those omniscient initials, G.& C. Merriam, last week sanctioned a lot of sounds we've been making for the last few years. With publication of the new Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, to replace the 13-year-old fifth edition of it, words like "jet propulsion," "atomic pile," and "existentialism," "gobbledegook" should be a lot clearer to the uninitiated.

For those who'd like to know what they have when they check out "Existentialism," the new book mentioned earlier, here's what Webster's sixth Collegiate will say (when the Library gets a copy) a theory of man which expresses the individual's intense awareness of his contingency and freedom. . .."

All clear?

DIAL

Memo to exam crammers: The impressive-sounding Journal of Educational Research reports 91 tested sixth graders generally worked better with the radio on—providing it was music and not variety.

"Blondie" and "Bergen & McCarthy" were a little mode distracting, reported the Researchers, but really affected only those who had IQ's below 100.

Pardon me, while I turn down that radio. —DW

New Styles Seen At Home Ec Show

Students, Faculty Model Cottons, Wools In Gym Program Last Night

"Fashions on Parade" was the title of MC's annual style show, presented last night at 8 o'clock in Federal Gymnasium. Students of Home Economics Department modeled clothes made first and second semesters in classes.

Also modeling were Misses Gertrude Meiselwitz, Geneva Robertson, and Mrs. Beatrice Yates of the department, and Mrs. Clyde West.

Wilma Davis designed covers for programs, and Marian Pope and Mitch Wooldridge commented on the different costumes.

From the freshman clothing classes were blouses and skirts made and modeled by Sally Sutton, Anna McCorkle, Ruth Rogers, Joy Hickman, Ruby Harris, Margaret Brown, Barbara McDonald, Helen Tedford, Marilyn Schnee, and Hattie Hall. Dresses were shown by Dot Johnson, Wilma Davis, Edith Lancaster, and Marsha Beebe. Jean Leister and Edith Lancaster modeled coats, and Dot Johnson and Helen Sims appeared in evening dresses.

From the bride's class were Rose Huskey, Virginia Hand, Eloise Gaston, Buffie Carver, and Ann Cook with blouses and dresses they had made.

Dresses and Suits

Wool dresses and suits were made and modeled by the class in costume design—Rosa Lynn Law, Ethel Hickman, Virginia Wood, Alberta Ahler, Brooks Maddux, Harriet McClain, Wilma Robinson, Edalene Frogge, and Jane McCullough. They later appeared in rayon dresses.

The tailoring class appeared in suits and coats. Those modeling were Wilma Davis, Jane McCullough, Virginia Wood, Wanda Onifer, Mrs. Lynn Ramsey, Jane Enfield, Mary Mills, and Clara Miller.

From the textiles class, Clara Miller's purple cotton print was worn by Delores Green, Virginia Wood modeled Jene Enfield's yellow picolay, and Miss Enfield appeared in Miss Wood's blue rayon shantang. Mrs. Clyde West modeled a pink chambray made by Mrs. Lynn Ramsey, and Jane McCullough wore Mary Mills' blue cotton chambray. Wanda Onifer made the pink dotted swiss her sister Polly modeled.

Miss Meiselwitz modeled outfits in gray whippet cloth and irridescent chambray. Miss Robertson wore blue and white striped chambray and white cotton waffle pique. Mrs. Yates modeled a green wool gabardine suit. Children's clothes were modeled by neighborhood children.

Also featured in the style showing were dresses worn by members of May Court, High Society, and Daisy Chain, from their respective campus presentations.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES RUTLEDGE H-S SENIORS

President Ralph W. Lloyd delivered the commencement address to the graduating seniors of Rutledge High School, in Rutledge. He spoke at the annual exercises held last Friday at 8:30 p.m. at the high school.

Final Radio Workshop Presented Last Night

Radio Workshop presented its final performance of the year Monday at 8 p. m. over station WGAP. The program included four musical numbers and a 15 minute radio drama.

Jim Frost sang a group of songs with accompaniment by Geneva Robinson. They were "Shortnin' Bread," Jacques Wolfe; "If Christ Came Back," Geoffrey O'Hara; "I Love Thee," Grieg. Lynn Johnson sang "I'll See You Again," by Noel Coward.

"Jade," the drama, is a story of intrigue and superstition which surrounds a precious stone owned by a Chinese art-dealer in Shanghai. Through a Christian missionary, the art dealer is made to realize that there are more precious things in life than precious stones. The cast included Bill Starr, Ann Jenkins, Ben Paxton, and Jim Black.

Students, Faculty Show Work In Art Exhibit

Maryville students and faculty are represented in the current exhibit which will be in Lamar Library until May 18.

The groupings are as follows: principles of composition, color, line, and form: life-study, time sketches; oil techniques; advanced painting; water color and pastel landscape sketching.

Students who have work on display are Craig Fisher, Alan Fort, Elizabeth Hunter, Mac Law, Eugene McCook, Margaret Shields, Clifford Smith, Mary Hamelman, Donald Reeves, James Smith, Carl Lazenby, Arthur Santmier, David Campbell, Walter Moore, Ben Paxton, Jeannine Stewart, William Holt.

Mrs. Mary Gladys Pieper, Miss Arda Walker, and Miss Charlotte Johnson are the faculty members showing pictures in the exhibition.

PRE-COLLEGE PIANO GROUP GIVES RECITAL FRIDAY

Pre-college piano students of Thelma Nelson, Alice Archibald, and Dorothy Vawter will be presented in a recital, Friday, May 13 at 7:30 in the Chilhowee Club House.

Approximately 30 young pianists ranging in age from six through high school age, will be featured in this recital. College students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend.

Now is the time for all those showers and parties.

Sports Echoes

By Herbert McCallum

●ONE OF THE BEST baseball seasons in a great long stretch is currently being brought to a close by the Highlander diamond team. At this writing, the Scot nine—by nipping Western Carolina in a twin-bill—had chalked up win number 12 in 18 outings. With fully two-thirds of the slate in victories, the Orange and Garnet baseball team put renewed luster to the widely recognized title for Coach Honaker—"Dean of Southern Baseball Coaches." It is significant to note that only Miami University of Ohio who played in the second day opening doubleheader was able to clout the Scots for two wins. Tennessee Tech and East Tennessee each took road games, but the Scotties came back in home engagements to decisively whip them in turn. Rain stayed vengence for the Scots on Hiwassee, who opened with a victory on the local diamond.

●CONSIDERABLE IMPROVEMENT in hitting and pitching over the years in the immediate past had a great deal to do with the success of the Scot nine in action this Spring. Looking down the record for the first 15 games (through the East Tennessee State game here) the top five in Highlander batting shaped up like tihs:

	AB	Hits	Pct.
Hamil, cf	42	20	.476
Kren, p	11	5	.455
Pentz, 1b	52	19	.365
Baldwin, lf	47	14	.299
Boring, ss	52	15	.288

●USING THE SAME 15 gamkes to judge pitching performances, the record runs something like this:

	Innings	Walks	Hits	SO
Berrong	21	10	17	17
Fowler	13	10	15	7
Hawkins	37	8	32	25
Honaker	27	19	25	12
Kren	23	5	18	13

●JUST LIKE A KID growing out of knee britches into full-length trousers, Maryville's track talent has lengthened its stride to negotiate a pretty rapid course this Spring. One thing contributing in a great measure was last fall's successful cross-country work—it broke down a feeling that track interest was weak. Individual performances on the oval this year that have been superior include Law's and Allen's dashes, Kay's and Hap Brahams' hurdle-work, Menges' and Day's middle distances, Earisman and Mabry's distance runs, and the fleet 440 quartet—English, Thurston, Brick Brahams, and Lambert.

In field events, Walker, Sheffield, and Lillard probably are the most consistent laurel-winners. Track—though it seems to be yet in its infancy—could grow much faster on a greater diet; its growth can be stunted by two-meet seasons.

●"NEXT YEAR SHOULD see this group ripe for a better showing," we said about this time last year in commenting on the Scots' four win, seven loss 1948 tennis season. How true. Undefeated in team competition, the Scottie Netmen have provided a top performance on the courts this Spring With Wes Miles and Ches Anderson leading the troupe combined wtih the tennis prowess of Clyde McCampbell and Harold Hunter, first year varsity contenders, and supplemented by vital number five cogs—Jerry Sayres, Glen Gage, and Ben Gearhardt, the current tennis edition has proved its mettle. And it all looks like a better go next year, even tourney-wize.

Kiltie-Klads Top 'Nooga; Enter State Meet Next

Maryville's undefeated cindermen upset the track team of the Univrsity of Chattanooga 80-51 in a meet in Chattanooga Friday afternoon. Coach "J.D" Davis' thin clads took first place in the 440, 100 yd. dash, 120 yd. high hurdles, 880, 220, 2 mile, and the 220 low hurdles. Field events showed the Scots taking first in the Pole Vault.

Charles Allen of the Scotties placed two firsts in the 100 yd. event and the 220. Charles Mabry placed first in the 2 mile run and second in the mile. Hurdlers Brahams and Kay reversed places for first and second in the 120 highs and the 220 lows.

The Scottie Track Squad, to cap off a two-meet schedule, will enter the TIAC track met Saturday, May 14, at the University of Tennessee. With expectations of making a credible showing, Coach Davis will put the Scot mile relay team in special trim for the occasion.

UC forfeited in the mile relay event, losing five points to the Scots. MC failed to place in the Broad Jump and Discus throw. Lillard and Fisher tied for second place in the High Jump.

Tourney By, Scot Netmen To Close Season Tuesday

Maryville's representatives to the TIAC tennis tourney at Knoxville's Tyson Park Thursday and Friday dropped out one by one in the first ,second, and third rounds of play as Sewanee copped the State tennis title. Eleven schools were represented at the annual tourney sponsored by the Tennesse Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

The Scot Racquetmen, undefeated through eight games, will close the season here next Tuesday when Tusculum's Pioneers visit on a return engagement. Maryville won a 7-0 shut-out in the first tennis tilt with the Pioneers and have defeated in succession LMU (2), Milligan, Carson-Newman (2), and Tennessee Wesleyan (2).

Top MC laddermen Chesley Anderson downed Tennessee Tech's Cas, 6-0, 6-8, 6-2, before his loss to Sewanee's dark horse, Hunley Elebash, 6-3, 6-3.

Wesley Miles took a win over Primm of Memphis State, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; then he fell before Sewanee's highly touted John Guerry, 6-2, 6-1.

Clyde McCampbell knocked off two opponents before losing—his victims were David Lipscomb's Bill Long and Tennessee Tech's Jim Rogers with scores of 6-1, 6-4, in both wins. McCampbell's conqueror was the tourney favorite, Gene Derrick of East Tenenssee State, who beat the diminuite Maryvillian by the coincidental score of 6-4, 6-1. Derrick and Guerry met in the semi-finals.

Doubles Results

Anderson and Miles dropped a second-round doubles engagement to Teague and Snyder of UT, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, after a first round bye. Hunter and McCampbell took one two-play fray from TPI's team of Case and Rogers, 2-6, 6-3, 14-12; then they were eliminated by Sewanee's Ford and Smiley, 6-4, 7-5.

This 16th annual TIAC tournamnt was the first for Scot tennis tutor, Ken Johnson, and it gave his men valuable experience. "The benefit," he pointed out, "Was in observing proper doubles technique in action.

MC Squad Whales TWC Netmen, 5-2

Maryville's netmen mastered Tennessee Wesleyan's Bulldog raquet squad, 5-2, Wednesday in a return meet on the Highlander courts. Although the Wesleyan crew defeated the cream of Maryville's singles line-up—1 and 2 positions—the subordinate ranks held good to decision the visitors Scots made at Athens.

Harold Hunter, maintained his undefeated record, the sole undefeated survivor in the top four with the conclusion of the match. Gearhardt vied in number 5 for and handy victory and McCampbell sewed up two quick sets.

The Summary follows:

1—Voges over Anderson, 9-7, 2-6, 6-3;

2—Toomey, T, over Miles, 8-6, 6-4;

3—McCampbell over Whelan, 6-2, 6-2;

4—Hunter over Lawder, 6-3, 6-2;

5—Gearhardt over Samples, 6-1, 6-2;

Doubles

Anderson-Miles over Voges-Whelan, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3;

Hunter-McCampbell over Toomey-Lawder, 7-5, 6-4.

Scot Nine Closes Season--66% Wins

Hitting a steady .650 clip with two wins and a loss on the road last Wednesday and Thursday, Coach Honaker's Highlander Nine will put the gloves away within a week. After a two-game home winning streak, the Scot club swung down to Sweetwater for a taste of bad medicine Wednesday in an opening program with Sweetwater's Veterans of Foreign Wars team in a compact 4-3 capsule. Thursday, the Scots returend a double-header engagement to whip Western North Carolina's Catamounts successively.

Weather permitting, Tusculum's Pioneer nine are scheduled to close the Scot baseball campaign for '49 today on the home field.

Following is the stanza by stanza account:

MC Nine Downs 'Cats, 7-5

Exploding with five runs in the first inning, Maryville's baseballers we nto nto defeat Western Carolina's Catamounts 7-5 in the first game of a doubleheader at Culhowee last Thursday.

In that big first inning, the first five Scots up had scored and the second WNC pitched had come in before the Catamounts were able to put a man out.

Berrong started for Maryville and went all the way, allowing but eight hits. Three WNC pitchers were touched for a total of nine hits. Berrong gets credit for the win and Griffin, the second Catamount hurler takes the loss.

Boring and Smith delivered Maryville's big blows with a homer and triple respectively. Boring went three for three and Smith got two for four. Selzer was WNC's big gun with three hits out of four trips to the plate. One of these was a homer.

Maryville committed three errors while WNC had one miscue to their credit.

Score by innings:

Bulletin

With a fourth inning rally which drove Jim Kren from the mound, Carson-Newman scored a 7-4 upset over the Maryville nine yesterday at Jefferson City.

The Eagles got 15 hits to the MC crew's 6 as their pitcher, Griffin, went the distance on the mound and collected four hits in as many trips to bat. Wilson, C-N shortstop, put the Eagles out front with a homerun in the fourth as Jimmy Hawkins took the mound for the Honakermen.

Hamil hit for two singles, Buckley for a two-bagger, and Boring, Baldwin, and Neff connected with one base hits to make the tally of Scot batting performances.

The Eagles dropped a 13-4 decision on the first meeting of the teams here as Ross Honaker worked the mound.

Catamounts Fall, 6-1

Maryville made it two in a day Thursday at Culhowee when they took the nightcap from WNC, 6-1. Better all-around baseballing was the secret, with six Scottie hits having their effect greatly increased by eight enemy errors, in contrast with flawless fielding on the part of Honaker's nine, who made no boots to help out WNC's five base blows.

Boring kept up his current flaming hitting pace this time out with a double, a single, one run batted in, and two more scored. Buckley continued his season long base-stealing artistry with a snatch of home, and Pentz and Neff pulled off a little larceny of their own. Honaker's solid, five-hit pitching over the distance gave him another victory, this one completely indisputable.

SWEETWATER TRIUMPHS, 4-3

Sweetwater VFW baseballers opened their season last Wednesday with a close 4-3 win over Maryville's Scotties. The winning run was scored in the last of the ninth with two out.

Newman, hurling for VFW, seemed to have the situation well in hand as he whiffed 16 Maryvill batters and set them down with just two hits. In spite of this, Lombe's Lads tied the score in the eighth inning and were holding their own till that last frame.

Fowler started on the mound for Maryville and was relieved by Kren in the seventh. Kren was

The Highland Echo–34 Long Years Of Journalistic Heat & Light

By Jean Hunt

November 4, 1916, the first edition of the Highland Echo made its appearance on our campus. J. Charles Walker was the first editor, who with his staff formed the organization that has published a Maryville College paper ever since.

With J. Edward Kidder as athletic editor and Pat Quinn (late Blount County judge) as business manager, it was followed by others, 19 in fact. On June 16, 1916, the last issue of that year appeared. The staff had published as many papers as the College Monthly, its predecessor, could have done in four years.

"For a Bigger and Better Maryville," the motto of the paper shows in part the attitude with which the students began this task. Another thing attributed to this first paper is that the nicknames "Highlanders," "Scotties," and "The Scots" are generally agreed to have originated by the sports writers of the 1916 Highland Echo.

Headlined News

Week after week the current campus news was headlined. Some outstanding ones can be recalled such as "Hear Bryan! William Jennings Bryan to Speak in Voorhees Chapel on April 17;" "New Carnegie Dedicated;" "Spanish Flu Epidemic! College Is Placed Under Quarantine;" and on through the twenties when the special pink edition bearing "HOOVER" in huge type rolled off the press. Recent, but near to the mind of everyone, is September 14, 1946 edition carrying an editorial entitled, "Please Don't Loiter;" and the similar editorial in the March 12, 1949 issue, "It Wasn't Fun."

Perhaps one of the best examples of newspaper fortitude was displayed two years ago when the Voorhees Chapel burned shortly before the April Fool edition was ready to start rolling. With no news gathered, written, or edited, the staff worked almost all night in changing the entire paper to bring the students the news of the chapel fire and other stories that could be brought together at that late date.

Charter Press Member

The Highland Echo also has the distinction of being a charter member of the Tennessee College Press Association which was formed in 1934, when the faculty advisor was Vernon M. Queener. In 1938, Dr. F. A. Griffitts became the faculty sponsor and has remained in that capacity to the present.

An annual trek to Knoxville to see one of the large newspapers in action is an outstanding event of the staff. Here they see how a large newspaper operates, soaked in an atmosphere of rolling presses, ink, and professional reporters and get some of the thrill that working for a daily newspaper provides.

It is also on this trip that the Echo has its annual banquet in one of the leading Knoxville restaurants. There in the confines of the banquet in addition to eating, the new members of the staff entertain the others and Dr. Griffitts gives a brief history of the Echo.

New Year. . .Old Aim

Next fall the Highland Echo will start its 35th year of bringing the news of the campus to the students of the college. The aim of that first paper of creating a bigger and better Maryville is still the aim of its present 24 member staff, who hope that through their feeble efforts it may be in some way attained.
